Klemer Says Committees Are Packed for the Special Interests.

Committee of Three Appointed to Investigate Klemer's Case.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—During this morning's session of the house, Representat've F. L. Klemer of Rice county, in a calmly conversational tone, much as he might have passed an observation on the weather, said:

"It is a well known fact that the important committees of the house are packed in the interests of the special interests."

Mr. Klemer is a mild, inoffensive, low-voiced elderly gentleman, who reads to the house many speeches to which nobody pays much or any attention. Had a hare barked savagely it wouldn't have been any more astounding. Had a bomb been exploded on the floor of the house it wouldn't have been more startling.

Mr. Klemer has started something that isn't finished yet. Immediately twenty members were on their feet to challenge the remark as unparliamentary, and Speaker Dunn sustained the point of order. Before the incident had closed a dozen members had demanded that Mr. Klemer apologize or get out of the house, and the speaker had been authorized to appoint a committee of three to investigate his case and report to the house within twenty-four hours.

The remark was made during the de-

MINERS OBJECT TO THE MILITIA

Vote Not to Return to Work Until the Troops Leave.

Gillespie, Ill., March 22.—Despite the protection of the state militia, Mines Nos. 1 and 3 of the Superior Coal company, between Gillespie and Benld, did not resume operations today. The miners of the local union at a secret meeting last night voted not to return to work until the troops have been recalled.

Two companies left camp at Benld this morning for each of the mines. Guns were placed on the roads leading to the mines to protect the Americans should the foreigners seek to prevent their going to work, but no workmen appeared, though the paths to the mines were lined with silent watchers and the troops soon returned to camp.

Benld was patrolled last night by militia men, deputy sheriffs and special policemen.

Col. E. J. Lang, in command of the detachments, said the militia might move today. He indicated to the sheriff that the militia will not be needed, if additional deputies are sworn in.

COX TANGLE NOT CLEARED

Three Courts Are Again in a Snarl of Technicalities.

Decision From Circuit Bench Not Expected Before Thursday.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 22.—Three courts were again in a snarl of technicalities today over the George B. Cox perjury case—circuit court and two judges, Hunt and Gorman, of the common pleas bench.

Indications were that the circuit court would not hand down until at least tomorrow a decision on the application of Cox's attorneys for an injunction to prevent Judge Gorman from proceeding with the trial of the political leader and banker. One of the members of that bench, Judge Samuel Smith, has been attending the funeral of a relative in Cleveland and it is possible that the arguments on the application will have to be repeated before the full bench before he can join in an opinion on the case.

Before Judge Hunt of the common pleas bench there was an argument as to the form of the entry which should be made on his decision of Monday that he had no jurisdiction over the Cox affidavit accusing Judge Gorman of bias and prejudice.

Pending a decision on this point, Judge Gorman took steps to hasten the trials of the men indicated for alleged paving frauds.

NEW SCHEME ABANDONED

Efforts to Frame Another Reapportionment Bill Have Ended.

Non-Partisan Judiciary Measure Is Passed By the Senate.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new attempt to create a reapportionment bill seemed last night to have died a-bornin'.

It was stated in these columns yesterday that so much opposition to any reapportionment whatever made itself manifest, and so many demonstrations were made of the amazing mass of selfishness that constitutes the Minnesota senate, that the outlook for the new reapportionment bill was blue indeed.

Last night it was worse than that, as all attempts to form a new bill appeared to have been abandoned, for the good and sufficient reason that they were profitless.

In short, unless some sudden deathbed repentance overtakes a senate which seems lost even to such a possibility as that, reapportionment is ended for this session.

As there is no probability of an extra session, and no hope of justice from it if one were called, this means that Northern Minnesota must wait at

FALLING OFF IN SOCIALIST VOTE

But Two Out of Four Nominated on School Ticket in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 22.—An analysis of yesterday's vote for nominees for school directors at the primary election in Milwaukee shows a falling off in the Socialist vote as compared with the primary a year ago, when Emil Seidel was indorsed as the candidate for mayor.

Only two out of four Socialist candidates were nominated and these ran sixth and ninth on the list of ten.

James H. Derse, who led the non-partisan candidates, received 14,023 votes, while Jacob H. Rubin, Socialist, finished in sixth place with but 6,228 votes to his credit.

The falling off of the Socialists in their wards was the surprise of the election. In the Fifth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Seventeenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second and Twenty-third wards, all Socialistic, some of the non-partisan candidates defeated those who were backed by the party.

If the vote of yesterday is any criterion of the outcome of the election of April 4, when five out of the ten candidates for a term of six years will be elected, non-partisans stand a good show of election. The four candidates for the short term were non-partisan and had no opposition.

LAKE NEBAGAMON FIRE.

Mrs. C. W. Fletcher's Home Destroyed—Loss $3,000.

Lake Nebagamon, Wis., March 22.—Fire last night destroyed the residence of Mrs. C. W. Fletcher here, entailing a loss of $3,000. The house was occupied at the time by the family of John Davidson. A great deal of personal property belonging to Mrs. Fletcher was destroyed, together with the belongings of the Davidsons.

PRISONERS CURSE FROM STEEL CAGE

Cross-Examination of One of Leaders Continued By Court.

Viterbo, Italy, March 22.—Angry exchanges between opposing counsel at today's session of the trial of the Camorrists provoked a demonstration from the prisoners' cage, beyond the control of the court officials, that necessitated a suspension of the proceedings. The accused men alternately cursed in a rage and sobbed hysterically while their women friends in the audience screamed and fainted, the wife of one of the prisoners being seized with convulsions.

The scene was enacted soon after the resumption of the sitting, which was adjourned at the close of the morning session yesterday because of the illness of a juror. At that time Giuseppe Salvi, one of those who is alleged to have stabbed to death Gennaro Cuocolo and his wife, was being interrogated by President Bianchi concerning his career.

This morning Salvi was called for cross-examination. It is charged that

FAINT TAPPINGS HEARD IN MINE

Columbus, Kan., March 22.—After a fruitless all-night search for Tom Cheek, a miner, supposed to be entombed alive in shaft No. 16 of the Southwestern Coal company near here, rescuers were driven back by mine gas today and for a time were forced to abandon the search.

Cheek, a shot firer, was supposed to have been killed in the mine last Saturday when an explosion resulted in the death of John Jopling, the superintendent, and three miners. As the bodies of these victims were being removed yesterday afternoon, faint tappings were heard in one of the distant entries. Help was rushed into the mine, and led by Frank Gilday, state mine inspector, a rescue party worked all night.

FOUR BUSINESS BLOCKS BURN AT WILLIAMS, IOWA.

Williams, Iowa, March 22.—A fire causing a loss of $23,000 destroyed four business blocks on the east side of Main street here at an early hour this morning. The insurance amounts to $11,600.

The buildings and stocks burned were: Boller & Mason, general store; building owned by R. G. [illegible], Webster City. This is the heaviest single loss. Williams hotel, Floyd Warwick, proprietor, building owned by Mrs. William Gray, Clear Lake. Hugh's & Robbins' meat market and restaurant.

IRON COUNTY BOND ISSUE TO BE SUBMITTED.

Marquette, Mich., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Whether Iron county shall issue bonds in the sum of $150,000 for the construction of good roads will be decided by the people of that community at a special election fixed for April 19. A resolution submitting the question has been adopted by the board of supervisors by unanimous vote.

REFUGEES FLEEING TO THE BORDER

Insurrectos Surround Small Towns and Shut Off Food Supply.

El Paso, Tex., March 22.—Hundreds of refugees from the "war zone" were reported today to be fleeing toward the borders, many of them attempting to make the journey on foot, to avoid the hardships of the blockade of interior points by the rebels.

The Mexican insurrectos have surrounded many small towns and have notified the inhabitants that they will allow no provisions to reach them from the surrounding country. The insurrectos have determined that the supply of provisions shall remain in their hands and it is feared that non-combattants will be subject to still greater hardships by the blockade.

EXPLOSION THROWS PEOPLE OUT OF BED

Port Clinton, Ohio, March 22.—Four persons were hurt, but none seriously, when 500 pounds of powder exploded at the plant of the American Gypsum company at Gypsum, four miles east of here, early today. A shift of workmen was leaving the plant and it is supposed that a spark from a pipe or a cigarette caused the explosion.

The shock was felt for miles around. At Sandusky people are reported to have been thrown from their beds. People here were all awakened and turned out to see what was the matter. Every window in Gypsum is broken and telephone and telegraph wires are down.

MEAT PACKERS LOSE FIGHT FOR IMMUNITY AND MUST BE TRIED

Former Bath Does Not Apply to Acts of Last Three Years.

Former Immunity Covers Only Crimes That Had Then Been Committed.

Chicago, March 22.—The indicted Chicago packers today lost their fight against going to trial on the indictments secured by the government several months ago when Judge Carpenter in the United States district court today overruled their demurrer to the charges and held that the immunity granted by Judge Humphrey of the federal circuit court in 1906 did not apply to the present charges, which, he held, were based on evidence not included in the Humphrey decision. Judge Carpenter's decision occupied nearly an hour in reading and went into the controversy relating to immunity, with great detail.

In brief the packers' position was that any conspiracy that might have existed was the plotting prior to Judge Humphrey's immunity decision and that the immunity from prosecution granted them extended over all future time, so long as the acts covered by the 1906 decision remained the same.

In deciding this, Judge Carpenter ruled that the immunity granted them was only for acts which had occurred prior to the date of the indictment, and could not pertain to any unlawful act which was performed after that time. The evidence given by the packers before the grand jury, he said, could

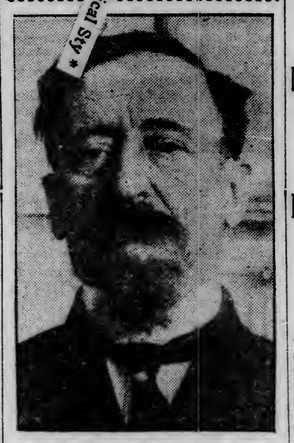
FATHER OF MEXICAN INSURRECTO LEADERS



FRANCISCO MADERO, Sr., Who Has Given Three Sons to the Mexican Revolutionary Cause. He Is a Large Property Holder in Mexico, But Is Now Living in New York.

MADERO WAS IN DULUTH

Duluth Men Camped With One of Mexican Leaders Last Fall.

Revolution Came to Head While He Was in Northern Woods.

Some inside light on the trouble in Mexico was given two Duluth young men first-handed while on a camping trip last September with Raul Madero, brother of Francisco I. Madero, the real leader of the rebellion.

With an Indian guide, J. Howard McLean and Stacy H. Hill of this city and Raul Madero set out from Ely last September. They were well supplied for a long stay in the woods. They penetrated the North country many miles beyond the border, and did not return until late in October.

Raul Madero is characterized as a capital fellow. He is an athlete and is an outdoor man. He thought the country the greatest he had ever seen, and enjoyed the trip to the full. About the camp fire of an evening Raul told of how the rebellion was being planned. He did not expect it to break out as soon as it did, however. When he returned to the city he found telegrams awaiting him, and he at once hurried back to Mexico to help his brother. He is in Mexico at the present time, and the report that he was killed in a skirmish about a week ago has proven untrue.

His Duluth friends are very warm admirers of the young Mexican. He is absolutely fearless, strong, determined, and will take any chance necessary to gain his end. On the trip into the woods he could carry the heaviest pack over the roughest places and enjoyed the danger points.

CLAIM DIVIDEND FUND DWINDLES

Policy Holders in Insurance Company Ask Receiver for Fund.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 22.—Alleging that a $30,000,000 policy holders' dividend fund has dwindled to $25,000,000 through the unlawful operations of its custodians, Charles W. Eberhard, Augustus M. Weber and Bernard Miller, three Cleveland policy holders, started suit for an accounting in the United States circuit court here last night against the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company of Milwaukee. A receiver is also asked for the fund.

The complainants in the suit do not attack the financial standing of the insurance company as a whole. Their attorneys say the company is in no difficulty.

The application further asks for injunctions restraining the company from electing its officers and trustees in the manner in which such elections are now held, and from expending any part of the Tontine fund for any purpose other than those connected with the insurance issued by the company. It is alleged in the petition that the officers of the company, contrary to law and for the purpose of "making unjust and unlawful profit out of the opportunities of their positions," made loans on the security, not only of the reserve fund of the company, but on the accumulated deferred dividends. The president of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company is George C. Markham and the secretary is A. S. Hathaway, both of Milwaukee.

DIES A MARTYR TO HIS PROFESSION

Dr. Edward Ashley Inoculated With Cerebro Spinal Meningitis.

New York, March 22.—Dr. Edward F. Ashley, a bacteriologist, died in Swinburne island in New York harbor yesterday, a martyr to his fight against the entry at this port of cerebro spinal meningitis through infected Greek immigrants. Innoculated in handling the cases, he became ill on Sunday and was treated with serum by Dr. Simon Flexner, its discoverer.

Dr. Ashley was a graduate of Yale and of the college of physicians and surgeons, New York city. He had been assisting Dr. A. H. Doty, health officer of the port for about nine months.

His case was exceedingly malignant, said Dr. Doty, "and a previous attack of bronchitis increased its severity and had largely to do with the fatal result. In this Dr. Flexner concurred.

"Dr. Ashley, who had an apartment at Hoffman's island hospital, complained on Sunday of not feeling well, but attributed his condition to a cold he had previously contracted. He became very ill during the night and his condition was reported worse Monday morning. I saw him once with my staff and it was evident at the first examination that he was suffering from cerebro spinal meningitis."

He was immediately transferred to Swinburne Island hospital, where special arrangements were made for the administration of the serum. An injection was made at noon and again at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning. A third injection was made, but no special results were obtained.

MURDER IS FRUSTRATED

Former Employe, Armed With Revolver and Knife, Arrested.

New York, March 22.—An attempt on the life of Henry M. Corwith, president of the American Knitting Mills company, and a director in many other companies, was frustrated this morning by the police who had been forewarned by Mr. Corwith.

Alfred Price, formerly in Mr. Corwith's office, was arrested after flourishing a loaded revolver. He made a rambling statement about a conspiracy to kill him and when he was searched there was found, in addition to the revolver, a long dagger in one of his pockets.

Mr. Corwith notified the police last night that Price had threatened his life. Detectives were assigned to the case and followed Mr. Corwith when he left his home in Riverside drive this

PREACHER OF DOCTRINE OF HOMECROFT IN DULUTH

George H. Maxwell Will Give Series of Talks on Movement.

"Take Women and Children Out of Factories" He Says.

"Every Child in a Garden, Every Mother in a Homecroft and Indivdual Industrial Independence for Every Worker in a Home of His Own on the Land," is the slogan of the American Homecroft society, and George H. Maxwell, executive chairman of that organization, is in Duluth to sound it in every part of the city and impress it on everybody within range of his voice.

To place every man on a piece of land of his own, to bring the articles of food most needed to the kitchen door, to take every woman and every child out of the factories and give them profitable employment in the home gardens is the object of the society and Mr. Maxwell is carrying its propoganda from city to city and is gaining converts to it. He will spend the remainder of the week in Duluth, and unless Duluthians are strangely deaf to a logical appeal, the seeds of the homecroft movement he will scatter will generate and blossom forth into homecrofts that will reduce the cost of living and work toward complete independence for hundreds of residents of the city.

Mr. Maxwell arrived in Duluth this morning and plunged into his work. He began by familiarizing himself with local conditions and the time he makes his first talk on the homecroft movement tomorrow, he will be able to apply it to local conditions with the facility acquired by frequent necessity for adapting himself to new conditions quickly.

Is Man of Action.

Mr. Maxwell is a tall, broad-shouldered, up-standing man with an air of unlimited energy in his step and looks the man of action that he is, for he is not a theorist. His past achievements in his chosen work prove that he is not only able to evolve theories for the betterment of conditions under which men live, but that he is able to bring those theories to practical effect. He has worked out the homecroft movement to a logical conclusion and has demonstrated its practicability. Now he is engaged in convincing others of the feasibility of the plan and after hearing him talk, one cannot but be convinced that not only is the plan practicable, but that it will be put into effect wherever he can reach the people and tell them of it.

"Why, food is the basis of all industry," said Mr. Maxwell this morning. "The greatest factor in industry is labor and the greatest factor in labor is food. Bring that food to the very door of the laborer, take it out of the soil and take it from the soil to the mouth without transportation charges and you are accomplishing not only individual advancement, but industrial advancement. When the cost of food is high, the laborer and the employer suffers. When the cost of food is low, the laborer is working toward independence, is able to support his family in comfort and the employer has a contented body of men in his employ.

Solution of Grave Problems.

"If I had my way, I would take every woman out of every factory in the country and place her on a home garden, where she would gain health and strength and womanly sweetness in the cultivation of the soil. A factory is no place for a woman. Even if she marries when she is 25, the early years spent in a factory make her unfit to become a mother. Take every child out of the factories and put them to work in home gardens. No employer in the country can pay a child what his labor is worth in a garden.

"The homecroft movement is progressive," continued Mr. Maxwell. "A man who starts with a back-yard garden on a twenty-five foot lot will expand. When he learns the results he can accomplish he will move out to a larger lot. By the time he is at middle age or just past, he will be ready to retire to an acre or two acres or five acres and live next to the land in content in his declining years.

"We are working toward the development of the individual and individual independence. The man who can stand in a garden surrounded by growing vegetables and laying hens doesn't need to worry about the effect of a reduction of the gold output on industrial affairs. He doesn't need to allow his opinions to be swayed by the opinions of captains of industry or of corporation officials. He is a free man with the means of sustenance on his own land, produced by his own labor and he can think and do as he pleases without outside influence to affect him."

Objects of Society.

The American Homecroft society stands for education, co-operation, opportunity, homecrofts, garden schools, home gardens, fruit culture and poultry raising and Mr. Maxwell is here to interest Duluthians in those subjects. The objects of the society, as set forth by its official announcement, are:

"To create homes on the land as safeguards against the social and political dangers that menace the nation from the congestion of population and industry in the great cities, to promote the prosperity of rural communities and of all who are engaged in agricultural pursuits, to make life in the country and in country towns and villages more attractive, and to conduct an educational campaign for a public school system by which all children shall be trained in gardencraft and homecraft, and taught to work with their hands, and to cultivate a garden and get food from it, and learn to love nature and rural life, so they will shun the flats and tenements of the cities, and live in the country or in homecrofts in the suburbs or in the country towns and villages, where every family can have a garden, and raise vegetables, berries, fruit, flowers and poultry, and children be well nourished and have fresh air and sunshine and grow up to be strong and healthy men and women.

"To check the drift to the large cities and promote the relief of overcrowded areas and secure a wider distribution of the population over the land; and to that end, to encourage the tendency of manufacturers to remove their works from congested centers to the country, and to foster the industrial and commercial upbuilding of the small cities, towns and country villages, and the development of trade and establishment of industries in such communities, the conditions of rural life, the betterment of rural schools and the enlargement of home opportunities; and to create and upbuild centers of social and civic life in country and suburban towns and villages, where trade and industry shall be so firmly anchored that they cannot be drawn into the commercial maelstrom that is now steadily sweeping industry and humanity into the vortex of the great cities.

"To awaken a widespread public interest in the general objects above set forth, and in the close settlement and intensive cultivation of land and better methods of agriculture, and in forestry and tree planting, and the establishment of municipal, state and national forest plantations in every state, and in the enlargement of the area available for homes on the land to the utmost possible extent by the reclamation of all arid, swamp and overflowed lands and generally in the conservation and development of all the internal resources of the country, by disseminaing informaaion relating therto through the press and by public lectures and addresses and the circulation of publications."

Illustrated Lectures

Mr. Maxwell brought about 150 lantern slides with him, and the results of the practical application of the homecroft theory will be shown at the lectures at the Endion M. E. church tomorrow afternoon, at the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening, and at the final summing up at the Central high school Saturday evening.

Mr. Maxwell will open his series of addresses tomorrow morning, when he will visit the Central high school at 9 o'clock and the normal school at 11:20. At 12:30 tomorrow he will hold a shop meeting at the Marshall-Wells Hardware company, and at 3 o'clock he will speak to the women of the city at the Endion M. E. church. Tomorrow evening an open meeting will be held at the Monroe school.

Friday the Industrial high school at West Duluth will be visited at 9 o'clock in the morning. Mr. Maxwell will speak to the business men of the city at the Commercial club at 12:30, and in the evening he will lecture at the Y. M. C. A. The noon meeting will be for all business men, whether members of the Commercial club or not. The evening lecture will be the last of the series of agricultural lectures conducted during the winter by the Commercial club and the Y. M. C. A. After the evening meeting at the Y. M. C. A., Mr. Maxwell will visit the Trades assembly and give a brief talk.

Sunday Meeting Probable.

Some meetings will probably be arranged for Saturday morning and afternoon. In the evening Mr. Maxwell will address a general meeting in the assembly room of the Central high school.

Mr. Maxwell will remain in Duluth Sunday, and at his suggestion a big meeting for the working men and women of the city is being arranged for that afternoon. If the arrangements can be made, it will be held in the Armory, and Mr. Maxwell will give one of the best addresses of the series, going over the ground thoroughly and showing a variety of pictures to illustrate the text of his address.

All of Mr. Maxwell's addresses will be on the general subject of the homecroft movement, but none will go over the same ground. On account of the large number of slides he has with him, the stereopticon illustrations of his lectures will be different at each one also, so that there will be variety for those who attend more than one of the meetings.

National Irrigation Association.

Although Mr. Maxwell just now is engaged in homecroft work, that is not his only activity. He is executive agent of the National Irrigation association and executive director of the Pittsburg flood commission. Mr. Maxwell organized the National Irrigation asssociation and it was through his efforts and those of the men he associated with him in the work, that the national reclamation act was passed and that millions of acres of desert land was reclaimed by irrigation and turned over to settlers, who are producing wealth for the nation.

At the present time the association is working for the passage of the Newlands river regulation bill, which was introduced at the recent session of congress. It provides an appropriation of $50,000,000 yearly for ten years for the construction of storage reservoirs, so that the water in navigable rivers may be regulated.

"It sounds like a big amount, but when one considers that floods of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers yearly cause damage in excess of $50,000,000, the cost should not be considered," said Mr. Maxwell this morning.

Meeting at Commercial Club.

In order to become acquainted with local conditions, Mr. Maxwell met at the Commercial club at noon today with representatives of different organizations of the city. He explained the Homecroft movement, and asked questions in regard to local conditions. Those who attended the meeting were: W. A. McGonagle, chairman of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club; Bishop James McGolrick, organizer of a farm colony in the western part of the state; Miss Jean Poirier, charity worker; Z. D. Scott, a member of the state forestry commission; R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of schools; J. A. Scott, city assessor; C. P. Craig and John G. Williams, agricultural enthusiasts; L. B. Arnold, land commissioner of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad; H. A. Hopkins, manager of the Producers' Co-Operative Market association; Phil Bevis, general secretary, and R. C. Coffin, educational director of the Y. M. C. A., and A. B. Hostetter, superintendent of agriculture of the Commercial club.

TWO VIOLATE THEIR PAROLE

Two young men who had committed crimes and whom the county attorney's office had tried to help by recommending their freedom under the parole system, have violated their parole and they have been taken to Stillwater to serve the original sentence.

Sheriff Meining left this morning for Stillwater with Emil Schrandt, the young man who withheld money belonging to the Longshoremen's union and who was allowed to go under the parole system. He was instructed to return the amount which was $117. He made no attempt to earn and return the money and he also violated his parole, it is said. For his failure to conform with the rules of the court, he will spend one year at the state prison.

Tony Telfora, who deserted his child, promised to care for it, if allowed a chance. No sooner was he allowed his freedom than he ran away. He was brought back and the court ordered him to Stillwater for a year.

The parole system has worked well. These two violations are the only ones in some months.

Irving J. Carmichael has entered into arrangements with the Vermilion Iron Development company whereby he will serve as superintendent of the mine on Pine Island for one year. He will take full charge of the mine tomorrow and, under his regime, it is expected that some brilliant history will be made on Pine island in the months to come.

It was only a short time ago that Mr. Carmichael entered the service of the Canadian Northern interests to take entire charge of matters in Northern Minnesota pertaining to iron ore, mines and mineral lands, just the same as R. B. Flaherty will do on the Canadian side of the line.

Mr. Carmichael is a technical graduate. He has a mature experience and recognized skill. He served Corrigan & McKinney on the Gogebic range. Since then, he has served the Republic Iron & Steel company and the Oliver Mining company on the Mesaba range. His service on the Vermilion is heartily welcomed by all independent interests.

Mr. Carmichael's father is connected with the Drake & Stratton interests at Hibbing and his uncle, William Carmichael, has charge of the McKinley and Duluth mines at Biwabik for the United States Steel corporation.

The question now puzzling the public is whether Mr. Carmichael goes to the Vermilion range entirely in the service of the Vermilion Iron Development company or if he really remains in the employ of the Canadian Northern and takes charge there as their representative. H. T. Hazen is in Chicago today, therefore no information on that point could be solicited from him. James Castle, president of the Pine Island company, declined to throw any light on the matter. "Mr. Carmichael will have supreme charge of the mine after today and that's all I care to say at this time," he stated to The Herald.

Examining Cook County Lands.

That the Canadian Northern has serious designs on the iron mines, iron lands and iron hauling in Minnesota, becomes more and more apparent as days go by. It is positively known that Mr. Carmichael was under orders to examine certain properties in Cook county for the Canadian Northern railroad, but that he sent another man after the deal was arranged in connection with Pine island. Mr. Flaherty is in Winnipeg today and it is stated that he will meet Mr. Carmichael at Virginia tomorrow.

It now transpires that the "Nickel Johnson" lands in Cook county, over 6,000 acres are being investigated with a view to a purchase, and there are those who see the hand of the Canadian Northern in that direction.

One effect of the excitement aroused by the expected invasion of the Vermilion by the Canadian Northern lines is that the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company proposes to make surveys to various mines under exploration on the Vermilion with the idea of "beating" the Canadian Northern to it whenever a profitable tonnage is proven up.

William Besson is down from Ely. It is reported that he has secured an option for a lease on a property within a mile of Mesaba station, which he has turned oved to the Almar Iron company for exploration. Mr. Besson is positive that an immense ore body will be found there.

Capt. Jules Durage who went up last Saturday to locate a drill hole on the Irona, is back. He brought back some fine drill cores from the Irona and speaks enthusiastically of conditions.

At a depth of 159 feet the shaft on the Vermilion Steel & Iron company, in section 5, 62-14, begins to show jasper mixed with greenstone.

MEAT SHIPPERS PAY $50 FINE

Word was received in Duluth today that Froelke Bros., of Rush City, had been fined $50 and costs yesterday for shipping immature veal into the city. The veal was condemned by Meat Inspector Leo Bernhardt. The company complained to its local agent here that the inspector was exceeding his authority, and the inspector took the matter up with the state officials in order that all doubts might be set aside.

The veal was passed upon by the state veterinarian, who supported Inspector Bernhardt. In case it would be necessary to use it for evidence, the veal was put in cold storage and a warrant sworn out for the arrest of Froelke Bros. They pleaded guilty to the charge, however, and paid the penalty. Today the veal was hauled to the dump.

Thus far this month the inspector has condemned thirteen veal carcasses which were unfit for consumption. Part were sour and the rest were too young. The law provides that no calf under five weeks of age shall be sold for food.

Expect Warm Marinette Session.

Marinette, Wis., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The session of the board of supervisors today is expected to be a very interesting one. There is said to be considerable bitter feeling over the purchase of the poor farm by the county.

Fergus Falls Woman Circles Globe.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 22.—Miss Ada Cockroft has returned from a trip around the world. She left here three years ago, going first to the Hawaiian islands, where she spent about a year. She visited the Philippines and Formosa and went northward to Japan, where she spent eight months teaching in a girls' college. She then went to China and came home by way of India and Europe.

STATE AID FOR SCHOOLS

St. Louis County Will Receive Nearly $50,000 This Spring.

By the spring apportionment of the state school fund, the Duluth city schools will receive $23,715.80.

Some days ago the county auditor's office was notified that the entire amount for St. Louis county was to be $49,935.80. It is the duty of the clerks in the auditor's office to divide the money between the several school districts.

This fund is distributed twice each year and amounts to about $5 each per year for every child attending school in the county. The money is the interest on the state school fund. The state has something like $57,000,000 on which interest is drawn and divided twice each year.

The spring apportionment for St. Louis county amounts to $49,935.80, for 26,282 children attending school in the county. It amounts to something over $1.90 for each pupil.

The fall apportionment is always larger than the one in the spring. Last year it amounted to more than $3.00 per child, and this would bring the total amount up to nearly $5 per child.

State Superintendent of Schools C. G. Schulz makes up the amounts and it was he who notified the local county auditor's office of the amount for this spring.

The Ely school district will receive $2,354.10. The Virginia district gets $4,079.50, and the Hibbing district $3,511.20.

Engines Shot Into.

Danville, Ky., March 22.—The first trouble that the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific railroad has experienced on its line north of King's Mountain since the strike of white firemen was declared, came last night when engines along the railroad between this point and Ludlow, Ky., were shot into. No one was injured.

Looking for J. R. Chennerre.

The authorities at Comstock, Neb., have wired Chief Troyer, asking him to notify J. R. Chennerre that his son is dying from a stroke of paralysis in that city. The dying man is supposed to have come from Duluth. The name odes not appear in the city directory.

Diamond Company Sues.

The Diamond Drill Carbon company is suing the Armstrong Lake Iron Mining company for $1,53375, which the drill company claims is due them for seventeen black diamonds, or carbons, such as are used in diamond drills. The amount named is the difference between the price of the diamonds and the amount paid.

Company A Reunion.

Company A, M. N. G., held a banquet and smoker at Owls' hall, 116 West Superior street last evening. Capt. Franklin read a copy of the report of the trip of the company to Baudette at the time of the forest fires last fall, the original report having been forwarded to Adjt.-Gen. Wood. Short addresses were made by Lieut. R. M. Weaver, Ensign A. O. Rabideau of the naval militia, ex-Sergeant Fred Alls, ex-Sergeant Con Fredin, Corporals Fred Marlow and Art Clark and Privates Lee Peebles and H. Richards.

Recruiter Visits Duluth.

Lieut. Commander Ivan C. Wettingel, in charge of the navy recruiting stations in the Minneapolis district with headquarters at Minneapolis, was in Duluth yesterday to visit the local station in the federal building. Lieut. Commander Wettingel also inspected the new four-inch practice gun installed in the Armory for the Minnesota naval militia and pronounced it an excellent piece of mechanism.

Interpreter Returns.

Gets Fifteen Days.

Frank Jackson got $15 and costs or fifteen days in the county jail when he pleaded guilty today in police court to being drunk. The police reported that he drew a knife in the saloon at 150 St. Croix avenue last night when he got into a quarrel with another over a game of cards. He did not cut any one, however. It was also stated that he had hit a bartender with a beer bottle in the same saloon.

Duluth Men Chosen.

The school board of Hill City has selected D. V. Case and Broomhall of Duluth, Minn., as architects for the new $25,000 school house at that place. Plans will be prepared at once.

New Suits and Coats, $12.95.

Tomorrow we offer on sale a very beautiful line of new spring suits; also some nobby new spring coats, in a very choice line of colors; regular $18 and $20 values for $12.95. Ginster's, 24 West Superior street.

Wants Information.

City Engineer T. F. McGilvray today received an inquiry from R. S. Kelsh, a Canadian engineer, located at Montreal, asking for details as to the aerial bridge, both as to cost of construction and operation. The bridge, which was built under the direction of Mr. Gilvray, has been a great success. It has given the most satisfactory kind of service in all kinds of weather at a minimum expense.

Cases Are Dropped.

According to a telegram received in Duluth last night, the cases against Joseph and George Weinberg, arrested in Indiana on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses in connection with the sale of lots near the steel plant on the Wisconsin side, have been dropped and the defendants released.

No Bones Broken.

Mike Burns, who was taken to St. Luke's hospital last night, was found to have suffered a strained leg, but no broken bones. He was picked up by the police near Sixth avenue west and Michigan street, unable to walk. It is said that his fall was due to too much liquor.

Austin Goes to Jail.

Joseph Austin, found guilty in police court two weeks ago of having assaulted his wife, who caused his arrest, was sent to the county jail yesterday to serve his sentece of fifteen days. The stay granted by the court expired yesterday, without any appeal having been taken.

Will Serve Sixty Days.

Joseph Pocket, arrested on a charge of having stolen $9 from Robert Leslie while the two were in the Tacoma hotel, where they had a room together, was found guilty in police court today and given $75 and costs or sixty days in the county jail. He didn't have the cash to pay his fine and went over the hill.

Sentence Is Suspended.

John Gray, arrested for begging, got three months in the county jail after a trial in police court yesterday. Sentence was suspended on condition that he would leave town in twenty-four hours. The police stated that he was an undesirable character.

Gymnasium for Boys.

Secretary Courtney Dinwiddie of the Associated Charities is in receipt of a letter from Senator A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota, stating that he favors the idea of a gymnasium for the state school at Red Wing. The Duluth Associated Charities is much interested in having a gymnasium for the boys. It seems, at this time, probable that the legislature will make the necessary appropriation.

Moose Meet.

The Loyal Order of Moose held its third regular meeting last night at Eagles' hall, 415 West Superior street. Thirty-five new members were initiated. This makes a total of 150 members in Duluth. The organizer reported seventy-five applications. The next meeting will be Wednesday evening of next week.

Harold Grufvman Dies.

Harold Grufvman, aged 29, died this morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. Charles Fremling of 126 Gilbert street. Death was caused by Bright's disease. Grufvman's parents reside in Sweden and he has been in this country only a year. No funeral arrangements have been made.

Canadian Boosters.

A. Alvensleben and his brother, V. Alvensleben of Vancouver, B. C., mining men of British Columbia, are guests of the Spalding today. They are here on business and are seeing some Duluth mining men in connection with their visit to the Head of the Lakes. Both of the getlemen are enthusiastic over British Columbia, and declare that the Pacific coast province of Canada is one of the greatest countries in the world, possessing great future promise.

EX-PROBATE JUDGE SUED

Claiming that $3,240 is due her for work performed, Miss Delia Chevrette has begun an action for that amount against former Probate Judge Jehu B. Middlecoff.

In her complaint filed this morning with the clerk of the district court, Miss Chevrette claims that she was employed by Mr. Middlecoff from Jan. 1, 1903, until June 28, 1907. For the work done for him she claims she received no payment.

She states that on divers occasions he told her that when the Tanner part of the famous Cedar island cases were settled he would pay her. He is also said to have promised payment when large timber holdings in Cook county were sold.

In her complaint, Miss Chevrette claims that both these matters have been disposed of and gives the date of the sale of the timber as December, 1910.

Miss Chevrette is at present employed as a clerk in the office of Judge S. W. Gilpin of the probate court.

Released on Bail.

Chicago, March 22. — Mrs. Theresa Schenk, who shot and killed her husband last Saturday morning at their home in Park Ridge, a suburb of Chicago, was released from custody on bonds of $10,000 today.

MR. FRED STANFLE.

Says Bake Oven Treatment Is the Best Treatment for All People Who Suffer Pain.

Taking him three hours to walk from Fifth avenue west and Superior street to the Bake Oven institute, a distance of two blocks and a half, with his limbs inflamed, swollen and suffering the most excruciating pain with every move, Mr. Fred Stanfle, after being carried from the street up to the Bake Oven institute, took his first treatment in the famous Bake Oven and was a surprised and pleased man to find that he could walk to his hotel with the greatest possible relief, without assistance, and in quick time. It is needless to say that the change brought about in Mr. Stanfle's case is nothing short of marvelous.

Some postoffice employyes who watched him crossing the courthouse lawn, which took him about two hours, wondered if he was going to the Bake Ovens and whether they could relieve him or not. They inquired and were greatly surprised to learn that he got instant relief.

Read what Mr. Stanfle has to say:

"I feel like a new man to what I did a few days ago. I suffered as much as anybody could and live. I have improved right from the first treatment and do not use the crutches any more at all. I'm free from pain but will keep the treatment up till Drs. Loughney & Loughney feel satisfied that I am cured. I am stopping at the Scandinavian Hotel, on Lake avenue.

(Signed)

Yours Truly

CITY DEPARTMENTS WILL WORK TOGETHER IN FUTURE

Engineer, Water Board and Works Board Will Co-operate.

Engineer Prepares Complete List of City Improvements Contemplated.

Henceforth the city engineering department, the board of public works and the water and light departments will work hand in hand in all public improvements.

The question of complete harmony between these three branches of the city government was settled yesterday afternoon at the regular meeting of the conference committee, consisting of the heads of the various departments and boards, held at the office of Mayor M. B. Cullum.

Hereafter meetings will be called by the city engineer, to be attended by himself and representatives of the water and light department and the board of public works. They will take up the various improvements which are contemplated from time to time, discussing them thoroughly with a view that no energy may be wasted. It will often happen that either two or all of the departments have work in the same streets, avenues or alleys, and that by combining their plans, they will be able to make considerable in time as well as in money. It is expected that the city will greatly benefit in that precautions will be taken to prevent damage to the streets and to see that after any work is done on them by any one, they will be left in as good shape as they were before being torn up.

It was agreed, however, that each department shall find out for itself if there are any obstructions in the streets. For example, if the water and light deparment is going to lay water or gas pipes, it will find out for itself if there are already any other pipes there.

List of Improvements.

At the same meeting City Engineer Thomas F. McGilvray submitted a list of improvements now in the hands of his department, which are contemplated for the coming season. The list is long and includes numerous important pieces of work. Most of them have been mentioned separately before, and it is not certain that all of them will be completed this year. Among them are many large grading and paving contracts, a survey of the Proctor car line road, the steel plant street car extension, the Second ward street car extension, the erection of two new concrete bridges, numerous sanitary sewers, the Woodland trunk sewer and three good-sized storm sewers. No estimates of the cost of the improvements are run with the list, but it stated, would run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The complete list is as follows:

RAILROADS

SHORT LINE TO BE BUILT

Reports of Soo Line Plans Confirmed By President Pennington.

Fourth Connection Between Twin Cities and Duluth to Be Made.

A confirmation of the report published in The Herald several times in the past, regarding the construction of a new short line between this city and St. Paul and Minneapolis, has come from President Pennington of the Soo.

The new short line will be made by the construction of a line from somewhere near Foxboro, on the Brooten branch, to Frederic, Wis. This piece of construction has been contemplated for some time past, and now it is assured for the near future.

Material has been contracted for and the delivery will be made five months from the present date. The connecting line will be completed before the close of the present year, possibly at the end of this summer. Work will be rushed. The completion of the new line will give Duluth its fourth short line to the Twin Cities.

"Conditions in general have made railroad construction work slack up somewhat, but we will put through the line to connect Minneapolis and St. Paul with Duluth-Superior in 1911. We figure that as there are more than 500,000 people in the Twin Cities and 150,000 people at the Head of the Lakes, and as we will only have to build about sixty-five miles of road to connect these population centers, it is advisable to do it without delay. I cannot say yet between just what points the new line will be laid. That will be determined later."

HOPING FOR A GOOD CROP

President Howard Elliott of the Northern Pacific road, G. A. Goodall, general manager, and E. C. Blanchard, general superintendent, came to Duluth yesterday afternoon in the president's special train, spent part of the afternoon looking over the terminals here and in Superior, met some of the shippers in a very informal meeting at the Commercial club at 8 o'clock in the evening, and left later for Brainerd and points in Dakota.

The little meeting at the Commercial club was without business significance, though the rate situation was discussed with some of the members of the Duluth Traffic bureau, who were present at the reception to meet Mr. Elliott. Howard Elliott is an honorary member of the Duluth Commercial club and one of the best friends of this city in the railroad business, and the meeting last night was in the nature of a greeting from friends. Many expressed their satisfaction over the fact that Mr. Elliott had decided to remain with the Northern Pacific instead of taking the offer from the Missouri Pacific to become its president.

"It is too early to forecast conditions of the coming season of railroad activity," said Mr. Elliott. We can't tell about the crop at the present time, and the crop is one of the vital considerations to the railroad operator. A good crop will mean increased business for the railroads of the Northwest.

"I might say that the business of the Northern Pacific is very fair at the present time. The small crop of last year naturally hurt the business of our road as well as other Northwestern railroads. We are looking forward hopefully to a good crop, which would go far to remove the ill effects caused by last year's small movement of grain.

"There will not be a very extensive amount of work done here the present season. There are some odd jobs here and there, some work to be completed that was left unfinished last season, and other repairing and such regular routine work as every railroad must keep up. There is nothing big in the way of improvements or new work.

"We are up here on a general inspection tour and will go to several points on the line before returning to St. Paul. We have really no complaint to make of freight conditions as represented in the Head of the Lakes territory."

President Elliott and Messrs. Goodall and Blanchard were accompanied by Supt. Nicols of the Lake Superior division of the Northern Pacific, and General Agent J. I. Thomas, yesterday on the inspection of the terminals here and in Superior.

WILL SPEND $8,000,000

Winnipeg, March 22.—The Canadian Northern railway has let contracts for extensions in the Canadian Northwest amounting to $8,000,000. Provision is made for grading and construction of 200 miles on the main line between Vancouver, B. C., and the Rocky mountains, while the other contracts are for extensions in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

NEW EXHIBIT OF POTATOES

A. B. Hostetter, superintendent of agriculture of the Duluth Commercial club, has received a third request for samples of St. Louis county potatoes to be shown in the Northern Pacific exhibit car, which is now returning from the East.

The car will next tour Michigan, and Mr. Hostetter is collecting potato samples which will be shown in that state. The car was at the corn exhibit at Columbus and was then taken through Ohio and shown at points along the route. It will strike Michigan soon and be taken through that state to show the people the results of agricultural development in territory reached by the Northern Pacific.

The exhibit of St. Louis county potatoes in the car is an excellent one and the samples to be sent by Mr. Hostetter will be fully up to the standard of those which have been displayed since the car was first sent out.

TAKEN TO NORTH BRANCH.

Cloquet, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of Adolph Fauley, known by every one as "Buster," was shipped yesterday to North Branch, the former home of the family, for interment. Shortly before train time yesterday afternoon, Rev. the house, Mrs. Lowrie sang "When C. W. Lowrie, pastor of the Presbyterian church, held a brief service at He Cometh," after which the casket was conveyed to the station in charge of four young friends of the little lad: Norman Keller, Clarence Long, Frank Redfield and Joseph Loisel, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Fauley, Miss Hazel Fauley and Miss Grace Rowell accompanied the remains to North Branch Mr. Fauley is the agent for the Northern Pacific and Great Northern roads at the union station.

D. O. K. K. MEMBERS HOLD CEREMONIAL.

Representatives of all the Knights of Pythias lodges in Duluth, Two Harbors and three range towns attended a ceremonial given last night by Al Sirat temple, No. 135, Dramatic Order of the Knights of Khorassan. About 200 were present.

Sixteen candidates were initiated. The well known third rank team of the North Star lodge of Duluth exemplified the work in that rank at 4 o'clock in the afternoon for the benefit of the visitors. A dinner was served, after which the ceremonial was held.

Dumb Chills and Fever

Douglasville, Tex.—"Five years ago, I was caught in the rain at the wrong time," writes Miss Edna Rutherford, of Douglasville, "and from that time, was taken with dumb chills and fevers, and suffered more than I can tell. I tried everything that I thought would help, and had four different doctors, but got no relief, so I began to take Cardui. Now I feel better than in many months." Cardui does one thing, and does it well. That's the secret of its 50 years of success. As a tonic, there is nothing in the drug-store like it. As a remedy for women's ills, it has no equal. Try it. Few Married Men at the St. Louis County Poor Farm.

Out of 125 people at the St. Louis county poor farm but three or four of them are women and among the remaining number of men but a handful of men, not more than twenty are married.

This is the case all the year around at the St. Louis county institution. The bulk of the population of the institution is made up of unmarried men who are failures.

They are mostly men who have never had any home ties. They have roamed in nearly each instance all over the country. They have had no one dependent upon them and they end up just where they began. Most of them are crippled up in some way or another so that they are unable to work; others are too old for work and they all know where their mistake was made.

It is a significant fact to Charles Shogran, clerk of the county poor board that the bulk of those thrown on the county are men who have never married. He states that it is his opinion that if the same men had married, they would have lived different lives and would not now be in the poorhouse.

Mr. Shogran is much interested in going over the reports of other poor boards and he finds that the greater part of every institution is made up of single men who are no longer able even to care for themselves.

Herman, Mich., Co-operative Mill.

Ontonagon, Mich., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A farmers' co-operative milling company has been organized at Herman, Ontonagon county, for the purpose of engaging in the manufacture of flour. It is expected to have a mill erected and in operation by Sept. 1 next. The plant will be operated by a gasolene engine at first and eventually by water power furnished by Fall river, on the banks of which the mill will be constructed. N. J. Majhanna, a merchant at Herman, is president of the company.

HENRY LANG PASSES AWAY

Clerk of United States Court Dies in St. Louis Hotel.

Was One of the Prominent Pioneers of Twin Cities.

Henry D. Lang of St. Paul, clerk of the United States circuit court, died unexpectedly at 5:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the St. Louis hotel, following an attack of acute diabetes. Mr. Lang had not been well for some time, having spent part of the winter in the South for the benefit of his health, returning to his home two weeks ago last Sunday.

He reached the city Monday evening on the Twilight Limited, apparently feeling as well as usual. The train reached Duluth about 9:45, and shortly after he had been assigned to his room Mr. Lang retired. He came to see Judge Page Morris and to attend to some of the business at the United States court here.

Yesterday afternoon he was expected at the Federal building by Capt. Thomas Pressnell, United States court commissioner. After lunch Mr. Pressnell decided to drop around to the St. Louis to call for him. That was about 1 o'clock, and his key was not in the rack. Clerk Louis Bouchard sent a bell boy to ascertain whether or not he was in his room. The boy reported that the door was locked, but he had been unable to obtain any response to his knock.

Mr. Bouchard went to the room, where he was able to see through the transom that Mr. Lang was still in bed. He notified Manager J. T. Michaud, who summoned Dr. Horace S. Davis, Dr. C. A. Stewart and Dr. L. A. Barney, but Mr. Lang was beyond medical assistance. E. S. Oakley, assistant United States district attorney, notified J. M. Dickey, assistant United States district attorney at St. Paul, of Mr. Lang's fatal illness, and he communicated the information to Mrs. Lang and her son, Walter Lang, 21 years old. They left immediately for Duluth, accompanied by Dr. W. W. Lewis, the family physician, and learned of Mr. Lang's death when they reached West Duluth. William Lang, a brother, also reached the city last night. Judge Morris and Capt. Pressnell were with Mr. Lang during the afternoon, until he died.

Mr. Lang was born in St. Paul fifty years ago and was one of the prominent men of the Twin Cities. He was a graduate of the state university and was appointed clerk of the United States circuit court in 1897. His mother, Mrs. F. Lang, still resides in St. Paul.

The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of C. J. Stewart and will be sent to St. Paul this afternoon on the 1:55 Northern Pacific train for interment.

Green Room Gossip.

Al. H. Wilson, the German dialect comedian, is scheduled to appear at the Lyceum, March 24 and 25, in his latest success, a new singing comedy entitled "A German Prince." Probably one reason why this play is appreciated by theatergoers is that it is a novel departure from the style of plays provided for this comedian in the past. It is four acts and the story is told in a natural manner by a cast selected by Manager Ellis for their ability to portray the several characters. The play is highly musical and the scenery which is a striking feature of the performance, is descriptive of the localities in Germany where the action of the play takes place. Mr. Wilson has won an enviable place in the hearts of the public by his graceful acting and sweet singing, and for "A German Prince" he has composed several new songs that will rival in popularity any of his past successes.

The American Music hall was the last big theater Morris had in the Central West, and that free lance in the vaudeville field, it is said, is now no longer a factor in higher priced vaudeville in this part of the country. The Orpheum circuit now has five theaters in Chicago, the Majestic, the Chicago Opera house, the Olympic, the Haymarket and the American Music hall. The Winnipeg house has been opened, and Fargo will have an Orpheum theater early next month, making three new theaters added to the circuit within a month.

The American Music hall in Chicago has been Morris' big stronghold in the West.

There will be a matinee of "What Happened to Jones" tomorrow afternoon. This week this screaming farce has set Duluth audiences laughing as no other play of the current season. It is considered funnier than "Baby Mine." The Swedish sewing maid of Miss Cora Morris, the little lady who has appeared in boy parts in most of the productions of the Mack-Leones this season, is one of the richest bits in the farce. "What Happened to Jones," will run until Friday evening.

"Sailor Jack," the feature film at the Lyric theater this week is causing quite a little favorable comment. It teaches a strong, moral lesson, and in addition to this it is a dramatic little photoplay.

Headed by Alber's troupe of trained polar bears, the show at the Empress is pleasing large audiences at each performance this week. Polar bears are recognized by animal trainers as being the most stubborn animals in existence. Prof. Alber has his animals under wonderful control and they perform many difficult tricks, but sometimes these animals become very unruly and Sunday night, while Alber was trying to move the bears from the stage to their cages down stairs, they refused to go down and he was obliged to fight with them until 2:30 in the morning, and then had only succeeded in getting six of them down to their cages. During the mixup, one of the bears got Prof. Alber by the arm and severely lacerated it.

Barrows-Lancaster and company are presenting a very pretty little military sketch, "Tactics." It has a clever plot and is full of amusing situations, that cause a great deal of laughter, and it is in capable hands. Lohse and Sterling perform many difficult tricks on the rings and trapeze and Jack Goldie presents an act that contains some clever piano playing, some good singing and some very good whistling. As high class entertainers, Inglis and Reading rank with the best and the audience enjoys every minute they are on the stage.

JURY DECIDES FOR MAROTTA

John N. French Fails to Recover Damages for Wife's Death.

The jury in the case of John N. French against Ralph Marotta decided for the defendant after being out about three hours yesterday afternoon.

French claimed that as the result of cruel treatment by Marotta, Mrs. French died. He asked $5,000 damages.

His complaint stated that he rented apartments from Marotta. The rent fell behind and Marotta demanded it from Mrs. French while she was ill in bed. When refused he claimed that Marotta swore at her, shook his fist in her face and threw a part of the furniture out into the street.

Marotta denied these allegations and claimed that the woman undoubtedly met her death as the result of exposure when she was moved.

Cleverly Tailored Suits $25

THE suits we sell at $25 are values not equaled elsewhere. We specialize on them and buy in great numbers. By combining our order with 20 other stores, we go to a maker who buys materials from the mills in full looms and thus gives us exclusive patterns.

These suits are accurately designed and faultlessly tailored by expert craftsmen. Then they are pressed into a stylish shape that is permanent.

Thursday we make special showing of many new models from plain serge, mannish mixtures, hair line stripes and checked materials. Nowhere will you find such good suits priced at $25.

Smart Coats $12.50 and $19.50

Our $12.50 coats are a genuine surprise. Many have marveled at how such well tailored garments can be sold for so little. The smart semi-fitted models are made from selected serge, covert and mixture cloths, black and colors—most unusual values, at $12.50.

Many women are accustomed to paying $25 for such coats as we sell at $19.50. These coats really look $25 worth, but selling them at $19.50 makes many friends and conforms to our policy of greater value-giving.

Thursday we show many new models—some plain tailored, and some with shawl or sailor collars, stylish side button effects, all shades, at $19.50.

Stylish New Spring Corsets 50c

That stylish corsets may be had for little cost is quickly proven by these. Models are long or short, to suit various figures, corsets are well made and stayed, and to be had here only, at 50c.

Popular Priced Millinery $4.98 and $5.98

Thursday we make a special showing of over 100 new trimmed hats at very popular prices. Jaunty types of striking becomingness evolved by our own designers from Nacre and Cabbage braids, and trimmed with bright hued roses, quills and drapes. There's splendid diversity of shapes, large, medium and small to suit all faces and figures, specially priced for Thursday at $4.98 and $5.98.

Many other models including the Helmet and Asterie shapes, at $7.50 to $15.

S.S.S. REMOVES THE CAUSE AND CURES CATARRH

Catarrh usually begins with irritated, inflamed membranes of the head, nose and throat, from which there is a constant and copious discharge of watery matter. This comes from inflammation of these mucous surfaces and is caused by catarrhal matters and impurities in the circulation. Nature intends that these membranes shall be nourished by the blood, but waste matters and impurities deposited into these delicate parts, sets up inflammation and the discharge is a natural result. When this secretion begins to dry it becomes thick and sticky, adhering to the back portion of the mouth and throat, causing the "hawking" and straining so troublesome to Catarrh sufferers. Other ordinary symptoms are caused from congestion of the circulation by the catarrhal impurities.

I suffered for a long time with a bad case of Catarrh. I had a continual headache, my cheeks grew purple, my nose was always stopped up, my breath had a sickening and disgusting odor and I coughed incessantly. I heard of your S. S. S. and commenced to use it, and after taking several bottles I was cured and have never since had the slightest symptom of the disease.

MRS. MARY L. WESSERMAN.
4449 Vista Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

I had all the symptoms that accompany Catarrh, such as mucus dropping in the throat, a constant desire to hawk and spit, feeling of dryness in the throat, cough and spitting upon arising in the morning, etc. I had thus suffered for five years. I commenced to take S. S. S., and after I had taken three large bottles I noticed a change for the better, thus encouraged, I continued to take it, and in a short while was entirely cured. JUDSON A. BELLAM,
211 Randolph St., Richmond, Va.

There is only one way to cure Catarrh, and that is to remove the cause by purifying the blood. Washes, sprays, inhalations, etc., do not reach the circulation, and therefore can only afford temporary relief. S. S. S. cures Catarrh by cleansing the blood of all impure catarrhal matter, and at the same time building up the system by its unequalled tonic effects. In other words S. S. S. cures Catarrh by purifying the blood so that the mucous surfaces and linings of the body are supplied with healthy nourishment instead of being continually irritated from the catarrhal impurities. Then the inflamed membranes heal, the discharge is checked, head noises cease, the stomach is toned up, and the throat is no longer clogged with mucus. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

BATTLESHIP SHATTERED

On Board Torpedo Boat Stringham, Lower Chesapeake Bay, March 22.—Shattered by a veritable storm of shell, the old battleship Texas rests on the mud of Tangier sound. The veteran of the United States navy sank under the spectacular marksmanship of her newer sisters. Gaping holes in her port side and two jagged wounds in her forward armor, where shells passed completely through her, showed how she succumbed. Part of both her fighting masts were shot away and her deck was a cluster of debris.

The marksmanship test against a comparatively modern battleship was conducted with almost uncanny secrecy. No one was permitted to approach the San Marcos, the name under which the old Texas received the fire, except the observers and one or two naval officers and officials. Secretary of the Navy Meyer, whose private yacht Dolphin was anchored near, made several trips to the shattered old ship during pauses in the firing.

Seven Miles Away.

The broadsides delivered by the battleship New Hampshire at varying distances of six to seven and one-half miles were considered remarkable by ordnance officers. More than one-third of all the shots were said to have gone true, although nothing official was given out.

Ideal weather greeted the fleet yesterday morning when, long before dawn, five observing officers from each of the thirteen battleships left in launches for the New Hampshire.

A half hour after the sun had risen the first shot was fired. This was followed by another, but both were merely to determine the range. Then began a beautiful exhibition of marksmanship. A salvo directed to the stern of the San Marcos raised huge columns of water and deluged the vessel with spray. Then, to show the control of the great 12 and 8-inch cannon another hail of shells was dropped immediately in front of the ship. The miss was intentional, but the shells struck so close as to give rise at first to the belief that the first hit had been made.

The shooting then began in earnest. The New Hampshire, followed by the battleship Mississippi, 250 yards in her wake, drew off to the distance of approximately seven and one-half miles and began firing. All of the broadsides were delivered against the San Marcos, while the attacking vessel was steaming back and forth along the line at approximately a ten-knot speed. There was no slowing down or firing on the turn.

The Texas in Distress.

After the seventh broadside the Texas plainly was in distress. The two naval tugs that lay alongside the monitor Tallahassee, on which were stationed the naval observers, raced to her assistance. Secretary Meyer ordered out his launch and with Admiral Wainwright and Representative Roberts of Massachusetts, his guests on board the Dolphin, also was quickly alongside the stricken ship. The shells presumably set the vessel afire, for the engines were set to work pumping. Twice afterward shells set the hull afire.

On the nineteenth broadcast four eight-inch and eight twelve-inch shells were hurled at her. The shots poured so thick around her that it was impossible to determine how many of the eight twelve-inch struck. A crashing of steel against the warship's side just at the water line was followed by a great cloud of flying splinters of armor and a burst of smoke.

By that time the San Marcos was listed far to port. Arrangements were begun at once to prepare the old warship for further tests.

Not since the Atlantic fleet returned from its world-encircling cruise had Chesapeake bay seen a more imposing naval pageant. In addition to the thirteen battleships of that fleet, there were flotillas of torpedo boat destroyers, torpedo boats and submarines. A fleet of colliers, repair ships, monitors and several small cruisers made up the remainder of the force.

Admiral Schroeder, in command of the fleet, declined flatly to discuss the effect of the shell fire on the armor, the chickens and cats within the turrets or upon the manikens placed in the fighting tops, turrets or bridges.

FAITH HEALER INDICTED.

Willis Cole Charged With Unlawful Practice of Medicine.

New York, March 22.—Willis Vernon Cole, a faith healer, was indicted yesterday by the grand jury on four counts, including charges of unlawful practice of medicine and violation of the public health laws. The indictment follows Cole's arrest early in February on evidence gathered by two police matrons, who represented that Cole charged them $2 a visit for treatment which, the prosecution claims, could only be given legally by a practicing physician.

Cole is defended by Former District Attorney Jerome and has the support of the prominent Christian Scientists. The indictment is a step in Mr. Jerome's insistence that the case go before a jury for decision.

LAURIER'S TERMS DISAPPOINTING

Proposal for Extension of Manitoba's Boundaries Is Received.

Winnipeg, Man., March 22.—The long deferred reply of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to Manitoba for the terms upon which he would agree to the extension of the boundaries has at last been received. It was laid on the table of the legislature by Premier Roblin, who remarked that it was a "bitter disappointment."

What Manitoba has asked for is equality with the other provinces of the confederation and this, his opponents say, Sir Wilfrid Laurier refuses. The request for natural resources such as Ontario and Quebec possess is refused and the subsidy offered in lieu of the lands, timbers, minerals, etc., is only a fraction of that received by Saskatchewan and Alberta. In brief, the offer is $200,000 a year until the added territory reaches a population of 100,000, then $250,000 until the population reaches 150,000, and thereafter the sum of $300,000, which is the maximum Manitoba can ever hope to get. The additional area consists of 160,000 square miles and takes in a large portion of the shores of Hudson's bay.

The western boundary is extended due north to the northern boundary of Saskatchewan. From thence the boundary line runs due east to Hudson's bay. The new eastern boundary extends northeasterly from the northeast boundary of the province to Hudson's bay. This addton will give Manitoba an area of 233,732 square miles, against the following areas in square miles of the other provinces: Alberta, 250,650; Saskatchewan, 253,540; Ontario, 260,862; Quebec, 351,873; Nova Scotia, 21,428; New Brunswick, 27,985; British Columbia, 372,630; Prince Edward Island, 2,184; Yukon, 207,076.

least until 1913, and even then it will have exactly the same senate to deal with that it has now.

As to the failure of the post-mortem attempt to draft a reapportionment bill, on the whole, probably, it is just as well that it happened so.

To pass a makeshift bill now, which would not be effective until after the next session of the legislature, would be merely going through the motions to save somebody's face.

First, it would relieve the governor of the embarrassment of deciding between calling a fruitless extra session and going back on his Brainerd promise.

Second, it would afford a colorable defense against the charge that the Republican party, which promised reapportionment to be effective immediately, has repudiated its promise.

Beyond that it would amount to little.

Could Have Been Amended.

As the proposed bill would be effective only after the next session of the legislature, the legislature at its next session could amend it in any way it saw fit.

If the next legislature could amend the bill, it could draw up and pass a new reapportionment bill just as well.

And in the meantime, unless the signs are misleading, the voice of the people will make itself effective in forming an issue on reapportionment that will force through the next session a much better reapportionment bill, and a much juster, than could possibly be hoped for from the opponents of the Congdon bill.

It is not to be supposed for an instant that it is only in Northern Minnesota that there is clear vision and a plain understanding of the motives that led to the defeat of the Congdon reapportionment bill.

If it is not plain to every voter in the state that the only reason the Congdon bill was beaten was that it would cut in two the terms of the senators, then the Minnesota voter lacks much of the intelligence he is supposed to possess.

And if that sort of thing appeals to the average voter i nthe state of Minnesota, whether he lives in Cook county, Roseau county, Winona county or Rock county, then Minnesota lacks that sense of fair play which it is libel to charge her with lacking.

Kept Their Promises.

Before the subject of reapportionment is abandoned—temporarily—it is only fair to bear testimony that so far as the organizations in both houses are concerned Northern Minnesota has no basis for complaint.

Lieutenant Governor Sam Y. Gordon in the senate and Speaker H. H. Dunn kept their promises to the letter. Both framed reapportionment committees which did the very best they could to frame and pass a fair reapportionment bill. A fair reapportionment bill was framed by the committee of which Representative Chester A. Congdon of Duluth is chairman, and it was approved by both committees. It passed the house with little difficulty, and was beaten in the senate.

And the presiding officers of both houses did their level best to make it law. It wasn't necessary for Speaker Dunn to use his personal influence in behalf of the bill in the house, but it was necessary for President Gordon of the senate to use his personal influence, and he did—and he got votes for it.

Non-Partisan Judiciary Bill.

The senate yesterday afternoon passed a non-partisan judiciary bill by a narrow squeak, and after putting in the rest of the afternoon on a statewide primary bill, had to put it over to today for final action, its work being far from completed.

The non-partisan judiciary bill, which was introduced by Speaker Putnam, passed by a vote of 32 to 29, which was just the number needed to get it through. It had a narrow escape from defeat, however.

The first roll call showed 31 for it, which was one less than it needed. Senator Schaller was absent, and he returned to the chamber before the vote was announced. When his name was called he voted for the bill, thus giving it the requisite number.

Before the result of the roll call was announced, however, Senator Glotzbach changed his vote from "aye" to "no," thus leaving the bill one short of enough votes to pass.

Senator Olson came to the rescue by changing his vote from "no" to "aye," and the bill passed. The vote was as follows:

The Republican members split evenly, and the bill was carried by the affirmative votes of a majority of the Democrats.

When the bill was taken up Senator Putnam, its author, said that the measure had been drawn by a committee from the board of governors of the State Bar association, and that its object was to take the bench out of politics.

Senator Denegre of St. Paul opposed the bill, saying that he feared it would result in creating machines for the selection of delegates to judicial conventions and thus lead to worse practices than prevail under the party system. It would, he thought, embrace many of the evils of the old convention system and eliminate some of its benefits.

Senator George H. Sullivan of Stillwater, though he voted for the bill, said that he was afraid that while it would work well in the country it would develop dangerous possibilities in Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Senator Sageng thought it an awkward arrangement that the convention which named the successful candidate for a judicial nomination should proceed to nominate the man who is to run against him.

What the Bill Provides.

The bill provides for judicial conventions to be held five weeks before the general election. District judicial conventions are to be held to nominate candidates for district judge and to select delegates to a state convention if supreme court justices are to be nominated. The convention is to be composed of one delegate from each voting precinct in the district for each 150 male voters in the district. Candidates for delegate are to file their affidavits with the county auditor, who is to place their names on the primary election ballots of each party.

The district conventions are to proceed to the nomination of candidates by secret ballot. If on the first secret ballot one candidate gets 75 per cent of the votes cast, he is to be the sole nominee If no candidate is so fortunate, the convention by resolution will determine the number of candidates, not less than two, that shall be nominated, "and upon such determination the convention shall by secret ballot proceed to nominate such number of candidates, one at a time; provided that when more than one judge is to be elected in any judicial district at the same election, the convention shall nominate candidates for each judge to be elected in the same manner, one at a time."

After the nominations for district judges are out of the way, the conventions are to elect delegates to the state judicial convention, choosing from each county one for each ten delegates the county is entitled to have in the district convention.

The state judicial convention is to be held in the chamber of the house of representatives in St. Paul four weeks before the general election, and nominations are to be made in the same manner as in the district conventions.

Independent candidates may be placed on the ballots by petition as at present. The nominees are to go on the general election ballot without party designation.

State-Wide Primary Bill.

As introduced by the senate elections committee, the state-wide primary bill provided the following changes from the present system:

Extension to state officers and exclusion of judges of the supreme and district courts.

Providing for placing names on the primary election ballot by petitions of fifty for county officers and 500 for congressional or state officers.

Providing that parties must cast at the general election 20 per cent of their vote at the last preceding state election in order that their candidates might go on the primary election ballots with the party designation. Otherwise the candidates of the party failing to cast such proportion of its vote would go on as independents.

Providing that committees may fill vacancies on the ticket for the general election, and that if there is no proper committee the candidate next highest to the one who who drops out gets the place.

To take over part of the functions of the convention, it is provided that the candidates for state offices and for the legislature of each political party are to meet at the state capitol at noon on the second Tuesday after the primary and form the state platforms and select the state central committees. County candidates are to meet at the county seats at noon on the third Tuesday after the primary and elect their county committees. City candidates are to do the same thing.

The afternoon was spent by the senate in considering amendments, and when the provision was reached requiring candidates at the primaries to get 20 per cent of their party vote in order to retain standing as party candidates an adjournment was taken to this afternoon.

Before that, however, some of the trimmings were taken off the bill.

Senator Moonan wanted to strike out the provision excepting judges, saying that he had no faith that the house would pass the non-partisan judiciary bill which had just slipped through the senate. He did not think the 100 Republicans in the house were any more representative of their party than the delegates to the last state convention, and the delegates passed up a chance to have a non-partisan judiciary when they refused to nominate T. D. O'Brien, a man who would have been satisfactory to everybody, for the supreme bench.

Third Class Cities Excepted.

Senator J. D. Sullivan offered an amendment eliminating third-class cities from the provisions of the primary election law, which was adopted, 25 to 16. This leaves cities under 20,000 free from the primary election law.

Senator Nelson wanted to have the primaries in June instead of September, because the farmers would have more time then, but this amendment was lost.

Senator Moonan's amendment cutting out the provision allowing candidates to file statements of their principles and allowing the placing of names on the primary election ballot by petition was adopted, 24 to 18.

Senator Moonan wanted to strike out the provision allowing the voters to write in the names of candidates on the primary election ballot. That amendment was lost.

Senator G. H. Sullivan wanted to amend the bill to prohibit the use of stickers on the ground that their use facilitates fraud as it is impossible to detect forgery of ballots in such cases, but there was so much opposition that he withdrew his amendment. Senator Saugstad, who was elected by the use of stickers, spoke against the amendment.

The first real fight arose over the 20 per cent requirement. In offering his amendment striking it out, Senator Moonan said it was probably unconstitutional, and would defeat the bill.

Senator Haycraft said that this is the one provision that they insisted on keeping in, as it was intended to keep Democrats from picking Republican candidates and vice versa.

Senator Sageng said that it was one of the worst features of the bill. "In the first place," he said, "it would be the beginning of the end of the Populist party in Minnesota."

It was wrong, he continued, to punish the loyal ones who vote the party ticket for the sins of those who fail to do so, but wander into the primaries of the other party. He was anxious to see legislation that would keep the voters of the different parties separate, but he thought the penalties ought to apply to the real sinners.

Senator Duxbury said that there is a good deal of nonsense talked about meinbers of one party nominating the candidates of the other party, and he took no stock in it.

Without deciding this point or the bill, the measure was laid over to this afternoon on motion of Senator Haycraft.

The house committee on labor yesterday afternoon recommended for passage the Lundeen-Nolan bill abrogating the fellow servant rule and the doctrine of assumption of risk and establishing a rule of comparative negligence.

Distance Tariff Bill.

The house committee on railroads, in spite of the fact that the senate has killed the distance tariff bill, yesterday afternoon took up Representative Crane's distance tariff measure, a copy of the Cashman bill, and Mr. Crane wanted it reported out without discussion.

On motion of Representative Lennon, however, it was laid over for a public hearing. Mr. Crane has no idea of passing the bill, but wants to get the house members on record on it.

Representative Philip S. Converse's bill appropriating $10,000 for a new state fish hatchery at Detroit was recommended to pass by the house committee on appropriations yesterday afternoon. So was Representative C. H. Warner's bill appropriating $8,000 yearly for a state anti-tuberculosis commission and Senator Marden's bill giving the attorney general an additional assistant.

The committee recommended for passage the state forestry bill, leaving the appropriation that goes with it to come out in the omnibus appropriation bill.

YEAR FOR KILLING FATHER DURING FAMILY ROW.

Barron, Wis., March 22.—In view of extenuating circumstances in the case of Walter McCann, 19 years old, who killed his father in a family row, a plea of guilty of manslaughter in the fourth degree was accepted and the prisoner sentenced to one year in the state reformatory at Green Bay. The plea and sentence meet with general approval.

INVESTIGATING DEATH OF GIRL NEAR STILLWATER.

Stillwater, Minn., March 22.—A coroner's jury has been summoned to make an investigation of the sudden death on Saturday night of Miss Laura McMahon, aged 16 years, daughter of Timothy McMahon, a farmer of the town of Grant. The girl's death was so unexpected that the jury will investigate a report that she was the victim of poison taken with suicidal intent.

I Give Men This Vitality of Youth

Vitality is the thing which makes success, it gives men that compelling power which sends them forth eager and equipped to meet and overcome all obstacles; it is the thing which gives the young soldier courage to face death; it is the thing which inspires and holds his sweetheart's love and faith. No matter what your age, I can give you this same vital power, I can restore the vigor you lost, no matter what early or later indiscretion may have sapped your strength; I can make you "young" and keep you "young." From an intimate and studious observation of possibly 100,000 weakened men, I say to you that VITALITY or the lack of it means all the difference between a manly man and a half man. The man who bubbles with vital power will exert a pleasing influence upon all with whom he comes in contact; women are naturally attracted to him, as are men. Lack of vitality is a negative condition, and it even repels. You wear my HEALTH BELT all night; it sends a great glowing, health-giving current of electro-vitality into your nerves, blood and organs; it takes all the "kink" out of your back and all the coward out of your make-up; it puts you right up in the "feeling fine" class, and keeps you there. No stimulation, no false results; just a sure return to manhood and courage. The special electro-vital suspensory, free with each Belt, carries the current to the parts needing it. Recommended also for rheumatism, pain in the back, kidney, liver, stomach and bladder disorders, it makes you feel young and keeps you feeling young forever.

Let Me Send You This Book FREE.

It fully describes my Health Belt, and contains much valuable information One part deals with various ailments common to both men and women, such as rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, etc. The other part is a private treatise for men only. Both sent upon application, free, sealed by mail.

If in or near this city, take the time to drop in at my office, that you may see, examine and try the Belt. No charge for professional advice, either at my office or by mail. If you cannot call, fill in the coupon and get the free book by return mail. It is better than a fortune for any one needing new vigor. Hours 9 to 6; Sundays, 10 to 1.

THE CALL OF ADVENTURE

It Makes Itself Felt in Spring, Say the Navy Recruiters.

Many Applicants Are Refused Because They Are Not Citizens.

Strangely the fever to enlist in the United States navy is just now more prevalent among non-citizens of the United States than among citizens. One must be a native of the country or have second naturalization papers to be eligible for enlistment and the officers in charge of the navy recruiting station have had to turn away a large number of applicants on account of that fact.

The spring is always a good time for the recruiting offices in all branches of the country's service. The camps are breaking up and numbers of young, strong, healthy men are coming into the city looking for work. Some of them are looking for adventure also and they see promise of it in the army or navy. Consequently the recruiting officers look for good results at about this season of the year.

The large number of applicants of foreign birth has surprised the men in charge of the navy recruiting station. Numbers of likely looking applicants have appeared during the past week only to be turned away on account of their lack of citizenship papers. They have been physically fit, most of them have been able to speak English and some of them were able to read and write, but they were not citizens and only citizens will be accepted for service in the navy.

The recruiting officers reluctantly saw one applicant leave. He was beyond the 35-year age limit and was also not a citizen, so that he didn't have a chance to get into the navy, but he would undoubtedly make a better sailor than some of the men who are accepted. He was an Englishman and had served several years in the English army. He had been to India and was an old campaigner with a string of yarns that he could keep going all day if necessary. He entertained the recruiting officers with some stories of his experiences, said that he regretted his inability to get into Uncle Sam's navy and left to look up another job.

Other likely looking applicants have been turned away and there are times when the recruiting officers wish for the sake of results that the bars against non-residents were not so completely insurmountable.

BIG CROWD AT WEEKLY "POP"

Varied and Entertaining Program Provided at the Y. M. C. A.

A large crowd attended the weekly "pop" at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday evening. The entertainment was varied and interesting.

A. Flaaten played a 'cello solo, "Thegioni," by Pergolesi. T. J. Longtin, tenor, sang "In the Garden of My Heart." Mr. Longtin and J. Zellman sang a duet and responded to an encore. Miss Eugenia Johnson, soprano, sang "Carmena Waltz," by H. Lane Wilson. Mr. Zellman sang a bass solo, "The Turnkey's Song," by De Koven. Three sclections were played by an instrumental quartet, Henry G. Lavick played the violin, A. Flaaten, 'cello; Adolf Ritzman, flute; Miss Ruby Krause, piano.

Arthur Roy and Edward Ballinger did some trick and fancy roller skating. Ballinger jumped over some chairs although he got a poor start on account of the crowds on the gymnasium floor.

Baking Helps
Valuable Suggestions
By Mrs. Nevada Briggs, Exponent of the Art of Baking, as taught by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill
Helpful Cake Making Hints

Always sift flour and K C Baking Powder at least three times. The more sifting, the lighter the cake. Remember that! To cream butter and sugar quickly, warm the sugar slightly. Beat yolks of eggs with rotary beater. Whip whites of eggs with flat spoon whip. Water makes lighter cakes; milk makes richer cakes.

To mix a cake, first cream butter and sugar thoroughly, then add yolks, if used. Then alternately add moisture and flour that has been sifted with baking powder and stir until smooth and glossy, adding egg whites after thoroughly mixing.

Always use K C Baking Powder.

Biscuit Helps

Always sift flour and K C Baking Powder at least three times.

Have shortening cold and firm. Mix dough as soft as it can be handled. The softer dough goes into the oven, the lighter the biscuit when it comes out. It is easier for K C Baking Powder to do its work in soft than in stiff dough. Mix biscuits very little. Do not knead. Stir up with spoon or knife and press in shape to roll on floured board

With K C Baking Powder results are sure and certain. Ask your grocer for K C.

RADIATION OF THE SUN

Investigation Which Is Expected to Prove That It Varies.

Produces Corresponding Variation in Temperature of the Earth.

Washington, March 22.—As a result of the action of congress at the last session in making a special appropriation of $5,000 for the purpose, Dr. C. G. Abbot, director of the astrophysical observatory of the Smithsonian institution, will be able to complete within the next year an investigation which was begun in 1905 and which, if it arrives at the expected conclusion, will result in a discovery of the first rank, such as is not often made in aeronomical work.

This investigation is expected to prove that the radiation of the sun varies and that this variation produces a corresponding variation in the temperature of the earth. While this discovery, if made, will have its highest value for pure science, it will also be of great benefit in its application to agriculture, to long distance weather forecasts and other practical purposes.

To complete the tests which have been and still are being made at the observatory here in Washington (sea level), at Mount Whitney (three miles elevation) and at Mount Wilson (one mile elevation), Dr. Abbot finds it necessary to establish a station in the cloudless region of Southern Mexico Observations then will be taken at the new station and at Mount Wilson simultaneously, and if the two sets of measurements should agree the conclusion will be proved.

The Trip to Mexico.

Congress has provided for this trip to Mexico by adding $5,000 to the appropriation regularly made for the work of the astrophysical observatory, to the intense gratification of Dr. Abbot and Secretary Walcott of the Smithsonian institution as they are hopeful of success attending the undertaking. While the expedition will not set out for Mexico until next July, when it is hoped peaceful conditions will be restored in the Southern republic, the work of preparation already is under way. In speaking of the work, Dr. Abbot says:

"When we began to make these measurements, there was nowhere in the world any exact scale of measurement of radiation, although physicists had been working in devising instruments for that purpose for about sixty years. Still there remained an uncertainty of 5 to 10 per cent in the scale of pyrheliometry, as it is called. We have devised several instruments to be used as standards for that purpose, and in this last year we have made a careful comparison of two of our instruments of the most improved type, and these agreed perfectly in fixing the scale of measurements.

"This apparatus is used now as a standard by which to standardize other apparatus which has been sent around the world. We have sent instruments to France and Italy and have requests for them from Argentina, Peru, and other countries.

"Our measurements at Mount Wilson have been carried on for several years. The first expedition was in 1905, and we have observed almost daily for six months of each year from 1905 to 1910, excepting in 1907. In 1910 I was fortunate in having two weeks of good weather on the summit of Mount Whitney, which is the highest mountain in the United States. I carried on there complete measurements which were simultaneous with those carried on at Mount Wilson. We have found that the results obtained at Mount Whitney check and substantiate completely the work we were doing at Mount Wilson. Therefore, having established a standard scale of measurement, and having shown that we get the same results at Washington, Mount Wilson and Mount Whitney, we are now able to state the value of the solar constant of radiation. This value is of an importance equal to that of the distance of the sun in astronomical work. Our measurements show a range of the value of the solar radiation outside of our atmosphere of about 8 per cent.

May Be Big Discovery.

"Now by taking stations so far apart that no local condition in the atmosphere can affect them both, we may actually prove whether or not these variations are in the sun or are something that we have not eliminated in the atmosphere. If we find them in the sun, we shall have made a discovery of the first rank. It is clear that if the sun varies, the temperature of the earth must vary correspondingly, perhaps not always the same at all stations, because the earth is so affected by the presence of water and mountains and the like that not all stations would behave exactly alike; but yet we will be able to find a relation between the radiation of the sun and the temperature of the earth that will be so important to the meteorological service of this country and abroad that undoubtedly this work we are doing will be continued daily at several stations over the world if we shall prove the variation in the sun."

The appreciation of the work that Dr. Abbot is doing is shown in the fact that during the past year the Draper gold medal was awarded by the National Academy of Sciences to Dr. Abbot for his valuable researches in solar radiation.

When Dr. Abbot appeared before the appropriations committee in behalf of this work, he called attention to a remark made on the floor of the house by a representative who spoke of the astro-physical observatory as the "tail of a dog." The scientist, by way of reply, said that "a good dog's tail wags, and I want you to know something is moving at the astro-physical observatory."

CHARGE IS NOW SIMPLE ASSAULT

Booker Washington's Assailant Will Not Be Held to Grand Jury.

New York, March 22.—Through an agreement of counsel for both sides, the charge of felonious assault made by Booker T. Washington against Albert Ulrich, a carpenter, growing out of an attack upon the negro educator on Sunday night, was reduced to one of simple assault, and instead of the case going to the grand jury as a felony, Ulrich waived examination and was held to the court of special sessions on the minor charge, with bail reduced from $1,500 to $500.

William J. Gibson, counsel for Ulrich, said that the agreement had been reached at the Hotel Manhattan Monday night when he was called into conference with attorneys and friends of Washington.

Intense interest centered in the appearance of Dr. Washington in police court. His head was still swathed in bandages and he arrived in a taxicab, accompanied by Former Governor Pinchback of Louisiana. The West Side police court was jammed and the crowd, in which negroes predominated about five to one, extended into the street.

Presiding Magistrate McAdoo, who sat with Magistrate Cornell, took charge of the case and examined Dr. Washington and other witnesses in private chambers so that the clerk could draw up the modified charge. When Ulrich, who had been in conference with the other witnesses and with Dr. Washington, was called to the stand, his lawyer announced that the defendant would waive examination.

"Will $500 be all right," asked the magistrate. Both sides assented and the bond was at once adjusted.

By this time the crowds in the street had grown to several thousands and Dr. Washington, on leaving, had great difficulty in reaching a city automobile assigned to Borough President McAneny. But escorted by Mr. McAneny and Deputy Police Commissioner Flynn, he forced his way through the throng and was quickly driven away.

To clear the street, it was necessary to call out police reserves.

TO LOCATE STANDPIPES.

Water Supply Will Be Distributed Through Forest Hill Cemetery.

Standpipes will be located every 200 feet throughout the grounds at Forest Hill cemetery, this action having been determined upon by the board of directors. They have been busy laying out the routes to be followed by the pipes. All of them will run from the large reservoir, which is supplied with water pumped by a large windmill from natural springs.

Heretofore it has been necessary for those wishing to water their lots to use buckets and sprinklers. The new arrangement will prove a great convenience and will be an aid in maintaining the beauty of the grounds.

ANOTHER JUDGE NEEDED.

There is every reason why the plea of the bar association of the Eleventh judicial district for the appointment of another judge should be heeded. Conditions as they exist in this district are plainly set forth in the statement made by the committee of the association, and if any further information on that point were necessary it could be gained in a half day's conferences with various attorneys and court attaches in the district.

Conditions as they exist are working serious injustice not only to the judges now serving in the district, but to such persons and organizations as chance to have business before the courts. The judges are overworked, and the litigants are forced to suffer from delays in hearings and decisions. Such a state of things neither serves the purpose of the judicial system nor creates and conserves proper respect for the law and its administration.

It is not the area of the district alone that enters into making the condition serious. The judges have to cover a great amount of territory in their work, but it is no greater, after all, than has been included in other judicial districts in the history of our country. But the last few years have seen a remarkable growth in population in Carlton, St. Louis, Lake and Cook counties, and with this growth there has been a multiplication of legal problems before the courts. The addition of the work of the juvenile court to the duties of the district judges also figures prominently in the case.

There can be no denial that the Eleventh district is seriously in need of another judge, and the legislature should make the necessary provision.

AGITATING NORTH DAKOTA.

Somebody in North Dakota has started something. Reports from that state are that a series of county meetings, to be followed by a monster mass meeting, are being planned to oppose the ratification of the reciprocity agreement with Canada. It does not seem possible that the farmers and business men of North Dakota, one of the states that would benefit most largely by the operation of the agreement, can be so misled.

There is one feature to this proposed "crystallization of sentiment" that is peculiar, and that is that no such effort was made until it became apparent that the special interests that are fighting ratification were likely to lose out, and until some of the leaders of the insurgent movement in congress had shown that their real object is opposition to President Taft and the elevation of one of their own number, rather than the passage of legislation of value to and in the interests of the people. As long as the senate appeared to be safely standpat so that the agreement might be killed in that body, no attempts were made to start such movements as this. But the Sixty-first congress proved unable to defy public sentiment to the extent of voting down the agreement, and the special privilege forces are trying to stir up opposition that they hope will result in its defeat in the Sixty-second congress. It is unfortunate that they are making North Dakota one of their principal fields of operation.

And yet, perhaps the choice of that field is wise. For years the Republican party has been telling the farmer that a tariff on wheat meant prosperity for him, and by that means has induced him to vote for tariffs on other articles, tariffs that helped build up the monopolies that have robbed farmer and city man alike. The farmers have had this theory dinned into their ears so constantly that it is hard for them to realize that it is false; that this country does not buy wheat, but sells it; and that the price of wheat is not fixed in the United States, but in Liverpool, the center of the world market. That wheat, in short, is not a local or national commodity, but a world commodity, and that it is not amenable to the same influences that determine the prices of articles manufactured in this country under the tariff protection. Yet such is the case. Reciprocity with Canada would not mean a poorer market for American wheat.

But while the farmer is perhaps too easily convinced as a result of years of Republican misrepresentation, it is impossible to see how the business men of North Dakota could be misled. They would experience the same things under reciprocity with Canada that the business men of Minnesota would experience, and these latter see in reciprocity a great gain for their business, and have so expressed themselves. This gain will come in more active business along all lines through a broadening of the markets. And North Dakota would find the same thing true of her own interests.

Even leaving aside these features of the reciprocity question, ratification of the Canadian agreement means the driving of a wedge into the iniquitous tariff system that will result in better things for the country as a whole, agricultural and urban. The big manufacturing interests that have fattened on protection care not a whit about this agreement, one way or the other, as far as its actual provisions are concerned. But with this agreement ratified the people can say to them, "It's your turn next," and there will be not one single, solitary argument left for the protectionists to hide behind.

Reciprocity with Canada means a staggering blow at the protected interests that are preying on the farmers and business men alike. Rejection of reciprocity means the giving into the hands of the predatory interests of more power than they ever have had before. North Dakota should join the rest of the states in defying special privilege, not play into its hands by shortsighted deference to the will of the interests that fear the square deal, however plausible may be the arguments advanced by the standpat writers and orators.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Nobody who has not had occasion to use its facilities in his own personal work can begin to appreciate the advantage to the people of the state that exists in the work of the Minnesota Historical society. One may visit the rooms of the society, pass among the shelves that contain the thousands of books, glance at the long rows of newspaper files, look over the catalogs of manuscripts and periodicals, and inspect the historical relics that are gathered there, and yet go away with only a vague notion that all these things might be of some use to somebody under some circumstances. But it takes a personal experience to make the visitor realize what all this work means and can mean.

In legislative matters, for example, supposing members of either house or senate wanted to know the historical features that brought about or attended the passage of some act. Who could tell them? Nobody. That is, nobody could give a wholly unprejudiced account, for in such matters the only persons who remember the details are those who were partisans of one side or the other, and their recollection cannot be trusted to give the subject a fair presentation. But in the files of the historical society are to be found records that will show the exact truth, and from which its bearings on present day conditions can be seen.

In the archives of the historical society there is being filed, week after week and day after day, a minute history of Minnesota, of every county in the state, and of the principal events in every town and village. There are relics and writings that preserve the story of the Indians in this state; there are scrapbooks, letters, documents, etc., that give details of our state's development that never have appeared in the public prints; there are pictures that tell more clearly than words could the nature of the life of the early settlers. There are books that could not be replaced at any cost, and there are private writings that wrought for big events. It is no exaggeration to say that were the Minnesota Historical society's collection to be destroyed the affair would be a disaster of a magnitude impossible to realize.

This vast collection of historical and contemporary matter is growing year by year. It is an accumulation of material that is far too valuable to be lost. Even now its quarters in the state capitol are crowded so seriously as to hamper the work. Meanwhile it is proposed to take a part of those quarters from the society and use the space for the administrative department of the government, for that department really needs the extra room. But if this is done, what is to become of the historical society? One of the chief values of the society's library and collections is the availability of everything in them. Important records are useless unless they are accessible, and unless the things sought in them can readily be found. To pack them into a storeroom without order, accessibility or a system of indexing would be equal to destroying them.

There is a way out of the difficulty. There is a bill before the present legislature that provides $500,000 for the erection of a building for the Minnesota Historical society. The plan is the same that has been adopted in other states, as Wisconsin and Iowa. Wisconsin spent $600,000 on its building, and Iowa $450,000. The sum provided for in the present bill is not a bit too large. It is a necessary work, and the legislators should see that the money is appropriated. Every year of delay means the crowding of the society's work, to the detriment of its great continual value to the state. It would take at least three or four years to get the building ready for occupancy, and it ought to be started as soon as possible. It is for the good of the state that the work be done, and done promptly. The legislature would do well to pass the pending bill and assure the state of the continuance of the advantages it now has through the work of the historical society.

THEY KNEW MEN.

Six more of the "Maybray gang" have been sentenced for their part in the series of sporting swindles that attracted so much attention in all parts of the country in the last few years. These six are given five months each in jail and in addition must pay $1,000 fine each. It is a heavy punishment, but it can hardly be charged that it is heavier than is deserved. These men gave their victims no chance whatever, and their system was such that they were not content with merely making a dent in a man's finances; they sought to get everything he had, even to the extent of inducing him to strain his credit to increase the size of the spoils.

It seems strange, at first thought, that such a game as that played by the Maybray gang could have been worked successfully for so long a time, but an analysis of their methods shows that they worked on practically a sure thing—human nature. They utilized a keen knowledge of men in every deal they pulled off. They spotted their victims carefully. They picked men who would be interested in the kind of games they proposed. They worked on psychological lines, often inducing their man, indirectly, to make the suggestion himself that was to lead directly to his own undoing. And they played strongly on the fact that every man hates to be made a laughing stock, and that the impulse of all men is to laugh at the one who allows himself to be victimized by any kind of a swindle.

Their methods were a shrewd combination of the principles acted upon by the successful salesman, the fake promoter, the fortune teller and the mindreader. Their skill was equal to that of some of the most experienced exploiters of the occult. They turned all these forces into the one channel of financial profit, and the result was the direction of a stream of gold to their coffers.

The objects and accomplishments of the gang were distinctly dishonorable, and the members deserve punishment. But when one considers the knowledge of men displayed by the leaders in the schemes and the skill with which they made use of that knowledge, one must concede that the legitimate business world lost some valuable material when these individuals turned from the straight and narrow path of commercialism into the broad and easy road of illegitimate preying on those whom they found to be susceptible.

Also it is about time for the annual spring maneuvers of the army of house-hunters.

There is an irresistible tendency to link the ideas of the harem skirt and the Turkish Trophy.

That janitor who failed to subdue Booker T. Washington with a club need never expect to get a job as the white man's hope.

THE SENATE AND REAPPORTIONMENT

An Outrage.

Brainerd Dispatch: The people of Northern Minnesota have been deprived of their rights by members of the senate from the southern part of the state, who refuse to grant them just representation based on population, because of purely selfish motives. The platforms of both parties declared for reapportionment at the last election and the Constitution provides for it. The senators holding the balance of power because of unjust representation, have the audacity to say that a just reapportionment law shall not be passed because it would lose to them one-half of their return as senator. Party obligations and loyalty to the state rest lightly with the senator who would stultify himself for the paltry salary attached to the remainder of his term. Men who will take the stand and vote as did the senators whose voices were raised and whose votes were recorded against the reapportionment bill before that body on Thursday should be barred from forever holding any office in the gift of the people. It is an outrage, not only to the northern part of the state, but to Minnesota at large.

Zealous For "Justice."

St. Cloud Times: Senator Cashman, who is filled with such zeal in the interest of justice and right (vide his railroad rate bill), voted against reapportionment. His district has only 16,346 population—only half the number entitling it to a senator.

Only a Temporary Defeat.

Cass Lake Times: The reapportionment bill has been temporarily defeated. Northern Minnesota will rise as one man to pray that every senator who voted against the bill may be permanently defeated.

Not Eligible.

Stillwater Gazette: The Duluth papers have a list of thirty-six Minnesota senators that are not eligible to their roll of honor. We are pleased to note that Washington county's senator is not included in that thirty-six.

Wants an Extra Session.

Ely Miner: It is now up to Governor Eberhart to fulfill his promises made at the Brainerd convention of the Northern Minnesota Development association and call an extra session to enact a reapportionment law. As the governor has been strong on keeping his promises heretofore, he will probably not desert his people now.

Traitors to Pledges.

Itasca News: On Thursday the state senate by a vote of 36 to 27 killed the reapportionment bill, thus making liars of parties, severing party lines and making more acrimonious the feeling between the north and south parts of the state and developing traitors to platform pledges. But as a consolation, the bill to tax iron ore by the ton, was also defeated, 70 to 4.

It means a bigger and stronger Northern Development association, the "blocking of all other legislation," and, if the governor has not "gone south" too, it means an extra session.

The Infamy of It.

St. Cloud Times: The more the rejection of reapportionment by the senate is discovered, the more "the deep damnation of its taking off" is apparent. It has been figured out that the thirty-six senators who voted against the bill represented only 902,797 persons, or an average of 25,000 while the twenty-seven who voted for the bill represent 1,172,911, or an average of 43,400 each. Draw a line east and west from Appleton to Anoka and it will be found that every senator south of that line, outside of Ramsey and Hennepin counties, voted against the bill and every senator north of that line, except Marden of Barnesville, voted for it. Every member of the First, Second, and Third congressional districts voted "no," as did five of the seven from the Seventh, two from the Sixth, two from the Fourth, one from the Eighth and one from the Ninth. The Fifth was the only district which was a unit for the bill.

The basis of apportionment was fixed at 33,000. The districts of many of the senators voting against it run as low as 13,000, 14,000, 15,000, 16,000 and 17,000. The principal reason for its defeat was the desire of senators to hold on to the end of their four years' term, in defiance of law, Constitution, oath of office and party pledges.

Entitled to Reapportionment.

Crookston Times: Northern Minnesota was entitled to reapportionment. Enough members were pledged to reapportionment to pass a bill with a whoop. But when it came down to actual business it was discovered there was reapportionment and reapportionment of about 900 varieties and, in the wrangle of what kind of reapportionment, the whole proposition has been lost, or is practically lost as far as this session is concerned. Polk county was not interested to the extent that northern counties are, because the representation from this county would remain the same, but supported the measure because other Northern Minnesota counties are being deprived of their rights and are being compelled to submit to a gross injustice from insufficient representation.

The Test of Eberhart.

Hibbing Tribune: The governor's position at this time is well taken. The Republican party has promised a fair reapportionment at this session of the legislature. The party has a strong majority in both branches. The governor is entirely justified in waiting until every possibility of the Republican party's keeping its promise is exhausted. When that time comes, as it now seems certain to come with the adjournment of the legislature, it will then be time for the governor to say whether he will call a special session or not.

Governor Johnson did not want to face the tonnage tax issue, but he finally had to face it and he had the courage and the honesty to do the right thing. Governor Eberhart does not want to face the reapportionment issue, but apparently he will have to. It remains to be seen whether he will have the courage and the honesty to do the right thing. There appears to be no escape from the fact that reapportionment will be the crucial test of Eberhart.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE GRAND ARMY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

John E. Gilman, now commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, belonged to the Twelfth Massachusetts volunteers, one of the first regiments that responded and rallied to the call of Abraham Lincoln for men to go to the front and battle with the foe to help save the Union. John E. Gilman lost his good right arm on July 3, 1863, in the battle of Gettysburg, where he laid on the field all night in pain and agony among the rest of the wounded. The next day he was found and cared for, but the surgeons were compelled to cut off the arm above the elbow, as it was badly shattered. The Twelfth was one of the 300 of Fox's famous fighting regiments of the late Civil war and its regimental colors floated over every battlefield where the army of Northern Virginia fought. At the battle of Antietam this very regiment was nearly cut to pieces and blotted out of existence, for after the battle the dead were found piled one on top of the other where they had fallen from the murderous fire of the enemy.

At the Wilderness fight they lost heavily. Company C was led off the battlefield by one of the sergeants, all the officers being killed or badly wounded. Three color bearers were shot down, but the colors had no sooner touched the ground than they were picked up by some of the boys and carried proudly along with the regiment.

The Twelfth left Boston early in May, 1861, being 1,200 strong, and were reviewed by the governor of the state, who praised the fine appearance of the men. The Twelfth was mustered out of the United States service on July 8, 1864, the men's time being up, but out of the 1,200 that left Boston only 180 came back, the remainder killed or wounded or in some rebel prison. Gilman was wounded on the afternoon of July 3 by one of the guns of Pickett's charge at Gettysburg.

IS THERE ANY LAW AGAINST CLEANING AERIAL BRIDGE CAR?

To the Editor of The Herald:

I see that the council has voted to rent advertising space in the car of the aerial bridge for $200 per year, and I would like to suggest that part of this money be spent to give the car an occasional scrubbing.

The cabin has been in a very dirty and insanitary condition all winter and smells more like a lumber camp than a public conveyance. It would not cost very much to scrub it out with soap and water once in a while. I do not understand why the board of health has never taken this up. The street car company would not be allowed to keep its cars in the condition the city keeps the aerial bridge car; and the street car company does not allow dogs to be brought into the cars, while those in charge of the bridge pay no attention to such niceties. This is all the more important in the winter, when the car is heated and closed.

The board of health has recently undertaken to make the rooming houses of the city clean up, and it would be setting a very good example to begin by cleaning up city property first.

Right here I would like to suggest that the slogan, "Watch Duluth Grow," be amended to read, "Watch Duluth Grow Clean." What we really want is not necessarily a bigger town, but a better town to live in. If we can make Duluth a better town to live in, the growing will follow as a matter of course. Yours for a better Duluth, CARE NEEDED IN USE OF DANGEROUS DRUG.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The public intelligence of our citizens is so continually insulted by quack medical advertisements of every description that we can hardly feel complimented as a community. Evidently we need a little of the wholesome publicity that has been given to these matters in other parts of the country. We propose therefore to say a few words in regard to an advertisement that appeared recently in Sunday papers throughout the country. The advertisement referred to the use of Salvarsan—the so-called 606—which Prof. Ehrlich, after years of research and experimentation, and after safeguarding its use with every possible precaution, gave to the medical profession. This drug is an arsenic compound of very great potency, and has been found to be of value in the cure of certain cases of syphilis.

But the difficult method of using it, and the severe reaction that follows its use, and the grave danger liable to attend its improper application, make it imperative to warn the public against its administration by traveling quacks or improperly trained charlatans. This drug is a dangerous drug to handle and should be used only in properly selected cases and by a physician trained to administer it. It may be necessary to have hospital care for several weeks following the treatment, and knowing this, it is evident that the advertising of such a powerful drug directly to the public, to be given indiscriminately to cases, real and imaginary, is at once a dangerous procedure, and an act little short of criminal. Forewarned is forearmed. Respectfully,

W. A. COVENTRY, M. D.,
President St. Louis County Medical Society.

The Republic of Inman.

Le Journal des Debats: Where is the republic of Inman, which has lately gained an unenviable notoriety owing to the plague? Its name is not to be found in any historical or geographical index. It is to be found in the neighborhood of Primoff, to the south of the mountains of Bogaliadsa, to the east of Sichotaalin, on the banks of the river Inman, which is a tributary of the Oussouri. After this we expected to hear that it was inhabited by Lilliputians or Gargantuans. Its inhabitants are all hunters; it has its own laws, but no police, and like Monaca its chief delight is gambling; but with this difference, that the gambling is restricted to one month in the year, and all the rest of the time it is forbidden under the severest penalties.

Severe penalties are meted out to thieves, who are discouraged by being buried alive. But perhaps as there are no police this punishment sounds worse than it really is. However, the country has one pleasant custom; it offers free hospitality to visitors for three days, who may demand the best room in any house. After that they must pay forty kopeks a day—not a very large sum. But if a visitor is unwary enough to appear at the New Year he must give a present of fifteen rubles to celebrate the day.

A Collector's Find.

London Globe: A Copenhagen dispatch announces that a local architect, M. Achen, noticed in a miscellaneous assortment of antiquities in the shop of a dealer in Bredgade quarter a ring with which he was impressed. He bought it for 2 kronen and when at home cleaned and examined it carefully. He was not long in convincing himself that he had acquired for a modest price a ring of antiquity of great value.

M. Achen, to make sure about the ring that he had obtained in so casual a manner in the curiosity shop at Copenhagen, sent it to the British museum for the opinion of experts there, and he was informed that the ring looked very much like a copy of that worn by Michael Angelo, the original of which was preserved in the Louvre. M. Achen wrote to Paris and then learned that Michael Angelo's ring had been stolen from the museum in 1812. It seems probable that the architect has acquired the ring that disappeared from the Louvre just a century ago.

Maori Telephone Lines.

London Globe: The Maori of New Zealand is a fine fellow, and well liked by Europeans. That he is progressive is shown by the up to date methods which he adopts in farming, and when he indulges in the luxury of motor cars he always wants the best makes. Those Maoris who are living in the northern portion of New Zealand have had a large number of their villages between Waiomio (Kawakawa), Ohaewai and Kalhoe connected by telephone; the lines, erected by themselves, have been put up in a solid and secure manner. At a recent meeting to extend the Maori telephone service a hand wash basin was set up as the official receiver of funds and over £300 was thrown into it by those present. It took two days' talk to settle the business end of the project, during which time there was a prodigious eating of pork and fish. During evening time, when conversation is slack on the telephone, the gramophone is impressed.

WHAT BAD ROADS COST.

Des Moines Register and Leader: Investigations conducted by the United State office of public roads and by various state commissions have established that the average cost of hauling over highways such as we have here in Iowa is 25 cents per ton per mile, the average haul being eight miles. This means, then, that it costs the farmers of this state $2 to haul one ton eight miles, while in Europe, where they have improved highways, the cost of hauling is as low as 7 cents per ton mile, and in the United States the cost to the farmer for hauling over improved highways has been reduced to 10 cents per ton mile. Improved highways would mean a reduction of more than half of the present annual cost of transportation to the farmer. It is only necessary for one to consider the immense tonnage that is hauled over our country roads to realize the tremendous saving to the farmers of this state, if the cost can be reduced to 10 cents per ton mile. The farmers of Iowa, in the year 1908, produced more than $440,000,000 worth of farm products, the larger portion of which was hauled at a cost of 25 cents per ton mile. If this amount could be reduced to tons it would be very easy to figure the immense saving in transportation charges, providing we had improved highways. However, I have taken as a basis to estimate the savings in the cost of transportation, tonnage table 69, of the report of the Iowa board of railroad commissioners for the year 1908, which is as follows:

	Tons.
Grain	4,225,489
Hay	209,063
Fruit and vegetables	717,393
Grass seed	1,495
Other agricultural products	136,515
Butter	16,232
Eggs	1,528
Cheese	6,447
Poultry	91,704
Wool	47,825
Total	5,475,761

The cost to the farmers of this state transporting this vast tonnage of farm products to the railroad stations over our unimproved dirt highways, at 25 cents per ton mile, at the average haul of eight miles, amounts to $10,951,522; while with a statewide system of improved highways the cost for hauling this tonnage the average distance at 10 cents per ton mile (the cost of hauling on improved, permanent highways) amounts to $4,380,608.80, or a saving to the farmers of the enormous sum of $6,570,913.20, or enough to construct 657 miles of improved, permanent highways, costing $10,000 per mile.—Argument of H. H. Polk for good roads.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MANY COMING TO LECTURES

Hazlett Lecture Series at Grand Forks Attracts Ministers and Laymen.

Dr. Freeman of Morningside College, Iowa, Delivers Series This Year.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ministers and laymen from all sections of the state are gathering here to be present this evening at the opening of the Hazlett lecture series to be delivered by Dr. Luther Freeman, president of Morningside college, Morningside, Iowa, and also to attend the annual convention of the Grand Forks Ministerial union of the Methodist conference. The Hazlett endowment fund of Wesley college provides for the delivering of five lectures each year by one of the ablest divines of the day and the occasion always brings to the city the theologians of every city in the state, regardless of creed or denomination, and many from the Western Minnesota cities.

This year the lectures form a part of the ministerial convention program, allowing the ministers a twofold benefit form their trip, and the subjects which Dr. Freeman has chosen are: "God," "Life," "The Bible," "The Future," and "Self." The first lecture will be delivered at the Methodist church tonight, opening the course and the convention.

Good Speakers Engaged.

The best orators and thinkers in the Grand Forks district have been selected for the other convention speakers and those on the Thursday program are: W. W. Liston of Drayton, S. S. Wyand of Hope, G. H. Cooper of Cavalier, S. Newlove of Hamilton, A. J. Pitman of Starkweather, Francis Boone of Emerado, C. L. Wallace of Devils Lake, James Ople of St. Thomas, D. S. Scadeng of Langdon, and William Burns of Hannah.

A business session with election of officers will open the Friday morning session and papers will be read by E. L. Mudge of Edmore and R. W. Adair of Larimore, with discussions led by G. H. Richardson of Milton and R. J. Hicks of Thompson.

In the afternoon District Superintendent J. G. Moore of Grand Forks speaks and will be followed by C. E. Stinson of Grafton, H. H. Moore of Pembina, Secretary Kirk E. Wallace of the Grand Forks Y. M. C. A. and C. T. Ensign of Bathgate.

MARSHALL COUNTY NEARLY ALL "DRY"

Warren on Water Wagon After Being "Wet" for Eleven Years.

Warren, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Warren went "dry" yesterday by a vote of 166 to 143, 8 blank votes. Warren has gone "wet" for eleven years by a small majority, averagaing around a dozen. Argyle went "wet" after being "dry" one year, but it was understood that if Warren went "dry" the village council of Argyle would refuse to grant license. This makes Marshall county "dry" with the exception of Oslo.

Marinette Men to Fight Bill.

Marinette, Wis., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—About twenty Marinette people will go to Madison to appear at the hearing of the bill for the division of Marinette county. The Marinette delegation will solidly oppose it. It is rumored that another delegation from Wausaukee and other places will be on hand to urge the passage of the measure.

COMMERCIAL CLUB PLANS STATE TRIP

Grand Forks Organization to Send Delegation Over State By Automobiles.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Realization of the fact that the interests of North Dakota cities and towns are identical, and that the best results in the promotion of those interests can only be secured through co-operation, the Grand Forks Commercial club has launched plans for a tour of between twenty and thirty of its members for the purpose of gaining a union of the commercial organizations through the northeastern part of the state. The tour will be made by automobiles with frequent stops at cities and towns now possessing commercial clubs or similar organizations, or in cities and towns desiring to have such clubs organized.

In each of the towns that will be visited, previous arrangements will have been made for a meeting of the local commercial club, business men's club or farmers' club, whichever it may be, and the program to be carried out at each of these meetings will be arranged in advance also.

MAMMOTH PAPER PLANT PLANNED

Eau Claire, Wis., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A mammoth new manufacturing enterprise in the Chippewa valley, utilizing power on the Chippewa river is materializing rapidly and assured. It will be a great paper and paper-board manufacturing plant at Cornell, based on the magnificent water power of the Cornell Land & Power company of Eau Claire.

The Cornell Land & Power company consists of L. V. Ripley, W. K. Coffin, David Douglas and Charles McArthur, all of Eau Claire, and the Henry L. Levy estate, Eau Claire.

It is said that the Canadian reciprocity act has no bearing at all on the matter. The manufacturing company will make its own pulp, by grinding, also by new chemical methods, instead of the sulphite process. The raw material it is believed will all be obtained in this state.

The headquarters of the Brunet Falls Manufacturing company will be here.

The Brunet Falls or Cornell power is one of the greatest if not the greatest water powers in the state.

The dam will be solid concrete, and everything about the whole plant will be of the most substantial and modern character.

The site of the dam is just below the bridge in the village of Cornell.

Will Employ Several Hundred.

The plant when in operation will require a large number of employes, probably several hundred.

In regard to a report that the charter or permit of the Cornell company to build a dam had expired unless the company did enough preliminary work inside the four-year limit to hold the privilege, a member of the company said they did not care to discuss that matter.

It is understood that the company may claim the right to build a dam both on the ground that preliminary work was done in time and on the ground that the right to build a dam exists independent of a permit when the person or corporation intending to build owns both sides of the stream and all flowage lands and pays due regard to the navigation question; that expiration of a permit might thus be deemed inconsequential but might involve a test of the power of the state.

ORDINANCE TO BAR BREWERY-SALOONS

East Grand Forks Council Is Planning Novel Legislation.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—An ordinance prohibiting the breweries having any control whatever over the saloons of the city will be presented at the next meeting of the city council, a motion to that effect having unanimously passed at the last meeting.

It is an important step in an endeavor to solve one of the evils which, it is claimed, has existed for some time and means that when the ordinance is finally passed forty-three applications for liquor licenses will be denied unless the breweries directly interested in the saloons give their saloon keepers an unconditional lease of the building and fixtures. The saloon keepers are strongly in favor of the ordinance.

ONLY ONE OFFENDER.

Against State Dairy and Food Laws in East Grand Forks.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Only one violation of the laws of the Minnesota dairy and food department was found here by State Inspector H. A. Lidenberg, who has been making tests of the milk and cream sold by local dealers. The sole offender was arraigned in justice court and it was found that the milk which failed to pass the test had been purchased from another party so his case was continued until April 10, giving him time to get in communication with the party who supplied the milk.

JEWELERS AND OPTICIANS MEET AT GRAND FORKS.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—June 13, 14 and 15 have been announced by Secretary George K. Munro of the North Dakota State Jewelers' association as the dates for the annual convention which will be held in this city and at the same time the North Dakota Opticians' association will hold its annual meeting. Work on the programs will begin at once and the combined conventions promise to be important events in this city's busy summer convention calendar.

Fireman Fractures Jaw.

Marinette, Wis., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Albert Annerman, aged 24, of Coleman was badly injured while working as a locomotive fireman for the Flanner-Steger Lumber company at Blackwell. He fell from the engine and suffered a fracture of both jaws. He was brought to the Menominee River hospital for treatment.

MILL MAN'S HARD LUCK.

Manager of Crookston Plant Has $300 in Cash Burned.

Crookston, Minn., March 22.—O. W. Peterson, manager of the branch of the Hanson & Barzen Milling company here, suffered a severe loss a few nights ago in a peculiar manner.

When he and his wife returned from the theater to their home, which had been untenanted during their absence, they were horrified by seeing a fire burning the dining room table cloth, and a coat belonging to Mr. Peterson hanging on a chair by the table. On extinguishing the fire Mr. Peterson inspected the coat for a large pocketbook he had left inside, but it was not in evidence, having either been stolen or burned. He said it contained $300 in cash and some checks. Whether it was a case of robbery or accident has not been determined.

DIES EN ROUTE TO AID.

Iowa Child, Being Rushed to Rochester, Expires on Train.

Rochester, Minn., March 22.—The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sweet of Chester, Iowa, died on a Great Western train yesterday, while being rushed here for surgical treatment.

A portion of potato lodged in the little boy's throat, but the parents hoped that the obstruction might be removed by Rochester physicians. Artificial respiration kept the child alive until Stewartville was reached; then the spark failed.

WASHBURN ORPHANAGE.

Made Possible By Will of Mrs. Jane Newell-Boyd.

Ashland, Wis., March 22.—Mrs. Jane C. Newell-Boyd, former wife of A. C. Probert of Washburn, who died in an Ashland hospital last week, made a will shortly prior to her death, under which she leaves her property in Washburn, to Bayfield county in trust, for the purposes of establishing an orphanage.

It will be known as the Newell Orphan's home, in honor of her father and Mother, John and Julia Newell. The property she leaves for this purpose, consists of a fine home in Washburn, and all of her personal effects, which are to be sold, and together with the proceeds from bonds and money left by her, the money is to be used for establishing and maintaining an orphanage. Attorney McLeod of Washburn and the mayor are to appoint five trustees to take charge of the orphanage. Mrs. Boyd came to Washburn with her husband, A. C. Probert, during the early '90s.

Probert was an exceedingly able and brilliant man, but his energies went in the wrong direction. Mrs. Boyd's body was taken to Connecticut for interment. The amount of the bequest has not been made public yet.

AMERICAN CITIZENS AGAIN.

Farmers Returning to Pennington County From Saskatchewan.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Olaf C. Langseth, a farmer in the town of Rocksbury, south of this city, recently declared his intention to become a United States citizen and made application to Clerk of the Court Ives in this city for his first papers. Mr. Langseth is of American birth, but went to Canada and filed on and later proved up on a claim. To do this he had to become a citizen of Great Britain. As soon as he received title to his Canadian homestead he returned to his farm in Rocksbury. This occurrence is being duplicated all over the Northwest. Many are returning to this section after trying it up in Canada.

REDUCED SEED OAT RATES ARE DENIED.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Effort upon the part of the Grand Forks Commercial to secure reduced rates on seed oats shipped into the state were not successful, a letter just received being to the effect that the concession cannot be granted. It was felt by the club that the shipment of oats under a reduced rate, similar to that granted on other grains, should be given this year. The objection held by the railroad is that oats so shipped in could be used for feeding purposes as well as for seeding.

About The Time It Takes For a Stanrt's Dyspepsia Tablet to Work on The Food and Bring Relief.

TRIAL PACKAGE SENT FREE.

There is no long wait between the time you take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and the feeling of relief it will bring to an overloaded stomach. It gets busy in a jiffy and quickly sets things to rights in that tired and disordered stomach. It goes right at the work of digesting the food it finds lodged there and in no time at all has things on the move—the gases cease forming, the breath is sweetened, the coating on the tongue disappears and you are no longer conscious that you even have a stomach.

That is one of the chief recommendations for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets—that they don't take forever to acomplish the purpose for which you need them. It is just as if you put an extra stomach or two to work when yours needed help. You can't continually overload your stomach and expect it to always smile. It is going to get rebellious and sulky after awhile and refuse to go on being driven to do double work. You must rest it occasionally—not by starving and thereby weakening yourself physically—but by using a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to do the work of digesting your food.

These tablets contain all the active elements of the natural stomach juices and will alone and unaided digest food just the same as the gastric juices. And nothing could be more harmless than these tablets. They do not effect the system in any way—do not cure any ailment except as they digest food. Use them freely.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists everywhere. Price, 50 cents per box. A trial package will be sent if you will write F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

WISCONSIN BILL WOULD REGULATE RAILROAD LUNCH.

Madison, Wis., March 22.—Railroad lunch counters will no longer be able to charge piratical prices for pie, if the Teasdale bill, No. 235S, becomes a law. Neither will they be able to "frisk" the traveling public for sandwiches, doughnuts and similar food when the conductor yells "All aboard!"

"If they do they will be liable to a fine of from $25 to $100, which is the penalty provided in the Teasdale bill.

DULUTHIAN BOUND OVER.

Is Alleged to Have Held Up Two Bayfield County Men.

Washburn, Wis., March 22.—Sam Windell, said to be from Duluth, who was arrested recently by the Superior police and returned here charged with robbing two men at Bibon, Bayfield county, of $85, was held to the circuit court without bonds.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Crosby, N. D.—At a meeting of the board of education, the preliminary steps were taken towards the erection of a school building in Crosby to cost not less than $16,000.

St. Cloud—Over 200 farmers were on hand this afternoon to meet the Northern Pacific depot Monday afternoon. The train which carried the special demonstration car arrived at 2:35 and left at 4:05 for Little Falls.

St. Hilaire—Negotiations are in progress for the lease of the Markham hotel to Hans Wilson of the Home restaurant. In the course of the bargaining it developed that Mr. Busse's power to lease the property was doubtful, under his contract. Mr. Hannay, who holds the title, has been appealed to and the deal is at a standstill pending his response.

Brainerd—John Cummins, chief clerk at the Northern Pacific railway shops left Monday afternoon for Chicago, where he will attend the funeral of his cousin, the late Miss Nellie Crowe.

Stillwater—Frank Potokar has been committed to prison from St. Louis county under a sentence of five years for assault in the second degree and Henri Nelson of Otter Tail county has commenced a term of two years for grand larceny in the second degree.

Moorhead—Jens Jensen and Clarence Lamphter, the two men arrested on the charge of complicity in the Dilworth burglary, were before Judge E. U. Wade at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon. After a full hearing Judge Wade decided that the evidence was not strong enough to hold them to the United States grand jury and they were consequently discharged.

Crookston—Last year W. S. Lycan expended over $5,000 in improvements on the Hotel Crookston, redecorating the bedrooms, installing the most modern and sanitary mattresses and otherwise improving the hotel, and has started another improvement campaign this spring.

St. Cloud—Register of Deeds John Lang has announced the appointment of Daniel Stang of St. Martin, as deputy register of deeds. Since the resignation of Carl Emmel, who went to Chicago, Mr. Stang has been employed as a clerk in the office.

Mankato—The city commission has had the third and final reading of ordinance No. 143, which forbids the presence of minors in or about saloons, and makes it unlawful for them to misrepresent their ages for the purpose of obtaining intoxicating liquor. This ordinance will become a law on the 30th inst.

Fergus Falls—Mrs. George Heidleburgh of Foxhome, took Paris green early Monday morning, apparently with suicidal intent. Mrs. Heidleburgh had been in poor health lately and was very nervous. The fact that she had taken the deadly poison was discovered almost immediately and a physician was summoned from this city, and by the prompt use of antidotes, it is thought that her life will be saved.

Minneapolis—Another Bridge Square lodging house has been closed by the health department, the New York house, 25 Nicollet avenue. Health Commissioner Hall says investigation revealed a filthy and insanitary condition of the place. The closing is in line with the campaign of the health department to enforce better conditions among the cheaper class of lodging houses.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Milwaukee—Guy D. Goff assumed office as United States district attorney Monday morning, taking the oath before Fred C. Westfahl, clerk of the United States district court. Mr. Goff is undecided as to his assistants.

Manitowoc—Worn out by nursing her husband, Thomas Kabila, aged 72, who had been ill with rheumatism for three months, Mrs. Kabila, aged 61, succumbed to a stroke of paralysis just one hour before the death of her husband. They were pioneer residents of Kellnersville and had been married for forty years.

Racine—The body of Thomas Donneher, a middle-aged man employed in a rubber clothing factory, was found in the river Monday morning. He is said to have been intoxicated Sunday night and is thought to have walked into the river by accident.

Neenah—Lake Winnebago is breaking up and the big ice floes, with a strong east wind, may damage lake shore resort cottages. The early breaking up is considered very unusual.

Merrill—Five thousand of the $25,000 necessary for the establishment of a shoe factory in Merrill has been subscribed.

Milwaukee—Chester I. Fisher, formerly manager of the Crystal theater, died in his home, Monday morning of pneumonia, after an illness of four days. He was 27 years of age. Mr. Fisher was born in Milwaukee and lived here the greater part of his life.

Madison—Senator George E. Scott of Prairie Farm on Monday received a letter from New York, stating that within a few days negotiations would be closed for the sale of $200,000 in bonds issued by his railroad company, which is building a road from Prairie Farm, Barron county to Emerald, St. Croix county, a distance of over twenty miles. Nine miles of the road has already been built and the remainder will be soon after the bonds, or a part of them, have been sold.

Ashland—A few days ago, Joseph Simons, an employe of the Northwestern roundhouse suffered an injury, which resulted in the amputation of a leg. Pneumonia set in, and he is very low today. His son, Albert, has been called home from Madison, on account of his father's condition.

Madison—First Lieut. Collin H. Ball of the Fifth New York infantry, has been appointed commandant to succeed Capt. Ralph McCoy, resigned, in charge of the university corps of cadets. Lieut. Ball, who is at present stationed at Plattsburg, N. Y., will take charge here, Aug. 1.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Neche, N. D.—Failure of the authorities in their effort to secure certain evidence in connection with the death of the man whose skeleton was found near this city recently, made necessary a postponement of the inquest till next Saturday.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Prof. Richard Hoyward, state high school inspector, accompanied by Mrs. Heyward, has left for Chicago, where they will attend the annual meeting of the college and high school inspectors. Mr. and Mrs. Heyward will spend several days visiting in Indpendence, Iowa, Kirkland and Rockford, Ill., with relatives before their return.

Minot, N. D.—Judge William Murray of this city has opposition for reelection to the position of police magistrate, a place that he has held for nearly twenty years. Charles D. Kelso has filed a petition as an opposing candidate and an interesting fight should result.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Mrs. Mary Ostlie of Northwood, one of the oldest settlers in this part of the state, died at her home in that city Sunday afternoon, aged 81 years. The deceased came to the United States about sixty years ago and has lived in Grand Forks county for the past thirty-two years. For the last year she has been ill and Sunday she passed quietly away.

Aberdeen, S. D.—William Hurley of Forman, N. D., was in the city Monday on business with the Northwestern Land company. Mr. Hurley has accepted a position with the company as immigration agent, a position which he had with the company some years ago. His territory will be the states of Iowa and Illinois.

Fargo, N. D.—Addison Leach, auditor-elect of Cass county, has announced that his deputy will be Ed Bucholz of Casselton. Mr. Bucholz has for the last two years been bookkeeper in the office of the county treasurer. He is well informed regarding the work of the county and being an expert accountant will be a most acceptable man for the position.

Jamestown, N. D.—Edward Nordstrum of Ypsilanti sent in to the county auditor one wolf hide for the bounty and a short time ago Jules Naze of Montpelier sent six wolf skins for the bounty, which is now $2.50.

Mercer, N. D.—Mr. Karlberg, a single man, about 60 years of age, who resided on his farm five miles north of town, died very suddenly. He was always a quiet, hard working man, and his sudden demise will be a shock to his many friends. He had not been feeling well all winter but no one thought that the closing of his career was so close at hand.

Calumet—Arrangements have been made to hold the annual meeting of the Calumet & Hecla Rod and Gun club on Saturday evening. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected and the business of the meeting will be followed by a social session and smoker.

Hancock—Edward Reid of Hancock and Miss Lillian Rickard of Lansing were quietly married recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Guibault of Summit street. The groom is a graduate of the Michigan Agricultural college, and it was while attending that institution that he met his bride. They will make their home in Hancock.

Houghton—The Salvation Army will next week begin their "self-denial" period for the purpose of raising funds for the home and foreign missions. The sum that has been apportioned to the Houghton corps is $100.

Marquette—Octav Herbert has announced his candidacy for alderman in the Second ward in opposition to Alderman P. J. Donovan. Victor Fahlstedt, foreman at the lumber yards of the Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company, is a candidate for the aldermanic nomination in the Second ward.

OTTUMWA WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ottumwa, Iowa.—"For years I was almost a constant sufferer from female trouble in all its dreadful forms; shooting pains all over my body, sick headache, spinal weakness, dizziness, depression, and everything that was horrid. I tried many doctors in different parts of the United States, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than all the doctors. I feel it my duty to tell you these facts. My heart is full of gratitude to you for my cure."—Mrs. HARRIET E. WAMPLER, 524 S. Ransom Street, Ottumwa, Iowa.

Consider This Advice.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous medicine, made only from roots and herbs, has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, confidential, and always helpful.

DOUBLE NUMBER OF EXHIBITS

Charles P. Craig stated today that the horticultural and agricultural exhibits at the state fair the coming season will be more than twice the size of the exhibits at any previous fair.

Mr. Craig stated that until last season not over twelve counties had ever exhibited at the fair. Last year the number of exhibiting counties was brought up to twenty-five. According to the statement of Mr. Craig today, there are over forty exhibitors in sight at the present time.

Mr. Craig has been busy since the close of the 1910 fair with the result that he has secured the promise to exhibit from the secretaries of many of the county societies. With the correspondence he has at hand, he has no doubt that the county exhibits at the coming state fair will be the biggest ever schown at any state exhibition held in the United States.

"The people over the state are intensely interested in agriculture and horticulture," said Mr. Craig. "Last season this county had one of the best exhibits ever made at a state fair, and there were more counties exhibiting than ever before in the history of the fair. With the growth of interest in the agricultural production in the northern part of the state, there will be more exhibits from this section. I have received favorable replies from a very large number of the men interested in the county development, and many have promised to have an exhibition at the state fair.

"The exhibit of this county has excited interest from some of the other counties in this section, and will. I believe, result in the best representation from the northern part of Minnesota that has ever been sent to the Minnesota state fair."

OARSMEN WILL HOLD MEETING

The first official meeting of the Duluth oarsmen will be held Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. building. All the members of last year's crew have been sent notices of the call, as well as practically all the older oarsmen and those interested in the success of this department of the club.

All those receiving calls are earnestly asked to bring a recruit with them. New blood is wanted and the older men will be asked to bring in as many promising recruits as possible.

Plans for the coming season will be made at the Thursday meeting. John E. MacGregor, captain of the rowing department of the club will preside, and some knowledge of what the club has in sight for the early spring training, will be learned.

PLANS WEST DULUTH MUSICAL SOCIETY.

West Duluth music lovers may organize to promote interest in musical circles in the western end of the city this summer.

Walter Sievers, pastor of the German-English Lutheran church, is fostering the movement and with the cooperation of other musically inclined people, he expected to have a strong society launched within the next few weeks.

Mr. Sievers is an accomplished violinist, but has only appeared once or twice in musical affairs at West Duluth during his two-years' stay in the western part of the city. In May he plans to have a festival at his church or at some other convenient place, which promises something out of the ordinary in the way of a musical treat.

A concert was given last year under the direction of Mr. Sievers and it was a decided success. There are other music lovers at West Duluth who have displayed more or less ability at concerts held at various times and it is the plan of those behind the movement to organize the new society to arrange a series of concerts in which the best of the local talent will appear. Mr. Sievers said that no definite plans had been formulated, but said that the matter had met with much favorable discussion among those with whom he had talked about it.

A Scotch concert, which will be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Westminster Presbyterian church, and the direction of Rev. J. G. Leitch, at Great Eastern hall, Central avenue, Wednesday evening, March 29, is of interest to music loving people of West Duluth.

The program has been carefully selected and some of the best Scotch singers of Duluth and Superior will take part. The program is as follows:

Quartet—"The Auld House"..... Barthe, Batchelor, Brown and Reynolds.

Song—"The Old Scotch Songs"..... Miss McGhie.

Song—"Scots Wha Hae"..... P. G. Brown.

National Emblem—Y. M. C. A. Orchestra.

Song—"The Land o' the Lea"..... Miss Glenn Bartholomew, Superior.

Song—"Mary of Argyle"..... J. R. Batchelor.

Song—"Mary"..... Miss McLeod.

Song—"Jessie's Dream"..... J. R. Batchelor.

Song—"The Banks o' Loch Lomond" Miss Glenn Bartholomew.

Song—"Gae Bring to Me a Pint o' Wine"..... P. G. Brown.

"Flower Song"—Y. M. C. A. Orchestra.

Quartet—"Good Night".....

BOATHOUSE BURGLAR CAUGHT IN ACT.

A boathouse burglar was caught redhanded at West Duluth yesterday afternoon, but escaped.

Thomas Ekroot reported to the police that he discovered a man in his boathouse at the foot of Sixty-fourth avenue west, when he visited the place yesterday afternoon.

Entrance was gained by breaking through a window and the burglar had filled a large sack with brass fittings, canned goods, other provisions and several bottles of beer, found in the boathouse. In his haste to get away before he was turned over to the police, he dropped the sack and ran.

The police were furnished with a description. He is said to be five feet seven inches tall, smooth faced and appears to be about 27 years old. He wore dark clothes.

Nurse Gives Lecture.

Miss Florence Lee, city tuberculosis nurse, gave an illustrated lecture on the work done by the city and societies for the benefit of those afflicted with consumption, speaking at a meeting held under the auspices of Morning Star lodge, I. O. G. T., at Victor hall, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Grand avenue last evening. Miss Lee's talk was interesting and was illustrated by charts showing how the cures can be effected.

OBJECTS TO ADMINISTRATOR

Moritz Heim of St. Paul, the representative of the Imperial Austro-Hungarian consul at Chicago, objected to the appointment of Mike Frankovich for administrator of the estate of Matt Frankovich when the matter came up yesterday before Judge S. W. Gilpin, of the probate court.

The St. Paul representative asked that a regularly constituted delegate which is provided for under a treaty by the two governments, be appointed.

Frankovich, it is claimed, lost his life at the Hull-Rust mine at Hibbing in 1907. He left three children. Mike Frankovich claims to be one of the sons and states that he is 22 years old, in seeking the appointment as administrator. He looks to be much younger, however.

As a part of the man's family live in the old country, Mr. Heim states that he has a right to interfere in the case so that he may assure himself that the money will be divided among those who are entitled to it.

Judge Gilpin took the matter under advisement.

WILL ERECT NEW BUILDING

Work will be begun next week on a two-story brick building to be built on the southwest corner of Third avenue east and Superior street for Z. T. Mullin of Washington, D. C.

The building, the plans for which were announced by The Herald a few weeks ago, will be 75 by 90 feet. It will be arranged for stores and living apartments. The owner is represented in Duluth by H. J. Mullin, and P. M. Olsen is the architect for the building.

There is now a one-story brick building on the corner twenty-five feet. Another story will be added to this and a two-story addition on the adjoining fifty feet erected.

NO RECOMMENDATIONS FOR FIFTH JUDGE.

There have been no recommendations by the bar association of the Eleventh Judicial district as to its choice for the fifth judge for this district in case the legislature provides for one. The report in the morning paper to this effect was incorrect.

No recommendations could be made by a committee. They would have to be made by the bar association. The attorneys of the city are much wrought up over the matter. They state emphatically that no recommendations have been made as yet and that they will probably not be made until the bill is passed.

J. P. MORGAN VISITS ITALIAN ART EXHIBIT.

Rome, March 22.—J. P. Morgan, president of the foreign committee, accompanied by Count di San Martino, president of the committee of the exhibition, today visited the scene of the International Art exhibit, which will be formally opened next Monday by King Victor Emmanuel, in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of Rome as the capital of United Italy.

They were received at the American pavilion by Harrison S. Morris, the United States commissioner.

THAT EAGERLY-AWAITED-SHIPMENT OF

IS HERE NOW!

OF COURSE there are other Anderson Ginghams—and there are other Scotch Ginghams—but the original Anderson Ginghams—the ginghams for which Scotland is famous in every country under the sun—are the genuine David & John Anderson Ginghams—and you can buy them in Duluth at Gray-Tallant company.

Many new styles in stunning stripes and plaids—also beautiful little checks and plain effects—women who want the best will have no other. They cost more than common ginghams—but do you know any other gingham which can be worn a year—and if you let out the tucks for a growing girl—shows no trace of the tucks?

25c for 45c Art Cretonnes.

Fine new cretonnes for draperies, box coverings 25c and laundry bags—an extra heavy quality selling regularly at 45c the yard.

18c for Spring Styles

SERPENTINE CREPES.

For kimonos and dressing sacques, Serpentine crepes are even more desirable than ever. Present styles simply demand them, and here are the season's prettiest in new and attractive designs, such as butterflies, apple blossoms, daisies, Japanese fans, etc. All are guaranteed to wash perfectly. Very big assortment of designs now ready at 18c the yard.

8c for Best Apron Ginghams

The genuine Amoskeag in all-wool staple checks, blues and browns 8c that won't fade. Special tomorrow at 8c yard.

Women "Who Know" Are Buying Bordered Fabrics.

AND with good reason—for the bordered fabrics are the height of fashion—and at the same time they will not be common.

Moreover the borders are so effective that very little trimming is necessary for a perfectly stunning gown. Of course, it requires a little more care in making up—but do not let your dressmaker dissuade you from having a bordered gown.

We can show you late plates of lovely new gowns made of bordered fabrics—and our people understand just how to handle the borders to get best results—and will gladly explain little kinks that will give style and individuality. They will be pleased indeed to show them—we are all so proud of our assortment of bordered fabrics.

The collection includes—

Bordered Foulards, Bordered Crepes,
Bordered Marquisettes, Bordered Challis,
Bordered Messalines, Bordered Chiffons.

These Bordered Goods Are Scarce.

Of course, stores which were not foresighted enough to secure good assortments of borders early will not be able to show the choicer styles now—and will probably attempt to switch you back to the ordinary goods—but don't be hasty—before you buy—come here and see how handsome the latest bordered goods are.

Toppy Tailored Hats Here.

You could search Fifth Avenue, New York for handsomer hats and come back proud of the fact that Duluth had such millinery as we have ready for you.

The uncommon—the bewitchingly becoming hats are here—the new helmets — the close little turbans and the stunning large one-sided hats hats—styles that are demure and styles that are dashing.

Very good models $7.50, $10.00, $12.00 and $15.00—really moderate prices—style and quality considered.

Women's Good Shoes at $1.98.

The nobby new knob toe lasts. A good stylish shoe that is comfortable, made of good materials and wearing excellently—button or lace styles, heavy soles — just right for spring wear — special at $1.98 the pair.

$1.98

Aristocratic Tailored Suits that Command Admiration

NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR THE LABEL IN THE GARMENT.

Are you one of those who feel they must pay a big price in order to be satisfied with their suit? If so—you might not feel like buying here, for our prices are less than most stores would think of asking for such superb styles and such superior qualities.

Now—we buy our garments from some of the very best makers in the land—we try just as hard as we know how, to get the very best styles—and then we are satisfied to sell them on closer margains than most stores seem to think worth while.

Whether you want to spend $22.50 for a suit—or $65.00—or whether you want to spend about $25.00 to $35.00—we have suits that seem to suit the most exacting shoppers better than those they've seen elsewhere—and you will also probably feel that you can do better here.

WOMAN'S REALM.

"The Bible is a missionary book from beginning to end," said Miss Lincoln, field secretary of the Women's Board of Foreign Missions of the United States today in her talk on home missions, which she gave before the Women's Missionary society of the Duluth Presbytery, which is holding its twenty-third annual convention at the First Presbyterian church.

"The work of this board comprises missionary work in this country from Alaska to Mexico and from ocean to ocean, among the Alaskans, Mexicans, Mormons, mountaineers and the foreigners. The work among the latter people is far the most important.

"Our board has charge of all the missionary work for the Presbyterian church in this country, and sends out teachers and missionaries and establishes day and boarding schools for the people among whom they are working. During the past year $500,000 was raised for carrying on our work."

Miss Lincoln also gave an address this morning on "The Value of Literature in Missionary Work," and urged the use of historical and missionary works in connection with the work in the various churches.

"I have heard that people could be interested in missionary literature and not give to missions; that they could pray for the missions and not give to them; but they could never keep in touch with the actual work through missionary papers and magazines and not give liberally to the missions."

The morning session was principally given over to statistical reports from the twenty-six societies represented under the Duluth Presbytery. For home missionary work the secretary reported that $1,000 had been raised during the year by the home societies. The foreign societies have raised about $1,050. Mrs. W. L. Whipple closed the morning session with a review of the missionary text book, "Advance in the Antilles."

The afternoon session was opened by Miss Ada Chapell with devotional services, followed by the address by Miss Lincoln and a talk on home missionary work by Dr. Robert Yost.

Bishop's Club Meets.

The regular meeting of the Bishop's club which was held last evening at th clubrooms in Cathedral hall was led by Mrs. A. V. Kelly.

Miss Jane Crowley opened the program with the Bible reading of the "Queen of Sheba" and "The Witch of Endor," and Bishop McGolrick gave a character interpretation of the latter.

Frank Kelley's reading of "The Benediction" was enjoyable, and Miss Daisy Smart played Moskowski's "Valse" in pleasing style. Mrs. J. W. Dorsey of Two Harbors sang "An Open Secret" by Woodman and responded to an enthusiastic encore.

Mrs. Kelley read an interesting paper on "Modern Landscape Painters," which was the principal number of the program. The program was closed by Miss Northy who played "Valse Styrienne" by Wollenhaupp.

Last Meeting of Year.

The final meeting of the Morning Shakespeare class of the Twentieth Century club will be held tomorrow morning at the library clubroom at 10 o'clock. The study of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be completed and chairman, secretary and leaders for the literature department of the club will be elected for next year. Every member of this department is urged to be present.

Sewing Circle.

The Lester Park Sewing circle will meet this evening with Miss Hazel Aske, 5736 East Superior street.

Church Meetings.

The Plymouth Missionary society will meet with Mrs. Roger Weaver, 809 West Fourth street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All interested are invited.

Card Party.

Miss Ruth Willcuts will entertain at five hundred this evening at her home, 810 East Fourth street.

Temple Assembly.

The members of the Temple Assembly will be hosts at a dancing party Friday evening of next week at the ballroom of the Masonic temple. This is to be an open party and invitations will be extended to men who are not members of the club.

"The Girl He Left Behind Him"

MISS DOWNS.

"The girl he left behind him" is going to offer a serious problem to the soldier and sailor going to the front. There have been one or two hurried weddings of enlisted men following the orders for the movement of troops. But to the woman who has complicated preparations to make in anticipation of formal wedding ceremonies, the sudden call to arms is a matter for tears. One of the navy weddings which may be postponed interests Baltimore society a great deal. It is that of Louis Frances Downs to Ensign Bryson Bruce. Miss Downs is the daughter of Mrs. L. P. Downs, formerly of Baltimore, but now of Annapolis. She is reckoned one of the prettiest girls at the naval capital. Ensign Bruce is from Iowa.

Elks' Dance.

About 150 dancers enjoyed the regular monthly dancing party at the Elks clubrooms last evening. This was a much smaller assemblage than these functions usually draw but this fact is due to the Lenten season.

Meeting at Bethel.

The weekly woman's meeting at the Bethel will be held there tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Gregor will speak and any women interested are invited to attend.

Cards and Dancing.

Mrs. E. T. Solkama, 504 Wieland flats entertained at cards last evening. After the games refreshments were served and the guests danced. The card favors were won by Mrs. Frank Nehring, George Bill and Carl Carlson. Those present were:

Messrs. and Mesdames—
Frank Bell, McDonald,
H. Smith, Jack Kind,
Joe Small, Harry Haglen,
Frank Nehring, Carl Carlson.
Mesdames—
M. Conners.
Misses—
Mabel Smith, Minnie Feiro,
Agnes Feiro, Rose McGrath.
Messrs.—
E. T. Selkama, Tim Foley,
Charles Bell, Erban Nehring,
James Taylor, Ramington Taylor,
George Bell,

Afternoon Tea.

Mrs. Roger Lerch of Woodland avenue was hostess at an informal afternoon tea yesterday in compliment to Miss Cowan.

Officers Re-elected.

At the final meeting of the Travel Class of the Twentieth Century club yesterday afternoon at the library clubroom, the officers for the department of education and home were re-elected: Mrs. J. H. Crowley, chairman, and Mrs. R. C. Dryer, secretary.

Plans for the study to be taken up next year were discussed and a committee, consisting of Mrs. Culbertson, Mrs. Dwyer and Mrs. Clements, was appointed to draw up an outline of study incorporating the suggestions made by the members yesterday, and to present it to the members as soon as possible.

Effort is to be made to get the programs for all the departments out as early as possible this spring and get the year book ready for next year.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Harris of Milwaukee have announced the engagement of their daughter Anna to George Kessler of that city, but until recently a resident of Duluth. He was employed as a tailor with J. M. Gidding & Co.

Visitors Guests of Honor.

Mrs. Max Barber and Mrs. Batchelder of Nashwauk, who were guests of Mrs. S. J. Coulter this week, were the guests of honor at a bridge party yesterday afternoon given by Mrs. Earl Hunner at her home in Woodland. Mrs. Coulter won the prize.

Will Give Dinner.

Mrs. Albert Baldwin will give a dinner this evening at her home, 1529 East Second street, for some young people. Covers will be laid for ten.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Frick, 2231 East Second street, left last evening for a trip to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ellis, who have been spending the winter with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Mooney of 1229 East Sixth street will return tomorrow to their home in Richmond, Wis.

Miss S. A. Costello has been called to Wabasha, Minn., by the illness of her niece.

Mrs. A. L. McGregor and son, John, will return to their home in Cleveland tomorrow after a three weeks' visit here with friends.

Mrs. J. W. Kreitter, 712 East First street will leave Sunday for Lafayette, Ind., where she and Miss Olive Kreitter, who is attending school at Oberlin, will visit relatives during Miss Kreitter's Easter vacation.

Mrs. Joseph Gerard, 601 East First street has returned from a trip to Detroit, Mich., Chicago, and Winona, Minn., where she has been visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smead, who have been spending a few days with Mrs. Smead's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Ross, 1511 East Second street have returned to their home in Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crossland of Park Point have returned from Tennessee, where they have been spending the winter.

Mrs. L. H. Corcoran, 477 Mesaba avenue has as her guest her sister, Miss Killorin of Vancouver.

Mrs. William H. Salter of 44 Kent road will leave this evening for a visit at her old home in Chattam, N. J.

Mrs. A. E. Gilbert of 1601 East Superior street is spending a few days in St. Paul this week.

Mrs. A. Bastien of Calumet, Mich., is visiting Mrs. L. K. Daugherty, 1120 East Third street.

Dr. J. J. Eklund left yesterday for a few weeks' trip to the Pacific coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carr, who have been spending the winter abroad, landed today in New York. They will come to Duluth the latter part of April and will reside at the Spalding.

MADAME:

Please attend the Lecture by George H. Maxwell, Thursday at 3 p. m. in Endion Methodist Church, under auspices of Women's Council.

THE EVENING STORY

THE LEGEND OF IVY GRANGE

By Jane Harris.

In a small New England village, nestling among the hills, Charles Darrell lived alone with his granddaughter, Grace Bradford. Their home was a charming old fashioned stone house, covered with moss and ivy, and—if they had possessed the means to keep the extensive grounds in good order—would have made a fine showing because of its stately appearance.

Along with the homestead Charles Darrel had inherited from his father the memory of a legend that somewhere on their land, and very probably near the house itself, there had been buried a pot containing the money, jewels and some precious family documents which the master of Ivy Grange had sought to hide from the British soldiers when they passed through the town, burning and destroying all property after robbing the homes of any valuables which their owners had not previously placed beyond their reach.

During the battle that was fought just outside the village the women and children had hidden themselves in an old Indian cave on Giant's Rock and so escaped any harm at the hands of the red coats, but when they returned the next day they found sorrow and desloation awaiting them.

Their homes were gone and many of the brave men, who had sought to check the progress of the enemy and thus save their village from plunder and destruction, had given up their lives, while many others were seriously wounded.

Among the dead William Henry Darrell, the master of Ivy Grange was found by his young wife, whose only comfort in her sorrow was her boy, the father of the present Charles Darrel, and the stone house which was but slightly damaged, although it's contents were totally destroyed. The little village was rapidly rebuilt, other settlers coming in as time passed and today it is a thriving town.

But Ivy Grange stands in an unkempt condition because Charles Darrel was a bookish sort of man, and having only a small income he had endeavored to make it sufficient to cover the needs of himself and his only daughters orphaned child, Grace Bradford.

The land surrounding the Grange was valuable because many handsome summer homes were being built among the beautiful hills for wealthy city people, and of late, rumor had it that a syndicate was being formed to acquire property in the center of the village and to erect a hotel that would accommodate several hundred summer boarders.

Already one of the agents had called on Grandpa Darrel and offered him a reasonable price for his land. While Darrel himself was lothe to part with any of his ancestral acres, Grace was much more opposed to any such bargain and cried out against it vigorously.

"But, my dear, it would be for our own best interest!" explained her grandfather, "and, as I cannot hope to be with you many years longer, I would be more satisfied if I could provide for you more generously—for it seems you are not in favor of marrying."

"Best interests, indeed!" exclaimed Grace impatiently, "say rather for the "higher interest" on their own money investments! Why do they not offer you stock in the hotel company, instead of wanting to buy your land for a few miserable thousands, on which you can get but a 3 or 4 per cent interest which their investment will double itself within a few years, besides getting a good income. And then grandfather, think of going away from our own dear home where you have lived all your life!" she added with a tremor in her voice.

This last appeal seemed to have more weight on her grandfather's decision than all the strong arguments of monitary interests, because when the agent called, the old gentleman told him he could not think of parting with "Ivy Grange."

Grace was very glad indeed, but even she realized their income was not enough to provide a comfortable living for herself and the old grandfather, whose wants were increasing with his years.

Shortly after the "hotel agitation" Charles Darrel was taken sick, and the extra expenses caused by his illness just about exhausted the money which Grace had in the house. Toward the end of May her grandfather was enough better to sit out on the broad veranda and enjoy the bright sunshine and the flowers that he loved so well.

"How beautiful that maple tree looks, Grace, my father planted that when he was a boy and that chump of lilac bushes was set out by my mother when she came here a young bride." The old man's mind seemed dwelling on the past, for he told Grace many other little incidents in his past life and had finally gone back to the legend of the lost treasure box, when Nancy, the maid who had been with them for years, came to warn them that a thunder storm was coming up, and together they helped the grandfather back into the house.

No sooner had they closed the windows and doors about the house than the storm broke over the town in a fury of wind and hail, followed by heavy thunder and lightning. Suddenly there came a short, loud report followed by a peal of thunder that seemed to shake the very foundations of the old stone house.

Grace, who was standing by a front window, saw a blaze of light beside the maple tree, and when the glare of it went from her eyes, she saw that the lightning had made a great black rent in the trunk of the tree and had ripped up the ground for several feet around it in the direction of the lilac bushes.

She did not tell her grandfather what she saw, but quieted him as best she could, and when the storm had passed, the rolling cannonade of thunder gradually diminished in volume until only a faint echo came now and again, she and Nancy crept out to examine more closely the poor old maple tree.

But when they got as far as the lilac bushes their attention was attracted to the large hole in the ground.

"Goodness me!" exclaimed Nancy, "now ain't that too bad! The lightning must 'a' went down into the earth and tuk the dirt with it; for how else could it 'a' made such a turrible hole!"

Grace did not answer her—she was looking down into the hole with fascinating eyes—there, at the bottom, partially exposed, could be seen the top of a rust-covered iron bound box. Nancy saw it, too, and many were her exclamations of wonder and delight, for she was well acquainted with the legend of the lost wealth, and realized only too well how much the finding of it would mean to the two for whom she had worked so many years.

"Now Nancy," cautioned Grace, "we must not say anything to granddad, until we are sure the box contains something of value, for the disappointment might kill him, but oh! won't it be grand if his is really the long looked for box of the Darrel's!"

"It certainly will, Miss Grace, and you sure deserve to find it, so you and your grandfather can have what rightfully belongs to you. A 'many a' time I've seen him digging away in search of the lost box, but late years he seems discouraged-like and hasn't even wanted to talk about it, 'ceptin' once in a great while——"

"Yes! yes! I know, Nancy"—interrupted Grace gently, but won't you please go and ask Johnnie Flynn to come up and help us get it out before dark? He has always been a kind neighbor to us and I am sure he will not talk about this."

Nancy hurried away and in a short time returned with Johnnie, who immediately set to work and in a short time a heavy box about two feet wide and five feet long was lying on the grass beside the lilac bushes. Then Johnnie got a strong wheel-barrow and with Nancy's help they trunnelled it around to the back door, Grace had gone on ahead in order to prevent her grandfather from becoming suspicious about their absence.

After supper Grace persuaded the old gentleman to go to bed, and when the house was quiet she and Nancy stole out into the kitchen where Johnnie Flynn had succeeded in dragging the mysterious looking box.

Nancy carefully hoited the outer door and drew the shades over the windows and then the two women turned their attention to the opening of the box. This was easily accomplished, because the ancient lock had long since rusted away and now it was but a moment's work to pry up the lid, and even that almost crumbled in their hands, having mouldered away in the ground for over a hundred years.

To describe the contents in exact detail would be impossible, equally impossible would it be to tell how delighted Grace and good old Nancy were to find that the mystery of Ivy Grange had at last been solved, and solved in such a manner as to make Charles Darrell a rich man, while his granddaughter would inherit not only tumbled down Ivy Grange, but the wealth of her mother's forefathers as well.

Tears of genuine gratitude came to the eyes of the two women when they finally deposited the gold, the jewels and some old plate in a strong closet under the broad stairs.

The old parchment documents and records of the Darrell family in England were of no value, because their long stay under ground had ruined them, so they did not save the mouldy remains.

Just how to tell her grandfather puzzled Grace very much. She was afraid the shock would kill him, for he was still weak from recent illness.

She could not keep the good news, however, so the next morning she very quietly and gently told him the story of the lightning that unearthed the long-lost box that William Henry Darrel had buried before he went out to give up his life for his country's liberty.

Great joy does not always kill and Charles Darrel stil retained enough of the self-control which prevents a wise man from giving up to sudden emotions, so the gratitude felt by Grace and old Nancy was fully shared by him, and he had the good judgment to place all the money in his granddaughter's care, knowing that she was quite capable of managing their increased fortunes when she had always done so well with the meagre income of the past.

"And you may be sure, granddad," she said, when everything was settled, "there will never be a foot of this land sold while I am living, not even for a million dollars, to build a hotel; instead, I shall restore Ivy Grange to its original beauty and these grounds will be perfectly grand when a good gardener has finished getting them into good condition.

"By the way, Nancy," Grace added, "don't you think Johnny Flynn would come and be our gardener?"

He was only too glad to come and today Ivy Grange is pointed out to many who drive their liveried carriages or gliding automobiles past the beautiful grounds as the "show place" of all the surrounding country, as well as the home that was saved and restored by a flash of lightning which revealed the mystery of the long-lost treasure box.

FINDING HOMES FOR CHILDREN

For twenty-two years, Rev. E. P. Savage of St. Paul has been wandering about the state of Minnesota looking for neglected and abused children, and finding them homes.

Today, Mr. Savage, who is nearly 70 years of age, is in Duluth looking as energetic and robust as he did ten years ago, and still pursuing the work to which he has given the best years of his life.

Mr. Savage is special agent for the Minnesota Children's Home society. He was formerly general superintendent of the work, but the duties of the office became too onerous for him, and he resigned, and now has charge of the northern part of the state only.

"During the history of the society we have placed more than 3,100 homeless and destitute children in comfortable homes," said Mr. Savage. "You would be surprised if I could tell you the young men and young women in Duluth who are now enjoying comfortable homes as a result of the society's efforts. Of course it would not do to publish their names, for the men and women who have adopted them want them to be known as their own children. In some of the best homes in Duluth are children who were taken from drunken or vicious parents.

"The cases I could tell you of are almost without number, but we always try to avoid publishing the names of the people concerned, and the incidents would be of little value from a reporter's standpoint, without the names, I suppose."

Mr. Savage is here looking up several cases reported to the society.

ARCHITECTS' PLANS READY

A special meeting of the St. Louis sanitarium commission will be held within a week at Dr. Hart's office in the courthouse.

At this meeting the blue prints and drawings that were recently received from the architects at Saranac Lake will be gone over thoroughly and it is quite possible that the board will decide to at once advertise for bids on the different buildings to be constructed.

The plans are now about as the commission wants them and it is thought that they will be finally accepted. There will be some time allowed for the contractors to get figures in and after that has been done, the contracts will be let at once and work on the structures and the sanitarium proper will begin.

At the present time a well is being driven on the sanitarium site so that there will be water when the work commences. A road has been built in to the site and other preparations have been made so that when once started the work will go on with a rush.

INSURANCE AGENT IS UNDER ARREST.

Charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, George Gorman, an insurance agent, was arrested this afternoon in the Spalding hotel by Detective Irvine.

It is claimed that he sold a sick and accident policy to Miss May Ross, and that when she attempted to collect after being confined to the hospital with an abscess, he wrote her that the policy did not cover her case.

HOMESEEKERS TO FLOCK THIS WAY

St. Paul, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Multitudes of homeseekers from Illinois and Iowa—so many of them, in fact, that the state will be found in a condition of unpreparedness for receiving them—are preparing to come in Minnesota and grow up with the country.

This is the message brought back by Sam F. Fullerton after four months spent with the Minnesota advertising car, furnished by the Great Northern railway, for a tour over the Burlington lines in those states.

"Minnesota will not be prepared for this rush," said Mr. Fullerton. "I know it is coming. If this car had been sent out five years ago we would have noticed a vast difference in the last census returns."

The car left St. Paul Nov. 24 with Mr. Fullerton and R. S. Picket of Wabash, Minn., in charge. Since then it has stopped at ninety-eight towns, and has been visited by not less than 115,000 grown ups, who were interested in lands and their products.

NOT IN COWAN CASE.

Beach, N. D., March 22.—"I am not a part of the counsel in the Cowan impeachment case, could not be if I wished, never made a statement that I was, and was greatly surprised to read the Boston message in the afternoon papers to that effect," said Senator Simpson of Dickinson, who is in the city on legal matters.

The senator stated that he had written associate counsel in Boston that he was delayed here by the impeachment proceedings and supposes that the newspaper correspondents inadvertently injected the part about his being one of the counsel in the case. Being one of the senators who will sit at the impeachment hearing, Senator Simpson could not be counsel either for or against Judge Cowan.

SUNDEEN IS SUMMONED

Was Formerly Member of County and Courthouse Commissions.

John Sundeen, former county commissioner and a member of the St. Louis county courthouse commission, under whose supervision the new courthouse was erected, died of Bright's disease at his home, 2113 West Second street, at 8:30 o'clock last evening. Mr. Sundeen was 49 years old, and was one of the pioneers of the West end.

Mr. Sundeen was born at Sunne, Wermland, Sweden, and came to this country thirty years ago, settling in the West end in 1882. He worked at various occupations until he went into the grocery business in 1889. He has conducted a store at 1923 West Superior street since that time.

He was a prominent member of the

JOHN SUNDEEN.

Swedish Christian Sick Benefit society of the West end and was also associated with the United Swedish Sons of America, Vasa order. The former society will hold a meeting this evening at the home of the president, A. Thoren, 204 North Twentieth avenue west, to make arrangements for attending the funeral.

Mr. Sundeen was county commissioner for four years, retiring in 1908 on account of ill health. He was active in county and city politics for a number of years.

Besides a wife, Mr. Sundeen is survived by six sons, the eldest of whom is 21. They are Arthur, Milton, Franklin, Clarence, Royal and a 5-month-old son.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon from the Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, to the Scandinavian Union cemetery at Hermantown. Rev. Edward Stromberg will officiate.

WEST END MAN WILL START POULTRY FARM.

A poultry farm, where special attention will be devoted to the raising of the famous Indian Cornish game fowls, will be started this spring at South Range, near Superior, by Hiram Potter of the United States block, West end. Mr. Potter, with Mrs. Potter, returned recently from Florida, where they spent the winter on a fruit farm. Mr. Potter is not satisfied with Florida and says that it is not the land of golden opportunity that some have represented it to be.

He brought back with him an interesting collection of Florida products. Two live crocodiles, two stuffed ones, the skin of a large Florida wildcat, the skin of a long rattlesnake and a 'possum are in his collection.

While in Florida, Mr. Potter raised the Indian Cornish game birds and the display, which took first honors at the poultry show this fall, was shipped to the Head of the Lakes by Mr. Potter. The birds attracted a great deal of attention and during the coming year Mr. Potter expects to devote most of his time on the South Range farm to their culture.

West End Briefs.

Mrs. G. Leander and Mrs. A. W. Kennedy have returned to their home at Los Angeles, Cal., after a visit at the home of their sister, Mrs. Charles Wahl of 1908 West Second street, since December. A number of informal parties have been held in their honor by West end friends during the past few days.

William McQuinn has moved his family into his new home at 2028 West Second street. Mr. McQuinn purchased the property from David Adams.

Mrs. S. Brende of 2016 West Sixth street will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church at her home tomorrow afternoon.

L. A. Simonson of 2102 West Superior street left for Virginia this morning on a business trip.

The Misses Anna Scott and Esther Erickson of Twenty-sixth avenue west have returned from a visit at Barnum.

An entertainment will be given this evening at the Neighborhood house, 2423 West Superior street, under the auspices of the Twentieth Century Boys' clubs. John Wagner, an injured high school football player, will receive half of the proceeds and the other half will go towards defraying the expenses of a summer camping trip.

COLDER

The beautiful March weather continues, but the chilly air is a deterrent to the spring fever which might be generated by the bright sunshine. The temperature went only to 42 deg. yesterday, while it fell below the freezing point last night. It's cold enough for light overcoats and nobody has the temerity to advise taking 'em off yet. Fair and colder weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

Beautiful weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 6:07 and it will set at 6:23 this evening, giving twelve hours and sixteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Colder weather prevails throughout the Northwest and Southwest to including Kansas and Colorado in connection with the high pressure over Saskatchewan. The Red river valley low barometer area has moved its center to Eastern Ontario. During the last twenty-four hours the disturbance caused snow or rain over most of the Lake region, the Upper Mississippi valley, Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona and Southern California. Somewhat colder and freezing weather may be expected at the Head of the Lakes tonight."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 22.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

Upper Michigan—Unsettled and colder tonight; Thursday fair.

Wisconsin and Minnesota—Fair tonight and Thursday; colder tonight.

North and South Dakota and Montana—Fair tonight and Thursday; not much change in temperature.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; colder tonight.

Shippers' forecast: Protect thirty-six-hour shipments of perishables against tmperature 10 to 20 deg. above zero in the Eastern Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Michigan Copper country.

KEPT IN CAGE THIRTY YEARS

Insane Man Will Be Snared and Taken to an Asylum.

Chicago, March 22.—George O'Dell, for thirty years bereft of reason and locked in a steel cage in the garret of his mother's home near Waukegan, will be snared with ropes and taken to the insane asylum at Elgin. The formality of a test of his sanity was gone through yesterday by an examining board which sat in the garret, while O'Dell shrieked at them and rattled the bars of his cage.

The commitment to the asylum followed the death of O'Dell's mother at the age of 92 years. For thirty years since she obtained her son's release from an asylum after a short incarceration, she has remained with him cut off from the world, seldom leaving the garret, preparing his food and at times the only person to see him for months.

The test was made at the request of Ambrose O'Dell, a brother. The prisoner was nude during the hearing. His beard, blood-stained and matted, hung nearly to his knees and his face and body bore marks of frequent struggles against the bars.

WEST END MAN WILL START POULTRY FARM.

A poultry farm, where special attention will be devoted to the raising of the famous Indian Cornish game fowls, will be started this spring at South Range, near Superior, by Hiram Potter of the United States block, West end. Mr. Potter, with Mrs. Potter, returned recently from Florida, where they spent the winter on a fruit farm. Mr. Potter is not satisfied with Florida and says that it is not the land of golden opportunity that some have represented it to be.

He brought back with him an interesting collection of Florida products. Two live crocodiles, two stuffed ones, the skin of a large Florida wildcat, the skin of a long rattlesnake and a 'possum are in his collection.

While in Florida, Mr. Potter raised the Indian Cornish game birds and the display, which took first honors at the poultry show this fall, was shipped to the Head of the Lakes by Mr. Potter. The birds attracted a great deal of attention and during the coming year Mr. Potter expects to devote most of his time on the South Range farm to their culture.

he is the man who furnished the final evidence of Cuoccolo's treachery in the Camorra and so brought about his sentence of death. In a letter written from the prison, where he was confined for robbery, he asseted that Cuoccolo had betrayed him to the police because he had given a share of the booty of his crime to another than Cuoccolo. He called upon his brother Camorrists to avenge him.

As the cross-examination progressed today, President Blanchi suddenly produced a ring said to have been taken from Cuoccolo, holding it so that it could be seen by all in the courtroom, and said:

"This is the ring found in the home of one of your women associates."

The statement called forth a chorus of protests from the prisoners, who shouted "No, no; it is not Cuoccolo's ring; it is not his!"

Cries Grow Louder.

The cries grew louder and were taken up by sympathizers in the audience. They Lawyer Ligouri, president of the board of attorneys of Naples, who is defending the informer, Gennaro Abbatemaggio; pushed his way to the space in front of the great steel cage, and staring into the eyes of the accused men, exclaimed:

"Yes; that is Cuoccolo's ring!"

This interruption brought scores of lawyers for the defense into the fray and as the execration of the prisoners grew louder these lawyers made a verbal attack upon Ligouri that threw the whole courtroom into an uproar. In the babel of tongues one could distinguish cries of: "Who pays the price of Abbatemaggio's shame?"

This attack was encouraged by the prisoners, who applauded as they exclaimed:

"Bravo, bravo."

For a moment Giovanni Rapi, the alleged treasurer of the Camorra and known as the proprietor of gambling places in Rome, Naples and Paris, held the center of the stage when he pressed his face against the bars of the cage and cried:

"We are innocent, we have been betrayed, we have been sold like lambs to the slaughter."

At this point, Alfano, the alleged actual head of the Cammorra, cried dramtically:

"I call from the other world the soul of my poor brother Ciro, who died in prison, to witness that we are flesh and blood sold by the Carabineers to the inquiring judges, who lent themselves to this infamous market!"

By this time both prisoners and lawyers were pretty well exhausted and suddenly the accused men as with one accord burst into tears. The priest Ciro Vitozzi looked as though he had been stricken with apoplexy. The wife of Mariano Degannaro, one of the alleged actual assassins, fell to the floor in convulsions.

Wisconsin Cow Poisoning Case.

Eau Claire, Wis., March 22.—The trial of the John Gamouf cow poisoning case, which was begun Monday afternoon in circuit court before Judge Wickham and a jury, is progressing rapidly.

The defendant, a Pleasant Valley farmer, is charged with poisoning a steer, the property of his neighbor, Edgar Jacot. District Attorney Fred Arnold is prosecuting the case while Judge Joseph W. Singleton is appearing for the defendant.

bate on an attempt by Representative Suud to save from defeat by the adoption of an adverse committee report his proposed constitutional amendment providing that constitutional amendments shall be adopted by a majority of those voting on the proposition, instead of a majority of those voting at the election. His attempt failed and the bill was killed, 77 to 35.

After the vote had been taken, R. C. Dunn rose to his feet and said:

"Is the house going to let pass unchallenged a charge that is an insult to the speaker and to the house? The gentleman from Rice should be compelled to apologize to the speaker and to every member of the house.

Representative Klemer said that it had been reported to him a number of times that Representative Dunn is the man who appointed the tax committee, of which he is chairman and that other chairmen appointed their own committees. It is common report, he said, that the committees are packed. "I see no reason for having sixty-two committees, when half a dozen would do, except to sidetrack the men who are here in the interests of the people."

Representative Campbell said that he had been a supporter of the speaker, but from his dealings with him he could say that Klemer's charges were absurd and false. The speaker, so far as he had observed him, tried to form perfect committees in the interest of all the people.

Representative Lennon said: "The man from Rice has been here all through the session and hasn't been big enough and broad enough to learn that the speaker doesn't form the committees, but that the house makes its own rules. He should know what he is talking about before he makes such charges against a man who has been only too fair to such men as the man from Rice. He should apologize, and, if he refuses, he should be made to do so." (Applause).

Representative Washburn, chairman of the railroad committee, said that the speaker had been eminently fair and that Klemer should be made to apologize.

R. C. Dunn pointed out that Klemer has reiterated his charge, and said:

"The members of this house owe it to themselves to force the gentleman from Rice to apologize. He should either apologize or have the decency to walk out of the house."

Representative Moriarity, speaking as a Democrat, said that the house couldn't have a fairer speaker. Turning to Klemer, he said:

"You have got your foot in it. I demand, as a member of this house, that you apologize either to the speaker and the house, or before the bar of the house."

Representative Klemer said that he had stated several times that he had nothing but praise for the speaker.

If he had nothing to do with deciding the number of committees, that is another thing. "If I think business would be expedited by having fewer committees, I think I have a right to say so."

This did not calm the situation. Representative Edwards moved a rising vote of confidence in the speaker.

Representative Congdon of Duluth, said: "The question before this house is shall we maintain our self-respect. Can men rise here and make such charges, and we sit quiet? If the speaker is crooked, the house is crooked. We have had too many insinuations this winter. We have had too many pillar saints like those of old who perched aloft and said, 'How holy are we.' We have had too much mouth holiness. We want more righteousness in deed and less in talk. If we sit under such charges we are unfit to be here, and if this incident goes unrebuked my service in the house will always be a shame to me. This man should apologize to the house for his insult, or he should vacate his seat!"

R. C. Dunn moved that a committee of three be appointed to investigate Klemer's unparliamentary language and report in twenty-four hours.

Representative Spooner, in seconding the motion, said that a malevolent devil had been making this charge, and probably Klemer had been misled by him.

Representative Orr, as one who was not identified with the speaker's organi-

NINE MINERS ARE INSTANTLY KILLED

Loose Slate Falls Into Car Carrying Men to Their Work.

Pittsburg, March 22.—Nine men were instantly killed today in the Hazel mine of the Pittsburg & Buffalo Coal company at East Cannonsburg, Pa. They were being taken to their rooms in a remote part of the mine when a mass of loose slate in the roof fell, filling one car in which there were ten men.

The motor was stopped and other workmen on the train hastened to the assistance of the unfortunates. The death-dealing slate was quickly cleared away and the bodies recovered. All were foreigners except David Donley, an American. Three of them were married, and the bodies were removed to their homes.

Those Bad Spells

Lebanon Jct., Ky.—Mrs. Minnie Lamb, of this place, says: "I believe I would have been dead by now, had it not been for Cardui. I haven't had one of those bad spells since I commenced to use this medicine." Cardui is a specific medicine for the ills from which women suffer. Made from harmless, vegetable ingredients, Cardui is a safe, reliable remedy, and has been successfully used by weak and ailing women for more than fifty years. Thousands of women have been helped back to health and happiness by its use. Why not profit by their experience? A trial will convince you that Cardui is just what you need.

The Best Dish on Your Table

Van Camp's Spaghetti, whenever you serve it, will be the best dish on your table.

No matter how competent your cook may be she can't make a dish like this.

It's the same with us. Our chefs have been cooking for millions of tables for nearly fifty years.

They have pleased so many that people are spending ten million dollars per year to get their foods.

But they never made anything nearly so popular as this new dish—this wonderful dish of spaghetti.

There are 17 ingredients used in it, but the main ones are these:

Durum wheat spaghetti.
Herkimer County full cream cheese.
Best creamery butter.
The same expensive tomato sauce we use in Van Camp's Pork and Beans.

The recipe is secret. We can't reveal it to you. But we supply it to you ready cooked for less than you could make it.

All you have to do is to heat it.

You may have eaten spaghetti in Rome. You may have your own pet recipe. But you will agree with all the rest that this is the best of all.

Your grocer has it or can easily get it for you. Ask him to send a few cans.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

EIGHT WILL BE OUT SOON

Water Work for Oarsmen Is Planned for Early Next Month.

Crew Will Be Out Before Coach Ten Eyck Arrives in Duluth.

John McGregor, the hustling captain of the rowing department of the Duluth Boat club, will in a few days appoint a committee to get new candidates out for the crew. Some new material is wanted by the club and it will be the duty of the rowing committee appointed by Capt. McGregor to interest some of the huskies of the olty sufficiently enough to get them out for the crew.

It is the intention of the officials of the club to get the crew candidates out on the water before the arrival of Ten Eyck, which is set for May 2. The men will be worked into fair condition before the arrival of the diamond sculls winner, who will take full charge from this point and will bring the crew along for the big home regatta.

A canvas by McGregor has brought out the fact that practically every man who sat in the eight last season will be out this year. A letter has been received from Bill Crawford, in which he stated that he will be out for the crew if he arrives home in time to be of any assistance.

Bill intends to try for the crew at the University of Pennsylvania, and if he makes it or the freshmen crew he should be in the best possible condition when he reaches home.

Thompson, Quimby, Forgette, Lathrop, Slack, Sole, Crawford, Mapp, Walker, O'Donnell, Talboys and others will be out. Whether Hare, the University of Wisconsin man, will be out is a question. Every effort will be made to get the long blonde out, as he has rowed under Ten Eyck, knows the Wisconsin stroke and would be a very valuable man for the No. 7 position.

It is thought that Anthony Puck will have charge of the oarsmen until the arrival of Ten Eyck. According to the plan that has been suggested, Puck, if he will take charge, will have the men out for the preliminary work, which will consist mainly in developing rowing strength and muscle so that the real work can be started when Ten Eyck arrives.

Strenuosity will be the work from the opening of the season. It is time that Duluth at least made a serious effort to win a big race, and the officials declared at a meeting last week that no effort would be spared to put on the water the best trained crews that ever represented the club.

It is very probable that more rowing will be on the program this season. Last season very few long rows were taken. Compared to the St. Paul and Winnipeg men at Kenora, the Duluth oarsmen looked as if they had been swinging light Indian clubs for an hour each day instead of doing rough and strenuous work on the sliding seats.

If the form used by Hare is an indication of the stroke that is taught by Ten Eyck, the swing of the Duluth crew will be much longer and slower than the one taught last season.

Hare reached further than anyone in the boat with the exception of Louis Thompson, and his catch was harder and quicker. In the second day's race at Kenora the members of the eight went out in the morning and learned practically a new stroke under the teaching of Hare, and made a much better showing than in the race of the day before.

Here it has been a series of experiments for the past three years. Apparently the material, judged from the standard of physical appearance, has been there, but the results have been discouraging. There is particular desire to win this season, because of the holding of the regatta here, and for that reason every effort will be made to place the training on a more systematic basis than it was last season.

According to the information given out yesterday, the call for water work will be sent out next week and the men will get out on the bay just as soon as the weather will permit.

The St. Paul men are on the machines at the present time and will get on the river within a few days. The St. Paul men always get an early start and also hold a terrific steam register of work all through the season.

Reports received from Winnipeg state that practically the same bunch will row in the junior eight.

BIG MEETING AT CHICAGO

College Indoor Athletic Events Will Be Decided Friday and Saturday.

Chicago, March 22.—The interest of the Western college world this week will be centered on the first annual indoor Western intercollegiate track and field meet to be held in Patten gymnasium Friday and Saturday nights. The conference swimming championships will be held in conjunction with the running contests on Friday, while Saturday will be devoted to the track and field events.

As it is the first time an indoor event of this character has been attempted in years, the result will determine whether it will be wise to make the event an annual affair. The managing committee of the conference, under whose auspices the championships will be held, has announced that all Western colleges are contributing a large number of representatives and if the caliber of the performances is in accord with the number of entries the meeting can be pronounced a success in advance.

Although the larger Western colleges will be represented by strong teams, it is the performances of the representatives of the smaller colleges which always upset the dope, and this meeting may be prolific of many surprises.

From the performances of the different teams this season, first place seems to lie between Illinois and Chicago. The teams representing the institutions have met twice and each has a victory to its credit.

In Davenport and Menaul, Coach Stagg has two performers who are sure to either win or place in their contests. Davenport, believed by many to be the greatest middle distance runner in the country today, is almost certain to win either the quarter or half-mile. He has been entered in both races, but Stagg will run him in only one.

WILL ADOPT BOGEY.

Scotch Golf Clubs May Follow Western Club's Suggestions.

Chicago, March 22.—According to an editorial recently published in the World of Golf, a London organ of the game, St. Andrew's club of Scotland is likely to follow suggestions offered by the Western Golf association for bogey play. Already one special set has been devised for the benefit of the Midland association of England, and it is thought this is merely a forerunner of what is to come.

The editorial states that W. G. A. rules are the best of any that have been submitted, including those offered by the United States Golf association, and further states that they appear to be right in line with the desires of nine-tenths of the golfers of not only the United States, but England and Scotland as well.

Bogey play has not been quite so widely adopted across the water as in this country, but appears to be gaining favor over there right along, and the writer of the editorial above referred to cannot see any way out of it for St. Andrew's but to draw up a bogey code, and he thinks the only logical rules are those in force in the W. G. A.

In 1909 the Shibe Park grandstand at Philadelphia was rebuilt. It is now a solid steel structure and as nearly safe as anything built by man can be. GRANT WILL DRIVE ALCO

Thirty Cars Have Been Entered in Indianapolis Speedway Events.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 22.—How did Harry Grant manage to win the great Vanderbilt cup twice in succession?

This question, often asked, has been answered by the famous pilot himself, and the answer is merely an explanation of how he drives every motor contest in which he engages. Grant has entered his reliable Alco, "Old No. 18," the same with which he has won both Vanderbilt cup events, in the 500-mile international sweepstakes race at the Indianapolis motor speedway, next Memorial day, May 30.

Thirty cars have been entered in the $25,000 race and many of them are special racing cars, built specially for the event.

Against these will be the Alco car which Grant drove around the Vanderbilt course. He has the greatest faith in his ability to win the big race with "Old No. 18." Grant is regarded by many motoring experts as the greatest American driver. His methods are very different from those which distinguish some of the more brilliant and spectacular drivers. He seldom shows any desire early in the race to forge to the front or set the pace. His method is more conservative. Some one said, "Grant doesn't run a race; he thinks it." Grant plans out the degree of speed necessary to win, then drives according to that schedule.

In the second Vanderbilt last October, Grant did not make his motor in the race until the last fifty miles. But he won. He had the faith in his car which he knew would respond to the limit of the mechanism's ability when he called on it to respond, and faith in his judgment to know the right minute to make that demand.

There has been considerable talk among men interested in automobile racing as to what this race would have to be ridden in to win. George Robertson, the famous driver who has now permanently left the track, is of the opinion that the race will be won in at least an average of seventy-five miles an hour. The Vanderbilt race last October was won in an average of 65.2 miles per hour and the winning Alco was well within its power at that time. It is somewhat a question of tires, but this will not absolutely govern the winning of the race. The car which has the ability to withstand the constant torsional strain in combination with the driver will win the Indianapolis race. Grant expects to do a great deal of preliminary training with the car not only on the road but on tracks.

In addition to the $25,000 offered by the Speedway, two companies have offered $2,000 for the winners. The first accessory maker to make an offer was the Remy Electric company of Anderson, Ind. This company will give the winner of the long grind an additional $1,000 if the car is Remy equipped. The other offer is made by the Columbia Lubricants company, makers of Monogram oils. This purse is known as the Monogram oil stake, and is for $1,000 divided into four prizes for the first four drivers to finish. The amounts offered to each in order are $500, $250, $150 and $100. It is expected that the total prizes to go to men in the seven-hour grind will be about $40,000.

AROUND THE CIRCUIT

La Crosse directors are still pondering over the managerial question. Since failing to land Don Cameron for the position, numerous names have been presented the directors, but as yet they are undecided as to who will be tendered the berth. E. L. Burwell, Jack Corrigan and Jim Easton are candidates for manager, but many are inclined to think Phil Geyer is the logical man for the place. Geyer has had a wide experience in baseball. He has traversed the ups and downs of the game, and his candidacy will surely be given much consideration by the La Crosse directors. A meeting of the club will be called soon, when President Elliott and the directors will select a leader.

Pitcher Blancke has settled his differences with the Duluth club and has signed a contract. Blancke was after a more liberal contribution for his services from the Duluth owners, and has apparently won his point. All of O'Brien's players have now penned their John Hancocks to the club's official documents. O'Brien signed his contract the other day.

Ted Corbett, pilot of the Rochester team, is optimistic over the outlook for the season. Corbett figures that his club will be second to none in the race for the championship. He thinks well of a number of youngsters who will play with the club this season, and says he knows whereof he speaks when predicting Rochester will be a winner. "Bud" Croake, a product of Chicago, is the latest acquisition to the club. The Chicagoan is a first baseman and batted .300 last season with the City league club.

Manager Fred Cook of the Red Wing ball team has sent in the signed contract of Dode Spillane, the southpaw pitcher of St. Paul. Spillane was given a try out in the Three Eye league two years ago but was not held. Since that time he has improved greatly. Last season he twirled fine ball in the Dakotas. Manager Cook says he has the pitching find of the season, and he expects the other hand hurler to make good from the start.

Springfield Again Wins Championship Indoor Revolver Shooting.

Springfield, Mass., March 22.—Official returns from the final matches of the indoor league of the United States Revolver association last week, place the Springfield club as champion. The league has been in operation for two years and Springfield repeated last year's winning performance. Manhattan of New York and Portland, Or., are tied for second place and Boston and Newark are tied for fourth position honors.

Duluth is in twelfth place, having won 12 and lost 11. Sault Ste. Marie is last, winning none and losing 23.

MORNING PAPER NOW AN OUTLAW

League President Promises It Will Get No More Baseball Information.

As a result of a flagrant breach of the newspaper code of honor, the Duluth News Tribune will be cut from the list of papers supplied with official information from the president of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league, and in future the Duluth morning paper will be an "outlaw" as far as the league is concerned, according to the promise made by President Frank E. Force, this morning.

The act in question was the "breaking of the release" on the league schedule. It is a common practice for newspapers to receive articles marked with a "release," and no reputable paper ever breaks this release, which means to publish the article in question before the date set. President Force sent out the league schedules marked for release to the Wednesday afternoon papers on the circuit. Even the paper on which the league president is employed, the Minneapolis Tribune, will not publish the schedule until this afternoon. The News Tribune, so far as is known, was the only newspaper on the circuit to publish the schedule this morning. All the papers have had the schedule in their possession since Saturday. The Herald and Superior Telegram received the schedule Saturday, but they trusted to the release agreement being observed.

In the history of baseball in this part of the country, the Duluth morning paper has been the only one to break a release. It has done so in the past, and the other papers on the circuit have been aroused to demand that the morning paper be cut off, as a matter of self-defense. If the morning paper cannot be trusted the other papers are demanding that it be given no chance to break a release in future, and President Force promised over the long distance telephone this morning that he would act at once on the matter.

FRED COOK WANTS SPEEDY J. ANDERSON.

Fred Cook, recently appointed manager of the Red Wing team, in need of outfielders, has written to Jawn Desmond in request of Jimmy Anderson, the fast little gardener who cavorted in the daisy patch with George Anderson.

The sale of Swanson and Malloy, the peerless Miquel to the Winona club leaves the Indians short of gardeners, hence the request for the setting of a price for the services of Anderson.

Desmond will take no action in the matter until he knows just how the Sox will be fixed. Anderson has not signed as yet, as he is not satisfied with the salary offered.

AUTOMOBILE LAWS MAY BE IN CONFLICT.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—That there may be some conflict in automobile registration laws when the new law, passed by the last legislative assembly, goes into effect, is the belief existing in several cities of the state at the present time. The conflict is of a nature that may oblige cities to abandon the plan of licensing automobiles which has been so widely practiced. Under the new law the payment of the auto tax is to the county and the proceeds will go into the general county road fund.

COMMENTS AND OPINIONS ON THE SPORTING PARADE

Feats of Strength By German Wonders—Pitcher Gets Away Under Corkleg Handicap—Kid McCoy's Swan Song Refrain—The Minny League.

(BY BRUCE.)

CHARLES HEROLD, the wonderful little strong man, dropped around yesterday afternoon. He had a picture of one of the most wonderful feats of strength ever performed by living man. It was a photograph of Arthur Saxon, the world's champion strong man, who has been seen in this city with the Ringling Bros.' circus, lifting a bar above his head with one hand, one of his brothers sitting at each end of the bar.

Herold says that the lift is 370 pounds. This bar was pressed up slowly, not a jerk lift, and Saxon lifted it from the ground. Arthur Saxon today holds the world's greatest weight lift with one hand, making the record of 371 pounds, pressed up slowly. According to Herold, Hackenschmidt, the wonderful Russian wrestler, lifted 286 pounds above his head with one hand, and Eugene Sandow, who for years held the reputation of being the strongest man in the world, pressed 279 pounds above his head.

Herold and the three Saxon brothers came from the same town, Leipzig, Germany. When Arthur Saxon was 17 years of age, Herold saw him press with one hand 275 pounds above his head. At that time Saxon had not the wonderful matured strength that today makes him by far the greatest weight lifter in the world.

In Germany it is a very common practice to use weights in the development of strength, according to Herold. He believes this is one of the reasons why the Germans are so strong and healthy.

According to his theory strength is born in a man, and in one way has nothing to do with health. The difference between health and strength is that you can sometimes have strength without being healthy and can be healthy without being immensely strong. But the perfect man should have both health and strength.

Herold believes that the lifting of weights develops the inner organs, develops the brain, through concentration, and in every way, if not overdone, benefits the health. He states that weight lifting can be easily overdone, and also says the American athletes have the tendency to overtrain.

Gets Away Under Handicap.

LOS ANGELES has a pitcher by the name of Combs who has a cork leg. We have all heard of pitchers with corking arms, but this gink with the cork leg is about the first man to get away with so great a handicap.

In the days of old Dailey, a famous pitcher, he was considered one of the greatest twirlers of his time, and he had only one arm. He used a bat constructed especially for him, one about the size the corner lot kids use, and he used to sweetly swat the spherold.

There are athletes who compete with their brothers under somewhat discouraging disadvantages. Any time a guy gets away in a ball game with a cork leg, he is going some, both figuratively and literally speaking.

Suppose that this Combs kid should sometime deliberately plan to have his cork leg hit by the ball. Would the umpire allow him to take his base? Suppose some player spiked him on the cork leg would the umpire throw the player out of the game?

It does seem that a man with a cork leg could make a lot of trouble on the diamond, were he possessed of an onery turn of mind. But then very likely Combs is a very quiet youth and rarely intrudes that cork leg into any argument.

Kid Has Gone Far Away.

YOU all probably observed how Norman Selby, better known to students of science and facts as Kid McCoy, came back—not. From the accounts of the sham battle the whole thing must have been as funny as Eddy Foy's earnest aspiration to do Hamlet.

The graceful, lithe, lightning fast and tigerous Mister McCoy of some years ago was lost in a cafe one night and they have never found him. He has gone and in his place there appeared in his stead a feeble imitation of the man who once set Tom Sharkey on his haunches with a rude and sickening jar. The abilities of the fighter who cut Tommy Ryan into ribbons at Maspeth, L. I., back there in 1896, were pathetically lacking in the man who battled like a broken reed with the obscure unknown.

This Kid McCoy was born in Rush county, Ind., and in the ring was about the smoothest fighter who ever walked from a corner. Perhaps he was the greatest fighter for his weight, next to Fitzsimmons, that the ring has given us. Surely he was one of the greatest that ever lived.

Tommy Ryan came mighty near being the greatest fighter and boxer that the ring ever developed, and he possessed one of the clearest and shrewdest brains of any fighter in the ring. Well, as many of you have read, Kid McCoy was clever enough to put one over on Ryan, and made the wonderful Ryan look like a dub at times that night at Maspeth.

Kid McCoy was beaten on the square by Jim Corbett. The heavyweight feared McCoy enough to insist that he deposit a large sum of money against any possible double-cross. In his prime he was almost unbeatable. If the Hoosier had been given a square deal he would have beaten Tom Sharkey, and everybody knows how great Tom was before Jeffries stoved in his iron ribs.

Those famous lights and several kinds of liquids, carted the fighter away and have left a somewhat adventurous man of doubtful morals. They do say as how McCoy would do almost anything for money. He has made several fortunes and lost them with equal facility. He has been married about seven times and also, it might be added for local color effect, that he has also been divorced that many times. Odd, isn't it — seven times.

He has gone the pace, from ale to absinthe, and now he is foolish enough, or wise enough, depending upon the slant you bet at it, to fight. Perhaps the kid needs the money. Perhaps he believed he could collect from O'Brien without fighting. That is the way Jawn used to cash in. Anyhow, he crawled into the ring and you know the rest. He couldn't come far enough back to hear the church bells ring, and, speaking from the side of the man in the front ring now, it is good-night for Mister McCoy.

Taking a Slant at the Minny.

IT ISN'T exactly right for either O'Brien or Desmond to claim the flag before the season opens. There is a little matter of delicacy mixed in the matter. Nothing like that here, Archibald. Claiming pennants is one of the most pleasing things in the world, and in addition it has always got a rise out of Carl Hanton.

Young Lund, down Eau Claire way, roars in righteous wrath every time anybody around these parts reflects on the Eau Claire bunch, but right here we wish to state that the Angels will be mighty lucky this season to keep in the first division.

It will be Duluth both ways across the boards for us. They Sox are pretty sure to be strong the present season, and Darby O'Brien is about the headiest manager in the M.-W. He didn't have the players last year and the result was some sear and yellow leaf brand of baseball. This season we opine it will be very different with Darby.

It is always good to boost anyway, as even a certain very peeved person with a general grouch against humanity will perhaps admit. There is really nothing like pasting on a front and carrying the battle talk bravely. There will be really nothing to the race this season, and let this prediction be the first 1911 opinion in the Minny circle.

Let the dogs of war be loosed. It is never too early to begin. Hurrah for our side.

DAUSS MAY PLAY HERE

Duluth has received an offer from Mike Kelley, manager of the St. Paul team, for the use of George Dauss, the crack pitcher, for the coming season. Dauss is the property of the St. Paul team, and if he is used by Duluth this season he will have to be returned to Kelley at the end of the Minny season.

Jawn Desmond and Jimmy Anderson, who were he convinced that Dauss could get into condition. Dauss was a very sick man most of last season and it is stated that he was forced to undergo an operation a short time ago.

Kelley evidently does not want to use the youngster this season, according to the offer made to Desmond, and if Duluth does not use Dauss It is just possible that he may be taken over by one of the other clubs of the Minny league.

In addition to the offer of Dauss, Kelley is at the present time thinking over a request made for any players that he will not use, and some man not quite fast enough for the A. A. company may be seen on the White Sox the coming season.

CINCINNATI CATCHER IS SEVERELY INJURED.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 22.—While endeavoring to score in a practice game yesterday afternoon Severoid of the Cincinnati Nationals ran into Catcher Clark of the second team, with the result that Clark is in a hospital suffering with concussion of the brain. The attending physician says Clark will probably recover.

The second team won the game, 14 to 7.

HORSE RACING DEAD IN EMPIRE STATE.

New York, March 22.—Horse racing is dead in New York state, for this year at least. The Jockey club issued a statement last night saying that because of adverse legislation it had been decided to make no application for dates. This news came out almost simultaneously with reports from New Orleans that horse owners believe the sport beyond revival there.

Hack Throws Roller.

Johnson Is Effective.

Atlanta, Ga., March 22.—Two teams of the Washington Americans played an exhibition game here yesterday, the game ending with the score 8 to 6. Walter Johnson struck out eleven men.

Easy for Brooklyn.

Nashville, Tenn., March 22.—Brooklyn easily took the game from the local team of the Southern league yesterday afternoon, 7 to 1.

Zbyszko Wins Match.

New London, Conn., March 22.—Zbyszko, the Polish wrestler, took two falls from Jack McGrath here last night, the first in 29 minutes and the second in 12 minutes.

FRANCHISE STILL BEING DISCUSSED

Virginia Council and Railroad Cannot Agree as to Certain Points.

Virginia, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The franchise asked for by the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific Railway company, the Canadian Northern, came before the meeting of the city council again last night, but made little progress. The company asks for a considerable number of concessions which did not meet with the approval of the council, among them being the proposed right-of-way along Lake boulevard and the coming in of the tracks in the rear of the public library. Alderman Boylan asked Mr. Bailey if the railroad company would guarantee to establish a division and maintain shops I nthis city if the council granted the franchise. Mr. Bailey said that the company would establish a division point here but would not guarantee to keep any required number of men employed in its shops. The ordinance was referred to the ordinance committee and upon motion of Alderman Boylan the council was instructed to meet as a committee of the whole at the call of the mayor and draft a franchise to be presented at the next meeting. Alderman E. C. A. Johnson spoke in favor of the citizens whose property the proposed right-of-way is to run, and it was through his talk that the second reading of the ordinance was deferred to a later date.

Want Spruce Street Paved.

Residents along Spruce street petitioned the council to pave that thoroughfare the coming summer and the matter was left to Aldermen Boylan, Weber and H. A. Johnson.

Through its officers, Mrs. J. D. Lamont and Mrs. C. M. Dorway, the Virginia City club, a women's organization, the council was requested to take steps toward abating the coal and smoke nuisance prevalent throughout the city. The matter was referred to to the street and alley committee.

Bids for the construction of the sanitary sewer in the southern part of the city were opened, as follows:

A. F. Benson of Virginia, $4,130.62; J. W. Preston of Duluth, $4,024.63; P. McGinnis of Duluth, $4,182.35; J. D. O'Connell, Duluth, $4,355.15; W. D. Curran, Duluth, $4,835.60; Fasteret & Lawrence company, Duluth, $3,567.98; C. C. Butler Virginia, $3,776.21; H. L. Bartlett company, Virginia, $3,555.70. The latter firm being the lowest bidder, the contract was awarded to them.

NEW ORDINANCES MADE EFFECTIVE

Eveleth Council Puts Finishing Touches on New City Laws.

Eveleth, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city engineer last evening was instructed by the council to prepare plans, specifications and an estimate for the installation of macadam pavement on Monroe, Pierce and Jones streets, one block east and west of Grant avenue.

The Home Heating & Electric company asked for more time to remove the electric lighting apparatus from Grant avenue to the adjacent alley.

The council was informed that local poolroom proprietors are violating the law by permitting minors to frequent their places, and the mayor was requested to have the chief of police investigate.

Secretary Solomon Sax of the charter commission reported he had conferred with Judge Ensign, who informed him that the body was now an illegal one, and that any charter now submitted would have to be made legal by an act of the state legislature. Judge Ensign recommended that the eleven remaining members of the original commission of fifteen submit their resignations to the district court judges and petition the city council to appoint a new commission.

M. Johnston, Dominic Jerome, Enrico Bostinelli, Reni and Columbo were granted renewals of their liquor licenses, and John Palm a permit to transfer his license to Matt Primozich. The applications of Matt Miroslavich and Antonich for renewals of their licenses were referred to the police and license committee. Municipal Court Clerk Miss Agnes Enright reported $48.50 in fines and costs received for the week ending March 18.

Ordinance No. 96, amending Ordinance No. 57, relating to the storing of oils and explosives and fire limits; Ordinance No 97, repealing old ordinances; Ordinance No 99, amending Ordinance No. 73, relating to use of water; Ordinance No. 98, amending Ordinance No. 94, referring to public health, and Ordinance No. 100, referring to city levels, were all given their final readings and adopted.

The clerk was instructed to have arc lights placed at the corner of Garfield and Adams avenues, Hayes street and McKinley avenue, A street and McKinley avenue, Cleveland street and McKinley avenue, Douglas avenue and Hayes street, and below Hayes street. The matter of extending the water line along Hayes street, for the benefit of the residents of the settlement north of Hayes street, was referred to the water and light committee and the superintendent of the water works.

PETER WRING WILL CONTINUE AS CHIEF

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new village council held its first meeting last night. Action was had on appointments while the salary question was also considered.

Chief of Police Peter Wring was reappointed while the good work of other members of the force brought reappointments. The only change made was on the board of health. Dr. B. S. Adams succeeding Dr. Druden. The appointments were all confirmed as follows:

Chief of police, Peter Wring; turnkeys, C. E. Everett and F. J. Bowden; patrolmen, A. Belanger, Albert Breiter, Frank Haben, Thomas Killorin, D. A. McLeod, Thomas Moore, Eric Nord, Peter Ryan and Dave Williams; village attorney, Robert Stratton; village accountant, J. L. Stewart; assistant bookkeeper and health inspector, Le Roy Morris; health officer, Dr. B. S. Adams; assistant health officer, Samuel Harris; street commissioner, John Winberg; assistant street commissioner, Alex Bonventure; board of health, M. F. Flannagan, P. J. Godfrey and Dr. B. S. Adams.

Fire Appointments Deferred.

The reappointment of the chief of the fire department and other members of the force was left till the new wage schedule is presented to the council. It is understood that no changes will be made in the personnel of this force. The resignation of Treasurer A. D. Smith was accepted and the last monthly report read and placed on file as follows: Month of March, money received, $13,351.71; money disbursed, $11,392.27; balance in the treasury, $19.27. The report of the clerk of the municipal court for the week ending March 18, cash received, $179.19. The application for license to sell peanuts on the streets by Christ Bossillos was granted, fee being $60 for six months. Transfer of liquor license from Peterson & Lindberg to Peter Peterson was accepted. The application for a brick structure at the corner of Third avenue and Sellers street was granted to John Shehea. Bids for village printing for the year were ordered advertised for.

CHIEF PETER WRING.

Some Salaries Raised.

A raise in salaries for the chief and other members of the police force was considered and granted, the rate now being $95 a month for patrolmen of long service, and $150 a month for the chief. It was taken into consideration with regard to the petition for a raise that the men on the force are mostly men who have served a number of years, and also that the hours are long, each man being on duty for twelve hours a day, and Chief Wring works often much longer than this. Recorder A. H. Kleffman's salary remains the same as previously, $75; J. L. Stewart, accountant, will get $145 a month; Le Roy Morris, assistant bookkeeper and health officer, $100; Samuel Harris, assistant health officer, $90; and John Wenberg, street commissioner, $2.50 a day, with an assistant at $2.75 a day. The board of health for the present year will be T. J. Godfrey, M. F. Flanigan and Chairman Dr. B. S. Adams. The chairman will receive a salary of $25 a month.

BREITUNG TO VOTE AGAIN.

Recent Township Election Has Been Declared Illegal.

Tower, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Breitung township election has been declared illegal by County Attorney John Norton. The Breitung officials have posted notices for another election to be held March 25.

The 9-day-old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Olof Erickson died Saturday and the funeral was held Monday afternoon.

A new switchboard for the local telephone exchange has arrived and is being installed.

William Sauntry, a mining man of Stillwater, has been here looking over the development work. He is expecting to explore some of his lands next summer. He was the discoverer of the Sauntry mine at Virginia.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ulm of Soudan last Saturday.

N. J. Benson, who underwent a difficult operation two weeks ago, is able to be around again.

T. J. Gifford of St. Paul, a stockholder in the North American Iron Mining company, paid a visit here recently and returned home very much pleased with the prospects.

CHISHOLM HALL WILL OPEN MAY 1

Structure Being Erected By Finnish Societies Nearly Completed.

Chisholm, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steel ceiling in the auditorium of the new Finnish hall here is being placed and it is expected the building will be ready for dedication May 1, when it is hoped to have several notables present as speakers. Efforts are being made to secure one or all of the following: Eugene V .Debs, Mayor Seidel of Milwaukee, Editor F. Warren of the Appeal to Reason, and others. It is not known definitely at this time just how many of the speakers can be induced to come here on that date, but it is expected to have a program that will attract a large number. The new hall will have a seating capacity of over 500.

Longyear Bridge in Commission.

The bridge across Longyear lake, leading to the principal street in Chisholm from the Shenango Myers locations, has been put in shape for the coming year. Street Commissioner Harrington finished the repairs just in time, for the ice is beginning to cover with water and in a few days will be unsafe for workmen to get under the bridge to work.

ALEX HOLLIDAY ELECTED MAYOR

Socialists' Candidate Wins By Large Majority in Two Harbors.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city election yesterday resulted in a victory for the Socialists, Alex Holliday, the Socialist candidate for mayor, overwhelmingly defeating Charles Cotter, the citizens' nominee and John Kinsella, independent. Holliday polled 454 votes, against 295 votes for Cotter and 19 for Kinsella.

The vote for aldermen-at-large was very close. H. Irwin secured the largest vote, 389, while Dr. E. P. Christensen came second with 352, and C. E. Bergren received 36. The defeated candidates for aldermen-at-large were Murphy, 342 votes; Axel Essen, 340 votes, and Ole Stenswick, 314 votes. In the First ward Risberg, the citizens' nominee for alderman, defeated L. D. Rese, Socialist, by a vote of 86 to 55. In the Second ward, R. J. Tubman, citizens' nominee, had no opposition, receiving 178 votes. In the Third ward, Grant Strand, Socialist, defeated William McCurdy by a vote of 100 to 64. In the Fourth ward, Charles Esse, Socialist, defeated Carl A. Anderson, by a vote of 113 to 91. Thus the Socialists will have a majority of 5 out of 7 of the members of the new council.

Hot Fight for Justice.

The race for the office of justice of the peace was hotly contested. A. P. Overland, Socialist, polled the largest number of votes, 365, while W. B. Woodward, citizens' nominee, came second with 358 votes. There is a little doubt concerning second place, C. J. G. Rothfus, Socialist, polled 355 votes; there being a difference of three votes. Alfred Johnson, Socialist candidate for city assessor, overwhelmingly defeated J. H. Delaney, citizens' nominee, receiving 498 votes to Delaney's 179. Thomas Martin, candidate for city treasurer, had no opposition, a vote of 637 being cast for him. Mr. Martin has held the office of city treasurer for many years and his administration has always been a success.

The election came as a surprise to many as the Socialists carried nearly their whole ticket. On April 1 an entirely new city council will go into office.

The election returns were received at the Y. M. C. A. last evening and were all in at an early hour.

VIRGINIAN BREAKS PAROLE.

Daniel Salmi Drinks on Range and Goes Back to Pen.

Stillwater, Minn., March 22.—Daniel Salmi has been returned to the state prison for parole violation. He had returned to his home at Virginia. In the northern part of the state, and was drinking. He was received at the prison in November, 1908, from St. Louis county under a sentence of four years for assault and was paroled last December.

HIBBING COMMISSION CONSIDERS SOME ROUTINE.

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The regular meeting of the water and light commission took place last night. President Angst is the retiring member, Capt. Wearne taking the chair for the coming year, and a new member will be appointed by the council to fill the vacancy. Three members constitute the commission and the member who retires at the end of the year is always the president. The business of last night's meeting consisted entirely of routine work and a few minor requisitions were passed.

SWAN RIVER LOGGING COMPANY'S SUCCESSFUL CUT.

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Swan River Logging company has had a very successful season, the cut amounting to 35,000,000 feet. In addition to this the company's logging road from Chisholm has now been completed. The company will do some logging during the coming summer.

Michigan Sheriff Gets Man.

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Sheridan of Houghton, Mich., was in the city yesterday and took back a man who was wanted for law breaking near Houghton. The sheriff also fetched a man back from Chisholm.

HIBBING NOTES.

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Maco Zniganjos, who died from injuries received at the Shenango mine on Saturday, was buried yesterday. He was killed by the falling of a steam shovel bucket.

Mrs. Eric Nord, wife of Patrolman Nord who recently underwent a serious operation, is improving rapidly.

Mrs. W. H. Day of 917 Third avenue, who has been ill for some time, is recovering slowly and her condition shows improvement during the past week.

Dr. McNulty, who was in the city for a few days, returned yesterday to Duluth.

HIBBING FUNERAL.

Hibbing, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Edward Ogi, aged 21, who died yesterday morning at the home of his uncle in the Stevenson addition of pneumonia, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from Barrett's. Ogi had been employed as a miner at the Stevenson mine up to two days prior to his death. Besides an uncle at whose residence he passed away, the deceased leaves a sister in Hibbing.

"Sure I do," said Price. "When I worked for him nine years ago at Sartoga, he formed a conspiracy to put arsenic in my food. My body bears the marks of it yet. Between you and me, I am going to kill him with this," and he flourished the revolver. The detectives closed in on him and grabbed the gun.

As Mr. Corwith drew near, Price looked at him and said: "They've got me now, but when I'm out I'll give it to you sure."

At the police station, he added: "I would have killed him as sure as there is a God in heaven, and if I had known you were detectives I would have given it to you first. The gun was loaded and I could have killed several men with it."

Price said he bought the revolver in a pawnshop. He was committed to Bellevue hospital for an examination as to his sanity.

Mr. Corwith said he had employed the man for three weeks as a coachman six years ago, that he had never seen him at the time assigned by the prisoner for the conspiracy and that he had never been to Saratoga, where the conspiracy was alleged to have taken place.

not relate to that which had not occurred, and hence could have no further application.

Conspiracy Remained in Effect.

As to the contention of the defense that the conspiracy ended with first plotting, the court ruled that so long as the acts complained of continued, the conspiracy remained in effect and unlawful acts growing out of the conspiracy and occurring after the indicted men had testified before the grand jury were new and separate offenses and subject to the operation of law.

In addition, the offenses admitted before the grand jury by the packers prior to their immunity, and the criminal responsibility from which they were freed by the Humphrey decision were defined by the court as none the less criminal in themselves. Judge Humphrey said they could be used in prosecutions which were predicated on a continuation of the offenses. In his decision, Judge Carpenter said:

Judge's Ruling.

"The question is this: Was the immunity granted so perfect that they may continue indefinitely in their unlawful undertaking if such an admission was the nature of their evidence before the grand jury?

"A question put to a witness cannot relate to something which does not exist. As to all crimes committed at the time the information was had from the defendants there may have been immunity. It cannot be claimed now as to crimes which had not then been committed, or even contemplated.

"Clearly, if the present indictment contemplates a crime supposed to have been committed within three years prior to its return, and it clearly does, then the old immune evidence did not and could not relate to the offense charged.

"A conspiracy to accomplish an unlawful act is in its nature a continuing act and it continues until abandoned or its object is accomplished. So long as the parties contemplate further action to the attainment of their ultimate object, the agreement exists and this further action may consist alone in accepting the benefits of the agreement."

Not only did Judge Carpenter rule that immunity existed only for the specific unlawful acts committed before the issue of the indictment under which they secured immunity, but he decided for the first time that the acts testified to and which were "made pure and incapable of subjecting the doers to criminal prosecution," could be used in future prosecutions. He said, however, they could be used only to show the original conspiracy.

oldest, largest and wealthiest families in Mexico. The father is not taking any decided stand in the trouble. He owns large plantations, mining properties, deals in rubber and has amassed a very large fortune. He was farsighted enough to foresee trouble in Mexico, and in order to get the protection of as many governments as he could he organized large companies in London, Paris and New York. He shared his wealth so that his interests might be protected by the French, English and American governments.

Boys Well Educated.

All the boys of the family were given all the educational advantages that they would accept. Some of them were educated in Berlin, others in London, others in several American colleges, and it was at the Michigan College of Mines that Stacy H. Hill met Raul, who attended that school with his brother Julius three years ago.

At school a friendship sprang up between the Duluth man and young Madero, which resulted in the long camping and hunting trip taken last September.

According to the young man's story told his Duluth friends, the trouble first started with an election. His brother, Francisco, ran for president. His voters were driven from the polls and every crooked turn was taken to defeat him. Diaz finally won out but the election was so plainly unfair that the people were stirred. There were no demonstrations but there was an under feeling of resentment and when in September the Mexicans celebrated their Independence day at which time the soldiers are reviewed, angry mobs gathered in the parks of the large cities and shouted "Down with Diaz and "Up with Madero."

In the meantime on some pretense or other Francisco had been seized and thrown into jail. He doesn't even know even now why he was jailed. It was probably more to get him out of the way for the time being than anything else. He furnished $15,000 bonds and secured his release. He knew that after the demonstration on the part of the people he would be rearrested and charged with riot so he fled from the country, coming across the border into the United States.

An Idealist.

It was then that he began to pull the wires for a rebellion. According to his brother, Francisco is an idealist. He believes in and tries to live a perfect life. He has his country at heart and not personal gain. It is said that he does not care an iota for power unless it betters the condition of his country.

His strength, it is said, cannot be over estimated. In every city, village and hamlet most of the people are his followers. They are ready to rise at a moment's notice and it is stated that if he called them they would all come to him and begin fighting at once. He does not want to fight, however. He wants to settle all difficulties without bloodshed.

This is what Raul Madero told his companions while camping last fall. He was much interested in the developments and on arrival in the city he left at once for Mexico. He is second to his brother in command and according to late dispatches is taking an active part in the war against the government.

Opinion among Mexican insurrecto leaders over the interview of Senor Jose Yves Limantour in Mexico City was about equally divided between keen disappointment and hope that Senor Limantour still has plans which he has not been at liberty to make public. While the views of the minister of finance were regarded as being adverse to any possibility of immediate peace it was still hoped that after conferences with President Taft, some plan for granting sufficient reforms would be announced.

On one point the insurrecto leaders said they were unalterably determined—they would not lay down their arms during peace negotiations and if there was to be any truce, it would be an "armed truce." This was the view of Gonzales Garza, the insurrecto secretary of state; Braulio Hernando, the insurrecto secretary of state of Chihuahua, and it was said by them to be the emphatic view of Francisco I. Madero, the revolutionary president.

The insurrecto leaders made no attempt to conceal their disappointment. Encouragement, they said, had been taken from Limantour's failure while en route to Mexico City to deny reports that tentative peace proposals had been drawn up, and it was confidently felt that President Diaz would see a need for radical reforms.

No Word From Limantour.

Mexico City, March 22.—Thirty-six hours after the arrival at the capital of Minister of Finance Limantour, the man heralded as the one who would bring peace to Mexico, there was no sign of even a cessation of hostilities.

Madero's forces in the north were actively carrying out their campaign and the war department has not rescinded any of its orders for their opposition. Civil war exists today as it did the day before the minister arrived and those who had hoped his coming would mean a speedy solution of the problem admit now that the minister meant just what he said when he stated that he bore from the rebels no terms of peace and that he nimself had no definite plans for ending the revolution.

That Minister Limantour may have excellent ideas of reform was considered not at all improbable. He has instituted reforms in Mexico before and only Gen. Diaz himself was credited with doing more to place the nation in a high rank. But Limantour on the day of his arrival said it was "not for him to announce plans of reform. That is for Gen. Diaz," he said.

He had long conversations with President Diaz since his return, but no announcement has been made. It is possible that a statement will be made, but unless two things are agreed to, there is little hope of peace, according to local opinion, both government and revolutionary.

Unless the government agrees to provide for another national election and to permit the rebels to retain their arms while carrying out a truce, there can be nothing but a continuation of the fighting, according to the rebels. Many men entirely loyal to the Federal government also believe this is true.

Start Practice Maneuvers.

San Antonio, Tex., March 22.—Additional details of the situation at Chihsos and at Alpine, where Mexican marauders, supposed to be insurrectos, crosse dthe Rio Grande yesterday and drove American cattle across the border, were eagerly awaited at the maneuver camp today.

A heavy rain fell last night, again turning the camp into a puddle of mud. Gen. Smith, undeterred by the weather and the slush underfoot, started on the practice march with his brigade at 8 o'clock this morning. There was some discussion about calling off the test, but the general accepted the rain merely as an incident of actual conditions and declined to delay his departure until more propitious weather arrived.

Much of the way to the camp, thirteen miles from here in the direction of Leon Springs, is over the Fredericksburg road, which is macadamized. The column of 2,238 men and 118 officers formed in the camp mud, however, and accumulated more before reaching the pavement.

CLOQUET HOME BURNED.

Cloquet, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire gutted the second story of the home of Mrs. Miller on West Carlton avenue early Monday morning. It is not known how it originated. Most of the furniture was destroyed, and clothes and hangings were ruined by water.

AWAY GOES ALL STOMACH MISERY

No Indigestion, Heartburn, Gas or Dyspepsia Five Minutes Later.

If you had some Diapepsin handy and would take a little now your stomach distress or indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no undigested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disturbance.

The Famous Rayo

Gives the Best Light at Any Price

When you pay more than the Rayo price for a lamp, you are paying for extra decorations that cannot add to the quality of the light. You can't pay for a better light, because there is none. An oil light has the least effect on the human eye, and the Rayo Lamp is the best oil lamp made, though low in price. You can pay $5, $10, or $20 for some other lamp, and although you get a more costly lamp, you can't get a better light than the white, mellow, diffused, unflickering light of the low-priced Rayo.

Has a strong, durable shade-holder. This season's burner adds to the strength and appearance. Made of solid brass, nickeled, and easily polished.

RAILROAD STATISTICS

The regular summary of revenues and expenses of steam railroads of the United States for the month of December, 1910, and for the half of the fiscal year, has been issued, and copies of it have been sent to some Duluth shippers by President Howard Elliott of the Northern Pacific.

The bulletin shows that for the six months ending Dec. 31, 1910, the total operating revenues of Western railroads increased only 1.7 per cent while total operating expenses increased 4.4 per cent. Net operating expenses fell off 2.6 per cent and operating income decreased 3.7 per cent. Taxes for the half year increased 5.2 per cent as compared with the same period of the previous year.

Freight revenues increased 1.9 per cent, showing no marked improvement in the volume of business, while the increase of .2 per cent in passenger business shows that to be about the same as in the previous year. The figures shown by the bulletin are being advanced as a reason for the proposed freight rate increases, which were denied by the interstate commerce commission.

D. 1911, said Board of Public Works will attend at the office of said Board in the City Hall building for the purpose of hearing objections thereto; that all objections made to said assessment must be filed in writing with said board at least one day prior to the time above specified, and that unless sufficient cause is shown to the contrary, the said assessment so made as aforesaid will be confirmed.
Notice is hereby further given that the following is a copy of said assessment roll so completed as aforesaid.

ASSESSMENT ROLL.
Duluth, Minn., March 20, 1911.

The Board of Public Works of the City of Duluth doth hereby assess and levy upon and against the several lots, parts of lots and parcels of land below described, the respective sums of money set opposite each lot, part of lot, or parcel of land. The assessment is levied to defray in part the expense of construction a sanitary sewer in Superior street from Twenty-sixth avenue East to a point about 100 feet East of Thirty-second avenue East with one outlet in Thirty-first avenue East to the sewer in Greysolon Place and the other outlet in Congdon Park to the sewer in Greysolon Place, according to benefits.

WHEAT IS NERVOUS

No Precipitation in Southwest —Foreign Situation Weaker.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 22—Wheat closed unchanged today in a nervous market. May and July were without change while cash wheat gained ½c, going on a parity with May for No. 1 northern. Durum gained ½c. Rye was unchanged and oats advanced ⅛c.

Barley went up 2c, being quoted at 90c@$1.00. These are the highest prices within the last two years. Maisters find it almost impossible to secure first class barley and higher prices are probable. First class Minnesota barley is selling at 15c over California barley.

Fear of dry weather in the Northwest and a lack of rain in the Southwest, unused traders to buy wheat today, although the sentiment was mixed and the trade appeared willing to sell on the slightest provocation. The unsettled weather brought cooler temperatures but not moisture. There was only mild interest in wheat, as traders are afraid to get short at this time of the year. On account of the fair prospects for a big winter crop they are loath to espouse the bull side except on the breaks.

The crop reports were mixed. It seems to be the consensus of opinion that wheat in the southwestern and western parts of Kansas is in need of rain and that it will not make much of a crop. In the big wheat growing counties, however, the crop promises a big yield.

Foreign markets were lower. Argentine and Indian offerings are liberal. Wheat is depressed and there seems to be no immediate chance of an improvement.

There was a flurry in the flaxseed market that was unexpected. A selling order of 1,000 bu carried May off 5c. The market rallied on a few buying orders and then sagged again. The offering of cash seed from Minneapolis was responsible for the break. The market had been tested for several days by occasional offers of cash seed and its technical weakness was exposed. After the break values climbed back quickly on a few buying orders that were chiefly unfilled.

The Indian crop has gone over 15,000,000 bu and will prove an important factor in the world's markets. Foreign markets were weaker today. Plata seed at Antwerp being quoted at $2.196 a bu.

Cash Sales Wednesday.

Weather forecasts: Illinois, Missouri and Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; colder tonight. Indiana—Fair tonight and Thursday; much colder tonight and in south Thursday. Wisconsin and Minnesota—Fair tonight and Thursday; colder tonight. North Dakota, South Dakota and Nebraska—Fair tonight and Thursday. Kansas—Generally fair tonight and Thursday, except cloudy in south; colder in southeast tonight.

John Inlls wired from Hayes, Kan.: "North and west from Great Bend the present outlook is unpromising, owing to smallness of growth and thinness of stand, but favorable weather is causing plant to show more vitality. Increased greening of fields that ten days ago showed no life is making farmers more hopeful. There will be considerably less acreage through this section. Farmers delivering freely; roads good; clear and warmer."

George M. Le Count wired from York, Neb.: "Took a long drive yesterday and found the wheat in perfect condition and the best I have ever seen it in this section of the country at this season. Stand is perfect, everything is growing and the soil is in good condition, with plenty of moisture. The spring wheat country will receive more attention this spring, as the wind has blown a gale for nearly a month and most of the high land is very dry; in fact so dry that much of the wheat will not germinate without rain. We are almost certain to get rain in April, and that is time enough, although the crop has a much smaller chance than it would have if the soil were soaking wet on April 1. The subsoil is as dry as a bone and there is no reserve moisture, and the crop depends entirely upon rain this season. For many years past the crop started with a very wet subsoil. However, if we get plenty of rain during April, we can raise a good crop in the Northwest; but if we do not, the crop is almost certain to be light."

St. Louis wired: Crop reports east and west of St. Louis could not be better. A large acreage and no winter killing; perfect color.

Somers, Jones & Co., in their market letter of yesterday says:

"It is a question of law and supply and demand in both barley and rye, and values in barley are booming, rye remaining firm at yesterday's prices, 93c for No. 2. At the close barley was fully 3c higher than yesterday, $1.05½, the highest on the crop so far, being paid for choice qualities, such as early in the day sold at $1.03½. The high prices here have been followed by corresponding strength on the coast, and the surplus offerings there seem well disposed of and out of the way by this time. Coast barley has recently been going at fully 15c per bu discount under the price paid for choice Minnesota, but, with continued scarcity in sight, we expect fully to see this discount narrow down considerably. Maltsters cannot afford to close their houses and consumers will undoubtedly have to remain in the market in order to keep their own plants a-going. We would not be in the market in order to see a further advance to $1.10 per bu or more.

Oats and corn are relatively stronger than wheat today. The movement from first hands is not heavy, and, with the drought in the best of the grain belt of the West and Northwest continuing, we can see no desire on the part of holders to sell freely for the present. We are firmly convinced that the entire list is a purchase on all soft spots like today's and that short sellers will be glad to come in at a loss before we get through with it.

Following the opening further pressure developed and prices lost an additional ⅛d with undertone weak. The weakness on Buenos Ayres and the pressure to sell both La Plata and Indian offers at a decline induced this selling. Cargoes in distant positions were weak with large Argentine offers and reports from Russia were bearish with favorable reports from India. Spot markets were generally ½d lower and expectations are for a continuance of liberal supplies here. At 1:30 p. m. the market was weak and ½@⅝d lower than yesterday. Corn—Market opened ¼d lower and further declined ⅛d in sympathy with wheat and increased American offers."

Wichita Kan., wired: "The south part of Kingman and all of Harper and Barber counties show considerable damage, the loss in acreage in the latter two being 75 per cent of acreage sown while the remaining 25 per cent is going to be very thin. This bad condition is due entirely to drouth, no rain having fallen from Aug. 9 until Feb. 15. These counties seem to mark the northern boundary of the drouth district which extends well into Oklahoma and west into Kansas."

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Rallies on Fair Buying After an Early Dip.

Chicago, March 22.—Commission house buying to a fair amount rallied wheat today after an opening dip. Selling was only scattered and the initial weakness resulted largely from lower prices at Liverpool, where the decline had been partly caused by rose-colored views of the outlook for crops in America. Cable dispatches also reported pressure to dispose of cargoes from India and the Argentine, notwithstanding a drop in values. Initial figures were the same as last night to ¼@⅜c down. May started at 89¾@89¾c to 89⅞c and recovered to 90c.

Improvement prospects in Western Kansas led to fresh declines, in the May, option in particular, but rallies promptly followed. The close was firm, with May at 90⅛@90¼c, a net gain of ⅛@¼c.

Corn sagged because, although the weather had become unsettled, not enough rain fell to make roads bad. The market rallied, however, with wheat. May opened unchanged to ⅛c off at 48⅛@48⅝c to 48⅝@48¾c, and reacted to 48¾c.

There was quite free local selling. Buying demand became limited. The close, however, was steady, with May at 48⅝@48¾c, exactly the same as last night.

Oats were easy but wholly swayed by other grains. May at the start was 30⅞c, no difference from last night, to 30¾c and then back to 30⅞c.

Steadiness characterized provisions. First sales were 5c higher to 7½c lower, with May options at $16.85 for pork, $8.90 for lard and $9.35 for ribs.

ADVANCES WIPED OUT

Stocks Open Slightly Higher and Rise on Steady Buying.

Prices Fall Away in Late Dealings and Close Is Easy.

New York, March 22.—Changes at the opening of the stock market today were slight but most of them were advanced over yesterday. Canadian Pacific was the strongest with a gain of 1¾. National Railways of Mexico second preferred and Wisconsin Central advanced ½ and Great Northern preferred lost as much.

Stocks of local public utilities were in favor with Brooklyn Transit rising 1 and Consolidated Gas 1⅝. The list otherwise also was better, but the inquiry abated after some of the leaders had got up ¼ point or so. Lackawanna sold at 535, 10 points above the last previous transaction.

Operations in the stocks of the local public service corporations gave tone to the morning's stock market, but otherwise trading lacked effective leadership. The local stocks were advanced on steady buying; other issues rose slowly in sympathy. There was no selling pressure and by noon substantial fractional improvements in prices were general.

Missouri Pacific, which broke nearly 2 points yesterday on announcement of the outcome of the annual meeting, was dull and moved up a trifle. Atchison and Norfolk & Western were bid up steadily and scored advances of nearly a point which represented the extreme fluctuation in the railroad section. Material gains were made in a number of less active issues, including Sears-Roebuck and American Express. Bonds were steady.

The market closed easy. Prices fell away slowly in the late dealings with the more important issues selling a trifle below yesterday's bonds, steady.

Cotton Market.

New York, March 22.—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 1 point on March, but generally 1 to 2 points lower under over-night selling orders, which had probably been attracted by the easier tone of the market late yesterday. Cables were about as due, however. The bull leaders seemed to be giving some support around the initial figures and after the early offerings had been absorbed there seemed to be comparatively little cotton for sale. At any rate the market steadied up to a net advance of about 3 or 4 points before the end of the first hour with trading quiet.

COPPERS ADVANCE BUT LOSE STRENGTH

The copper market opened strong today and advanced slightly but toward the close the market eased off in sympathy with the rails which were weak on account of heavy liquidation in Missouri Pacific.

The metal market is weak. Electrolytic is selling at 12⅜c. The lake grades are quiet. Business has been better than expected, however. It is expected that the next report of the Copper Producers' association will show an increase in stocks.

The Anaconda Copper company applied yesterday in Butte for a continuance of twenty days in which to file its reply to the answer of the Butte-Ballaklava company which was filed March 1. The application was granted.

Gust Carlson, president of the Interstate Silver Lead Mining company, and Dr. J. J. Eklund left last night for Wallace, Idaho, to inspect the property. It is expected that the big lead will be cut about June 1. The property is controlled by the same people who are interested in Butte-Ballaklava and Amazon-Montana.

A Boston wire to Paine, Webber & Co. said: "The trade between the Anaconda Copper Mining company and the North Butte Mining company, by which the Anaconda has acquired the North Butte's interests in the Emily and Millview lode claims is a transaction of great importance to the two companies. North Butte owned a three-fifths interest in the two claims and the Anaconda owned the remaining interests, having recently purchased them from the Largey heirs. The Emily and Millview adjoin the Berlin claim on the west but lie outside of the solid group of North Butte properties, while the Anaconda company owns the properties to the south and west of the Emily and Millview.

"Because of this situation it was desirable that the Anaconda should own them and it is understood that a good cash price was paid for North Butte's interest in the two claims, but the figure is not made public.

"In addition to the cash paid, the Anaconda company has also made a valuable concession to the North Butte in relation to the Edith May vein, which will prevent any possible future controversy over the western or northwestern extension of that vein.

"The Edith May, which is North Butte's biggest vein, has a northwest and southeast trend and northwestward it extends through the Miners Union claim, owned by the North Butte and probably goes through a portion of the Sliver, a triangular claim owned by the Anaconda and adjoining the Miners Union on the north. In anticipation of the extension of the Edith May vein will be found in the Sliver, the Anaconda company has relinquished and waived all its title to it in that ground up to the eastern line of the Joseph claim.

"For the purpose of 'squaring corners' and making more compact several other small claims owned by the two companies the Anaconda company has sold and will deed to the North Butte its five-sixth interest in the western end of the Sioux Chief lode claim, which now becomes a portion of the Edith May and the North Butte has deeded to the Anaconda company a small portion of the western end of the Gem and a part of the Adirondack lode claim, the latter property lying south of and adjoining the Edith May.

"These various transactions between the two companies indicate that there is no likelihood that an early attempt will be made to bring the North Butte into the Anaconda merger. The North Butte is incorporated under the laws of the state of Minnesota and it would be necessary to get the consent of every shareholder in order to merge the company with another."

Frink Still on the Stand.

H. C. Frink, the Duluth butcher, who is suing the local packing companies and the members of the Retail Butchers' association for $57,000 damages for engaging in a conspiracy which he claims forced him out of business some years ago, was still on the stand today. This is Mr. Frink's third day on the stand and he looks good for a good run yet.

MOST OF NEGROES ARE ALLOWED TO ENTER CANADA.

Winnipeg, Man., March 22.—A party of 170 negroes with seven carloads of goods from the Southern states arrived at Emerson, Man., today and passed an examination as to their fitness for becoming residents of Canada. The proceedings were closely watched by United States officials. Those in the party appeared to be in good physical condition, except the men in charge of the cars, and these were rejected.

SUPERIOR
FEAR RETURN OF THE "BOOM DAYS"
The early "boom" days of Superior were recalled at the council meeting at Superior last evening, when several of the aldermen took part in a discussion on what course, if any, should be pursued to prevent real estate men from misrepresenting land values in the "steel plant" district.
The councilmen fear that too much platting of land in the belt line district is detrimental to the best interests of Superior and argue that "booming" values are liable to be followed by a reaction similar to that of the early days.
The council has a short session last evening and transacted only routine business.

BUSY SEASON ON SHIPYARD DOCK

Six steamers now lying in the harbor will be repaired at the dry docks of the Superior Shipbuilding company this spring. A crew of 200 men will be put to work next week, when one of the boats will be taken on the dock.

The steamers are the Sierra and Sahara of the Tomlinson line, Laughlin of the Becker line, Corringran of the Tonawanda Iron & Steel company, Sherwin of the Gilchrist line and F. E. House, a Pittsburg Steamship company's steamer.

A new sand boat, 164 feet in length, 37 feet wide and 18 feet in depth, will be built at the docks this spring. The keel will be laid in about two weeks. The boat is being constructed for the Nicholson Bros. of Clow & Nicholson of Duluth. It will be completed by June.

House Puts Matter Over Until the Afternoon Session.

(By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the house at 12:30 took a recess until 3 o'clock a tense situation existed over the Klemer incident of yesterday morning. The committee appointed to investigate his case had reported, demanding an immediate and complete apology and retraction on penalty of censure by a vote of the house, and the report had been unanimously adopted.

Klemer had responded with a demand that his apology be deferred until a committee had investigated his charges and found them to be false. With this practical defiance before it, the house put the matter over until this afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon it was reported on Klemer's authority that he would apologize and state that it was in the heat of debate that he charged the speaker with having packed the committees.

He was not in his seat yesterday afternoon or evening or this morning until nearly noon, and in the meantime some of the radical members of the house had evidently braced him up.

ITALIANS FIGHT; TWO ARE WOUNDED

One Has Bullet Wound in Knee; Other Stabbed Through Thigh.

St. Paul, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of a fight in the Italian quarter of the upper levee, two Italians are in the city hospital, one with a bullet wound in his knee and the other stabbed through the thigh.

The police have five Italians under arrest. One of them, Nick Nitte, had a 38-caliber revolver on him when searched at headquarters. The trouble occurred at 197 Washington street when Mrs. Marie Giejrasto upbraided Mrs. Ligreze Nitte with having enticed a boarder away from her. The women and their children fought and Nick Nitte and Nick Giejrasto, both young men, became involved. Nitte pulled a gun and Giejrasto went after him with a knife. While they were fighting Vito Giejrasto, father of Nick Giejrasto, according to police information, stabbed Nitte through the thigh. Nitte then began to use his gun. He shot five times, according to the police. Only one bullet took effect. It struck Nick Giejrasto in the knee, shattering the knee cap. It is believed. The police were summoned by neighbors.

The wounded men were taken to the city hospital. Neither wound is fatal. Mr. and Mrs. Giejrasto, Mrs. Nitte, Nick Nitte and Nick Giejrasto were all placed under arrest. The first three are held at central station.

JUDGES SUMMONED TO CIRCUIT COURT

Common Pleas Court Justices Must Appear Before Higher Bench.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 23.—Two common pleas court judges were summoned to appear personally before the circuit court in the much involved George B. Cox case this morning. The summons came following closely the announcement by Judge Gorman that this afternoon he would rule on the motion to quash the indictment against Cox and on the presenting of a supplemental petition by Cox's attorneys to the circuit court.

The supplemental petition was filed by Lawrence Maxwell, former solicitor general of the United States. It asked that a mandatory order issue against Gorman to rescind his action in striking from his court records the "prejudice affidavit" filed against him by Cox, and also requested an injunction restraining him from proceeding with the hearing of arguments in the motion to quash the Cox indictment.

In addition, the petition reaffirms the charge of prejudice to Cox by Judge Gorman, and asks that if the circuit court sustains Judge Charles Hunt's ruling that he has no jurisdiction to hear the prejudice charge that the circuit court itself take up the matter.

Attorney Lawrence Maxwell began an argument on the petition before a full bench. Assistant Prosecutors Avery and Cash interrupted and told the court that neither their office nor Judges Hunt and Gorman had been notified of the filing of the petition. As a result, the circuit court summoned both judges to say whether they were willing to have the mandamus proceedings advanced from Saturday to today.

Judge Gorman told the upper court that the prosecutor's office would represent him. Judge Hunt gave the same notice, and added that the time of the hearing was immaterial.

The circuit judges thereupon allowed Attorney Maxwell to argue on the original mandamus filed against Judge Hunt.

PRACTICAL PLAN TO AID THE SETTLEMENT OF THE STATE LANDS

FOR SETTLEMENT OF THE STATE'S LANDS

GEORGE H. MATTSON,
Roseau County Representative, Who Has Introduced Bill to Encourage Settlers on State Lands.

Bill for Survey of Lands and to Facilitate Sale.

State-Wide Primary Measure Again Discussed By the Senate.

Ribenack's Naval Militia Bill Now Expected to Pass House.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the most practical and helpful bills introduced at this session came into the house yesterday afternoon, when Representative George H. Mattson of Roseau introduced a bill providing for the survey and classification of the state's lands and facilitating the sale of these lands to settlers, with reasonable provisions giving the settlers who buy them the right to buy and use the timber upon them.

The bill provides that the state auditor, acting through the college of agriculture of the University of Minnesota, shall make "an inspection and classification survey" of the state's lands located within three miles of any railroad or navigable stream, and make a report upon them. The report is to disclose the lay of the land, the character of the soil, the amount and character of the wood and timber thereon, and the proximity of each tract to markets or highways. Each forty-acre

DEMOCRATS TO CAUCUS

Attempt to Be Made to Secure Another Senatorial Candidate.

Sheehan Says He Will Not Withdraw From the Contest.

Albany, N. Y., March 23.—Without debate the Democratic members of the legislature at a conference yesterday afternoon voted to hold another caucus to select a candidate for United States senator. The insurgents joined the regulars in the conference, which lasted only a few minutes. This fact tended to strengthen the belief expressed by many that William F. Sheehan, the present caucus candidate, has been eliminated.

Sheehan Will Not Withdraw.

New York, March 23.—At the offices of William F. Sheehan it was reiterated this afternoon that Mr. Sheehan has nothing to say on the senatorial situation and that he will not withdraw. Mr. Sheehan did not come downtown today and his secretary, Ashley Cole, is at Albany looking after his interests there. In their absence there

CITIZENS FIGHT FIVE BURGLARS

Attempted Robbery of Gahanna, O., Postoffice Is Frustrated.

Columbus, Ohio, March 23.—The safe in the postoffice at Gahanna, ten miles northeast of Columbus was blown soon after midnight, and in the fight that followed between deputies and citizens, led by Mayor W. P. Dawson, and the five robbers, two of the latter were wounded. The raiders then took refuge in the barn of Daniel Ogden where they were surrounded and subjected to a steady fire which they returned.

The robbery was expected by Postmaster B. H. Starr, at whose request Mayor Dawson called on Sheriff Sartain and Chief of Police Carter for protection. The sheriff sent five deputies. The postmaster removed most of his stamps and valuables from the safe, so that there was little to be obtained when the raid was made. At 2 o'clock word was received that the robbers had escaped.

BUSINESS SUSPENDED.

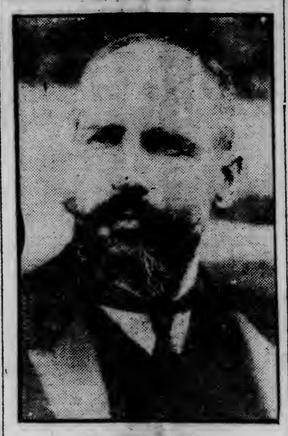
Denver, Colo., March 23.—There was an almost complete cessation of business in Denver for a time this afternoon out of respect to the memory of David H. Moffat, Colorado financier and railroad builder, who died in New York Saturday. At 2 o'clock, when the funeral services began, every street car in the city stopped for five minutes and every powerhouse in the city closed down. Every wheel on the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific (the Moffat road) ceased to turn, and work ceased, so far as possible, on the Denver & Rio Grande lines within the city.

All of the banks and practically all business houses and railroad offices closed for at least part of the afternoon.

RESIGNATION SAID TO HAVE BEEN WITHDRAWN



M. STOLYPIN.

St. Petersburg, March 23.—Emperor Nicholas gave an audience today at Tsarskoe-Selo to M. Stolypin, and this evenings' Bourse Gazette publishes a telephone message from Tsarskoe-Selo saying that it is learned from an undeniable source that the premier has withdrawn his resignation.

FIVE SENTENCED TO PENITENTIARY

Wichita, Kan., March 23.—All the five defendants in the stolen postage stamp cases tried in the federal court here last week were sentenced to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth. The sentences which were passed by Judge John C. Pollock follow:

L. S. Naftzger, former bank president, fifteen months in prison and a fine of $5,000.

Frank S. Burton, former chief of police, who turned government witness, fifteen months in prison and a fine of $1,000.

John Callahan, five years in prison and a fine of $1,000.

Edward Earl and Ray Templeton, the men who robbed the postoffice, five years each in the penitentiary and a fine of $100 each.

Naftzger and Callahan will appeal their cases.

EXPRESS STRIKE IS DECLARED OFF

New York, March 23.—The strike against the Adams Express company which directly affected the Wells-Fargo and United States Express companies, was declared off last night at a meeting of the strikers. Mayor Gaynor had previously notified the strikers that policemen would accompany all wagons.

Before declaring the strike off, a committee of the Adams Express company's men called on the general agent and asked what terms would be given the men if they returned to work. They were informed that the company would treat with the men as individuals only. After the committee had reported, the strike was called off.

AVIATOR LOUIS BREGUET FLIES FOR TWO MILES WITH ELEVEN PERSONS IN PLANE.

Douai, France, March 23.—Aviator Louis Breguet made a record performance today when he carried eleven passengers in his monoplane a distance of two miles.

The flight was made at a height varying from 50 to 75 feet. The total weight of the twelve persons was 1,315 pounds and the combined weight of the machine and its occupants was 2,002 pounds.

The best previous performance of the kind was made by M. Le Martin, who on Feb. 2 took up seven passengers upon a 5-minute trip.

MEXICAN TROOPS ARE MAKING BREASTWORKS ON ROOFS AT JUAREZ

Bands of Insurrectos Seen in Distance Cause Much Uneasiness.

Rifle-Proof Adobe Houses Will Furnish Protection for Many.

Become Useless, However, When Field Guns Are Trained Upon Them.

Juarez, Mex., March 23 (via El Paso).—The Mexican troops that garrisoned Juarez showed renewed activity today. More sand bags were piled along the edges of the flat roofs to be used as breastworks in case of attack, special attention being given the municipal buildings on the plaza, which now afford ample protection against anything except artillery fire.

Lookouts posted on the tower of the old mission constantly watch the mountains to the south and west for signs of the approach of the insurrectos.

It is reported that bands of insurrectos have been seen from the housetops and great uneasiness is felt in the town, which is defended by 350 artillerymen and a squadron of cavalry 150 strong. Noncombatants, however, will

SOCIALIST CALLED TO ROYAL PALACE

Rome, March 23.—King Victor Emmanuel received Deputy Bissolati, leader of the Socialist parliamentary group, at the Quirinal today and consulted him regarding the ministerial crisis with a view to the possible participation of the Socialists in the government to succeed that of Premier Luzzatti, resigned.

This move upon the part of his majesty is unprecedented, the present being the first occasion on which a Socialist deputy has entered the Italian royal palace to speak with the king.

But beyond this, the audience was notable for the reason that it was Bissolati who, during one of stormiest sittings of the chamber of deputies in 1900, when obstructionists were blocking the proceedings, shouted loudly three times "Death to the king." A few months later King Humbert was assassinated by the anarchist, Maetano Bresci, at Menza.

ATTITUDE OF INSURRECTOS

Will Not Lay Down Arms Until Peace Negotiations Are Started.

Promises of the Government or Limantour Will Not Go.

Washington, March 23.—Announcing that they will not lay down their arms until formal negotiations for peace are under way, the revolutionary party of Mexico, through Dr. Vasquez Gomez, their representative in Washington, issued a statement outlining the attitude of the revolutionists toward peace overtures and reforms in the Republic. The satement says:

"The revolutionary party, which is constituted of the best men of the country, doctors, lawyers, artisans, workingmen and the like, are firm in declaring that they will not enter into anything but formal negotiations for peace. It cannot accept as a guarantee only the promise of the government that has for more than thirty years been promising and has never fulfilled a single one of its promises. It cannot believe that the government will change its methods of so many years, methods imposed upon the people by force, despite the possibility of such assurances in a guarantee.

Many Would Die Mysteriously.

"The revolutionists think, and with reason, that immediately following the laying down of their arms, many of the leaders would die mysteriously, no reforms ever would be granted and the oppression would be greater than ever. For this reason they will not accept as a guarantee the promises of

RELIEF EXPEDITION COMES TO GRIEF

Chicago, March 23.—A relief expedition to aid the Mexican insurgent cause left Chicago late last night, accoutred and munitioned for dark, bloody conflict, but it came to grief when the outgoing train stopped at the first flag station out of Chicago. The Lafayettes or Kosciuskos—whichever one will—were taken from the train by their parents and the insurgents will have to get along the best they can, alone.

The patriots who sought to cleave their way with gory steel through tyrant armies to the sunlit heights of liberty, as fully explained and laid down in the yellow-backed literature, were Clark Hutchins, 13 years old, and Frank Peters and Elmer Hayes, each 14 years old.

Each had his father's revolver and forty rounds of ball cartridges, campaign clothing, toilet articles, other "field equipment," a determination to do or die (that is, when they started) and a war fund. This last named consisted of 94 cents, all in the smallest coin so as to make the biggest showing.

But "stand pat" parents, not alive to the high sentiments that make men martyrs for liberty, invoked the aid of the police and at Riverdale, a mere few miles from their point of embarkation, the rescuing army was taken from the train and sent back home.

ONLY WOMAN PRISONER IS QUESTIONED

Assassins Are Said to Have Washed Their Hands at Her Home.

Maria Stendardo, Former Beauty, Denies All Charges Made Against Her.

Viterbo, Italy, March 23.—Maria Stendardo, at whose home, the state alleges, the assassins washed their hands of the blood of the Cuoccolos, was examined by President Bianchi at the trial of the thirty-six Camorrists today. She is one of the most interesting characters in the case and the only woman among the prisoners. The charge against her is complicity in the murders and the receiving of stolen goods.

In the course of the interrogation the accusation was made that she had bribed witnesses to testify falsely in aid of the defendants. This she denied, asserting that, on the contrary, the Carabineers had offered to pay her $12 for each witness whom she secured to sign a statement prepared by them.

Maria Stendardo, whose defense was a general denial of the charges, is under middle age and retains much of the beauty that in youth resulted in

CAREER OF TEXAS ENDED AT LAST

Second Day's Firing on Old Battleship Causes a Total Loss.

Fort Monroe, Va., March 23.—Again yesterday the battleship New Hampshire rained shells on the old battleship San Marcos, once the Texas. There was the same precision that marked the shooting Tuesday by the New Hampshire's gunners, resulting in the sinking of the ship, all that was left of her being a mass of twisted metal and jagged armor. During the night tugs worked on the vessel. Collision mats covered many of her holes and after much hauling the tugs succeeded in sending her around into the mud onto which the keel rested, so as to present a broadside target. The range yesterday, averaged about six miles. These further experiments were designed to determine the explosive power of the new dynamite.

Ordnance officers avoided advancing any opinions, but there was apparently general surprise at both the remarkable gunnery of the New Hampshire's men and the frightful havoc wrought by the new shells. The New Hampshire had been selected for the test because her guns which were not considered up to the standard, were to be replaced, which makes the record scored by the gunners aboard that vessel all the more noteworthy.

After firing was concluded, the officers of the fleet went aboard the San Marcos to inspect the damage. She was deep in the mud and the water rose to a point midway between the gun deck and the berth deck. One shell went clear through the old battleship, tearing an open path about two feet wide. One of the masts was cut away and the other was riddled. The San Marcos is a total loss and her naval career is ended. Officers of the department who witnessed the test are enthusiastic over the destructive results obtained from the armor-piercing projectiles.

NEW RULING TO HELP TOURISTS

Washington, March 23.—Secretary MacVeagh has approved a new customs ruling which the treasury department expects will do much to reduce the troubles of returning tourists from Europe and minimize attempts to smuggle personal belongings into the port of New York.

Under the law, each American returning from abroad is entitled to bring in free $100 worth of personal belongings. The customs rulings hitherto have been susceptible to elastic interpretation and many troublesome incidents have arisen. The new ruling makes specific announcement of what articles a returning American may bring in free to the value of $100 as follows:

Clothing, toilet articles, jewelry, personal ornaments, cameras, fishing tackle, golf sticks, guns, musical instruments, steamer rugs, toys, shawls, valises and trunks.

These things will be considered dutiable: Household goods, books, pictures, tableware, table and bed linen and similar articles unless used by the owner a year abroad. Goods in the piece will have to pay duty, as will presents for other persons or articles of any nature for sale.

Of so-called expatriated Americans, proof will be required that they have abandoned their homes in the United States and taken bona fide residences abroad. Non-residents of the United States, however, may bring in personal effects for their own use, comfort or convenience or articles of adornment without limit of value, under the usual regulations.

UNREST IS WIDESPREAD

95 Per Cent of Mexicans Favor Revolutionists, Says John R. Wood.

Appleton Man Returns From Sonora After Seeing Fighting There.

John R. Wood, a resident of Appleton, Wis., and a guest of the St. Louis, has returned from the state of Sonora, Mex., where they were doing some fighting before Mr. Wood left for the American side of the border line. The fighting was perfectly harmless and the worst thing the insurrectos did was to waste bullets and some good gun powder, according to the version of Mr. Wood.

Speaking generally on the conditions underlying and leading to the revolution, Mr. Wood stated that the truth is that 95 per cent of the people are in favor of the war and are secretly hoping that the government will be overthrown.

"The trouble is," he stated, "with the government. The people want a liberal ballot, free schools and a more equal division of the land. To appreciate their intense dissatisfaction with present conditions, it is only necessary to state that one fabulously rich man owns more than half of one of the Mexican states, and it is not an uncommon condition for some men to own from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 acres of land.

"Under this system of land tenure it is natural that the poor classes of Mexico are about the most poverty stricken people in the world. With the land of the country in the hands of a few men, comparatively speaking, it is very hard for the average man to accumulate any money."

Mr. Wood stated that if the government would take some drastic action in regard to the large land holders, much of the general dissatisfaction would be terminated. Until that time he is of the opinion that there will be general dissatisfaction with conditions as they exist at the present time and have continued to exist under the Diaz administration.

"The newspapers have had the situation about right," continued Mr. Wood. "The people down in Sonora would not talk very much. You can't get very much out of them. A person doesn't want to talk too openly against the government. The fighting was straggling and without serious intent, down where we were.

"Whether the revolution is ever successful or not, it will result in spreading knowledge of the conditions in Mexico, and may also result in gaining some of the concessions asked for by the people of Mexico."

GETS TITLE TO HER LAND

Mrs. William Schreiber Receives Patent From Land Office at Washington.

Property May Prove Valuable; "Bill" Making Good Record at Stillwater.

Mrs. Hannah Schreiber, wife of William Schreiber, under life sentence at Stillwater for the murder of Frank Massapust, has secured the patent to the homestead which her husband settled on some years ago in section 7, 62-20.

The patent was received at the local land office this morning and was turned over to Ross & McKnight, the local law firm that has handled all of Mrs. Schreiber's business for her.

There are 142 acres of land in the homestead and it may prove valuable as drilling is going on but a short distance from it.

The authorities decided that Mrs. Schreiber was entitled to the land as it had been settled on by the husband and he is dead in the eyes of the law.

Some months ago Mrs. Schreiber offered final proof on the land. She is now at a small town in Wisconsin where she is working. Her child, 5 years old, is with her.

Schreiber is said to be making an excellent record at Stillwater. He is engaged in the shoe factory and is greatly interested in his work. He receives a small amount of pay and this he sends to his wife to help care for her and the child.

SOME HINTS ON CARE OF LAWNS

"To have an attractive lawn, grass should be cut regularly," says a Duluthian who knowns, judging from his own lawn. "Once a week is not too often in the summer. If this is done, you won't have to use the rake, the dead grass will not be noticeable. However, a four weeks' growth must be raked off.

"One of the most important things in caring for a lawn is the watering. The best results are obtained by watering just after sundown if possible. It is better to use a sprinkler. It washes the dust from the grass as well as watering it. The sprinkler is recommended especially where lawns are close to dusty roads.

"Those who planted grass last fall may be puzzled what to do with small patches of ground where no grass at all has appeared. The patches should be dug up as soon as possible, some good fertilizer added, more seed planted immediately, and the soil well firmed with a heavy roller. It is also a good idea to plant some white clover seed with this late planting of grass as the clover will grow faster than the grass and protect it."

TO DEAL IN AFFINITIES.

Bill Provides Matrimonial Commission for Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., March 23.—A bill to tax $5 annually unmarried women over 25 years of age and to create a "matrimonial commission," consisting of the governor, superintendent of public property and chief clerk of the assembly, was introduced in the assembly today by Assemblyman Hansen of Manitowoc, of "trouserette" fame.

The matrimonial commission is charged with the duty of bringing together kindred souls when application is made for an affinity by any lovelorn maiden.

FIND BRIDGE IN GOOD CONDITION.

City Engineer Thomas F. McGilvray and his assistant, W. E. Hawley, found the concrete bridge over Tisher's creek between Thirty-second and Thirty-third avenues east on Superior street, in excellent condition when they inspected it yesterday afternoon. It had not been affected in the slightest by the frost.

The engineering department is preparing plans for the concrete culvert and fill, which will be put in over the creek which runs past Howard's mill on the East Duluth and Lester river road near the city limits. The city will stand the cost of the culvert and the county will pay for the filling and grading.

HARRISON FOUND GUILTY OF USING MAILS FOR FRAUD.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 23.—After a trial of more than four weeks a jury in the United States district court here today returned a verdict of guilty against William P. Harrison, proprietor of the World Manufacturing company, who was charged with using the mails in a scheme to defraud. Harris was found guilty on two indictments, which included seven counts.

Sentence will be announced tomorrow. It is within the power of the court to give a sentence of five years in prison and impose a fine of $1,000 on each count, making a maximum sentence of thirty-five years in prison and $7,000 fine.

TEN COMPANIES OF MILITIA SENT HOME.

Gillespie, Ill., March 23.—The detachment of ten companies of the Illinois National guard, which were sent to Benld Tuesday after the miners had paraded through here, broke camp today and returned to their homes. The miners have not reached any decision as to returning to work in the three mines of the Superior Coal company. They object to the working conditions.

COMPLETED HOUSE IS HAULED MANY MILES.

Calumet, Mich., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—John A. Danielson, who is 74 years of age, has completed and taken to Copper Harbor, a small summer cottage, 17 by 18 feet, which will be used by Mr. Danielson's son, Wallace, the coming summer. The structure is built of redwood, painted steel gray on the inside and red on the outside. It was taken to Copper Harbor by a team of horses, accompanied by Mr. Danielson and two others. The building was the subject of much comment.

During the year 1910 the United States Steel corporation, represented locally by the Minnesota Steel company, spent $1,715,517.70 on the Duluth steel plant properties, according to the ninth annual report for the year ending Dec. 31, 1910.

The expenditures represent new construction work on the buildings and the railroad, which connects with all the trunk lines running out of the city. In the same connection the report states that it is expected that further construction work will be prosecuted in 1911, and there is but little doubt that larger sums will be expended the present year than last year.

Work at the new steel plant near New Duluth has been pushed at a rapid rate, the railroad having received considerable attention and the foundations for many of the immense structures having been put in. The amount of space devoted to the details of the work at Duluth, in the annual report of the Steel corporation, is most encouraging. It shows that the plant at Duluth is receiving considerable attention from the Eastern officials of the company and that progress here is being closely followed.

Speaking of the Duluth properties, the report states that in the 1907 report reference was made to the acquisition of a site and the construction of a steel plant in this city. Continuing, the report says that during 1908 and 1909 the work done consisted only of preparing the site for the steel plant, the acquirement of right-of-way, and some construction work on the terminal railroad connecting the steel plant with the trunk lines running into Duluth. But in the succeeding year the report says that active construction work was gotten under way and that it will continue.

The report states that as proposed the plant will include two blast furnaces, one blooming mill, rail and bar and merchant mills, a by-product coke plant with ninety ovens, together with the necessary complement of auxiliary departments, such as power plants, pumping stations, machine and other shops.

STRONG WIND INTERFERES WITH TRAP SHOOTING.

New York, March 23.—A strong wind from the west drove directly across the traps on Travers island today, making conditions far from favorable for the ninth annual amateur trap shooting championship, under the auspices of the New York A. C. Shooting began shortly after 10 o'clock and about 125 gunners entered for the event, the main feature of the tournament which started yesterday.

The championship shoot is at 200 targets with sixteen yards rise. Owing to the wind, it was hardly expected that the scores would be notably high, notwithstanding the general class of the competing gunners.

DUBUQUE PLAYERS ORDERED TO REPORT.

Dubuque, Iowa, March 23.—The Dubuque Three I league baseball club today ordered eighteen of thirty-five players signed for the 1911 season to report here March 31. The club is making all arrangements for playing with the same circuit as last year. The local directors feel confident the decision of the national association will end the conflict and that the league will remain intact.

ANNUAL TROUT PLANTING SEASON ABOUT AT HAND.

Seney, Mich., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual planting of brook trout fry in the streams of the upper peninsula will be started the latter part of this month. The work will continue until the first of May. The bulk of the supply will come from the state hatchery at the Soo, where almost 2,000,000 of the little fish are ready for distribution. Considerable as this supply is, it will fall far short of the demand. Approximately 800 applications are on file. The Cleveland Cliffs Iron company, which maintains a private hatchery at Munising, will restock most of the Alger county streams, as well as some in Marquette and other counties.

DR. VINCENT TO SPEAK.

Head of State University to Address Educators' Meeting.

St. Cloud, Minn., March 23.—The program of the Northern Minnesota Educational association, which will hold its fifteenth annual meeting in this city April 6, 7 and 8, is announced. Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, who had been secured as the principal speaker, found it necessary to cancel his engagement owing to the special session of congress which was called for April 4. Though his inability to be here is regretted, the committee in charge have secured Dr. George E. Vincent, the newly elected president of the state university, as the principal speaker. He will speak Friday evening, April 7, at the Davidson theater on "The Duty of the School."

QUICKLY CLEARS THE COMPLEXION

Mrs. Mae Martyn has been addressing large audiences everywhere with her lecture on "Beauty and How to Acquire It," says the Philadelphia Call. She said today: "With complexions as in dress, simplicity accomplishes most. So many women mistake in thinking high-priced powders and cosmetics best because of their cost.

"Of all skin beautifiers none compares with common spurmax. It makes an ideal, inexpensive face lotion and used daily for a time makes a rough, sallow, lifeless or pimply complexion clear and smooth.

"To make the lotion, get at any drug store four ounces of spurmax and dissolve it in a half-pint hot water, adding two teaspoonfuls glycerine. When applied it does not rub off or show like powder and is wonderful for oily, shiny, rough skins. It leaves the complexion clear, smooth and velvety."

The supremacy of the Steinway Piano is unquestioned.

The genius of its builders has compelled a world-wide recognition of its superiority.

Artistically and intrinsically no piano is the equal of the Steinway.

We will offer this week a $675.00 used Steinway Piano for $350.00.

MEN'S MISTAKES!

The Northwest's Most Reliable Specialist in Diseases of Men. In Duluth for 20 Years.

Many a bright and promising career has been blighted by injurious habits of folly before the age of knowledge and understanding, and many have been cut shorr by the unfortunate contracting of some poisonous special disease, which through neglect or improper treatment has completely undermined and shattered the physical strength and mental faculties. No greater mistake can be made than to consider lightly the first evidence of the introduction of any disease into your system or to neglect the first symptoms of weakened mind and approach of nervous debility, caused by habits, dissapation, etc.

Such indifference and neglect of the first symptoms are responsible for thousands of human wrecks, failures in life and business, insanity, suicide, etc. Why take such desperate chances? The manifestations of the first symptoms of any disease or weakness should be a warning for you to take prompt steps to safeguard your future life and happiness. You should carefully avoid all experimental, dangerous or half way treatment, for upon the success of the first treatment depends whether you will be promptly restored to health again, with all the taint of the poisonous disease removed from your system, or whether it be allowed to become chronic and subject you to future recurrences of the disease, with the various resulting complications, etc. We cure KIDNEY AND URINARY DISEASES, STRICTURE, DISCHARGES, VARICOCELE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON, STOMACH DISEASES, RHEUMATISM, NERVOUSNESS, SKIN DISEASES, RUPTURE, PILES and all diseases and weakness due to habits, dissipation, or to the result of special diseases. Write for symptom blank if you cannot call. CONSULTATION FREE AND CONFIDENTIAL.

PATENT FOR DULUTH MAN

Jonas Brolin Has Machine Which Will Cheapen Linen Making.

Used in the Manufacture of Linen From Flax Stalks.

Jonas Brolin, chemist for the Western Linen company, living at 121 South Sixty-second avenue west, was granted a patent at Washington today for a new decorticating machine, claimed to be an innovation in the manufacture of linen yarn from flax straw and which may be tried out at the plant of the Western Linen company, Fiftieth avenue west and Ramsey street.

Mr. Brolin is considered an expert chemist in the linen industry and for many years has treated flax by every process known, both in the old country and here. Not long ago he discovered a cheap and quick method of retting the flax straw, in its preparation for linen tow.

A decorticating machine is operated on the same principle as a thrashing machine, that is to separate the linen fibre from the flax straw. The straw is fed by carrier and the machine discharges the fibre, free from dust, dirt, hard or woody material. The soft, silken stringy mass that is saved is known as the linen tow.

The machine, Mr. Brolin claims, is an improvement over the older types and will have a large capacity if needed. Mr. Brolin also secured patents on his machine in Argentina and Canada.

THOUGHT HE HAD A BURGLAR

But the Midnight Intruder Was Merely Intoxicated Man.

Charles Bartz of 431 South Seventieth avenue west experienced all the sensations of catching a burglar when he was awakened by a noise at his home at an early hour this morning.

He discovered a stranger upstairs in the house, but the intruder was unarmed and acted strangely. Bartz lost no time in calling for the police and then, with the help of Herbert McCabe, who was staying with Bartz, they took the supposed burglar into custody.

When the police arrived he was taken to the police station where he gave his name as Erick Brolin. He is a middle aged man and showed signs of suffering from over-intoxication. He could give no explanation of his actions and after an investigation the police and Bartz decided that the man had no intentions of stealing when he entered the place.

Brolin appeared to be on the verge of delirium and when closely examined it was found that his clothes and the lower extremities were wet. The police think that he might have waded through some water before he came into the house.

The kitchen door of the Bartz place was not locked and it was through this that Bolin gained entrance. He went from the kitchen to the dining room and from there upstairs. In ascending the stairs he woke up Bartz.

Bolin, after his examination, was held by the police on a charge of drunkenness. He was up in police court this morning, but the case was held over until the afternoon session, when he will have his trial. It is not probable that the burglary charge will be pushed against the man, as it is believed that he was mentally deranged when he entered the house.

Noonday Talk!

INSPECT THE NEW GETCHELL ROAD.

A delegation of city officials and others made a trip of inspection over the proposed Getchell road survey, as being laid out by the city engineers. The new road is to be built between West Duluth and Proctor.

Bert Farrell, assistant city engineer, is in charge of the survey and will report to the city engineer this week. He will in turn report to the council. Mr. Farrell has promised the committee of the West Duluth Commercial club that he will give them a report so that it can be discussed at the Commercial club meeting tomorrow evening.

Those who made the inspection trip this morning were: Bert Farrell, A. J. Meldahl of the board of public works, ex-Alderman Getchell, Alderman Harnes and P. H. Martin of the Commercial club.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF SCHVENSIL CLUB.

April 19 is the date set for the annual banquet of the Schvensil club of West Duluth. The yearly dinner will be held at Great Eastern hall this year and covers will be laid for 100.

A committee is arranging the details of the affair and promises a program of music and speeches. The program will probably be carried out in the Danish language, as the club includes in its membership several of the most prominent Danes in the western end of the city.

Recently the organization finished its winter activities. Twenty-seven card parties were held during the season.

MIDWAY SOCIETY WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual banquet of the Midway Literary society will be held this evening at the Woodman hall, Midway. A good program of music and speeches has been arranged for the occasion and a committee, consisting of Paul Derby, Henry Norman, Albert Ekeroth, Adolph Johnson and Miss Frances Anderson, is in charge. The dinner will wind up the winter activities of the society.

Chased Two Blocks.

Joseph Adams was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Hunter after a chase of two blocks, from Second avenue west and First street, to First avenue west and Superior street. Adams was charged with disorderly conduct. A small girl complained to the policeman that Adams had annoyed her, and when she pointed him out he started to run. He pleaded guilty in police court this morning and got off with $10 and costs, the court stating that he would have received a much heavier sentence had it not been for the fact that he has a family.

Didn't Ask for Bed.

Mike Nord was arrested for trespass last night when he walked into a hotel on Lake avenue and went to bed without handing any cash over to the clerk. He pleaded guilty in police court this morning and got $10 and costs or ten days. He went over the hill.

Art Association Meeting.

A meeting of the Duluth Art association will be held this evening at the Commercial club. Bishop McGolrick will preside.

Engineer Darling Returns.

Engineer John H. Darling has returned from Panama. He has been gone for about six weeks. He was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Darling. They stopped at several cities of the South on their way back to Duluth. Mr. Darling was much impressed with the greatness of the work going on in the Southern zone.

Report on Sewer.

Woodland property owners will meet Friday evening at the residence of A. L. Warner, 2391 Woodland avenue, to hear the report of their committee relative to the report of City Engineer Thomas F. McGilvray on the proposed Woodland sanitary trunk sewer. The findings of the city engineer were submitted to the city council last Monday evening. He recommends that a larger sewer be installed than that planned by Prof. Frederick Bass.

Held to Grand Jury.

Andrew Soderman was bound over to the grand jury after an examination in police court yesterday afternoon on the charge of having robbed Ole Bohlin of $83 in the Belmont hotel. Something over that sum was found on him, but he claimed that it belonged to him, having taken it with him when he left his home on a nearby farm.

Must Stand Trial.

James Silles, arrested on a statutory charge, was held to the next grand jury after an examination in police court this morning. It is claimed that he took liberties with a 15-year-old girl.

BORCHARD HAS SEEN DULUTH

French Pianist Sees the Sights in Every City He Visits.

Adolphe Borchard, the French pianist, is having the time of his life in this city. This is his first trip to the United States and knowledge is one of the delights of his volatile nature. He has been in Duluth since Monday evening and if there is a sight of the city that he has not seen the young Frenchman would be very much disappointed in knowing of his failure to observe it.

Since his recital here he has been the guest at several dinners, has been taken around the boulevard on several automobile rides, has been up on the heights, where he used up a box of matches in attempting to light one of those fancy French cigarettes; has been over the aerial bridge, down to the lake front and over the bay in one of the boats, and has thoroughly enjoyed himself.

His manager, F. W. Grosche, has been with Borchard since the pair left New York early in October. The manager is almost played out. In every city where the young pianist has played he has asked his manager to show him the sights. In the oil district of Pennsylvania he went through several of the mines, and while in New York city and Washington, D. C., he kept poor Grosche on the jump, showing him every one of the thousand points of interest.

The young Frenchman will return to his native country in May. So far he has not displayed the least signs of being homesick. He is like a boy on a vacation, and the time he has here the present week has been repeated in every city he has visited, and he has been on the jump for over five months.

DIAMOND DRILL COMPANY IS GIVEN A VERDICT.

After being out but a short time, the jury in the case of the Diamond Drill Carbon company of New York against the Armstrong Lake Iron & Improvement company returned a verdict of $1,404 in favor of the plaintiff.

The amount asked was the difference between the original cost of the equipment and the amount paid. The New York concern asked $1,500.

The defendant claimed that it had tried to return a part of the equipment, claiming that they had no use for it.

CONSUL'S MOTION IS OVERRULED

Cousin of Dead Man Will Be Administrator of Estate.

Judge Gilpin today denied the petition of Moritz Heim, the representative of the Austrian consul at Chicago, who asked that he be appointed administrator of the estate of Matt Frankovich, who recently lost his life in an accident at the Hull-Rust mine, near Hibbing.

Mr. Heim made his argument Saturday. He stated that in a great number of cases the money left by foreigners gets into the hands of those who have no right to it. He thought this case one in which the Austrian government should take a hand.

Judge Gilpin decided that as the dead man's son is in this country and in view of the fact that he recommended Nick Frankovich, a cousin, to be appointed administrator, there is no occasion for interference on the part of the Austrian consul.

The motion made by Mr. Heim was overruled and Nick Frankovich, the man recommended for the place by the son will be appointed.

PARIS AND AMERICAN EASTER FASHION SUPPLEMENT

WILL BE ISSUED BY

THE HERALD MONDAY, APRIL 3

Those who set the fashions for clothes and those merchants who supply the demands are busy with spring apparel and the change in costumes which is one of the most attractive parts of the Easter season.

In no city in the country are buyers of the stores more alert than in Duluth. Duluth has the new styles as quickly as Chicago and San Francisco.

The Herald has made arrangements with the world famous illustrators, Meyer-Both Co., for an authoritative expression, both in pictorial design and authentic statement of what will be worn this spring. A special Fashion Number will be issued by The Herald on Monday, April 3.

This number will contain a full exploitation of Paris and American fashions and will be a welcome visitor in every home in Duluth and nearby towns.

Locomotive Engineer Has Remarkable Experience

I have been thinking that word from me would benefit those who may be suffering as I was before I began taking your Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. I am a locomotive engineer, employed on the Tyrone & Clearfield Branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Three years ago I was afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble so bad that I was compelled to lay off duty from my engine and was in the care of two doctors. However their medicine did not benefit me. One day, I noticed your advertisement, to send name and address for a sample bottle of Swamp-Root. At this time my trouble had reached such a serious stage that it was with great difficulty that I could urinate. I sent for the sample bottle and in three days received a small bottle of Swamp-Root, which I took according to directions, and by the time I had taken the contents, I could pass water more freely. I was so pleased with my experiment that I sent my wife to the drug store of W. H. Milick, Phillipsburg, Pa., and secured a one-dollar bottle. I continued taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root until I was entirely cured. Now whenever I feel any pain or soreness after being exposed to bad weather or hard work, I take a dose or two of Swamp-Root. I cannot recommend this remedy too highly, especially to brother engineers who are more or less troubled with their kidneys (more than any other class of men.)

Yours truly,

Beware of Tight Cough, Precedes Pneumonia.

Home-Made Syrup Loosens.

You can make a simple laxative cough syrup which will loosen the tightest cough in one hour and cure any cough or cold in a very short time. Here is the formula:

Essence mentho-laxene..... 2½ Ozs.
Granulated sugar syrup.....13½ Ozs.

Make the syrup by using a pint of granulated sugar and a half pint of boiling water. Mix, stir and let cool. Then go to the drug store and buy a 2½ oz. package of Essence Mentho-Laxene (concentrated), empty it into a pint bottle and fill up with the syrup. Take a teaspoonful every hour or two as needed and you will soon be entirely rid of your cough and cold. This relieves and cures old people quicker and surer than anything ever heard of, and it is just fine for children, they like the taste so well.

Most Effective Home Treatment of Rheumatism

If you are suffering from chronic rheumatism, or if you are just beginning to feel its dreadful twinges and pains you would do well to stop its ravages at once by having your druggist mix the following prescription, and persistently use it to rid the body of the poisons and morbid states which excite the dreadful disease. When the true and pure ingredients are properly mixed, the results are little short of marvelous.

Iodide of Potassium	2 drams
Sodium Salicylate	4 drams
Wine of Colchicum	½ oz
Comp. Ess. Cardiol	1 oz
Comp. Fld. Balmwort	1 oz
Comp. Syrup Sarsaparilla	5 ozs

Mix and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at bedtime. After the first week gradually increase the dose to two teaspoonfuls. If not in stock, the druggist can readily obtain the ingredients from his wholesaler.

MAXWELL SPREADING THE HOMECROFT GOSPEL

SAYINGS OF MAXWELL.

"The first ambition of every man should be to have a home of his own—with God's sunshine and fresh air touching it on all four sides.

"Education is the development of character.

"I regard working for wages as social service.

"We are now training boys and girls to stay at home and develop their home industries.

"They have not yet put electricity in place of woman power.

"Education and science are working to teach people how to live rather than how to produce dividends.

"We are working to make human life better, but not by making it easier.

We do not want so much to get people out of the cities but to teach the people in the cities how to live properly and to make them more resolute of character.

"Education is the development of the power to think.

"This is not an age of independence, but of inter-dependence.

"Schools should not only be educational centers, but should be industrial and social centers as well.

"By co-operation we can often get what we cannot get by independent effort.

"The man who saves a dollar a week from the time he is 20 years of age can have a home of his own and a garden when he is 40.

"If a boy is put to work in the garden early enough, by the time he is 15 he will enjoy the work more than he would sitting around in an alley shooting craps.

"The workings of a hen's anatomy to produce an egg are not more complicated now than they were when eggs were not half as high in money. It all depends on who owns the hen."

George H. Mawwell, the apostle of the homecroft movement, this morning plunged into the work of spreading the gospel of the homecroft in Duluth. To the students at the Central high school, to the teachers-to-be at the state normal school and to the workmen at the Marshall-Wells Hardware company he unfolded the beauties of the home, the garden, the poultry yard and the contentment that they bring. At the high school he impressed upon the young people the need for a start in life with the right ideals. At the normal school he impressed upon the students the fact that education means more than mere memorizing from text books. At the Marshall - Wells Hardware company's plant he urged the men to co-operate to the end that each man might have a home of his own—a homecroft.

Mr. Maxwell is not a mild-mannered theorist. He is an earnest worker who impresses his hearers with his earnestness of purpose and his power for action. He drives his points into the minds of his audience. He attempts no flights of oratory, but in simple, impressive language places before the people facts that cannot be controverted and tries to inspire them with the desire to apply those facts to themselves.

At the Marshall - Wells Hardware company he spoke on co-operation and urged the men to apply the principle of co-operation to themselves. He urged them to form a building and loan association of their own, to acquire suburban property at acre prices, the property to be distributed among them in tracts of a half-acres or so that each man might have a home of his own, with a garden and with the house exposed to the sunshine and fresh air.

The Meaning of Homecroft.

He explained the meaning of a homecroft as a tract of land, owned and cultivated by the occupant, but not large enough to produce all of the things he needs. That is the workingman's homecroft, he said, and when every workman is placed upon a homecroft, the cost of living will come down and the solution of many social problems will be accomplished.

The audience of men was a large one and gave Mr. Maxwell close attention. For a half hour he spoke earnestly and his talk was frequently interrupted by applause.

At the state normal school Mr. Maxwell dealt mostly with education in its broader sense. He pointed out that the evolution of human thought is slow and that it has taken America a long time to get away from the ideas of education inherited from England and designed to teach culture to those whose occupation in life was to consist largely in drawing the income from rents.

The present day idea of education is to teach people how to live their every day lives, he said. He pointed out that the idea that education should fit one to go a long ways from home to accomplish great things is passing, and in its stead is coming the understanding that education is to teach people to remain at home and do the things that are needed there.

He said the school should be the social center and the industrial center, from which the ideals of life held by the community should radiate. He said teachers have the shaping of the destinies of many lives and they should have a broad outlook on life, an outlook on the greater things that can be accomplished by education.

Mr. Maxwell's talk at the Central high school was an appeal to the boys and girls to start out with the ambition to have a home of their own as soon as possible—not a home in a flat or an apartment house, but a home in the suburbs where they could have plenty of fresh air and sunshine, a garden and a poultry yard.

He quoted Victor Hugo's "For the world lets everything perish which is nothing but selfishness—everything that does not represent an idea or a benefit for the human race."

Speaks to Women.

This afternoon, Mr. Maxwell spoke to the women of the city at the Endion M. E. church. This evening, he will deliver an address at the Monroe school at Twenty-sixth avenue west and Fourth street. Tomorrow evening he will lecture at the Y. M. C. A. on "Acre-culture Rather Than Agriculture." Saturday evening, he will talk at the Central high school on "Opportunity," and he will give an address at the Armory Sunday afternoon for working people. He will illustrate his talks at the Y. M. C. A. and the Central high school and the Armory with stereopticon views.

WE DESIRE TO THANK THE PUBLIC

TROUT FRY FOR DULUTH

Nearly All the Streams in This Vicinity Will Be Stocked.

A carload of trout fry for distribution in streams in the vicinity of Duluth will be received here within the next month, according to word which Deputy Game Warden John A. Mattson received this morning from the state fish and game commission.

Persons who want to assume the responsibility of stocking the streams with the speckled beauties must send in their applications for the fry within the next week or ten days, or it will be of no effect. Applications should be made to Eben W. Cobb, superintendent of fisheries, care state fish and game commission, St. Paul, Minn.

Nearly all of the streams around Duluth will be stocked, Mr. Mattson says.

ELEVATOR BURNS; MUCH GRAIN LOST

Storage House at Stanley, N. D., Destroyed, Building Complete Loss.

Stanley, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—About 6,000 bushels of wheat were destroyed when the St. Anthony & Dakota elevator in this city was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The building, having a capacity of 50,000 bushels, is a complete loss. In addition to the wheat destroyed, there was also a large amount of other grain that was to have been sold for seed.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL.

Young Woman Scalped in Fargo Laundry Ten Days Ago, Dies.

Fargo, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bessie Thorson, the young woman who was scalped in a laundry accident in Fargo ten days ago, died this morning of her injuries. At the time of the accident she did not even lose consciousness, and her death was unexpected.

CHARTER DAY ADDRESS.

Col. Roosevelt to Delver It at University of California.

Oakland, Cal., March 23.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt arrived here early today to give the annual Charter day address to the students of the University of California. Col. Roosevelt said his stay would be longer than at any previous visit.

"I have part of my family here now," he said, referring to the fact that his son, Theodore Roosevelt, is a resident of San Francisco, "and I feel like one of you."

Shortly after 10 o'clock the former president left for the Greek theater in the university grounds, where he was to deliver the charter day address.

SUPERIOR SHOT BY THIEF HE WAITED FOR

Superior Patrolman May Die as Result of Bullet Wound.

While lying in ambush waiting for two thieves, Patrolman R. W. Jackson was shot and seriously wounded by one of them about 8:30 o'clock last evening near the Allouez station of the South Shore road.

A bullet entered his right thigh and according to Dr. Knox at St. Francis hospital, it pierced his stomach. It was stated at the hospital this morning that Jackson had a fair chance for recovery unless complications set in.

Officer Jackson and Patrolman A. E. Sullivan had been looking for parties suspected of having stolen a bicycle from a place near the ore docks. When some one reported that a bicycle had been found in the brush near the South Shore station, the officers decided to hide there in wait for the parties to come after it after dark.

After dark the two officers stationed themselves near the thicket in which the bicycle was hidden and had to wait only a few moments before two men approached and were in the act of taking the bicycle away, when called to a halt by the officers.

One of the thieves fired at Officer Jackson and then both took to their heels. Officer Sullivan fired twice after them. If they were wounded it was not serious enough to drop them, for a detail of police from the West end made a careful search for them as soon as notified of the shooting.

BIDS FOR NEW THEATER WILL BE OPENED SOON.

Bids will be opened in about a week for the construction of the Broadway theater, to be located at the corner of Broadway street and Ogden avenue. The contract will then be let and operations will commence about April 1. According to the plans, which L. F. Allard brought to Superior yesterday, the new playhouse will be one of the finest in this part of the country.

Wins Medal Contest.

Miss Hermia Moeller was winner in the silver medal declamatory contest, given under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. at the South End M. E. church last evening. Miss Winnifred Howard was second.

Concern Is Bankrupt.

The Twin Ports Open Market association decided at a meeting of its stockholders yesterday to go into voluntary bankruptcy. The affairs of the concern have been in bad shape for some time and this was believed to be the best way to wind them up.

Works Board Busy.

Between $15,000 and $20,000 will be spent by the city in the improvement of two streets this spring. North Third street, from Grand avenue to Bay street, and Bay street, from North Third to North Fifth, will be opened up. The board will also spend $5,000 of the city's money in fixing up the Quebec pier at the East end.

WOOL MEN COMPLAIN.

Say There Are Inequalities in Freight Charges.

Washington, March 23.—Inequalities in the freight charges on raw wool from the Western and Northwestern wool states to Eastern wool markets and especially to Chicago, St. Louis and Boston are the subject of a complaint made to the Interstate commerce commission today by the National Wool Growers' association against the Oregon-Short Line railroad and many other Western and Northwestern railroads.

It is averred that wool rates are unreasonable and discriminatory and that particular preference is given by the defendant railways to Pacific coast terminals. The rates are asserted to be from 7½ to 10 cents too high, in comparison with rates from other wool territory to wool markets. It is declared that the defendant railways also are violating the long and short haul provision of the existing law in the exaction of these rates.

The commission is asked to deny to the railways on this commodity any relief that may be asked under that section of the law and is requested to make an adjustment of the rates equitable to all shippers.

DEATH ENDS GOLD SEARCH.

Butte Fortune Hunter, Whose Mine Became Graveyard, Dies.

Butte, Mont., March 23.—Reuben Sabolisky, aged 76, who had resided in Butte forty years, coming here when a few tents on the flat marked the spot where gold had been discovered in the gravel, is dead. He came here before the famous copper and silver mines had been found, and the best he could do in the way of locating mining ground was to file upon land in which he washed in vain for gold. He held to the land, however, and later made the Jewish society of Butte a gift of it for a cemetery. Four years ago a Park street saloon man, named Schmidt, found gold in the cemetery and jumped the ground where the graves were the thickest. He began washing out gold to the graves, but was stopped by the courts as the result of proceedings begun by highly excited Jewish people of this city. Sabolisky's remains will find their resting place in the graveyard he gave away.

STEAMSHIP COMPANIES RENEW OLD AGREEMENT.

Berlin, March 23.—It is announced here that the trans-Atlantic shipping representatives who have been in conference at Cologne since Tuesday last have reached a friendly arrangement of the several disputed points in the way of a renewal of the Atlantic conference pool agreement. The members of the conference will meet again during the summer.

The general agreement regulating passenger traffic betwen the ports of Northern Europe and the United States and Canada has been renewed, and only minor details of the arrangement are still to be determined.

ELEVEN-YEAR-OLD STEALS AND SKIPS.

Chicago, March 23.—Paul G. Hayner, 11 years old, the son of George M. Hayner of New York, who is president of the George M. Hayner Paper company, was taken into custody here today. He told the police he had taken $32 from his father and used part of it to buy his ticket from Yonkers, N. Y., to Chicago.

A special report on the Sierra Consolidated, signed by Joseph B. Cotton, president, and R. M. Atwater, Jr., vice president and general manager, follows:

"Messrs. Atwater and Linton, our engineers, report as follows:

'Steady and successful progress has been made in the development of the mines at Ocampo during the last six months. The tonnage of pay ore now in sight is sufficient to keep a plant of 100 tons daily capacity at work for two years and the outlook for increased ore reserves is very good, indeed. The ore devloped varies in grade from $5 to $500 and will average about $12 per ton.

"Two important developments have taken place—first, ore has been cut at a much greater depth than ever before known in the district, and, second, an ore body has been discovered which was not previously known and which does not come to the surface.

"In the first case the ore was found at a depth of 1,500 feet below the outcrop and has a width of from four to fifteen feet, with assay values of from $7 to $12 per ton. This discovery is of great importance to us, since there are 700 feet of intact 'backs' on this vein alone, besides proving the continuation of ore in depth, which lends an increased prospective value to all our holdings.

"In the second case, the discovery of a 'blind' ore body upsets the previous belief in this district that all ore bodies came to the surface, and gives us an increased range of possibilities. The ore body in question has already shown a depth of seventy feet, an average width of 2.5 feet, and an average value of $43 per ton.

"Both of these discoveries have been made while pushing ahead toward unknown ore bodies, which we do not expect to reach for several months yet. However, the finding of this unexpected ore will make it proper for us to commence the remodeling of our mill at an earlier date than originally contemplated. Plans for this work are now being prepared.

"The old mill, operating on development ore, has turned out bullion and concentrates to the value of $20,242 from 1,604 tons of ore. The machinery for our steam electric power plant has all been delivered at the nearest railway point and its transportation over the wagon road has commenced.

"The political troubles in Mexico have interfered seriously with communication facilities but our work has progressed under normal conditions, except for a reduction in the number of men at work."

IS BACK FROM MEXICO.

Minot Man Indorses Sending Federal Troops to Border.

Minot, N. D., March 23.—Howard Booker, manager of a local fruit company, returned yesterday after spending about two months in Mexico and other Southern and Western points. Mr. Booker spent considerable time on a hunting expedition on the Mexican side and while there he saw much of the military operations.

Mr. Booker and party camped in the mountains which were insurrecto strongholds and after the battle of Juarez the rebels in retreating from the city burned all bridges and ways of passage and communication was cut off for many days. In order to dispatch word to his relatives in El Paso he was compelled to send it via a messenger on horseback who, owing to damaged roads, had to ride in a roundabout way for nearly 200 miles.

Mr. Booker believes that the marshaling of United States troops on the frontier is a good move and that it will have a tendency to confine the trouble and damage to Mexicans and Mexican property alone.

SEES END OF PARTY.

Ex-Governor of North Dakota's Gloomy Prediction of Reciprocity.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.) — Declaring that the adoption of the Canadian reciprocity agreement would sound the deathknell of the cardinal principle of the Republican party, protection to American industries and American labor, is made by ex-Governor J. M. Devine of North Dakota in a letter addressed to the executive committee in charge of North Dakota's campaign against the treaty.

That the adoption of this treaty would prove a severe blow to North Dakota by reducing the value of its products between $5,000,000 and $7,000,000; that it would result in the reduction of the value of land, and that it is manifestly unfair to the people of the Northewst are contentions of the former governor.

Backache Means Dying Kidneys

With the progress of science comes one remarkable treatment for kidney diseases. It has been so thoroughly tested and its results have proven so revolutionary that a well-known firm in Michigan has undertaken its distribution into every part of the country.

Those who suffer from kidney trouble and the diseases resulting from it will be pleased to know that every package of this treatment is thoroughly guaranteed. This should assure at last a positive cure to every sufferer.

Every man and woman should know that backache is usually a well-defined symptom of advancing kidney disease which may end fatally unless treated in time; that rheumatism and bladder trouble are caused from nothing more nor less than kidneys that do not filter the poison from the blood; that dropsy, Bright's disease, diabetes and bladder-stones are caused by bad kidneys.

Once they are made to work properly, these diseases should quickly disappear.

This is done by the new treatment, Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills.

We urge every one who has pain in the small of the back, profuse or scanty urination, pains in the bladder, cloudy or foul urine, not to fail to get a package today of Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills, and drop all other kidney treatments. Senator Stephenson of Washington, writes from Olympia: "There is no question about the efficacy of Dr. Derby's Pure Kidney Pills in curing kidney and bladder trouble. I know whereof I speak."

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills are now sold at all drug stores—25 and 50 cents, or direct from Derby Medicine Co., Eaton Rapids, Mich. If you would like to try them first, ask your druggist for a free sample package. Then buy a package; you will not regret it.

many conquests in the poorer class among whom she was born, and later made her a woman of ease and of influence both in the Camorra and in the official life of Naples.

Home a Resort of Criminals.

Her home is said to have been a resort of desperate criminals, while her friends included men in high places. She is an intimate friend of Nicola Morra, one of the alleged actual murderers of Cuoccolo and his wife, and it is charged that Morra and his companions went to the woman's home following the murders. This Maria emphatically denied, insisting that it was another instance of manufactured evidence.

Ferdinando de Matteo, who is accused of having lured Cuoccolo to his death, was another prisoner questioned today. De Matteo, who is advanced in years, once had fame as an athlete and is known as a frequenter of questionable resorts. He is illiterate and, according to the police, a vicious character. The particular charge against him is that he induced Cuoccolo to visit a lonely spot on the outskirts of Torre del Greco on the pretext that they were to meet to organize a burglary at the home of Commandator Rossi Romano. Cuoccolo fell into the trap and found himself in a place where everything had been prepared for his death.

Under examination De Matteo denied participation in the crime and that he was the head of the Camorra in his district. He said that he hated Nicola Morra and would never work with him in a crime. They had quarreled years ago, he said, over a theft in which they were engaged.

BURGLARS GET COFFEE AND TEA.

Burglars entered a building across the street from police headquarters last evening and got away with coffee and tea valued at $40.

Some time during the night they entered the building occupied by the Aroma Coffee company at 122 East Michigan street, gaining access through the second story window, after climbing up the fire escape. They secured about 100 pounds of coffee and fifty pounds of tea and escaped by the rear entrance.

Woman's Nature

It is the nature of women to suffer uncomplainingly, the discomforts and fears that accompany the bearing of children. Motherhood is their crowning glory, and they brave its sufferings for the joy that children bring. No expectant mother need suffer, however, during the period of waiting, nor feel that she is in danger when baby comes, if Mother's Friend is used in preparation of the event. Mother's Friend relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the different ligaments, overcomes nausea by counteraction, prevents backache and numbness of limbs and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. Its regular use fits and prepares every portion of the mother's system for a proper and natural ending of the term, and it assures for her a quick and complete recovery. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers.

Single Handed, Policeman Places All Four Men Under Arrest.

Patrolman George Musolf, a new member of the police force, made a single-handed arrest of three alleged highwaymen and a drunken man last evening, in the rear of the News Tribune building and marched the four men to police headquarters, threatening to shoot the first man who made an attempt to escape.

Shortly after 11 o'clock last evening, Henry Perault approached the officer at First avenue west and Superior street, and told him that he had just seen a suspicious-looking man following a drunken man down on to Michigan street. The officer immediately took up the trail. Stealing along close behind the buildings, he located the two men, and followed them. When the drunken man reached the Lake avenue viaduct, the two other men appeared and also followed him. When they arrived at the rear of the News Tribune building the three men attacked the drunken man, the officer claims. Two of them held him, while the third went through his clothes, according to the officer's story. The officer promptly presented himself, and ordered all to throw up their hands. He then forced them to join hands and march ahead of him, while he followed with his hand on the collar of the drunken man. One of his prisoners made a break to run.

"Stop, or I'll blow your head off," said the officer, and the prisoner promptly returned to the fold.

The new officer marched into headquarters with his four prisoners. The three alleged highwaymen gave their names as John Crowley, Alton Bates and George Brown, and the drunken man gave his name as Richard Bergland.

Bergland had only 30 cents and a half empty bottle of whisky in his possession when searched.

Crowley has a past record in police circles. He was arrested last December on a charge of having tried to hold up a woodsman in the alley between Superior and First streets near First avenue west, but was caught because his would-be victim sunk his teeth into Crowley's hand, holding him until a policeman arrived on the scene. He was indicted by the grand jury, but was acquitted because the complaining witness had left the city.

After their preliminary hearing in police court late this morning the three were bound over to await the action of the next grand jury. They claimed that they had seen Bergland earlier in the evening and that one of them had given him a quarter with which to get a bed for the night. Seeing him again, they said that they wanted to get the quarter from him. They asserted that when the policeman appeared on the scene they were holding him up, not as thieves, but to keep him from falling to the sidewalk, as he was too drunk to stand up.

be fairly well sheltered in the adobe houses of the town in case of attack. The thick adobe walls are proof against rifle fire but offer little protection against field guns.

Gen. Navarro sent out a troop of cavalry today to intercept a band of insurrectos reported to be crossing the river from the American side a few miles east of here.

Diaz Must Step Down.

New Orleans, La., March 23.—"President Diaz must step down before peace can come to Mexico."

This is the declaration of Capt. Sherborne J. Hopkins of Washington, attorney for the Madero insurrectionists, who sailed from New Orleans late yesterday for Guatemala for a consultation with President Cabrera on matters concerning that government.

Capt. Hopkins emphatically denied the report, which he said emanated from Mexican official circles in Washington, that American interests are financing the Mexican revolution.

"The Madero family alone is furnishing the money for the revolution," he said. "Hundreds of thousands have been expended by Gustavo Madero and his brother, Francisco I. Madero, already, and they stand ready to impoverish themselves to bring about the fall of the Diaz ring in Mexico.

"There is no question of the disruption of the Mexican government. Diaz has no power and his boasted army could hardly cope with a Central American force."

Three Americans Shot.

San Antonio, Tex., March 23.—John Hamilton Dignowitty, well known here as "Ham" Dignowitty and three other Americans have been shot to death under orders of a Mexican court martial for participation in the insurrection, according to a dispatch received today by members of the Dignowitty family.

The news was brought by Fred Dignowitty, a cousin of the executed man, but he had no particulars aside from the allegation that the execution was the order of a drumhead court-martial.

"Ham" Dignowitty was 30 years of age and was engaged in the cattle and mining business in the state of Chihuahua.

H. M. Burns, a mining man with interests in Northern Mexico, arrived today. Burns declared that the closing of the mines had thrown many Americans out of work and that more than 150, having no other way of living, were now with the insurrectos.

In addition, Burns said there were probably fifty American adventurers with the insurrectos, but the majority were mining men out of work.

Gen. Smith's brigade, which halted on its march at Eleven Mile Hill yesterday, resumed the trip to Leon Springs today. The night was spent under shelter tents.

May Have Exceeded Authority.

Washington, March 23.—The reported attack on United States soldiers at Presidio, Tex., by Mexican troops because the former stopped the exportation of provisions to Mexico, has raised the question in the minds of officials here as to possibility of the American authorities having exceeded their authority in enforcing the neutrality.

The state department holds that the shipment of provisions and even arms and ammunition traveling in the ordinary process of commerce is perfectly legitimate. The other departments of the government interested in the enforcement of the neutrality laws—treasury, justice and war—have been advised of the state department's views in the matter. All these administrative offices, it is said in official quarters, are in harmony as to the interpretation of national and international law on the subject.

No word has yet reached the state or war departments in regard to the reported firing upon American troops along the border.

Work May Be Resumed.

Kansas City, Mo., March 23.—Edward Dickinson, general manager of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient railroad, today received a telegram from the governor of the state of Chihuahua, Mex., saying work might be resumed on the construction of the Orient line in that state. This line is being built through the mountains west of Chihuahua. Work was partly discontinued on account of disturbances incident to the insurrection.

Rebels Rob Store.

Torreon, Mex., March 23.—Word was received in Torreon of the robbery by rebels of a branch of the Torreon Mercantile company at Valerdena of $160 cash and also the seizure of some property of the El Cobre mine, owned by the Valerdena Smelting company. Both these concerns are American.

Word comes from Chihuahua that the rebels are permitting Mexico Northwestern trains to run into that city but not out of it.

Food Cut Off.

Culiacan, Sinaloa, Mex., March 23.—(Via El Paso.)—There is suffering in this state, the food supply having been curtailed and in some instances cut off. No farms are being planted and a condition of famine threatens, as a majority of the farmers are going into the war. Many Americans are leaving here. A report is current that Diego Redo, the governor, will soon resign.

Flocking to Mines.

El Paso, Tex., March 23.—Women and children throughout the region of Bouquillas, Tex., are being congregated at the Chishos and Terlingua mines, where the miners can protect them from Mexican raiders until troops arrive there from Marathon. Troops left this morning, but it is two days' march.

Wants Sealed Bids.

the government, because they know that none of them will be complied with. As little, too, will they accept as a guarantee Mr. Limantour, or any other individual's, because one man cannot and must not serve as a guarantee for a political party fighting for the liberty of a people, and much less when such a man has been and is, the right hand of the oppressing government.

"The revolutionists do not desire the complete elimination of the opposing party, because every one knows that it is necessary to have opposite parties in a nation in order to maintain political equilibrium and righteous administration. As little will they refuse to enter into peace negotiations for the good of the country; but they will not relinquish their demands that the lives of their partisans be guaranteed and political reforms carried out.

Must Be Represented.

"The revolutionary party must be represented in the government of the states, in the congress and in the cabinet. It is well known that up to the present, not a single member of the cabinet, or a representative of the people, has ever made the least protest in regard to the great political abuses, the unjust imprisonments and the numberless political assassinations.

"For these reasons the revolutionists will not lay down their arms until the time when the reforms that guarantee the lives of the people, the administration of justice and political liberty shall be in effect.

"If the government, should, unfortunately, through bad council, refuse to enter peace negotiations, the revolutionary party will gain with arms the liberty to the people, and it expects to have the sympathy and moral support of the American public in this aim, as have had all peoples fighting for justice and liberty."

was no comment from his associates except that it "was all very sad."

Alton B. Parker, Mr. Sheehan's law partner, denied a statement that he is one of six candidates for whom the influence of Thomas Fortune Ryan was sought indirectly.

"I deny," he said, "that any one, with my consent or knowledge, has sought Mr. Ryan's influence or that of any other person, at my time, to secure for me the United States senatorship. I made it as clear as I could both before the election in public speeches and the day afterward in interviews, that my obligations were such that I could not accept the senatorial office. From that day to this there has been no change in my position."

Allan A. Ryan, through whom it is supposed that his father's influence was sought last night, refused today either to deny or to confirm the interview credited to him today.

"Not one word," he said.

He is quoted as having said last night: "My advice to Mr. Sheehan and the Democratic party, if they hope for future successes, is to stand by the choice of the caucus—which is Mr. Sheehan."

Charles F. Murphy would not add today to his brief sentences of yesterday. His friends said that it was difficult to see what he could add, in view of the attitude of Mr. Sheehan and the self-evident fact that the new caucus to be held Monday will speak for him more plainly than anything else.

3 CURED OF ECZEMA IN ONE FAMILY

By Cuticura Remedies. Children Scratched Night and Day. Mother Suffered 8 Years. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured Ringworm too.

"When a child, I suffered eight years with eczema. I could not sleep at night, and had sores all over my chest. We had doctors and none could do any good, until my mother saw the advertisement of the Cuticura Remedies in the paper. We used the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent, and they cured me of eczema. I also used them on my five children. Two of them had eczema very badly. When my children had eczema, I was not worried at all, as I knew the Cuticura Remedies would do their work. They had sores all over their heads, their hair would fall out, and they would scratch all night and day. They had it on their heads, face, and in back of the ears so that I thought their ears would drop off. I washed their heads and bodies with Cuticura Soap and they are as clean as the driven snow. Cuticura Soap and Ointment also cured my children of ringworm. I would not be without the Cuticura Remedies. They are wonderful." (Signed) Mrs. Violet Cole, 26 S. Redfield St., Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 29, 1910.

Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole props., 135 Columbus Ave., Boston, for free book on skin and scalp diseases and their treatment.

COMIC OPERA WITHOUT MUSIC

Mine Manager Sees the Humorous Aspect of Mexican Rebellion.

According to a letter received by Will C. Brown of Paine, Webber & Co., from C. H. Jones, general manager of the Duluth-Moctezuma company, the Mexican revolution has the aspects of a comic opera without the music.

A band of insurrectos happened along the other day and raided the store of the Duluth-Moctezuma company, which owns mines in the state of Sonora. The revolutionists were hungry and they did not ask permission to cart away the portable food supplies.

When the letter was written, fighting was in progress every little while about twelve miles from the mine. When the insurrectos need soldiers they visit a mine and impress the miners into service. The Duluth-Moctezuma miners prefer the simple life with a guaranty of three squares a day to the strenuous and doubtful existence of an insurrecto. When some of the miners hear shots they either take to the woods or seek the bottommost levels in the mine.

DULUTH MAN SAYS HE FORGED CHECKS

John Eckmark Admits Guilt at Fargo and Is Held to District Court.

Fargo, N. D., March 23.—John Eckmark of Duluth, who first gave his name to the police yesterday as P. A. Stemberg of Amenia, appeared before Judge Miller yesterday in the police court charged with forging several checks. He waived examination and was bound over to the district court.

"I did not know what I was doing when I signed those checks," said Eckmarth. "You see I have been down here in Fargo and have been drunk for about five days when I put my name down on that paper. I had no realization of the act that I was then committing.

Home Is In Duluth.

"My home is in Duluth but recently I have been working around Amenia. I have of late been working on the Carlson farm near Amenia and last summer I worked for Mr. Stemberg, whose name I signed to the checks, and I know Stemberg quite well. I have a wife and family living near Amenia.

"I guess I forged about $40 worth of checks in all. I made out three different ones, and all of them while I was drunk and did not know what I was doing. I attribute my act to being drunk, that's all.

"When I appear before the other judge I guess I will plead guilty. I did it all right, and they are going to take me to the county jail and then I will just plead guilty and settle the affair."

The checks are all drawn on the Casselton bank, and the officers of the bank stated that Eckmark had, in their opinion, committed a similar act last year.

Signed His Employer's Name.

Eckmark signed the name of Stemberg to the checks and has been going by the same name during his stay in the city. He presented checks at the stores of Abe Siegel and Joseph Simmons and had them cashed. Later he took back the goods purchased and received his money back in return, which aroused the suspicion of the storekeepers.

He was still drunk when arrested and continued to claim his innocence.

CLOQUET CHILD BURIED.

Cloquet, Minn., March 23.—(Special to the Herald.)—Kathryn, the 7-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Heasley, died at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon after several weeks' illness. Burial took place this afternoon from the family home, Rev. C. W. Lowrie officiating.

CLOQUET SAWMILL STARTS.

Cloquet, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Cloquet Lumber company's water power mill started the summer run yesterday morning and will run night and day until the big mill is ready for operations. The mill employs several hundred men and has begun the season's cut several weeks earlier than last year owing to the early opening up of the river channel.

WOMAN'S REALM.

Work in the extension department of the Young Women's Christian association is rapidly growing and broadening out.

Yestrday afternoon a Junior club for girls was formed at the association building with twenty-one girls, most of whom are from the sixth and seventh grades of the public schools, met to form a club which will be under the direction of Miss Isabelle Patrick and Miss Frances Swift. The girls did not elect their officers yesterday or choose a name for their club, but will hold meetings every week and the organization will be perfected soon. The club is open to all school girls who are interested. Various subjects will be brought up in the club for discussion.

The usual Wednesday evening recreation center was attended by thirty-two girls last evening and a class in crocheting was started with Miss Grace Duncan as teacher. Various kinds of stitches and styles in this work will be taught and the class ought to prove both educational and entertaining.

This department of the work has grown most rapidly. The first two or three weeks only a few girls joined, but the number has been steadily increasing. Any girls interested are invited and the clubs which are formed and the reading, sewing and folk dancing classes which they have been having, have been delightful.

SPRING FESTIVAL.

Horace W. Reyner Will Direct Oratorio at St. Paul.

At the spring festival of the St. Paul Symphony orchestra, to be held in St. Paul next week on Wednesday and Thursday in the Auditorium, "King Olaf," Sir Edward Elgar's most beautiful oratorio, will be presented under the direction of Horace W. Reyner of this city.

Wednesday evening Mme. Schumann-Heink will sing an excellently arranged program, including "Carmen," which she will sing for the first time in America.

Thursday afternoon the St. Paul Symphony orchestra, which was heard here in three concerts in January, will play a program introducing all of the soloists who will accompany the orchestra on its ten weeks' tour. Louise Barnolt, contralto of the Montreal Opera company, will be among the soloists.

The oratorio will be sung Thursday evening. The soloists in this will be Mme. Harriet Orendorf, soprano; George Harris, Jr., tenor; and Charles F. Champlain, bass-baritone. Special prices have been made for the course, and the sale of single tickets will open tomorrow.

DULUTH GRADUATES.

University Students Who Will Receive Degrees.

The list of seniors of the University of Minnesota who will receive degrees next June has been announced. Two hundred students of the college of science, literature and arts will receive the degree of bachelor of arts and twenty-nine will graduate from the college of education. Among them are the following Duluth students: Miss Bernice Foster, Miss Mary Foster, A. Laird Goodman, Miss Viola Lenning and Miss Louana Phelps of the science, literature and arts college; and Miss Grace F. Doremus, Miss Marie Erd and Miss Pearl C. Hansen of the education college.

COLLEGE PLAY.

Duluth Girls Take Part in "Little Minister."

Miss Marjorie Admstrong and Miss Ella Johnson, both of this city, who are attending the Western college at Oxford, Ohio, took part in the annual junior play which was given at the college Tuesday evening. "The Little Minister" was the piece played, and reports state that it was given "with professional finish." Miss Armstrong played the part of Lord Rintoni and Miss Johnson was one of the church elders.

"The cultivation of all mannish foibles," the report says, "was carefully avoided by all those taking men's parts, and the general effect of the production was thus raised above the burlesque tyne usually presented by women in men's parts. The play is an exacting one, but the artistic treatment it received justifies attempting serious dramatic work in college."

Clan Stewart Entertains.

The members of Clan Stewart No. 50, O. S. C., entertained their families and friends at one of their monthly parties last evening at Forester's hall. Vocal solos were rendered by Miss Jessie McGhie, Miss Annabelle McLeod, John Matheson and Henry Chaplin. Little Miss Ada McLeod danced the Highland fling very prettily, and Colon Thompson played some bagpipe solos. Miss Lily Macaskill played the accompaniments.

After this program they danced, and refreshments were served.

THE EVENING STORY

HOW BESSIE WENT TO THE PICNIC

By Mary F. Paddock.

"Jolly! Well I should say so! Just think of a whole day down in old Silver Glen when we have been in school so long without a vacation! Three cheers for the woods and a picnic! Hip! Hip! Hurrah!" and Harry Mason was joined in his wild cheering by a dozen other eager boys.

Not far away, sitting under a large maple, whose leafy branches formed such a delightful shade, was a little girl who heard these happy voices, yet could not look forward to the time with as much pleasure as they. For Bessie Lane when only 2 years old had received such injuries from a fall as to render her a cripple for life, unable to take even a step. So, of course, she could not expect to go to the woods.

Now how could Bessie go to school if she could not walk? It was this way. Although her parents were quite poor, and there were children younger than Bessie, yet when the others of her age began to attend school, they were very anxious that their little girl should learn to read and write like the rest.

Speaking of this one day to Mr. Russell, the owner of the factory in which Robert Lane worked, who was kindly inquiring after his family, he replied, "Well, Robert, I am sure that some way will be provided for your little daughter. She is such a bright child, when she once has a chance she will learn quickly."

Now there never was a more generous man than Mr. Russell, and no one could be more truly respected by all of his men. The next morning he went to the city, and when he returned stopped in front of Mr. Lane's house. Taking from his wagon an easy and very comfortable rolling chair, he presented it to Bessie, saying to Mrs. Lane: "As your yard joins that of the school, it will be quite an easy matter for some one to wheel her over when she wishes to go. I am sure her playmates will be delighted to have her with them."

Of course, Bessie and her mother were unable to express the thanks they felt, but Mr. Russell could see how much his gift was appreciated, and that was enough. After this almost every pleasant morning her mother or some of the pupils would wheel Bessie across the yard, up the broad, flat step, and into the cheerful schoolroom, for this was a village school and quite different from the large buildings in the city.

As this was the last day of school, and the week before the picnic, there was a great deal for them to talk and plan about. How strange that they did not think of little Bessie, but were so happy at the thought of a picnic in the woods that they did not stop to consider anything else. They planned for each one to carry something to eat.

While the girls were arranging this on a white spread laid on a very firm table, for the boys could not tip over old Mother Earth, as the girls laughingly said, no matter how hard they tried, the boys were to build a stove out of stones on which they could make the coffee. They were going to have the fun of making this themselves and be real grown-up folks. They did not stop to think whether the smoky coffee would taste as good as cold lemonade, but were counting on the pleasure they would have.

As it began to rain that afternoon, Bessie did not come to school, but she had heard enough of their plans already to make her feel sad, for she knew she could not go with them. However, like the patient little girl that she was, she did not complain, but was glad to think that her schoolmates were going to have such a good time. As Olive Wooding was going home from Sunday school that Sabbath she was thinking of Bessie Lane.

"Mamma," she said when reaching home, "I have been thinking of Bessie. You know that we have it all planned to hold a picnic down in Silver Glen Saturday and are expecting a lovely time. Now, it is queer, but we were all so interested that I don't believe one of us thought of poor Bessie and that she could not go too. Of course she can't, and how bad she must feel.

"Our teacher has been talking to us today about self-sacrifice. She asked us to see if each one could not give up something this week to please some one else. I was thinking what I could do, when all of a sudden I thought of Bessie. Now I know that it will be real mean for all the rest of us to go and have a good time, but I don't see what we can do. They won't all of them want to give it up, and surely we can't take Bessie to the woods. Won't you tell me what to do, mamma?"

"My dear girl, I am very glad to see you so thoughtful. Yes, I will try and help you out of the trouble. Bessie is a good girl, and if you can do something to make her happy you will never be sorry. Now, I have thought of a plan. Instead of going to the woods, why don't you all go to Bessie's house? You can wheel her down under those large maple trees, set your table, and have just as pleasant a time, besides making her so happy. Poor child, I am afraid that she has little to amuse her, now school is closed.

"You must all carry something to eat, the same as if going to the woods, and you might each one give her some little present. You can let her mother know, but have it a surprise for Bessie, if you like, which will be all the more pleasure. Probably some of the boys will not want to give up the woods at first, but when they think how pleased Bessie will be, they will agree to your plans.

"What do you think of this, my dear?" said Mrs. Wooding, as she saw Olive's face rather clouded. In an instant it lighted up, however, and she replied:

"Oh, you dear, darling mamma, I think that will be just splendid, if the others will do the same. I did not want to give up old Silver Glen at first, but it will be real self-sacrifice, won't it, mamma?"

"Yes, Olive, I think it will, and you will all be much happier to know that you have given Bessie so much pleasure.

"In the morning you may go around and see if the rest will agree to your plans. Then arrange it among yourselves, and tell Mrs. Lane, who, I am sure, will be very grateful to you for making her little girl so happy."

"Yes, mamma, I will, and I shall be sure and tell them not to forget to bring Bessie something."

So the next morning Olive started out, and though some hesitated at first about giving up the woods, they finally all agreed to Olive's plans.

When at last Saturday came there never was a merrier crowd of girls and boys than that which started for Bessie Lane's. There were twenty in all, ranging in ages from 6 to 12, and not one but had some little present for their unfortunate schoolmate. Besides the girls had met at Olive's house, each given her share and bought a beautiful, large doll. Then with a little help from Olive's mother, they had dressed it very prettily and neatly.

But we left them starting for Bessie's. Well, this Saturday was a beautiful sunshiny day in July, not too warm, but pleasant. When they reached Mrs. Lane's there never was any one more completely surprised than Bessie, who knew that the woods did not lie in their direction, and wondered why they were all coming that way.

But when they stopped right in front of the house, and came up to the door, her joy was so great that she could hardly keep quiet. "O maumma!" she cried, "they are really coming here! Do you suppose they are going to stay all day with me?"

"I shouldn't wonder, darling," her mother replied, with a happy smile.

After they had presented Bessie with her doll and the other gifts, and with her treasures in her lap, wheeled her down under the trees, they were all so happy not one wished they had gone to the woods instead. Then they played games, some like bean-bag, in which Bessie could join.

When it was time to set the table who should appear but Olive's and several of the others' mammas, who, of course, helped out in arranging it, and among other things added to the goodies a plate of delicious strawberries and cream for each one. Bessie occupied the place of honor at the table and the children all said that they had had a splendid time.

In fact, they had such a good time that when Olive reached home she was sure that she had not made any self-sacrifice at all, but somehow she was a great deal happier little girl than she had ever been before.

SEEN IN THE SHOPS

One of the shops is showing an exceptionally varied line of headwear for babies and tiny tots. Beside the light pinks and light blues, which usually predominate, rose colors, deeper blues and corn colors are used a good deal in these little head dresses.

The bonnets of soft embroideries are many of them touched up with frills of soft ribbons and laces and the bonnets of soft lacy straw are also shown. These are all in the natural straw color with bows and frills of ribbons.

A display window is showing a pretty little gown of white marquisette with trimmings of coral silk which is attracting much admiration. This trimming is put on as a narrow yoke, which forms the finish for the round Dutch neck. The hem is of the coral silk and the edges of the elbow sleeves and the belt are also trimmed with the same.

One display window on Superior street is filled with white embroidered linen collars, both high and low, priced at 10 cents apiece.

BEGGED TO REACH MOTHER'S DEATHBED.

Claiming to be trying to make his way to the bedside of his mother, whom he said was on her deathbed, Arthur Frosh was arrested last night on a charge of begging.

He stated that while working in the Michigan mines he had received a letter stating that his mother was not expected to live. He claimed that he only had enough money to take him to Duluth, and that he tried to raise enough cash here to take him the rest of the way to his home in the upper part of the state. His appearance was in his favor, and after he had entered a plea of guilty to the charge, the court suspended sentence.

MAKES THE HAIR SOFT AND FLUFFY

"In all my experience," says Mae Martyn, writing on "Beauty" in the Boston Examiner, "I have yet to find a shampoo mixture to equal plain canthrox. You can prepare your own shampoo at little cost by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water, and give yourself the finest shampoo imaginable in less time than it takes to go to the hairdresser's.

"The results will be most pleasing. The scalp will be so sweet and clean with all signs of dirt, excess oil and dandruff gone—and your hair be so lustrous, fluffy and easy to do up.

"This shampoo rinses without any evidence of stickiness and the hair dries in a very little time. It is so good and makes shampooing so simple and pleasing that many society women now wash their own hair with it."

The Best Cough Syrup is Easily Made at Home

Costs Little and Acts Quickly. Money Refunded If It Fails.

This recipe makes a pint of cough syrup and saves you about $2 as compared with ordinary cough remedies. It stops obstinate coughs—even whooping cough—in a hurry, and is splendid for sore lungs, asthma, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents' worth) in a pint bottle and add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. Tastes good.

This takes right hold of a cough and gives almost instant relief. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative—both excellent features.

Pinex, as perhaps you know, is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and the other natural healing pine elements.

No other preparation will do the work of Pinex in this recipe, although strained honey can be used instead of the sugar syrup, if desired.

Thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada now use this Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe. This plan has often been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equaled. Its low cost and quick results have made it immensely popular.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

A prominent Duluthian lost his life insurance policy a short time ago—hunted everywhere for it—home, office, factory.

Told us about it. Do you know what he had to do to get a new one? Had to advertise the loss for six weeks. Had to establish his personal identity—give bonds of identification for twice the amount of the policy to the insurance company—worried for fear he would die before he could get all of these matters adjusted. He has a new policy now deposited in one of our boxes. No more worry. Cost: $3.00 per year.

CHURCHES TO AID IN FIGHT

Effective Work Expected to Be Done on Tuberculosis Sunday.

National Association Is Active —Cardinal Gibbons Indorses Movement.

The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis has selected April 30 as the day when it hopes an appeal in behalf of its work will be made in 200,000 American churches. The association reports that 40,000 sermons were preached on tuberculosis Sunday last year, and it hopes to have that number so increased this year as to reach 33,000,000 church members throughout the United States.

Instead of asking only that a special sermon be preached this year on tuberculosis, the association is sending requests broadcast that some day about April 30 be set aside for the discussion of tuberculosis, and that the pastor or some authority selected by him put the whole matter before the congregation. The association plans to gather statistics from ministers all over the country, showing the seriousness of the tuberculosis problem in every church. These figures will include the number of deaths last year from tuberculosis and the extent to which clergymen are called on to minister to sufferers with this disease.

Cardinal Indorses Move.

Cardinal James Gibbons has just given the association his ecclesiastical indorsement of tuberculosis Sunday. He expressed warm sympathy with the tuberculosis day movement, and sent to H. Wirt Stelle, the executive secretary of the Maryland association, the following official communication:

"I have read with keen interest the pamphlets you sent me, which tell of the triumphs already achieved in the warfare against tuberculosis.

"My wonder has been aroused by the simplicity of the arms used in this warfare, namely, rational living and cleanliness—which are within the reach of all.

"I shall follow with special interest all your efforts in this splendid propaganda against the terrible disease, and hope the results of your labor will be commensurate with the zeal, the energy and self-sacrifice which you and your fellow-workers are devoting to the work.

"I can remember well the ravages made by yellow fever in days gone by, but rejoice to see that the medical fraternity have conquered it.

"I trust that you will be equally successful against tuberculosis. With best wishes, I am yours faithfully,

"J. CARD. GIBBONS."

The National association has prepared an outline for a tuberculosis lecture or sermon especially adapted for clergymen who will speak on tuberculosis day, and also other literature which will be sent to any clergyman applying for it at the office of the National association, 105 East Twenty-second street, New York city, or at the headquarters of any state or local association in the United States.

tract is to be designated as agricultural or non-agricultural.

The state auditor is authorized to select tracts best suited to immediate settlement and to advertise and sell them, with the condition that one-tenth of each tract sold must be cultivated within seven years.

If there is timber on the land, the settler may buy it at the approved value, paying one-fifteenth down and the balance in ten equal installments. The settler may cut wood for firewood and for necessary fencing and log buildings.

It is also provided that at least three freeholders, living on their own lands, may petition the auditor to sell any tract of state land not more than five miles from their holdings, if such tracts are within three miles of a market or shipping point or within two miles of a road which is open throughout the year.

State-Wide Primary Bill.

The senate put in another afternoon on the state-wide primary bill yesterday, and after all pending amendments had been disposed of, voted to have the bill as amended printed and placed at the head of the calendar with the privilege of further amendments.

As it stands, the bill is rather a joke on the Republican organization in the senate, which determined, as a result of the first caucus, to make the state-wide primary bill one of the foundations for party-wide campaign thunder.

The first state-wide primary bill introduced was by Senator Moonan of Waseca, Democrat. The senate elections committee had recommended the bill to pass, and it had been made a special order. Then the Republicans in the senate got together and decided that the Democrats were getting altogether too much campaign material out of the session, and that the Republicans ought to get busy.

The first result of that was that the Moonan bill was recommitted to the senate committee on elections, which is dominated by Republicans, and that the committee put out a state-wide primary bill of its own, which is the bill which the senate has been considering for two days.

The committee bill had a number of interesting trimmings, and as a result of the adoption of amendments offered by Senator Moonan and others practically all of these trimmings have been pruned out of the measure, and the bill which is now at the head of the calendar, though it bears the name of the committee on elections, is practically Senator Moonan's bill. It differs from the Democratic bill in no essential particulars, and by far the majority of the amendments adopted have originated with Senator Moonan.

When the bill was taken up yesterday afternoon Senator Moonan withdrew his amendment cutting out the requirement that parties must cast 20 per cent of their general election vote at the primaries in order to get their candidates on the ballot under party designations, and proposed a new amendment cutting the required percentage down to 10 per cent and providing that candidates who fail to get that percentage shall have the right to run independent under the law governing independent candidates. This amendment was accepted by Senator Haycraft, and was adopted.

Senator Haycraft, by the way, has achieved quite a reputation beyond that connected with the state-wide primary bill as a valuable assistant in the making of Democratic campaign thunder, since he was one of the most bitter and most uncompromising advocates of Republican repudiation of the party declaration for reapportionment.

Senator Nelson offered an amendment providing for a registration day two weeks prior to primary election day, at which voters must register for the primaries and declare their party affiliations, and providing that at the primary election voters could get only the ballots of the parties for which they registered. The amendment was voted down overwhelmingly.

Senators and Platforms.

Senator Boyle offered an amendment allowing senators to participate in the work of drafting platforms and forming campaign committees in the years when senators are not elected.

Senator Haycraft approved the amendment, saying that senators usually participated in platform-making anyway, and he wouldn't deprive them of the privilege.

Senator Boyle, with memories of Republican repudiation of party platform repudiation as to reapportionment freshly in mind, said: "And then the senators come here to carry out their party pledges, and they should have a voice in framing them." This apt allusion raised a laugh, in which Senator Haycraft joined.

Senator Boyle's amendment was adopted.

Senator G. H. Sullivan proposed an amendment, which was adopted, eliminating presidential electors from the primary election.

The senate then reconsidered the vote of Tuesday leaving in the bill the provision allowing voters to write the names of candidates into primary election ballots, thus doing away with about the last remaining feature which distinguished the Republican committee bill from the Democratic Moonan bill.

So many amendments had been adopted that the senate decided to have the bill printed and placed at the head of the calendar, though Senator Haycraft wanted the senate to vote upon it immediately.

In order that every effort may be made to give Representative F. L. Kleiner of Faribault, who made insulting references to the house organization yesterday for which he had to apologize today, all the sympathy to which he is entitled, it may be well to state that he is the member who, when the bill providing for the clearing of ten tracts of state land in Northern Minnesota as an experiment was pending, said that Northern Minnesota isn't fit to live in, that it never would be fit to live in because of soil and climatic conditions, and that the proposed experiment was a waste of money.

Date for Adjournment.

The state owes Attorney General Simpson one debt of gratitude for his decision that Monday, Feb. 13, counts as a legislative working day, and that the session must end April 19 instead of April 20. According to his ruling, given yesterday afternoon to Lieutenant-Governor Gordon, April 19 is the last day of the session, April 18 is the last day for passing bills, and Saturday, March 25, is the last day for introducing new bills except at the request of the governor.

The Southern Minnesota reapportionment bill, of which much has been said, seems to be another case of "off again, on again, gone again." Yesterday it was all off, and today it is alive again; though it is difficult to arouse more than languid interest in it.

Senator A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota, the leader in the movement for a new bill, was asked by The Herald yesterday what there was to the reports that efforts to form a new bill had been revived.

"Nothing for publication," he said; "not a thing."

Nevertheless, it was said yesterday afternoon that the realization that in killing reapportionment the Republicans in the senate were working valiantly for the Democratic party has proved so overpowering that a meeting of Southern Minnesota senators will be held in a day or two at which an attempt will be made to agree on a reapportionment bill that has a show of passage.

A reapportionment bill that the Republican senators of Southern Minnesota will agree upon contains but slight possibilities of interest to Northern Minnesota, however.

New Bills in the House.

The following new bills came into the house yesterday afternoon:

By Representative Robinson—Appropriating $4,000 for the G. A. R. to be used in observing Memorial day.

By Representative Hurley—Requiring all hospitals in cities of 50,000 and over to have morgues.

By Representative Rines—Increasing the bushel tax on grain in elevators from a quarter of a cent on wheat and flax and an eighth of a cent on other grains to half a cent and a quarter of a cent respectively.

By Representative Sulerud—Appropriating $10,000 each to not more than ten counties which maintain county tuberculosis sanatoria.

By Representative Voxland—Requiring automobiles to slow down to six miles an hour within five rods of vehicles which they are about to meet on public highways.

By Representative Moriarity—Requiring railroads to publish time tables in one weekly paper in each city and village through which they pass, except first, second and third class cities.

By the house committee on education—Putting the general supervision of the public schools under a state board of education, which is to consist of the superintendent of education now called the superintendent of public instruction—the president of the state university, the president of the normal school board, and two citizens to be appointed by the governor, one of whom must be a superintendent or principal of a high school. The bill abolishes the state high school board and the state public school library board, and is a compromise on the first plan of supplanting all the educational boards except the board of regents of the university.

Speaker Dunn yesterday afternoon appointed Representatives R. C. Dunn and Lewis C. Spooner, Republicans, and Albert Pfaender, Democrat, members of the committee to investigate Representative Klemer's unparliamentary language in attacking the house organization.

The country members of the house scented possible appropriations in the C. E. Stone bill continuing the state capitol approach commission, and they killed it by a vote of 38 for and 71 against. Representative Clinton Robinson thought to nail the lid on the coffin of the bill by moving for a reconsideration of the vote by which it was killed, and his motion narrowly escaped passing, being defeated 56 to 45.

Passed by the House.

The house yesterday afternoon passed the following bills:

By the house committee on grain and warehouse—Changing the official titles of the Minneapolis grain inspection board and the Duluth grain inspection board to the boards of grain appeals at Duluth and Minneapolis.

By the house committee on grain and warehouse—Authorizing the boards of grain appeals to demand new samples of grain when they are not satisfied with those presented.

By Representatives Ole Peterson, Pfaender, Keefe, Hopkins and Holmberg—Establishing the Fort Ridgley state park.

By Representative H. Nelson—Compelling operators of thrashing machines to clean weed seeds out of their thrashers before moving on to new jobs.

By Senator Nelson—Authorizing the state board of investment to buy with surplus revenues of the state certificates of indebtedness forming a part of the school fund.

By Senator Sundberg—Proposed Constitutional amendment authorizing a state hail insurance fund.

Naval Militia Bill.

On motion of Representative E. R. Ribenack of Duluth, the house in committee of the whole last evening advanced to the calendar his bill increasing the annual appropriation for the naval militia from $8,500 to $13,500. The bill was recommended for indefinite postponement by the house committee on appropriations the other day, and the report was adopted, thus killing the bill. It was brought to life by a successful motion to reconsider this action, and was placed on general orders, where it was reached last evening. It will have some opposition, but it is expected that it will pass.

The house had its first night session last evening, taking up general orders in committee of the whole, with Representative J. J. Moriarity in the chair. Most of the time was taken up with the bill requiring peddlers to take out county licenses ranging from $5 for foot peddlers to $30 for those with two-horse teams, but no action was taken on the measure further than to put it at the head of general orders.

By the house committee on banks and banking—Punishing the making of checks on banks in which the persons issuing the checks have no deposit, when it is done with intent to defraud.

By the house committee on labor—Giving the labor commissioner power to prohibit the use of machinery which he deems to be dangerous to the employes.

By Senator G. H. Sullivan—Providing for the indeterminate sentences of persons convicted of crime and authorizing the parole of such person.

A second hearing on the Spooner bill creating a water resource commission was held in the house chamber last night. Among those who appeared in opposition to the bill was Oscar Mitchell of Duluth.

NO REASON FOR IT

When Duluth Citizens Show the Certain Way Out.

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of any kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that they can be cured. Read what a Duluth citizen says:

Mrs. J. E. Kennell, 324 N. Twentieth Ave. W., Duluth, Minn., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have given entire satisfaction in our home. About a year ago a member of our family was so crippled with his back that he could hardly straighten. This person had much pain and lameness in the kidneys and there were other troubles in evidence which plainly showed what was wrong. Doan's Kidney Pills were publicly recommended and a supply was procured. This remedy brought relief and thus proved its merits."

CONTEST FOR THE CHILDREN

Poultry Association Would Encourage Them to Raise Chickens.

A chicken raising contest for boys and girls of the city was suggested last night at a meeting of the Duluth Poultry association and a committee was appointed to confer with similar committees of the Y. M. C. A. and the Commercial club with a view to working out the details of the plan. Prizes will be awarded to those who raise the best chickens and those who give them the most scientific and successful care. The contest for youthful fanciers is the outcome of the recent series of poultry lectures given at the Y. M. C. A. building by Prof. N. E. Chapman. At the meeting last evening officers were elected and committees appointed for the coming year as follows:

Theodore Hollster, president; Benjamin Wood, vice president; J. B. Greenfield, secretary; F. P. Hallock, assistant secretary; J. W. Nelson, treasurer. Executive committee, W. S. Windom, H. A. Nelson, J. P. Wier, J. Tomlin, W. W. Sanford, J. T. Armstead. Committee on poultry raising contest, J. W. Nelson, H. A. Nelson and J. B. Greenfield.

The next show will be held Jan. 30 to Feb. 4, 1912, and the birds will be judged by comparison instead of the present card system.

ONE IS INDICTED.

Grand Jury Brings in Bill Against Head of Trust Company.

New York, March 23.—Out of the tangle of financial transactions which were first made known by the collapse of Joseph G. Robin's chain of banks, ruined by sky-rocket financiering, the grand jury yesterday drew the indictment of William J. Cummins, directing head of the Carnegie Trust company, for the alleged larceny of $335,000 from the institution a year ago.

Arraigned in court late yesterday afternoon, Cummins pleaded not guilty, with leave to withdraw the plea. Bail was fixed at $50,000 and furnished promptly. Cummins is a Tennessee man who came to New York only a few years ago, highly recommended as a successful promoter. He gained control of the Carnegie Trust company, and through his solicitation, it is alleged, large city deposits were obtained for the institution shortly after the date of his alleged larceny.

Specifically, he is charged in three indictments with larceny in the first degree of the sums of $120,000, $75,000 and $140,000 on April 21, 22 and 23, 1910, respectively. It is alleged that these sums were borrowed by the Carnegie Trust company in a transaction from two other banks and appropriated to Cummins' personal use.

Robin was a witness before the grand jury which returned the indictments. District Attorney Whitman has made it plain also that he expects other indictments to follow.

FINANCIALLY RUINED.

Great Lakes Towing Company Put Maythams Out of Business.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 23.—George W. Maytham, formerly one of the principal tug owners on the Great Lakes, swore yesterday that he had been financially ruined through the operations of the Great Lakes Towing company, which the government is seeking to dissolve on the grounds that it is a combination in restraint of trade.

Maytham's testimony was given in a hearing in the federal building, where the taking of evidence is to be used in the government's suit, was continued after a week's adjournment. The Maytham family, father and sons, were in business from 1868 until 1901, when they sold out to the towing company.

Following alleged violations of the condition of the sale, Maytham again entered the tug business, but, Maytham asserted, they were again forced to sell out to the Great Lakes company at a heavy loss. A line of boats that cost $230,000, Maytham swore, was taken over by the Great Lakes company for $60,000 in cash and stock which afterward brought $50,000.

TO SOON BEGIN SAWING.

Thief River Falls Plant Expected to Begin Operations.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ice is breaking up at an early date in the Red Lake river and the local saw mill of the Thief River Falls Lumber company will soon begin the sawing season. The company has purchased a supply of white pine logs near Bemidji and these will be run in over the Soo to this city and will probably be the first logs to be cut this spring. They will be dumped into the mill pond above the mill and the spring drives from the Red lakes will arrive later in the season. Vast quantities of timber belonging to the Indians stand about these lakes and most of the forests where this timber is found are matured. The trees will gain little more in size and the danger of fire is ever present during the summer season.

Menominee Man Goes Crazy.

Menominee, Mich., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.—George Arseneau, aged 19, a young man employed for some time in the office of R. G. Dunn in this city, went suddenly violently insane and was taken to the asylum at Newberry.

ANOKA ATTORNEY IS ACCUSED OF THEFT.

Anoka, Minn., March 23.—Attorney F. S. Stewart, a pioneer lawyer of this city, was arraigned yesterday before Judge Giddings on a charge of grand larceny contained in the complaint of Mrs. Mary E. Savage, who alleges he has failed to return to her a certificate of deposit for $2,000 on a Miles City, Mont., bank, which she says was held in trust for her.

Mr. Stewart contends that she signed over the certificate in the form of a loan. The attorney will plead today.

WHAT RECIPROCITY IS.

The Herald wishes to call the attention of its readers, particularly those in North Dakota, where a strenuous campaign to create sentiment against the Canadian agreement is being conducted, to an article from the New York Times, published in another column on this page, under the heading "What Reciprocity Is." The Times article is perhaps as clear a statement as could be made of the immense value that the affirmation of the Canadian agreement would be to this country. It makes clear the fact that, while the immediate effects of the operation of the agreement might not be all that some could desire, there would be results of a permanent character that would be of steadily increasing benefit to the United States, benefits that we cannot afford to throw away now that they are so freely offered.

In the campaign in North Dakota a circular is being distributed freely that is of the rankest political character. It is a statement by the executive committee, which has charge of the campaign in that state, and it gives thirteen "reasons" why "the people of North Dakota would be injured by the passage of the proposed reciprocity agreement in its present form." These "reasons" are answered as fully as such absurdities are entitled to answer, by the Times article.

The baseless character of the "reasons" given in this circular is shown by a few, as follows:

No. 1 says "it is not a reciprocal agreement." Yet any reader of the agreement must see that Canada gives us certain privileges of trade and receives others in return, a fact that in itself constitutes reciprocity.

No. 2 says "it will reduce the earning power of every acre of land in this state, reducing the value and forcing many of our farmers to leave for Canada." How in the name of heaven can legislation of any kind reduce the earning power of land? And why, if reciprocity is the thing that drives people from this country to Canada, has there been such a stream of emigrants of that character in the last few years? Also, how would reciprocity with Canada make Canadian land so much more valuable than land in the United States?

No 3 says grain will sell for less. That is false, for grain is sold into the world market only, not into a local or national market.

The five statements that follow are a mixture of falsehood and absurdity.

No. 9 complains that manufactured goods are not to come into this country free under the agreement. What does Canada manufacture that we do not manufacture in such quantities that we sell a surplus to Canada? So what would we gain by admitting such things free when there are none to be admitted?

No 10 refers to "the free lumber fake." The agreement provides for the free entry of "timber, hewn or sawed, squared or sided or creosoted, planks and deals not further manufactured than sawed, of cherry, chestnut, gumwood, hickory and white wood," oak, pitch pine, redwood, walnut, white ash, "pine and spruce clapboards," fence posts and railroad ties, telegraph and telephone poles, "staves, not further manufactured than listed or jointed," "stave bolts (shingle bolts, etc.)" Not much "fake" about that.

And the last three "reasons" are taken bodily from the same texts that have served in times past to delude the farmer on the whole tariff idea.

Manufactured articles and manufacturers should not be given the protection that they have been and are being given under the tariff graft. The people know that, now, without being told. But it would avail nothing to remove the duty on such articles from Canada when Canada has none of them to send us. That is a matter for general tariff legislation, and the new congress will take that up in its proper order. This agreement is an entirely separate proposition. It demands immediate action, and it should be ratified by congress before any other action is taken.

If the people of North Dakota want to know where all this anti-reciprocity "dope" is coming from they have only to remember that the American Protective Tariff league has begun war on reciprocity, because it knows that reciprocity with Canada will mean the overthrow of the iniquities that are flourishing under the high tariff graft. And the American Protective Tariff league is a name that spells oppression to the American people.

GOOD FOR JUDGE CARPENTER!

There is so much eminent common sense and justice in the decision of Judge Carpenter of the United States district court in Chicago, in the case of the indicted meat packers, that it cannot help but strike a popular chord in the whole country. It is a decided victory for right and the interests of the people.

To state it briefly, Judge Carpenter ruled that the old immunity bath is broken, and the packers must face trial on the charge that they have been violating the law of the land in their combination to control the price of food. Had he decided otherwise the action would have been regarded by the country at large as an additional abuse of the power of the courts, regarding whose actions in matters affecting the great trusts and monopolies that have been accused of illegal acts from time to time, there has grown a notable distrust among the people.

The granting of the privilege of the immunity bath never has been satisfactorily explained to the bulk of the people. It has been customary in the courts for many years to be lenient with any member of a gang of criminals who would turn state's evidence, and there never has been a murmur of disapproval. But when this course was extended so as to let all the guilty parties involved come into court, testify against themselves and each other and then go scot free, the plain folks began to ask where the thing was to end.

Evidently, that question has been answered by this decision. If the judge who presided in the earlier cases was minded to let the whole outfit go after they had taken the bath, that was one matter; but it was an entirely different proposition when it came to allowing the effects of that bath to hold over and do away with the results of actions committed after the bath was taken. It may be, as the packers contended, that the illegal acts subsequent to their confessions and admissions were planned before the immunity question came up. But the planning of an act and its accomplishment are very different matters, and by their continuance of their combination after they themselves had admitted its existence and, by their acceptance of immunity, also admitted its illegality and their knowledge of wrong-doing, the packers have virtually placed themselves in the hands of the law, and given the government a good case.

The packers have lost another step in their fight against the power of law and justice. The government should lose no time in pushing the prosecution.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS.

Duluth tax-payers have reason to congratulate themselves on the determination of the city engineering department, the board of public works and the water and light department to co-operate to some extent in their work. It is a step that should have been taken long ago, since, as was pointed out in the announcement of their intention, such action means a saving of energy, time and money, a saving that will be registered in the pockets of the citizens who have to foot the bills.

To be sure, this co-operation is not to be complete. It will extend only to various improvements that are contemplated from time to time. That is, it will affect only new work that may be taken up, and will not invade the territory of the regular, routine duties of the three departments interested. But even in this form it is a gain for the city, and the determination of the officials to take such action means better conduct of municipal affairs as far as such activity extends.

It is natural to ask, in view of the value which is placed on this step, why it would not be of yet greater benefit to the city if co-operation were extended to include all the departments of city work. It certainly would be of much greater value. It would mean a saving of time, energy and money in every branch of the city government. And that is just what The Herald has been urging for many months; that is just what the joint committee of the Commercial club and the common council recommended, and that is just what the thinking citizens of Duluth are in favor of accomplishing. Only instead of putting the proposition in those words, they have been summed up in the phrase "government by commission."

For that is just what "government by commission" means—co-operation among all the departments of the city's government. It means saving of time, energy and money. It means, as a result of such saving, greater efficiency than is possible under the old plan of government. It means concentration of the authority of the people, with the people themselves in constant control through the operation of the initiative, referendum and recall.

Duluth will be the gainer through this present step toward co-operation. Meanwhile the charter commission is working out a charter for the application of the scheme of government by commission to Duluth, and the people cannot do better than to familiarize themselves with the principles of the commission plan, and the forms in which it can best be realized, so that they may be ready to vote honestly and intelligently on the new charter when it is placed before them at the polls.

THANK YOU, DOCTOR.

Writing to the Open Court, Dr. W. A. Coventry, president of the St. Louis County Medical society, last night warned the readers of The Herald against the indiscriminate use of certain drugs that are put on the market by vendors of proprietary remedies. He pointed out the danger that lies in a possible overdose of a powerful medicinal agent, and suggested that in any such case the medicine should be used only under the direction of and with strict attention to the rules laid down by a practicing physician.

In the name of the people of Duluth, The Herald extends its thanks to Dr. Coventry for his warning. Drugs are known by many names. They may be dangerous or harmless for all the general public knows about them. They may be accompanied in any given compound by other agents that serve to neutralize their effects, or they may be in such a form that serious results will follow their use by the inexperienced and uninformed person.

The pure food and drugs act provides a certain amount of protection in all these cases by providing that the ingredients of medicines must be named on the label. But often these names mean nothing to the purchaser, and he must depend on better informed persons for information as to the safety of their use. And who is to give this information if it is not the druggist or the physician? Often the medicine is ordered by mail, and the druggist has no chance to explain its character. In that case it is safe only to ask some practicing physician about the nature and use of the contents of vial or package.

There are proprietary medicines that accomplish good results. There are others that work principally or wholly through the imagination of the person who takes them. And there is a third class that is absolutely harmful. In any case it is the moral if not the legal and professional duty of the physician to warn a patient whom he finds using a drug that may, by ignorant or inadvertent use, cause sickness or death. In the present instance, Dr. Coventry has performed a real service to the public by his action in showing the character of the drug offered for sale, and he is entitled to the thanks of the public for that service.

Spring having been officially sprung, it is in order to hope that winter will not hesitate to wind up its affairs and retire.

Perhaps the real cause of that Mexican revolution is the kind of names they have for the cities and things down there.

It is claimed that reciprocity with Canada would drive American farmers across the border. But according to the latest government statistics from Ottawa, there were 102,000 American farmers made that move in the last ten months. And yet there was no reciprocity.

UNITED STATES AND CANADA

By SAVOYARD.

There is little room to doubt that a day will come when there will be a political union of the United States and Canada, but not by absorption, and Champ Clark and everybody else, even the babe at the breast, long ere that, will have supped as did old Polonius—not where we eat, but where we are eaten; a certain convocation of politic worms will be "e'en at us. Your woe is your only emperor for diet.

Long after all of us are dead and turned to clay, there will be a federation of the Anglo-Saxon peoples, by that time numbering some 300,000,000 and more. Physically, mentally, morally, industrially, commercially and financially the race will dominate the world, with many seats of power in both hemispheres, from pole to pole. In addition to the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the United States of America, there will be the confederation of those mighty free states of Canada, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, and others with English law, English speech, English thought, English literature, and all bound together, homogeneous and irresistible.

The beginning of this gigantic combination will be a complete commercial union between our republic and the northern dominion, and the reciprocity convention negotiated for the two in 1911 is the beginnig of that absolute commercial union. There will follow trade reciprocity with the entire British empire, which, after a time, will culminate in the political federation of all peoples who "speak the tongue that Shakspeare spake."

Such alliance will prove resistless, and having the strongest sword and the longest purse, it will command and maintain the world's peace.

Then other Caucasion peoples will seek to shed the cruel shackles that fetter trade, and they, too, will join the commercial union, and trade will become free throughout Christendom. If universal peace is to be, here is the road over which it will pass, and the billions now voted to glut the malice of Moloch will be devoted to the reclamation and conservation of the boundless wildernesses and trackless jungles of Africa and South America. After some scoro years of such international politics the world's larder will grow fat and its garbage bucket turn lean. Then in a century or two the prophecy of Isaiah ii., 4, will be fulfilled and man begin to be civilized. First rid yourself of the tariff and give your posterity a chance. Look at the republic of America and the united states of the German empire, in each of which nations there is absolute free trade between the people of different communities. And there is nothing in our own country that surpasses the material advancement of the German empire since Bismarck provided free trade between its various states.

Suppose this political union between the republic and the Dominion of Canada, so impudently, if not improvidently, discussed by Champ Clark, should come. What a revolution it would make in our party politics! Every political platform would be a fulsome eulogy of the "right little, tight little isle." Every candidate would love the "mother country" and be an Anglomaniac from skin to marrow and from marrow to skin. We would have the novel and startling preachment of a certain Yankee of the long ago, "Blood is thicker than water."

"Of course, if this marriage between the United States and Canada should be consummated, it will not be an elopement. And Mother England will give her cordial consent and devout blessing, and it would be the most profitable and most auspicious political investment Great Britain ever made, beating the union with Scotland out of sight. Canada would be turned into numerous states of the Union, all with senators and representatives in congress and all with votes in the electoral college. Every one of those states would be Anglomaniac from banquet to metropolis, from kneadingtrough to legislature, from home fireside to church altar. A while ago no political platform was finished that did not have an "Irish plank"; but that sort of politics would be a skeleton in the closet, along with the bloody shirt of "'tis thirty years since." With such conditions, what more natural than a hard and fast diplomatic alliance with Great Britain that would soon wax to be political federation?

We narrowly escaped that consummation six years ago, and it was defeated by the instinctive wisdom of George Washington and the homely wisdom of Benjamin Franklin. Wedderburn, who "never entered upon a forlorn hope, nor threw away the scabbard," if we are to credit "Junius," was the brains of Lord North's administration, and he insisted on "throwing in" Canada when the treaty acknowledging our independence was negotiated. He saw, as Washington and Franklin saw, that France would demand Canada of us as an indemnity for her efforts in our behalf. Washington and Franklin preferred England for neighbor rather than France, and they rejected the gift, knowing that it would occasion war with France, which would have forced our alliance with England, which in turn would have resulted in allegiance to the British crown after England drubbed France for us, as would have been the case had Wedderburn succeeded in "throwing in" Canada.

I have employed the term Anglo-Saxon in observance of general custom and in defiance of strict accuracy. We need not appeal to Dean Swift to learn that the imagination, which is the womb of things, is stronger than the memory, which is the grave of things—hence Anglo-Saxon it is and Anglo-Saxon it will be as long as men speak of those who employ the English tongue The highest type of Anglo-Saxon is not yet come. All of us must agree with Dr. Eliot, president eraeritus of Harvard, when he opines that a miscegenation of the Caucasian and Mongolian, or the Caucasian and the Ethiopian, produces a lower order of human being; but when he says that marriage between a Scandinavian and a Slav, or, in short, between any two families of the white race, produces a similar lowering of the species, he lays himself liable to challenge.

Leaving America out of account, for we are not yet of age, the English have shown more intellectual genius and more physical virility than any other people of all history, ancient or modern, and there are more bloods in England than in France, or Germany, or Spain, or Italy. Your Englishman is Teuton and Celt. It does not require a rioting imagination or a fancy that the blood of Boadicea is in the veins of George V, and who shall say that the blood of Caesar's and of Agricola's legions is not perpetuated in the veins of the yeomen of Nottinghamshire and the herdsmen of Northumberland? Is it not possible that Francis Bacon was the direct lineal descendant of the Emperor Julian?

What a mixture of this all-conquering Caucasian race the future American will be, made up as he will be of all the bloods of Europe from where the Danube finds the sea to where the Nerva falls into the gulf and the Elba dilutes the Baltic. With Anglo-Saxon for base, this American will inherit from Celts, Latin, German, Scandinavian and Slav. There will be a tinge of Greek, also, and a little of the blood of Asia Minor.

That American is not yet come, but he will arrive ere the close of the century, and a mighty man he will be, and all the better for the many strains of the Caucasian race he will represent. He will have the pluck and steadiness of England, the humor and enthusiasm of Ireland, the rugged hardihood of Scotland, the ceaseless persistency of Germany, the gayety and the clan of France, the rich imagination of Spain, the eye of beauty and love of art of Italy, the unwavering perseverance of Scandinavia, and the brilliant dash of Poland.

This creature will possess North America from the tropics to the Pole and at table he will take the seat of MacGregor. He is looking for it already, and when he sits in it he will be a brave and a mighty man that shall strive to remove him.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WAS WRITTEN BY MRS. EDDY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

On your editorial page last night you published a poem, "Shepherd Show Me How to Go." The initials "Mrs. G. J. M." were signed to the same. This poem was written by Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of Christian Science, and is copyrighted. I write this so that the one who wrote it may have the proper credit. Yours truly,

BORCHARD AND THE TEMPO RUBATO.

To the Editor of The Herald:

There are many musicians and intelligent listeners in this town who wish to take exception to some of the criticisms and especially the general tone of the article on the Borchard concert appearing in the esteemed morning paper.

The critic says that Borchard abuses the tempo rubato. For what is tempo rubato except for the use of the great pianist? If he has his technic at his finger tips, his ability to use the tempo rubato determines his greatness. He is not to be tied down to the metronome. Leave that to the schoolgirl. How can we dare to criteize the tempo rubato of a great pianist? Borchard is a great pianist and his conception of the tempo rubato is his greatest gift. It is that which he comes to show us.

The worst in the article was the sneering tone of the whole thing. Why should we bring a great artist here and then pick him to pieces?

The true critic is an optimist. He knows that a sneering tone and a show of superficial knowledge mark him as conceited and incompetent.

Allow us to suggest that when a great artist visits Duluth that some competent musician do the writing up in the papers. The Duluth musical public has been long-suffering.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

W. C. F. Pearson of Third street was made happy by the recent passage of the bill for the payment of the French spoliation claims. John Pearson of Newburgport, Mass., great-grandfather of the Duluth man, had three vessels which were seized by the French. Two of them had sugar cargoes, and the claim for damages was $20,000. There are no other heirs except Mr. Pearson and his two sisters. He hails from Bangor, Me., and has been a resident of Duluth for only two years.

Two Harbors is in an uproar. About 1 o'clock yesterday morning, John Kinsella, a resident of the village, was taken out of his room in the North Shore house, of which place he is proprietor, and given a serenade by whitecaps. The trouble grew out of his recent candidacy for the presidency of the village council, for which he was defeated by H. M. Urey, who keeps a drug store by 153 to 139. Several bitter letters by Kinsella, which appeared in the Iron Port, caused threats of violence to be made against him. When seized by three masked men this morning he was dragged down two flights of stairs on his back with a rope around his neck to a barn 200 feet away. There he was shot three times and given a coat of tar. Kinsella arrived in Duluth today to swear out warrants for the arrest of his assailant. A. D. Lacey Wood, the editor of the Iron Port, had to have a guard of three armed men in his bedroom last night. Everybody is wild with terror and not a soul went to sleep in the village last night.

Representative Wagoner of Kittson county has introduced a bill in the legislature providing for the erection of two state grain elevators, one at Minneapolis and one at Duluth, each of 1,000,000 bushels capacity, and appropriating $600,000 for their construction, with $340,000 additional to purchase ground for the Duluth house.

At a meeting of the directors of the Imperial Mill company, a semi-annual dividend was declared, payable April 15. The mill has been in operation a year and a half and this is the third semi-annual distribution of profits. While the two former dividends have been 4 per cent each, the present one is to be 5 per cent, and the amount already put to surplus is several times the total of the dividends.

E. S. Ells, an expert accountant of Cambridge, Mass., is the guest of Dr. Titcomb and may locate here.

Rev. W. L. Clarke, pastor of the Lakeside Presbyterian church, left today for Chicago, where he will be married to Miss Fanny M. Hanford. They will return to Duluth in a few days and reside on Salter row.

Negotiations for the sale of the Bank of West Duluth to the Manufacturers bank have been closed. The capital stock of the latter will be increased to $50,000, with a surplus of $5,000. H. P. Smith remains as cashier.

C. A. Pearson left last evening for Muskegon, Mich., where he will marry Miss Helene Dixon on April 1. After a short trip they will return to Duluth and be at home at 313 West Fourth street.

WHAT RECIPROCITY IS.

New York Times: In the first place it is a crowning of the policy of lasting peace that has been maintained, not without difficulty, along our northern border for nearly a century. It makes for peace in two ways. It largely secures the benefits of freer commerce between the countries, and this is a great gain because it is the hindrances to trade that cause bad feeling, which the liberty of mutual trade tends to prevent and to replace by countless ties of good feeling. In this process the agreement opens the channels of commerce northward and southward and practically puts an end to the policy of the British Tories, which aims at blocking these channels and directing the currents of trade eastward across the ocean to the special gain of England. Incidentally, our acceptance of the agreement would also destroy the hope of the British Tories to establish a tariff wall about the markets of England, with the avowed purpose of reducing American trade. These are results of great and permanent value which, in themselves, are enough to decide the votes of reasonable members of congress.

In the second place, reciprocity is the beginning of the policy that will powerfully protect the natural resources of our own country, to the conservation of which the nation has devoted years of study and is preparing to expend many millions of dollars. It would at once open to us the immense actual and increasing supplies of food and of forest products existing in the great dominion, and give to us the same priceless advantages we have derived in the past from like resources within our own borders. Our growth has been so rapid that we have only lately begun to understand its effects. A score of years ago we still looked upon those resources as practically boundless and their exploitation as the sure means of incalculable prosperity. Within ten years we, as a nation, have come to know that their limits are quite within comprehension and that our constantly and swiftly advancing demands are outgrowing the certain supply. The basic need of food and shelter and the infinite industrial needs of a great people for wood in its varied uses are now becoming distinctly serious and are bound to become pressing. The agreement with Canada offers us free access to resources comparable to our own before our tremendous growth encroached upon them. To refuse this would be as crass an act of folly as for the commander of a besieged garrison to decline convoys of provisions.

It would be all the more foolish because our varied industries supply us with ample means to purchase all that we may require. Already Canada takes nearly two-thirds of its imports from the United States—$223,000,000 out of $376,000,000—and with its sure advance in population and in all forms of activity will constantly take more. Our trade with Canada is in its infancy. We took last year some $20,000,000 in lumber, some $6,000,000 in pulp and paper, $6,000,000 in fish, and so on through what is an insignificant list considered in its relations to her resources and our requirements. The proposed treaty, measured by the actual trade that it would immediately influence, is not of great importance. Some $22,000,000 of Canadian goods and $30,000,000 of American goods are freed from duty, while the possibilities of the future are very great. There are not in our own country 6,000,000 of people better equipped by native qualities and by training than are the people of Canada for the progressive development of their rich inheritance, and with every year when the barriers to trade which are in part lowered by this agreement shall be removed, this people, while wholly independent politically, will be as valuable to our economic progress as those of the Middle West or the Pacific slope. They will prosper, and we shall find our prosperity grow with theirs. They will grow strong and we shall be the more secure for their strength.

"Canada," says the president, "has cost us nothing in the way of preparations for defense against her possible assault, and she never will." And the establishment of a free, strong and friendly people across our northern border, bound to us by the countless intimate ties of trade and mutual interest, is an appreciable guaranty of peaceful relations with the great empire of which Canada is a vital part. Every rational consideration of our immediate and future advantage, of the economic and political security of ourselves, and of the far greater nation whose welfare we hold in trust, demands that the agreement with Canada shall be accepted, carried out and ultimately extended. Any member of the senate or of the house who from narrow partisan or local motives obstructs this measure of broad and far-reaching beneficence is unworthy of his office.

The Premium on Abnormality.

"Could we, in pursuance of De Quincy's advice, select our ancestors, a cursory examination of modern social facts would, I am sure," says Scott Nearing of the University of Pennsylvania in the Survey, "induce those of us who yearn for the comforts of life to join the ranks of the defectives, dependents, or delinquents rather than to cast our lot with the family of an unskilled American workman.

"Such a choice would be inevitable, because the child who is being cared for in a modern child-saving institution is not only assurred of a constant supply of the necessaries of life, but is actually receiving more of these necessaries than the child in the family of an unskilled workingman. For the sake of clearness, we shall ignore the problems of mal-nutrition, insanitation, overcrowding, sweated work, and street life which, while universal in the homes of the poor, are wholly absent in the modern child-saving institution. This gives, at the outset, a handicap in favor of the home. Nevertheless, by contrasting the actual expenditures in each case, one can show that the child in the institution is better supplied with the economic necessaries of life than is the child in the unskilled worker's home."

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

People's Will Thwarted.

Bemidji Pioneer: Although a good many things pointed to such a catastrophe, it was hard to believe that the senate would set itself up above party platforms, political promises, the pleading of the governor and voice of the people and refuse to pass a reapportionment bill. No part of the state more keenly feels this tyrannical action on the part of the upper branch of the legislature than do the residents of the North, who have long suffered the injustice of under representation. That the plain will of the people should be thwarted by a couple dozen selfish despots who have obtained power under false colors sounds like the echo from the duma of Russia rather than from a legislative body in free America. It is no wonder that the newspapers scream with indignation, for they but reflect the sentiment of the public.

Should Not be Tolerated.

St. Cloud Times: Corporal punishment may be necessary in the control and government of the class of boys sent to the Red Wing training school, but such cruel, brutal and inhuman punishment as has been inflicted upon boys at that institution, should not be tolerated by the people of Minnesota. If the published reports of developments are true, Supt. Whitcher and his "heads of families" should be given a permanent leave of absence. Ex-Senator Stephens is entitled to thanks for the charges which led to the present investigation.

Too Much Selfishness.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The state senate is making a great bluff at reapportionment, but only the foolish will be fooled. There is too much selfishness in the makeup of the majority of the senators to legislate themselves out of office.

Hope of the Nation.

Perham Enterprise: President Taft's hope, and the hope of the nation is now centered in a democratic congress. The G. O. P. has outlived its usefulness, except for the special interests.

Should Get a Jail Term.

Princeton Union: According to The Duluth Herald unprincipled villains have been handing samples of patent medicines to young children and leaving the dope on porches. There is probably as much poison in a sample box of those pills as there is in a rat biscuit, and a person found distributing such stuff should be given a jail term.

Proved His Valor.

International Falls Press: Congressman Miller of this district has not only made good by his success in getting the many bills passed that have come up for the benefit of his district, but has proved his valor by voting for the Canadian reciprocity agreement, when all his Minnesota colleagues voted against it.

Difference in Soil.

Cloquet Independent: A Southern Minnesota editor is bewailing the fact that settlers pass by the lands of that section and go on to the new lands of the northern part of the state. The same editor forgets that the land seeker can get land for one-fourth or one-fifth the price in the newer sections, and get virgin soil at that. There is a tremendous difference between virgin soil at $25 an acre and exhausted soil at $100. But we join our Southern brother in his lament because there are so unreasonably many that pass up Minnesota altogether.

A BAD COLD IS EASILY BROKEN

There is not one grain of quinine in Pape's Cold Compound, which, when taken every two hours, until three consecutive doses are taken, will surely end the grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

It promptly relieves the most miserable neuralgia pains, headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, catarrhal affections, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

DRINK ALWAYS BRINGS DISASTER

Creates Craving Which Nothing But More Drink Will Satisfy.

DRINKER MUST HAVE HELP.

There may be successful men who are heavy drinkers, yet they are successful in spite of rather than by reason of it. The men who can drink and be successful are so rare in strength of character as to make them an unsafe precedent in considering the average man. To the average man habitual indulgence in intoxicants is practically certain to result in disaster. It breaks down his nerve system. It unfits him for business. He loses caste. He loses money. The habit brings sorrow to his friends and poverty, misery and deprivation to his family. The thing to do is stop it and stop it now. Every successive indulgence confirms the habit and makes it harder to break. A man finding himself on the down grade, however, is constantly beset with a craving for stimulants which he in time is no longer able to resist, for constant indulgence not only creates that morbid craving but also weakens the will power so that it is impossible to resist. He must have help. It is such help that the Neal three-day-cure for the drink-habit extends to him. It takes away the craving—destroys it utterly—leaves in its place a distaste for and an aversion to liquor. It brings about this miraculous change in three days. This is no rash statement for it has been demonstrated in thousands of cases. It matters not how long you have been drinking or how much you are drinking nor how many other treatments have failed. The Neal treatment will cure in just three days. It is safe, harmless and positive. There are no failures. No hypodermic injections are given and no powerful or poisonous drugs are used. There are no bad after-effects. Every patient receives a plain contract agreeing to effect a perfect cure in three days—and to the entire satisfaction of the patient—or return the full fee paid. If you are afflicted with the drink habit and really want to be cured, write to Neal Institute Co., corner Belknap and Seventh streets, Superior, Wis., for their free booklet giving full information and a copy of their contract and guarantee bond. It will be mailed to you under a plain sealed envelope and everything will be strictly confidential. You can be treated at the Superior Institute, or at the St. Paul, Minn., Institute, 676 Dayton avenue, or the Minneapolis, Minn., Institute, corner Fourth avenue south and Seventh street, whichever happens to be the most convenient to you.

EVELETH AWAITS POTATO SPECIAL

Eveleth, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Much interest is manifested in the potato special coming here under the auspices of the Duluth Commercial club and the state agricultural school, next Wednesday afternoon. Two sessions will be held here, one from 1:30 to 6 p. m., and the other from 8 to 10 p. m. The speakers are assured good attendance as C. L. Brown of the agricultural school and A. B. Hostetter of the Duluth Commercial club both made a good impression at the farmers' institute held here last spring.

The coming of the potato special is being well advertised by members of the local Commercial club, and large numbers of farmers are expected to attend.

HIBBING MEN ACQUIRE LAND

Purchase Large Tract in Meadowlands Locality and Will Improve It.

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Matthew J. McGovern and Rupert Swinerton of Hibbing, have purchased a Meadowlands tract and will immediately proceed to carry out a well planned policy of improvement. The township in which the village is located already has fifty miles of graded roads and a population of 500 people in the immediate vicinity, and settlers are constantly coming to increase the size of the conwerty. The valley in which the village is located is one of the richest in land in the district and the truck farms and gardens have produced crops that have won many prizes.

MAKI LOSES HIS SUIT FOR $5,000

Jury at Virginia Decides He Is Not Entitled to Recover Damages.

Virginia, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The jury in the district court in the case of Frank Maki against the Virginia & Rainy Lake company returned a verdict yesterday afternoon in favor of the defendant company. Maki was employed in the lumber camps of the company north of this city, and last December while loading cars was injured. He alleged in his complaint that the accident was due to the negligence and carelessness of one of the employes of the company. He asked for $5,000 damages.

Is Suing for $5,000.

The case of Joe Samsa against the Oliver Iron Mining company is now on trial in district court. It was called directly after the case of Frank Maki against the Virginia & Rainy Lake company went to the jury yesterday, but Judge Hughes was obliged to adjourn court until this morning because of the lack of jurors, the regular panel having been exhausted by the Maki case and because many of the jurors had been excused.

Samsa is suing the mining company for $5,000 for injuries alleged to have been received while in the employ of the company at its Genoa mine near Sparta. He claims that he fell down a hole at the mine and that the accident was through the negligence and carelessness of the company.

CLAMPS DOWN HIBBING LID

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is rejoicing here today among the temperance advocates over the clamping down of the lid promptly at 11 last night for the first time in five years. Mayor Weirick issued the necessary orders to Chief of Police Peter Wring and that officer and his men saw that every saloon was closed, even the back doors, at 11 last night. Mayor Weirick is said to have left town today, for several days, and it cannot be learned what inspired the action, but rumor has it that it resulted from representations made to the mayor by Rev. J. S. Pickard, the pastor of the Presbyterian church, a leader in the temperance movement, who is said to have carried out the threat of the temperance element, made before the late election, that if the "drys" lost they would see that every saloon is closed at 11 and all day Sunday.

GOOD THINGS BEING SOUGHT

Virginia Commercial Club Publicity Club Will Get Busy Friday.

Virginia, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The publicity committee of the Commercial club will meet tomorrow night to plan for securing several good propositions for Virginia. The postal savings bank, the postoffice building proposition and the reapportionment bill, besides a number of other matters will be taken up.

The committee is composed of E. C. A. Johnson, N. J. Smith, F. E. Lister, W. E. Hannaford, D. E. Cuppernull and R. G. Sherwood, and they plan many good things for the city and the northern part of St. Louis county. Another matter of great importance to this end of the county is the good roads project and this will be thoroughly discussed at the meeting.

TWO HARBORS FANCIER HAS PRIZE-WINNERS

FRED THIAS' PLYMOUTH ROCKS AND PRIZES.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred W. Thias, a local chicken fancier, is proud of the prizes, twenty-six in all, won by his White Plymouth Rocks. The picture shows some of his prize birds and the two silver cups and several ribbons captured. He has many winnings to his credit this season, captured at Superior, Duluth, Austin, Minn; and Two Harbors poultry shows.

START SAWING MONDAY.

Virginia, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mill of the W. T. Bailey Lumber company will start sawing next Monday and a crew of about fifty men will be put on the job. The company has a large amount of logs in the pond and more will be shipped in to keep the plant in operation until it freezes up in the fall.

The mill will run on a ten-hour shift and will cut about 50,000 feet of timber per day. W. T. Bailey of Duluth, president of the company, is superintending preparations for the starting of the mill and will remain here until the plant is in full operation. R. R. Bailey, secretary of the company, will, as usual, have the management of the plant. W. T. Bailey, Jr., will be in charge of the shipping of logs to the plant. This is one of the solid industrial institutions of the city and gives employment to many men during the summer season as well as many during the winter months in the logging camps. The mill needed very little repairs this spring and the company was only waiting the opening of the pond to start operations.

DRUNKEN MAN'S LUCK.

Jumps From Hotel in Virginia Twenty-Five Feet, Unhurt.

Virginia, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—George White, who jumped from a third-story window at the Central hotel Tuesday night and who has since been taken care of at the police headquarters, is coming out of the spell in good shape. When he made the jump he was deranged from drink and when he was found sitting in a pool of water in the alley at the rear of the hotel he seemed to be quite contented with his lot. The distance from the window to the shed below where he landed is about twenty-five feet and it is a miracle that he was not seriously injured. White registered at the Central Tuesday night and the clerk did not notice anything wrong with his condition at that time. After being consigned to his room White disrobed and shortly after was found in the alley with only a nightshirt on. He was taken to police headquarters and cared for there. His home is at Marquette, Mich., and he had come on the range for a short visit with friends.

COOK, MINN., HOME SADDENED

Eveleth, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Stella, the 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Pernu of Cook, died yesterday at the More hospital after an illness of ten days with meningitis. The deceased attended school at Cook and was regarded as a very bright pupil. She resided on her fathr's homestead, and was very popular at Cook.

She was the only girl in a family of many boys. It is planned to hold the funeral from the Finnish Lutheran church at Virginia, with Rev. Mr. P. C. Keranen of this city officiating. Interment will be made at Virginia.

AURORA HIGH SCHOOL WORK IS PROGRESSING.

Aurora, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The construction work on the new high school for this district was commenced this week and about forty masons and bricklayers are now being employed. The basement work was completed last fall before the cold weather set in. Bowe-Burke company, the contractors, expect to have the building ready for the opening of school next September.

BREWING BOWLING CLUBS WILL MEET IN DULUTH.

Virginia, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia Brewing conpany bowling team, formerly known as Currie's Kittens, will go to Duluth next Monday night for a series of games with the Pitger Brewing company team of that city.

The local team has defeated everything in Virginia as well as on the range and the Fitger team will have to go some to get a look in with this bunch. The Mohami club team of this city is composed of a bunch of fast bowlers and they are a close second to the Virginia Brewers. Many games have been scheduled for the next two weeks and some interesting contests are expected to develop from these games. Both the Lusk & Sigel and the Mohami club alleys are in fine condition and some very good scores are being marked up by individual players.

WEDDING ENDS ROMANCE.

Eveleth, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—William E. Gravert, a merchant of Marble, Minn., was married last evening to Miss Augusta Fessler of this city, by Rev. Phillip A. Schwarz, Jr., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. James on Jackson street. Only intimate friends and relatives were present. Mrs. H. V. Miller of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Walter B. James of this city, sisters of the bride attended. The ceremony was followed by a wedding supper.

The couple formerly resided near Appleton, Wis., and were well acqualnted before coming to the range. The bridegroom has resided at Marble, for two years and is well known on the western end of the range, while his bride is well known here for her many accomplishments. The couple left today for Marble where they will make their future home.

SEEKS WINNIPEG MATCH.

Hibbing Ring Artist Would Have Go in Canada.

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Plapper, "Pal" Brown's trainer, will go to Winnipeg next week to interview Canadian promoters to arrange a bout with Frankie White about the middle of May. Plapper will probably arrange a bout with Harry Forbes. Brown is steadily gaining ground under the skillful hands of his trainer.

The exhibition which took place here a few days ago will probably be the last in Hibbing for a long while at any rate as far as Brown is concerned, as it is stated that he will seek faster company.

RANGE AMATEUR LEAGUE.

To Include Aurora, Biwabik, Elba, Gilbert and Eveleth.

Aurora, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A movement has been started by W. L. Williams to organize a five-team league of range amateur baseball teams. Aurora, Biwabik, Elba, Gilbert and Eveleth will be included.

Managers and baseball enthusiasts from nearly all the towns mentioned have been consulted and all appear favorable to the scheme. Games will be played Sundays and this will leave each team one open date each month to play teams not in the league. Each of the towns will have a fast ball team the coming summer and the games should prove interesting and draw large crowds.

ATHLETICS GIVEN GAME.

Protestants in Two Harbors Contest Win Their Contention.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the basket ball game last night at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, the Tigers sprung one of the biggest surprises of the season when they decisively defeated the Athletic association by the score of 31 to 24. Saturday evening the Wolverines will play the Bull Dogs and next Monday night the Die Spielers and Athletics will clash. The game between the Woverines and Athletics played last week which was protested by the Athletics came before the board of managers last night and they decided to grant the game to the Athletics. The game as originally played resulted in a tie, 25 to 25, at the expiration of the time. The tie was played off, the Wolverines winning, 27 to 25, but the Athletics protested on the ground that they had not been marked up a field basket which they made in the first half. Ralph McCurdy, scorekeeper, corroborated their statements and the game was allowed them. The Wolverines, however, had entered a second protest.

ALGER-SMITH MAY START SAWMILL

Tower Is Hoping Plant There May Be Put at Work on Burned Timber.

Tower, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a rumor current that the Alger-Smith company may start its big mill here this year sawing a large amount of the fire-damaged timber of the Oliver Iron Mining company. The local representative of the company is out of town, presumably on matters connected with the resumption of the plant and it is expected he will have something to say on his return.

If the plant is run it will give employment to 350 men and prove a big boon to Tower and vicinity.

Had Large Cut.

The Vermilion Lumber company yesterday broke camp at Pike river and was busy all day moving the logging paraphernalia back to the city. The cut was a large one and the early break up necessitated leaving a part of it in the woods. The cut includes a lot of pine timber, which will make a very desirable quality of lumber and will be much sought for by the large dealers.

FINE ASSEMBLY ROOM

Of Eveleth High Where Class Play Will Be Presented.

Eveleth, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local high school auditorium in which the senior class play, Tennyson's five-act drama, "The Princess," is to be presented Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday evening, is regarded as one of the best arranged assembly rooms on the range. It seats 144 pupils, and every convenience for diligent study is afforded the pupils. The stage is highly praised by visitors at the school. The curtain depicts a beautiful scene and the exterior is handsomely decorated. Special scenery has been purchased by the school board for the stage, which is one of the largest on the range. It is used for many school entertainments. The managers of the play believe it will be an easy matter to accommodate the expected large crowds at the performances.

NEW HIBBING BLOCK.

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. M. Sheehy, agent here for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, will put up a brick veneer business block at the cornor of Third avenue and Sellers street.

The building of this block will mark a further aggression of business toward the south end of town. There are other business houses south of this point on Third avenue, but no brick blocks.

The new block will face on Third avenue twenty-five feet and will run back on Sellers street sixty-five feet. It will be one story high and will be constructed on a cement foundation. Mr. Sheehy will rent the building, but has made no arrangements in this respect as yet.

HIBBING BRIEFS.

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Daniel Mark of Eckman, N. D., who is visiting with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Mark, of 332 Washington street, was entertained with a surprise party a few days ago. Cards were played and a delightful lunch served.

Si Bennett of Duluth is sick at the Butchart & Forsman hospital.

Mrs. McDowell of the Morris location entertained friends at a surprise birthday party Tuesday afternoon. Games were played and the hostess was presented with a very beautiful cut glass lemonade pitcher. Thirty ladies were present and all were in the costumes of olden times.

This evening at the Rood hall on Third avenue the ladies of the Presbyterian church will give a chicken pie supper, for which they are making vigorous preparations.

SERANADE LUCKY ONES.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The City Marine band was out serenading the newly elected candidates at their various homes. The candidates responded liberally with donations of cigars, and the Socialists, since they elected nearly their whole ticket will contribute to the Marine band as a whole. The Marine band is making great progress under the new leadership of Mr. Esar.

MAY REMOVE DWELLINGS FROM MINE OPERATIONS.

Eveleth, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is reported that the thirteen houses on the south side of Spruce hill will have to be removed from the city limits to the Fayal township, a short distance up the hill, because of close proximity to mining operations. The residents of the houses have secured lots near the dumping grounds and the city officials believe something will have to be done to improve sanitary conditions in that vicinity.

SAWMILL SCORCHED.

Chisholm, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sawmill of Albert Lohberger, located at the north end of Longyear lake, was slightly damaged Tuesday night by a fire that broke out in the sawdust pile. The fire was extinguished without the fire department having to respond.

Hibbing Revival Success.

Hibbing, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The revival services which began at the Methodist church Monday evening under the direction of the pastor, Rev. J. F. Pickard, promise to be very successful. The attendance last evening was good and considerable interest is being manifested.

Rev. J. J. Parish of Grand Rapids is assisting Mr. Pickard this week. Next week Rev. B. D. Hanscom of Eveleth will be here.

The latter part of this week Mrs. M. J. Kreidler, deaconess of the M. E. Deaconess Home of Duluth will be present.

The meetings will be continued for two or three weeks.

TO RESUME PROSPECTING IN BARTLETT LAKE SECTION.

Northome, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is understood that prospecting for iron ore will be resumed across Bartlett lake April 1, at which time the churn drill will be replaced by a diamond drill.

TOWER BRIEFS.

Tower, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. Joel, formerly connected with the public schools here, has accepted a position at Wheaton, Minn., and has left to assume his new duties.

The new switchboard being installed by the Mesaba Telephone company, in the local office, is nearly completed.

A special meeting of the Commercial club will be held this evening to consider the bond issue, which is to be voted on next Tuesday.

The rehersals for "Belshazzar" are progressing favorably and the people of Tower may soon be able to hear a finished musical production of the highest order.

WOODSMEN FLOCK TO TOWN.

Break Up of Operations Brings Woodsmen to Town.

Northome, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The early spring weather has put a stop to logging operations in this vicinity and the lumberjack is making his way to new fields of labor. Every outgoing train is crowded to the limit with men bound for the cities and other points in search of employment. The loggers all put in a very busy winter, some of them completing their contracts in good season while others failed to finish their hauling before the break-up.

REACH END OF SCHOOL

Crookston School of Agriculture Commencement Exercises.

Governor Eberhart Gives Graduating Class Some Words of Advice.

Crookston, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last evening in the auditorium building at the Crookston School of Agriculture, the class day exercises were held, Supt. C. G. Selvig, presiding. The exercises were of a far more pretentious character than ever before attempted at the institution. In addition to the graduating class all of whom were on the program excepting Victor Johnson, Julia Bruun and Olga Lindfors, who were on the commencement program this afternoon, the entire student body was present and a large delegation from Crookston, together with relatives and friends of the graduates and other students.

Class Day Exercises.

The program was a very excellent one with music by the school chorus a very entertaining feature. The papers and essays were uniformly good and were as follows: Class essay, "Prepared, Yet Just Begun," Winnifred McDonald; "The Drainage Problem," John Thorkelson; "For What Have I My Education," Elsie Barrett; "The Dairy Cow," Silas Torvend; "The Four-Course Dinner," Hildur Erlandson; "Milk Testing," Vesta Misner and Peter Nelson; "Co-operation Among Farmers," Carl Eklund; class song, written by Harriet Coulter; "Crop Rotation," Otto Senum.

The class history was read by Angeline Mueller, the class prophecy by Harry Hedin, and the class will by Mae Gunness and proving enjoyable features.

The commencement exercises were held today. The morning was of great practical value as illustrating the nature of the work being done by the school, through regular class work intensified for the occasion, and those present were deeply impressed by the splendid showing made. Governor Eberhart and Dean Woods being among the interested spectators.

The afternoon exercises began at 2:30 and following music and the invocation, Victor Johnsen read a very able paper on "Farming in Northwestern Minnesota," following which there was a demonstration of skirt draughting by Julia Bruun and Olga Lindfors.

Governor Addresses Students.

Governor Eberhart delivered an earnest address, ably complimented the students upon the evidences given of the excellent work done and impressed them with the great bearing on the future of the school their future success would have and urged them to give their best efforts following the line of the instruction they had received. He urged patient, persistent effort and the good results would be certain. The formal presentation of diplomas by Dean Albert F. Woods followed, prefaced by a very earnest address, in which he gave the graduating class and the student body in general some wholesome, practical advice. The alumni reunion takes place Friday, at 7:30 in Stephens hall. The exercises today were attended by the largest crowd ever assembled at the school and a feature was the dinner served to all at noon.

BIG BOY CRIED; WOMEN WEPT

His last hope gone, little Harry Brookmay of Hibbing, broke down and cried, while women wept in sympathy and strong men silently wiped away their tears. The boy, who is 15 years old, had come all the way to the United Doctors' institute to be examined by these medical specialists. Harry was suffering from partial paralysis, due to a fall down stairs, and as many doctors had treated him and all failed to cure, his last hope was centered in his faith in these great specialists.

The boy had been carried into the United Doctors' offices on his father's shoulder, and on account of his weakened condition, other waiting patients gave their turn to him in order that the poor boy might consult the specialist at once. After the boy had been thoroughly examined, the specialist placed his hands on the little fellow's head and, turning to the father said:

"I am very sorry that it is not within my power to cure your boy, but such is the case and therefore I will not treat him."

The father then offered to pay a large sum for treatment in the hope that even if the boy could not be cured he might be benefited, but the specialist was firm, explaining that the boy's condition was due to a deformed condition of the spine and was incurable by medical treatment.

As Harry was being carried through the waiting room he realized that his last hope was blotted out and it was then that he broke down and cried and the waiting patients wept in sympathy. The little fellow brightened up enough to shake hands with the great specialist and thank him for the free examination and say he was glad there was one doctor honest enough not to take papa's money when they could do him no good.

A patient who was in the waiting room at the time, asked if many such pathetic scenes were enacted there. The answer was that they were common as the doctor never accepts a case for treatment unless he feels sure he can effect a complete cure. He wants a clean record of cures, for only on such a foundation can such an enormous practice be maintained.

All day long yesterday the waiting room of the United Doctors' institute on the third floor of the Columbia building, was crowded with sick people waiting to be cured.

VELVA, N. D., GETS SUMMER SCHOOL

Velva, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city will secure the annual summer school for teachers in the northwestern part of the state, June 11 to July 17. The members of the instruction faculty will be Prof. A. G. Crane of Jamestown, as conductor, and A. J. Alexander of Rolla, N. C. Abbot of Fargo, Florence Cotton of the University of Minnesota, Mrs. Welch and Mrs. Cowan of the Minot city schools, Miss Eula Miller of the Valley City normal and several others who have not been engaged as yet.

One of the features will be the emphasis that will be laid upon the teaching of elementary agriculture. Manual training will also receive a prominent place, but the instructors for these branches have not been named as yet.

YOUNG BRIDE CALLED.

Mrs. Harrington of Larimore, N. D., Dies at 17.

Larimore, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A bride of less than three months, Mrs. J. E. Harrington of this city is dead. Her demise followed a very brief illness. She was only 17 years old. Her funeral will be held at Crookston, where a brother resides.

BRECKENRIDGE WOMAN DIES AT GRAND FORKS.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the death of Mrs. M. A. Temple here yesterday, a well known former Breckenridge, Minn., woman pased away. She was a resident of that city twenty-five years while her husband, whose death occurred there seven years ago, was an engineer on the Great Northern railroad. The body will be interred at Crookston.

MARQUETTE BOATS ARE MAKING READY

Marquette, Mich., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—After several months with practically nothing doing in the Marquette harbor, activity among the local marine interests is again noticeable this week. The dredges and tugs owned by the Duluth firm that has the contract for dredging the harbor are being chopped out of the ice with which they are surrounded and needed repairs are being made. The company expects to resume the dredging about April 15. This contract was begun late last fall and was about half finished when winter set in and operations were suspended until spring.

Both the Anderson and Parker fish tugs are being overhauled and if the weather continues favorable actual fishing will be begun next week. During the winter the nets have been repaired and both firms will start out prepared to do a big business this summer. The two tugs are now practically ready for service but they cannot leave the harbor until inspected by United States Steamboat Inspectors Gooding and York, which will probably be done Saturday. As the demand for fish is unusually good at present and prices are high, the fishermen anticipate a fairly prosperous season, provided sufficient trout and whitefish can be invelgled into the nets.

LARIMORE AGAINST IT.

Resolutions Are Adopted Against the Reciprocity Agreement.

Larimore, N. D., March 23.—Opposition to the approval of Canadian reciprocity was voiced at a meeting of the Larimore Commercial club, attended by 250 residents of Larimore and the surrounding district, when resolutions against the treaty were adopted. The club also elected two delegates, Clay Larimore and Thomas L. May, to attend the Grand Forks county anti-reciprocity convention to be held on March 31.

The occasion of the meeting was a banquet given as a result of a big membership campaign carried out by the club, in which about 220 new members were added to the rolls.

CAUGHT IN ISHPEMING.

Man Wanted in Butte, Mont., Is Nabbed in Upper Peninsula.

Ishpeming, Mich., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—John K. O'Rourke, sheriff of Silver Bow county, Mont., left Tuesday night for Butte with Gust Makki as a prisoner. Makki is charged with attempted murder, the crime having been committed at Butte a year ago last summer. Makki was arrested at Ishpeming Saturday by Officers Jacob Lofberg and W. J. Olds.

The Butte officers have been searching for Makki ever since the row in which we was the principal offender, which occurred in a Butte saloon. It was thought for a time that Makki's victim, who was severely stabbed, would not recover, but he is now said to be as well as he was before the stabbing.

Makki formerly lived in Ishpeming, and for several months past he has been working at the American mine.

SOCIALISTS HARD HIT.

Four of Their Measures Annihilated By Wisconsin Legislature.

Madison, Wis., March 23.—Four Socialistic resolutions were defeated in the legislature yesterday. Proposed measures providing for government ownership of railroads, creameries, storage houses and grain elevators were killed. The Stern bill, to make the office of attorney general appointive instead of elective, met the same fate.

MARTIN JOHNSON WILL MEET CHAFFEE.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 23.—Martin Johnson will meet Earl Chaffee in one of the big wrestling matches of the season at the Lyceum theater in this city this evening. Chaffee will be managed by the editor of the Pine City paper. He has defeated Suter of Cleveland, Albright of Minneapolis, Haas of Princeton, Mellum of Minneapolis, and others, and wrestled a draw with Johnson at Moose Lake. The question as to which is the better man will be settled here.

$2,000 Grand Forks Fire.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Damage to the extent of about $2,000 was done in a fire in this city yesterday afternoon in the J. P. Lambe painting store. The fire had its origin in the workshop, supposedly from spontaneous combustion, and the damage by smoke and water proved to be very extensive.

Dynamite Expert Killed.

Hebron, N. D., March 23.—A dynamite blast in the mine of the Hebron Lignite Coal Mining company plant here claimed the life of Frank Smith, the dynamite expert, who arose early in the morning to set of a particularly dangerous blast. Others found him dead, indicating he was the victim of a premature explosion.

Court Ignores Election Squabble.

Minot, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge K. E. Leighton of the district court refused to take a hand in the election fight at Powers Lake village, where application was made by Martin Ledene to prevent the holding of the regular election this week. It was charged by Ledene that the notice of the election that had been given was illegal, but Judge Leighton found otherwise. The case is declared to be the outcome of the town's factional fight.

Pimples Off In 5 Days

Trial Package Sent Free to Prove It.

You don't want to wait forever and a day to get rid of your pimples or other skin eruptions. You want to get rid of them right now. Next week you may want to go somewhere where you wouldn't like to have to take the pimples along.

These wonderful little workers have cured bad boils in three days, and some of the worst cases of skin disease in a week.

They contain as their main ingredient the most thorough, quick and effective blood cleanser known, calcium sulphide.

Remember this, too, that most pimple treatments reek with poison. And they are miserably slow besides.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers have not a particle of poison in them. They are free from mercury, biting drugs or venomous opiates. This is absolutely guaranteed. They cannot do any harm, but they always do good—good that you can see in the mirror before your own eyes a few days after.

Don't be any longer humiliated by having a splotchy face. Don't have strangers stare at you, or allow your friends to be ashamed of you because of your face.

Your blood makes you what you are: The men and women who forge ahead are those with pure blood and pure faces.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers will make you happy because your face will be a welcome sight not only to yourself when you look into the glass, but to everybody else who knows you and talks with you.

We want to prove to you that Stuart's Calcium Wafers are beyond doubt the best and quickest blood and skin purifier in the world—so we will send you a free sample as soon as we get your name and address. Send for it today, and then when you have tried the sample you will not rest contented until you have bought a 50c box at your druggists.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 175 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Menominee—The city treasurer reports the collection of $158,238.95. There remains on the books $8,114.92 delinquent taxes. The contract to pave North Main street with concrete has been awarded to Andrew Carlson.

Manistique—The Chicago Lumbering company, whose mills are at Manistique, has 12,000,000 feet of logs in the Indian river, making a very impressive sight. It is the largest input the company has had for years.

Ishpeming — Charles Gustafson, a deputy sheriff, who was on duty at the American mine all last week because of the strike of the miners there, has returned to the city. He said that practically all of the men who walked out, refusing to accept the orders issued by the management, have returned to their places.

Sault Ste. Marie—Sam Gianakura has returned to the Soo from Tripoli, Greece, where he went last September for a pleasure trip. While away he was married to Miss Anna Papanikolaou, a belle of his native land, who accompanied him to America. They are settling down to housekeeping.

Marquette—The complete report of the fire losses in Marquette during the fiscal year just ended shows that the fire department responded to ninety-four calls, in only twenty-nine of which was there any loss or damage to property, most of the calls being for chimney fires.

Marquette—John Dingman, late of Big Bay but recently of New Dalton, was brought before Justice Byrne Monday on the charge of larceny and was bound over to circuit court in the sum of $500, which he was unable to furnish and went to the county jail. Dingman is scarcely 21 years of age and denies the charges against him.

Calumet—The funeral took place Monday morning of the 6-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Limbach of Raymbaultown. Interment was in Lake View cemetery.

Houghton—Rev. A. J. Rezek, pastor of St. Ignatius' church, announces that Bishop Eis of Marquette will be in Houghton on May 21 to administer the sacrament of confirmation to the annual class of children who have been studying and preparing for this event. Preparations for a large first communion class are being made.

Ontonagon—Elmer Makkinen, who was arrested by County Game Warden St. Clair Wilson, charged with killing deer out of season and setting traps for beaver was given a hearing before a Mass City justice of the peace and sentenced to sixty days in the Ontonagon jail on the former charge. On his completion of that sentence he will be arraigned on the charge of trapping beaver.

Houghton—Phillip Peiffer, treasurer of Schoolcraft township, has made his returns to County Treasurer Rashleigh showing a delinquent list of $271.20 out of a total state and county roll of $9,147.29.

Hancock—Prof. Sanfrid Mustonen is training a choir of seventy-five voices for a concert to be given at the dedication of the new pipe organ of the Finnish Lutheran church, donated by Andrew Johnson and which is expected to be finished and installed next month.

Calumet—Mrs. Joseph Lalonde, a former Calumet resident, died in Valleyfield, Ont. The deceased was 50 years of age and previous to a few years ago resided in the Copper country. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Frank La Marche, a stepdaughter, Mrs. Homer Beauchaine, three brothers, Frank, Joseph and Adolph, and three sisters.

Hancock—Prof. Herbert L. Willett, Ph. D., of the University of Chicago will make the commencement address to the class of 1911 of the Hancock high school on the evening of June 5, when about forty young people will receive their sheepskin passports from the Hancock institution of learning.

Marquette—The funeral of the late Mrs. P. H. Curley was held Tuesday morning from St. Paul's Catholic church. All of the sons and daughters of the deceased were here to attend the funeral with the exception of Thomas, who is in the mountains of Nevada in the vicinity of Goldfield.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—A. B. Rider, superintendent of construction for the treasury department, conferred Monday with the custodian of the public building here, in regard to some necessary changes and repairs. These will probably include some changes in the driveway to the west of the building, repairing of cornice, improvement of the southeastern entrance doors, renewal of some water piping and possibly a decided change in the sewerage system.

Lankin, N. D.—An authentic report is given out, by one in close touch with the situation, to the effect that the Soo company has issued orders to move all the rails, ties and building material which has been stored in the Fordville yards at once, and men are already on the ground loading the stuff.

Fargo, N. D.—The Mishaps of Minerva is the title of a clever and spritely comedy which will be given next Tuesday, March 28, by the seniors of Fargo college academy in the college gymnasium.

Grafton, N. D.—The congregation of the Methodist church surprised Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Smith at their home Monday evening. Musical numbers helped pass the evening and luncheon was served. Before leaving the guests presented them with a beautiful gift as a slight token of the esteem they were held in by the community and in the church circle.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Capt. Perro, veteran pilot of the Red river, has returned to this city from his home in Stillwater, Minn., where he has been spending the winter. Capt. Perro states that there will have to be a great deal more rain before the river will reach its usual level and provide plenty of water for navigation.

Devils Lake, N. D.—Trial of the several cases in which Devils Lake druggists are charged with violations of the prohibition law will not take place in Devils Lake, but will be held either in some other county in the district, or in one of the adjoining counties.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Mrs. Frankie Lyman of Cando, grand chief of honor of the North Dakota lodge of the Degree of Honor, is here to meet the local members of that order. On Wednesday evening at the regular meeting of the lodge she will put on the work as outlined in the new ritual for the first time.

Lemmon, S. D.—At a large and enthusiastic meeting of the officers and members of the executive committee of the South Dakota Traveling Men's association held here, the dates for the annual convention to be held this year in this city were fixed for June 2 and 3.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Aitkin—J. T. Welch has commenced suit against T. R. Foley, the First National bank, the Duluth Log company, A. A. Sweetman, J. N. Marr and F. H. Osterhout as trustees, and R. J. Tully. The summons alleges failure of performance of contract inasmuch as lease money has not been paid him and no accounting of the property has been made to him.

Bemidji—By defeating Robert Allen, the range champion wrestler, in straight falls last Friday evening in Littlefork, Pete Edd, the Bemidji grappler, retains his title as champion of this section of the state.

Brainerd—B. T. Hathaway, well known by many of the citizens of Brainerd as superintendent of the city schools from 1893 to 1896, was united in marriage at Helena, Mont., a few days ago to Miss Maggie Smith of that city.

St. Cloud—Instead of the old spectacular breaking of the ice in the Mississippi river and its rushing out over the dam, sometimes threatening to take the bridges and dam out with it, the ice this year is quietly melting in the river. Tuesday morning the river was clear above the railroad bridge, and the melting pocess went on in a more or less satisfactory manner during the day.

Winona—The arrangements are going forward in a very satisfactory manner for the banquet to be tendered to James A. Tawney by the citizens of Winona on Tuesday evening next, March 28, at 6:30 o'clock at the Masonic temple.

Little Falls—District court again convened Monday afternoon, with Judge Nye on the bench. All jury cases have been disposed of, and court cases will occupy the attention of Judge Nye this week.

Stillwater—The body of William Juell, who died suddenly of heart disease in Tacoma, Wash., Arrived Tuesday and was taken to the home of his sister in Houlton, Wis. A delegation of Elks took the body across the bridge.

Moorhead—Rt. Rev. Bishop Corbett arrived from Crookston and was the guest of the Rev. Father Gerard Tuesday. He came to participate in the feast of St. Benedict and celebrated mass at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. He later delivered an address to the members of the large class of children who received their first communion on Sunday. He visited the school later in the morning.

Crookston—The 8-year-old son of George Christianson, who resides on South Ash street, while playing at jumping, in some manner managed to bite his tongue so seriously as almost to sever it in two.

Minneapolis—Bruce G. Dickey of Pine Island, Minn., left Minneapolis Tuesday night for New York, from where he will embark for Teheran, Persia, as one of five Americans who will go over the financial condition in Persia, as aides of the government, in an effort to put the country on a sound financial basis. Mr. Dickey was appointed by Secretary of State Knox, on recommendation by the Persian government.

Glencoe—The body of a stranger was found on the railroad three miles east of here. He had in a pocket a dollar watch, a trunk and Yale lock key, an empty purse, with nothing to identify him. He wore overalls and gray sweater over a dark gray suit in good condition. He was probably about 50 years old, somewhat bald, with dark brown hair and red mustache, and weighed about 190 pounds. He was buried Wednesday by the county, as no one identified him.

Mankato—Several weeks ago twenty-four pairs of shoes were stolen from a car at St. James, and two men were arrested in this city for selling similar shoes. They gave the names of Edwin Barnes and Harry Howard, and had their hearing on a grand larceny charge at St. James and were held to the grand jury, and are now in the Blue Earth county jail. A day or so ago two boys, while playing near an icehouse in this city, found twelve pairs of the same kind of shoes hidden under a pile of rubbish.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Peshtigo—John S. Conkling, a pioneer druggist here rounded out thirty-eight years in business, March 6. He came here in 1873 and is still conducting the drug store established at that time. Mr. Conklin has a rare collection of old violins.

Racine—The retail drug clerks of Racine have organized a union which will be affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. It is the first of its kind in the United States.

Milwaukee—Edward T. Heyn is in the city for a few days on a visit to his father, Hermann Heyn, after twelve years' residence in Europe, where he was for several years, the Berlin correspondent of leading New York and Chicago papers, and for the past three years in the consular service in Austria and Sicily. Mr. Heyn will sail next week to return to Berlin.

Viroqua—Frederick Wilkins, many years superintendent of the Vernon county insane asylum, is dead here. During the last three weeks he has been afflicted with mental trouble. He once had charge of the insane asylum at Wauwatosa, and was for a time a druggist in Milwaukee. He is survived by one daughter, Alma, wife of Prof. George Elliot of the University of Wisconsin.

Madison—John W. Grooves, for several years assistant superintendent of public property, handed his resignation to Supt. W. D. Essmann in order to accept a position with the Wisconsin Valley railway.

Racine—Nels Nelson, a farmer of Mount Pleasant, became suddenly insane Monday night and shot John Mattson twice, once in the groin and once in the back. Nelson's wife ran to Mattson for protection and when Mattson tried to disarm Nelson, the latter fired. Mattson is not dangerously wounded.

Manawa—Local sportsmen are complaining of illegal hunting and fishing, and say no attempt is made to stop it. Waupaca county has no game warden. It is reported that pickerel have been speared by using a "fishhouse," and trout have been caught through the ice during the past winter.

Hudson—Suit to recover $5,100 and $200 interest has been instituted by Joseph Hockstein, a local brewer, against James A. Frear, secretary of state, to recover losses resulting from the fraudulent transactions of George S. Howett, now serving a term at Waupun for forging mortgages, while it is alleged, Howett was Frear's law partner.

Racine—William Horlick, Sr., founder of Horlick's Malted Milk company, and one of the leading members of the order of St. George in the United States, today received his certificate as a life member of the order. Mr. Horlick is the first resident of the United States to be elected to a life membership.

Lost—An Appetite

somewhere between Midnight and Dawn, between Lobster Lane and Crab Alley. No use looking for it in condiments or drugs—Nature will restore it in a natural way if you eat Shredded Wheat and live a simple life.

The delicate, porous shreds of cooked wheat, which are full of body-building nutriment, are easily digested by the most delicate stomach. Puts you on your feet when everything else fails.

SHREDDED WHEAT BISCUIT

heated in the oven to restore crispness and served with milk or cream (hot milk in Winter) will supply all the strength needed for a half day's work and will keep the stomach sweet and clean and the bowels healthy and active. Also deliciously wholesome when eaten in combination with stewed or fresh fruits.

Try them for breakfast for ten days and you will eat no other cereal—they are so satisfying and strengthening. Your grocer sells them.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MARCH 26. REVIEW OF THE QUARTER.

FOREWORD.

We are to take a swift glance at the stormy period of the chosen nation's history. The division under Rehoboam took place about 937 B. C. and the time of Elisha was about 100 years later. We are to cover that period of time in our review.

SOME COLOSSAL FOOLS.

1. Rehoboam. I Kings, xii, 1-24.

It takes a very great fool to be unable to learn from either observation, example or experience. But that was the particular kind Rehoboam was. He had as great a chance as his father, Solomon. He inherited all that Solomon accumulated, and in addition, an opportunity to get next to the hearts of the people. Solomon had become extravagant and the taxes were a hardship to the people. They told the young man they would support him loyally if he would make it easier for them. Instead of jumping at the chance, he told them he would see about it. Then his roystering companions told him to come down on them hard. He not only determined to do it, but had no better sense than to tell them so, in a bullying way. That was a good thing for them; knowing what to expect, they went off and chose them a king of their own, a man whom Solomon had once employed in overseeing some improvements about the city.

2. Jeroboam. I Kings, xii, 25-xiii, 6.

He, too, had a great chance. He could profit by the folly of both Solomon and Rehoboam, but he would not. Though it was through the providence of God that he was made king and there was a peculiar opportunity to achieve a great destiny, the first thing he did was to begin to change all of God's plans, not impulsively and under temptation, but deliberately and with the shrewd purpose of perverting the people away from the worship of Jehovah. He did it by changing God's feasts and taking them away from the appointed place, Jerusalem, and by taking priests from other than the appointed family. Other kings perverted their people by bad example; this man did it through cunning purpose. It was like the man who did not want his son to become a church member and took him off with him to the house of death and the two went into the same erotic debauch.

3. Omri and Ahab. I Kings, xvi, 15-23.

We are following the kings of the northern nation for awhile. They were all bad. In the southern kingdom there was only one line of the house of David. Up north, some usurper would kill off the king and do the reigning, so there was a constant change and never for the better, except temporarily. Omri came to the throne through blood. He was a forcible man, but he took the willing people still farther in their degradation. The worst thing he ever did was to make a marriage for his son, Ahab, with the brilliant young princess, Jezebel, daughter of the Zidonian king. To use a terrible but truthful word, she was a devil in human form, and she was not the only human devil that has been abroad. Ahab bettered the example of his fathers and did more kinds of evil than any other one king had done, because he had more assistance. But we shall see more of Ahab in connection with Elijah and Elisha. In this class of unusual fools we must place Benhadad, the Syrian king, of whom we learned last Sunday.

SOME GREAT KINGS.

1. Asa. II Chron., xv, 1-15.

There were twenty-one kings of Judah, all of the family of David, a small majority of them good men, and Asa was one of the best. Singular that any descendant of such a fool as Rehoboam could be a decent man. Solomon was Asa's great-grandfather. That ought to mean something. He was brought up in a corrupt court, but there were influences helping him upward. A good man got hold of him and that helped. Good as Asa was, his reign was not without its blemishes. He was a destructive man, and it does us good to see how he went after the implements of their false worship. But he was not very constructive, and that left much for his son to do.

2. Jehoshaphat. II Chron., xvii, 1-13.

He had plenty of work to do, for the evil had crept back, in spite of good Asa. He reformed the judiciary, built fenced cities on the frontiers and stored them with needed supplies, established instructions for those in authority, and restored the worship of Jehovah. But even he made some blunders. He joined with Ahab, God's enemy, in war against Syria and suffered for it. Still, he was a noteworthy king.

TWO GREAT PROPHETS.

1. Elijah's Drought. I Kings, xvii.

It was a divine visitation, and he was only the agent making it known. It was a punishment for their sins. Why should it be thought a thing impossible or improbable that God should send a drought for the sins of people today? If some sort of affliction will bring people to their senses and do them good, why should He withhold the affliction, even in these days, when we are infatuated with His great laws of cause and effect? Nor is it at all out of harmony with His care and control that He should have the birds to minister to His servant.

2. Elijah's Victory. I Kings, xviii, 1-40.

God is willing for His work and His power to be tested, in every right way. In the test which Elijah proposed, all the advantages, visible to the eye, were on the side of Baal. Here are several advantages. The crowds were with the enemy; the prophets and priests were many and Elijah was alone; they had all day, while he had only the last hours of the day; they had their sacrifices in good condition, while Elijah covered his with water. The purpose of the test was to bring the people to repentance, and it was accomplished. The king was humbled, and he never did forget it. If he had not had that demon, Jezebel, over him, I thing he would have been permanently turned to God.

3. Elijah's Despair. I Kings, xviii, 41-xix, 21.

It is almost ludicrous, the sudden panic of the prophet, after his complete victory on Mt. Carmel. What produced it? Several things—the reaction from the terrible strain of the past few years and that one day; the thought of the impulsive and superficial character of the repentance of the people; the knowledge of the powerful and desperate character of that queen. All these combined to produce a sudden, irresistible panic. So he got out of danger as fast as possible. He ran. He did not stop running till he had gone on down the other side of Judah. Then he left his bodyguard and ran some more. Then, at last, he quieted down and God, who had been running with him and keeping up with him, had a chance to get at him. He first got his attention, then gave him something to eat, next let him sleep, then gave him something more to eat, let him talk it out, and go still further down to the old mountain. There God let him know His quiet power, in the voice of gentle stillness. Then God gave him something unusual to do and he was ready for a new era.

4. Elijah's Anger. I Kings, xxi.

It was his anger at Ahab for murdering Naboth in order to get his vineyard for his own. He denounced the doom of both Ahab and his wife. It is something awful to see the righteous anger of a good man. He did not mince words as to the doom awaiting both him and his wife. The dogs were to eat her. The effect on the guilty king was a shiver of horror and a repentance that was real. Here again he might have mended his ways permanently, if he had been free from his evil genius.

5. Elijah's Translation. II Kings, ii, 1-18.

His removal was timely, for his work was over; another man could do it better. Fortunate, when one can go as soon as his work is finished. Fortunate, if one has a successor, who can take it up and finish it with completeness. Every Elijah who does destructive work, in breaking up the hard ground, should have an Elisha, to do constructive work, in planting and tending and garnering. His removal was appropriate. He was a fiery man and the chariots of fire were the right kind of a private car to send for him. He was a wall of fire and protection around the nation and Elisha could well call his the cavalry of Israel. The test of the young man's fitness to be a successor was that he stick to him to the end and that he see him when he left. Elisha was faithful and got his reward.

6. Elisha's Might. II Kings, iv, 8-37.

It was through him that the child had been promised to the noble woman and it was to him that she went, when death robbed her of her treasure. The prophet brings back the child only when he gives his whole self to the task of his recovery and appeals for the power of God. He gives himself to God in prayer and to the child in imparting the life to him. Elisha's work is already becoming typical, reconstructive rather than destructive.

BOMBARD THE WINDY CITY

Duluth Naval Militia Will Take Part in Celebration at Chicago.

New Naval Station Costing $3,250,000 Will Be Opened in June.

The Duluth naval militia will help in the celebration of the opening of the new training station at Lake Bluffs, Ill., about three miles north of Chicago. The activities will take place between June 1 and 10 with a celebration of naval maneuvers.

Nine war vessels, smaller craft of the navy, now being used at various places for the training of the naval militia, are to assemble in Lake Michigan off the Chicago coast for the maneuvers. They will participate in a celebration that will last during the greater part of the summer.

The new station, which has been constructed at a cost of approximately $3,000,000 will accommodate 2,000 men. Work on it was begun two years ago.

The bombardment of Chicago by a hostile fleet will be part of the celebration. The fleet is to be composed of the nine regular vessels used by the naval militia for training purposes, which will be reinforced for the occasion by a cruiser from the regular navy. The vessels ordered to participate in the war game are the Dubuque, which is to take the place of the Nashville at Chicago; the Essex from Toledo, the Dorothea from Cleveland, the Wolverine from Erie, the Don Juan de Austria from Detroit, the Yantic from Hancock, Mich., and the Gopher from Duluth. In addition to these there is one other training vessel to be assigned and the cruiser which will be sent up the Great Lakes from the Atlantic coast.

Some morning in August the citizens of Chicago will see a fleet in battle formation maneuvering off the coast of North Chicago. A moment later and the battle of Chicago will be begun. The forces on land will reply to the assault from the naval fleet. Chicagoans, believing they are secure from attack by sea, will have the opportunity of seeing their beliefs shattered and witnessing what a real fleet of war vessels could do toward razing the city.

Whether the city will be stormed and taken and the forces on land forced to abandon their fortifications and retire is a matter that will be decided according to the rules governing military war games.

Arrangements for the carrying out of the bombardment here have been virtually completed by the war department. It will be necessary to obtain permission from Canada before one of the armed vessels of the regular navy can be sent through the Great Lakes, but this matter, it is said, already has been discussed by the two governments.

The plan for the maneuvers has included all possible contingencies that might arise and arrangements have been made to have a sufficiently large force of men on land to participate in the attack to make it interesting.

The new naval training station, which is fortified, will be the objective point for the fleet to capture.

The fortifications have been pronounced perfect by the secretary of the navy, George von L. Meyer, who inspected it last October, when he made a special trip to Chicago for that purpose.

The Chicago station represents an outlay of $3,250,000. Work was started in the fall of 1906. The formal opening of the new educational school was set for Oct. 1. Several months ago it was evident that the work had not progressed far enough to permit this.

Skirting the lake are twelve completed brick buildings to be used as officers' quarters. To the west of these is the power house and the administration building. On each side of a broad driveway to the west are the storehouses, instruction halls, drill halls, mess halls, stables and four large dormitories.

Big Fire at Buenos Ayres.

Buenos Ayres, Argentina, March 22.—Fire broke out in the customs house here today, and making its way through the storehouses uncontrolled, destroyed merchandise valued at $3,000,000.

WARNS FARMERS AGAINST HOPPERS

North Dakota Entomologist Urges That Precautionary Steps Be Taken.

Fargo, N. D., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. C. B. Waldron of the North Dakota Agricultural college, also state entomologist, is warning the farmers of this state to take the necessary precautionary steps to protect themselves against grasshoppers. He calls attention to the prevalence of the insects last year. Fall plowing did much to expose the eggs but there are some unplowed fields and the roads and the roadways to be looked after. He suggests that all unplowed lands not turned over by May 1 should be dragged and cross dragged so the egg faces will be exposed.

On the sides of the roads he suggests the use of road graders and on the side slopes of the roads themselves suggests discing and dragging.

If this method is followed, the state entomologist does not believe there will be much to fear.

With the large number of grasshoppers here last year, it is a reasonable certainty, Prof. Waldron thinks, there will be some this season unless proper steps at eradication are taken.

There is a state law under which unplowed fields can be plowed and the expenses taxed against the owner.

WOULD LIMIT SALOONS.

Bemidji Council Also Asked to Boost License to $1,000.

Bemidji, Minn., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The matter of limiting the number of saloons in this city to sixteen and to increase the annual saloon license from $500 to $1,000 was presented to the council Monday evening, the first in the form of a petition signed by nearly 200 voters and the latter by resolution.

Rev. Mr. Flesher and Rev. Mr. White both spoke in favor of the petition. Alderman at Large Johnson questioned whether all the signers of the petition were taxpayers and said he was against such legislation. Alderman Brown of the Fourth ward, who had signed the petition, objected to the aspersions of his colleague and a wordy war ensued. The petition relative to limiting saloons went on the table while the resolution relative to increasing licenses, after two more readings, will be acted upon.

MAY DIVIDE CONFERENCE.

Minnesota Swedish Lutherans to Consider Important Subject.

Moorhead, Minn., March 22.—One hundred pastors and delegates, representing 126 congregations, will meet here April 4 and 5 to decide the matter of creating a new division of the Minnesota Swedish Lutheran conference. The congregations interested in the creation of this new conference are included in the Fargo district, Red River district, North Dakota district, Alexandria district and a part of the Big Stone district. The meeting has been called as the result of a petition signed by the pastors from these districts, who were in attendance at the recent annual conference at Stillwater.

PRACTICAL JOKE MAY COST CHILD HIS EYES.

Florence, Wis., March 22.—As the result of a practical joke, Leonard La Plant, aged 10, may lose the sight of both eyes. Guy La Plant, a brother, aged 12, emptied powder out of cartridges and placed it under a tub and persuaded Leonard to set a match to it.

AN ATTEMPT MADE TO KIDNAP CHICAGO CHILD.

Chicago, March 22.—An attempt was made here today to kidnap the 3-year-old son of Mrs. Mary Gillingham, a wealthy widow living in Kenwood.

A colored maid was taking the boy for a walk and when a short distance from her home an Italian ran up to her saying:

"Let me take the little boy; I'll get him some candy."

The maid gathered the child up in her arms and started to run to the home when the Italian seized her and the two fought for the possession of the boy until the maid's screams attracted persons nearby, when the Italian released his hold and fled.

OLEO "MOONSHINERS" SENTENCED TO PRISON.

Chicago, March 22.—Three more oleomargarine "moonshiners" were sentenced to long terms of imprisonment in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth by Judge Landis in the United States district court today.

Joseph F. Wirtz, Tony Wirtz and Patrick Reidy, brothers and brothers-in-law, respectively, were sentenced to serve five years each and pay a fine of $5,017, the maximum penalty for each on twenty-nine counts.

DILWORTH LOOT IS LOCATED IN A CHURCH.

Dilworth, Minn., March 22.—While cleaning the Presbyterian church here Sunday, Leslie Burr discovered the $1,000 draft and other booty stolen from the Dilworth postoffice Thursday night. The registered draft and stamp books had been concealed in the altar. Jens Jensen and Clarence Lamphier, arrested for complicity in the crime, have been released.

CHINAMAN IS SPORT.

Republic, Mich., Celestial, Good Shot, to Run Shooting Gallery.

Republic, Mich., March 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Moy Lun, Republic's only Chinese, and who is more Americanized than are many of the foreign-born residents, has moved still further into the limelight by opening a shooting gallery. Moy is an excelent marksman himself and the novices undoubtedly will find his instruction valuable. As a sportsman, Moy has a conspicuous place in the village. He is an enthusiastic baseball fan, has, in fact, been the manager of various home teams. He is also very fond of hunting.

A Mother's Safeguard.

Foley's Honey and Tar for the children. Is best and safest for all coughs, colds, croup, whooping-cough and bronchitis.- No opiates.

RAID TEMPERANCE JOINTS.

Officers Swoop Down Upon Akeley Looking for Contraband.

Akeley, Minn., March 22.—The temperance drinking places here that were alleged to be selling malt containing something stronger, were raided Monday evening by Sheriff Dan Petrie and a dozen deputies without finding any of the contraband. Every place was thoroughly searched, but not a drop of liquor or beer was found to be on sale. Malt, with labels stating that it was less than 2 per cent alcohol and considered by law as non-intoxicating, was found in large quantities.

Sheriff Petrie made the raid on complaint of local men and in accordance with the state law requiring sheriffs to rid their counties of blind-pigs and boot-leggers. The raid was made without the knowledge or consent of the local officers.

The sheriff congratulated the mayor and other officers, and stated that he doubted if a better record could be found in any town of 2,500 inhabitants, 800 of whom are sawmill men. License was recently defeated by the decisive vote of 324 to 89 and the sentiment is bitter against the existence of blind-pigs.

WEST END

WILL DEBATE ON THE "OPEN CITY"

West End Temperance Societies Will Discuss Law Enforcement.

Is Duluth "wide open?"

This will be the subject of a debate which will be held in connection with the next meeting of the United Temperance society at 2102 West Superior street, Friday evening, March 31.

It is understood that a move will be made at this meeting to investigate the alleged infractions of the Sunday and after-hours "lid." What course will be pursued in getting evidence against the lawbreakers is not known, but private detectives may be employed.

The United Temperance society embraces the following temperance organizations: North Star, Lysglimt and Morning Star lodges of Good Templars, the W. C. T. U. and the Scandinavian Temperance society.

WEST END BOYS GIVE BENEFIT

The Twentieth Century club put on a benefit performance for John Wagner, the high school football player, who was injured last fall, at the Star theater at the West end last evening. It was well attended. Half of the proceeds went to the injured boy and a tidy sum was realized. The rest of the money went to the club's camp fund.

Archie Dennis, the West end fancy skater, furnished the headliner of the bill. A vaudeville troupe gave a skit and other sketches and specialities by the boys filled out an entertaining program. J. W. Nelson, manager of the Star, donated the theater for the purpose.

In about a month the boys will put on an amateur play to raise more money for the summer outing trip.

Mrs. Strom Dies.

Mrs. Louise Strom died at 9 o'clock this morning at her home, 610 North Twenty-fourth avenue west, after suffering for over a year with Bright's disease. She was 48 years old.

Her husband, Matt Strom, and two sons survive her. No funeral arrangements have been made.

Grufman Funeral.

The funeral of Eric Harold Grufman, aged 20, who died of Bright's disease yesterday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Charles Fremling, of 126 Gilbert street will be held Saturday from Olson & Crawford's undertaking rooms to Park Hill cemetery. Young Grufman came to the West end from Sweden a year ago. His parents reside in the old country.

Will Give Dances.

The Adams Athletic association will give dancing parties again this summer at Lincoln park pavilion. Arrangements have been made for the use of the place every Thursday evening during the summer. The weekly parties proved popular with many last season. The first of the series will be given April 13.

WARMER

The air was pretty frosty last night and this morning and the germs of spring were frozen out. The mercury touched 17 deg. for a low point this morning and furs were again in fashion. Tonight is bright and spring-like viewed through a window. Tonight and tomorrow will be cloudy with higher temperatures, the weather man says.

Fair weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 6:05 and it will set at 6:24 this evening, giving twelve hours and nineteen minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The high pressure condition that has moved its center from Saskatchewan to Minnesota caused a decided drop in temperature in most districts east of the Rocky mountains, but decreasing pressure in the extreme Northwest is attended by a turn to warmer weather. This increase in warmth will reach the Head of the Lakes tonight. During the last twenty-four hours rain or snow fell over Eastern Canada, the greater part of the lake region, Atlantic and gulf states, New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona, Nevada, Oregon and Washington in connection with the disturbances central off the North Atlantic coast and over British Columbia."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 23. — Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Friday; slightly warmer Friday.

Minnesota—Fair tonight and probably Friday; rising temperature.

Iowa—Fair tonight with warmer in west portion and central portion; Friday probably increasing cloudiness and warmer.

Montana — Generally fair in east, probably rain in west portion tonight or Friday; warmer in north and west portions tonight; colder in west portion Friday.

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Friday; rising temperature.

Shippers' forecast — Protect 36-hour shipments of perishables against temperature 25 deg. to 32 deg. in the Eastern Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Michigan Copper country.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Mack-Leone Players in "What Happened to Jones."

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.

ODEUM and LYRIC—Photoplay.

Green Room Gossip.

Al. H. Wilson, the German dialect comedian, in "A German Prince" will be the attraction at the Lyceum, Friday and Saturday. This latest offering of Mr. Wilson's, which was written by the late A. C. Gunter, is without doubt the most interesting play ever provided for this entertaining comedian. In writing the play the author has caught the German atmosphere and infused it in the story most cleverly, it is said. Telling an interesting love story he has delicately interwoven the treasured folk lore of the German, giving the whole a characteristic flavor that has been sadly missing in German comedy of late years. Mr. Wilson has written several capital songs for "A German Prince" which will doubtless be whistled long after his engagement. The scenery is unusually beautiful and the different scenes are said to be exact reproductions of the localities described. A company in which there are many well-known players has been engaged to support Mr. Wilson.

The Mack-Leones will close their engagement in "What Happened to Jones," this evening.

Floyd Mack, the acrobatic dancer, who is appearing at the Orpheum this week, is one of the best developed athletes that ever stepped inside the Orpheum theater. Many who have watched his clever act may have thought that his broad shoulders were the result of clever tailoring, but other actors on this week's bill say that his shoulder development is nothing short of phenomenal, and that he could easily get an engagement in an act of physical culture posing, if he cared to do it.

"I got it wrestling with Frank Gotch," said Mack. "I know Gotch pretty well, and he used to go to the same gymnasium in Chicago that I did. I only weigh 140 pounds, but I used to go on with Gotch and scuffle around on the mat with him. Of course he threw me all over the building, but stacking up against a man like Gotch is bound to give you development sooner or later, if it doesn't kill you at the start. Gotch isn't any too careful how he handles a man, either. He doesn't mean to be rough with his friends, but he doesn't know his own strength and speed. His speed is what makes him seem so rough."

A photoplay taken in Mexico and in which Mexicans take part is particularly interesting at this time because of the trouble at the border. A play of this kind entitled "The Mission Carrier" will be shown at the Lyric theater during the rest of the week.

Other films will be "The Writing on the Blotter," and "The Bridegroom's Dilemma." There will also be an illustrated song, "I'm All Alone," which will be sung by Mr. Lentz.

"Was He a Coward" is the title of a Western play at the Odeum theater. A tenderfoot from the East goes West for his health and falls in love with the daughter of the ranchman with whom he stays. The foreman is also in love with the girl and he puts the Eastern man to every test. He stands it all but refuses to fight a duel. This stamps him as a coward and the girl brands him as such. Later he proves that he is no coward and, of course, she accepts him.

Other films will be "Betty Becomes a Maid," "A Mutual Friend," and "How Bella Won," and Mr. Mistachkin will sing "Meet Me When the Sun Goes Down."

BOOTLEGGER IS SOON CAPTURED

Sixth Man Arrested at Cass Lake for Giving Indians Drink, Pleads Guilty.

Cass Lake, Minn., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Moffett, who claims to hail from the state of Maine, was arrested here yesterday afternoon by Village Marshal Dan Lilly in an outhouse, where he was caught in the act of giving liquor to some Indians. He was caught in such a redhanded manner that he threw up the sponge and asked for an immediate hearing.

He pleaded guilty before a magistrate and was then taken to Bemidji, where today it is expected Judge Stanton will sentence him to several months in the penitentiary. This makes the sixth person caught here bootlegging in the last six weeks.

Particularly the Ladies.

Not only pleasant and refreshing to the taste, but gently cleansing and sweetening to the system, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is particularly adapted to ladies and children, and beneficial in all cases in which a wholesome, strengthening and effective laxative should be used. It is perfectly safe at all times and dispels colds, headaches and the pains caused by indigestion and constipation so promptly and effectively that it is the one perfect family laxative which gives satisfaction to all and is recommended by millions of families who have used it and who have personal knowledge of its excellence.

Its wonderful popularity, however, has led unscrupulous dealers to offer imitations which act unsatisfactorily. Therefore, when buying, to get its beneficial effects, always note the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package of the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

For sale by all leading druggists. Price 50 cents per bottle.

STATE PEACE SOCIETY

St. Paul, Minn., March 23.—The Minnesota State Peace society was organized at the old capitol Tuesday night for the purpose of a popular campaign of education to develop a strong public sentiment in favor of world peace, the settlement of disputes by arbitration of judicial process, and the establishment by a simple, effective agency through which the people of Minnesota at any time can voice their sentiments in favor of peace.

Governor Eberhart presided at the mass meeting. Those who addressed the gathering were the governor, Louis Betz, Edward L. Hunt of New York, who is promoting the peace movement; Dr. Cyrus Northrop, Prof. George W. Davis, J. A. O. Preus, F. C. Hoffman, J. W. Olsen and Rabbi Rypins. All expressed in eloquent terms their ideas of amenity and concord among nations.

The officers are: Honorary president, Governor Eberhart; active president, Cyrus Northrop; vice presidents, Archbishop Ireland and Mrs. C. G. Higbee; secretaries, J. S. McLain and Miss Ella Patterson.

GREENE FREE MAN; GAYNOR MAY BE

Former Takes Pauper's Oath After Serving Term in Prison.

Atlanta, Ga., March 23.—Bejamin D. Greene, who, with John F. Gaynor has just completed a four-year term in the federal prison here for complicity in the Savannah harbor improvement frauds several years ago, walked out of the federal building here yesterday a free man, bringing to a close, so far as he is concerned, a legal battle that has commanded attention for a decade.

Greene's application for leave to take the pauper's oath, in order to escape further liabilities for the $575,000 fine imposed upon the two men, when they were convicted, was granted late yesterday by United States Commissioner Walter Colquitt after a hearing which lasted two days. Greene will soon sail for Europe. He said that he would join Mrs. Greene in Paris and they probably would make that city their home.

The government resisted the application for the pauper's oath on the ground that Greene had assets concealed which would enable him to pay off a considerable part of the $575,000 fine. The prisoner admitted having been possessed of property worth about $700,000 several years ago, but claimed that he had lost all he had in fighting for his freedom and in speculation, and the federal attorneys failed to produce evidence necessary to overthrow his claim.

John F. Gaynor, jointly convicted with Greene, has completed his sentence in the federal prison and also has filed application to take the pauper's oath.

MAY DIE OF WOUNDS RELATIVE INFLICTED.

Minot, N. D., March 23.—John Rose, who is alleged to have been shot by his father-in-law, Andrew Jenson, of Tasker, is in a critical condition and it is thought he may die. He is in a local hospital. The alleged assailant's hearing may be delayed further to await the outcome of Rose's injuries.

"THE EASIEST WAY" IS NOT A MORAL PLAY.

Boston, Mass., March 23.—On the ground that the play was not up to the high moral standard a theatrical performance should be, Mayor Fitzgerald yesterday ordered the manager of the Hollis street theater to suspend after tonight the production of "The Easiest Way."

SIGNER MUST PAY UP.

Even Though Pastor Says Subscription Can Be Deferred.

Bismarck, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The supreme court has handed down a decision in which it is held that the signer of a subscription to aid in the erection of a church must pay the amount, in spite of a promise of the pastor that payment need not be made if the pastor does not remain in charge. The pastor did not remain in charge and the appellant endeavored to cancel the subscription when $3,000 was raised, the subscription becoming due when $6,000 was raised. It is entitled Tompkins et al. vs. D. A. Dinnie and comes from Ward county.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

GOLF SEASON OPENS MAY 1

Northland Country Club Looking Forward to Successful Year.

President Walker Makes Committee Appointments—Working Out Program.

W W Walker, president of the Northland Country club, has announced the appointment of the various committees that will have charge of the golf events this season. Plans are already being made for the coming season and from now on the committee will be very busy arranging the various events that will be held at the club this season.

Following are the committee appointments:

House committee—W. W. Walker, J. A. Ferguson, Joseph Cotton. Greens—L. A. Brewer, G. G. Hartley, W. G. Hegardt. Games—C. H. Bagley, C. S. Wilson, F. W. Hoopes.

It has been decided to formally open the club May 1. The club is open at the present time, though the restaurant has not been thrown open to the members. The formal opening will be celebrated by the playing of a special series of games.

Golf playing is going on at the grounds at the present time, and several of the more enthusiastic of the players have been out nearly every day since the snow left the ground. This year's season will be one of the best ever enjoyed by the local club, if the program now being worked out is carried through.

Several match and other special games have been arranged. Enthusiasm in golf is on the increase all over the country, and with the enthusiasm already shown in the local club, a great season is predicted.

HACKENSCHMIDT WILL PUT UP $20,000 GUARANTEE.

Bristol, Tenn., March 23.—George Hackenschmidt defeated Walter Evans in straight falls in a wrestling bout here last night. Hackenschmidt said last night he would accept the terms for a match for the world's championship and that he would put up $20,000 in cash as a guarantee as soon as he reached Chicago, which would be this week.

BARNEY OLDFIELD'S CARS REINSTATED.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 23.—Barney Oldfield's 200-horse power "Blitzen" Benz, which was disqualified until June 1, 1912, when Oldfield was outlawed recently, was reinstated yesterday by Chairman S M. Butler of the American Automobile association contest board after a payment of $1,000 fine and is now officially entered for the beach meet of the Atlantic-Pablo beach, March 27 to 30.

The 100-horse power Darraca, the Prince Henry Benz and the Giant Knox were also included in the lifting of the official ban.

RAY BRONSON LOSES TO BURNS ON FOUL.

London, March 23.—Two fights of international interest were pulled off at the Olympic club last night. The first, which brought together Ray Bronson of America and Sid Burns, an Englishman, was won by the latter, Bronson being disqualified in the nineteenth round for hitting low.

In the second contest, Jimmy Clabby, an American, defeated Harry Duncan of London on points.

CY YOUNG.

It's goodbye, Cy. The veteran of the Cleveland team has swung his last bat. He has been "doing chores" on his farm all winter; but, though his health is good, he finds that he can't come back and he has decided to retire from the game.

AROUND THE CIRCUIT

Joe Killian apparently is satisfied that he is getting together a team that will be pretty close to winning the penant. Of last year's club he has Curtis, first base; Davey, short; Goodman, third; Graves and Dang, outfielders, Bloski, Wagner and Byers, pitchers. Three new outfielders have been signed in Swanson and Malloy purchased from Red Wing and Barrett, a youngster from Minneapolis, who is said to be a comer.

The officers of the Wausau Baseball club announce the signing of an outfielder who is touted as a "cracker-jack," and of whose ability there seems to be no reasonable doubt. He is Carl D. Meister of Marietta, Ohio, and his signature to a Wausau contract was secured through the efforts of Lew Heilbroner, scout for the Fort Wayne, Ind., team. Meister is a young player being only 20 years of age.

La Crosse has signed John Henry, the Tomah high school pitcher. Henry will report June 2, when his term ends at school. He is a young giant, six feet tall and weighing 185 pounds. C. F. Myers of Altoona, Pa., has written John Elliott in regard to a tryout this spring. He says he will bring with him a shortstop and that, as both men are coming through the city, the say will cost the La Crosse club nothing. He is a first-sacker and played with his partner in the railroad league last season.

There is not enough money in the Red Wing baseball sock to keep the team in the running the entire season and an attempt will be made this week to add fully $500 to the fund.

This will bring the total amount up to $3,500. The present committee of three will have the assistance of three or four more solicitors and it is believed that by next week the cry of "more money needed" will have died away.

"Red Wing has decided to remain in the league and it is now up to the fans to boost the Manufacturers in every way possible," says a Red Wing paper. "Fred Cook should receive every encouragement in building up the team. He has plenty of time to land material for a corking fast machine, and new men are being signed daily."

Walter Demmer, star right gardener of the Minny circuit in 1910 and who clouted himself out of the league for an average of .326, announces that he will not report to Waterloo this spring as he has a position in the stock yard office of Chicago which pays him a handsome salary. Waterloo sent him a contract with a $150 a month salary attached, but Walter put it this way: "What's the use when a fellow has the chance of becoming a porking house president?" The Red Wing association would like to see Demmer in the game this year at Waterloo in order that Waterloo might secure full value for the money paid for the speedy outfielder.

COMMUNICATIONS RECEIVED

To the Sporting Editor of The Herald:

Why is it that the sporting fraternity of Minnesota cannot enjoy ten-round bouts between men of recognized ability, and under the same conditions governing the same class of sport in other states?

Kansas City, Indianapolis, New Orleans, Milwaukee, Buffalo, Rochester, Albany, Syracuse and Utica, not to mention Boston (where twelve-round bouts are sanctioned) and New York city with its fifty clubs, are giving their members the best kind of boxing exhibitions with success, and without corrupting the morals of their several communities. Yet Minnesota, with its thousands of boxing followers, compels the fans to break law restrictions that are broken, and often broken, to see what a majority of the men want to see.

This session of the Minnesota legislature is at the fag end, but a petition, signed by those in favor of permission to hold such contests, might have weight at St. Paul.

The old theory that boxing is brutal has been given the count in effete Boston, cosmopolitan New York, Milwaukee, Indianapolis, New Orleans, and many other cities, where brutality would be detected with the same fine sense prevailing in Minnesota cities, but the cities named have failed to see the brutal aspect of two well matched and well conditioned men boxing a clean contest.

That boxing exhibitions between good men would be well patronized in Duluth, and, in fact, any city or town in Minnesota, has been demonstrated by packed houses under adverse circumstances, when the sport has been offered under a blanket.

Give us ten-round bouts, under police supervision, if necessary, with the contestants subjected to a thorough physical examination before the bouts; eliminate beer selling and "roughneckism," and let us all go to see a clean, well-conducted show at a moderate gate price, and the opposition to boxing will diminish to the proper minority that it is when proper conditions prevail.

MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY.

Duluth, March 22.

OLD RIVALS WILL CLASH

Chicago and Michigan Trackmen Will Compete at Omaha April 1.

Chicago, March 23.—University of Chicago track athletes will compete against their former rivals from the University of Michigan in a Western meet for the first time since the historic break in the "big nine" in 1906 at the event to be given April 1 at Omaha by the Omaha Athletic club. News of Michigan's intention to send a one-mile relay team to the big affair came from Ann Arbor yesterday. The Maroon-Wolverine meeting gives the Western carnival a big boost in interest for the conference rooters.

While Coach Stagg has been preparing for the Omaha meet, the maize and blue officials had not expected to send representatives. The return of Ross to the Wolverine athletic forces, however, makes the Michigan chances brighter, and Dr. Kraenzlein has hopes of capturing the relay honors. Capt. Horer will accompany the relay runners and compete in the special events.

It is now practically certain that Chicago and Michigan will come together again at the University of Pennsylvania relay games to be held April 29 at Franklin field, Philadelphia, as Michigan's quartet of milers will be available for the Quaker meet. Coach Stagg is already planning for honors at Philadelphia, and the old rivals will thus have more competition this season than the fans had looked for.

SOX WILL BEGIN WORK MONDAY

Jack Desmond received a letter from the Irish Orator this morning in which P. Henry stated that he had tipped the Cleveland management off to the worth of Baldy Altermott, and that he believed the sincere slugger would go up at the end of the present season.

Work on the Cleveland public park grounds will start Monday with what few of the boys are on hand. This statement was made in the communication today. In response to this statement and also to the request for the immediate forwarding of the uniforms, Desmond sent a large trunk packed with the old suits, hats, balls and other accoutrements that have been left over from last season.

Darby is dickering with the Cleveland management for one of the results at the present time with the Naps in the Southland, and if his eloquence can persuade the Forest City people to come through with the player in question, the White Sox will have a very valuable addition to the team.

Negotiations are also on with Waterloo, Iowa, for a player. In a week from the present time Darby will know better just where he stands, he says.

WALTER BERKELMAN WINS BROAD JUMPING CONTEST.

Walter Berkelman won the three broad jumps contest at the Y. M. C. A. last evening, making the distance of 26 feet and 2 inches. The other contestants finished in the following order: W. R. Cameron, 26 feet; Arthur Coning, 25 feet, 3 inches; William Otto, 25 feet, 3 inches; R. W. Capen, 24 feet, 5 inches; William Mummert, 23 feet, 9 inches; George Jacobson, 23 feet, 9 inches; Phil Moore, 23 feet, 7 inches; C. T. Brown, 24 feet, 4 inches; O. J. Rue, 23 feet, 3 inches; J. Maslund, 22 feet, 10 inches; Lester Sands, 22 feet, 7 inches; H. Beckwith, 22 feet, 5 inches; William Stevens, 22 feet, 5 inches; Glen Goldsmith, 22 feet, 5 inches; Joe Moore, 21 feet, 6 inches; A. Maslund, 21 feet, 6 inches; A. Persgar, 21 feet, 6 inches; Helmich, 20 feet; J. Bergstrom, 19 feet, 5 inches; H. Miller, 19 feet, 5 inches.

Tomorrow evening the rope climb will be the athletic program. The contestants will be required to climb an 18-foot rope hand over hand.

PRELIMINARY HEARING OF FIGHTERS CONCLUDED.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 23.—The preliminary hearing of the four men arrested as the result of the Wolgast-Memsic bout last Friday, was completed yesterday. Judge Reeve said that he would announce on April 3 whether the four men accused will be held to the superior court for trial on the charge of violating the state anti-prize fight law.

Thomas McCarry, promoter, and Charles Eyton, referee, were the most important witnesses. Their testimony supported that of the sporting writers, submitted Monday, that the affair was a boxing contest and not a prize fight. The promoter and referee are also defendants.

ANDERSON IS INJURED IN THE FIRST ROUND.

Logansport, Ind., March 23.—In the first round of a scheduled six-round bout between Guy Buckles of Omaha, and Billy Anderson of Indianapolis, last night, Anderson received a blow in the groin and was unable to go on with the match. No foul was declared against Buckles.

COMMENTS AND OPINIONS ON THE SPORTING PARADE

(BY BRUCE.)

INTERESTED young athletes are cordially invited to bring their "White Hopes" along this evening. There will be a meeting of the rowing enthusiasts at the Y. M. C. A. building, Room D, to be exact, and the wording of the invitation sent forth by genial John McGregor makes certain the fact that young men with swelling biceps are desired.

After any young man has given up various parties and has forgone the pleasure of eating fudge under the inviting soft light, with some fair young thing, passing honeyed words, and has rowed in that cold, cold atmosphere that chases chills down the spine with the continuity possessed by a book agent's conversation, he is deserving of a medal for patience.

"Gee, I'd like to go to that show," sighs one of those gentle, meaning sighs—George's girl. But there is nothing doing for George. They know that they are plum likely to lose the inner track in the race for first affection; and yet what can they do? They must row and can't possibly get up to the city before 9 o'clock, or even later.

It is fine to go down to the boat club some Saturday afternoon with George or Roy, and tell the rest of the dear girls that he is on the crew. But think of the evenings he has missed and the dangers he has run of losing her.

That is one of the grave dangers young men face when they determine sternly that they will become oarsmen. That is one of the perils that face the prospective "White Hope" at the rowing line. The rewards of rowing are an ingrowing appetite and a blistered pair of hands. Oarsmen at some of the other clubs have been known to get medals. Medals have been missing at the Duluth club for some time. Some of the boys believed they were going to get some this year, but it has transpired that the officials were merely kidding.

But after all, no sot of oarsmen try more earnestly for victory than the boys at the local club, and there is the feeling that this season will be a proudly propitious one for the boys of the Duluth Boat club.

A judicial mixture of "cornebackitis" and the "white hope" idea should result in the turning out of a very good crew, and if the boys at home are going to win anything, the time is surely at hand to get busy.

Last season they had the notion hidden around that the race would be a cinch. That idea has been shipwrecked and the boys will go out this season with the determination to row fast enough to carry home the dear old bacon. Three grim years of experience, that were productive of travel and disappointment, have taught the boys some very good ideas and if the Duluth crews do not make a good showing this season it will be because the boys don't know how to row.

More About the Morris Man.

THE heavens and earth and the necessary evil, man, were made in six days. That was sure going some. Not to insinuate in the least that Oklahoma is heavenly, except as to climate, it might be stated that they have made a "world's champion" in a day. It might also be said that he is traveling some.

They are just as sure that the championship held at the present time in the high handed grasp of Lil' Arch is the property of Engineer Morris as the mountaineers of Kentuck are that the white whisky made on the Q. T. and biting like a bine snake is nectar fit for several of the sweetest of the gods.

On March 28 Carlo will hook up in the lucre lock with the G. O. M. of the heavyweight division, Michael Cassius Schreck. In his last engagement, Mike put the K. O. over on a keg of Cincinnati beer, and reports from Sapulpa indicate that the German is very confident of sending a certain young man back to the employment of the Santa Fe.

In the pathetic event of a Schreck victory the state of Oklahoma will go back to the consideration of the irrigation act and the passage of a new banking law; but until Mike and Carl have tested their fistic abilities, and the proud hope of Sapulpa has either expanded or been snuffed out, there will be no other thought in the dear territory of dust-blown Oklahoma.

They have built an arena capable of holding 15,000 yelling, sun-browned and enthusiastic sons of the once wooly West; they have stated that Mike Schreck is at the present time one of the greatest fighters in the world; they are claiming that Carl Morris will be champion in a year; they have said that he has a lithe body and poetic countenance; it has been claimed that at the present time he is almost as good a boxer as was Jim Corbett.

Never say that the citizens of Oklahoma are lacking in imagination. Their brand of the flighty stuff would make one of the brain flights of the late Jules Verne look like the report of a bunch of bacteria investigators.

With the charming state of health that the citizens of Oklahoma enjoy and continued ring prosperity for Carl Morris, there is reason to believe that Oklahoma will approach muchly, if not more so, that state of felicitous being pictured in the Utopia drawn by the late T. Moore.

Watch the A. A. Circuit Expand.

IT WASN'T so very long ago, pal, when the teams of the American association did not think of the Southern exposure training. The teams assembled early, as early as the measly weather would permit, and secured a few uncertain and unsatisfactory days of practice before the opening of the season. Those were the dear days before the growth of the various cities in the A. A.

Now, George, observe the delightful difference.

There is not a team in the American association that does not seek the beneficial clime of some Southern resort. The A. A. has grabbed big league notions very rapidly. The day is not so very far distant when the A. A. will be quite ready to cut out into running for itself and there may be the long talked of third major.

We observe it interestedly from this city for the simple reason that we are near to St. Paul and Minneapolis and have watched the growth of the latter city with the final knowledge that the Mill City is one of the greatest cities of this country, a community that is quite ready for big league baseball.

Look at the census reports on the increase in size of the eight cities of the American association, even admitting that all of the eight cities will not figure in the baseball shift, and you can gain some idea why the third league is not as vague as some people would believe.

In this age of ours the country is expanding with such rapidity that some of us are astounded when we rest for reflection and retrospection. The amalgamation of immense business interests has long since ceased to be a nine days' wonder with the American people, and some of the events pictured in the brain fever of H. T. Wells and Edward Bellamy, authors of frenzied frights and future conditions of this old crust, are really taking place.

Baseball is undergoing changes. The growth of the game has been nothing less than wonderful. Steel stands and million-dollar grounds are only slightly in the lead of the great changes that are some day to occur. The sport has become so immensely popular, there has been so much money gathered from it that managers and capitalists are eagerly looking for a chance to expand present day conditions.

This will be the cause for the third major. It is logical in the face of the country's rapid growth. Fight against it as they undoubtedly will, the magnates of the two majors cannot in the end prevent the carrying into effect a rival of the two moguls of the national pastime.

At home, anywhere, the game is expanding. Baseball is the one game that it appeals to the rich, the poor, the busy, the idle, the old, the young, to everyone who has the least desire to see a contest that requires skill and agility.

The third major will come and with its coming there is likely to be some interesting changes in the baseball map.

FIGHTERS UNDER ARREST AT DENVER

Jimmy Gardner and Jack O'Keefe Charged With Violation of Laws.

Denver, Colo., March 23.—Jimmy Gardner of Lowell, Mass., and Jack O'Keefe of Denver were arrested last night on a warrant issued by the district attorney's office on the charge of violating the law against prize fighting.

The warrants were issued at the request of the Christian Citizenship union. The men appeared before Justice of the Peace Gavin and were placed under bonds of $200 each to appear today.

Gardner and O'Keefe were the principals in the main event of a Denver Press club show at the Auditorium Tuesday night.

FACULTY WINS FROM SENIORS

The High School Instructors Trounce Students at Indoor Baseball.

To the surprise of the serious seniors the members of the faculty indoor baseball team of the Central high school last evening trimmed the fourth year men by the score of 12 to 7.

The Ty Cobb hitting of the pedagogues snatched sweet victory from the students and furnished the surprise of the evening. A. Phillips of the faculty played some sparkling game at short stop and also secured three hits. His playing was quite the feature of the game for the teachers.

An unfortunate incident of the game was the accident to Pitcher Joyce of the faculty. The bat flew out of the hands of one of the players, striking him in the mouth. The cut was so serious that several stitches were necessary. Schillins finished the game and held the seniors to five scattered hits from the second inning on.

Hope of victory for the students was lost in the fatal fourth. In this round the teachers crossed the joy pan eight times. They ran bases like scared rabbits and hit the ball to far corners of the hall. The contest was well played and furnished amusement to a large number of students.

The detailed score:

Seniors		Faculty
Waldron	p	Joyce, Schillins
Brown	c	Schillins, Geiger
Hillman	1b	F. Phillips
Anderson	2b	Geiger, Brackett
Wharton	3b	Gibson
Northfield	ls	Colby
Ringsred	rs	A. Phillips
Muir	lf	Young
McGaughey	rf	Avery, Ettleman

Score:

Seniors	0	1	1	0	1	0	1	1	2	—7

GEORGE KITSON IS SAVED FROM KNOCKOUT.

Akron, Ohio, March 23.—George Kitson of Brooklyn was so outclassed in his fight last night with Johnny Coulon of Chicago, that Referee Kelly stopped the bout in the fifth round to save Kitson from a knockout.

UNHOLZ GETS DECISION OVER RAY TEMPLE.

South Bend, Ind., March 23.—In a ten-round bout last night, Rudy Unholz won a popular decision over Ray Temple of Milwaukee. After the second round Temple was in distress and Unholz outboxed him to the final bell.

Sikera Gets Decision.

Windsor, Ont., March 23.—Paul Sikera of Detroit was awarded a popular decision over Danny Goodman of Chicago in their eight-round boxing bout last night. The men are lightweights.

WANDERERS WIN FROM OTTAWA AT BOSTON.

Boston, Mass., March 23.—In the first two games to be played for a purse of $2,500, the Wanderers of Montreal defeated the champion Ottawa hockey team at the Boston arena last night by 7 to 5.

CRACK AMATEUR SHOTS COMPETE IN NEW YORK.

New York, March 23.—C. H. Newcomb of Philadelphia carried off the honors in the two preliminaries decided yesterday in the sixth annual national championship shoot at clay targets on the New York Athletic club's grounds at Travers island. A high wind prevailed.

Most of the crack amateur shots of the country were among the competitors and their good work over the four sets of traps gives promise of excellent scores in the championship today. This event will be at 200 targets in strings of twnety-five, sixteen yards rise, for the national medal and ten other prizes.

Will Meet Virginia.

The Central basket ball quint will meet the team of the Virginia high school Saturday afternoon at the range city. Negotiations are also under way for a game with Hibbing. If the latter game is arranged both the contests will be played the same day.

LESS ICE ON THE GREAT LAKES

Favorable Reports on Ice Conditions Received From Government Stations.

The reports from the regular and display stations of the weather bureau and the meteorological service of Canada indicate that the ice condition in the Great Lakes has not changed materially since one week ago, except possibly less ice exists in all the lakes.

Ice fields are reported over the central and eastern portions of Lake Superior. The ice is solid from Iroquois point to Detour in the St. Mary's river, except where the current is very swift. It has opened slightly. The ice in Green bay is still intact, though honeycombing in the southern portions, and breaking up in the northern portions.

In Lake Michigan the fields have diminished slightly and are confined to the extreme northern portions. At the Straits the cold wave of March 15 and 16 has been offset by the warm weather of the past few days, consequently no change in the ice condition has occurred. Open water is reported within three miles of Mission point.

In Lake Huron fields of ice are reported extending three or four miles out along the east shore. The ice in Saginaw bay is breaking up. Some open water is reported in Georgian bay. The St. Clair river is clear. The old ice in Lake St. Clair floated down the Detroit river during the past week. The few small fields in western portions of Lake Erie will not impede navigation. The D. & C. Navigation company's steamer City of Detroit will open navigation to Cleveland on March 27.

Extensive fields continue over the eastern portions, though some open water is reported. The ice in Lake Ontario is confined to the extreme northeast portions of the lake, and is unbroken around the mouth of the St. Lawrence river. The ice in the upper St. Lawrence river is beginning to break up.

In comparison with the same period last season there appears to be less ice in Lake Superior and Lake Michigan, though in St. Marys river and at the Straits the ice is slightly thicker. There is less ice in Lake Huron and Lake Erie and about the same amount in Lake Ontario.

WAGNER PROGRAM AT THE TEMPLE

Unusual Musical Offering Is Arranged for Next Free Concert.

The program for the free concert at the auditorium of the Masonic temple, Sunday, March 26, at 3:30 p. m., follows:

Organ—
Overture—"Rienzi" ..... Wagner
Selections—"Die Walkure" .. Wagner
Vocal—"Blick uh Umher," from "Tannhauser" ..... Wagner
George E. Suffel.
Organ—
Selections from "Gotterdammerung" ..... Wagner
March, from "Lohengrin," act 3, scene 3 ..... Wagner
Selections from "Die Meistersinger" ..... Wagner
Vocal—"Evening Star," from "Tannhauser" ..... Wagner
George E. Suffel.
Organ—Overture, "Tannhauser" ..... Wagner

To attempt to give a popular concert at which the organ furnishes the instrumental music, with but one name on the program as the composer, is almost startling when analyzed. It means a knowledge on the part of the program-maker that his audience has arrived at a point in the appreciation of music which will warrant him in risking his reputation as a judge of audiences. It means a versatility uncommon amongst composers which will permit of selections so widely dissimilar as to permit of the variation necessary in any program.

The first organ number is the overture to "Rienzi." The celebrated "Prayer" appears, and many spirited choruses combine to make this a delightfully melodious as well as powerful piece. It will be followed by selections from the "Walkyrie," in which is embodied the "Love Song," "The Ride of the Valkyries" and the "Fire Scene" and other selections.

George E. Suffel will sing Wolfrom's song at the prize contest at which Tannhauser fell into disgrace, and his second selection is the well-known and ever-beautiful "Sublime Sweet Evening Star," sung by Wolfrom in act 3. This is one of the sweetest of Wagner's compositions.

The other numbers for the organ are selections from "Gottardammerung," meaning "The Dusk of the Gods," and includes many great chords and soul-inspiring passages, including the "Song of the Rhine Daughters" and the great "Siegfried Funeral March," considered one of the most ponderous expressions of sorrow in all pose or music. Then come selections from "The Meistersinger," almost a comic opera, if Wagner could be pictured as descending to such. The program will be closed by the favorite of all of Wagner's music, the overture from "Tannhauser," in which most of the different themes appear, and as arranged in the overture make one of the grandest pieces of music in all time.

GOVERNMENT BUYS HORSES.

Pays $10,500 for Six for International Horse Show.

Washington, March 23.—Six thoroughbreds bought at Warrenton, Va., yesterday were brought to Fort Myer, near this city, today, where they will be put in training for the great international horse show to be held at the Olympia, London, in June, as the entries of the war department. Five more mounts are to be purchased for the use of army officers in that exhibition.

For the six horses $10,500 was paid. Col. Charles J. Treat was the senior of a party of officers who went to Warrenton to look over the offerings and make the selections. The top-priced animals were Timberlost, bought of Mrs. G. R. Tompkins; Justice, bought of Dr. Sowers, and another bought of Rodger Bailey. Two thousand dollars each was paid for these.

Minot School Meet Ends.

Minot, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ward county's annual conference of school officers closed last night. It was most successful from every point of view. Consideration of state aid to rural schools, of the consolidation of schools and general improvement of the facilities for rural school work formed the most important features of the session.

TAFT NAMES COMMITTEE

Society Wants Permanent Fund Equal to 10 Cents Per Inhabitant.

President Taft has appointed a committee to arrange for the collection of an endowment fund in Duluth for the Red Cross society.

The committee's duties will be similar to those of Red Cross organizations in other cities. The committee comprises: W. A. McGonagle, J. L. Washburn, Bishop James McGolrick, Chester A. Congdon, Watson S. Moore, John H. Hearding, Charles A. Duncan, Judge J. D. Ensign, John F. Killorin, A. W. Hartman, Michael H. Kelley, N. B. Morrison, Rev. J. C. Fairies, Rev. John Walker Powell and Oscar Mitchell.

President Taft is the nominal head of the American Red Cross society. He has appointed committees in the principal American cities to raise an endowment fund for the society. It is hoped to obtain a sum of money equal to 10 cents for each inhabitant. New York has already raised $500,000; Cleveland, $56,000; Cincinnati, $36,000, and other cities have collected correspondingly large amounts. On a basis of 10 cents per inhabitant, the sum that might be raised here would be approximately $8,000.

In times of a national disaster the Red Cross society has no trouble in obtaining funds. In the last five years it has received nearly $5,000,000. The society hopes, however, to create a permanent endowment fund so that it may act quickly and without waiting for the public to respond to its appeals for money. There are constantly recurring disasters which are not of national interest and which do not elicit large contributions. To attend properly to the demands upon the society incident to these lesser disasters the society desires to build a permanent fund.

President Taft points out that 1,400,000 subscribers in Japan last year contributed about $1,000,000 to the Japanese Red Cross society. The permanent funds of foreign societies, including property and supplies, are: Japan, $8,080,000; Prussia and other German states, approximately $7,000,000; France, $4,471,000; Italy, $1,547,000; and Austria, $2,474,000.

The Duluth committee appointed by President Taft has not decided what it will do toward complying with the request of the national organization. The state organization, which received aid from this city, handled nearly $80,000 in money and a large quantity of supplies during the relief work following the Baudette and Spooner fires last fall.

PATTERSON IS CAUSTIC

Says Passengers Are Careless in Use of Aerial Bridge.

R. E. Patterson of the board of public works made some caustic comments this morning in speaking of a complaint that the aerial bridge has not been properly cared for.

He stated that he knows of one well-known resident of Minnesota Point who makes a custom of sitting in the cabin and spitting tobacco juice on the floor of the car while it is being run across the canal. He also told of another who, after eating a sack of peanuts, scattered the shells about one end of the cabin. During the winter Mr. Patterson says that it is a hard matter to scrub the car, as the water freezes almost as soon as it is applied. He says that since the weather has become milder, the car has been thoroughly scrubbed with hot water and soap.

GREAT INCREASE IN EXPORTS TO EUROPE

Month of February Shows Remarkable Gain in Foreign Business.

Washington, March 23.—Europe led all the grand divisions of the world in the movement of merchandise to and from the United States for the month of February, 1911, according to figures compiled by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor.

Exports to Europe from this country for the month aggregated $116,825,928, while for February, 1910, they were only $78,437,046. For the eight months ending with that month, exports reached $967,517,585, a marked increase when compared with $821,962,757 for the same period of the preceding year. Total exports for the month were $175,945,805 as compared to $124,558,-626 for February, 1910.

Imports from Europe into this country for February reached $59,167,943, a decrease when compared with $62,-853,310 for the corresponding month of last year. For the eight months' period they reached $524,236,168 as compared to $543,389,488 for the same period of 1910. Total imports into the United States for the month were valued at $121,790,754, a decrease as compared to $130,117,980 for the same month of the preceding year. For the eight months' period they reached $1,015,831,-541 as compared to $1,021,311,690 for the same period of the previous year.

MISS TROTT APPOINTED.

Former Deputy Court Clerk Succeeds Henry D. Lang.

St. Paul, Minn., March 23. — The judges of the United States circuit court for the Eighth judicial circuit have appointed Miss Louise B. Trott of St. Paul, formerly deputy clerk, as clerk of the circuit court to succeed Henry D. Lang, who died suddenly in Duluth Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Trott, during her service of twenty-two years as deputy in the office, has become widely acquainted with lawyers of Minnesota and the neighboring states.

MINOT ANNEXATION CASE IS ARGUED.

Bismarck, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case involving the right of the city of Minot to annex that part of the city that has been organized as North Minot was submitted to the supreme court yesterday. North Minot has been incorporated as a village three years, that action growing out of a school fight in which Minot tried to incorporate a portion of Harrison township as a part of the city. Since then the matter has been in the courts in some form or other almost continuously.

TRIAL AGAIN IN PROGRESS

Barnum Cattle Dealer Tells How He Tried to Help Frink.

William T. Moyle, the juror in the Frink case who was taken suddenly ill yesterday afternoon, was back in the jury box when court opened this morning.

Mr. Moyle was known to have been ailing for some days. He suffered severe pains yesterday and Dr. S. H. Boyer, who was called to attend him, diagnosed his case as gall stones.

The jury was excused when it was found that Moyle would not be able to take his place again until this morning.

The case is that of H. C. Frink against the wholesale and retail meat dealers of the city. Frink claims that as the result of a conspiracy he was forced out of business and he asks damages to the amount of $57,000.

Andrew Anderson, a cattle dealer of Barnum, Minn., was on the stand today. He told how Frink had purchased meats from him and also told of how he tried to buy meats from wholesalers for Frink. He said that he sold some meat to Mr. Frink and turned it over to the Elliott Packing company to be delivered to Mr. Frink. Instead of hanging the meat in the cold storage house, it was put in a room where the steam could get to it, he said. He also testified that he had overheard a conversation at the Elliott plant, in which Mr. Frink was told that he could not purchase meats there, as he was not a member of the Retail Butchers' association.

After Mr. Anderson's testimony, Mr. Frink was again put back on the stand to testify as to how he bought his meat and his manner of doing business with Mr. Anderson.

Evidence was being introduced yesterday afternoon to show that it was impossible for a butcher who did not belong to the association to purchase meat at the time Mr. Frink was in business about eight years ago.

MARINE NEWS NOTES

Navigation in Traverse bay near Detroit has been opened in March for the first time in years.

The steamers Lakeland and Portland will begin their run between Port Huron and Duluth, April 15.

The crew of the steamer E. B. Osler, which held storage grain, are fitting out the boat for the season.

Charles W. Cadwell, manager of the Cadwell Sand & Gravel company, Windsor, has sold his sand steamer H. A. Root to Eastern vessel men.

The Reid Wrecking company has placed the steamer J. V. Ketcham II in the drydock at Port Huron to be overhauled.

Warning to Railroad Men.

Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroading. Geo. Hat. Bell, 426 Third St. Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroading left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." Sold by all druggists.

SPRING FLEES BEFORE GALE

New York, March 23.—A roaring northwesterly gale that blew away all touches of spring and at times reached a velocity of fifty miles an hour, played many curious pranks in this city during the night and early today.

Over at the docks in South Brooklyn the lighter Elizabeth Washburn, loaded with 700 hogsheads of oil, was torn loose from her lashings by the gale. She promptly turned over and sank. The two men on board at the time jumped overboard and swam ashore.

Newport, R. I., March 23.—A heavy northwesterly gale drove the torpedo boat destroyer Burroughs from her berth in the inner bay and landed the craft on the mud flats at the foot of Cherry street early today. The Burroughs was resting easily on an even keel in the mud and today was considered safe, although very near a rocky ledge.

ISLANDERS WANT SERVICE.

Chippewa County, Mich., Residents Demand Regular Boat Connections.

De Tour, Mich., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of supervisors of Chippewa county is confronted with a peculiar proposition arising from the fact that within the boundaries of the county are three large islands—Drummond, in Lake Huron and Sugar and Neebish, in St. Mary's river, the latter, however, actually being in two parts, one of which is known as Johnstone island. Except for small boats and at such times as solid ice has formed, the islands are without means of transportation with the mainland. This works a considerable hardship. Farmers have difficulty in getting their produce to market and the delivery of bulky freight, such as harvesting machinery, is an exceedingly difficult proposition.

The people of Sugar and Neebish islands have petitioned the board of supervisors to establish a ferry boat system. They agree to pay the cost of operation and maintenance. The board is in doubt as to whether it has authority to act in the matter and pending legal advice its decision has been deferred. The islanders pay taxes for the support of county roads, while not receiving the benefit of such highways, and they believe they are entitled to the boon for which they ask. It is proposed to put large scows into service and operate them in such a manner as will not interfere with navigation.

ADMITS BURGLARY.

Man Who Mystified People of Foley Is Under Arrest.

St. Cloud, Minn., March 23.—The robber who is suspected of having committed several of the robberies which has mystified the village of Foley for the past month, is under arrest through the efforts of County Attorney H. J. West, who has been on his trail for some time. He proved to be Ludwig G. Larson, who lives outside of the village. Larson confessed to the county attorney that he was the man who broke into Malek's saloon the night of March 9 and got away with about $30. This is the most important crime the man is charged with but he is supposed to have been mixed up in the majority of the petty thieving which has been going on in the village the past month.

ACCUSED NURSE HELD.

Langdon, N. D., Woman Waives Further Hearing of Charges.

Langdon, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The preliminary hearing of Miss Nellie Gande, the nurse charged with murder in the second degree, came to a very sudden termination yesterday when the defendant announced that she would waive further examination. A large amount of evidence had already been introduced and the action of the defendant was entirely unexpected, in view of the hot fight that had been made throughout the case.

She was held under a bond of $5,000. The charge originates out of the death of Mrs. William Drury, in which case Dr. J. J. Reilly of Milton also has been arrested.

CUMULATIVE VOTING AGITATING MINOT.

Minot, N. D., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The question of adopting the cumulative system of voting for members of the city commission rests with the city attorney, the subject having been so referred by the city board at a rather interesting session. Minot voters have been discussing the question and should the commission decide to print the ballots to allow for the cumulative voting, there is no question but an action in the courts would result.

ESCANABA BRAKEMAN DIES OF INJURIES.

Marinette, Wis., March 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Rosseau, a brakeman employed by the Northwestern railroad, whose home is in Escanaba, was caught between the car and engine while trying to make a coupling and sustained injuries from which he died in the Menominee River hospital.

RETRACTION BY KLEMER DEMANDED

judging from his response to the committee's demand for an apology.

At 12:15 R. C. Dunn said that the special committee consisting of himself, L. C. Spooner and Albert Pfaender was ready to report and its report was read and unanimously adopted. It was to the effect that the committee found the language used by Klemer to be not only highly improper and grossly unparliamentary but that it constituted a grave and serious reflection on the honor and integrity of the speakers and of the members of the house.

Therefore the committee recommend that Klemer be commanded to make forthwith a full apology and retraction or be censured by a vote of the house.

Klemer's Reply.

Klemer then arose and read his reply, saying:

"I said what I believed to be true. I am not the only person who believes it to be true. I voiced the sentiment of a large part of the public in what I said. I will admit frankly that what I may say now won't change public sentiment. This matter has been heralded abroad through the press, and nothing I can say will add any honor to the name of any member of the house. I am willing to apologize if after a thorough investigation it appears that my charges were unfounded."

He then proposed the appointment of a committee of seven to investigate, three to be appointed by himself, three by the speaker and the seventh by the six, and sent a resolution to the desk to that effect. He had not attached his name to it, and Speaker Dunn, white with anger, said:

"Some gentleman has sent a resolution to the desk without his name attached," and flung the paper on the desk.

Klemer acknowledge dauthorship and then Speaker Dunn said:

"Possibly it is the duty of the speaker to present this resolution, and while I think it utterly unfit to be considered by this or any other legislative body, I shall present it."

At this point Representative L. C. Spooner, saying that action should be taken on this matter before any other business was transacted, moved a recess till 3 o'clock, which was carried.

Regulating Boards of Trade.

Senator Saugstad this morning introduced a bill making the following regulations of boards of trade: That they shall not limit the number of members, that their memberships shall not cost over $5,000; that applications for membership shall not be rejected except for good cause, reviewable by the courts; that their quotations shall be public property; that the proceedings of their boards of directors shall be open to the railroad and warehouse commission, which is required to send a representative to each meeting; and that reports of the proceedings shall be published in a daily paper.

The forestry bill was made a special order in the house for next Thursday morning.

The Spooner bill raising the railroad gross earnings tax from 4 to 5 per cent was recommended to pass by the house tax committee and made a special order in the house for Monday noon, together with Representative Knutson's bill applying to Minnesota the Canadian industrial arbitration act.

Representative Campbell wanted to make the several workingmen's compensation bills a special order for next Wednesday, but opposition arose on the grounds that the Gillette bill is not yet out of committee and that the consideration of too many measures might mean the defeat of all, and the matter was laid over to tomorrow.

Veto Sustained.

Representative Campbell tried to pass over the governor's veto the bill allowing street railways to make special rates for mail carriers by contract, but failed, the vote being 62 for and 50 against, when 80 affirmative votes were needed.

The following bills came in:

Representatives Nolan and Hillman and Senator Rockne—Constitutional amendment creating a workingmen's indemnity fund, to be made up of taxes on employers, employes and the state.

Representative G. W. Brown—Prohibiting the use of stickers in elections.

Representative Conley — Providing that county conventions may select party candidates for the primary elections.

Representative Robinson—Requiring railroads to construct spur tracks to towns located within half a mile of the road, on petition of two-thirds of the legal voters.

Senator Moonan—Providing $1,500 extra pay to W. E. McEwen for work on the workingmen's compensation commission.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The resolution by the Committee on Light and Water ordering the erection and maintenance of street lights was read, and on request of the chairman on the same was postponed for one week.

The resolution by Alderman Scott advising the plat commission that the council would accept no new plats in which the average or unit lot was less than 50 feet, was read and on motion of Alderman Barnes the matter was referred to the city attorney with a request that he report to the council what power the council has to regulate the distance between houses.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Light and Water, having had under consideration the matter of the payment of lights ordered by this council, under special agreement with the Duluth-Edison Electric company, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

CHAS. J. HECTOR,
JAMES A. WHARTON,
JNO. HOGAN,
Committee.

Resolved, That the city comptroller is hereby directed to audit a bill in favor of the Duluth-Edison Electric company for the payment of street lights ordered by this council by resolutions of Jan. 17, Feb. 28, March 14 and 28, and April 4, 1910.

Resolved Further, That said lights are hereafter to be paid for monthly.

Alderman Hector moved the adoption of the resolution and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas—Aldermen Bergstrom, Curren, Hector, Hogan, MacDonell, Miller, Scott, Shartel, Wharton, President Jordan—10.

Nays—Aldermen Barnes, Bernard, Gibson, Krueger—4.

Alderman Barnes objected to the ruling of the chair on the grounds that eleven votes were necessary to carry the resolution since it obligated the city.

The city attorney was asked for his opinion upon the ruling, and stated that, inasmuch as the question would have to come up to him in another form and as the present action was not final, he was of the opinion that the ruling of the chair was correct.

There being no further objection to the ruling of the president it was accepted.

Passed March 13, 1911.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

Alderman Gibson moved to reconsider the vote by which the resolution vacating the alley in block 7, Highland Park addition, was declared lost at the last regular meeting of the council. The motion to reconsider was declared adopted upon the following vote:

NOTICE OF PROPOSED VACATION—

Notice is hereby given that there has been filed of record in my office a petition for the vacation of the alley in Block 10, Highland Park Addition, lying between Nineteenth Avenue East and Woodland Avenue.

The object of the vacation is to allow the property owners to take care of and improve the alley, the topography of said alley being such as to make it too expensive for grading or paving.

Said petition will be heard and considered by the committee of the Common Council on Streets, Alleys and

STRENGTH IN WHEAT LOST

Values Decline—Outlook for Big Southwestern Crop Is Good.

Unsettled Weather Predicted —Bearish Abroad— Flax Lower.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 23.—Wheat declined today. May lost ¼c and July declined ¼c. The heaviness of the Northwestern market contributed to the decline. Cash wheat was on a parity with May. Oats lost ⅛c, rye was unchanged, barley was unchanged and durum was weak, losing ¼c.

Flaxseed was weaker. May declining 5c to $2.52 asked. Foreign markets were weaker also. La Plata February-March seed was quoted at Antwerp at $2.133 a bu. The pressure of Indian seed is causing foreign markets to weaken. There were scattered offers of cash seed today. Crushers took a little seed but were not inclined to support the market. With the linseed oil trade at a minimum crushers are not disposed to enter the flaxseed market. The situation continues weak. Winnipeg May closed at $2.43 bid after selling at $2.42.

Although cables were lower and the foreign markets were weak, the American markets opened strong and advanced. The continued dry weather in the Northwest, where there is absence of precipitation, caused some appreheasion. Toward noon the markets weakened, traders being bearishly inclined after the bulge. There was very little bullish news and reports from the Southwest were favorable.

There are many complaints from the Northwest that rain is needed. As the seeding season is about to begin, it is recognized that moisture is needed. The situation is not serious, however, and if rains come before the middle of April relief will have been afforded. It is too early for this situation to become a market factor, but some traders have shown a disposition to anticipate its possible effect. If rains do not come within the next fortnight it is likely that the bulls will hand out considerable news based on the dryness in the Northwest and will use the absence of precipitation as a market factor.

The bearishly inclined people regard the decrease in stocks in the Northwest as disappointing and they point to the fact that millers are not anxious for wheat. Nebraska was offering wheat in Minneapolis today. May liquidation is regarded by the bears as impending, while the bulls do not think there will be any liquidation.

The market lost its advance and eased off at noon. The reaction was caused by selling due to continued favorable reports from the Southwest, indications of large shipments from the Argentine republic to the United Kingdom, and reports of cloudy weather for the Northwest and Southwest.

Scattered reports of seeding by farmers came from the Northwest. The soil is said to be dry.

Receipts at Minneapolis are almost as large as at this time last year and Winnipeg receipts are heavy and will continue to be large, according to reports. Receipts here are confined to a few cars daily.

Price Current of Cincinnati said that the weather this week is mild and springlike and winter wheat is reported in a good condition. Damage from freezing and thawing is less than usual. Only a small area of winter crops will be abandoned. Weather conditions favor seeding of oats. The season, said the publication starts encouragingly.

Regarding moisture in the Northwest, Snow said that Minnesota, North and South Dakota had more than a normal amount of moisture in February. The precipitation that makes spring wheat comes after April 1, said Snow who pointed out that it is too early to talk of dry weather in the Northwest as a market factor.

MARKET GOSSIP

Bromhall cabled from Liverpool: "The firmness in America yesterday at the close and the closing steadiness in Buenos Ayres were offset by the forecast of large shipments from Argentina this week and values were ½d lower. There was pronounced pressure to sell both La Plata and Indian offers and Australian was offering freely. Indian and Argentine crop advices were favorable and the general belief here is that the American winter outlook is satisfactory. Just before midday the general market assumed a steadier tone with some local speculative support and prices advanced ¼d. Some reports here indicate smaller Russian shipments this week and a better millers' inquiry. At 1:50 p. m. the market was steady and unchanged to ¼d lower than yesterday. Corn—Market opened quiet and unchanged. Later there was realizing and especially in May on the belief that there will not be a large premium in May over July, as supplies are sufficient for the present and there are large and cheap Danubian offers. Large firms here were sellers. At midday the market was easy, ¼@⅜d lower than yesterday. India—Weather continues fine and warm, which is favorable for the cutting and harvesting of wheat and large yield is expected. Russia—Weather continue cold and farm work impeded. Arrivals at ports smaller."

B. W. Snow wired from Cameron, Mo.: "In last eight days I have traveled by motor and rail 1,000 miles by daylight in wheat district of Kansas. West of a line north and south through Rush county, and involving about 2,000,000 acres, the wheat is not up yet except in very scattering way. This is so late that germination is now uncertain and the chances are decidedly against anything like a fair stand at best. The south row of counties, from the Arkansas river west to Barber county, including over 500,000 acres, are already definitely a failure, with probably three-fourths of the acreage put to other crops. The trouble in both these districts was the same failure to germinate until after the February rains, but the West is naturally so much later than the South that at least two weeks more must elapse before it can be safely counted out. The balance of the state, with about 4,000,000 acres, shows practically a perfect prospect. If the western district finally proves a completefailure, the state with a normal season can still make from 60,000,000 to 70,000,000 bu, and to this will be added whatever the doubtful district finally contributes."

Weather forecast: Illinois—Fair tonight and Friday; warmer in north. Indiana—Fair tonight and Friday; warmer. Missouri—Fair tonight and probably Friday; warmer in west and north. Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Friday; warmer. Minnesota—Fair tonight and Friday; warmer. Iowa—Fair tonight; warmer in west and central portions Friday; increasing cloudiness and warmer. North and South Dakota, Nebraska—Fair and warmer tonight; increasing cloudiness. Kansas —Increasing cloudiness tonight and Friday; warmer.

Chicago Record-Herald: Wheat traders predicted yesterday that May wheat would soon go to a discount under the July, and perhaps to a full carrying charge basis if the demand for cash wheat did not pick up. It is practically a certainty there will be large stocks of wheat available for delivery, and the May holders are showing a disposition to turn over the responsibility of owning the near-by contracts to some one else. There is not supposed to be any big shortage in the May outside of the hedges, and with the slow demand for cash wheat and fairly liberal receipts the prospects for any big demand for the May developing are remote. Outside speculators have not been coaxed into buying the May to any great extent, although there have been intimations that the bigholders would put on the screws before the expiration of the delivery.

Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 20,000 bu for five days.

Closing wheat cables: Liverpool—Unchanged to ⅛d lower; corn, ⅛@¼d lower. Berlin unchanged. Budapest, ¾c higher. Buenos Ayres, ⅝c up.

Primary receipts: Wheat, 296,000 bu; last year, 406,000; shipments, 211,000; last year, 292,000. Corn, 772,000 bu; last year, 368,000; shipments, 323,000; last year, 327,000.

John Inglis wired from Hastings, Neb., today: "Extreme western counties of Nebraska for the present are in arid belt; wheat is not yet germinated. East from Oxford, Holdredge to Hastings, conditions are promising, fields green, fair growth and stand much better than last year. Grazing cattle on the wheat. Rain needed; surface getting dry."

Minneapolis puts were 96¾c and calls 97¼@97⅝c bid.

Clearances: Wheat, 52,000 bu; flour, 12,000 bbl; corn, 176,000 bu; oats, 2,000 bu; wheat and flour, 106,000 bbl.

Inglis wired from Norton, Kan.: "Ellis and Trego counties showing some growth with fair stand. Gore, Logan and Thomas counties, wheat not sprouted yet; need rain badly. Sheridan, Decatur and Norton counties have fair prospects; very short, but greening up rapidly. Situation not hopeless if rains come next month."

Wheat cargoes arrived off coast nil and awaiting orders nil. Wheat cargoes in distant positions easy, sellers meeting the market. Corn dull with a limited demand. Weekly Argentine estimate of shipments: Wheat, 4,000,000 against 2,536,000 bu against 1,984,000 bu. Corn, 200,000 bu against none against 122,000 bu.

The area of wheat planted this year is likely to be larger than that sown last year.

The acreage under wheat last year amounted to 15,444,000 acres and 14,148,000 acres in 1909.

Wheat. The close was easy with May ⅝c off at 48¼@48⅜c.

Independent strength developed in the market for oats. Commission houses purchased quite freely, and one local speculator alone took 250,000 bu. May started unchanged to a shade higher at 31c to 31@31⅛c, and made a further gain to 31⅛@31¼c.

Large receipts of hogs made provisions drop. First sales were 2½c to 12½c down, with May at $16.57½ for pork, $8.80 to $8.82½ for lard and $9.226 for ribs.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Advances Slightly After Opening But Closes Lower.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 23.—Minneapolis today received 136 cars of wheat against 163 a year ago; Duluth 3 against 112, and Winnipeg 256 against 192.

May wheat opened 97¼c; high, 97⅜@97⅝c; low, 96⅝@96¾c; closed 96⅞c. July opened 98⅝c; high, 99c; low, 98⅜@98¼c; closed, 98¼@98⅜c. September opened 94c; high, 94⅜c; low, 93¼c; closed, 93⅝@93¾c.

Cash wheat was steady to a trifle firmer. Demand good for choice spring, but slow for lower varieties. Millers fair buyers. No. 1 northern sold mostly for ½@1½c above the May contract. Close: No. 1 hard, 98¾c; No. 1 northern, 97@98⅜c; to arrive, 96⅞@98⅜c; No. 2 northern, 94⅝@96⅝c; to arrive, 94⅝@96¼c; No. 3 wheat, 92⅝@95⅝c; No. 3 yellow corn, 44c; No. 3 white oats, 28¾@29¼c; No. 2 rye, 87c.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Irregularity of Missouri Pacific Is Only Feature of Interest.

New York, March 23.—The trend of prices was upward in the opening sales on the stock market today, although gains for the most part were confined to small fractions, and the market was dull. Canadian Pacific topped its previous high record price selling at 219¾ as compared with 219¾, yesterday's best figure. St. Paul advanced ⅝ and Norfolk & Western, Atchison, Great Northern Ore certificates, Great northern prefeed and Consolidated Gas ⅜.

The market failed to hold its initial improvement long, an attack on Missouri Pacific which sent it down to 50½, weakening the whole list. When Missouri Pacific rebounded afterward to 51⅝ other stocks also hardened a trifle, but the market became stagnant at the higher level. Canadian Pacific sold at 220¾, the highest price in its history. American Sugar lost 1⅛.

Trading throughout the morning was perfunctory with little effort on the part of either long or short interests to sway the market. After a slight movement either way, stocks sold down to a level which showed little change from yesterday's close.

Irregularity of Missouri Pacific furnished about the only movement on which traders could make a profitable turn and when this stock became almost lifeless in common with other leaders, speculation came practically to a standstill. Atlantic coast line advanced 1. Norfolk & Western declined a point and Toledo, St. Louis & Western 1⅝. Bonds were steady.

Small selling orders were executed in the Hill stocks and Amalgamated Copper and they were carried easily. The general run of active stocks, however, was virtually unchanged.

The market closed steady. Another feeble demonstration was made against Missouri Pacific, but the selling stopped after the price had reached yesterday's closing. A few other stocks also were dealt in on a falling market, but the movement was too insignificant to attract attention. International Harvester declined 1½ and Pullman 1.

South St. Paul Livestock.

South St. Paul, Minn., March 23.—Cattle—Receipts, 500; steady; unchanged. Hogs—Receipts, 2,990; market 5@10c lower; range, $6.40@6.65; bulk of sales, $6.55@6.60. Sheep—Receipts, 1,400; market steady; sheep, $1.00@5.00; lambs, $2.00@6.10.

Cotton Market.

New York, March 23.—The cotton market opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 2 points. Local sentiment appeared to be bearish as Liverpool responded to the local decline of yesterday and as the weather map showed further good rains in the South, but offerings were restricted by the appearance of supporting orders in the hands of leading bull brokers and as soon as the market began to firm up on this demand, yesterday's sellers started covering. Prices advanced consequently and during the middle of the morning, ruled about 4 to 6 points net higher.

Spot, closed quiet, 5 points higher; middling uplands, 14.55; middling gulf, 14.80; sales, 700 bales. Futures, steady; closing bids: March, 14.34; April, 14.37; May, 14.47; June, 14.33; July, 14.31; August, 13.89; September, 13.02; October, 12.62; November, 12.54; December, 12.51; January, 12.49.

HOUSE IN A TURMOIL FOR THE THIRD DAY OVER KLEMER CASE

Resolution of Censure Put Over By Notice of Debate.

Motion to Suspend Rules Fails to Get Sufficient Votes.

Senators Anxious to Hear Proceedings and Senate Is Adjourned.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the third day the house was in a turmoil this morning over the Klemer case, without getting much ahead with it. R. C. Dunn offered a resolution censuring Klemer for his unparliamentary language and Representative W. I. Nolan of Minneapolis gave a notice of debate, which under the rules put it over to tomorrow. Representative Dunn then moved to suspend the rules, which required eighty votes, and his motion failed, lacking twelve votes of the necessary number. The vote was 68 to 44.

During the proceedings the house was packed with spectators, floor and gallery. Senators drifted in until there were only a few left, and it was necessary to adjourn the senate until this afternoon.

CLIMBS TREE AND HANGS HIMSELF

North Dakota Man Crawls Out on Limb and Adjusts Rope.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Knute Hustveds, aged 35, selected an unusual method of killing himself, by crawling out to the end of a strong branch of a tree, adjusting a rope about his neck with the other securely fastened to the tree, and jumping off. His body was found late yesterday afternoon in the timber south of the city, two boys making the discovery.

Only a jackknife and a postoffice box key were found, the latter proving a means of identification. An investigation of the case is being made by Coroner Hethrington.

WORKMEN'S LAW IS VOID

New York's Compulsory Compensation Measure Is Unconstitutional.

Opinion Is Handed Down By the Court of Appeals.

Albany, N. Y., March 24.—The workmen's compulsory compensation law, passed by the legislature last year, which provides compensation to workmen injured in certain specified dangerous employments regardless of the employers' negligence, was declared unconstitutional by the court of appeals today.

The court holds that the act deprives the employer of his property without due process of law, in violation of the Constitution. Judge Werner wrote the opinion, in which all the members of the court concurred.

The main feature of the act was that it required employers of labor in "hazardous occupations" to compensate their employes for any injury occurring through the course of the work, although such injury occurred solely through the negligence of the workmen.

The case at issue was that of Earl Ives, a switchman, against the South Buffalo Crosstown Railway company. Ives was injured while at work and brought an action for damages, alleging in his complaint that he was injured solely by reason of a necessary risk or danger of his employment. The company admitted the facts but alleged the statute under which the action was brought was unconstitutional.

Although admitting the strength of the economic and sociological arguments adduced in support of the statute, Judge Werner holds that "under our form of government courts must regard all economic, philosophical and moral theories, however attractive and desirable they may be, as subordinate to the primary question whether they can be moulded into statutes without infringing upon the letter or spirit of our written constitutions."

The opinion points out that the effect of the act is to abrogate what is known as the "fellow servant" doctrine and also "the contributory negligence" rule, both of which have heretofore been well settled under the jurisprudence of this state and county, but both of which the legislature has power to abolish.

RECALL OF OFFICIALS

House Takes Similar Action on Bill for Constitutional Convention.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Almost without a word, save those necessary to the motion and its adoption, the senate in committee of the whole yesterday advanced to the calendar the bill by Senator John J. Moonan of Waseca, Democrat, proposing a constitutional amendment providing for the recall of public officers in this state—except judges of the supreme and district courts.

At about the same time the house, with little more debate, advanced to the calendar the bill by Representative Kneeland of Minneapolis, submitting to the people the proposition whether or not there shall be a convention to revise the Constitution of the state.

These were the chief incidents of a busy afternoon put in by both houses yesterday, when in the neighborhood of a hundred bills were considered and advanced to the calendar, where they will come up shortly for final passage.

The recall bill approved by the sen-

INSANE PATIENTS PLAN TO ESCAPE

Plot at Government Hospital at Washington Discovered By Officials.

Washington, March 24.—A plot for the escape of the 300 or more patients of the government hospital for the insane was unearthed by its authorities last night, when Arthur Barnes, told of the plans of a band of patients.

The plans, as told by Barnes, one of the patients, contemplated that while a play was going on tonight in Hitchcock hall, an outbuilding of the institution, where a majority of the guards were to be concentrated, the patients should make their break. At the time nine guards would be on duty to watch over the 300 criminal insane patients, and the guards were to be attacked in the same manner as a guard was handled Monday night when five patients escaped.

Barnes told his story to an official of the institution and extra guards were placed on watch. One of the ring leaders was overheard to say, "We'll make short work of them." Flies, iron and lead pipes and sticks which had been hidden by the patients to be used in their attack were found.

Nine patients have been put in irons and placed under close confinement.

THREE PERSONS PERISH IN WRECK OF STEAMER.

Louisburg, B. C., March 24.—Three persons perished in the wreck of the Newfoundland mail steamer Bruce, which struck the rocks off Scatteri during the night. News of the wreck, which reached here today, indicates that the steamer is a total loss.

NEW OMAHA COURTHOUSE DYNAMITED

Two Explosions Occur in Basement of $1,000,000 Structure.

Contractors Have Been Having Trouble With the Labor Unions.

Home Office at Columbus, Ind., Blown Up at the Same Time.

Omaha, Neb., March 24.—Two explosions in the basement of the new $1,000,000 courthouse at Eighteenth and Farnum streets at 1 o'clock this morning created considerable excitement and brought out the police reserves. Windows were shattered in buildings two blocks away and considerable other damage was done.

Two cement floors in the basement of the building were torn loose and an interior retaining wall was badly damaged but the stone walls of the uncompleted building were not injured so far as could be observed.

The police are unable to account for the explosions. The contractor who is constructing the courthouse has had some trouble with organized labor, but so far as known this trouble had been settled.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS A SUCCESS

Continued March of Progress Reported on French Institutions.

Washington, March 24.—Since the inauguration of the postal savings bank system in France in 1881 it has had one continued march of progress, according to Consul General A. Gaulin at Marseilles. The total number of banks in operation the first year was 6,024, with 211,580 deposit accounts remaining open at the close of the year. These accounts, including interest, amounted to $9,187,116, the average deposit being $43.41. In 1909, the latest year for which statistics are available, the number of banks had increased by nearly 2,000, the deposit accounts numbered 5,542,882, and the deposits, including interest, aggregated $316,456,866, average $57.08.

In France individual accounts are limited by law to 1,500 francs ($289.50), and when an account exceeds this amount the surplus is invested by the bank in national bonds.

Expenses for operating the banks during 1909 amounted to $1,504,678 and the net profits to $526,786.

STANLEY ROBISON.

Cleveland, March 24.—Stanley Robison, owner of the St. Louis National league baseball club, died of blood poisoning at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank De Haas Robison, today.

SUCCESSFUL AS MANAGER

Stanley Robison Has Done Much for Professional Baseball.

Became Identified With the Game in St. Louis in 1899.

St. Louis, Mo., March 24.—M. Stanley Robison, who died at Cleveland today, first became identified with baseball in St. Louis in 1899. He and his brother, Frank De Haas Robison, owners of the National league baseball club of Cleveland transferred their club and franchise to St. Louis. The two brothers continued to own and operate the club until 1908, when Frank De Haas Robison died. Since then Stanley Robison has been the principal owner.

The Robisons bought the Cleveland club in 1889 and developed one of the greatest teams that ever played in the National league. In 1895 and 1896 the Cleveland team played Baltimore for the Temple cup.

Robison was here a week ago last Thursday and departed a week ago. He was ill then and remained in his hotel. He was 54 years old, was born in Dubuque, Iowa. He was one of three brothers and the last of them to die.

Herman D. Seekamp, treasurer of the club, said today that the spring series between the American league and national league teams in St. Louis will be played as scheduled. He said the funeral probably will be held Monday, on which day no game is scheduled and that he and Manager Roger Bresnahan will go to Cleveland after Sunday's game. The spring series will start tomorrow.

Ax Plant Burns.

Lewistown, Pa., March 24.—The large ax manufacturing plant of the James H. Mann estate at Yeagertown, near here, was today destroyed by fire which started in the tempering department. The loss is estimated at $175,000.

TRAIN HELD UP; ROBBED OF $20,000

Six Men Blow Safe, Working for Over Two Hours.

Systematic Robbery Executed on the Iron Mountain Road.

After Getting Money, Brigands Drive Away in Automobiles.

Coffeyville, Kan., March 24.—For two hours last night six masked men held St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern passenger train No. 104 at a standstill on the prairie about six miles south of this city while they blew open a safe in the express car and escaped in two automobiles, carrying with them money and valuables which it is believed will amount to $20,000.

The train left Little Rock at 8:30 a. m. yesterday bound for Kansas City. It reached Lenapah, Okla., just south of this city, over the Oklahoma line at 10:30 last night, half an hour late.

Turning he saw a masked man sitting on the tender pointing a revolver at him.

"I'm going to ride a little way with you," said the man, "drive on."

The engineer did as ordered.

About four miles out of Lenapah the man forced the engineer to stop the train at a place where the tracks cross a small culvert near a clump of trees.

"GLASS SUCKER" THIEF AT WORK

Chicago, March 24.—Another "glass sucker" thief, the first to operate in Chicago in half a score of years, appeared early today and stole over $2,000 worth of jewelry from a downtown store. His operations were interrupted by a watchman, who fired upon the thief, but the latter escaped.

With a diamond glass cutter the thief cut a circular section out of the plate glass window, first having pressed to the glass a circular, wet piece of sole leather nearly the size of the opening he desired. To this leather "sucker" was attached a stout cord and when the glass was scratched, a sudden jerk on the "sucker" removed the glass cleanly. A bent wire was then used to fish out diamond rings, etc.

SCORE OF MILWAUKEE FIRE FIGHTERS PLUNGE THROUGH HIGH ROOF

Four Are Dead, Two Dying and Others Seriously Hurt.

Men Fighting Flames From Roof of Four-Story Structure.

Brave Men Sent to the Basement With But Slight Warning.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 24.—Four fire fighters are dead, two others dying at the Emergency hospital, and several others suffering from more or less serious injuries, the result of the caving in of the roof of the building of the Middleton Manufacturing company, wholesale hatters, 354 Broadway, today.

The dead:

CAPT. JOHN HINTZ, Company No. 9.
APETER JANNSEN, Company No. 9.
DICK BURKE, Company No. 9.
HAMMOND.

The dying: Vincent Marchesi, Company No. 5; Paul Fenske, Company No. 9.

Others injured: Terry O'Donnell, No. 9; Tim Donahue, No. 9; Driver Redlein, No. 9; Frank Foyer, No. 5.

The fire had been burning half an hour and between fifteen and twenty men had been fighting the flames from the roof of the four-story structure, when suddenly there was a creaking and swaying of the upper portion and

THREATENED WITH DEATH

Betrayer of Camorrists May Reap Reward for His Deed.

Attempt Will Be Made to Prove Abbatemaggio Insane.

Viterbo, Italy, March 24.—This was the day set for the interrogation of Gennaro Abbatemaggio, the Camorrist informer, about whose confession the state has built up the evidence upon which it is hoped to rid the country of the criminal organization that for years has exacted tribute from rich and poor, robbing and murdering with practical impunity. Expectation of witnessing what may cost him his life, great crowds gathered early in the vicinity of the court of assizes and when the session opened the room was packed to its capacity.

The defense, so far as Abbatemaggio is concerned, will be that the man is insane, a theory strengthened by his desperate boldness. Prof. Ottolenghi, an alienist from the University of Rome, has been retained to examine the informer, and as the professor was not in court during the morning hours Abbatemaggio's interrogation was deferred until the afternoon and President Bianchi opened the proceedings with the examination of Gennaro Ibelli, following this with the questioning of Luigi Arena.

Ibelli is asserted to be the head of that branch of the Camorra which operates in the Vesuvian villages. He was one of the party that dined with Enrico Alfano on the night that Gennaro Cuoccolo and his wife were murdered. He was arrested soon afterwards but was released upon the false representations of the Priest Ciro Vitozi. According to Abbatemaggio one of the offenses of Cuoccolo was his defiance of Ibelli. He is charged with having been one of those who instigated the murders. This is denied today, and he also denied that he had dined with the other leaders of the Camorra on the night in question. He said that he knew Alfano and Giuseppe de Marinis, another of the chiefs, only in a business way.

Arena Refused to Divide.

Luigi Arena was then called. Arena

BIG SHIP HAS AN EVENTFUL VOYAGE

The President Lincoln Arrives After a Trip Full of Excitement.

New York, March 24.—Written in the usual perfunctory log of the steamer President Lincoln, in today from Europe, is a series of marine happenings which kept the liner's passengers in a stress of excitement almost throughout the entire voyage.

The President Lincoln came into quarantine a day late, having battled with storms and head winds all through her twelve days' trip from Hamburg. The big steamship tried to touch at Cherbourg to take on passengers and mail, but the tender was unable to come alongside and the liner proceeded.

About longitude 23 deg. the storm took on hurricane proportions, creating waves that came over the ship's sides and swept along decks. So turbulent were the combers that oil was used.

Last Saturday a steerage passenger, Schlerme Lewin, a young lad, oppressed by the weather, threw himself overboard. Efforts to save him were futile. Another steerage passenger attempted suicide by slitting his throat, but the ship's surgeon saved his life.

FLESH AND BLOOD STREWN ON TRACK

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Man Mangled By Canadian Pacific Engine.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Struck by an engine, drawing a train of freight cars, in the Canadian Pacific railway yards here this morning, Harry Milton, is in a dying condition at the General hospital with one foot severed and the scalp torn from his head, while the left leg, is terribly mangled.

Milton was leaving the yards for home when he was struck and carried a distance of about ten yards, the track being strewn with flesh and blood. The engineer said his whistle was unheeded.

Negroes Admitted.

Winnipeg, Man., March 24.—The party of negro immigrants from Oklahoma who have been detained at Emerson the last two days, were passed yesterday by the Canadian medical inspector and left Emerson last evening for Winnipeg. They will be rushed forward to Edmonton with their effects without delay. One recruit, who joined them in St. Paul, was rejected and sent back.

VENGEANCE BY REBELS

Madero Will Never Stop Fighting as Long as Diaz Is in Power.

Bisbee, Ariz., March 24.—Juan Cabral, leader of the insurrecto forces that are threatening Harmosillo, wrought fearful vengeance on federals for shooting a courier who was sent March 13 to demand the surrender of Chispas, according to a refugee from Cananea, who reached here today.

He reports that Cabral enticed a force of fifty federals into the Babicaora pass and that few escaped.

Last spring Cabral was forced to leave Cananea because of political utterances. At the time he said: "You force me to leave now, but I will come back."

Cabral is reported to be at the head of 700 men.

Will Never Stop Fighting.

Bisbee, Ariz., March 24.—"I will never stop fighting as long as Diaz is in power, or until we are granted free and unintimidated suffrage."

This is said to be the first public utterance of Francisco I. Madero, provisional president of Mexico, since it was reported that peace negotiations were under way.

C. Lynch, a refugee mining man from the Casas Grandes country is authority for the quotation.

The assertion is said to have been made while Madero, Orozco and other insurgent leaders were guests at the home of a mine superintendent.

JUDGE FINDS RICH GUILTY

Woman Forcibly Ejected From Store While Pursuing Her Duties.

Carl Rich, proprietor of a store at 18 West Second street, was found guilty of assaulting Mrs. Jeannette Baldwin, woman health inspector, after a trial in police court this morning, and fined $25 and costs.

Mrs. Baldwin claimed that in the course of her duties as a sanitary inspector she served notice on Rich to clean up his premises, and those across the alley, on which she claimed he was throwing garbage. Wednesday she stated that she went to see Rich to ascertain why the requirements of the notice had not been observed by him.

Mrs. Baldwin testified on the witness stand this morning that Rich, his daugter and Mrs. Rich, had all taken a hand in dragging her about the store and ejecting her from the place. She alleged that before she was put out she was shaken by Mrs. Rich. Mrs. Baldwin did not claim that she had been severely injured.

When Rich took the stand he asserted that he had not laid a hand on Mrs. Baldwin; that she had stayed behind the counter the entire time and that he had not spoken a single word to the health department representative while she was there.

His daughter, 14 years old, stated that she had ordered Mrs. Baldwin out of the store and had taken her by the arm, leading her to the door. She said that her father had not touched Mrs. Baldwin and had said nothing to her. She alleged also that Mrs. Baldwin had called her a "liar," which the court said he didn't believe.

Two other women who were in the store at the time were put on for the defense, but their testimony was not consistent when compared with what had been previously said. The girl had said that she had taken Mrs. Baldwin by the arm, but they claimed that she had not so much as put a finger on her.

In passing sentence Judge Windom stated that the testimony of the defense differed in important details and that he would find Rich guilty of the assault. He said that the authority of the inspectors of the health department must be obeyed, as it is absolutely necessary in enforcing regulations for the public health that they visit private premises throughout the city.

TO KEEP UP MEAT PRICES

That Was Purpose of the Butchers' Association, Say Witnesses.

Retailer Was Suspended Because He Cut Association's Prices.

M. M. Gasser, on the stand in the Frank case this morning in district court told how the Butchers' association was formed to keep up the prices of meats.

Mr. Gasser told how on one occassion he was suspended from the organization because he had sold goods under the regular price charged by all butchers. He immediately made application to be reinstated and he was taken back into the organization upon his promise to be good.

He stated that he had never attended the meetings of the association but that the man in charge of his shop was empowered to represent him.

Mr. Gasser's testimony was along the lines of the purposes of the organization. He is one of the defendants in the action and it is said that many of the defendants will be put on the stand by the plaintiff that an insight of the real purposes of the Retail Butchers' association may be brought to light.

A price list of meats is furnished from the association, according to Mr. Gasser's testimony and a violation of that list is sufficient ground for suspension. The gist of Mr. Gasser's testimony was that the purpose of the organization is and was at the time that Mr. Frank was in business to keep up the prices of meat and keep out of business those who would not take out a membership.

B. J. Tobin, another local meat dealer, was on the stand the early part of the morning but he stated that he had paid no attention to the association and that he knew very little of its purposes.

The case involves $57,000, the amount of damages asked by H. C. Frink from the wholesale and retail firms of the city for forming a conspiracy by which he claims he was forced out of business.

He claims that in 1903 he maintained a butcher shop in Duluth and that his profits amounted to $75 a day on an actual business of $275 each day.

He claims that he did not belong to the Retail Butchers' association and for that reason he was frozen out by the wholesalers who refused to sell him stock.

The case is going on in district court before Judge William A. Cant. It has been on since Monday and looks good for a week longer.

MADE IT WARM FOR OFFICER

Insane Woman Gave Deputy Sheriff an Exciting Journey.

Deputy Sheriff D. E. Stevens had an exciting trip to Fergus Falls with Mrs. Lillian Decaire of this city, who was ordered to the state hospital Monday by Judge Gilpin of the probate court, after an examination as to her sanity.

Mrs. Decaire made things warm for the officer and also the nurse who accompanied them on the trip.

She insisted on insulting everybody within distance, screamed at the top of her voice, laughed, cried, tore her hair, attempted to break the windows of the coach, and implored help of every one. When it was refused her, she abused them in no uncertain terms.

She had a habit of making herself as limp as a rag, and as she weighs 200 pounds, it was a somewhat difficult job for the captain to drag her at points where it was necessary to change cars.

Mrs. Decaire was violently insane. She has lived in Duluth for a great many years. For some time past she kept a candy and cigar store on lower Lake avenue.

It was claimed that her age was 84 years. Capt. Stevens says she was remarkably vigorous for a woman of that age.

S.S.S. PERMANENTLY CURES BLOOD POISON

One reason why S. S. S. is so successful in the treatment of Contagious Blood Poison is that this medicine strengthens and builds up the stomach and digestive members while it is purifying the blood. A great many medicines used in treating Contagious Blood Poison are composed largely of mercury and potash, and are recommended to the sufferer because they are intended to dry up or remove the humiliating outward symptoms. But such treatment cannot cure the disease, and its continued use will often so weaken and disease the stomach as to make a nervous wreck of the patient. And too, when these mineral medicines are left off the smoldering poison takes on new life and soon the old symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, brown, scaly splotches, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc., return with increased virulence. Then the disease makes more rapid headway because the weakened system offers less resistance to its ravages.

S. S. S. cures Contagious Blood Poison and it does so by purifying the blood and keeping the stomach and digestive members in perfect condition all the while by its fine tonic effects. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy, made entirely of roots, herbs and barks of recognized virtue as blood purifiers. It does not contain a particle of mineral and is therefore absolutely safe for any one. S. S. S. cures on the principle that not only must the poison be removed from the blood, but the circulation must also be enriched and vitalized with nourishing powers. S. S. S. is known everywhere as the greatest of all blood purifiers and a safe, certain cure for Contagious Blood Poison. Home Treatment Book and medical dvice free. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

I didn't find out that I had contracted Contagious Blood Poison until it had made considerable headway, and fortunately for me the friend that I first consulted had had some experience with the disease, and advised me to take S. S. S., so I didn't fool with any doctors, but began at once the use of your medicine, taking it as directed. My friend told me to stick to it, and that was what I did, and got along splendidly from the very first, and my recovery was rapid. I took only about one dozen bottles, and am now as well as ever. When I began S. S. S. my face was so full of sores and eruptions that I could not shave, and now there is not a blotch or pimple on my body.

THE SMOKE NUISANCE

Complaints Are Again Pouring Into Health Department Regarding It.

Proposed New Ordinance Is Apparently Buried in Committee.

The smoke nuisance is again troubling the authorities of the health department. The last few days complaints have been coming into the office one after another.

The persons who have been making the complaints have expressed themselves emphatically on the subject. They have been bitter in their denunciation of the nuisance, declaring that their clothes are being spotted, both those on lines and those they wear on the streets; that the interiors of their homes are being dirtied, and that the masses of soot are a menace to public health.

Dr. H. E. Webster, health commissioner, stated this morning, that the city now has no effective ordinance under which it can act. There is what is called a smoke ordinance on the books at the present time, but it is declared to be absolutely worthless, and proven so when it has come to a test.

Several months ago an ordinance which it is said, will enable the authorities to accomplish positive results, was introduced in the council, but it appears to have been buried by the committee to which it was referred. At all events it was never brought up in the council again for final passage. At the time the ordinance was introduced, local engineers held a couple of meetings to take the matter up, but it seems that they have not been able to get together on the proposition. Dr. Webster stated today that the engineers and firemen do not want any kind of a smoke ordinance, and that if the council waits for them to unite upon one, the city will always be without a smoke ordinance.

It is probable that the smoke ordinance will be dragged out of the committee next Monday night, or the week following. Dr. Webster has taken the matter up with the committee on ordinances and resolutions and feels confident that it will receive attention.

The ordinance which is now in the hands of the committee is short and is as follows:

"Section 1. The emission of soot or dense smoke from any chimney or stack of any building, stationary engine, steam boiler, locomotive or furnace of any description, within the corporate limits of the city of Duluth, is hereby declared a nuisance.

"Sec. 2. No person shall cause soot or dense smoke to be emitted from any chimney or stack of any building, stationary engine, steam boiler, locomotive or furnace of any description, within the limits of the city of Duluth.

Sec. 3. Any person violating any of the provisions of Sec. 2 of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $100, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than ten days nor more than sixty days.

SHOULD BE FIREPROOF

Pumping Station Will Be Inspected By City Officials.

Anxious to Remove All Danger From Fire in Future.

Mayor Cullum, City Engineer McGilvray, President Shartel of the council, and representatives of the board of water and light commissioners, will visit the pumping station at Lakewood this afternoon to inspect it with a view of determining what steps should be taken towards making it fireproof.

The pumping station has been menaced by fire several times in past summers, and it is desired by the officials of the water and light department to avert all danger of the plant being destroyed by fire in the future. Last summer the plant was endangered by brush and forest fires in the vicinity, and strenuous work was required to fight off the flames, which threatened it several times.

Should the pumphouse ever take fire, it is almost certain that the machinery would be so seriously injured that it would necessitate shutting off the water supply of the entire city.

LIGHTS SEEN THIRTY-THREE MILES AWAY.

Baltimore American: Unusual visibility of lights has been reported to the hydrographic office by Capt. Thomas E. Clinch of the Heald Bank lightship, Gulf of Mexico. He states that on the night of January 16 the fog cleared after being almost continuous for a week. At 8 a. m. on January 17 an object was sighted which appeared to be a channel buoy or small boat. He lowered the motor boat and proceeded toward it.

After going in its direction for ten miles he made it out to be a schooner, hull down, probably six miles further away. At 7 p. m. the lights of the city of Galveston were plainly visible. Between 7 and 9 p. m. Bolivar light, thirty-three miles distant, was easily seen regularly flashing every ten seconds. The observations were taken from a height above sea level of ten feet.

AN IDAHO BUFFALO HERD.

Idaho Statesman: Ranchers in the northern part of Bonner county have recently seen a herd of from ten to twenty-five buffalo up north of Priest lake.

H. B. Howard, a racher of Bonner county, says that the animals frequent a park known as Lost park and have been seen there for years, coming, as the settlers think, from over the Canadian border.

The tract is isolated to a degree and resembles somewhat the wilder portions of Fremont county. The buffalo migrate to the park in the winter, returning to the Canadian wilds in the summer and it is said that they have been in the country for years and that there is no likelihood that they are wanderers from the Yellowstone park herds.

ROSSI CASE TO BE HEARD

Application for Commutation of Death Sentence Will Be Argued.

County Attorney Also Moves to Dismiss Appeal to Supreme Court.

Arguments before the Minnesota board of pardons will be made tomorrow at St. Paul in the matter of the petition of Michelo Rossi, who wishes his sentence changed from death to life imprisonment.

Assistant County Attorney Warren E. Greene will oppose the granting of the petition and Alexander Marshall, Rossi's attorney, will ask that it be granted.

Rossi was sentenced to be hanged by Judge Cant of the district court a year ago after he has been tried and found guilty of the murder of Antonio De Meo.

The county attorney's office this morning filed notice with Rossi's attorney of a motion to dismiss the appeal now before the supreme court.

The motion to dismiss the appeal will be made on the ground that the appeal was not taken in time. The county attorney claims that judgment was entered with the passing of the sentence. The attorneys for the defense claim that the judgment was not entered for some months after the passing of the sentence.

This argument will take place before the state supreme court the first Tuesday in April.

Three Arrests for Non-Payment of the Wheelage Tax.

New City Official Has Evidently Lost Patience With Delinquents.

James Walsh, newly appointed special detective working under the direction of the legal department of the city, has started his campaign for the collection of the wheelage tax.

Yesterday he swore out a complaint against the Duluth Universal Milling company and H. C. Eischen on charges of violating the wheelage ordinance, in that they had not paid the required fees. The officers of the former entered a plea of guilty and paid a fine of $7.50. The latter pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for next Tuesday morning.

This morning W. S. Ellingson was arrested on a warrant charging him with causing one of his vehicles to be operated without having been licensed according to the ordinance. He admitted the charge and was fine $7.50.

Mr. Walsh has been going over the list of those that have paid their tax, and with that information in hand is going after those who have not paid the necessary fee for the brass tags which are issued by the city clerk. He will keep right on the job until everybody in the city has settled accounts, as required by the wheelage tax ordinance.

ART SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING.

Plans for the fall art exhibit and the annual meeting which will take place the first Tuesday after Easter were talked over at the meeting of the Duluth Art association which was held last evening at the Commercial club.

Bishop McGolrick, the president of the association, presided at the meeting last night.

It was reported that there was a neat sum with the treasurer, and that the association has no debts.

The annual meeting will be open to all, whether members of the association or not. At this time the election of officers will be held, the reports of the committees read and other business transacted.

The meeting held last night was short and very informal.

"The Quality Store."

Are the Best.

Personality in Business

No store "owns customers" now-a-days—it's shop and buy where ones interests are best served.

The personal unit permeates this business—personal ownership—personal direction—personal interest in the customers' rights and satisfaction.

The sequence—never was a season's harvest so fruitful. Here assembled for your inspection and enjoyment is a veritable world congress of Spring merchandize.

Our friends will need no further invitation to attend.

Easter is April 16th—will be here before you know it.

Silk Petticoats $2.95

Sale continues tomorrow—details in last evening's papers. The quality of the Taffeta and Messaline in these petticoats is worthy of your attention. Because of the unprecedented low price, there will be no approvals—no returns—or exchanges.

Finely Tailored Suits

For Girls and Young Women.

One glance is sufficient to show they are remarkably good at $16.50. Copied from a much higher priced model they should really sell for $25. New style skirts, gored with distinctive back and front panel pleats. Straight, short, semi-fitting coats with sailor collar and deep revers trimmed with black and white or Persian silk—satin lined—

The materials include pin striped as well as fashionable plain blues—navy, lighter shades.

Sizes are 13, 15 and 17 years.

Navy Serge Suits, with collar piped in tan, Rajah or cerise, at $21.50.

Suits
For Everybody

There is an unusual collection of them shown here. For tomorrow we have some very good ones of men's suitings, incomparably tailored at $25 and $27.50—others of gray and pin stripe serges.

"Custom Made" Suits at $50—tailored thru out by hand. The word "custom made" or "custom tailored" is a misnomer applied to other suits, as it is our privilege to be the exclusive agents for genuine "custom made" Suits in Duluth—prices range from $50 to $65.

Distinctive Millinery

"Your hats are so charming, I would just as soon have one as a French hat," is a common remark these days.

And why?

Because we employ talented milliners, who understand their art—who love to design beautiful hats. They have the finest French inspiration to draw upon.

Most of the materials they work with are Imported—results can be accomplisht with French straws, French flowers, French plumes, and French velvets, ribbons and laces that can't be achieved with domestic materials

Prices start at $7.50, but results are prettier than a figure so modest might lead you to expect.

The Long Serge Coat

Youngsters Coats

Smart little coats for wee people—a whole colony of them in durable serges, blues, and black and white checks. There are sailor collars, in a pretty contrasting color, self collars and others of velvet like grown-ups wear. Prices start at $2.75.

Other Coats

for girls from the primary grades to debutantes. Smartly tailored dark colors, durable materials—coats that look like mothers except for that naive youthfulness of cut and trimming quirks, essentially girlish.

Prices within reach of the most modest purse.

THE woman who has it, feels she has one trusty friend in her wardrobe—this convenient garment can be worn with shirtwaist and skirt for morning or business; it is indispensable if she inclines to one-piece frocks, and nothing is better to travel in.

The hundreds of brand new serges in our coat compartments include Coats at $19.50, $25, $27.50, $32.50 to $47.50.

MERGER IS TALKED OF

Rumor That Copper Queen Will Absorb Shattuck and Denn Companies.

Latter Has Had a Steady Advance on "Inside" Buying.

As the result of a meeting of the directors of the Shattuck-Arizona Copper company in Chicago yesterday afternoon it is expected that important announcements of special interest to shareholders in the Shattuck and the Denn-Arizona will be made within two or three weeks.

The Copper Queen Consolidated Mining company is said to be negotiating for the purchase of the Shattuck-Arizona and the Denn-Arizona properties. In just what form the merger will materialize if the proposed deal is carried to a completion is uncertain. The leading Duluth directors had not returned from Chicago this morning and it is not likely that an announcement of the proposed merger will be made until all of the details have been completed.

It has been apparent for some time that influences of more than ordinary importance have been affecting the stock of the Shattuck and the Denn companies. Last fall the Denn mine was closed down, the pumps were pulled and no effort has been made since then to unwater the property or develop it in any manner. In this period, however, the value of the stock has advanced more than $1 a share to sales this week at $6 and $6.12½ on the Duluth Stock exchange.

"Inside" Support.

The advance of a stock under such circumstances may be regarded as unnatural and due entirely to abnormal conditions. The support in Denn has come from the "inside." One of the officers of the company in the period indicated is said to have purchased Denn stock to the value of about $100,000. On the other hand the stock of the Shattuck-Arizona, controlled by the same people who own the Denn, has declined between six and seven points to $18.25, although within the last twelve months it has gone on a dividend basis of $4 a year and is known to have not only a large tonnage of rich copper ore in the small area developed, but its capacity for production is large. It could easily produce sufficient ore to net shareholders more than $2 a quarter even with copper selling under 13 cents. Its costs are so low and its management so efficient that it can sell copper at a profit on a market that would force a majority of copper producers to operate at a loss.

The actions of these two stocks indicate that there have been "inside" developments of which the public has been uninformed. The denouement will transpire soon. Just what the details will be is uncertain because it is not likely that the directors, themselves, have reached fully the conclusions which may result in a deal affecting the ownership of two properties. The heavy buying Denn seems to indicate that the purchaser was of the opinion that the Denn would not suffer in any merger that may take place.

The Copper Queen, Shattuck and the Denn mines are in Cochise county, Ariz. The Shattuck was organized in 1904 under the laws of Minnesota with a capitalization of $3,500,000. The shares have a par value of $10. Under the laws of this state it would be necessary for every shareholder to agree to any merger or sale that might be arranged. The property comprises 120 acres which were bought for $1,922,600. It is about one-half mile from the original workings of the Copper Queen and lies directly north of the property of the Calumet & Arizona. The property has large bodies of oxidized and sulphide ores, occasionally carrying fair values in gold and silver.

The Denn Company.

The Denn was organized in 1907 under the laws of Minnesota with a capitalization of $3,500,000. The shares have a par value of $10. The lands comprise 200 acres. The property is immediately north of the Junction shaft of the Superior & Pittsburg. The mine is believed to have large bodies of copper ore in the form of oxides and carbonates. Considering the time in which exploration work has been carried on the tonnage shown up may be regarded as comparatively small.

If the Copper Queen takes over the Shattuck and the Denn the Bisbee camp will have only two mining interests, the Copper Queen and the Cole-Ryan. The Superior & Pittsburg and the Calumet & Arizona properties of the Cole-Ryan interests have agreed to a merger, the latter absorbing the former.

The Shattuck-Arizona owns a smelter site at Douglas, twenty-six miles from the mine. Plans for a 1,000-ton smelter and two blast furnaces to cost about $400,000 were drawn several years ago. The plant has not been constructed because certain interests within the company desired the Copper Queen to do the smelting. The ore from the Shattuck has been shipped at various periods to the Copper Queen smelter, Douglas and Globe. An advantage of a merger lies in the smelting facilities already possessed by the Copper Queen.

If the merger is completed it is probable that a traffic agreement will be made which will give the Southwestern Hill lines the tonnage of the Copper Queen, the Shattuck and the Denn properties. The Hills are interested in the Denn and Shattuck.

In the "good old days" the Denn stock sold higher than $100 a share. The boom, however, quickly subsided.

THE PLYMOUTH ROCK DEALS THE TURTLE DOVE A FOUL BLOW

In the spring the gay Homecrofter,
Gets himself some garden tools;
Reads some books on horticulture;
And attends the poultry schools.

In the spring his idle fancy,
Doesn't turn to thoughts of love,
For one active, Cochin China
Outclasses any cooing dove.
—Tennyson, up to date.

Ask the librarian if Duluthians are interested in gardening. She knows.

George Barr McCutcheon is deserted and friendless. Robert W. Chambers lies neglected on the dusty shelf—except "The Common Law," which reposes in the ash pile—and the spring poets are unread. Why? Duluth has the gardening fever. It seems that all the patrons of the library want, is a book on home gardening or horticulture.

A MILLION FOR WAGES

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, the Northern Pacific Railroad company spent in wages alone in the cities of Duluth and Superior $1,114,003.13.

This money, every penny of it, was for wages, not one single item of it being for equipment of the company or for maintenance of shops or local freight houses or the extensive docks of the company. As railroad men as a rule spend most of their salary, it can be figured that a large per cent of this total amount of money paid out for wages was spent in this city.

The figures were completed yesterday and are surprising, even to those familiar with the railroad's work here.

For instance, an average of 400 men was employed on the docks of the company during the season of navigation, the season's payroll for these men being $189,000. Being a statement of the fiscal year, the season would be extended into two years, from June 30 to the following June 30.

The wages paid out to the employes of the local freight house and the local warehouse, which includes Duluth only, were $178,000.

The employes of the roundhouse, the machinists and car repair men drew $140,945 and the payroll of the trainmen, enginemen and switchmen amounted to $416,665.

Showing further the amount of business transacted at the Head of the Lakes by the company, the report shows that 410,954 cars were handled at the Duluth terminals. At the local warehouse alone there were 20,308 cars loaded and 11,427 cars unloaded.

The local warehouse is 582 feet long by 62 feet in width and has an extension 458 by 20½ feet. At the local warehouse there were 86,919 tons handled in less than carload lots, this tonnage being shipped out. There was unloaded for city trade 30,772 tons, and transferred and shipped 27,996 tons.

In commenting upon the figures today, K. M. Nicoles, general superintendent of the Lake Superior division of the Northern Pacific, stated that the report showed what a railroad meant to a community and how much the prosperity of that community might be affected by conditions that affected the general business of the railroad.

Just at the present time the railroads at the Head of the Lakes are holding back railroad repair and improvement work until some idea may be gained of the crop conditions in the two Dakotas. Rain is needed badly at the present time and it is possible that the continued absence of rain may mean that work on the railroads will be held back.

On the other hand, a large crop would mean increased expenditures in Duluth and Superior for wages to the employes of the company.

CARLTON COUNTY CENSUS RETURNS

Figures for all Minor Civil Divisions Are Announced.

Washington, March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The director of the census has announced the population of Carlton county, Minn., according to its minor civil divisions, as shown by the official count of the returns of the thirteenth census:

HOUSE IN A TURMOIL FOR THE THIRD DAY OVER KLEMER CASE

C. R. Fowler of Minneapolis to the chair.

R. C. Dunn then offered his resolution, setting forth the facts and censuring Klemer for his language, and moved its adoption. Representative Nolan gave notice of debate. Representative R. C. Dunn moved a suspension of the rules, saying that the house might as well fight it out then. The roll call took a long time, many of the members explaining their votes. Representative Nolan several times raised the point of order that the speaker's defenders were not explaining their votes but were making speeches, until finally Representative Knutson rose and said heatedly: "I insist that the gentleman from Hennepin is not the supreme authority as to whether the members are explaining their votes or not." Mr. Nolan replied sharply that he proposed to insist on his rights as a member of the house.

The most sensational part of the proceedings was contributed by Representatives Pfaender and Spooner, members of the committee appointed to investigate Klemer's conduct. Mr. Pfaender said he had a meeting with Klemer on the night following his inflammatory language, and that Klemer then said that he was ready to apologize and retract, and presented a written statement which he proposed to make to the house. The statement being satisfactory, the committee drew up a report accordingly. Mr. Pfaender read both Klemer's statement and the report. In that statement Klemer said that he had no intention of reflecting on the integrity of the speaker; that he had frequently said that he was eminently fair and just, and that he desired to withdraw his unparliamentary remarks. Next morning it appeared that Klemer had been advised to stand pat, and he admitted that he had been so advised. He then refused to apologize, and demanded an investigation.

Representative Spooner said that Klemer had admitted that his language was improper and unparliamentary.

A number of members changed their votes on a motion to suspend the rules after the statements made by Representatives Pfaender and Spooner, but not enough. When the vote was announced Speaker Dunn resumed the chair and was heartily applauded by all, except a few of the more fiery radicals. Many of the members who voted against suspending the rules explained that they had the highest confidence in the speaker, but thought Klemer should be given a chance to prove his charges before the case is acted upon.

The house will sit tomorrow, as that is the last day for introducing bills, but it is doubtful if the Klemer case will be taken up, as many of the members will go home. The Dunn resolution will probably be adopted, and arrangements will be made for a committee before which Klemer and his supporters will be given a chance to prove their charge that the standing committees are packed. Klemer's proposal that the house, against which he has lodged a serious charge, shall prove itself innocent, will hardly be accepted.

Senator Boyle in the senate and Representative Knapp in the house introduced bills providing for terms of probate court in Hibbing and Virginia, and the senate bill was passed under suspension of the rules.

The Robinson resolution ratifying the income tax amendment to the Federal Constitution was a special order in the house this morning, but Representative Robinson had it continued to Monday afternoon at the telegraphed request of Representative Congdon of Duluth.

Representative Rines and five other house members this afternoon will introduce a bill, coming from the tax commission, providing for rates of assessment for taxation purposes. Real estate used for homestead purposes, when under $10,000 in value, is to be assessed at one-third. Household furniture is to be assessed at a quarter of its value. All other property is to be assessed at half its value.

Senator Cheadle introduced a bill in the senate today, raising the salary of the Duluth municipal court reporter to $1,200.

the building for the night. The police believe the explosions resulted from dynamite. A short piece of fuse was found in the basement in the vicinity of where the explosions occurred. Two men and a woman were seen running from the fenced enclosure surrounding the building just before the explosions.

Home Office Destroyed.

Omaha, Neb., March 24.—The receipt this morning by representatives of the Colwell & Drake company, contractors for the new courthouse, of a telegram from Thomas N. Wilson, secretary of the company, announcing the practical destruction of the home office at Columbus, Ind., by a dynamite explosion at midnight, was the only development which seemed likely this morning to furnish a clew to the authors of the explosion here or their motives.

An attempt was made this morning to track the miscreants with bloodhounds.

The estimated damage to the uncompleted county building by the explosion, given last night, of $10,000 to $15,000, had not been changed today, but it was stated that a careful examination of the main walls would have to be made before it could be said positively they were not injured.

before the firemen had a chance to get away, the roof collapsed, carrying them through to the basement.

A number of the firemen were buried in the debris, while others were lucky and escaped through basement windows. Ambulances were hurried to the scene and as quickly as possible the dead and injured were dug out of the ruins.

All was pandemonium. Cries of the injured who were buried in the debris could be heard and those who escaped got quickly to work at rescuing their companions.

Chief Clancy had sent one of his men to locate Capt. Hintz to ascertain how many men were on the roof when the cave-in occurred, but the messenger returned with the sad message that Capt. Hintz was killed.

It was thus impossible to ascertain the names of the unfortunates except by digging in the ruins. Capt. Hintz was among the first to be taken out. It was thought there were still one or two men in the ruins at noon, but nothing definite could be learned.

Notable Pre-Easter Showings of Modish Apparel

ACTIVITIES in the apparel section of the past few days have made ready for Saturday a notable pre-Easter showing of fashionable garments for Spring wear. Cherished ideas of foremost French couturiers are given charming expression in this assemblage of good clothes, notable for style individuality, tailored excellence and reasonable pricedness.

The visitor is very welcome to the exhibition, even so are those who are ready to buy.

Superbly Tailored Suits at $29.50

But the above price is hardly a true barometer of the tailored excellence and style character of these suits, in fact $35 would fall short of a monetary expression of their beauty. The supple straight line effects are cleverly brought out in the smart jackets and skirts. Fine serges and worsteds in new shades are the favored materials in these special suits selling Saturday for $29.50.

Coats: Charming Style Innovations

The outlook for a big coat season has given designers great inspiration and resulted in many pleasing innovations. From serges, worsteds, satins, homespuns and novelty weaves, they have evolved dashing models now shown here at $12.50, $15, $19.50, $25 and up.

SPECIAL AT $15: Several models, 54 inches long, semi-fitted, with long revers and sailor collars, from selected serge, coverts and novelties, black and fancy, faultlessly tailored, special Saturday at $15.

Saturday is the Last Day of the Semi-Annual Notion Sale

CENTURIES OF THE BIBLE

Book of Books Is to Be Remembered on a Tercentenary.

One Best Seller That Is Millions of Copies Ahead.

Boston, Mass., March 24.—There are probably few tercentenaries that touch more than a limited group. Even a celebration in memory of a national event has only a passing interest to the neighbors of the country concerned and none at all for the rest of the world. But when the English speaking races commemorate next month the 300th anniversary of the King James version of the Bible the thrill of interest will run clear round the world. Not only will the United States and Great Britain be foremost in appropriate ceremonies, but in all lands where their daring missionaries have entered the interest in this Book of Books will be great. From Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strands the Bible is known and read by an increasing proportion of varitraces. As for Americans, few will deny the broader meaning of Andrew Jackson's declaration, "That book is the rock on which our republic rests."

The first Sunday after Easter, April 23d, has been designated by the American Bible society as a fitting date for the celebrations, though they will not be confined to any limited period. Some indeed, have already taken place in England, Australia and Canada. Hardly a church in this country is likely to let the occsion pass without appropriate attention. In the larger towns and cities more elaborate programs are being prepared. Seattle, for instance, through its ministerial federation, will work for the co-operation not only of the churches anu Sunday schools, but of the public schools, colleges, university and press as well. A Bible day will be designated, on which there will be distributions of copies among the jails, hotels and other public institutions. The previous week will be reserved for scholarly lectures on the book and its sources.

The King James Version.

Like many other historic events the name attached has less significance than is generally attributed to it. John Wycliffe, two centuries and more previous,, had opened up the book to the common masses of the English people, by translating the Latin or Vulgate version, still used by the Catholic church. This was before the age of printing. Later on William Tyndall gave us the real foundation for the English Bible and following the same earnest inspiration as Wycliffe, urged a Bible for the common people. The result was the first printing in English, translated also for the first time from the original tongues. He was burned as a martyr, but other consecrated souls took up his task, notably Miles Cloverdale.

Then finally in the years when Shakespeare was producing Othello, Macbeth and other plays, a group of scholars were at work in Oxford, Cambridge and Westminster. Then the Scotch Presbyterian, King James, seeing an opportunity to write himself in the pages of history as a patron of learning, sought out for the final task the most eminent scholars in his kingdom. Curiously enough they were all members of the established Church of England. Their personalities are now largely forgotten, though their task was one of the greatest influences in Christendom.

Bible as a Best Seller.

Making all allowances for the huge family Bibles that are kept on the parlor table and seldom opened, and for handsome gift Bibles that are equally well conserved, the book continues to be far and away the best seller among contemporary literature. Take the Bible societies alone. These bodies, whose organizations began early in the nineteenth century, now number twenty-seven; one in America, three in Great Britain and twenty-three throughout Europe. Last year these twenty-seven organizations put out nearly 13,000,000 volumes of scripture. But this is not all. The output of the ordinary publishers must be added, estimated at 6,000,000 copies. The result in an amazing total of not far from 20,000,000 copies of the Bible disposed of in some way within a year!

No other book can come within range of such marvelous circulation.

Many workers are continually extending the range of translation. There are now nearly 500 versions of which 108 languages possess the complete Bible. In addition to these library workers is the staff of field agents, or colporteurs. The three British societies alone employ nearly 4,000. Their experiences are often adventurous, always full of human interest.

Probably no one can measure the debt of English literature to the Bible. Prof. W. L. Phelps of Yale has said: "The debt is so great that no one can be said to have any sound knowledge of English literature until he knows the Old and New Testament very well indeed." Charles A. Dana, the celebrated editor of the New York Sun, used to recommend its study to every journalist who had ambitions in that profession. The poets, like Browning, Wordsworth, Tennyson, prose writers like Carlyle, Arnold and George Eliot, and even modern writers so diverse as Kipling, Tolstoi, Bjorson, Maeterlinck, show constantly the influence of Biblical writings.

Among the most interesting bodies engaged in distributing Bibles are the Gideons, the Christian Commercial Travelers' Association of America. They are engaged in a campaign to place a Bible in every hotel room in the United States. Last New Years day they distributed 6,000 in Chicago hostelries and up to date they have distributed a total of 65,000 copies in more than 600 hotels. In some places individual churches and business firms undertake to supply all the rooms of a single hotel.

Not least interesting among the Bible study classes of the country are those in the prisons. Not long ago the chaplain of the Indiana state prison received a letter from a former convict. This man, though a college graduate, had served four terms, but under the influence of the prison Bible class had gone out from the last one a new and earnest man. In writing afterward of the change he had undergone, the former prisoner paid this tribute to the Bible class of the prison: "Then I received permission to attend the Bible class. And what a revelation it was to me! No excitement of emotions, no appeal to fear of death, no religious cant have I found there; but I did find that you talked with us as man to man, aroused in us all the noblest aspirations toward the good and pure and holy; and I found that many other men had cases more troublous than mine. I began to grow, to enlarge, to reach out for the best. The Bible class has been to me the blossoming and restful oasis of the weekly barren desert. There I was made to forget the fact of my being a prisoner. During the three years of my attendance there I formed the honest opinion that the majority of the men attending the class were sincere. They could not be otherwise, for a prisoner gains absolutely no advantage, so far as the prison discipline is concerned by going there."

Despite the assaults of the extreme higher critics, despite the disputes regarding the use of the Bible in our public schools, its ever powerful influence is waxing mightier every day. Its new interpretations, not in the defense of sectarian theses, but in the interests of a new and helpful Christianity, have given it fresh power in everyday life.

THAT AWFUL BACKACHE

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. Ollie Woodall, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relielf you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for special advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

The House Where Your Credit Is Good

QUEER PRANKS PLAYED BY BOLT OF LIGHTNING.

Athens, Pa., March 24.—The heavy thunderstorm that visited this section the other day was responsible for considerable damage in Bradford county. Lightning hit the house of George Long at Rome, wrecking two rooms.

Entering the kitchen roof, the bolt smashed every dish in the pantry save a few favorite ones. It passed through a room in which four children were occupying two beds, and disturbed none of them. When it reached the room where Long and his wife lay, it threw Long out of bed, but did not disturb Mrs. Long.

After penetrating every room in the house, the bolt leaped to the wagon shed and jammed things around there, followed a wire fence around back of the stockhouse and barn, till it ran up against a post back of a neighbor's place, which it reduced to sawdust, and then disappeared.

TO AUCTION OLD THEATER.

First Playhouse in World to Be Lighted By Gas.

New York, March 24.—The passing of another landmark of old New York will be marked at a real estate auction next month, when the site of the Thalia theater, on the Bowery, the oldest playhouse in the city, will be sold to the highest bidder. The building was built in 1826. It was the first theater in the world to be lighted by gas.

The house was the scene of Edwin Forests' first appearance as a tragedian, Nov. 18, 1826; of Malibran's last appearance in America, Oct. 28, 1827; of Charlotte Cushman's debut as Lady Macbeth, Sept. 13, 1836, and of the first production of "London Assurance," on May 16, 1842.

MIGHT FAVOR RECALL, BUT NOT FOR HIMSELF.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 24.—Kenesaw Mountain Landis, judge of the federal court in Chicago, said here yesterday:

"I might favor the recall of judges generally, but I do not favor any law that will apply the recall to me.

"I've been on the shelf for six years and have withered up. Judges in Chicago do not have time to do much thinking about the uplift and things like that."

Saves Health of Old People---Trial Free

A healthy old couple who have lived a long life together make an ideal picture. But unfortunately so many old people have a dismal life. Even if they are otherwise in good health they seem to suffer from constipation and indigestion. It is the penalty of old age. To old people, the best advice is—Be careful of your food. But even that is not all. The stomach and bowel muscles are no longer as active as they used to be and on that account movement of the bowels is more difficult. To aid nature take a mild laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin whenever you find yourself becoming constipated or when you have any difficulty digesting your food. It is not strong like salts or purgatives, but is mild, gentle and non-griping—just what elderly people need. It is the best laxative for old people, as it is for women and children. Many men and women far beyond seventy have been able to discard all medicines after a brief use of Syrup Pepsin. The regular bottles can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar, but we suggest that you make a free trial of it first, as so many others have done. Send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will send you a free sample bottle.

Look for This Picture on Pkg.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell Building, Monticello, Ill.

The following are some extracts from letters Dr. Caldwell has received:

"Your free sample bottle came in due time and I was so gratified with results that I bought a larger bottle and am so in favor of its effects that I am putting others on the track to get relief. I am 79 years old and have been troubled with a torpid liver, but feel that I now have the right remedy and will no longer have the trouble. Also it acts without inconvenience."—Mrs. W. H. Carter, Maywood, Ill.

"I am 73 years old; have been seriously afflicted with heart trouble for over 15 years, unable to do anything during that time; have spent all I had doctoring with several local doctors and many specialists, all to no purpose. My case is a very hard one and incurable; constipation of a very serious nature. I would, for years, go from three to five days without a movement; would take pills, salts, etc., until I was entirely tired of life. Have tried everything. I saw your ad; sent for free sample of Syrup Pepsin, received it and it did me so much good that I got a 50c bottle and have taken it as per directions regularly; shall get another bottle today. It has done me a world of good. It is the nicest to take and the most effective of any remedy I have ever used. It is simply a god-send to me."—A. A. Lewis, R. 2, Box 51, Bentonville, Ark.

"I received your free sample of Syrup Pepsin and have taken it and am now taking a $1.00 bottle. It is doing me a great deal of good. I have had trouble more or less with my stomach ever since I left the army, but have never taken very much medicine for it, but the sample you sent me did me so much good I thought I would give it a trial. It is helping me and I shall continue to take it. I can recommend it to any one having stomach trouble and heart trouble."—Geo. S. Spaulding, Nat. Soldiers' Home, Kansas.

"I have tried your Syrup Pepsin and found it all that you claim. I am recommending it to the old veterans and they are buying it on my word. I shall use it as long as I live. I cannot praise it enough."—Enos Gilpin, National Soldiers' Home, Danville, Ill.

HUSBAND SAVED--WIFE OVERJOYED.

Gratitude-Filled Letter Received By Boston Drink Cure Firm.

"Gentlemen:—I feel it my duty to tell you how grateful I am to you for saving my husband from a drunkard's grave. My husband had drank steadily for ten years, and although at times he really seemed to make a determined effort to stop, the craving was stronger than his will-power. I had tried three advertised so-called cures, without the slightest effect; in fact, they only seemed to aggravate his appetite. A friend of mine, whose son was cured by your blessed medicine, told me about it, but it was with very little confidence that I started giving him White Ribbon Remedy. He did not realize the damage drink was doing him and his business. He was not sober long enough. Whenever I tried to talk to him about taking a remedy to relieve his appetite for liquor, he would fly into a rage and say, 'Haven't you any sense at all? Why, woman, all such things are frauds.' But how little he knew. It has been three weeks since he has touched a drop and our home is now so happy. I gave him all the eight boxes secretly.

The name of the writer of the above letter is, of course, withheld, because all such correspondence is considered absolutely confidential by the White Ribbon Remedy company.

The White Ribbon Remedy is honestly made by honest people, with the sincere desire to help the homes that are being injured and, perhaps, even desolated by alcohol. It is odorless, tasteless, contains absolutely no habit-forming drugs, may be administered secretly if desired, and has proven its efficiency so many times that those who earnestly desire to win the drinker from the alcohol habit may begin treatment with the utmost confidence that splendidly gratifying results will follow.

White Ribbon Remedy costs $1.00 per box, or six boxes for $5.00. It may be obtained of all the Hegeman & Co. stores, New York city, or direct from the White Ribbon Remedy Co., Boston, Mass.

BOYS OF Y. M. C. A. SCORE ANNUAL SUCCESS ON THE MINSTREL STAGE

Fun in large and wholesome quantities was furnished by the boys of the Boys' Department Y. M. C. A., at the annual minstrel show which was put on last night at their building at Sixth avenue west and Third street.

There were difficult acrobatic feats accomplished with but little effort, seemingly; a musical act by the glee club; an original burlesque sketch; all sorts of dancing; dialect monologues, new stories, new jokes and a raft of popular songs which were well rendered by a chorus of boys.

The program was long but none too long to please the hundreds of friends of the boys who were on hand to enjoy it.

And it was a real minstrel show, too. The curtain rose on a real minstrel setting with the boys in their coats of black, faced with turkey red, about the interlocutor, N. D. McLeod. There was something doing every minute after that and the performance went off with the snap of a road production.

"The aggregation gathered from the four corners of the earth" was "bigger, brighter and better than ever before." The music was furnished by the boys' department orchestra. The orchestra came in for its share of the applause.

Work on the parallel bars opened the performance. Then came a concert by the mandolin club. This was followed by an original sketch written by Stanley Lamb. Glen Merritt in a hobble skirt took the only feminine part. The sketch furnished a lot of fun. Chester McLeod and Ronald Myron entertained the audience with bright talk and some music while the black face men were getting ready for their part.

Next came the minstrel part, and it was entertaining from the beginning. There was a little of everything combined in this part of the entertainment and each part was appreciated. The local hits were hailed with delight. The program was too long to permit of encores, however.

The show will be repeated this evening. The program follows:

Opening chorus, "We Are the Minstrel Boys"; "Dear Old Winter Time," George Ward; "There's a Dark Man Comin' With a Bundle," Mitchell Spearrin and Howard Parson; "'Cause I Love It," David Wanless; "Ghost of a Banjo Coon," Stanley Lamb; "Sugar Moon," Roy Lockhart; "There's a Big Cry Baby in the Moon," Ray Miller and Edward Wood; "Rose Rigoletto," Caldwell Harris; "You're Goin' to Get Something You Don't Expect," Chester McLeod; "Under the Yum-Yum Tree," George MacCaskill; "The Aeroplane Girl," Stanley Lamb and David Wanless; "Steamboat Bill," Philip Wood; "Little Puff of Smoke," J. R. Batchelor; closing chorus, "Barber Shop Chord" and "Lucy Ann Lou"; accompanist, Cecil Gilliland.

CHESTER McLEOD,
One of the Stars in Duluth Boys' Minstrel Show.

The following were the boys in the grand ensemble:

ate was one of the first measures introduced in the senate, being Senate File No. 8. It proposes a constitutional amendment, to be submitted to the voters at the 1912 election, which is as follows:

"Every public officer in Minnesota except judges of the supreme and district courts is subject, as herein provided, to recall by the legal voters of the state or of the electorial district from which he is elected. There may be required 25 per cent, but no more, if the number of electors who voted in his district at the preceding election of secretary of state to file their petition demanding his recall by the people. They shall set forth in said petition the reasons for said demand. If he shall offer his resignation it shall be accepted and take effect on the day it was offered, and the vacancy shall be filled as may be provided by law. If he shall not resign within five days after the petition is filed, a special election shall be ordered to be held within twenty days in his said electoral district to determine whether the people will recall said officer. On the sample ballot at said election shall be printed, in not more than 200 words, the reasons for demanding the recall of said officer as set forth in the recall petition, and, in not more than 200 words the officer's justification of his course in office. He shall continue to perform the duties of his office until the result of said special election shall be officially declared. Other candidates for the office may be nominated to be voted for at said special election. The candidate who shall receive the highest number of votes shall be deemed elected for the remainder of the term, whether it be the person against whom the recall petition was filed or another. The recall petition shall be filed with the officer with whom a petition for nomination to such office should be filed, and the same officer shall order a special election when it is required. No such petition shall be circulated against any officer until he has actually held the office six months after his election. After one such petition and special election no further recall petition shall be filed against the same officer during the term for which he was elected. Such additional legislation as may aid in the operation of this section shall be provided for by the legislature, including provision for payment by the public treasury of the reasonable special election campaign expenses of such officer."

This proposed amendment is to be submitted to the people for their approval or rejection at the next general election after the passage of this act, and the qualified voters of this state in their respective districts may at such election vote for or against such amendment by ballot, and the returns thereof shall be made and certified within the time, and such votes canvassed and the result thereof declared in the manner provided by law with reference to the election of state officers, and if it shall appear thereupon that a majority of all the electors voting at said election as provided in the next section have voted in favor of the same, then the governor must make a proclamation thereof and such amendment is to take effect and be in force as part of the Constitution.

Constitutional Convention.

The Kneeland constitutional convention bill, which has been on general orders in the house for several weeks, is in the form of a resolution, as follows: "Resolved, by the house of representatives, the senate concurring, that the electors of the state of Minnesota be and they hereby are recommended, at the next election for members of the legislature, to vote for or against a convention to revise the Constitution of the state of Minnesota."

The measure must pass each body by a two-thirds' vote, which means eighty votes in the house and forty-two votes in the senate. While he is a rash individual who ventures to predict what this particular legislature may or may not do, the chances are against the passage of the resolution at this time.

The Klemer case was not taken up yesterday afternoon because a number of the members of the house were attending the funeral of the late Representative W. A. Fisher in Minneapolis.

When the house convened at 3 o'clock the galleries were packed and the lobbies and aisles of the house chamber were crowded. Many members of the senate came in to see the fun, as well as most of the state officials.

All were disappointed, however, as the matter was not taken up.

Akeley Agricultural School.

Though Representative L. H. Rice of Park Rapids made a strong fight for his bill establishing a branch school of agriculture at Akeley, the house in committee of the whole voted to recommend it for indefinite postponement, 39 to 32, on motion of J. N. Johnson. When the committee rose Mr. Rice had the bill excepted from its report and laid on the table, winning out on that motion by a vote of 46 to 38. This gives the measure another chance for life.

The house after a little merrymaking over the obsequies, yesterday afternoon for the second time killed Representative Campbell's bill providing for a tax on dogs, the proceeds to be devoted to reimbursing owners of domestic animals and poultry who suffer losses from the depredations of dogs. The bill was killed in committee of the whole once before, but this action was reconsidered and the bill restored to general orders. Yesterday afternoon it was taken up again and killed for the second time.

Duluth Bills.

Representative Chester A. Congdon's bills regulating the finances of the independent school district of Duluth were advanced to the calendar in the house yesterday afternoon. One provides that before the district can issue bonds the proposal must be approved by two-thirds of the city council, and limits the district's bonded debt to 3½ per cent of the assessed valuation of the city. The other limits the total tax levy for school purposes in Duluth to 12 mills. Representative Congdon was absent, and the bills were advanced on motion of Representative Knapp.

Representative Ribenack's bill allowing Duluth to issue $700,000 in bonds to build an electric lighting plant was advanced to the calendar on motion of Representative Ribenack.

Exempting Bonds From Taxation.

The senate in committee of the whole yesterday afternoon recommended for passage a highly important bill by Senator Carl L. Wallace of Minneapolis, exempting from taxation "bonds hereafter issued by the state of Minnesota or any county, city or village of the state, or any township or any common or independent school district, or any governmental board of said state, or any county, city or village thereof."

This bill was introduced early in the session, and has been on general orders for some time owing to a question as to its constitutionality. The judiciary committee of the senate, after thorough study, has reached the conclusion that the measure is constitutional hence its approval yesterday.

The passage of the bill will assist materially in the marketing of home bonds. About thirty of the states have such a law now.

County Agricultural Schools.

Senator Boyle's bill amending the law providing for county agricultural schools, so that such schools may be established by a majority of those voting on the proposition, instead of a majority of those voting at the election, was advanced to the calendar in the senate yesterday afternoon. A St. Louis county school of agriculture is proposed, to be located on the Iron ranges, but the proposition has failed of passage because, while a large majority of those who voted upon it voted for it, it never received a majority of those voting at the election. Senator Boyle's bill, which has the warm support of the entire St. Louis county delegation, will cure that difficulty and make the establishment of such a school possible.

Senator Boyle also had advanced to the calendar his bill increasing the expense allowance of the St. Louis county inspector of mines from $300 to $500.

Senator Cheadle secured similar action on his bill authorizing Duluth to acquire, by purchase or condemnation, land for public dock sites and to issue $100,000 in bonds for that purpose.

Advanced to Senate Calendar.

Among the other bills advanced to the calendar by the senate were the following:

By Senator Glotzbach—Exempting blind people from the peddlers' license law.

By Senator Cheadle—Allowing water power companies to hold large areas of land for reservoir purposes.

By Representative Spooner—Appropriating $35,000 to construct an outlet for the waters of the Mustinka state ditch in Traverse county, to relieve the floods in the Minnesota valley.

By Senator Marden—Authorizing the state board of health to enact regulations prohibiting the use of public drinking cups on trains and in public buildings.

By Representative J. T. Johnson—Providing for the revocation of teachers' licenses for incompetency and immorality, and for their suspension when they are afflicted with tuberculosis.

By Representative Kunze—Authorizing the state superintendent of public instruction to set apart a day during the school year to be known as Minnesota day, when the schools are to hold exercises intended to inform the pupils about the advantages of the state.

By Senator Saugstad—Providing for increasing the penalty for blind-pigging so that on third conviction the guilty persons may be sent to the penitentiary.

Advanced to House Calendar.

Among the bills advanced to the calendar in the house were the following:

By Representative Converse—Appropriating $10,000 for a state fish hatchery at Detroit.

By Representative Ole Peterson—Providing that the county's share—10 per cent—of liquor license fees shall go into the road and bridge fund instead of into the general revenue fund, as at present.

By Representative Rice—Appropriating money for the care of Itasca state park.

By Representative Hauge—Regulating the sale of agricultural seeds.

By Senator V. L. Johnson—Increasing the terms of railroad and warehouse commissioners to six years.

Judicial Nominations.

There is little prospect that the house will pass the bill by Senator Putnam, passed by the senate Tuesday, providing for a non-partisan judiciary on the convention plan. The senate already seems ashamed of having passed it, and many of those who voted for it are hoping that the house will defeat it, which it probably will. It passed largely because of the general approval of the policy of taking the judgeships out of politics, but sober second thought leads many to agree with the objection that was raised when the bill was before the senate that the use of the convention system may lead to worse abuses than were ever developed under the old party convention system. It practically compels candidates for judgeships to get out and form organizations for the control of the delegates, or to have somebody do it for them.

A simpler method, in the minds of many senators, would have been to provide that all the candidates for judgeships should go on the primary election ballots of both parties, and that the two candidates getting the largest vote should go on the general election ballot without party designation. This would provide non-partisan nomination and election of judges without the dubious reversion to the convention system.

Fish Hatchery at Detroit.

Representative Phil S. Converse of Detroit, whose bill providing for a fish hatchery at that place was advanced to the calendar in the house yesterday, has worked hard for his measure during the session.

Yesterday he was entertaining Andrew Jarvimacki, representing a Finnish settlement in Becker county, who is down here urging the passage of the bill in the interests of the farmers in his section, who are anxious to see the lakes of that region stocked with fish.

Ex-Representative Elmer E. Adams of Fergus Falls, stormy petrel of the sessions of 1907 and 1909, was renewing old acquaintances in the house yesterday. His first appearance on the scene coincided curiously with the merry row that has been in progress, and some of his old associates who knew his love for battle swear that he must have smelt the sulphur from afar.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

THREATENED GIRL WHO JILTED HIM

Frank Scanlon, Taken From Fargo to Butte on Insanity Charge, Freed.

Butte, Mont., March 24.—Special to The Herald.)—The state of Montana will not have to take care of Frank Scanlon at the state insane asylum, although the local authorities claim the officers of Fargo, N. D., sought to bring about such a conclusion to a sensational case. He was brought here from Fargo, where he was locked up in the Cass county jail several weeks for making threats against Mrs. D. M. Roth of Casselton, who before her marriage was Miss Emma Ketcher, with whom Scanlen was smitten. As he once lived here the Fargo authorities claimed if he was insane he should be cared for by Montana and not by North Dakota, so they sent him here. The Silver Bow county authorities claimed, on the contrary, he had only been a temporary resident of this section while employed by the Great Northern and could not legally be foisted upon this state, if he was insane.

Not Crazy, Only In Love.

He had a hearing this week before Judge Donlan and established to the satisfaction of the court he was not crazy in the strictest sense, only crazy with love for the Casselton woman. It develops that after working here Scanlen went to Texas and took up a farm and while there learned the North Dakota woman had turned him down, then he wrote a very threatening letter. Later when he appeared in Casselton, N. D., the woman's husband, who runs a big store there, had him arrested. He promised the local court to keep away from the woman and to properly demean himself so the court released him with an injunction to be good.

The following is the letter he is alleged to have written the woman from Houston, Tex., Feb. 13, last:

"As you have done unto others, so be it done unto you. You killed me and drove me insane and a wandering outcast over the face of the earth; you who prayed to God for my love and when it was given you killed it in my heart; you whom I loved with all my heart; you whom I regarded as an angel of God, have now married another. I stood death from your hands, but I will not stand this, for in the name of the eternal God I will kill you when next we meet."

NEW FRUITS IN MARKET

Some Specialties That Are Offered for the Saturday Shoppers.

Butter and Egg Prices Are Lower Along Commission Row.

The markets have some fine offerings this week for the Saturday shoppers.

Baking pears worth 10 cents apiece or three for 25 cents are the new offering in the line of fruit. They are the hard green pear but are delicious, baked. Nice ripe pineapples for 30 and 40 cents apiece are still offered. Oranges and grapefruit remain about the same as they were a week ago the latter selling all the way from 5 to 15 cents apiece. The Western Winesap apple is the best on the market at this time and is priced at 75 cents a peck.

Fresh asparagus is here and is selling at 25 cents a bunch. New carrots, too, at 10 cents a bunch will be welcomed. Among the other vegetables on the market are: New beets, cucumbers, Florida celery, cauliflower, wax beans, lettuce and Spanish onions, on which the price remains about the same. Fresh tomatoes in two and one-half pound baskets are shown at 35 cents a basket. Fresh mushrooms at 75 cents a pound, cabbages at 3 cents a pound, and new potatoes at 10 cents a pound are among the "specials."

Cocoanuts are still 10 cents a pound.

Eggs and Butter Decline.

Egg and butter prices are weaker than a week ago. The warm weather is chiefly responsible for the decline. Lower levels have been reached by both commodities than have been touched in many months. Prices are on a par with those usually reached in mid-summer.

Egg supplies are liberal and receipts are increasing. Shipments from territory near Duluth are growing larger and this factor will probably force lower prices. The warm weather is enticing hens to lay more freely and the movement from the farms reflects the seasonable increase in the output. Southern Minnesota is a heavy shipper and receipts from Northern Minnesota are expected to increase rapidly from now on.

The consumptive demand is heavy and increases as the price of eggs declines. Although the marketable supply is voluminous the consumption is sufficiently large to keep the market free from accumulations. Storage eggs are being offered only by a few dealers. The price ranges from 12 to 14 cents. The quotation is nominal as the actual selling value is usually a question of barter and settlement between buyer and seller. Storage eggs at 12 or 14 cents a dozen are being sold at a heavy loss. Speculators in eggs were severely punished this year and very few of them will finish the season with a profit from their dealings in eggs, alone.

Both creamery and dairy butter prices are lower than at this time last week. Creameries are decidedly weak on account of the sudden increase in the output of butter. Milk and cream are coming to creameries freely. The seasonable weather is having a pronounced effect on the price of dairy products as cows are being put out to pasturage, the yield of milk and cream is heavier and the output of the manufacturing plants is correspondingly increased. Dairy butter is cheaper in sympathy with creameries. The dairy butter market is not as weak as the other, however.

Storage stocks of butter in the Central West were greatly reduced recently by foreign sales but there is said to be an unusually large supply left. The stores are pressing on the market with unusual force on account of the early advent of spring and the resultant increase in the production of butter.

Vegetable Supply Heavy.

Green vegetables are arriving from the South more plentifully, but prices have not receded except slightly in scattered instances. Quotations are top heavy, however, and commission men look for sharp drops in prices in the immediate future. Carrots, lettuce and green onions are arriving in larger supply and values are cheaper. Green onions are a new offering in the market. There have been occasional displays of green onions raised under glass, but the Southern Illinois product now arriving was grown without artificial stimulus. Beets, spinach and beans are scarce and values are firm.

The potato market is holding fairly firm at the lower prices which became effective a few days ago. Reserves are small, and although the spring season will cause heavier shipments the situation is not as weak as might be supposed. Minnesota and Wisconsin potatose are being shipped heavily to other parts of the country. This outgo relieves the pressure on the local market which displays a stronger tone despite the low prices. When the pits were opened last year prices slumped on account of the rush of supplies to markets. The consumptive demand did not increase in a similar ratio. A correspondingly weak situation is not looked for this year on account of the small reserves in farmers' hands.

The orange and apple markets show strength. Oranges are up on the coast and barrel apples are firm because of reduced stocks.

Market in Staples.

The sugar market is firmer. Coffee has a tendency toward dullness. Dried prunes continue to soar. Otherwise there are few features in the wholesale grocery business. The spot market on the coast for seeded raisins is quiet, but holders are firm in their belief that jobbers are carrying small stocks and they look for higher prices. Loose muscatels are dull and steady. Seedless raisins have a firm undertone. The trade in dried fruits shows a decrease with the advent of warmer weather.

Rice markets are steady and the demand is on a hand-to-mouth basis. Receipts are moderate, offerings are well assorted and liberal. Prices are steady with here and there an extra inducement in the way of quality. Evaporated apples are practically unobtainable. Jobbers are turning to dried peaches as a substitute. The result is a much firmer tone to peaches and the coast market is on an upward trend.

Trading in both canned goods and dried fruits is of an unusually quiet nature for this period of the year. But for the fact that spot stocks are exceedingly light in almost every line, there probably would be considerable weakness in the market. Spot canned tomatoes show a slightly weak undertone on account of the dullness of the market.

A "TROUT FARMER."

John W. Gilboy, formerly a conductor on the Great Northern railroad, is in the city.

Mr. Gilboy, has, since leaving the employ of the railroad company, been engaged in "trout farming."

He has a "farm" at Washburn, Wis., where he raises trout for the market.

He says that it will be two years before his venture will begin to pay, but from that time on expects it to pay him well.

Mr. Gilboy says that trout farming is an enjoyable occupation.

PROF. NELSON TO BE SPEAKER

Well-Known Educator to Address Men at the Y. M. C. A.

The regular Sunday afternoon meeting at the Y. M. C. A. will be addressed by Prof. Frank Nelson, Ph. B., of Minnesota college at Minneapolis. Prof. Nelson is a most polished and eloquent orator and an educator of wide experience. He is a graduate of the University of Iowa and was state superintendent of public instruction of the state of Kansas, during which he devoted much of his time to lecture work. One of the special attractions of next Sunday afternoon's program will be selections by the Svea Glee club of thirty-five voices.

FAVOR LABOR COLONY.

The Duluth Associated Charities is receiving many letters from all over the state indorsing the state labor colony idea.

Mr. Dinwiddie, the secretary of the local organization who introduced the bill into the legislature, feels quite confident that the measure will be looked on with favor by the law makers.

During the last few days many letters have been received from prominent men and women all over the state. They all indorse the measure and wish it success.

ELIGIBLES IN CITY CIVIL SERVICE LIST.

The eligible list of the police department has been put in better shape than it has been for months as a result of the last civil service examinations. The police officials have now a dozen men from whom to make appointments for the force in case of discharges, resignations or vacancies from other causes. The examinations also gave the water and light department a full list of clerks working under civil service regulations.

Out of the twenty-six applicants for patrolmen, twelve passed the required physical and mental tests. They are: A. T. Nyberg, J. Woods, P. C. Winters, R. Danielson, V. S. Fagerberg, C. J. Loaf, M. J. Fallon, A. Johnson, J. Callahan, F. A. Harling, J. Englert and M. Steffin.

The successful candidates for drivers and pipemen in the fire department were: E. G. Swamman, C. P. Jones, and John Kinsman; for promotion to lieutenant in the same branch of the city's service those who passed were: O. Stevens, J. Thoreson and J. A. Fisher.

For clerkship in the water and light department: George W. Murphy, F. D. Moonshine and J. S. Mackinkowski are on the eligible list.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

Forbes, N. D., Telephone Exchange Manager Nearly Burned.

Forbes, N. D., March 24.—A fire which broke out in the general store of R. G. Sager early Wednesday destroyed the store, the telephone exchange and Woodman hall above it, and a livery barn and pool hall. The total loss is estimated at $50,000. The manager of the telephone exchange, who slept in the building, had a close call from being burned to death, awakening barely in time to escape before the building collapsed.

WOLVIN BUILDING PLANS.

Figures Will Be Taken on Addition—Other Contracts.

The plans for the addition to the Wolvin building, prepared by W. A. Hunt, will be out for figures tomorrow and the contract will be let shortly after April 1. The bids on the Rust-Parker-Martin company building on Lake avenue will be opened this afternoon. The contract for the addition to the Northern Cold Storage company's plant will be let about April 1, also.

WORK ON NEW PRISON.

East Grand Forks Expects Soon to Have Full Pardon.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 24.—Word has been received from B. Dorsey, who was paroled by the state pardoning board of Minnesota last July that since he was released from confinement has has been at work on the new state prison at Stillwater. He expects to get a full pardon when the pardoning board meets in July of this year. Dorsey was sent to the state's prison ten years ago accused of causing the dath of one McCabe in a local saloon.

NEW ULM MASSACRE SURVIVOR IS BURIED.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.—The funeral of Joseph Sherwood, one of the survivors of the New Ulm Indian massacres of 1861-2, occurred yesterday. He was a native of England and 81 years of age.

Teachers Meet at New Rockford.

New Rockford, N. D., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Teachers of Eddy county will meet in New Rockford tomorrow for the annual meeting of the county association. "Self Improvement of the Teacher," is the subject of the annual address by the president of the association, Miss Charlotte Graham. It is expected that there will be a very good attendance of members from all sections of the county.

SPECIAL PURCHASES

Of Manufacturers' Surplus Stocks

TRANSACTIONS involving thousands of dollars and numerous correspondence has been effected by us, which will prove of the greatest advantage to the people seeking means of reducing their cost of living. It is seldom that a deal of such a gigantic nature is possible in the very beginning of the season, but circumstances that the several manufacturers could not avoid, forced them to accept our cash offer for their stocks, at reductions greater than ever known in the mercantile world.

As Quickly As Water Dissolves Sugar

About The Time It Takes For a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to Work on The Food and Bring Relief.

TRIAL PACKAGE SENT FREE.

There is no long wait between the time you take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and the feeling of relief it will bring to an overloaded stomach. It gets busy in a jiffy and quickly sets things to rights in that tired and disordered stomach. It goes right at the work of digesting the food it finds lodged there and in no time at all has things on the move—the gases cease forming, the breath is sweetened, the coating on the tongue disappears and you are no longer conscious that you even have a stomach.

That is one of the chief recommendations for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets—that they don't take forever to acomplish the purpose for which you need them. It is just as if you put an extra stomach or two to work when yours needed help. You can't continually overload your stomach and expect it to always smile. It is going to get rebellious and sulky after awhile and refuse to go on being driven to do double work. You must rest it occasionally—not by starving and thereby weakening yourself physically—but by using a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to do the work of digesting your food.

These tablets contain all the active elements of the natural stomach juices and will alone and unaided digest food just the same as the gastric juices. And nothing could be more harmless than these tablets. They do not effect the system in any way—do not cure any ailment except as they digest food. Use them freely.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists everywhere. Price, 50 cents per box. A trial package will be sent if you will write F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

LOCKED IN A DIRTY JAIL

Forced to Furnish $500 Cash Bail Before Being Released.

Claiming that they were thrown into a stinking Indiana jail for five hours without a charge being placed against them; that they were detained without being allowed to communicate with friends or an attorney; that they were denied the use of a telephone or the right to buy a meal; that the sum of $500 cash bail was demanded of them, and when furnished was kept by the policeman who arrested them, until they were finally discharged, George and Joseph Weinberg have returned from Whiting, Ind., with anything but cordial feelings toward the police department of that city.

The Weinberg brothers represent the Twin Ports Steel Land company, of which Joseph Weinberg is president. They have a tract of land about 1½ miles from the bridge across the St. Louis river, on the Wisconsin side. They have platted this and were selling lots through Southern Illinois and Indiana.

Last Saturday in Whiting, after selling a number of lots, they were arrested by a policeman, without any warrant being sworn out against them, or any formal complaint. The officer simply stated that they were a couple of "suspicious looking characters" and told them to "come along."

"He put us in the jail and locked us up," said Joseph Weinberg in telling of it today. "At first we were together, but later he locked us up in different cells. I asked him to let me use a telephone to get a lawyer, but he refused. Then I asked him to get me something to eat, as I had had no lunch and was hungry. I had more than $500 with me and offered to pay for anything he got, but he said: 'You'll have to suffer a while yet.' Finally about 7 o'clock we managed to get word to the judge, and asked to have bail fixed. They demanded $500 cash bail, and we furnished that and were released. We were told to appear at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. I immediately took a train for Chicago, and got an attorney I know there, and got back in time to appear Sunday morning. There was no prosecuting attorney there, and the court set the case over until Tuesday night. We were not allowed to have back our bail money. Tuesday at 6 o'clock we appeared in court again, and there was no complaint against us. The judge asked if anybody wanted to make a complaint, and nobody did. He then told us we could go, and the policeman pulled our money out of his pockets and returned it to us. He had never turned it in to the court at all.

"We were kept three days there, and spent five hours in a dirty jail, in addition to all the humiliation it has caused us, and all on account of a policeman who wanted to show his authority. If that is the way free American citizens can be treated it is time something was done about it. I don't know whether police conditions like that exist in other cities, but if they do, they certainly should be remedied.

"True, we might have a clear suit for damages against the policeman, but what good would it do us? He probably would not be financially responsible if we got a verdict, and we would simply be put to further trouble and expense. The judge and the prosecuting attorney were fair enough after they learned of our case, but it is the police methods we complain of."

OFFICERS ARE APPORTIONED

Five From Minnesota and Six From Wisconsin to Go to Front.

Washington, March 24.—Apportioned among the state and territories according to their militia strength, 200 National Guard officers will be sent by the war department to San Antonio, Tex., and thirty-five to San Diego, Cal., on April 5 for two weeks in structional service, with the mobilized regulars.

The department expects to send a total of 1,000 militia officers to the maneuvers at federal expense.

The number of militia officers from each state and territory authorized by the department to join the regular troops on April 5 follows:

At San Antonio—Alabama, six; Arkansas, three; Connecticut, five; Delaware, one; District of Columbia, three; Florida, two; Georgia, five; Illinois, eleven; Indiana, four; Iowa, five; Kansas, three; Kentucky, three; Louisiana, three; Maine, three, Maryland, four; Massachusetts, eleven; Michigan, five; Minnesota, five; Mississippi, three; Missouri, six; Nebraska, two; New Hampshire, two; New Jersey, eight; New York, twenty-nine; North Carolina, four; North Dakota, one; Ohio, eleven; Oklahoma, two; Pennsylvania, eighteen; Rhode Island, two; South Carolina, four; South Dakota, two; Tennessee, three; Texas, five; West Virginia, three; Wisconsin, six.

At San Diego—California, ten; Arizona, two; Colorado, three; Idaho, two; Montana, two; New Mexico, three; Oregon, five; Utah, two; Washington, four; Wyoming, two.

PAYS $11,000 FARE TO TRAVEL TO EUROPE.

New York, March 24.—Otto H. Kahn, upon leaving for Europe on the Cunard liner Mauretania, said he was leaving the financial situation in this country very satisfactory and that for the present, at least, there was no cause for worry. With Mr. Kahn were his wife and four children.

It was said by the steamship company that the booking of suites on the liner for Mr. Kahn was the largest single reservation ever made for one family. The expenses for the trip are $11,000, while there is $2,000 in addition for a large number of servants, who will leave on the Caronia. These servants are to go to the London house, while on the Mauretania were a valet for Mr. Kahn, his wife's maid and a special stewardess, a maid for Miss Maude, a governess with Miss Margaret and a nurse for the two boys.

Their itinerary includes, first of all, a week in London, another in Berlin, then a trip through Italy, with some time in Paris, terminating in England for the coronation. Mr. Kahn said they would return Aug. 1.

TWO HUMAN BODIES FOUND NEAR ASHLAND.

Ashland, Wis., March 24.—The body of a man was found in the ice near the Central ore dock. It has not been identified. It is possibly the body of Rabideau who has been missing since last fall. It awaits identification at Hoppenyan's. The body of a man was also picked up on the track near Butternut yesterday.

GUESTS OF CREDIT MEN

President J. O. Lenning Appoints Committees for the Year.

At the monthly meeting of the Duluth Association of Credit Men at the Commercial club last evening, Charles E. Meek of New York, secretary-treasurer, and F. R. Salisbury of Minneapolis, director, of the National Association of Credit Men, were entertained. The visitors addressed the meeting, pointing out the need for co-operation between the jobbing interests of the country through affiliation with the national organization.

Mr. Meek spoke on measures for fire prevention, and urged careful attention on the part of jobbing houses to hold the fire loss to a minimum. He and Mr. Salisbury both urged the attendance of as many members of the Duluth association as possible at the annual meeting of the national association to be held this year at Minneapolis June 13 to 16.

W. I. Prince and W. B. Cross spoke on the need for close association between the credit men in every city, and lauded the work the Duluth association is doing.

President J. O. Lenning appointed the following committees for the year:

Legislation—W. B. Cross, chairman; W. R. Peyton, H. A. Sedgwick, C. R. Rust and E. A. Schulze.

Bankruptcy—W. F. Arndt, chairman; H. Christenson, Mark Baldwin, C. G. Traphagen and J. R. Helmich.

Investigation and prosecution—W. L. McKay, chairman; B. W. How, W. B. Cross, F. E. Church and Murray Peyton.

Adjustment bureau—E. A. Schulze, chairman; H. A. Sedgwick, W. L. McKay, R. W. Higgins, W. B. Cross and F. E. Church.

Mercantile agency—H. A. Sedgwick, chairman; H. R. Ketchum, C. E. Penslee, F. J. Nixon and A. H. Davis.

Banking and currency — W. I. Prince, chairman; W. G. Hegardt, J. H. Dight, J. W. Lyder, Jr., and H. S. McGregor.

Membership — Charles Ten Brook, chairman; J. M. McDonald, C. Julsrud, James Gray, C. H. Townsend, J. A. Bradley, G. H. Carson, A. L. Peck, W. Ross, N. Jensen, F. G. Hansen and T. W. Rogers.

Credit co-operation—F. E. Church, chairman; J. I. Van Vleet, L. L. Culbertson, A. N. Schall and Oscar Lonegren.

Fire insurance—H. J. Mullin, chairman; G. H. Bate, S. E. Matter, W. T. Wright and Oscar Wagner.

Credit department methods—R. W. Higgins, chairman; W. E. Arndt, G. W. Schwartz, N. W. Lepp and E. W. Anderson.

Business literature—E. W. Matter, chairman; C. E. De Witt, George Tupper, P. R. Mork and A. W. Wosley.

FOOD ENOUGH.

Some interesting statistics bearing on the cause of the high cost of living have been given out at Washington. It has been the contention of certain elements that the cause of high prices was something entirely separate from the tariff. In fact, that it was because the per capita production in the country had not kept pace with the rate of consumption. It looked like a reasonable theory and it served to deceive many who believed that they were getting some valuable data on economic conditions.

Within the last few months, however, there has been a notable change in prices of many articles of food, and this fact, accompanying the continuance of the high tariff, has led to an investigation of the explanations given out by protectionists. One of the most apparent causes of the reduction was the collapse of the cold storage business. With this development came the discovery that for the present at least there was an ample supply of food, if it could only be kept out of the hands of the men who have been withholding it from the people in order to raise prices to a wholly fictitious value. This knowledge pointed the way to the further investigation, and that resulted in the following statement from the capital:

> Representing the average per capita production in the United States during forty-three years, from 1866 to 1908, by 100, a close investigation of the facts demonstrated that the relative production of ten important crops, wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley, buckwheat, potatoes, hay, tobacco and cotton, combined, was, during the decade from 1866 to 1875, 82.9; during the next decade it was 103.1; during the decade of 1886 to 1895 it was 104.6; during the decade from 1896 to 1905 it had increased to 105.9, and during the last five years, from 1906 to 1910, the annual per capita production was 109.8.

It was about 1895 that the trusts began to get their operations systematized so as to be really effectual, and since that year there has been a steady rise in prices. And this in spite of the fact that the per capita production has increased from 104.6 to 109.8 in some of the most important commodities that enter into general consumption.

> The high cost of living has not resulted from a decreased proportionate supply, but from the opportunities afforded by the tariff for combinations in restraint of trade to increase their prices. Prices were not based on the cost of production or values, but on all the traffic would bear. The load was steadily increased until about a year ago it was realized, through the decrease of domestic and foreign consumption, that the breaking point had just about been reached, and then there was the gradual reaction which is now favoring us and which is putting business on a normal basis once more.

There is a splendid and easily understood example of the way the tariff is working and always will work under the protection system. Yet some high protection advocates are trying to persuade the people that if they jab the wedge of Canadian reciprocity into the tariff evil they will be doing something that will bring ruin to the country.

The American Protective Tariff league adopted some significant resolutions the other day. These read in part: "The manufacturer cannot hope to retain protection for his industry when protection shall have been denied to the farmer." This evidently was intended to arouse the farmers against the reciprocity agreement with Canada, but it goes farther than that. It shows the reason for the fight against the agreement. It proves conclusively that if congress ratifies the action of the administration, the tariff graft will thereby receive a blow that will mean its death.

The farmer has nothing to fear from reciprocity, but the high-tariff grafter has. The high-tariff grafter robs the farmer just as he robs the city man. It is the duty of the farmer and the city man to work together to put the high-tariff grafter out of business, and this Canadian agreement gives them the opportunity of a lifetime to accomplish that end by establishing a precedent that will tear an irreparable hole in the protection wall.

AVIATION KEEPS ADVANCING.

Those prophets who saw, in the disastrous ending of the aviation year of 1910, a reason to expect a halt in the progress of flying for the next few months, are learning their mistake. Whether it is due to the characteristic failure of the individual human creature to regard itself as liable to the mishaps that befall others, or whether it is due to a strange something that is driving the race on to one step after another in the conquest of nature, the fact remains that the series of tragic events that marred a year of great progress in aviation have failed to stop the work of the men who are defying the upper elements.

But with all the notable speed events of the last two months, with all the remarkable achievements in the way of cross-country flying, nothing has occurred heretofore to equal the remarkable feat of Louis Bregdet of France, when he took eleven pasengers with him in his monoplane for a flight of two miles. The areoplane has been regarded heretofore as a possible vehicle for two or three people, but hardly more than that. The carrying of seven passengers by Le Martin only some six weeks ago was regarded as a freak stunt, a sop to the lovers of sensation, but however it may have appeared to men who are studying the problems of aviation as a business, it failed to convince the general public that the aeroplane ever would be useful as a passenger carrier.

Now comes this new record—a heavier-than-air machine actually carrying eleven persons, at a height of about seventy-five feet. The fact makes the transportation of the lesser number look common, and opens a way to recognition of the possibilities of aviation that even the fiction writers have not hitherto dared to enter. It was a wonderful flight, and though its accomplishment may not mark the beginning of a new era in aviation, it does mark the beginning of a new era in popular conception of the possibilities of aviation, and prepares an already astonished world for progress in aerial navigation that seemed impossible only a few years ago.

A SAFETY-VALVE FOR PROFESSORS.

Harvard university professors are to have a safety-valve. For five years the men who occupy the seats of learning in the institution have made notes and mental observations as to the conduct of municipal affairs, and have drawn theories and formed conclusions as to what should be and what should not. These theories have appeared in print from time to time, and have been met with varying degrees of interest and enthusiasm on the part of the men who are actually running the affairs of cities.

Now these men who have been developing theories as to the solution of municipal problems are to be given a chance to test their views, under certain limitations. The corporation of the university has adopted the following resolution:

> That, upon request of the city, made to the president of the university, and with his approval, expert advice on the affairs of the city, within reasonable limits, will be given gratuitously by members of the faculty.

Of course, under this provision, the professors will not get their chance unless the city asks for help, and even then they will be subject to the judgment of the president of the university, who will see to it that no wild dreams are thrust upon the city officials by some scholastic visionary. But it would seem like a fair bet that the city officials will give the professors their opportunity, if for no other reason than curiosity to find out what they would do under given circumstances.

At any rate, this action by the corporation of Harvard probably will mean more intimate relations between the university and the city, a point decidedly in favor of the scheme. And if, in the course of these relations, the university men are able to provide Cambridge with some ideas that prove of practical and unquestioned benefit in the management of municipal affairs, the experiment of the relationship and the developments in city government that spring from it will be of real value to the country. Anyway, it will be sure to set the academicians to studying municipal problems from the practical rather than from the purely theoretical standpoint, and that in itself should be fruitful of good.

THE TIE THAT LIFTS.

There is ground for interesting speculation in the statement of Clerk Charles Shogran of the county poor board, published in The Herald recently, that four-fifths of the inmates of the St. Louis county poor farm are unmarried men, and that as far as his investigations have gone, the situation here is typical of that to be found in similar institutions throughout the country. It raises a question regarding the effect of marriage on the individual that is less often considered than are many related problems.

Mr. Shogran believes that if these men had married they would not be in the poor house in their old age. There are some considerations that would seem to bear out that theory. Certainly the man who has a wife and children dependent on him has a greater incentive, industrially and financially, than the one who knows that if he makes a failure of life nobody will suffer directly but himself. There are many men who take that view of life. They shuffle along, going from place to place and from one situation to another, drifting wherever the current happens to bear them, and never think of the wrong they are doing themselves and those who employ them by their shiftlessness. Perhaps, in some cases, these men would accomplish no more if they were married than they do as single men, and yet many of them have the ability, and probably if they had others depending on them would have the incentive, to exert themselves at least to extent of keeping from being a burden to themselves and others in their old age.

We hear much about the good effects of home ties as they work upon the child. This statement of the poor board clerk makes more prominent than usual the good effects of home ties of another kind. Of course, there are other reasons than lack of initiative that keep men from marrying. Some are too busy with their work to think of such a thing, but such men as these go ahead and make something of themselves anyway. So do others who for various reasons forego the matrimonial state. But there seems no possibility to question the value of marriage and its responsibilities as a means of saving some men from making a failure of life. It gives them something to think of and work for besides their own selfishness, and in doing this work for others they accomplish good for themselves and those about them.

Also the open season for last year's fish stories is in full swing.

Vandals are said to be robbing the petrified forest in Arizona. At least this will hardly be laid to the lumber trust.

It is proposed that the state of Wisconsin go into the matrimonial bureau business. This is a step beyond even that of governmental paternalism.

A million and three-quarters spent on the Duluth steel plant in the last year—who said that steel plant was only an idle dream of Duluth boosters?

The Minnesota house may be behind the senate in the amount of work done, but it is far and away ahead of that body in its appreciation of what is right and what isn't.

The American Telephone & Telegraph company took in $165,600,000 last year from its patrons. Evidently silence is not the only thing that is characterized by a golden hue.

But if a Mexican war is determined upon it should be postponed until after the extra session of congress. Then it would stand a better chance of getting really first class press notices.

Honest, now, if you were a Republican and you found that you had been made a mere pawn in the political game and induced to betray your own party's interests—honest now, what would you do?

A Kansas City girl is suing a Milwuakee man for $15,000 because he kissed her four times and broke her corset during the process. Perhaps the Cream City will become famous for her strenuous gallants as well as for other things.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THE DULUTH PAINTER AND HIS WAGE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The wages of the workingmen in the city of Duluth today is so misrepresented to the public that I wish to make a few remarks that I hope will in some way do some good not only for the workers but also for our city. There was a notice in your paper some time ago in regard to building being cheaper this year and the painters' wages was mentioned at 45 to 50 cents per hour. This is not true. In fact there is no scale of wages recognized by any contractor in the city of Duluth today because they do not recognize the unions. It is about time that the public should know that they are being played with in regard to both wages and workmanship. The painters are getting on an average of $2.25 per day and that is all. Now some one will say that they know men who get $3.50 per day. That is all well and good but half of the men in the city today who work at painting are getting from $1 up to $3 per day which figured out on all painters would make up the average wage above mentioned. But I am sure the public has to pay the same for the cheap man who is put on the job as well as the $3.50 man. And why is it? Simply this, the open shop admits common laborers into the trade and these men are sent out to do the roughing in work or the priming as we call it for about 50 cents per day, while the mechanics are called upon to go out and cover up all this poor work. Now how is a job going to last when a poor foundation is put on? In my estimation it is the foundation of any work that counts the most and not the brilliant shine that will in time go off any way.

The only remedy for this is for the public to ask the painters who come on the job if they are union men and if they have a card and receive the wages that the union recognizes as the scale and also make them prove it. If they can't then tell your master painter on the job that you want a first-class union man and you will get one. The contractor says:

"We're going to bust the union, and we're going to make men free. And we'll drive the agitator from the land of liberty."

Then the wages will have no bottom, and the hours will be a mob. And if you do not like it, you'll be free to quit your job.

And so the poor working man must keep quiet, and paint away with this kind of material. Is it any wonder then that the public is dissatisfied with the mechanics and say that he did poor work and it never enters their mind to think about material painters are about the poorest paid men in the city today because they only work about six months in the year and even figuring the wages to be $3.50 per day they don't make more by the end of the year than a common laborer. But the master painter's price of 60 to 65 cents per hour marches steadily onward covering the heads of the mechanics and the man who is put in to learn the trade at the public expense. Awake, Duluthians, and help your local union this year and they will help you to the best and most substantial job of painting you have ever had. If you can't help the union then demand a reduction in the cost of the job.

A PAINTER.

THE NEED OF A NEW CHURCH AT SPOONER, MINN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In October, 1910, in the fire that swept Spooner and Baudette off the map the church also went before the flames beside the homes of the people. The country was awakened along sympathetic lines and gave support in many ways. The people are now putting forth all their energies to get about themselves homes, etc., which takes up most of their time. But the church was equal to the occasion and the Rev. A. H. McKee of the Fergus Falls district of the M. E. church called on the brethren to come and help him build something that would serve as a place of worship. The result was five of the philanthropic brothers responded and, under the direction of Mr. McKee, built a house 22 by 26. The downstairs is used for services and the upstairs for living purposes. The building has certainly answered its purpose for we have it so full that we have children sitting on the floor nearly every Sunday evening and have aoout fifty-five to sixty out Sunday school and the morning services are very well attended. At present it is also used for the public school, as the building is not finished.

Now I write to ask if there is any one who would be willing to help us in a financial way so as to be able to build a church for the people to worship in. I do not appeal for any other help but will be strictly understood will go in support of the church building. This appeal is for all those who can see their way clear to give a little to help in this direction. The people are doing well their part in collections and other ways and surely there are some who will send something that will help us to build this summer, so that we can be equally prepared to meet the new people that are coming in and so bring them in touch with the best.

All contributions will be received at Spooner and will be kept until such a time as we have enough on hand with which to build. I am, dear sir, yours very truly,

REV. W. H. HILL.

A Housewives' Society.

Springfield, Mass., Union: Women in Indianapolis have organized a Housewives' Weights and Measures Protective association for the purpose of exposing and prosecuting dealers who resort to short weight or measure, or other forms of cheating. Recent investigations in various cities have brought to light extensive frauds in the weighing and measuring of commodities, even in some places where an efficient system of inspection prevails, as the sealers' departments in most cities chiefly concern themselves with the testing of scales and measures and are without the facilities for watching individual sales. The sealer can see that none but correct scales and measures are in use, but it rests with the purchaser to watch out for and detect the frauds that may be practiced with the tested scales and measures. Many purchasers are careless in this respect, trusting entirely to the honesty of the dealer, with the result that the unscrupulous business man, of whom there are at least a few in every community, finds it an easy matter to cheat. An organization such as that formed in Indianapolis could do much to put a stop to these practices by interesting housewives in more carefully watching their purchases and having them reweighed when there is any suspicion of fraud.

A Garden for Every Prisoner.

Kansas City Star: Thirty long term prisoners in the Kansas City, Kan., workhouse are to be given garden lots this spring in a four-acre tract adjoining the workhouse. They will be allowed to work in the gardens after working a certain number of hours each day on the stone pile. The prisoners will be allowed to choose the vegetables, and the products will be served in the prisoner's dining room. Gardening will not be compulsory, but the prisoners who do not work in their gardens will spend that time breaking stone.

Teaching Chinese Soldiers to Fly.

Pekin Daily News: The general staff and the Luchun Pu are training a company of soldiers of the Imperial Guards in the uses of aeroplanes. As soon as success is attained in the guards the ministries will instruct the provincial armies to send officers to the guards to acquire the art of flying.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Solicitous for the "Dear Farmers."

Montevideo Leader: When it is shown up how very solicitous certain of the trusts and interests were to see that the dear farmers were not interfered with by free trade with Canada, it will be seen that they were speaking one word for the farmers and many words for themselves. The big manufacturers want the farmers to help pull the chestnuts out of the fire for them and their cry of "wolf! wolf!" when there is no wolf but proves it. Their prosperity has come to them because of a ruinously unjust tariff shuts out competition and gives them a monopoly in their business, and they do not want that kind of protection interfered with.

Has He Seen His Best Day?

Pine County Pioneer: Have you noticed the lack of black headlines which has been a feature of the present junketing trip of Col. Roosevelt? It is apparent that as a star performer and a sensation the colonel has seen his best day. About this time he may reasonably be expected to say some unreasonable thing or do some daredevil act for the purpose of getting in the black letters of the press. The colonel made the mistake of his life when he went up against the public in his last campaign. The people are not all daffy on public questions.

One Good Reason.

Wabasha Herald: England is opposed to the Canadian reciprocity treaty, therefore let's have it if we can get it.

Entitled to Thanks.

Madison Independent Press: What is known as the R. C. Dunn good roads measure, providing immediate funds for good road work, has passed and Mr. Dunn is entitled to the thanks of every man in the state who has occasion to use the public highways.

The Farmers' Institutes.

Pine River Sentinel: The biggest and best attractions—or they should be—in the towns and villages of Northern Minnesota these days are the farmers' institutes. Those who still entertain the old fashioned idea—if any there be—that the men conducting these institutes are educated fools who have never seen a farm, have had ample evidence to change their opinion. The institute is doing more to develop Northern Minnesota than could be easily computed in dollars and cents.

Wrong in Principle.

Cambridge Independent-Press: The tonnage tax bill will not become a law at this session of the legislature. The tonnage tax is wrong in principle and should never be adopted. Just because the iron range country is rich in ore deposits is no reason why the schools and municipalities of that section of the state should be deprived of their rights.

Favors One Recall.

Coleraine Optic: Senator Bailey may be opposed to the initiative and referendum, but his actions of late would indicate that he is strongly in favor of the recall—of his resignation.

All Business Getters.

Warren Sheaf: Every newspaper, no matter how insignificant it may seem, it a business getter for the town in which it is issued and is entitled to the encouragement and financial support of every business man, as well as of all who are interested in the welfare of their home town.

More Pie Needed.

Stillwater Gazette: An inmate of the Red Wing training school who was refused a second helping of pie complained to a St. Paul lawyer that he wasn't getting a square deal, demanding that he be given relief from such inhuman treatment. The idea that one piece of pie should be considered sufficient for a healthy, husky boy who has headquarters at a state training school! The lawyer in question testified that the failure to produce a second slab of pie was the most serious charge he had against the school. What is needed down there is an increase in the number of pastry cooks.

Both Capable Men.

Cass Lake Times: Judge Harmon of Ohio has been the man most talked of by the Democrats for our next president, but now comes Prof. Woodrow Wilson and sets up his standard to compete with the warhorse of the Miami. Both are capable men, both have the confidence of the party, and when nomination time comes there'll be a pretty contest. Taft will be out of the race by that time and the Republicans must hustle or the administration will be wholly Democratic.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Buffalo Express: "Why are you here?" demanded the Mexican government, across the fence.

"We're here because we're here!" shouted the American soldiers with one voice.

Washington Post: Some of our generals at the front must feel dreadfully out of place without their mahogany desks.

Louisville Courier-Journal: "Now this race is a sure thing. You can have a talk with the jockey if you like."

"I'd rather have a talk with the horse."

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "What did you say the former senator's oldest boy is doing?"

"He's organizing the 'Society of Sons of Lame Ducks.'"

Chicago Daily News: Stubb—Who is the gentleman with the ear protectors? Is he a football player?

Penn—No; complaint clerk in the gas office.

Washington Herald: "I am a candidate for your hand."

"But my parents have indorsed another young man."

"All right, I'll run as an insurgent."

Fliegende Blaetter: He—Why does the maid decline to clean my coat with benzine?

She—Since the chauffeur jilted her she can't stand the smell of it.

Houston Post: "Was his auto going very fast?"

"Your honor, it was going so fast that the bulldog on the seat beside him looked like a dachshound."

Philadelphia Telegraph: Bills—What did your wife say when you stayed out late last night?

Wills—I don't know; she hasn't finished telling me yet.

Chicago Tribune: Customer—Mr. Cutter, why is bacon so high?

Grocer—Because, ma'am, the supply is limited; there's only one kind of animal that grows it.

New York Times: City Girl—Oh, the darling little chickens, just out of their shells! At what age are they ready for market?

Farmer—Anywhere up to eight years, lady.

Wonderful Mexico.

New York Press: Mexico is a country of wonderful resources. As far as mining and agriculture goes it is superior to some good parts of the United States. The climate in some places is in many ways about as fine as anywhere in the world. With the right population in Mexico it would mean trainloads of food and minerals and billions of dollars for the rest of the world. You know a long time ago Canada was thought to be only fit for furring, fishing and trapping, and all the world thought Canada was but a dreary waste of ice plains with plenty of mountains of useless snow. But today you see where Canada is and maybe in another ten years Mexico will undergo a greater change in itself and in the opinion of the world than has Canada.

Wow!!!

Cleveland Plain Dealer: The mercury dropped 70 deg. in five hours in Duluth. However, let us not be hasty and figure that in a week it will reach absolute zero. There are limits, even in Duluth.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1891.

At a meeting of the chamber of commerce today, a report was presented by the committee on the city water supply, composed of M. R. Baldwin, J. T. Hale, M. O. Hall, A. B. Chapin, A. Hirsch, J. D. Ray and S. A. Thompson it was suggested that an investigation be made as to Grand lake or some other body of water back of the city, in case it should be determined that a pure water supply cannot be obtained from Lake Superior

John Kinsella, who was shot, tarred and otherwise outraged at Two Harbors several mornings ago, has been unable to accomplish anything in Duluth toward bringing the guilty ones to justice, for lack of jurisdiction by the St. Louis county officials.

A meeting of the stockholders of the board of commerce was held today, at which it was unanimously voted to increase the capital stock from $100,000 to $200,000. The bank also has a surplus of $20,000.

The Duluth, Red Wing & Southern railroad is looking for help from the Head of the Lakes and wants subscriptions to the stock of the construction company substantially as follows: The Red Wing syndicate, $200,000; Red Wing, $50,000; St. Louis Land company, $100,000; an "unknown" lumber company, $50,000; Walmsley interest, $50,000; Superior, $100,000; Duluth, $100,000; New Duluth, $50,000; total, $700,000.

W. C. B. Grahame is visiting Duluth for the first time since 1873, when he was Dominion immigration agent here. He was later transferred to Winnipeg. He is now making his headquarters at Fairhaven, Wash., where he is interested in the company owning the townsite.

The total liabilities of the Bell & Eyster banking house have been reduced to between $400,000 and $500,000 by the payment by the assignee of moneys due outside banking institutions. About April 1, Assignee Markell states, there will be a dividend of about $100,000 paid to creditors.

Fred J. Gould, who is interested in New Duluth, is here from Wheeling, Mo.

Railway telegraphers at the Head of the Lakes have elected the following officers: Chief, H. S. Sisler; assistant chief, J. W. Holden; secretary and treasurer, P. S. Quigley; senior, S. T. Welch; junior, P. S. McTague; inner sentinel, Oliver Conrad; outer sentinel, L. C. Carlton; delegate to the convention to be held in St. Louis, L. Cormack.

Snow is melting rapidly and is settling somewhat in the woods. Indians are beginning sugar making in the bush back of the city.

U. S. G. Sharp of West Duluth left today for Eureka Springs, Ark., where he was summoned by the illness of his father and mother.

The excitement at West Duluth yesterday among the realty men was great, and prices on Grand and Central avenue lots climbed up at an alarming rate. Many sales were made on Grand avenue, varying in price from $6,000 to $8,500 per pair.

WOODROW WILSON.

Concluding an address to the Sons of St. Patrick at Savannah, Ga., in which he reviewed the factional strife between the East and West that has wrecked the political chances of the Democratic party in the last few years, Col. George W. Harvey voiced the hopes for the party in the next presidential campaign as follows:

Herein lies the opportunity of the unbiased, uncommitted south, the mother of Democracy—to act not merely as an umpire between these two factions, but to take the lead, to insist that resentments so ancient as to have become childish be buried, to demand from both greater consideration, more respect for and greater faith in one another, and to make it perfectly clear that manifestations of churlishness by either will meet with stern and effective rebuke.

Let the apportionment of responsibilities be even. The West has furnished the party, as well as the opposition, with the majority, though not the greatest, of its issues. The South is to enforce harmony and amalgamation. The East presents the man—Woodrow Wilson, the highly Americanized Scotch-Irishman, descended from Ohio, born in Virginia, developed in Maryland, married in Georgia, and now delivering from political bondage the state of New Jersey.

Great occasions find great men. Here is one who, if he had lived in the days of Jefferson and Madison, would have rivaled the one as champion of the people and would have equaled the other in comprehension and lucid expression of fundamental law. No other living personality so happily combines the dominant traits of those two great statesmen no other has evidenced so perfect a blending of profound knowledge and simple devotion to humanity; no other has shown so clearly how quickly the old truths will spring into new light and power when touched by the magic wand of full sincerity; no other more surely embodies the authority of sustained thought, of unremitting labor for unselfish ends, the spirit of sacrifice and devotion, the instinct of independence, the love of perfect freedom.

Born a polemic and controversialist, intellectually combative and self-reliant; fearless to the verge of temerity; indifferent to applause or censure for its own sake; incapable of intrigue; prompt to accept conclusions based upon right versus wrong without inquiring or caring whether they be politic or even expedient; persuasive in oratory but devoid of artifice; too intent, too earnest to employ cheap and paltry devices; his pockets filled with moral dynamite; his every thought springing from knowledge that all of the basic principles in our political order, including conservatism, emerged from the web of the most radical democracy, and that democracy itself is only letting in light and air; at the height of his powers of intellect and judgment, upon the high plateau of middle life, best adapted to noble and enduring achievements, stands the man, the liberal, the progressive, the radical, if you will, wide-eyed, open-minded, calm, resolute, exact in thought, effective in action, the most vivid and virile personality, save one, developed on American soil in half a century. Such, without exaggeration or undue emphasis, is Woodrow Wilson.

The old South has bred great statesmen from the beginning of the republic. To her greatest, the peerless son of Virginia, we owe the political emancipation of the people from oligarchical rule and the establishment of the political party which has survived the assaults of a century. Now let the new South give to the new Democracy another true leader, armed with the power of his faith in the people, and their faith in him, and the quickened spirit which enabled Jefferson to break the bonds of paternalism will again become the glory of the nation.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

To get the credit for a thing is regarded by everybody as being just as good as deserving it.

Give a woman children and her devotion to them will make her find some merit in their father.

A man will brag how he knows all about cheese just the way he will about how much his company thinks of him.

Nobody is fool enough to think he is as great as he pretends; he is fool enough to think he can make other people believe so.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: It isn't that girls are so anxious to marry, but they think it's up to them to be engaged.

A woman always believes that her shoes look larger than they really are if they feel comfortable.

Some married men are foolish enough to believe they should be allowed to spend part of the money they earn.

Some married men are foolish enough to believe they should be allowed to spend part of the money they earn.

Beware of the friendly chap who pats you on the back. The chances are he is trying to jingle the coins in your pocket.

Honesty Used in Business.

Philadelphia Times: It would be most unfair to pass judgment upon all the merchants of the city, deliberately accusing the majority of them of selling by short weights and measures simply because, in 495 tests, the bureau of municipal research reports a shortage.

But the situation as indicated by the report certainly calls for a remedy which shall popularize the old-fashioned standards of weights and measures, which are a quart for a quart, a bushel for a bushel, a pound for a pound and a ton for a ton.

Undoubtedly, in many cases where there is a shortage, the cheating is deliberate, and it is also a singularity that in the tests made the cases of overweight may be counted on the fingers of one hand.

Squaring the Account.

Fliegende Blaetter: "Just think! That lady doctor who died last year owed her dressmaker 20,000 marks."

"Well, what happened?"

"Her husband couldn't pay, so he married the dressmaker."

CLAPP AND THE TREATY.

St. Paul Dispatch: Senator Moses E. Clapp has the decided advantage of the people of this vicinity in the matter of the Canadian reciprocity treaty; he knows precisely where they stand and why, but they are unable to tell, from his letters, exactly where he will be found and definitely what are his reasons. His first letter, written to Theodore Knappen, manifested special concern because the tariff had not been sufficiently reduced on prepared meats as against the free importation of live animals—and that while he had made some record as a progressive in advocating lower tariff duties he could not support a measure in the large interest unless the farmer received some distinct and definite benefit. This is not his language, but it is the natural interpretation of his letter.

Since that time, however, Senator Clapp has written other letters, notably one to Kenneth Clark, printed by the Dispatch yesterday, which indicate that he has taken up a new point of view. Now our progressive senator seems arrayed against the treaty because it does not correct certain conditions which have forced the American manufacturer to build plants in Canada to get over the tariff wall. First it was the farmer interest which lined him up against the treaty and now it seems to be the manufacturing interest which is to be protected by his vote in opposition.

But Senator Clapp adds to the confusion of mind of his constituents as to whether tariff duties are a burden or a blessing. As a leading progressive senator, he was popularly supposed to believe in a lessening of the burden of taxation imposed by impost duties, yet in the letter to Kenneth Clark he feelingly asserts:

"Under the proposed bill we surrender about twice as much of duties as are surrendered by Canada."

This is an amazing proposition coming from a prominent member of the propaganda for lightening the burden of tariff taxation. He admits that the United States, in the agreement, takes off twice as much of the tariff cost to the people as Canada takes off—that for every dollar of burden Canada lifts from its people, the United States lifts two dollars from its people and he objects to it! When he styles it "surrendering" does he mean the United States is giving up that much revenue, which the consumer had to pay, or does he mean the abandonment of the position of advantage from which the producer is enabled to add to the price which the consumer must pay?

We would be very reluctant to place Senator Clapp in a wrong light before the people, but he has succeeded in making his own position difficult of understanding. His vote may be of vast importance in view of the standing of the senate and before it is recorded it would be gratifying to know with a greater degree of definiteness how and why it is to be cast.

Long Sled Trip of a Cripple.

Berkshire Courier: The story of a remarkable journey made by a 17-year-old boy whose limbs have always been crippled, comes from Monterey. Walter Bennett of Becket Centre left his home last Saturday on an ordinary sled, and by the use of his arms worked the sled to the McCarthy farm on Bear mountain, where he spent Saturday night, and on Sunday proceeded to Corashire, where he arrived that night. The distance is about twenty-five miles, most of which is hilly.

NEW $15,000 FOUNDRY ADDED TO EQUIPMENT AT IRON WORKS

NEW FOUNDRY BUILDING, IMPERIAL IRON WORKS.

Construction work on the new foundry building of the Imperial Iron works, Fifty-second avenue west and Polk street, has been completed at a cost of $15,000. The contract for the structural work was handled by the American Bridge company.

The Imperial Iron works has operated in West Duluth for the past five years. The new foundry is now being fitted out with modern appliances and will add materially to the capacity of the plant.

Traveling cranes, capable of handling several tons, will be installed at the new foundry, as will also a gray iron furnace with a capacity of melting twenty-five tons of iron to the required heat at one time. Electricity will furnish the motive power at the new foundry.

The company manufactures all kinds of power and mining machinery and up to this time has given steady employment to about forty men, with a monthly pay roll of $4,000. The new addition will make it necessary to enlarge the force and several more men will be given employment.

The company has a ground space of about six acres, there being ample room for more improvements when needed. Besides the new foundry, the plant consists of a machine shop, a blacksmith shop, foundry and office.

Edward Blair Dies.

Edward Blair of 505 South Seventieth avenue west, 49 years old, a laborer and a resident of West Duluth for the past twelve years, died from the effects of a stroke of paralysis this morning at St. Mary's hospital, where he had been confined for the past five weeks.

Mr. Blair is survived by a wife and seven children, all living in the city. About a month ago he was afflicted with paralysis on one side and yesterday, when another stroke came, he was left totally paralyzed.

The funeral will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock from the St. James Catholic church, Fifty-seventh avenue west, with interment in Calvary cemetery.

Twins Die.

Infant twins of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Baker of 417 North Fifty-first avenue west, died yesterday afternoon. Funeral services were held this morning at 9:30 o'clock from the residence to Calvary cemetery.

Club Meeting.

Several important topics will be brought up for discussion at the weekly meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club this evening. A report will be heard from the Getchell road committee and other matters which have been pending will be reported on by committees.

Wes Duluth Briefs.

My bountiful line of hats asked me to announce their formal Easter reception. They are uniquely and fascinatingly "made up" and assuredly becoming at a lesser price. Miss Julia Gnuetz, 222 Central avenue, West Duluth.

Mrs. George Thompson of 322 North Forty-third avenue west is seriously ill at her home.

The fifth anniversary of the founding of the Daughters of Norway lodge at West Duluth was celebrated Wednesday evening with an appropriate program at Great Eastern hall, Central avenue. The evening was given over to speeches and music and a supper was served, covers being laid for 125. Mrs. Lund, first president, was made the recipient of a handsome electric lamp.

A farewell reception in honor of the Misses Sundeen will be given this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dahlquist of 120 North Fifty-third avenue west, under the auspices of the Young People's Society of the West Duluth Baptist church. A program of music and games has been arranged for the evening.

Charles Strand of New Duluth was a West Duluth business visitor yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sayan of 223 North Fifty-third avenue west will leave next week for Seattle, Wash., where they will make their future home. A farewell reception will be held in their honor tomorrow evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Petruschke of 8 North Fifty-fourth avenue west.

Miss Florence La France of 510 North Fifty-second avenue west is ill at her home.

David Gibson is building an addition to his dray stables, Fifty-fourth avenue west and Bristol street.

Hurst, watch repairing, West Duluth.

Frank Himes paid a fine of $25 and costs yesterday in the West Duluth justice court for assaulting his wife on the street, Sunday, March 12. Himes had filed a notice of appeal after his trial, but withdrew it.

Godfrey Johnson reported to the police that boys had broken some windows at 121 Central avenue and the police are investigating. It is understood that the mischief was done by boys who are out on parole from the state industrial school. They will probably be sent back.

GAVE HER A SAMPLE POLICY

Insurance Agent on Trial for Getting Money Under False Pretenses.

George Gorman, arrested two days ago on a charge of petit larceny, entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon and his trial was set for this afternoon.

It was alleged that he obtained $8 from May Ross by making false representations. The complaint states that he gave her a sample health policy, instead of a bona fide policy of the company which he said he represented, collecting $8. When she had to go to the hospital for an operation it is stated that he refused to pay the sum called for by the policy, writing her a letter under the name of Jim Flynn, in which he stated that she must have had the ailment before the policy was written, and that therefore the company was not liable.

WAS WATCH A GIFT OR WAS IT STOLEN?

Valfred Edberg, said to be a former captain of the Swedish army, complained to the police last night that he had been robbed in a St. Croix avenue saloon of his money and a watch.

He was under the influence of liquor and was booked on the charge of drunkenness. Later Charles H. Scott, colored, was arrested on the charge of having stolen the watch.

Scott had the watch in his possession, but alleged that Edberg had given it to him. He claimed that Edberg came into the saloon in a drunken condition, threw his arms about him and hugged and kissed him, and then turned his timepiece over to him. When Edberg was searched at the station the police found $25 in his clothes, more than the sum he claimed to have lost in the saloon. When arraigned in court this morning Edberg denied that he had been drunk and Scott declared that he was not guilty of having stolen the watch. Their cases were set for this afternoon.

ALL SORTS OF ALLEGATIONS

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 24.—Three supplementary affidavits against Peter Swing and Samuel W. Smith, judges of the circuit court in Hamilton county, charging not only bias and prejudice against Judge Gorman of the court of common pleas and Prosecuting Attorney Henry T. Hunt, but also asserting that favoritism exists for George B. Cox, were filed today by the prosecutors. The affidavits will be presented to the chief justice of the Ohio state bench as reinforcements of affidavits alleging bias and prejudice, filed by Mr. Hunt late yesterday.

As in the first affidavit, Mr. Hunt, acting as attorney for Judge Gorman, relies upon the fact of the filing to accomplish his end of preventing the circuit judges from interfering in Gorman's conduct of the Cox perjury case.

The new cases will be heard by Judge Thomas A. Jones of Jackson, Ohio.

"Abuse of judicial power," was one of the phrases used by Judge Gorman when his court opened today, in discussing the injunction against his proceeding with the Cox case, which was served on him yesterday. He indulged in caustic criticism of the proceedings but in the end announced that he would obey the mandate.

Accordingly he again withheld his ruling on the motion by Cox's attorneys to quash the indictment charging perjury.

The circuit court yesterday temporarily enjoined Judge Frank M. Gorman of the criminal court from proceeding in trying Cox on the charge of perjury. The injunction is designed to prevent Gorman from taking up the case until the circuit court decides a mandamus proceeding against Presiding Judge Charles J. Hunt, which endeavors to compel him to rule as to whether or not an affidavit by Cox alleging that Judge Gorman is "biased and prejudiced" is sufficient to remove the case from Judge Gorman's court.

MOTLEY MENACED BY PRAIRIE FIRE

Brainerd, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire in bark piles destroyed two empty cars and one partly loaded car at the Northern Pacific railway tie plant last night. A prairie fire is burning along the railway track four miles east of Brainerd. Motley, a town twenty miles west of Brainerd, is menaced by a prairie fire and a call for help was sent in at noon today.

A special engine was immediately dispatched to pull out a lot of cars on the mile siding of the Northern Pacific railway at that point. The wind is blowing fiercely and the whole country is very dry. Water is low in the Mississippi river, wells and streams.

STOUT INSTITUTE GOES TO WISCONSIN

As Gift From Heirs of Philanthropist, Providing State Maintains It.

Madison, Wis., March 24.—As a gift from Mrs. J. H. Stout and the surviving heirs of Senator J. H. Stout and those associated with him in the creation of the Stout institute at Menomonie, these schools, representing an investment of nearly $500,000, are to be turned over to the state of Wisconsin, free from debt or incumbrance, if the legislature sees fit to accept them. The only obligation that the state assumes is one of maintenance and this involves an annual appropriation for the time being of about $25,000. A bill is now being prepared to incorporate the Stout institute as a part of the educational system of Wisconsin, the schools to continue along the present plan and standard in manual training and domestic science courses, to which may be added the creation of a wider scope in the way of industrial and vocational education.

WILL BE TROUBLE.

So Say the Relatives of "Ham" Dignowity, Reported Killed.

New York, March 24.—"If 'Ham' Dignowity was shot by Mexican federal soldiers," said R. C. Johnson here today, "there's going to be trouble about it. 'Ham' was in Mexico to protect the property of his family, and for nothing else. He was no insurrecto and he had no part in any revolution. He kept to his own business, but he had no end of nerve, and so have all his family. They'll never let this matter drop if they have any ease."

Mr. Johnson, until recently, was in business here with Col. J. V. Dignowity, an uncle of "Ham," reported in dispatches from San Antonio last night as shot by order of a Mexican court-martial for taking part in the insurrection. Col. Dignowity, who is a mine owner, had no confirmation today of the press dispatches, but he, too, was sure his nephew could have had no part in the insurrection.

"We shall ask for a full investigation, and the punishment of those responsible, if the news is confirmed," he said.

John Hamilton Dignowity, said his uncle, was a mining engineer and owned considerable property in Mexico. Since the insurrection began he had been much troubled with roving bands of marauders.

SAFE BLOWERS GET AWAY WITH $4,000.

Curryville, Mo., March 24.—Safe-blowers set off five charges of dynamite in the Bank of Curryville shortly after midnight, wrecking the building and safe and escaped with $4,000. The citizens of the town were aroused by the blasts, but they did not try to molest the robbers.

LONE BANDIT PICKS UP A FEW DOLLARS AND GEMS.

Denison, Iowa, March 24.—A masked man who climbed aboard east-bound train No. 8 on the Northwestern, last night, and forced the flagman, at the point of a revolver to go ahead into a sleeper, robbed A. C. Hanson of Olympia, Wash., of $14 and a diamond ring, and relieved J. W. Hendell of Wichita, Kan., of $35 and a gold watch. The man then jumped off the train and escaped.

LAYING OFF MEN.

Pennsylvania Pursuing Its Usual Retrenchment Plan.

Philadelphia, March 24.—In line with its retrenchment plan followed in the spring season of each year, the Pennsylvania railroad company has issued orders reducing the working time of its shop employes from 55 hours a week to 45 hours. An official of the company said today that a total of about 12,000 men in the shops of the company in Altoona and in other places are affected. Men in the shops in Pittsburg are being temporarily laid off, while the working hours of other workmen there are being reduced.

DISQUIETING RUMORS.

London, March 24.—Private cables received by London business houses from representatives in the Far East today, are disquieting. They assert that it is expected that Russia will soon declare war against China. The rate at Lloyd's to cover risks on the outbreak of hostilities within four weeks jumped this afternoon from 5 to 10 guineas per cent.

On the other hand the later advices from European capitals indicate a general belief that the tension between the two countries has lessened.

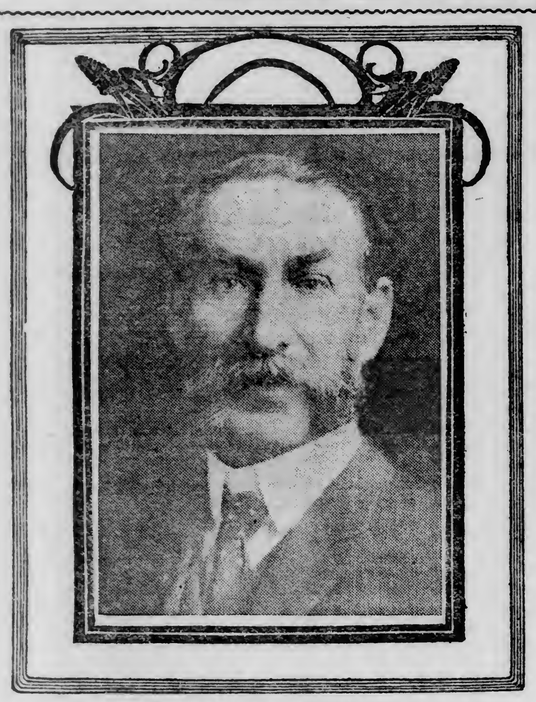
W. S. WOODBRIDGE DIES OF HEART FAILURE IN LOS ANGELES



WILLIAM S. WOODBRIDGE.

William Starkweather Woodbridge of this city died today from heart disease at Los Angeles, where he had recently gone for the benefit of his health. His wife and son, J. Edwards Woodbridge, were with him at the time of his death. Funeral services will be held at Los Angeles, and his body will be brought home for burial later.

Mr. Woodbridge was 66 years of age and was born in Massachusetts. He came to Duluth to locate in 1870, reaching here with his bride before the first railway, and he has been a resident of Duluth ever since. Together with the late M. J. Forbes he opened a book and stationery store, which later became the Duluth Paper & Stationery company, and of this he was president at the time of his death. For forty years he had been a deacon in Pilgrim Congregational church and was one of its organizers. At a recent meeting of the church his resignation from the deaconate, proffered on account of ill health, was met by a unanimous election as deacon for life, a very unusual and remarkable proceeding. Mr. Woodbridge had also been a director of the Y. M. C. A. since its organization and was its president for some years. He established the Lake Superior News in 1878, and this afterwards became the Daily News and was later consolidated with the Tribune into the News-Tribune.

He was a veteran of the Civil war, enlisting Sept. 15, 1862, and was first lieutenant of the Second Arkansas cavalry. He was honorably discharged Aug. 23, 1865, at the close of the war. During the year 1910 he was commander of the J. B. Culver post.

Mr. Woodbridge leaves a wife and four children, J. Edwards Woodbridge of San Francisco, Mrs. N. J. Upham and Misses Lynda D. and Frances D. Woodbridge of this city.

MAXWELL TELLS BUSINESS MEN ABOUT HOMECROFTING

MAXWELL'S SAYINGS.

"I think Duluth's summer climate is just as much of an asset as the winter climate has been an asset to Los Angeles.

"There are thousands and thousands of people who are suffering from hay fever and have never heard of Duluth.

"If you would go at it seriously and make Duluth a magnificent summer resort, you would make a place here more famous than Atlantic City—more famous than the Riverin of Italy.

"Create conditions here by which you can feet the industrial workers more cheaply than other cities and you've got the other cities by the short hair.

"When it comes to a question of cheap grub, you can't beat the back-yard garden.

"Back-yard gardens are the piling under the industrial structure of a city.

"Get every worker into a home of his own, with a back-yard garden, and when industrial depression comes, he will go home to his garden instead of parading the streets waving the banner of anarchy and Socialism.

"It's no use talking law and order to a man with an empty stomach and a starving family.

"You might as well put a man who had never opened a law book in a court and expect him to try a case as put a man on an acre of ground and expect him to get his food out of the ground when he doesn't know the difference between a hoe and a crow-bar.

"I hear you have been dumping your fertilizers into Lake Superior. What would you think of dumping dollars into Lake Superior?

"A man who has a home garden will be so interested in it that he will have no time to spend in saloons and no money to spend for whisky.

"You can add $20,000,000 to the value of property in Duluth in five years by developing the acre-garden idea."

George H. Maxwell, "homecrofter," poured a few cold facts into the ears of Duluth business men at the Commercial club today. He told them of the relation between the acre-garden and the industrial life of a city, the necessity of reducing the cost of living if industrial growth is to be brought about and he told them wherein Duluth has neglected her opportunities for attracting a large number of people here every year by the beautiful climate.

Southern California has profited by the climate that God gave it, he said, but the winter climate of Southern California is no greater asset than the summer climate of Duluth. People have bought lots in San Diego so that they may build winter homes and look over the top of their neighbor's house and see San Diego bay. They will buy lots in Duluth so that they may look over the top of their neighbor's house and see Lake Superior, which is just as charming as San Diego bay," he said.

Mr. Maxwell said Duluth is far in advance of other cities in the development of the home garden idea. He said that he would like to see the Gregsolon farms project enlarged to take in two or three more sections, in which the working people of the city could have homes of their own with gardens from which to produce everything for the table except tea, coffee and sugar.

Problem of Transportation.

"You've got to solve the problem of transportation," he said. "You've got to work it out so that the worker can go from the factory to his home in the suburbs for a 5-cent fare and in a short enough time to make the trip practicable. The 5-cent fare must be worked out. How it is to be done, I leave to you."

Duluth has the natural resources for a great industrial center, he said. The iron ore is at Duluth's doors and it will be an attraction to scores of factories and thousands of people, if the cost of living can be adjusted so that the workers can come. The average expenditure of the wage earners' wages is 18 per cent for rent and 45 per cent for food, he said. Put every worker in a home of his own which he can buy with economy, and get him interested in a garden to supply his table, and the cost of living is solved for him by practically a 50 per cent increase in wages.

Mr. Maxwell says that the work among the children must be carried on steadily and consistently. The school term in the regular schools should begin in the fall and end in the spring when the planting season comes, he said. Then the children should be taken to suburban schools and taught to till the soil and to raise chickens, so that when they leave school they will have the knowledge necessary to make their living from an acre of ground if need be.

The question of intervening lots will take care of itself, he said. The building up of a great home garden community around the city is the great problem now and it is up to the business men to assist in solving it, he said.

Speaks to Children.

Mr. Maxwell spoke to a large audience of young people at the Irving Industrial high school at West Duluth this morning. He emphasized the point that mechanical training, domestic science, and agricultural science should be taught in the schools primarily so that the child might have the knowledge necessary to provide things for the home. Articles should be made in the manual training and domestic science departments, he said, with the idea of using them in the homes, not selling them. The children should be taught agriculture with the idea of raising food for the home table, not for the market.

Tonight at 8 o'clock, Mr. Maxwell will talk at the Y. M. C. A. on the subject of "Acre-Culture Rather Than Agriculture." The lecture is the last of the series conducted this winter by the Commercial club and the Y. M. C. A. and is open to all.

Tomorrow night at the Central high school Mr. Maxwell will deliver an address on "Opportunity," the opportunity being centered in the homecroft idea.

The Sunday afternoon meeting at the Armory has been arranged and there Mr. Maxwell will cover a great deal of ground in showing the relation of the homecroft idea to everyday life. All three of his remaining lectures will be illustrated with lantern slides showing the development of the home garden idea.

The Sunday afternoon meeting is under the auspices of the city and different organizations. It has the indorsement of Mayor M. B. Cullum; W. A. McGonagle, chairman of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club; Mrs. S. R. Holden, president of the Women's Council; L. A. Barnes, president of the West Duluth Commercial club, and S. W. Hill, president of the West End Commercial club. This evening after the Y. M. C. A. meeting Mr. Maxwell will visit the Duluth Trades assembly and it is expected that the delegates to that body will also assist in swelling the attendance at the Armory meeting.

Would Improve Road.
The board of public works will report to the council Monday night on the petition which has been signed for the improvement of the Hartley road near Woodland, for about three- quarters of a mile. According to the estimates of the engineering department it will cost about $15,000 to surface it with gravel with gutters, and $24,800 to improve it with crushed rock macadam.

FUNERAL OF "CON" SULLIVAN

SULLIVAN — Cornelius Sullivan, familiarly known as "Con" Sullivan, 28 years of age, died last night at St. Mary's hospital, following an illness of three weeks of pneumonia. He was a brother of Patrick Sullivan, who died a short time ago. He came to Duluth from Butte, Mont., nine years ago, and has resided here continuously since. He is survived by three sisters, Miss Mary Sullivan of Duluth and Misses Julia and Katherine Sullivan of Fall River, Mass., and three aunts and an uncle of this city. He was a member of the Order of Owls, which will have charge of the funeral. The funeral will take place Monday 9 a. m. from the residence of Mrs. J. J. Sullivan, 210 West Second street, following which high mass will be said at the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, Second avenue west and Fourth street. Interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

Verdict for Printing Company.
The Christie Lithographing & Printing company was given a verdict for $509.35 against the Lloyd Manufacturing company, by a jury in district court yesterday. The local printing company printed a catalogue of baby carriages for the manufacturing concern. The defendants claimed the work was not done in a satisfactory manner.

Three-Hour Sale.
Tomorrow from 2 to 5 we offer on sale a very beautiful line of new spring suits; also some nobby new spring coats, in a very choice line of colors; regular $18 and $20 values for $12.95. Black heatherbloom petticoats, our regular $2.50 value, will go on sale tomorrow at $1.29. Ginster's, 24 West Superior street.

Arrested On Suspicion.
Andrew Smith, William Koski and John Maki were arrested this morning by Patrolman Youngstrom on suspicion of having designs upon the fish house of Frank Christianson at the foot of Lake avenue. It was thought that they intended to break into the fish house and supply themselves from the stock. The charge was changed to trespass when they were arraigned in police court this morning. They denied that they were there for any unlawful purpose and their cases were set over until this afternoon.

Approves the Bill.
Secretary Courtenay Dinwiddie of the Duluth Associated Charities has received a letter from G. H. Mattson, chairman of the general legislative committee, which states that the Labor Colony bill has been introduced by Senator Boyle and that it is now in the hands of E. G. Perry, chairman of the sub-committee. Mr. Mattson approves the bill and states that he hopes for its passage.

SPECIAL NOTICE!

M. Oreck Jeweler, 10 East Superior street, will move to 309 West Superior street, Monday, March 27. Will be glad to receive his friends and patrons at his new place of business.

Foresters Initiate.
The Catholic order of Foresters, No. 177, held a meeting last night in the West end. A large number were initiated into the order. There was a literary program after the work of the evening was over. The order is growing rapidly.

Trout Fry Coming Soon.
Deputy Game Warden Mattson, who yesterday received word from E. W. Cobb, superintendent of fisheries, St. Paul, that a carload of trout fry would be sent to Duluth for distribution in the nearby streams, says that all applications for the trout fry must be made at once as the car will be here in a few days and not a month as has been erroneously stated.

Funeral Postponed.
The funeral of Cornelius Sullivan has been postponed until Monday morning. Services will be held at 8:30 a. m. at the Midland hotel, 210 West Second street, and at 9 o'clock from the cathedral. Interment will be at Calvary cemtery.

Meeting For Woodlanders.
Residents of Woodland will meet this evening at the home of A. L. Warner to hear the report of the committee which has been investigating the plans for the new Woodland sewer. The committee has a report that will be of interest to every resident of the suburb, and it is hoped that every property owner will be present at the meeting.

Will Be Deported.
Ivan Juricev, who first ran afoul of the law by being charged with having brought his sister-in-law from New York to Duluth and having lived with her here, has been ordered deported by the immigration authorities. The sailing date has not been set. Juricev was arrested at Ironwood, Mich., the charging being that he had entered the country without inspection and also that he had committed a crime in Austria.

"Atheism and Anarchism" will be the subject of a sermon by Rabbi Lefkovits at Temple Emanuel, Seventh avenue east and Second street, this evening at 8 o'clock.

Scores of Smart New Tailored Models Replace the Hats Sold During the Past Week!

The plain and simple; yet stylish trims in vogue this season, require the highest art in millinery. Ordinary factory hats will not do at all, for the shape should be becoming and the trimming should be simple.

The helmet shapes and medium sized turbans generally are in high favor. They are rather close fitting and frequently are faced with velvet to soften the lines. Many are trimmed with straw and velvet quill effects.

Especially charming tailored hats are here at $6.00, $7.50, $8.00, $10.00 and $12.00. If you desire something special, we will make them up to your order, but under no circumstances will we duplicate our hats. You are assured of something pleasantly new and original when you buy here.

The Genuine David and John Anderson Scotch Ginghams
Of course there are other Scotch Ginghams that are good; there are other Anderson Ginghams, but there is only one best and that is the David and John Anderson Gingham. You can tell the difference by the touch of a finger, or the glance of an eye. You instantly note the finer texture and silky smoothness and the exquisite colorings of the genuine David and John Anderson Ginghams. There are no others quite so good. Of course they cost more than common ginghams, but when one considers the cost and trouble of making it is most pleasing to get such goods as these. The difference in cost is repaid many times from the satisfaction that comes from their use.

SPURNS THE BUZZ WAGON

No Public Automobile for Speaker Champ Clark —No, Sir.

Democratic Simplicity to Be Illustrated By the Missouri Man.

Washington, March 24.—Economy promises to be the keynote of Democratic rule in the house.

That is, if there is to be any keynote, for the party may not have crystallized its intentions in just that one word. Still, the assertion is not without backing in the attitude of the Democratic leaders.

First of all, there is Speaker-to-be Champ Clark. As successor to the Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, he is entitled to the use of a luxurious $6,000 limousine car, in which the late speaker has greatly enjoyed dashing through the streets of Washington, usually accompanied by Dalzell, Payne, Tawney, Mann, or others of his friends among the big leaders of the house.

Champ Clark will have none of the limousine.

To most plain people who consider an automobile one of the chief among visible and outward signs of a plethoric purse and attendant luxury, it may seem strange that anyone should spurn with scorn the chance to ride in one of these modern Juggernaut cars every day. But the member from Missouri is one of those primitive Democrats, cast in a Spartan mold, who still believes in the simple life, and whose total worldly fortune, it is said, is scarcely more than enough to equal the cost of a car such as congress provides for the speaker and the vice president. He has always held that an official of the government who draws $1,-000 a month should be able to furnish his own transportation and the capital out of his own pocket, and if he finds that he needs a smoke-wagon, he will buy himself one. But thus far, Mr. Clark has found that in pleasant weather walking is good and healthful exercise, when it storms, he takes a street car.

Back to the Simple Life.

Unless the Democrats are indulging in a great deal of loose talk, it will be back to the simple life for a large number of persons who have been enjoying life in Washington, and in other places where men are on the government payroll.

To think back to the subject of automobiles again, he is but an insignificant official of the government who has not been able to show cause why he needed a car to get around town in. Take the electrical engineer of the house of representatives, for instance. On the pay roll he cuts some figure, his stipend being $2,500 a year, or thereabouts, not counting extras. When the heating plant was built the Westinghouse people sent down an expert to put it up, but the electrical engineer was voted a nice bonus for superintending its construction. The expert was hired later to run the plant. The electrical engineer found that although he had two automobiles of his own, he needed another to run down to the heating plant, a block or two from the capitol, and to the pumping plant, on the river bank; so congress gave him a machine.

The old fashioned doughertie, or spring wagons, with mule motive power, used to be good enough for the army people and their families to ride in. Now they prefer to ride in automobiles, and the vehicles of the quartermaster's department are made use of to a considerable extent for paying official and social calls.

The fire chief of the District of Columbia has an auto, and he is riding in it a great deal when there is no fire to go to.

In fact, nearly every one has an auto in Washington, and one's life is hardly safe on the streets, the drivers of the cars are so reckless.

As for the speaker's car, Champ Clark is trying to find some way in which it can be sold and the proceeds turned back into the public treasury. There is no fear, however, that his example will become contagious.

Employes to Be Dropped.

The present program is to show the president what real economy looks like. As a starter, the Democratic house intends to drop employes of its own who draw about $100,000 a year in the aggregate, and those who stay will have work to do—or a fair imitation of it. There will be a complete change in the personnel, to begin with. Only a very few will stay, and one of these will be Capt. Chauncey, who for fifty-four years has been chief of the house pages and who has endeared himself to all of the older members. Another is likely to be Henry Neal, the colored messenger who has guarded the door at the office of seven speakers of the house with Chesterfieldian politeness.

A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, chairman of the subcommittee of the committee on ways and means, in charge of this matter, has noted several places which will not be refilled after the Democratic tornado has swept the pay roll and left but a lonely survivor here and there. He has noted that in the stationery room, where there is hardly room to wait on two persons at once, there are four employes. In the clerk's document room, where the work is considered light, there are seven employes. In the disbursing office it has been thought that five men were none too many to make out 900 checks every month. The chairman of the committee on invalid pensions has seven or eight employes and it is said that two of them do most of the work.

ALEXANDRA WILL NOT BE THERE

George's Coronation Must Do Without the Dowager Queen.

London, March 24.—It is common talk in London drawing rooms these days that Alexandra, the dowager queen of England and the widow of King Edward VII, will not attend the coronation of King George and Queen Mary in June. Jealousy of Queen Mary is given as the reason for Alexandra's decision by her enemies at court while the dowager's adherents, who are quite as numerous as her opponents, assert that Queen Mary and George V, influenced by her, have made Alexandra's position at court so difficult that the only dignified course left her is to remain away from the coronation.

However it may be, it seems fairly certain that when the peers and peeresses of England gather in London next June, wearing ermine and coronets and other fashionable things that are thoroughly uncomfortable for summer wear, Alexandra will not be there to see her son and his wife crowned.

Wrangling Over a Funeral.

That there has been friction between the two queens of England has been an open secret ever since the death of the late Edward VII. Queen Alexandra rode first in the funeral procession of her husband. That was pointed to by the adherents of Mary and George as an affront to them. Queen Alexandra's supporters said it was only natural that she, as the chief mourner, should occupy the chief place at the funeral of her husband, and it was only vindictiveness on the part of Queen Mary that led to any questioning of the dowager's action.

Queen Alexandra did not move out of Buckingham palace until some time after the king's death. Some persons said then and still say that she ought to have moved out before she did. And the dowager queen's friends retort that she was ill; that she moved out as soon as she possibly could, and that her suite was fairly tumbled out after her, as a result of Queen Mary's orders. Alexandra was fairly thrown out, these court persons say.

There are plenty of attaches of the present court who are not only loyal to Queen Alexandra, but who have little liking for the present rulers, largely because the present rulers disapprove of the late king's set and are doing all they can in a quiet way to retire those attaches into the background. One of these disgruntled attaches told something of the present "unpleasantness."

That Royal Flag Incident.

"When King Edward died it became necessary for the college of heralds to work out a new standard for his widow. It is easy enough to understand the reason for this. With King Edward's death, the royal standard passed to his son. Queen Alexandra couldn't float King George's royal banner of England. So the college of heralds gave her a standard impaling the arms of England and Denmark—putting the two flags together, half and half.

"No sooner was the banner completed than Mary decided she must have one, too. The college of heralds had to fake one up, impaling the arms of England and Teck! Teck! Think of it! Ridiculous is no name for it."

These differences, petty as they seem, are said to be the chief things which have led the dowager queen to make up her mind not to attend the coronation. However, being a woman, as well as an ex-monarch, she may change it before June.

ALLEGE GAMBLING AT FRENCH LICK

Governor of Indiana Asked to Help Put on the Lid.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 24.—Another appeal has been made to Governor Marshall for state intervention to prohibit gambling in the French Lick Valley. A letter is awaiting the governor at his office from leading residents of French Lick calling his attention to a renewal of gambling at the magnificent Casino. It is not known what action he will take. Up to this time he has not attempted to go over the heads of local officials except in the case where a poolroom was being operated at Jeffersonville by parties living outside Indiana. The governor closed that place, but he has not used the power of his position to meet the French Lick situation. He has maintained that it is the duty of local authorities to handle the gamblers.

The letter contains the information that the day following the adjournment of the legislature the palatial Monte Carlo was re-opened after being dark for several weeks. It is charged that the gambling was stopped during the legislature to prevent the enactment of unfavorable laws.

A movement was started to oust Town Marshal Ballard on the ground that he failed to enforce the laws. It was regarded as significant that the case against Ballard was continued the day after the legislature adjourned and that since then the lid has been off. The governor's informers assert that their lookouts have seen several hundred people enter the Casino nightly. The play, it is said, amounts to thousands of dollars each night. The committee seeking to oust the marshal claims to have enough evidence to close the Cascino permanently if it can obtain a fair hearing, for which it is seeking the governor's assistance.

HOMER DAVENPORT SUES FOR DIVORCE FROM WIFE.

Salem, Or., March 24.—Charging that within two months after their marriage his wife called his father a "d—d old fool," Homer Davenport, the cartoonist, seeks a divorce. He has three children.

DEMAND IS INCREASING

Europeans Getting Into the Market for the American Stocks.

Substantial Increase in All Lines of Business Is Predicted.

New York, March 24.—Business affairs give no indication of decline or depression in general trade, but at the same time there is a feeling that conservatism should be the prevailing policy for the coming six months.

This is largely attributable to the uncertainties arising through the assembling of congress and the knowledge that, party lines being so much broken, it is simply impossible to outline measures that will be adopted or even these pressed for adoption.

Congress has seldom assembled when so much legislation pertaining to the commercial and industrial affairs of the country are being discussed as now, and if direct financial legislation does not seem probable during the lifetime of the existing congress, yet proposed commercial and industrial legislation bears with tremendous force upon the financial affairs of this country and nations connected with it through commercial affairs.

No one fears a panic, no one contemplates serious disturbances in our industrial and commercial matters, but one and all are chary as to new commitments and are unanimous in the desire to continue the waiting policy for the coming spring and summer months.

Gentlemen who have recently returned from Britain and the continent are all of the opinion that the recent decision of the interstate commerce commission as to railway rates has not had the slightest adverse effect upon the sentiment in favor of investments in our securities, which sentiment for the past six months has been so marked in foreign money centers.

Demand Increasing.

One who has just arrived from Paris reports that the demand for American stocks is growing with every week, and the market is broadening so that it is sure to take in Belgium, Holland, as well as entire France.

I have repeatedly pointed out in consideration of railway matters that the vast majority of foreign investors were far more interested in having reasonable dividends paid to them with celerity and certainty than in uncertain speculative investments, in stock profits arising through manipulation by insiders, or promotion profits reached at their expense by watered stock operations or construction contracts.

The cutting out of the middlemen's profits, through governmental supervision, is in the actual investor's interest, not against it, and the foreign investors are smart enough to perceive this fact and to act upon it.

The demand for American securities by European investors was never so great as at this present time.

Our financial, commercial and industrial standing at home and abroad was never so strong, so firm, so broad and so substantial as it is at this writing.

Despite all the adverse criticism of the interested people in what is broadly termed Wall Street beyond the recent limitations of corporate power and the constant narrowness of the spheres of action of those who heretofore have merged as they pleased, combined as they wanted, added as they wished and divided with the least possible number, the financial, industrial and commercial powers of the country are steadily upon the increase.

No one who studies closely the popular current of thought in the United States can perceive either desire to deprive capital of its reasonable earnings, or in any way to impair its freedom of action in seeking reasonable profits in any legitimate enterprise, but as the months and the years go by, the determination to supervise and control where profits are derived directly from the public is more plainly in exhibition.

Have Good Market.

The European investors—not the manipulators, the promoters or the speculators—are content with assured reasonable rates of earnings, and our enterprising managers of railway enterprises have now open to them the greatest security market that they or their predecessors ever encountered.

The two marked features of business conditions in the United States today are the very low conditions of stocks of merchandise in the hands of all the distributing agencies between the factory, the mill and the ultimate consumer.

The conservatism—nay, we can call it pessimism—which certain parties encouraged during the spring and summer of 1910 had its only beneficial effect by inducing hand-to-mouth buying by the large and small merchants of the country.

The predicted calamities did not arrive as scheduled, but the business element in the United States put itself in shape to suffer in the minimum in case the lean months or years did make their appearance.

As I said when opening this article, that conservatism continues and will be in evidence all spring and summer, until congressional action assumes definite shape and until the crop prospects are determined with some accuracy.

In the meantime there is nothing in sight that will render money other than exceedingly easy.

With all the conservatism of 1910 our aggregates in crop values, transportation receipts, domestic and foreign trade were the largest ever rolled up in the United States, and yet there was no stress for money throughout the country.

Boom Would Follow.

Now, if enterprises of all kinds pursue the even tenor of their way, if crops even exceed in volume and in value those of 1910, if our home and foreign trade even betters the fine record of last year, with the actual gain from our own mines of close to $100,-000,000 in gold which is at our disposal, with balance of trade to our credit of twice that amount, with the absorption by Europe of scores of millions of dollars in value of our securities and its payment for them, it is difficult to see how money rates can rise without a boom in business or an advance in general values.

With merchandise stocks low and money plentiful, the business situation is very simple, provided the country has even average crops and congress works no serious injury upon the commercial or industrial situation.

Given beneficial legislation and even normal crops, the autumn will bring with it even better and larger results than those of the past years.

There must come with the departure of winter and the opening of spring greater activities in various lines, such as agriculture and construction work, which will give steady employment to hundreds of thousands of our laboring men, so that between now and the great fall movement of the new crops there can be no serious interruption of the current of business as it now runs.

The summing up would seem to be all in favor of continuation of trade as it now runs until about Sept. 1, and then, accorded good crops and no ill effects from legislation, a most substantial increase in all lines of business.

JAPS DRIVEN OUT.

Four Aliens Forced From Colorado By Orchardists.

Denver, Colo., March 24.—T. Ichikawa, secretary of the Japanese Association of Colorado, left last night for Delta, to file complaints against eight orchardists in that section, charging inciting to riot.

The orchardists, whose names are withheld, but who are said to be prominent, are accused of "whitecapping" four Japanese employed on a farm near Delta. Ihikawa says he has evidence to prove that the eight men raided the hut occupied by the aliens and forced them to leave the country.

Complaints of unprovoked assaults on Japanese here resulted today in the arrest of four half-grown boys, three of whom are connected with a telegraph messenger service.

Wednesday night, it is charged, a Japanese housecleaning establishment was bombared with stones and bricks. Four arrests resulted.

Strict orders have been issued to patrolmen to protect Japanese and their property.

HAVE YOU READ THIS INTERESTING BOOKLET?

It was recently written. It is entitled "Medical Advice on Rheumatism." It explains in simple language the various forms of rheumatism and shows what to eat and what to avoid, when to take exercise and when to rest. Formulas are given for suitable external remedies.

It points out that the most important part of the treatment of rheumatism is the use of an effective internal remedy. For this purpose Prescription No. 6088 is strongly recommended.

A copy of this booklet can be had free by writing to the Matt J. Johnson Co., St. Paul, Minn. Send for it now.

Have You Gray Hair?
Just Read This Free Offer

PROBABLY you are afraid to try most so-called Hair Restorers for fear they will turn out to be dyes. Listen to this:

On a certain day I am willing to place in your hands a trial bottle of my Hair Restorer. Don't put it all over your head—just try a little spot in an inconspicuous place—behind the ear, for instance, and—watch the results.

If this were a dye, it would color the hair, wouldn't it—in just that little spot? But it won't color—it simply restores. Watch that little spot—put the Hair Restorer on every day—just according to instructions on the bottle. Gradually you will see the former natural color returning to the hair that grows from that little spot where you put on the Restorer. When you see it, and recognize the old original color your hair used to be, you will be delighted.

How was it done?—will be your natural question.

This is the way Mary T. Goldman's Gray Hair Restorer works. It positively does not color—it restores the natural activity in the cells around the roots of the hair thus, enabling these exhausted cells to once more secrete the pigment that formerly gave to your hair its original color.

If you saw a plant drooping for want of water, would you think it wrong to give what you knew was needed?

Now, here is your own hair—gray, perhaps handsome, but turning gray, nevertheless, which proclaims the fact that you are getting old. You know the advantages of being young—in society or in business to man or woman—and then, there is the influence on your feelings. You look in the glass and see gray hair—you know that it means that the years left to you are fewer and fewer. Why keep it ever before you? Why deprive yourself of business and social advantages by keeping this fact ever before the world—even when it is not necessary?

It is vulgar to dye the hair—but it not vulgar to take a tonic for an overworked system—or for overworked hair cells.

That is all there is to it.

Some anxiety, or strenuous years, or prolonged care has overtaxed the brain and sapped strength from every nerve and cell and, very naturally, from the hair cells—so close to the brain. Thus impoverished, they could not do their duty—got on the down-grade—and the color of your hair simply went—faded out.

Revive these pigment cells to their old activity and the color will return. It sounds simple, but Mary T. Goldman, Goldman Building, St. Paul, Minn., is the only one, thus far, who has discovered what will thus revive the hair cells—a solution as pure as water.

Now, here is your opportunity.

Free sample bottles of Mary T. Goldman's Gray Hair Restorer will be given away this week only at I. Freimuth's, 2 to 12 West Superior Street, Duluth, Minn.

Go and get one.

That costs nothing.

Examine it—ask the druggist about it—write us, if you want to—and just try a little place. Nobody but yourself will be the wiser. We guarantee it will do no harm and—watch that little spot.

When you see what the Restorer does, you can get more, if you want to, for $1.00, at the same place where you got the sample, and at leading stores everywhere.

Remember, trial bottles this week only, at I. Freimuth's, 2 to 12 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn.

Give yourself the satisfaction of knowing what this Restorer will do, anyway. It is worth the experiment.

If your hair isn't gray—show this to some friend whose hair is gray.

If you do not live in the city and cannot call, then write today to Mary T. Goldman, Goldman Bldg., St. Paul, Minn., and I will send you the trial bottle and free comb by mail, postage paid. Mention original color. (20).

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

CROOKSTON FAIR DATES

Northwestern Minnesota Agricultural Show Will Be Held Sept. 12-15.

Fair Association Decides to Construct Two Large Buildings This Year.

Crookston, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The directors of the Northwestern Agricultural association, at a meeting just held here, decided upon the dates for holding this year's fair, and concluded to proceed with the construction of needed buildings.

It was decided unanimously to hold the fair Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 12, 13, 14 and 15, immediately following the state fair.

The board of directors named an executive committee of three, consisting of Supt. C. G. Selvig of the Crookston School of Agriculture, J. F. Ingersoll and Chris Houston, in order that important business may be disposed of promptly at any time when the board of directors cannot be summoned in time for instant action.

Premium List Plans.

The premium list was referred to the executive committee, and Secretary Hitchcock was authorized to expend necessary money for trips to East Grand Forks, McIntosh, Fosston and other places to secure advertisements for the premium book.

The salary of Secretary Hitchcock was fixed at $300 per year, and season tickets will be issued to all members of the association who have paid their annual dues of $2. The season tickets were fixed at $1.50 and the general admission 50 cents for the next fair.

The committee on grounds asked for more time and was granted it, and will probably be ready to report at a meeting of the executive committee called for Saturday.

Secretary Hitchcock and C. G. Selvig were added to the building committee, and that committee, with the executive committee which was named, will meet Saturday and go over the grounds with H. R. Danielson, who will draw plans for a large exhibit building and a commodious stock barn which it intends to erect before the fair opens next September.

CORN CONTEST IS GREAT EYE-OPENER

Several Farmers Around Thief River Falls Successfully Raise Cereal.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 24.)—Special to The Herald.)—A farmers' institute opened a two-day session in the high school gymnasium yesterday. A seed corn contest is receiving more than ordinary attention. The school of Instruction is under the direction of Prof. Forest Henry and a corps of four assistants. These are supplied with numerous charts, pamphlets, working models of farm operations and other material which a first-class institute faculty requires. The farmers are in attendance in large numbers and a great deal of interest is evident. The corn contest attracts lots of attention, as it is the first attempt in the northern part of the state to hold such and exhibit. The corn is divided into four classes and the three prizes are given in each class. These premiums have been supplied by the business people of Thief River Falls. It develops that several farmers in this section have been maturing corn for several years and a great many farmers have raised more or less every season. One man grew thirty acres of yellow dent last season and another had twenty acres. The ears of best corn weigh from seven to twelve ounces.

This meeting closes a series which the department of agriculture of the local high school have been holding this winter. Some meetings have been held in country school houses and foundational work had been laid for greater efforts next season.

The Best Dry Shampoo.

Any one can easily and cheaply make this splendid "dry shampoo." In fact, thousands are using it in preference to any other hair dressing. Water and alcohol tonics, soap shampoos, etc., are often injurious to a fine head of hair. Here is the formula:

Powdered Orris Root.....6 Ozs.
Antiseptic Vilane-Powder.....2 Ozs.

Mix thoroughly and keep in a tight jar or box. At night sprinkle a tablespoonful over the hair and work into the scalp with the fingers. The following morning comb and brush until thoroughly removed. This makes the hair healthy, lustrous and beautiful. Get the ingredients of any well-stocked druggist.

Capt. J. P. Thorn Writes:

Capt. John P. Thorn of Oakmont, Pa., writes: "I have had much trouble with my bowels for over 25 years, (constipation), and have tried all the different kinds of physics on the market, but all of them got old, or ineffective in my case and would soon fail to give any relief and would gripe me so much when compelled to increase the dose that they made my bowels so sore and painful that I was never real well; then I would have to lay off and take a dose of Calomel and follow it with a dose of salts. But your Blackburn's CascaRoyal Pills are different, and by taking one every night at bedtime, it gives me a free movement of the bowels every morning after breakfast without griping, straining or burning sensation. Your Blackburn's CascaRoyal Pills are indeed a pleasurable physic,' and do all you claim for them, as I now feel better than I have for 30 years."

A Free trial package will be mailed any one addressing The Blackburn Products Co., Dayton, Ohio. Or obtain a 10c or 25c package from any druggist.

CREAMERIES ARE BEING ORGANIZED

Ryder, Manning and Other North Dakota Points Will Begin Making Butter.

Grafton, N. D., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Interest in establishing of a creamery at Mandt, was aroused by State Dairy Commissioner R. F. Flint in an address delivered to the farmers of that district. He gave special attention to the question of maintaining stock and as a result of his plea for pure bred dairying stock, the Mandt Farmers' club will bring some fine stock into the county, and within a short time it is expected that the Mandt district will be one of the best dairying districts in the state.

At Ryder the organization of a creamery corporation has just been brought about, the perfection of the organization to be completed at a meeting in Ryder tomorrow. A creamery will be placed in operation this spring.

Today in Manning, Dunn county, a meeting is being held to organize a creamery company. E. H. Pierce of the state dairying department is attending the session.

RURAL SCHOOLS GENERAL THEME

Missouri Slope, North Dakota Teachers Are Discussing Absorbing Topic.

Beach, N. D., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The problem of benefiting the rural schools of this section are being considered at the annual meeting here today of the Missouri Slope Educational association.

The annual address of President Joseph A. Kitchen was delivered at the opening of this morning's session. State Superintendent E. J. Taylor was another of the speakers this morning, speaking on the state's new school laws.

Tomorrow there will be an entire session given over to the question of agriculture in the rural schools, with Prof. C. J. N. Nelson of Beach, Prof. L. R. Waldron of the Dickinson experimental station, President J. H. Worst of the agricultural college, and J. B. Stoddard, president of the Billings County Dry Farming association as the speakers.

Tri-County Meet Postponed.

Grafton, N. D., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—An important change has been made in the dates of the Tri-County Educational association, the meeting having been postponed to March 11 and 12 instead of the dates previously fixed. By making this change there is no possibility of a conflict with other educational meetings that are scheduled for the month in question.

The program for the convention will be announced in the course of a few weeks.

PRAIRIE FIRE DAMAGE.

Considerable Property Is Destroyed in North Dakota.

Wyndmere, N. D., March 24.—A prairie fire swept over several miles of country in the vicinity of Homestead, destroying the Norwegian Lutheran church in Sheyenne township, several barns, some stock and hundreds of tons of hay.

Lars Larson was the heaviest loser. His big barn, harnesses, machinery, some sheep, a lot of poultry and several tons of hay were destroyed.

Other losers were John Qualy, a barn and hay; Tyge Knudsen, barn and hay; Anton and Nicolai Lidal, several hundred tons of hay.

The church was valued at $5,000 and there was only $1,200 insurance on it.

The entire neighborhood worked far into the night, stopping the flames.

CONFERS AT FARGO.

Bishop Morrison of Duluth Meets Ministers of Diocese There.

Fargo, N. D., March 24.—Rt. Rev. James D. Morrison, bishop of Duluth of the Northern Minnesota Episcopal diocese, held a conference of ministers of his diocese at the Gardner hotel, Thursday. It is understood the conference concerned the filling of the pulpit of St. John's church at Moorhead, which now is vacant.

Bishop Morrison is scheduled to speak at St. John's church, Sunday evening.

ISHPEMING STABBING.

One Man Having Grudge Against Another, Wields Knife.

Ishpeming, March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A stabbing affray that may terminate fatally took place Wednesday afternoon in Ontti Ekkela's saloon on Pearl street. Jalmer Haapala was stabbed through one or his lungs by Gust Niemi, who was arrested a short time after the affray by Officers Lofberg and Collins, who found him in Gust Olgren's saloon, corner of Pearl and First streets.

Both Niemi and Haapala were drinking, but it is said that they did not have any words. Niemi had a grudge against Haapala, it is said. Both are single men, about 24 years of age.

Niemi and Haapala are comparative starngers in the city. They had been working at the American mine until the strike last week.

SELECT DEPARTMENT HEADS.

Guiding Spirits of Stutsman Dry Farming Congress Are Chosen.

Jamestown, N. D., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The creation of a number of departments and the appointments of heads for those departments, completes the organization of the Stutsman County Better Farming congress, recently launched. The purpose of creating these departments was to place in the hands of certain heads the question of bringing up, from time to time, questions particularly affecting this or that line of farming work. The departments of the association and their heads follow: Grain growing, L. B. Allen; stock raising, A. Lawrence; diversified farming, Guy Wymer; horticulture, A. Stoddard; home economics, O. J. Seller.

One of the plans of action is to hold a series of meetings for the benefit of the different departments, and at those department meetings, only the subjects coming under the general head will be discussed.

SEEDING STARTS IN THIS STATE

Farmers Around Albert Lea and Fergus Falls Are Putting in Crops.

Albert Lea, Minn., March 24.—Seeding is in progress in this part of the state and farmers report the ground in excellent condition, but all unite in saying moisture is needed, especially for grass in pastures and meadows.

While wheat is the first grain sown, oats and barley will soon be seeded. The acreage is likely to be larger than usual this year in wheat and oats. Flax will get attention, but seed is hard to obtain, especially that free from weed and grass seed. If the weather is favorable the acreage to corn will be much larger than usual. More care than ever has been exercised to secure good seed with corresponding prospects of a better and larger crop. Much of the land reclaimed by ditching will be put into a crop this year and the best of results are expected, as some of it has already been tested.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 24.—Seeding has begun along the western boarder of Otter Tail county and in the Foxhome country, and the ground is reported to be in good condition, although hard on account of the dry weather. Rain would help to start the pastures and would lay the dust, but it will not be needed for grain for three or four weeks yet.

KNOCKED UNDER TRAIN.

John Roy Is Injured Few Miles East of Remer.

Remer, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Roy of Wright, Minn., was struck by the Pine Tree Manufacturing company's locomotive at Lima spur, five miles east of here, yesterday. He was knocked under the string of flat cars following the engine and had his right foot crushed and sustained other bad bruises. He was hurried to a Bemidji hospital.

Two cars of logs on the Soo were ditched Wednesday afternoon between Shovel lake and Swatra. The passenger trains met there, transferred passengers, crew and baggage and backed out, causing but a short delay.

GREEN BAY NAVIGATION WILL OPEN APRIL 15.

Menominee, Mich., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the opinion of local marine men the navigation on Green bay will open about April 15. Open water is now visible to the west and north of Chambers island. The lighthouses on Chambers island and Green island will soon be in commission.

SELECTING DELEGATES TO ANTI-RECIPROCITY MEET.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 24.—(Specill to The Herald.)—Calls for county conventions to take action looking toward the sending of a delegation to the state anti-reciprocity convention in Grand Forks April 4 are being issued in different sections of the state. Pembina county has issued a call for such a meeting, the same to be held at Hamilton March 31, while McHenry county's call fixed Velva as the place on March 29.

JUMPS INTO RAINWATER BARREL, SAVING LIFE.

Sioux Falls, S. D., March 24.—Jumping headlong into a rainwater barrel, which was nearly full of water, saved the life of Joseph O'Reilley of Draper, when his clothing was set on fire by a can of kerosene oil exploding and throwing the burning liquid over him. He was badly burned.

PELTIER MURDER TRIAL BEGINS AT MINOT.

Minot, N. D., March 24.—It required a jury only fifteen minutes to determine that James Tucker of Des Lacs, charged with wheat stealing, was not guilty. The work of securing a jury to try Joe Peltier, for the Somber murder in Bottineau county commenced today.

Former Legislator Dead.

Monticello, Minn., March 24.—A. I. Hannaford, former county treasurer and member of the legislature, is dead here of tuberculosis at the age of 51. He leaves a wife and son. His funeral will be held on Saturday. He was a farmer and had long been prominent in politics.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Calumet—Mrs. John MacDonald, or "Grandma," as she is known to her friends, celebrated the 86th anniversary of her birthday at Hubbell last Sunday. "Grandma" MacDonald is hale and hearty and hopes to reach the hundred mark.

Negaunee—The 18-months-old daughter of Victor Lautanen of the Mary Charlotte location died Wednesday. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon with services at the house.

Marquette—A letter received by A. Mathews states that David Holmes, who will be remembered by many Marquette people, died at Portland, Or., March 17. Mr. Holmes spent several months in this city several years ago, locating government timber and stone claims for a consideration.

Gwinn—John Ellson, one of the best known Finnish residents of the Swanzey range, died Monday of tuberculosis, from which he had been a sufferer for two years. The deceased was 31 years old and is survived by his wife. The funeral was held yesterday and was largely attended.

Ishpeming—Later large contributions toward the Y. M. C. A. fund are: Mrs. Louisa P. McVichie, Lexington, Ky., $100; M. M. Duncan, $100; Thomas F. Cole, Duluth, $100; Howard W. Jochim, $50; Trebilcock Bros., $50; J. R. Thompson, $25; Herman Jaedecke, $25; William Perry, $25; W. H. Oakley, $25; Richard Quayle, Gwinn, $25; Thomas P. Walters, Rolling Mill, $25.

Marquette—The Crescent laundry on Washington street closed its doors on Wednesday and the firm has suspended business in this city. Lack of support is said to be the cause of the discontinuance. The machinery is to be moved from the city to Negaunee, where the firm will go into business again.

Calumet—Postmaster C. J. Wickstrom has been notified by the postoffice department that the petition recently submitted from this district, asking that the Calumet postoffice be closed to delivery of mail generally on Sundays, has been considered favorably and that Sunday closing can go into effect at any time.

Hancock—Edward Ryan arrived here this week from Detroit and will visit here for a week or two. Mr. Ryan is chairman of the Democratic committee of Houghton county and will advise with the local Democrats relative to the present campaign.

Hancock—Elsie, the 1-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stanaway, died Wednesday morning. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with services at the residence in charge of Rev. W. E. Marvin and interment at the Lakeside cemetery.

Laurium—Florence, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barsanti, and the 8-year-old son of Dominic Miglio, both of Laurium, were slightly injured in an exciting runaway on Osceola street, Laurium, Sunday morning.

Chatham—At the annual meeting of the Chatham Creamery company the following were elected directors for the ensuing year: L. M. Gelsman, J. H. Gatiss, C. C. Brown, Albert Johnson, August A. Anderson, O. Sorenson and H. W. Crawford. A committee of five was appointed to call on all the farmers and secure written agreements that they would send milk or cream.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—Over $300 was pledged for the relief of sufferers in the plague and famine ridden districts of China at a mass meeting of university students. The meeting was under the auspices of the International club.

Waukesha—Caught in a rapidly revolving shaft, Benjamin Smith, aged 37, owner of a grist mill at Sayleswille, near Genesee, met a terrible death Wednesday morning. Employes found his body with nearly every bone broken wound about the shaft. He is survived by a wife and his mother.

Madison—Governor McGovern has appointed Dr. B. H. Lindley of Chippewa Falls as member of the state board of control, for the term ending April 1, 1916. He was recently appointed for the term ending April 1, 1911.

Wauesha—Mrs. Margaret Holman, aged 70 years, wife of Michael Holman, died Tuesday afternoon with cancer of the stomach. Mrs. Holman resided here all of her life. Besides her husband she is survived by several brothers and sisters.

Madison—Senator Henry Krumrey says that August G. Meyers was slated for appointment as assistant state superintendent of public property to succeed John W. Groves, who has resigned. The position carries with it a salary of $1,500 a year.

Oconomowoc—Coroner Hill conducted an inquest here on Wednesday to inquire into the death of Alexander Madoe, who was killed on March 10 on the South Main street crossing by a Milwaukee railroad train. He reserved his decision for a few days in order to look over the testimony given.

Janesville—Diamonds valued at several hundred dollars were stolen from the home of John Rexford, president of the First National bank, late Tuesday night. The same robber, it is thought, entered the residence of W. F. Palmer, wealthy fountain pen manufacturer, but was frightened away.

Ashland—A party of Philadelphia capitalists were shown about the city by President Dodd of the Advancement association Wednesday. They are interested in the Ashland flour mill, which they may purchase. The mill has been closed practically since the death of Senator Stout.

Beloit—A burglar in Stowell cottage, freshman girls' dormitory of Beloit college, threw the coeds into panic Tuesday night. Two girls awoke to find him in their room. The marauder escaped. This is one of a series of bedroom window robberies in the college community due to the custom of open air sleeping.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Minot, N. D.—Edward L. Rowan, who has been the manager of the Leland hotel of this city, left for Bismarck Tuesday to assume the directorship of the new McKenzie hotel.

Devils Lake, N. D.—Supt. J. A. Haig is in receipt of a letter from his son Myron, who states that he was re-elected to the position of superintendent of the city schools at Wheaton, Minn., with a salary of $1,500, which is an increase over this year's salary.

Bathgate, N. D.—The two scarlet fever patients in the city are recovering, and no new cases have been reported during the week, which gives ground to suppose that the epidemic is under control and that the methods employed in quarantine have been very effective.

Grand Forks, N. D.—O. W. Bergen has been appointed district manager for the American Bankers' Insurance company for the Grand Forks district. E. C. Cooper, formerly of Grand Forks and state insurance commissioner, has also gone with the company and will manage the south district, with headquarters in Fargo.

Fargo, N. D.—There was an enthusiastic rally of unday school teachers, officers and others at the Presbyterian church Monday night, and the first steps were taken toward arrangements for the coming state convention which is to be held in this city May 16, 17 and 18.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Henry McCabe was brought into the city Wednesday by John Erickson of Oakville township and was turned over to the care of the sheriff. McCabe has been wandering over the country in the vicinity of the city for the past several days and has been acting queerly.

Fargo, N. D.—Prof. A. G. Arvold, head of the public-speaking department of the agricultural college, has gone on a tour of a number of the Northwestern colleges and universities in quest of information that will assist in his work at the agricultural college.

Williston, N. D.—Construction work will be commenced about April 1 on a new opera house to be erected here by Eastern capitalists, represented by H. J. Shaw. W. H. Horton was granted the contract, totaling about $40,000, and is now preparing for the early work.

Bismarck, N. D.—Judge Charles A. Pollock of Fargo has arrived at the state capital and will sit on the supreme bench during the hearing of some cases in which Justices Burke and Goss are disqualified. The first case came up for argument Tuesday morning.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Blue Earth—Charles W. Hadlick, aged 43 years, died Wednesday. He was an old settler of this county and had been in the general mercantile business for a number of years.

Owatonna—Owatonna fans have organized a baseball association. The following are the officers: President, A. J. Bosshard; secretary-treasurer, W. C. Zamboni; board of directors, Messrs. Puller, Staley and Deviny. The board of directors will elect a manager.

Faribault—Christian Henning, an old resident of Faribault, died at his home near the state school for the feeble minded, March 14, of infirmities of old age. He was born in 1824, and came to Faribault over fifty years ago. He is survived by three sons and three daughters.

Red Wing—John F. Kuhn, one of the early settlers of Red Wing, died Wednesday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edward Larson. He had been sick with stomach trouble for about ten days.

Cambridge—Peter Highland, aged 70, died at Brimson, St. Louis county, March 17. The remains were brought to Cambridge Sunday morning and taken to the North Baptist church, Isanti, where the funeral was held at 2:30 p. m. that day. Rev. A. Blomgren conducted the services. Burial was had in the cemetery near the church.

Fergus Falls—E. C. Murphy, who was arrested Monday evening on the charge of accosting young ladies on the streets, was found guilty in the justice court Wednesday and sentenced to thirty days in jail.

Isanti—Hugh Butler of Anoka was in Isanti Tuesday and closed a deal in which C. Styffe secures the two lots south of the Good Templar hall, the consideration being $200. Mr. Styffe will erect a frame building on the property, later veneering the structure with concrete.

Ada—The death of Henry Thronson occurred at his home in Gary recently after a long and severe illness from cancer of the stomach. Deceased was 32 years of age and had resided in Norman county for about twenty-five years. He was married five years ago and leaves a wife and two children.

New York Mills—The farmers are organizing a farmers' elevator here, expecting to purchase the building owned by the Co-operative company. H. C. Hanson is at the head of it.

Moorhead—It is announced by J. H. Hanson, of the Star Implement company, that he and A. J. Fridlund, contractor and builder, are about to erect two new stores, fifty feet front by seventy-five feet deep, upon the Northern Pacific right-of-way immediately east of the Star Implement company building.

Mankato—Otto Peterson, formerly of Amboy, has purchased of Eugene Bunce of Garden City township 226 acres of fine farm land, paying $17,515 for the same, or at the rate of $77.50 per acre. Mr. Peterson also owns 240 acres of land in the vicinity of Amboy which he refuses $100 an acre for.

CAHILL IS HOLDING OUT

Crack Wausau Player Refuses to Sign at Salary Offered.

Rhodes Signed and Other New Talent Is Wanted to Fill Holes.

Wausau, Wis., March 24.—"Daddy" Cahill, last year the premier outfielder of the Wausau Lumberjacks, is holding out on Secretary Robert Hechtritt, there being considerable difference between the salary which th La Crosse man wants and what the Wausau officers have named him in the contract which he has received.

Because of the general cut in salaries in the clubs in the Minny circuit this year which becomes necessary with a salary limit of $1,300 per month for twelve players, exclusive of the manager, the Wausau officers sent Cahill a contract which calls for less money than he received last season, and "Daddy" is peeved, to say the least.

Cahill was the leading outfielder with the Lumberjacks last season, hitting the ball at a .392 clip and fielding at an average of .946. He played in 124 games, was at bat 476 times, made 82 runs, 144 hits, 15 two-boggers, 15 triples, 5 home runs, a total of 204 bases, and hung up a record of 25 sacrifices and 58 stolen bases, ranking second in the circuit in the number of sacks pilfered.

During the winter Cahill has been laboring at La Crosse to keep in condition for the coming season. The little fellow is a molder by trade.

He now threatens to "mold" before he will return to play ball for a salary considerably lower than the one he received last year. He has returned his contract unsigned.

Gets Good Men.

Carl Bond, last year manager of the Lumberjacks and prospective manager this year, has received word from the officers of the club that they have signed Third Baseman Rhodes, last year with the Macomb team in the Illinois-Missouri league, an infielder of no mean ability and a man that the Lumberjacks have been anxious to get. The deal was closed yesterday.

Judging from the averages which Rhodes compiled last year, he is a desirable man. The Macomb team, of which he was a member, finished the season in second place, running directly behind the pennant winners. The new Lumberjack finished fourth among the batters with a mark of .306 and fielded for an average of .934, which is some record for an infielder. It now looks as though the Wausau officers had wasted little time in securing a good man.

Rhodes participated in 104 games, came to bat 573 times, scored 47 runs and made 108 hits for a total of 146 bases. He is also a reserve pitcher, being able to mount the mound and do good work. Last season he pitched in sixteen games, winning eight and losing seven.

The officers of the Lumberjacks say they are busy hunting new material to fill holes in the line-up caused by the recall of Brody, De Haven and several other men. They intend to purchase new players of good standing instead of attempting to locate new material among the amateurs or the semi-pros. Deals are now on for several other players, which will probably be closed before the end of the week. The club is after a left fielder and a second baseman, according to reports received in the local camp.

PHILADELPHIAN WINS THE TITLE

Harry W. Kahler Shoots Like Veteran Under Handicap of High Wind.

New York, March 24.—In freezing weather, with a half gale blowing from the Northwest across the traps, Harry W. Kahler, formerly of Davenport, Iowa, but now a resident of Philadelphia, won the national amateur trap shooting championship at clay birds from a field of 120 shooters at Travers island yesterday.

Kahler, who is 25 years old, shot like a veteran and broke 173 out of 200 targets, thrown from traps at sixteen yards rise. By doing so he won the diamond medal and the championship title, which has been held for the last two years by his clubmate, G. S. McCarty of the Highland Gun club, Philadelphia, who was runner-up yesterday with a score of 171.

Among the professionals who took part in the day's shooting, L. S. German of Wilmington, Del., was the leader, with 182.

WAS PAPKE STALLING IN AUSTRALIAN FIGHTS?

San Francisco, Cal., March 24.—Billy Papke's easy victory over Dave Smith in Australia leads one to look with suspicion on the "Thunderbolt's" previous fight with the Australasian, as well as his defeat at the hands of "Cyclone" Johnny Thompson. When Smith first faced Papke he experienced little difficulty in outboxing the Kewanee pugilist, and when things appeared to be going against him Papke hit a palpably foul blow in the tenth round and lost the decision.

Shortly after losing to Smith, Papke met "Cyclone" Thompson. Every fan who knows anything at all about the fighting game would bet his bank roll at almost any sort of odds that Papke would defeat the Sycamore lad if he felt sure Papke was doing his level best to win.

Whether for betting purposes or simply to get a few extra matches, Papke saw fit to "monkey" along and lost both of these battles, and then come on and "clean up." Thompson was wise enough to skip out while he still had Papke's name on his winning list. If he had tarried longer in the land of the kangaroo, perhaps the promoters would have arranged a return match between the "Cyclone" and the "Thunderbolt." In that event there would have been a real slugfest between the two men, which would have resulted disastrously for the "Cyclone," as the "Thunderbolt" surely would have struck him hard enough in the return match to take all the wind out of his sails. But Thompson was too shrewd for Billy.

In San Francisco, Papke never was popular. He is too much of an in-and-outer to satisfy the public. He startled the pugilistic world when he knocked out the late Stanley Ketchell in Los Angeles. Later on he furnished another surprise when he "dogged it" and lost to Ketchell at Colma.

Papke's last appearance in this city was against Joe Thomas. For his awfully "raw" work in that particular contest the "23 sign" was tagged to him by the promoters. So far as the fight public is concerned, it is to be hoped it will continue to stick to him, as none of his ring work in the world's fair city was of real championship caliber.

Instead of trying to inform the public that he rightfully is entitled to the middleweight belt by means of the usual hot air dispensed by him, Papke should take immediate steps to meet Sam Langford at 158 pounds. If he should adopt this course, he would at once regain some of the prestige which he has lost during the last few years.

If Langford can make the middleweight limit, he is entitled to a match with Papke. If the latter sees fit to draw the color line, it will simply be construed as an admission that he fears the Weymouth dark streak and that only easy marks need apply for matches.

Either Bill Lang or Jack Lester, the heavyweights, who are billed to box on April 16 at Sydney, may be picked out by Papke as the next target for a match in Australia, provided he does not depart from London prior to that date. However, if he knows Langford still is hanging around the British metropolis, it is almost a cinch bet he will linger longer in kangaroo-land.

Heart-to-Heart Talk on the Six-Round Boxing Bill—Special Correspondence From the Down and Out Club—Plans for the Carnival—Poor Old Pop Anson on the Stage.

(BY BRUCE.)

HEART-TO-HEART talk No. 27—Put your feet on the the table if you wish, but kindly don't interrupt.

We're off.

There is a bill before the legislature at the present time, which if passed, would place boxing on a legal and decent basis. The passage of this bill would mean that boxing matches, under the supervision of the police, with the principals guarded against injury by the wearing of moderately sized gloves and thorough medical examination before they are allowed to enter the ring.

Guerilla fighting has been carried on in this state for years. The fights are staged under conditions that insult the intelligence of a man with any breeding in his bones. In many instances the boy who do the fighting are undertrained youth who have to enter the ring for the sake of getting beer money. If boxing were placed on a legal basis, and the police made responsible for the conduct of the bouts, which they are not at the present time, this evasion of law would be done away with.

Coming down to the common things of life, it might be observed that the gentle art of sewing can and often is made brutal. To make a woman work in a sweat shop for sixteen or eighteen hours a day with a needle, might be called brutal in itself. You can carry most anything to the point of brutality. Boxing should not be allowed unless the proper restrictions are placed on the sport.

During the past year there has been somewhat of a change of sentiment toward boxing. There are many strongly opposed to the sport as it has been conducted many times in the past, who are willing to try the experiment of legalizing the game and placing it in the hands of those qualified to keep it above the influences of the past.

If the legislature passes the bill before it at the present time Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis will have six-round bouts, boxed with large sized gloves. The bill is very rigid in its restrictions, as is right and proper, and will by its restraining clauses prevent the recurrence of some of the affairs of the past.

Level-headed men who enjoy a clean and orderly conducted boxing bout, rather than a prize fight conducted with all the abuses that have driven the sport into general disrepute, are hoping that the bill becomes a law. It will result in cleverness and science superceding the old rough house slugger, and will give men with red blood in their veins athletic exhibitions between well trained athletes.

Limited round bouts are the present time being conducted in various parts of the United States. There has been no objection to the bouts where there has been a round limit set, the finish fight being practically the only boxing in the country today that has met with serious objection.

There is a general belief in many parts of the northern part of the state that the passage of the bill would do away with many objectionable features that are in force at the present time. The passage of the bill would mean that Duluth will see some clean and clever bouts between men well up in the boxing game.

It is a question of legalized boxing or bush prize fights. The latter have been a constant thorn in the side of state and county officials, and it is up to the fans to help make the decision.

Let Jim Corbett Come In.

DOWN AND OUT CLUB ROOMS, March 24.—(Special Correspondence.)—Kid McCoy was looking great today. He rose at 10 o'clock, had a high ball, a shave and a hair cut and his fingers manicured. After his workout he told your correspondent that he was in the best condition of his life.

This afternoon the Kid has promised Jahn O'Brien to take a short walk and taper off in his work. He is using wine in his training, insisting that it assists him to come back. He came back this morning at 2 o'clock.

According to the news learned by ycur correspondent, McCoy has secured training quarters in one of the prominent grill rooms here and will meet all comers during the week. He is looking for some nice wine buyer to assist in the training.

Late yesterday Joe Choynski's application to the club was acted upon favorably, according to the information received from the secretary of the club, Billy Rothwell, known along Broadway as Young Corbett, and one of the best known of the "comeback boys."

Mr. Choynski has been getting in great condition by writing for a magazine and carrying Miles McLeod's grip. Mr. Choynski wants to fight Mr. McCoy for the farthest gone championship, and Mr. O'Brien has promised to stage the fight the same night that Battling Nelson and James Britt, two other members of the club, fight for the ulma bone trophy, offered by Dr. B. F. Roller.

A letter was received this afternoon from James Jay Corbett, in which it was stated that he had been training for the past year and was in the greatest condition of his brilliant career.

Mr. Corbett has been walking from his carriage to the stage door and the exercise has done him a world of good. Although out of the ring for some time, Mr. Corbett is confident of his ability to join the club members in their merry bouts, and has asked Mr. Rothwell to file his challenge in order. He wishes to meet the winner of the Choynski-McCoy encounter, if he can come to an understanding with the winner.

It is said that Robert Fitzsimmons, despite his oft repeated threats of retirement, has a new lease of life, last night escaping from his keepers and running to the wilds of the city. The Down and Out club members have offered to care for him in his old age, and preparations are on to match him with Tom Sharkey, a well-known coin collector of New York. It is believed with thorough course of press work Fitz will be able to "come back."

James J. Jeffries, a well-known wine connoisseur of California, with a fondness for fishing, has been suggested for honorary president of the club.

Applications for membership were today received from Jack Parres and Tom McCune, former fighters.

Getting Down to Business.

AT the Saturday meeting of the carnival committee the work of the season, or at least some of it, will be laid out. There is a lot of detail connected with the big water show and the members of the general committee will have all they can do from now until July.

No definite program has been fixed upon as yet. There will be a meeting of the cabinet of the club in the near future, and then things will begin to assume definite progress.

If the people of Duluth fall in line behind the show, there is no doubt but that the carnival will be one of the most original as well as one of the most picturesque exhibitions ever given in the West. The city has not awakened to the fact that one of the most unique carnivals ever planned by a city is going to be held. It will be the duty of the publicity committee to do the alarm ringing act.

Papa Anson Tries Vodevil.

SHADES of the late Charles Hoyt and the memory of the short-lived "A Runaway Colt." Papa Anson, once the hero of Chicago and later the heir to poor speculations, has gone back to the stage. There is not a fan in the entire country but who hopes that the great old man will make up for some of the money he has lost in baseball and other ventures.

Charles Hoyt was a great friend of Anson. Knowing that "Anse" was one of the most famous baseball players in the world, Hoyt conceived the idea of writing a play around him. "A Runaway Colt" was the result. The acting of Anson was worse than the act of the Cherry sisters, and it was all on the deal level with the veteran. The show falled.

Now comes the news that the Adrian C. is doing a buck and wing dance in vaudeville. Honestly, there is something pathetic in the spectacle of a man of Anson's age getting out on the stage and making a show of himself. If he didn't need the money pretty badly, it is a cinch that the old boy wouldn't have been drawn into the stage game.

Old Anson is a grand old man. He has been an honor and credit to one of the greatest sports in the world. After a tour of the world, after these years of diamond glory, he is doing a buck and wing dance in vaudeville. He is a man well along in years, and the whole business, somehow, isn't just what the best friends of the old leader of the Chicago White Stockings would have wished for.

GOTCH WILLING TO MEET HACKENSCHMIDT.

Pueblo, Colo., March 24.—Frank Gotch defeated Demetral, the Greek strong man, here last night in straight falls, the first in 22 minutes and 23 seconds and the second in 8 minutes and 24 seconds.

Gotch said last night he is willing to meet Hackenschmidt at any time.

DULUTH MAY GET DEMMER

Price Set on Star Slugger By the Waterloo, Iowa, Management.

O'Brien wrote Jack Desmond yesterday that he had been quoted a price on Demon Demmer, the crack outfielder of last year's Red Wing team, who was sold to the Waterloo, Iowa, aggregation. Demmer is not only a crack outfielder but is also one of the best batters in the league. In 116 games last season this kid stung the ball at the sweet tune of .324.

Demmer is one of the very best ball players ever sent up from this league and his presence on the White Sox brigade would be hailed with joy by the Duluth fans who recall his sterling work. A hitter in the outfield such as Demmer would add a world of strength to the team that will gather together within a few days.

Desmond has come to no definite decision in the matter so far. There seems to be some question as to whether Demmer will play baseball this season. Some decision will be made in the matter within a few days.

There was a report yesterday from Red Wing that "Tubby" Wolford had been signed by the Duluth team. This is a mistake, as Desmond or O'Brien have no desire to acquire his royal fatlets.

Reports from the St. Paul training camps indicate that Mike Kelley intends to give Eddie Kohl, the comedian, a tryout for third base. If the intention of Kelley is serious the actor may not be seen here at the opening of the season.

J. JOHNSON BEAN IS SOLID BONE.

San Francisco, Cal., March 24.—"Solid bone" is what San Francisco surgeons are saying today regarding Jack Johnson's skull. The black champion Wednesday submitted to having an X-ray photograph taken of his head and he broke all records for "thick headedness." It was found that his skull is nearly two-thirds of an inch thick. It took five minutes for the powerful rays to penetrate his head, while the usual time is from five to fifteen seconds.

PLAN BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Towns in Western Northern Dakota to Have Their League.

Mandan, N. D., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans are on foot for the organization of a Missouri Slope Baseball league. The cities of Mandan, Dickinson, Bismarck, Beach, in North Dakota, with a possibility that Wibaux and Glendive, Mont., as probabilities, are contemplated as the league membership, while Richardton and Glen Ullin are also in line.

Another league is being contemplated to include the towns of Linton, Hazelton, Strausberg, N. D., and Pollock, S. D.

SAYS FIGHTING IS NOT AS BAD AS FOOTBALL.

Denver, Colo., March 24.—Magistrate Gavin yesterday dismissed the charge against Jimmy Gardner of Massachusetts, and Johnny O'Keefe of Denver, who had been arrested as the result of their pugilistic contest here Tuesday night. The charge had been brought by the Christian Citizenship union. Magistrate Gavin said ring contests were "not half as bad as those bullfights commonly referred to as football."

Many Candidates Show Enthusiasm at First Meeting of Season.

Training Will Begin Monday —Medals Will Be Given at Club Banquet.

If the size of the gathering is indicative of enthusiasm, there is a great deal of enthusiasm among the candidates for the crews of the Duluth boat club. About fifty men responded to the call last evening and a large majority of these men promised to be out Monday evening for the first training of the season.

The preliminary work will be started with a run over the boulevard, and this method of developing wind will very likely continue until the arrival of Ten Eyck, which is set for May 2. According to the program announced last evening, the men, even the new men, will not go on the machines or get into the boats before the arrival of the former University of Wisconsin coach.

Julius Barnes gave a little talk to the boys, stating that it was right up to the men to win this season. He pointed out that the failure to make a good showing this season would possibly result in some opposition to the continuation of rowing at the local club.

Capt. Dan Mahoney stated that Coach Ten Eyck has been instructed to order wind equipment he deemed necessary. This will include new oars, rigging and seats. The crews will go to the water better equipped than ever before.

About all the old men were present last evening and many important still, there were some new huskies who are going out for the crew. There is also the promise that there are quite a few men who were unable to be present last evening, who will be out for rowing honors.

It was announced that the medals would be given out in the near future. This is the first official announcement in this regard that has come from the president. He attributed the delay in the matter of giving out the medals of the four departments to the fact that they were delayed in being completed, and also that there was some disagreement between the different department captains as to the proper time for presenting them.

Another important announcement was the official statement that a club banquet would be given some time in the near future. The medal winners will entertain the guests of the club at this get-together affair, and during the course of the dinner the medals and trophies of the four departments will be given out.

Last evening the candidates were also urged to work for the coming carnival. They were told to do their best to make the big water fete a success and also to be on the job of entertaining, giving the visiting athletes a time that they would not soon forget. If the local oarsmen carry out these instructions all of the visiting boat pullers will leave here firm boosters for the city at the Head of the Lakes.

The gang was asked to assemble at the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening at 6:15 and start on the first training. Old clothes and some kind of running shoes will be worn. Gradually the length of the runs will be increased. When Ten Eyck arrives it is expected that the athletes will be ready for hard work in the shells.

COMPANY A WINS FROM "Y"

Last evening Company A indoor baseball team defeated the nine of the Y. M. C. A. by the score of 5 to 4. The militia boys gathered four tallies in the opening round and one in the sixth session. The association boys played a stubborn uphill game, getting a score in the first and one each in the third, fourth and fifth innings. Here the run-getting of the association players terminated, and the one-run margin of the militia boys held good.

Jones and Simpson twirled very good ball, the Company A twirler having the better of his opponent. The absence of several of the regulars of the militia resulted in the substitution of several stars, which resulted in making the aggregation very strong.

The lineup:

Company A.	Position.	Y. M. C. A.
Jones	p	Simpson
Schaeffer	c	Danielson
McGraw	1b	Bailey
Bennett	2b	Pease
Summers	3b	Bessenboshel
McAuley	ls	Williamson
Wickstrum	rs	Dorworth
Wentlandt	lf	Miller
Smith	rf	Capen

Score by innings:

Company A .....4 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—5

Y. M. C. A. .....1 0 1 1 1 0 0 0 0—4

RUBE MARION'S ARM HAS "COMEBACKITIS."

A postcard from Newt Randall brings the somewhat surprising information that Don Marion, former St. Louis and White Sox pitcher, is getting away fine with the Milwaukee team. According to the information sent by Randall, the Rube's arm has recovered from the strain that made him useless last season.

Randall believes that the big fellow will make one of the best pitchers on the Brewers' staff. Marion has a lot of friends in this city who wish him the very best of luck and will be delighted to hear that the big boy has shown up well so far.

WILL TALK OVER CARNIVAL PLANS

Meeting of General Committee Will Be Held Saturday Afternoon.

A meeting of the carnival committee has been set for tomorrow afternoon. It is expected that the first heavy work for the various committees will be laid out at the Saturday meeting. The members of the general committee have had ten days to get some ideas as to how to proceed on the first work incident to the carnival, and from tomorrow's meeting until the holding of the carnival there will be a large amount of work to do.

A meeting of the cabinet of the Duluth Boat club, composed of the captains and ensigns of the various departments and the officials of the club, will be called for the near future. At this meeting the work of the four departments of the club will be mapped out.

One of the most important details of the carnival that has not been decided upon as yet, is as to what part the sailboats will take in the big show.

Charles Brewer, captain of the sailing department, has been out of town and until his return no action will be taken. The officials of the club desire to have some outside sailboats here and they are anxious to learn Brewer's plans.

Yannigans Win Game.

Columbus, Ga., March 24.—In a one-sided game, the Philadelphia Nationals (second team), yesterday defeated the Columbus team of the South Atlantic league by the score of 10 to 2. The Philadelphia team went to Raleigh, N. C., today.

Staples Defeats Detroit.

Staples, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fast and strong Detroit high basket ball team were played here last night in the last game of the season. The score was 19 to 5 in favor of the local high. Best for the locals and Foster for the visitors starred.

Dingle Visits City.

William Dingle, the famous boat builder of St. Paul, was in the city yesterday. There is a rumor that he secured an order for a new fast boat here. Mr. Dingle only smiled in a very mysterious manner when questioned regarding any orders he had received. He left last evening for St. Paul.

NEW COURTHOUSE IS NEARLY READY

Structure Being Built at Virginia Expected to Be Finished Next Month.

Virginia, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—With no mishaps it is expected the new range courthouse being built here will be completed soon and ready for occupancy during the April term of court.

The new building is to be a handsome one. Although it is considered small by some for the accommodation of the court and the officials, it is a considerable improvement over the present quarters in the city hall building.

The municipal court will occupy the vacated rooms at the city hall, removing from the council chambers, where the court has been installed since the inauguration of the district court in this city. New furniture and fixtures have been ordered for the new courthouse and these are expected to arrive within a short time.

Excavating for New Bank.

The excavating for the new bank building of the American Exchange bank, corner of Chestnut street and Cleveland avenue, has commenced. Although the plans for the new building have not as yet been completed it is the intention of the bank people to erect a handsome and modern building, 25 by 150 feet, modern in every particular. It will be a two-story structure, the first floor equipped and furnished in a manner to comply with the most modern appliances, while on the second floor office rooms will be fitted up.

It is understood that the Fitger Brewing company of Duluth will erect a two-story building on the lots adjoining the bank property. It is understood that John Glode of Eveleth is negotiating for the erection of a modern hotel building upon this property. Some time ago the representatives of the brewery announced that it was their intention to abandon the hotel project and erect a building to be used for store purposes and office accommodations. These plans, however, may be changed to accord with the request of Mr. Glode.

GILBERT BUILDING IS BADLY DAMAGED

Fire Early Thursday Keeps Firemen Busy for Over an Hour.

Gilbert, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The firemen wrestled early yesterday for over an hour with a bad fire in a three-story frame building, the ground floor of which was occupied by Michael Peskear as a saloon. The department had a short run, the burning building being adjacent to the fire hall, and it soon had several streams playing on the flames.

The building was badly burned inside and the fire ate through the siding in several places. Only a small sum of insurance was carried.

OPINION IS DIVIDED

Respecting Paving Material to Be Used on Eveleth Street.

Eveleth, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The announcement in Wednesday's Herald that the city engineer had been instructed by the city council to submit an estimate for the cost of paving Jones street, from Adams to Grant avenue, with tar macadam, was read with much interest by the property owners along that thoroughfare, as many are in favor of having granatoid pavement, as on Grant avenue. The granatoid was laid last summer at $1.89½ per square yard and is regarded as very satisfactory. Jones street is the main residence street here and the majority of the property owners seem to be in favor of having granatoid laid instead of tar macadam as the former is the more durable and attractive pavement. The matter of tar macadam pavement will be considered further by the council.

DEER RIVER NOTES.

Well-Known Couple Wedded—Amateur Play Is Success.

Deer River, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alva Baker and Miss Edith Sudell were married at the Methodist parsonage on Sunday evening, March 19, Rev. Charles Emery, officiating. The bride prior to her marriage, was head waitress at the Mohr hotel, while the groom is manager of the grocery department at the M. J. Baker store.

H. G. Lerson of Bruer, Clearwater county, Minn., spoke to the farmers at the county road on Tuesday evening.

"Eileen Oge" presented at the Electric theater, was one, if not the best plays given by local talent in this section. Miss Olive Noreen and Harry Phinney played the heroine and hero, eliciting much praise for both the young people. George Rich took the role of villian and A. F. Linberg had a very difficult part to play as the accomplice of the villian. George Herried was Bryan O'Farrel and he kept the people constantly laughing by his witty remarks. Miss Olive Trautman as Bridget Maguire couldn't have done better, and Miss Mary Dwyer acting as Norah O'Donnel all won much praise. Other important parts were played by W. J. Shreave as Eileen's father, O. E. Hulehan as Father Mahoney, C. F. Tellin as John Thomas, Dr. L. M. Chapman as Tim the Penman, Frank Mohr as Mr. Nolan, and William Herried as police officer, all adding greatly to the success of the play. The vocal selections rendered by Miss Francis Malloy and George Rich were excellent and both were repeatedly applauded.

HIBBING BLOCK WAS THREATENED

Chief McIlhargey and Faithful Men Save Much Property.

Hibbing, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A fire broke out last evening at 410, Third avenue, proved to be the worst that has visited Hibbing in a long time. The whole of the inside partitions of the building were burning furiously, and but for the good work of the department the entire building and the adjoining one if not the whole block would have been gutted.

The fire started from a plumber's blow lamp, and spread very rapidly through the partitions. Three times the firemen were driven blinded from the second story, and almost from the building; and twice not a man was left who could hold a nozzle except the old chief. Two men were overcome with smoke in the attic, and had to be dragged out. The fight was made with the chemical engines, and five tanks of chemical were exhausted which is a record for Hibbing.

Chemical Prevented Big Damage.

Had water been poured into the building the damage would have probably been greater from water than from the fire, as the pressure would have flooded the whole place out. The damage amounted to fully about $2,000, and is fully covered by insurance. The ground floor of the building is occupied by the Rex saloon, rented by the Duluth Brewing & Malting company, and the upper floors rented by George Sandberg. The building is owned by Mrs. Bartessono. Great credit is due to Chief McIlhargey and his men, both from No. 1 hall, and No. 2, all of whom worked hard, and faced danger without the least hesitation. So pleased was the owner of the building at the work done, that she sent a presentation of cigars to the chief and his men.

AMOROUS ST. PAUL MAN.

Too Prone to Accost Hibbing Women and Goes to Jail.

Hibbing, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Twenty days in the county jail was the sentence Judge Brady yesterday imposed upon George Bell, aged 25, claiming to be from St. Paul, who was arrested for speaking too freely to women as he ambled along Washington street, talking to himself, as a result of too much drink. He became entirely too amorous in his actions and the police gathered him in

COMMISSION IN A QUANDARY

Just How to Proceed Revising Eveleth's Charter Is Hard Problem.

Eveleth, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the old charter commission are in a quandary, as the board was organized two years ago, but because of the ineligibility of some of the members, the commission was unable to do much work and failed to submit a charter. Early last spring the charter commission could by adding the four needed members submit a legal charter, the names of the candidates for the vacant places to be submitted to the district court. Now it is learned that the commission is still a legal one, but that Judges Ensign and Cant are doubtful as to the legality of a charter submitted by the body, as the prescribed period of six months has long since passed. Efforts will be made to arrange a meeting of the four judges, so that the best method of proceedure for the local commission can be ascertained.

BAD WOMAN PUNISHED.

Mother of Three Children Must Do Time in County Jail.

Eveleth, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Carmela Stark and Annie Johnson, who were arrested for undue intimacy with Olie Ovanitch and John Dun, were tried before Judge Prince yesterday, found guilty and sentenced to serve fifty and forty days, respectively, in the county jail. The former is a mother of three children, who were deserted about a year ago by her husband. Judge Prince communicated with Duluth humane officials, and it is believed that the children will become state charges. Dun and Ovanitch failed to appear in court and forfeited their $20 bonds.

Ernest Carlson and John Dersich, found sleeping in a hotel basement, were sentenced to serve ninety and thirty days, respectively, in the county jail. John Anderson, also unable to pay his fine, was taken to Duluth yesterday.

Matt Garskie was arrested yesterday noon charged with assaulting his partner while engaged in a drunken brawl in a local saloon. He emptied a few glasses of beer on the complainant, it is claimed. Andrew Ekdia was arrested on an assault and battery charge and with Garskie will be tried today.

COOK MAY BE "WET."

Although People Voted "Dry," a Question Has Arisen.

Virginia, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The people of Cook voted that town "dry" at the recent election, but there appears to be a question as to whether that act will close the saloon of that burg for a time at least. The county board of commissioners issued the license to August Buboltz some time ago and it is a question of law as to whether or not he is entitled to run his saloon until his license expires. The board has the matter under advisement.

EVELETH FANS GETTING BUSY

Fayal Office and Other Ball Nines Are Organized for Season.

Eveleth, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Fayal office ball team was organized yesterday with L. J. Gavin, formerly of Gilbert, as captain and Russell Prince as manager. C. Dduley, who pitched for the Aberdeen, S. D., nine, L. Gaunitz, catcher for the 1910 Lansing, Iowa, nine, will compose the battery. The infield will be made up by J. B. Clark, first baseman who played with the Toronto league last year, Henry Levrant, second base, a member of local independent nines, R. E. Sampson, shortstop, Ironwood, Mich., star; L. J. Gavin, third base. Walter, Corbin, a former high school star, and W. J. Rutherford and H. E. Robinson will cover the outfield positions.

A high school team to be composed of Jack Saarl, Oscar Nelmi, Gilbert Finnegan, Leslie Tobin, Percy Pryor, Maurice Levrant, Curtis Bent, John Massucci, Charles Crottier, William Masterson, George Sherman and Samuel Owens, is being organized under the direction of Prof. John S. Peoples, the football coach.

The fraternal nines are preparing for the season and there is still much talk of forming a strong city nine. Dr. M. L. Strathern, a recent addition to the Mora hospital staff, was a member of the Three-I league and it is thought can be induced to represent Eveleth on the diamond.

FUNERAL AT IRONWOOD

Of Mrs. Moon, Wife of Eveleth Mining Captain.

Ironwood, Mich., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. Moon of Eveleth and his two sons, Herbert and Harry, Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, Jr., and child, Mr. Benny, Mr. Cook and Edward Phelps, the undertaker, who accompanied the remains of Mrs. Moon, wife of Capt. Moon to Ironwood, returned to their home at Eveleth, Tuesday morning. Mrs. Moon's funeral was conducted by Rev. Howard B. Ziegler of the Episcopal church of this city. The funeral was in charge of the Lady Rebekahs and Odd Fellows of this city.

FORM BRATSKA SLOGA.

New Local Branch of Servian Organization at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A local branch of the Servian Federation "Sloga" has been organized here with the following officers: Samuel Hinich, president; George Bacich, secretary; George Sticinovich, treasurer. The order carries an insurance and sick benefit fund and has a considerable number of members in this city. The local order will be known as the Bratska Sloga.

EVELETH DAIRYMEN NOW HAVE THEIR COWS EXAMINED.

Eveleth, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Notices have been sent to local milk dealers to apply to the health department for permits and also to have their bovines submitted to the tuberculin test. About two dozen milk dealers and cow owners have applied for licenses, but many more are yet to be granted permits.

EVELETH NIMRODS FAVOR PUMP GUNS.

Eveleth, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Clerk S. E. Helps of the Missabe Mountain township is circulating a petition against a proposed law before the legislature, to make the use of pumpguns unlawful. He secured many signatures.

DULUTH MAN SECURES A LICENSE IN CHISHOLM.

Chisholm, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sol Rubloff, formerly of this village but recently of Duluth, and a property owner here, was granted a license to operate a saloon in one of his buildings by the council yesterday.

Fire broke out Wednesday night in the harness room of Borin's livery stable. The stable was equipped with its own system of protection and the fire was kept under control until the arrival of the department. The loss was slight.

Oppel To Run Orr Store.

Virginia, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. H. Oppel, former deputy sheriff under Sheriff Bates, left Monday night for Orr, where he has secured a position as general manager of the general merchandise store of William Orr at that place. Mr. Oppel has had many years' experience in this line of business and will be a valuable man to Mr. Orr. The family of Mr. Oppel will remain here for a time at least.

Hibbing Addition Popular.

Hibbing, Minn., March 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large number of Hibbing people have bought land in the Swan Dale settlement and are building and making many improvements this spring. The main road between Hibbing and Duluth is being built through this settlement.

NO DULUTHIANS IN FIRST PARTY

Militia Officers Will Probably Be Designated By Rank and Seniority.

It is very doubtful if any Duluth officers will be among the first five to be sent from Minnesota to Texas by the federal government. Press dispatches from Washington indicate that five officers will be sent from this state April 5 and others will be sent to the border later.

It is the intention of the federal government to send all the militia officers in the country, who care to go to the border, to observe the army maneuvers before the regular troops are sent back to their posts. Several Duluth officers expect to go to the border before the maneuvers end, but it is doubtful if any of them will be in the first party.

Adjt.-Gen. Wood will designate those who are to go and it is expected the designations will be by rank and seniority. There are three colonels, one major of artillery and nine majors of infantry in Minnesota. The three colonels rank highest, of course, with the major of artillery next and the majors of infantry following. Even if Maj. H. V. Eva were designated to go with the first party, he would be unable to get until after April 12, he says. The colonel of the Third regiment, of which the Duluth militia companies are part, is Col. C. E. Johnson of Mankota.

EXHIBIT OF POTATOES

Fine Display Will Be Made on Commercial Club Special.

Opportuntiy for Comparison of Crops to Be Given Farmers.

The baggage car, which is to be used as an exhibit car on the potato special of the Duluth Commercial club and the state farmers' institute, which will be sent out next Monday for a trip through Northeastern Minnesota, is expected to be spotted today. Tomorrow A. B. Hostter, superintendent of agriculture of the Commercial club, will load into the car some of the finest specimens of home-grown potatoes ever seen in Northern Minnesota.

Potatoes will be featured in the exhibit, but the display will not be confined exclusively to the tubers. Mr. Hostetter has also collected some samples of other vegetable products and they also will be placed on display for the benefit of the farmers who will visit the car along the route. In addition, implements recommended for use in potato and other vegetable culture will be shown, as well as packages and crates suitable for shipments to market.

Interest among the farmers and settlers of Northeastern Minnesota is intense and Mr. Hostetter has received many requests for circulars giving the itinerary of the car and other facts about the trip. The circulars have been distributed all through the country to be traversed and every institute is expected to be a complete success.

Mr. Hostetter is particularly anxious that the farmers visiting the institute train at the different points bring samples of the potatoes they raised last year. The exhibit which will be carried will give them an opportunity of comparing their products with the specimens on display and will also give them a chance to obtain the opinion of the experts on their products. En route, exhibits will be picked up for display in towns farther along the route and by the time the car returns to Duluth an exhibit of potatoes more complete than any ever before collected will be shown in the baggage car.

Potatoes will be featured at all the institutes and the farmers will be encouraged to raise potatoes as extensively as possible. Crop rotation, small vegetable culture, poultry raising, marketing and other subjects of vital interest to the farmers will also be discussed, however, and there will be much of interest at every institute for every man interested in agriculture in any of its phases.

The day coaches which will be part of the train will be used as audience cars and every institute will be given in them. The speakers will visit both cars at places where the audience is large enough to occupy them both, so that nobody will miss anything. At every town visited, the baggage car exhibit will be open for inspection all during the visit and the experts will freely give opinions on the samples submitted for their inspection.

TOWING RATES ADVANCED.

Increase of 180 Per Cent Since Competition Ceased.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 24.—An advance of 180 per cent has been made in towing rates since the Great Lakes Towing company ceased to have competition in the port of Buffalo, according to the testimony of Louis F. Lautenslager, the company's local manager, given yesterday in the inquiry by which the government hopes to dissolve the so-called towing trust.

Mr. Lautenslager identified letters and telegrams that passed between him and his superiors, which were introduced to substantiate the claim that the Great Lakes company refused to have anything to do with the boats or steamship lines that use independent tugs at any port.

The hearing here ended yesterday. Today a hearing will be held at Erie, Pa., after which the government investigators will go to Chicago.

Item Welcomed By Many Men

This recipe can be filled at home, so that no one need know of another's troubles, as the ingredients can be obtained separately at any well stocked drug store. They are in regular use and many different prescriptions are constantly being filled with them.

This will prove a welcome bit of information for all those who are overworked, gloomy, despondent, nervous and have trembling limbs, heart palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing, and general inability to act naturally and rationally as others do, because the treatment can be prepared secretly at home and taken without any one's knowledge.

Overworked office men and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will, it is said, find the restorative they are in need of.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom), mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring.

A certain well-known medical expert asserts that thousands of men and many women are sufferers all because of dormant circulation of the blood and a consequential impairment of the nervous force which begets the most dreadful symptoms and untold misery.

INSTITUTE IS NOT LARGE ENOUGH

United Doctors Are Not Able to See and Examine All Patients.

Never before in the history of Duluth, or any other Minnesota city, has there been such a continuous crowd of patients visiting any medical institute as that which has tronged the waiting room of the United Doctors who have their new Duluth institute on the third floor of the Columbia building.

The world is not large, and in these days of daily newspapers and rapid transit, it does not take news long to travel over the country and news of the wonderful cures that have been made by the United Doctors in their institutes in other states has spread all over the country, with the result that as soon as the Duluth institute opened there was a crowd of patients waiting for treatment. In fact, the crowd of waiting patients has been so great that the physician in charge of the institute has not been able to see a great many who called for treatment. As a result of this condition it has become necessary to secure more room. While the United Doctors already occupy a fine suite of rooms in the Columbia building, they will now lease other suites and open more consultation rooms. Other members of the staff of specialists will come to Duluth so that in future, all patients who call can be examined and treated.

That this scientific treatment will cure diseases even after all ordinary methods of treatment have failed, is being demonstrated right here in Duluth every day. The United Doctors have been located here only a short time yet, in that time, they have made several wonderful cures and letters of testimonials from cured patients have commenced to pour into their office. One man writes: "You have relieved my wife from stomach trouble that nine other doctors had failed to cure." Others have been cured of rheumatism, some kidney trouble and various other chronic ailments.

Any one suffering from any nervous or blood trouble, or any other chronic disease, could not do better than to call at the institute of the United Doctors and take advantage of their grand free offer of free examination and consultation by these master medical specialists. The only charge that they make for treating a patient is for the cost of the medicine used and other incidental expenses.

WARMER

Yesterday wasn't oppressively warm by any means, but the bright sun and general air of spring made up for deficiencies in temperature. Today is another fair March day with the temperature above the freezing point. Mild weather is the prediction for tonight, with another cold snap coming along tomorrow afternoon.

The sun rose this morning at 6:03 and it will set this evening at 6:26, giving twelve hours and twenty-three minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The low pressure overlying Saskatchewan has caused warmer weather throughout Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Montana, Manitoba and Western Ontario, and rain or snow over Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Nevada and New Mexico during the last twenty-four hours. Rains also fell over the Gulf of Mexico, colder weather prevails in Atlantic and Gulf states and Eastern Canada in connection with the high pressure condition central over the Lake region. Falling temperature attends an increase in pressure that has appeared over the plateau region and North Pacific districts. This turn to colder will doubtless reach the Head of the Lakes during Saturday afternoon and Saturday night."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 24.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Saturday; warmer.

Wisconsin—Fair and warmer tonight; Saturday increasing cloudiness with warmer in east portion and probably unsettled by night.

Minnesota—Unsettled but generally fair tonight and Saturday; warmer in east portion tonight; cooler Saturday.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; warmer tonight.

North and South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; cooler tonight.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; cooler in southeast portion tonight.

Shippers' forecast: Protect thirty-six hour shipments of perishables against temperature in Eastern North Dakota, Northern Minnesota and Southern Wisconsin.

TREATENED WITH DEATH

is the man who is charged with having called upon his brother Camorrists to kill Cuoccolo in revenge for his own betrayal. Abbatemaggio says that Cuoccolo wished a portion of the spoils of a robbery committed by Arena and a few companions. This was refused, whereupon Cuoccolo denounced the robbers to the police and they were imprisoned. From his cell Arena sent a postal card to one of the leaders asking for Cuoccolo's death as a traitor to the Camorra.

The carabineers claim to have found this postal and also Cuoccolo's ring, which was to have been sent to Arena in proof that vengeance had been done. Replying to the president, Arena said: "The story of Abbatemaggio is false. I am not a Camorrist. While in prison I was a Camorrist, it is true, for in prison all men are Camorrists. I challenge any one to produce the postcard which I am said to have written to De Maritis. Abbatemaggio, in support of his own romance related to the police, made up this story of the postcard and the pretended witness who saw it is a myth. I am innocent of this crime and Abbatemaggio's statement that I asked for Cuoccolo's death and was responsible for his murder is false."

Threatened With Death.

Abbatemaggio is fast becoming the most conspicuous figure in the trial. He has been openly threatened with death so many times that he appears to have nothing to lose now, whether he holds to his confession or repudiates it. His very indifference, however, is being used to bolster up the claim that he is mentally irresponsible and has imagined the story which he tells. Should this defense be established it would be of great importance to the prisoners and its effect ultimately on the case cannot be safely predicted. However, the state claims to have gathered sufficient evidence to prove the truth of the man's assertions, even should his testimony be declared incompetent.

Abbatemaggio was trapped into his revelations by the police spy, Marshal Capozzuti of the Legion of Carabineers, in Naples. The latter gave the informer money with which to be married and to set himself up in business in return for the information which the marshal said he wished to secure in order to use it as a means of securing membership in the Camorra.

When Abbatemaggio learned that he had been tricked he made the best of it by becoming a police spy. The defense asserts that the informer has never been right mentally; that as an infant he was subject to fits and that from his youth up he has been a vicious person. They describe him as having been an incorrigible child who was in the habit of striking his own mother, an offense which, they point out, should make him an object of contempt and suspicion on the part of every decent man.

For himself, Abbatemaggio said that he had been exemplary as a son. He had, he admitted, fallen into crime and become a member of the Camorra, but now his repentance is so sincere that he is ready to face any fate that truth and justice may triumph.

Five masked men came out of the clump and taking positions on either side of the train began shooting in the air along the side of the train. Then while two of the men stood guard to prevent any passengers from leaving, the other four marched the engineer and fireman to the day coach and locked them in there.

One man then took a position to guard the rear of the train and three went into the express car, forced the two expressemen to jump out and stand where one guard could keep them covered with a revolver.

After nearly an hour's work the men had succeeded in inserting a charge of nitro-glycerine into the express car. They blew the safe door to pieces and scattered its contents over the floor of the car.

Finally two automobiles came from the direction of the Oklahoma line into which the robbers leaped and rode away. The passengers were not molested.

When the train reached here the sheriff was notified and with two deputies started on horseback southward in pursuit of the six bandits.

continued today, the sentries having been doubled last night in expectation of a possible attack by insurrectos who are known to be near the city.

In compliance with a request from Washington that American prisoners imprisoned at Juarez be given sanitary quarters, municipal officials today had the Juarez jail whitewashed.

C. H. Converse of Glendora, Cal., has filed additional evidence that his son, Lawrence, and Erwin Blatt, of Pittsburg, now in jail at Juarez, were captured on American soil.

He has forwarded to the state department statements of county and federal officers, line riders and customs guards that what is called Ancon de Guadalupe, where Converse and Blatt are said to have been captured, is in the United States and that the government has exercised de facto jurisdiction over that territory for two years.

These statements were filed with the state department to controvert the statement of the Mexican jefe at Guadalupe that he considered Ancon de Guadalupe Mexican territory.

WHY THE TURKEY IS BALD.

Red Man: The Indians of our country have many legends connected with certain peculiar habits or customs prevalent among them. If one should chance to visit the home of an old Indian he would perhaps notice a turkey wing hanging near the fire.

This the Indian uses to fan his fire into a flame and make it burn brightly, or perhaps in the sultry days of summer to fan himself. If asked why he uses the turkey wing instead of the wing of any other bird he would no doubt relate the following story:

Many years ago the fire of the world was nearly extinguished; this happened just at the beginning of the winter season. The birds of the air were filled with anxiety, for their intuition told them they would need heat to keep them warm through the winter.

A bird council was held and it was decided that birds which could fly the highest should soar into the air and see if they could find a spark of fire anywhere. The efforts of the eagle, lark an raven were in vain. The honor was left to the little brown sparrow, who spied a spark of fire in the hollow of an old stump in the heart of a deep forest.

The birds flocked around the stump and tried to decide who should pick the spark out. But all their efforts were in vain; to their dismay they saw the spark growing smaller and fainter. The turkey then volunteered to try to keep the tiny coal alive by fanning it with his wings. Day after day the turkey kept fanning; the heat became greater each day, until the feathers were singed off the turkey's head. If one notices carefully he will see lumps on the head of a turkey that appear as blisters.

It is believed that the turkey was so badly burned that all turkeys since have had bald heads and wear the blisters as a memento of the bravery of the turkey. The faithful turkey lost his beautiful feathers, but he gave back fire to the world; so in his honor and as a memorial of his faithfulness the Indian uses the turkey wing to make his fire burn.

HERO WHO BRAVED CROCODILES.

London Chronicle: For a double rescue from a river infested with crocodiles Trooper Patrick C McEwan of the Natal police has been awarded the medal of the Royal Humane society.

A boat with four men of the police and a native boy on board was capsized on Lake Sibayi in North Zululand. Two men trying to swim ashore were drowned or pulled down by the crocodiles which are numerous in the river. McEwan managed to reach land and hastily constructed a frail raft which he paddled out with his hands and took the boy ashore. Again paddling out about 300 yards he also saved the last man left alive.

How Ladies Improve Looks!

"Many ladies, old and young, suffer a round of tortures with their nerves, and many are so frail, thin and bloodless that their splendid features are lost sight of, while a vain attempt to conceal the angularity of the figure deceives no one but themselves and really excites the pity or ridicule of the world," said a well known, largely employed, practicing physician, in a recent lecture at a young ladies' college. "I do not mind exposing a little secret of mine to all such, as it can do no harm and may result in much happiness and health. It is simply this: Any thin, bloodless, nerve-tortured man or woman, can become as fit as the fittest by taking regularly for several months an easily obtained pharmaceutical product known by the profession and pharmacists as 'three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets,' put up in sealed packages with directions for home use."

The interviews with men of state
In which dark things are hinted
Fill us with apprehension great
When they at first are printed.
But sunshine sends the clouds away.
The world has scarcely read 'em
Before the great man speaks next day
And says he never said 'em.

For economics let's adopt
A scheme of optimistics,
Nor let our joyfulness be stopped
By guesswork or statistics.
Though sad the words of mighty men,
There is no cause to dread 'em;
A few hours hence they'll speak again
And say they never said 'em.

Instant Relief For Sore Feet

Sore Feet, Tender Feet and Swollen Feet Cured Every Time—TIZ Makes Sore Feet Well No Matter What Ails Them.

Policemen all over the world use TIZ. Policemen stand on their feet all day and know what sore, tender, sweaty, swollen feet really mean. They use TIZ because TIZ cures their feet right up. It keeps feet in perfect condition. Read what this policeman has to say: "I was surprised and delighted with TIZ for tender feet. I hardly know how to thank you enough for it. It's superior to powders or plasters. I can keep my feet in perfect condition. Believe in my earnest gratitude for TIZ. I am a policeman and keep on my feet all day."—Emzy Harrell, Austin, Texas.

You never tried anything like TIZ before for your feet. It is different from anything ever before sold.

TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous exudations which bring on soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does. TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet—your feet.

You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and callouses. You'll feel like a new person.

TIZ is for sale at all druggists at 25c per box, or it will be sent you direct if you wish from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

IN FAVOR OF THE RAISE

Commercial Club Committee Will Recommend Higher Pay for Teachers.

Expiration of Time for Introducing Bills Does Not Affect Situation.

The report of the Commercial club committee on school affairs will be presented within the next few days. The members of the committee are making no secret of the fact that they will report that, in their judgment, the salaries of Duluth grade teachers should be increased. Only the report itself will disclose, however, the amount of the increase they believe should be given and their recommendations as to the adjustment of school finances to provide funds to meet the increases.

The fact that tomorrow is the last day for the introduction of bills in the state legislature, except at the request of the governor, has caused some uneasiness among the teachers and others interested in the matter. They fear that new legislation might be required to provide funds for the increases, but their fears are unfounded.

"Any recommendations that we will make may be carried out by amendments to the Congdon bill," said one of the members of the committee today, so that the limit on the introduction of bills will not affect Duluth school affairs.

The Congdon bill, which places a limit of 12 mills on the total levy which may be made for school purposes in any of the three big cities of the state in any one year has been advanced to the calendar of the house and the chances are that it will pass. The members of the Duluth school board have dropped their opposition to it in a large measure and unless unforseen opposition develops, the bill will probably go through.

Just now the members of the school board and the teachers are interested in seeing the 8-mill limit taken off the general fund altogether, allowing the school board to apportion the funds produced by a 12-mill levy as they see ill, or extending the 8-mill limit to a point which will care for the proposed teachers' salary increases and other increases in the maintenance costs.

It is believed the Commercial club committee will take a similiar position, or will recommend that some of the charges now made against the general fund be transferred to the building fund. In either case, the matter can be arranged by amendments to the Congdon bill, which is an amendment to the law fixing the limits now prescribed.

No trouble is expected in obtaining any amendments that may be desired. Representative Congdon has shown a disposition to look fairly at the matter, and when the needs of the teachers and the legislative requirements for the proposed increases in salaries are placed before him, it is expected he will readily agree to any amendments that are thought necessary.

The members of the Commercial club committee are not prepared to say just when their report will be submitted to the club, but it will be tomorrow or early next week.

GROWTH OF FRENCH PARISH

Oblate Fathers Publish Interesting Booklet as Anniversary Souvenir.

A magazine published by the Oblate Fathers of the French Catholic parish at the West end as a souvenir of the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration of the St. Jean Baptiste parish, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, last November, has just come from the press.

The publication is in French, is handsomely illustrated, and has among its contributers several writers on the early history of Duluth. Dr. L. M. Brunet of this city contributed an article on "Duluth, the Giant at the Head of the Lakes." Benjamin Suite of Ottawa has a most interesting historical article on Daniel Greysolon Duluth, and Bishop McGolrick tells of his reminiscences in "Twenty Years Bishop of Duluth."

There are several short biographical sketches and many interesting facts of the early history of the French Catholic parish at the West end.

$1,000 IN BANK; DIES IN SHACK

Man Found Dead on Garfield Avenue Had Ample Funds.

Sam Nelson, aged 58, a recluse, who was found dead in his shack, 508 Garfield avenue, yesterday, had $1,000 in local banks, according to certificates of deposit found on his person, besides three $10 bills and $2.66 in change in a purse, found sewed up in his clothes.

When the police broke into the shack to get the body, they found a rusty old revolver lying on a trunk near the bed. It was loaded, but there were cobwebs in the chambers and the police say that the gun was manufactured over forty years ago. Besides the revolver and the money, the only other article of value found about the place was a flint-lock shotgun.

In his younger days, Nelson was a man of the woods and spent many years in the capacity of camp foreman. At Hayward, he has a brother, Patrick Nelson, who is a camp foreman. Sam was a familiar character on Garfield avenue and neighbors say that within the last few months he has been ailing. His death is believed to have been caused by pneumonia.

Besides his brother at Hayward, he is survived by a daughter living in this city, Mrs. William Spence of 2709 West First street, two sons, Harry, now in California, and John in the Philippines.

NO AUDIENCE AT THIS ENTERTAINMENT.

No one can attend the entertainment at the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, this evening unless they take part. All the necessary qualifications are that all must be over 15 years old and be dressed in the costume of a schoolboy or schoolgirl of the old-fashioned type. No others will be admitted.

"The Deestrict Skule" will be presented and the unique feature of the comedy will be that there will be no audience, and every one who attends is expected to be in the cast. The program will be mainly extemporaneous.

ROYAL Baking Powder Economy

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have always declined to produce a cheap baking powder at the sacrifice of quality.

Royal Baking Powder is made from pure grape cream of tartar, and is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price, and is more economical at its price than any other leavening agent, because of the superlative quality and absolute wholesomeness of the food it makes.

Mixtures made in imitation of baking powders, but containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or given away in grocery stores. Such mixtures are dangerous to use in food. In England, France, Germany and some sections of the United States their sale is prohibited by law. Alum is a dangerous mineral acid, and all physicians condemn baking powders containing it.

The label of alum baking powders must show the ingredients.

LECTURE COURSE FOR STREET RAILWAY MEN.

The Duluth Street Railway company has started another lecture course for the benefit of motormen and street car conductors, and the first of the series was given at the car barns, Twenty-sixth avenue west and Superior street, yesterday.

D. C. Moore, general superintendent; R. H. Wellington, claim agent, and Thomas H. Wood, the company's attorney, gave talks. In case of accidents, instructions were given to be sure to get the names of good witnesses, ones that they felt sure would tell the truth.

Lectures of a similar nature will be given to the street car men every Thursday. Sessions will be held at 10 a. m., 3 p. m. and 10 p. m.

MANY FRIENDS ATTEND FUNERAL OF JOHN SUNDEEN

Many friends attended the funeral of John Sundeen, former county commissioner and a member of the courthouse commission at the time of the erection of the new courthouse, who died Tuesday evening. The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Swedish M. E. church to the Scandinavian union cemetery at Hermantown.

Rev. Edward Stromberg, pastor, officiated, and the members of the Swedish Christian Benefit society, of which Mr. Sundeen was a member, attended the services in a body. Mr. Sundeen was also a member of the Scandinavian Union cemetery board and members of this body acted as honorary pallbearers.

West End Briefs.

Mrs. K. P. Miller of 1026 West Fourth street entertained the Birthday club and several of her friends Wednesday afternoon at her home, the occasion being her birthday. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Noren & Anderson, who have been in the retail shoe business at the West end for a number of years past, have dissolved partnership. Gust L. Anderson will conduct the business alone in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. John McQuinn of 227 North Eighteenth avenue west have as their guests Mrs. Harry Gleason and son, Lorme, of Rapid City, Minn.

Alex. Kennedy, former alderman of the Sixth ward, will leave next week for the Pacific coast. He expects to visit Vancouver, Los Angeles, New Mexico and Texas.

The Rebekah or Swedish guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, was entertained last evening in the guildrooms at the church. Mrs. Nels Johnson of Exeter street was hostess.

The funeral of Mrs. Louise Strom, wife of Matt Strom, who died yesterday morning at the family residence, 610 North Twenty-fourth avenue west, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home, with interment at Lutheran cemetery.

John Nord, who left for Florida three weeks ago, was called back to the West end yesterday on account of the serious illness of Mrs. Nord. Mr. Nord is a building contractor and lives at 303 North Twenty-second avenue west.

The Lion drug store has moved to the new Anderson-Thoorsell block, 2030 West Superior street.

LYCEUM—Al Wilson in "A German Prince."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
ODEUM and LYRIC—Photoplay.

Green Room Gossip.

Al H. Wilson, the German dialect comedian, will be the attraction at the Lyceum tonight and tomorrow night, with a matinee tomorrow, when he will present a new singing comedy, "A German Prince," under the personal direction of Manager Sidney R. Ellis. An added feature of the performance will be the several new songs introduced by the star which, while they are only incidental to and not a part of the story, have much to do with the many favorite criticisms received throughout the country.

Lengthy press notices are not necessary to exploit the personality and abilities of Mr. Wilson, who is considered by a large following of theatergoers throughout the country to be the greatest of German comedians since the days of the late J. K. Emmett and this is saying much, for since Emmett died his place has remained vacant until the appearance of Wilson.

Lee Lloyd, who is appearing on the Duluth Orpheum bill this week, will open his first New York engagement the week after next.

Mr. Lloyd comes from the West and is well known in the coast cities, but he has never yet appeared in the East. He has succeeded in having the remainder of his Orpheum time postponed until after his New York engagement, and will open in the metropolis in April.

"A New York engagement at one of the recognized leading vaudeville theaters means just as much to a vaudeville performer as a Broadway success does to legitimate star," said Mr. Lloyd. "If I can make it go in New York means just as much to a vaudeville. If I can't I am not going to attempt to continue, but will return to San Francisco, where I have a cafe. I would rather run a cafe than be just an average vaudeville performer, but I would rather be a vaudeville topliner than a cafe proprietor. There you have it, and the first week in New York will tell the tale. Practically all the Orpheum headline acts are New York successes, or else go into New York after their Orpheum tour."

Special matinees for shoppers will be given at both the Odeum and Lyric theaters tomorrow. "The Mission Carrier" at the Lyric is attracting considerable attention this week. The scene is laid in Mexico and it presents several incidents of the rebellion which is at the present time attracting so much attention.

STATE-WIDE CAMPAIGN FOR RECIPROCITY BEGUN

Plans are on foot for a concerted movement on the part of the Canadian reciprocity advocates of the state to create sentiment in favor of the reciprocity agreement which will come up for consideration at the extra session of congress called to convene April 4.

The real estate exchange committee on reciprocity, consisting of P. E. Dowling, J. D. Stryker, Henry Nolte, Whitney Wall, C. E. Lovett and E. D. Field, accompanied by M. M. Gasser, will leave Tuesday for St. Paul, where a conference will be held with committees representing different organizations in the Twin Cities.

It is expected that at that meeting plans will be made for a systematic campaign to be carried on with the three big cities as centers. A majority of the Minnesota representatives were against the agreement when it was before congress at the recent session and an effort will be made to convince to the agreement in this state.

On the return of the Duluth committee, a systematic campaign will be begun. It is expected that the committee will be enlarged by delegates from other organizations of the city and that the big central committee will go to work to interest the commercial organizations in the smaller towns of the porthern part of the state. Literature will be prepared showing the fallacy of the arguments advanced against the treaty, and by the time the matter comes before congress for a vote at the extra session, the Minnesota representatives will know that all sentiment in Minnesota is not against the treaty.

NO PREFERENCE ON COAL RATES

Interstate Commerce Commission Issues an Important Order.

Washington, March 24.—The railroads of the country in the future will not be permitted to give to one shipper as against another shipper any preference in the matter of rates on interstate shipments.

In a decision handed down by interstate commerce commission today involving the shipment of coal, it was held that rates restricted to the use of certain shippers and not open to all shippers alike are unlawful within the meaning of the interstate commerce act. The parties to the proceeding which was initiated by the commission included practically all of the coal producing railroads in the East and other railroads which do not originate their own fuel supply.

The carriers affected are ordered by the commission to cease and desist for a period of two years from May 15 next from their present practice of maintaining and using tariffs on coal, the rates in which are restricted to shipments of or for certain consignors or consignees or when the coal transported is for a particular use.

WEDDING BELLS THE SOLUTION

They May Open Jail Doors for Joseph O'Clair, Eloper.

Joseph O'Clair, arrested in New York on a charge of having abducted 17-year-old Eva Arseneault for the purpose of marrying her, waived examination in police court this morning and was bound over to await the action of the next grand jury. Bail was fixed at $500.

It is stated that the parents of the girl are now both willing that they should be married and that if the trouble in which the prospective groom now finds himself can be satisfactorily settled, the ceremony will take place without loss of time. It is understood that the county officials are willing to drop the case if the defendant will refund the money which has been expended to bring him back to Duluth. O'Clair wired relatives this morning asking them to help him get the necessary cash. The bride-to-be was at the police station this morning to visit O'Clair. She was accompanied by a friend and they had a long talk with him at headquarters.

WANTS $10,000 FOR A CRUSHED HAND.

Louis Nasse is the plaintiff in a personal injury action against the Adriatic Mining company, in which he asks $10,000 for injuries alleged to have been received while working at the Adriatic mine, near Aurora. The case was on trial today before Judge Ensign of the district court.

Nasse claims while he was employed in a mine his left hand was caught in a piece of machinery and so badly crushed that it will always be unfit for use.

He claims that prior to the accident he was an able-bodied man, capable of earning fair wages. He also claims negligence on the part of the company.

COPPERS DECLINE; SUPPORT ABSENT

Light Liquidation Causes Slump—Rails Lead in Downturn.

The copper market declined in sympathy with rails today. The best buying was in little Steel and Amalgamated, but the support which was forthcoming was not sufficient to hold up the market.

Professionals offered stocks moderately and there was no buying power to support the declining values. Rumors of a cut in the dividend of Toledo Southwestern, which may affect the Chesapeake & Ohio earnings, and the curtailment of shop work by the Pennsylvania system, caused railroad values to decline. Coppers followed and the entire situation closed greatly depressed.

HELMETS TO SAVE HAIR OF DULUTH POLICEMEN

Duluth "cops" are cussing under their breaths today, softly, quietly, but none the less cussing.

The edict has gone forth from headquarters that they must wear helmets—the detested helmets—the coming summer.

Twice they have turned in petitions signed by almost every man on the force protesting against the adoption of the head pieces. They are very much averse to donning them. But the superior officers—who, by the way, will not wear them—state that they will get over that feeling after they have used them for a couple of weeks. They state that they are much more comfortable than the caps worn at present, being lighter and cooler. Further, it has been stated on divers occasions that the caps are making the men bald headed, and that to cause them to wear the helmets is protecting them against themselves. The adoption of the helmets will not flatten the pocketbooks of the policemen, as they will be paid for by the city.

SUPERIOR

TOWNSHIPS WERE ILLEGALLY MADE

Court Rules That Douglas County Towns Have No Legal Existence.

Are the townships of Lakeside, Parkland and Wascott of Douglas county, formed in 1909, illegal?

Judge Frank A. Ross, today in circuit court, handed down a decision, the effect of which makes the three townships illegal and if the case is not appealed, it will be necessary for the three new towns to either obtain legislation legalizing their existence or again be consolidated with the original townships of Brule and South Range.

The decision was handed down in the matter of a petition for a new town, Waino, proposed to be made from a part of the Town of Maple and a part from the Town of Brule. The petition was refused and a state law covering the subject cited.

A state law in 1909, points out Judge Ross, provides that all new townships shall be formed, only when the lines of a regular government township are followed, that is, it is necessary that the new town consist of exactly thirty-six sections. Neither Lakeside, Parkland or Wascott are government townships and the court holds that they are illegal.

Judge Ross also held that in forming a new township only a portion of one township could be used and that under the state law, it will be illegal to organize it from tow townships.

Will Play Spooner.

The basket ball team of the Cooper alumni organization left this afternoon for Spooner, where tonight the Superior five will be matched against the fast city team of Spooner. If the Coopers win, they have the promise of a return game with the Blaine alumni.

BOYS CONFESS BURGLARIES

Members of Juvenile Gang Admit Store Thefts to Superior Police.

A gang of boys is responsible for numerous burglaries in the downtown district, according to the police, who say that they have the confessions of four boys, under arrest at police headquarters. All but one attend school and come from well-known families. The police are withholding the names as the youngsters will be arraigned in juvenile court.

Among some of the places which the boys admitted that they entered are: Grant's grocery store, 1416 Tower avenue, where $125 was taken; Thure Nelson's store, 110 Tower avenue; the Superior Tea & Coffee company, Twelfth street; Gill & Alquire grocery, Broadway; Twin Ports Open Market, Ogden; and the Russell Creamery company, Broadway.

EIGHT GIRLS ENTER IN DECLAMATORY CONTEST.

Eight girls are entered as contestants in the declamatory contest to select two representatives of the Superior high school to the western division contest of the Lake Superior district in the State Lyceum league. The contest will be held this evening at the high school auditorium and the following will take part: Mary Loney, Stella Seligman, Hermia Mueller, Laura Cote, Mildred Erickson, Alma Ferguson, Helin Lalin and Miss Eugenia Johnson.

OIL COMPANY TO SPEND $40,000 FOR NEW TANKS.

The Standard Oil company will let the the contract for eight more tanks to be built this spring at the new plant north of Winter street and west of the Great Northern right-of-way. The cost of the eight tanks will be about $40,000. The company installed four tanks on this property during the past year.

Change in Firm.

John J. D'Arcy, vice president of the Northwestern Boiler Works, has sold his interests in the concern to his partner, Edward Callison, president, and will retire from the company. The firm will be reorganized and N. Callison, a son of President Callison, will be taken in. The works are located on Banks avenue between Third and Fourth streets. A number of improvements will be made this spring.

WAS STABBED IN BACK ON ST. CROIX AVENUE.

John Lien, a woodsman, was taken to the police station last night suffering from an ugly knife wound in the back.

He claimed that he had been knifed by one Tom Rier, but claimed that he knew no reason for the assault. He stated that he was stabbed in the back as he was going out of a saloon on St. Croix avenue.

The wound was dressed by Dr. I. J. Murphy of the health department. The victim suffered considerable loss of blood, but it is not expected that he will experience any serious results. He was released this morning, and announced that he was going to hunt down the man who had stabbed him.

VALUABLE DOGS ARE POISONED

Animals Were Valued at More Than $400 By Their Owner.

Three dogs which had netted their owner more than $2,000 in cash, and which were valued by him at more than $400, were poisoned this morning by some spiteful person.

The dogs were three white Pomeranians, owned by Leon K. Beck of 12 First avenue east. Mr. Beck has made a business of breeding these dogs and selling them, and he stated that the three dead animals had brought him more than $2,000 during the time he had owned them.

This morning the dogs were found dead, and on the steps a small piece of meat left unconsumed, which contained enough poison to kill half a dozen men.

Mr. Beck thinks it was piece of spite work, and he has employed a private detective to work on the case.

FIRST TOWING OF THE SEASON

The Tug Mayflower Crosses the Harbor to Howard's Pocket.

The first towing of the season, according to announcement made at the tug office this morning, will be done by the Sinclair and the Record. These tugs will be out tomorrow doing some shifting of boats around the harbor.

The Mayflower was out yesterday, going across to Howard's pocket, more to see how much ice there was in the bay than anything else. The members of the Mayflower crew and Capt. Fred Winters reported that there was very little ice in the bay. Some of the ships at the drydocks will be shifted the first of next week, and, according to the orders that have come to the tug office, there will be some signs of activity the first of the week.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

TWO FIGHTS ARRANGED FOR ST. JOSEPH, MO.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 24.—Eddy Howard, the St. Louis lightweight, has been matched with Jimmy Cain of Sioux City for a six-round go before the Robidoux Athletic club here, March 28.

At the same time Tommy McFarland, the Chicago lightweight, will box with Jake Barada of South St. Joseph for fifteen rounds.

OBITUARY

Gideon B. Thompson, one of the best known newspaper men in Indiana and who has been connected with the Indianapolis News as reporter, city editor and state editor practically ever since it was established, died at his home in Indianapolis March 24, aged 71. Mr. Thompson served throughout the Civil war, and as a war correspondent who signed himself "Snacks," became known in many Northern states. He was born in Winchester, Ohio, but came to Indianapolis fifty-five years ago.

FAYETTE, ALA., HAS A $200,000 FIRE.

Birmingham, Ala., March 24.—The entire business section of Fayette, Ala., eighty miles west Birmingham, in the natural gas fields, was destroyed by fire which started at 3 o'clock this morning. Twenty stores, the courthouse, jail, bank and other buildings were razed. The loss is estimated at more than $200,000.

WOMAN'S REALM.

A vaudeville show is the form of entertainment decided upon by the members of the Alumni of the Duluth Central high school to be given in the high school auditorium by local talent on Friday evening, June 9, which is the Friday immediately preceding commencement week in the high and grade schools of the city.

A. F. M. Custance whose ability in this line has been so often demonstrated, will direct the production with the assistance of a committee composed of Ed Furni, president of the alumni, Charles McLennan, Victor Rakowsky, Miss Hazel Owens, Miss Violet Robinson and Miss Margaret Taylor.

Among the members of the Alumni of musical ability who will sing will be Miss Gladys Reynolds, Miss Frances Woodbridge, Miss Jean Wanless, Miss Maude Matheson, George Suffel, Charles O. Applehagen and Leon Cooley.

The purpose in view in giving this entertainment is that of raising money to swell the Charles Alden Smith Memorial fund for which the committee has $600 on hand. The amount set as a goal is $5,000.

The date chosen is a propitious one as interest in school affairs is highest at that time and a good many of the alumni who are attending colleges and schools in other cities will be home.

HEARD IN MINNEAPOLIS

Miss Reynolds and George Suffel Sing at Musical There.

Miss Gladys Reynolds, who is the guest of Mrs. Frank Suffel of Minneapolis this week, has been the guest of honor at several dinners and evening affairs there. Last evening she and George Suffel, who is also a guest there, sang at a musical given by Mrs. Suffel at the Radisson hotel. They will return to Duluth tomorrow evening.

THE EVENING STORY

THIRTY-TWO

By Anice Durand.

There was no more inordinate patriot in Paris than the Citizeness Bauchard. The knitting needles of all the Umbrella Sisterhood twinkled like stars in their venomous energy—those of the Citizeness Bauchard flew like scraps of steel lightning.

Occasionally, very occasionally, one or others of the knitters—a younger one perhaps, who had taken her place in the grim row more out of bravado than from actual malignity—would give a shudder and whisper to herself, "Mother of Mercies, 'tis a pity!" This was when the merry mill, creaking and crashing hard by, flicked into the pool some specially pellucid drop of water—to drop metaphor, when some life scarce off the threshold of childhood was sacrificed. At such times did the Citizeness Bauchard sternly rebuke all unworthy weaknesses.

"Spawn! she would scream, darting a disengaged knitting needle out like the sting of a furious wasp. "Bah! quench the spawn and the breed perishes. Oh! a fine day's work—Aristocratic spawn! I spit at you!" And she did too, literally.

"Spawn!"

At home Citizeness Bauchard stood, or more literally sat, confessed, as a portly, short-winded virago, and the keper of a shabby buvette in a mean street off the Rue Saint Honore. The Citizeness Bauchard linked to the voice of a man the nerve of a butcher, and possessed rather less mercy than an under fed tiger. But she was not wholly consistent. Riding mostly of iron, one was amazed to discover a very vulnerable spot of flesh and blood in her composition.

The vulnerable spot was her child, a half witted son, with a bulging forehead and vacant smile, dusted the crumbs from the little stone-topped tables of the buvette when customers had finished their repasts. Bebo Bauchard was the butt of the gamins when his mother was absent. When his mother was present she exalted him into an atmosphere of monange, mon tres cher petit, and so on, to which atmosphere he responded awkwardly.

The Reign of Terror might have been supposed to drive the very few wits which Bebo Bauchard possessed into permanent oblivion. But, on the contrary, the horrible excitement then prevalent seemed positively to sharpen him a little. The mise-en-scene of the whole fearful exhibition had a morbid fascination for him, and his mother, looking upon it as a sign of profound acumen, was a little elated.

The turnbrils of all things moved him the most.

On busy days he was always in the Rue Saint Honore to see them pass—sometimes with a dishcloth beneath his arm, sometimes with an empty wine bottle in either hand, but always there. When trade was slack, he would push his bony way behind the carts right on to the Place de la Revolution itself. In the evening, when the merry mill had ceased work for the day, and he sat with his mother in their stuffy back parlor finishing with his saveloys such dregs of vin ordaire as extravagant customers had left, he would rehearse the most striking poses in those chariots of Destiny for her benefit.

"See thou! Monsieur Angran d'Alleray stood so!"

And in a moment his throat would be bare, his hands hanging loosely at his sides, his head thrown back, and on his vacant countenance sat cold aloofness and entire disdain. The Citizeness Bauchard was obliged to put down her saveloy to clap, and eulogized the performance when her mouth full.

"Death to my soul—but thou art magnificent, mon coeur!—superb—it is —I swear it—It is d'Alleray himself."

Thus encouraged, Bebo would pose again. "Look here, then, for the Marechale Noailles."

He flopped in a chair—chin sunk on breast and hand to ear, with staring eyes which gazed moodily at nothing.

The Citizeness Bauchard was once more convulsed with delight.

"Bravo! Bravo! So she sat at her trial, mon tres cher, hearing no word, deaf as a post."

On one occasion Bebo witnessed the uncommon sight (to their lasting honor be it said), of one of the tumbril riders in the grip of shameless undraped terror. It affected him strangely. Contempt robbed him of power to portray it. Something of his mother's brutishness seemed to animate his stunted soil. He spat at the mention of this rider's name—laughed mockingly and—manners spat again.

"Pah!" he cried, "all Paris loves a stout heart—eh, ma mere? And Madam Guillotine, she dotes on a brave lover, is it not so?—her kisses to such are short and sharp—aye, aye! I have seen. But a coward—she will talk to a coward for a minute or more to teach him manners—that I have seen, too, parbleu!"

And this sally made the Citizeness Bauchard choke with delight.

All these entertainments she did but retail to her colleagues when, leaving the buvette in charge of a chicken-hearted sister, she went forth equipped to her post. One day she was more garrulous than usual—leaning her head almost onto her next neighbor's shoulder and enforcing points with her elbow.

"Thou wouldst split thy sides to see Bebo and hear him, my Pouquet," she confided. "He has a friend in the Caonciergerie—a jailor—mark you! Thirty," (the Citizeness paused to make this concession to a finished life), "who has given him a suit which belonged to the Marquis de Senterre. The tailor proclaimed it of evil omen, and bade my Bebo carry it away when he played with it one day. He arrayed himself in it one day, and cut such capers as were never before seen. Mon du chien, but that boy hath a talent! Thirty-one!"

"What cut of clothes?" asked the Citizeness Pouquet, wrinking an inquisitive nose, for Senterre had been a dandy of the first water. His wardrobe was a matter of interest to all Paris.

"A yellow redingote—parblue—with a waistcoat of green," the Citizeness Bauchard told her, complacently: "curse thet racket, I have dropped a stitch—tut—tut—tut, 'Twas that old dotard's scream."

The Citizenness Pouquet echoed her friend's words slowly.

"A yellow redingote with a green waistcoat! Truly a becoming mixture of presentation. See, such a one ascends even now, and ascends jauntily. Soul of my soul, never did I see a prettier air!"

Pouquet held her vulture head on one side, screwed her mouth, and contemplated a new arrival with the expression of a connoisseur. The Citizeness Bauchard, having picked up her stitch, condescended to look, too. She looked at first with little interest. Her eyes swept the tall, lanky figure, now balanced twixt time and Eternity, on the topmost of those fateful steps, as it stood with bare neck and a manner of exceeding haughtiness. The tails of its yellow coat flapped in the breeze—and the glint of a green waistcoat showed bravely between the lapels.

Then all at once such a shriek rent the soft air as no victim of the merry mill had ever been known to utter. The Citizeness Bauchard had screamed. The Citizeness Bauchard was on her feet—she was down among the crowd striking, shrieking, fighting.

"God! Spawn of the devil—Christ of Pity!—a mistake—a mistake: Let me through, citizen! I will tear the heart from the man who will not let me through. A mistake! Ah, Marie Louise—Ah, Ville makes often such mistakes—It is my son—an imbecile—citizens—making game in borrowed clothes. He does not understand. An imbecile, citizen soldiers! Oh, my God!—"

She fell, foaming at the mouth, among the stolid guards who surrounded the foot of the guillotine. No one moved or appeared to notice her, for there were many mistakes in the hurry of those red weeks. What was one more or less?

So the yellow redingote with the green waistcoat went on.

And Bebo Bauchard had realized the one ambition which to his poor marred wits stood out as passionately desirable. He had ridden in the carts (God knows by what means), and had shown Paris how a gentleman should die. After all, it is something to realize an ambition.

The knitting women counted thirty-two, but the Citizeness Bauchard for once missed numbering.

SECURES DISMISSAL OF ARMY OFFICER

MRS. GEORGE L. BARNETTE.

Mrs. George L. Barnette is the wife of the lieutenant colonel of the marine corps at the Philadelphia navy yard. She has recently been in the news in connection with the dismissal from the United States Army, after a secret courtmartial of Capt. Guy H. B. Smith of the Fourth United States Infantry. Charges have been made that Capt. Smith did not receive a fair trial. The trouble which resulted in his dismissal from the army occurred while a number of the army officers and their wives were coming from the Philippines to America. Mrs. Barnette was the widow of the late Basil Gordon, a wealthy merchant of Baltimore. She married Lieut.-Col. Barnette five years ago.

Your Individual Duty

By CARA REESE.

All the associated societies, the welfare organizations, and the employment agencies, do not absolve you as an individual. Hence it is absurd to take up time complaining of inefficiency in any of these directions.

Suppose all the beneficiaries are solicited and disbursed through one channel, does that mean that you as an individual are privileged to slam the door in the face of some worthy applicant for aid? Not a bit of it. If the needy one approaches you in your office for the price of a meal you are not absolved from responsibility by merely directing the needy one to a distributing or employment agency to which you contribute annually or quarterly.

The object of organized effort is to relieve the busy folks or those of means who would otherwise be besieged all their days by those who sought assistance. But not even these busy and wealthy folks have any right when brought face to face with distress to pass over to the bureau or agency to which the check has been made. Individual responsibility is not to be shirked. Hence you may toss out the quarter, or rummage through your wardrobe or do the deeds of mercy and kindness to which you have devoted your life just the same as ever. If you do not sanction organized effort keep the fact to yourself and go ahead in your individual way in relieving distress and helping folks to climb or get on their feet. No organized philanthropy has ever yet said "You shall not."

Organized philanthropy is supposed to safeguard the public from imposition. There are many with tender hearts and sympathetic feelings who are not wise enough nor courageous enough to say "No" to the imposter. Organized effort relieves these donors. Organized effort likewise prevents the spread of pauperism by tabulating and putting to work those who apply for assistance. It is to some extent a cold-blooded business proposition, but yet has its place in the scheme of things.

But here is the point, the personal obligations toward fellow creatures ever remains. It is your business sometimes to find employment, to provide the outfit, to educate and to uplift. It does not do for you to shift your individual responsibility on a benevolent organization or on the labor agency or even on the school teacher and the minister of the gospel. And you may not creep out from under and leave business or administration with all the care and blame. As an individual you have your duty and your share. You see there is where you made your mistake of shutting the door against a worthy need and directing the same to an organized center which "did not care "when the particular case appeared. The blame belongs to you. You as an individual "did not care," either. Oh, no, organized and conserved effort in any direction never absolves the individual. Give and direct as ever from your plans as an individual.

The Kitchen

Recipe For Fudge.

Fudge is a simple, wholesome sweetmeat often made in the long autumn and winter evenings. It is like caramel, without any hardness or toughness, caramel that may be bitten with the frallest of teeth, and that melts in the mouth. Its composition and its flavoring are varied, but here are two recipes with brief instructions: Take a breakfast cupful of brown sugar, a tin of condensed milk and two ounces of butter. Boil gently, stirring all the time, until it begins to stir just the least bit stiffly, then add a teaspoonful of vanilla. Pour it into a flat tin or plates (greased) and continue the gentle stirring with a fork until it becomes stiff. At this point bed in the fudge blanched almonds, walnuts, etc., and just before it is quite hard score it across and across into convenient squares with a knife. Second: Two breakfast cupfuls of brown sugar, half a cupful of cream, half a cupful of water, two ounces of butter, two or four ounces of cake chocolate, with a teaspoonful of vanilla stirred in at the close of the boiling or chocolate.

To Poach an Egg Round.

In order to be successful in poaching an egg so that it will be attractively even and round when it is taken from the water, it is not necessary either to drop it into a small cup or a ring, as so many cooks imagine. Instead, first salt the water and then stir it vigorously until it moves about the pan in the form of a whirlpool. Then quickly and before this whirlpool loses its shape, drop the egg into the center of it, and you will find when the egg is cooked that it will be as round or as even as you can desire.

Cooking Time-Table.

Mutton, 15 minutes to the pound; beef, 20; veal, 20; ham, 18 to 20; fowls, 20 to 35.

The Nursery

The Velvety Skin.

To preserve the skin of a baby in its velvety softness it is most important that the soap should be thoroughly removed after the bath. This is best done by means of a soft sponge from which all the hard substances that are sometimes found in new sponges have been removed.

Particular care must be taken that the last traces of soap are removed from the folds of the skin, or chapping will ensue. Boracic acid powder is excellent to use for powdering the baby.

Healthy Mattresses.

All children should have separate beds, if possible, and matresses are far more healthy than feather beds All counterpanes should be removed at night, for they are heavier than blankets, and not good on the bed during sleep.

Not Forced to Walk.

Never try to teach a baby to sit up or to walk. These are things that should never be taught but left to nature. When the spine bone and the leg bones grow strong enough the child will sit up and will walk without any telling or teaching. To try and make it do so before nature prompts it, is very likely to result in "bowed legs."

Terrified of His Bath.

Some quite tiny babies are sufferers from nerves, and are terrified of their daily bath. The very sight of it will make them shed bitter tears. A little diplomacy is excellent in this case. See that the water is of the right temperature, then cover the top of the bath with a sheet and gently lower the little one into it. When he cannot see the bath he will not realize what is happening as he is let down by degrees into the pleasantly warm water. In a short time he will be so used to his tub that he will take his bath readily and enjoy splashing about in it. Nervous children always need very tactful treatment, and should never be roughly made to do those things they are afraid of.

FOR A SPECIAL USE.

Washington Herald: Mrs. Champ Clark, wife of the speaker-to-be of the house, tells a story of her ancient colored cook, who took a liking to every article in her mistress' wardrobe. It was "Please give me this" and "Please give me that," until Mrs. Clark took a trip to St. Louis and laid in a generous supply of hosiery and underwear and outer garments for the old mammy. The gifts were received with gratitude, but presently the old cook was at her old tricks, asking for stockings, aprons and wrappers. "What did you do with all those things I brought you from St. Louis?" demanded Mrs. Clark.

"Why, missie," answered the woman, "I couldn't use them things. Not for nothing. I am saving them all to be buried in."

Let Folks Think You Made It

When you serve Van Camp's Spaghetti, let people think for a time that you made it. Hear what they have to say.

It's a wonderful recipe. It took us two years to perfect it.

We consider the secret so priceless that we never have written it down.

There may be folks at your table who have eaten spaghetti in Rome.

Women may come there who pride themselves on this dish.

But all will agree that never before was there any spaghetti like this.

There are 17 ingredients used in it, each the finest of its kind. The main ones among them are these:

Durum wheat spaghetti.
Herkimer County full cream cheese.
Best creamery butter.
The same superlative tomato sauce we use in Van Camp's Pork & Beans.

The art lies in blending them. The delight comes through the harmony of taste.

The dish comes to you ready-cooked from the grocer. Simply heat it or bake it, as you like it best.

Here's something, Madam, which you can't afford to miss. And please don't wait. Try it while the dish is new.

BODY FOUND IN RUINS OF SHED

Unknown Man Burned in Fire in St. Paul Lumber Yard.

St. Paul, Minn., March 24.—Special to The Herald.)—The body of an unidentified man was found today i nthe ruins of the lumber shed of E. Farre. & Sons yards, Faquir, Bradley & Jessle street. The shed and $16,600 worth of lumber, last night, were destroyed by fire.

Every identifying mark had been burned with the clothes the man wore, unless, perhaps, a partly burned billhead of a Minneapolis casket company, which was found under the body, may lead to the identification of the man.

Bert Farrell, one of the members of the firm, says that all his employes are accounted for and he believes the body is that of a tramp, who fell asleep in the shed.

Result of an Accident.

Naples, March 24.—The police state as a result of their investigation, that Miss Cornelia Meserole, who met her death yesterday at the grand central, was the victim of an accident, it now appears that the railing of the balcony broke while the young woman was leaning against it.

MAN AND WIFE HURT IN RUNAWAY

Matt Pykari, 1123 East Tenth street, sustained a bad cut on the head and his wife was injured, but not seriously, when the horse Pykari was driving down Tenth avenue east ran away this morning. Pykari is a driver for the Kaleva Bottling works and his wife was riding downtown with him. The horse ran away at Fifth street and collided with a pole at Fourth street, throwing both people out. The wagon fell over on Mrs. Pykari, but she was not badly hurt. Pykari went to St. Luke's hospital and had the cut in his head sewed up.

FIRST BUTTERFLY.

Mrs. Rothschild of the Temple block found the first butterfly of the season this morning at Lakeside.

She discovered it at Fifty-first avenue east near Oneida street. She says that it measured nearly three inches across and was a beautiful specimen.

QUALITY IN ICE CREAM!

VELVET ICE CREAM stands for Quality in every sense of the word. Quality in materials, in equipment, in workmanship, in the packages in which it is delivered, in the delivery service. The cream from which Velvet Ice Cream is made comes from our own model creameries in the country. Trained agricultural college experts test it as it comes from the farms, place it in sterilized containers, cool it to near the freezing point and make it into delicious dishes for you. We make our own fruit flavorings from the finest fruits. We use only pure granulated sugar for sweetening. Cream, pure fruits and sugar make

VELVET ICE CREAM

If you made it in your own kitchen after the same recipe we use, you could not have it as pure and palatable without the expenditure of thousands of dollars and the employment of a chain of assistants that would reach from the clover fields to your home.

O-Cedar Polish

My! What A Difference!

BETWEEN the old way and the new—of cleaning house! Not only in the ease but in the result.

The old broom kicked up the dust but it didn't clean. The dust simply floated in the air awhile then settled right back on to the floor, the furniture, into your hair, into your nose, throat and lungs. The tops of the doors and such places seldom were clean. Even scrubbing was not real cleaning. And dusting was nearly as bad as sweeping.

The New Way is so much easier and so much better.

Just push an O-Cedar Polish Mop over the floor. That's all there is to it. The floor is hygienically clean. Not a mere soap and water clean—but really clean. And it is polished, too. No dust, for the mop absorbed all that. You don't wear a dust-cap or old clothes when you clean the O-Cedar Polish Way.

The O-Cedar Polish Duster is for furniture what the mop is for floors. Absorbs the dust and leaves the woodwork polished and clean.

If you find that O-Cedar Polish is not absolutely the best polish, return the unused remains of the bottle and get your money back. And if you have used the O-Cedar Polish Mop or the O-Cedar Polish Duster and for any reason do not wish to keep them, by all means take them back.

Every dealer will return your full purchase price if within two days you wish to return any O-Cedar goods you may have bought.

But we know that you will never want to part with O-Cedar once you begin its use.

O-CEDAR POLISH sold in 25c, 50c, and $1.00 bottles.
O-CEDAR POLISH DUSTER, 50c.
O-CEDAR POLISH MOP, 75c and $1.50.

Sold by ASHTON-BRONSON CO., St. Paul, Manufacturer's Agents for Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Northwestern Wisconsin.

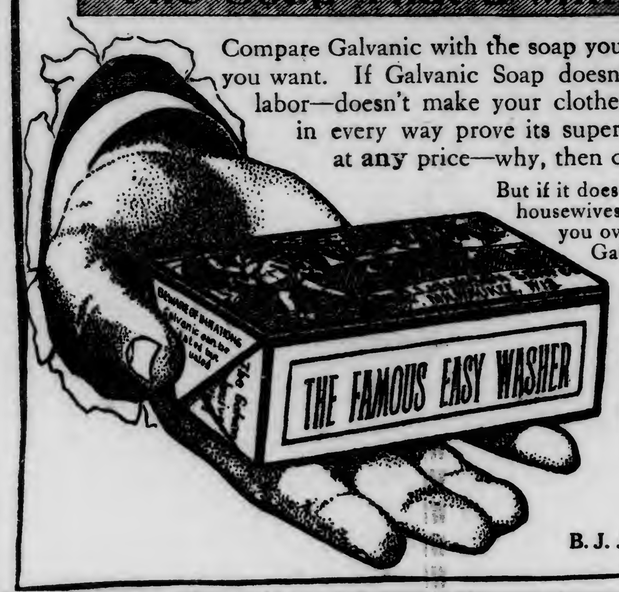
Big Soap Shipments Arrive!

Arrangements are practically complete for Soap Week. Enormous quantities of Palmolive and Galvanic Soaps are being placed with retail dealers. There will be free Palmolive Soap for everybody. Nearly every grocer in town has enrolled his name on the list of distributors.

GALVANIC SOAP
The Soap That a Million Women Use



Compare Galvanic with the soap you now use. Then decide which one you want. If Galvanic Soap doesn't do twice the work with half the labor—doesn't make your clothes much whiter and cleaner—doesn't in every way prove its superiority over any other laundry soap at any price—why, then continue to use the old soap.

But if it does what we claim for it—and over a million housewives back our claims by using it every day—you owe it to yourself and to your clothes to use Galvanic and nothing but Galvanic.

Galvanic Soap is a pure white soap. It makes your clothes pure white clean. You don't need to boil the clothes. You don't even need to rub them unless they're very badly soiled.

One million women endorse that statement. We know that you will endorse it if you try one cake.

CITY NOTICES.

NOTICE FOR BIDS.
Office of Board of Fire Commissioners, City of Duluth, Minnesota.
March 23, 1911.

Sealed bids will be received by the Board of Fire Commissiers in and for the corporation of the City of Duluth, Minnesota, at their office in said City, Room 31, City Hall, up to and including Friday the 31st day of March A. D. 1911, at 3 o'clock p. m., for installing a heating plant in the proposed Fire Hall at Lakeside, in the City of Duluth, according to plans and specifications on file in the office of Radcliffe & Price, Architects, 602 Palladio Building.

A certified check for ten per cent of the amount of the bid, payable to the order of the Treasurer of the City of Duluth, must accompany each proposal, as a guarantee that if any such bid is accepted the bidder will enter into a valid contract with the City of Duluth in accordance with the terms of such bid.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.
BOARD OF FIRE COMMISSIONERS.
By John Connelly, Secretary.
D. H., March 23 and 24, 1911. D 521.

PROPOSALS FOR THE PURCHASE OF BONDS—

Notice is hereby given, That the Common Council of the City of Duluth, Minnesota, will receive sealed proposals at the Council Chamber in the City Hall in the said City of Duluth, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, on April 24, 1911, for the purchase of gold-bearing coupon bonds to the amount of $200,000, in denominations of $1,000, $500, $100 and $50 (excepting that where not inconsistent with the bids made they shall be in denominations of $1,000).

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of extending the water and light plant of the City of Duluth, under authority of Section 286 of the city charter and a vote of the people authorizing the same at the annual city election held February 7, 1911.

Said bonds are to be dated April 1, 1911, and will become due on April 1, 1941, bearing interest at the rate of four and one-half (4½) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually April first and October first of each year, according to interest coupons attached to each of said bonds. Both principal and interest is made payable in gold coin of the United States at the American Exchange National Bank of the City of New York.

Said bonds to be paid for within ten (10) days after notice that the same are ready for delivery, and such delivery will be called for June 15, 1911, said delivery and payment to be made at the First National Bank of Duluth, Minnesota.

The sale of said bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder at a sum not less than par value thereof and interest accrued to date of delivery.

Each bidder is required to file with the City Clerk prior to 2 o'clock of said day a certified check on or a certificate of deposit of a national bank, payable to the order of the City of Duluth, without condition, for an amount equal to one (1) per cent of the full face value of the bonds to be bid for, or a good and sufficient bond in the said sum, to be approved by the Common Council of said city, and conditioned that the party making said bid will, if awarded the sale, take the bonds and pay for them according to the terms of said bid and the ordinance; that in case of failure so to do, the City of Duluth shall have the right to sue upon said bond and to recover the full face thereof, which shall be, and in said bonds shall be stated as being, the sum agreed upon as liquidated damages in case of a breach thereof.

Said checks and bonds shall, at 2 o'clock P. M. of said day, be submitted by the City Clerk to the City Attorney for his opinion as to whether said checks and bonds conform to the conditions of the ordinance, and the bid of any person whose check or bond the City Attorney shall deem not to be in legal form according to the terms of the ordinance shall not be received, unless such bidder shall have such check or bond corrected to meet the requirements of the City Attorney or shall deposit a new bond or check duly approved by said City Attorney before 7:30 o'clock P. M. of said day.

In all cases of bids received and not accepted, the check or certificate received therewith shall thereupon be returned.

In case said bonds are awarded to any bidder, and the said bidder refuses to accept and pay for said bonds or any part thereof within ten days after notice that the same are ready for delivery, the said amount of the certificate of deposit or check so furnished to the city shall be retained by the City of Duluth as its own as and for liquidated damages for the breach of the contract on the part of said bidder.

In case any bidder furnishing such certificate of deposit or check shall take said bonds, said sum shall be credited to him on account of the payment thereof.

Each bidder must give his address, street and number.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved to the City of Duluth.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Eleven Hundred Four and 44-100 Dollars, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Charles M. French, single, Mortgagor, to James R. Wolfrom, Mortgagee, bearing date the 12th day of November, 1909, and, with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 15th day of November, 1909, at 12 o'clock M., in Book 263 of Mortgages, on page 289.

Which said Mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said James R. Wolfrom, mortgagee, (his wife, Anna S. Wolfrom joining in said assignment) to Frerker Bros. & Co., a corporation, by written assignment dated the 20th day of May, 1910, and recorded in the office of Said Register of Deeds, on the 25th day of May, 1910, at 10:30 o'clock A. M., in Book 188 of Mortgages on page 474, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Lots five (5) and six (6) of Section fourteen (14), Lots one (1) and two (2) and Southwest Quarter of Northwest Quarter (SW¼ of NW¼) of Section twenty-three (23), and Southeast Quarter of Northeast Quarter (SE¼ of NE¼) of Section twenty-two (22), all in Township Sixty-eight (68) North of Range Seventeen (17) West of the Fourth Principal Meridian, and containing one hundred and fifty-two and fifty one-hundredths (152 50-100) acres more or less, according to Government survey, the same being in St. Louis County, and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the sheriff's office in the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County, and State, on the 10th day of April, 1911, at 10 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Eleven Hundred Four and 44-100 Dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Fifty Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

ORDER FOR SALE OF PROPERTY—
Circuit Court of the United States, District of Minnesota, Fifth Division.
In Equity.

Alexander B. Scully, Trustee, Complainant, vs.
Northwestern Steam Boiler & Manufacturing Company, a corporation, Defendant.

It satisfactorily appearing to the court by the duly verified report of the Receiver in the above entitled cause that he is unable, for the want of funds and want of means to raise funds, to carry on the business of defendant, and it is necessary to convert the assets of defendant into money in order to pay creditors, and the parties to this cause, by their respective attorneys, having stipulated in writing, filed in the cause, that an order may be made directing the Receiver to convert the assets of the defendant corporation into money by public or private sale, under order of the court, and the court make such other and further order as the court shall deem necessary or proper in the premises, on motion of Thos. J. Davis, attorney for complainant,

IT IS ORDERED, That the Receiver offer for sale, at public auction, at the shops of defendant, commonly known as 366-382 Garfield avenue, in the City of Duluth, Minn., on the 10th day of April, 1911, at ten o'clock A. M., all of the physical property of the defendant which has come into the possession or under the control of the Receiver, except corporate records, books of account, cash on hand, bills, accounts and claims receivable. All of the property to be sold may be offered and struck off to the highest bidder, subject to the order of the court confirming or setting aside the sale, in six (6) separate items, viz.:

Item 1. All second-hand and other boilers on hand not set up for use or otherwise made a part of or fixtures in the buildings on the real estate;
Item 2. All scrap metal;
Item 3. Automobile;
Item 4. Horses, harness and horse vehicles;
Item 5. Launch;
Item 6. The following described lands, together with all buildings thereon, and the fixtures and appurtenances thereunto belonging, situated in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, described as follows: All that part of lots numbered twenty (20) and twenty-one (21) in block "F," Duluth Proper, Second Division, according to the recorded plat thereof in the register of deeds' office in St. Louis County, Minnesota, that lies westerly of the westerly line of the right-of-way, across said lots, of Duluth Terminal Railway Company, as said right-of-way is described in and conveyed by the deed to said Railway Company recorded in the office of said register of deeds, in book 31 of deeds, on page 240; together with the stock of merchandise, coal and coke on hand, machinery and machines, both attached and unattached to said real estate; all tools and appliances commonly used in the manufacturing plant of defendant on said lands, and all other property to be sold as aforesaid, not included in items 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5.

The terms of the sale are hereby fixed as follows:

The bidder to whom any of the first five items are struck off must deposit with the Receiver immediately, at the time and place of sale, either in money or certified check approved by the Receiver, fifty per cent (50 per cent) of the amount of his bid, and the bidder to whom item 6 shall be struck off at such sale shall deposit with the Receiver in money, or certified check approved by the Receiver, Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000).

After the said several items have been offered for sale and sold, subject to the order of the court as aforesaid, as separate items, the Receiver shall offer all of the said six items as a single item, with the express understanding that the court may confirm such sale or sales as shall produce the largest net aggregate price for the property. Whether the property be sold in one item or in several items, the sale will be based on merchantable title to each item of property sold, and from the bid which is accepted and sale thereon confirmed by the court for the property in item six above, the aggregate amount of all liens and encumbrances, to be determined by the court on application by the parties interested, the interest computed to the date of sale, will be deducted from the purchase price, and the balance only paid to the Receiver, and the conveyance will be subject to such liens and encumbrances, the unpaid portion of purchase price on any sale confirmed by the court to be due and payable the day the sale is confirmed. The Receiver will make report to the court of the proceedings at the sale immediately thereafter, and the hearing on the question of confirmation of the sale will be had at the United States courtroom in the postoffice building in the City of Minneapolis, Minn., on the 12th day of April, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard. Let a copy of this order be published twice, at least ten days before said date for said sale, in each of two daily newspapers published in the City of Duluth, and a copy thereof mailed by the Receiver to plaintiff, and to each creditor of the defendant appearing on its books of account, and any other creditor who has proven a claim, at their respective postoffice addresses, so far as known or reasonably ascertained by the Receiver ten days before the date of said sale, and within the same time a copy of said order served on the attorney for defendant.

FEW SHOWERS BREAK WHEAT

Market Under Heavy Pressure—No Support—Many Stop-Loss Orders.

Statistics and News Bearish—Flax Slumps—Position Is Weak.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 24.—Wheat broke 1c today, the May and July deliveries declining that distance. Cash wheat was on a parity with May. Oats lost ⅜c, rye and barley were unchanged. Durum lost ½c.

Flaxseed was weak. Stoploss orders contributed to the softness of the market. There were some speculative efforts at selling and holders of cash seed in exceedingly small lots attempted to let go of a few driblets. The volume of trading was small. May lost 7c, closing at $2.45b. Winnipeg closed at $2.39b. Plata seed at Antwerp was $2.14b a bushel for February-March delivery. Premiums on linseed oil from Indian seed are narrowing in the London markets. Indian offers are more liberal and the world's situation is weak.

Scattered rains in Northwestern and Central Minnesota this morning started a raid on wheat. The weakness of the market was quickly exposed and values declined under pressure. Stop-loss orders were encountered and there was some liquidation. These factors combined to press wheat downward in a sick market.

Unsettled weather was predicted for Minnesota. Elsewhere the government saw no rain in sight. A shower at Medicine Hat and a few scattered showers in Minnesota, however, convinced the market that it has not forgotten how to rain in the Northwest and there was a scramble to let go of wheat.

Crop reports from the Southwest continue mixed but generally are favorable. The field has been well covered and the market is disposed to pay little heed to reports now coming in. It has had a general view of the situation and has had time in which to digest reports. The result has not been favorable to believers in higher prices.

Cables were lower. Wheat and flour shipments exclusive of North America are expected to show an increase of more than 300,000,000 bu this week. There will also be an increase of wheat on passage. Australian shipments will be 300,000 bu more than last week. Indian shipments will be heavy and large shipments from Australia are predicted. Buillish Russian reports were without effect.

Chicago wired Baker: "On March 22, 1909, the year of the so-called Patten wheat deal, the visible supply of wheat was 37,650,000 bu; on Monday of this week it amounted to 36,582,000 bu. The supplies of wheat were distributed about the same then as they are now. In the primary markets west of Buffalo in 1909 there were total supplies in the visible of 31,253,000 bu; this year the supplies at same points are 31,568,000 bu. On March 22 that year May wheat closed at $1.15¾. May wheat went out at $1.34 per bu and the visible supply on June 1 had been reduced to 19,758,000. High prices continued late in July and on Aug. 1 the visible supply was only 7,609,000. Duluth and Minneapolis, which on March 22 of that year had between them exactly 22,500,000 bu in stock, on Aug. 2 had remaining only 2,285,000 bu. The stock at these two points this week is 19,491,000 bu, but the reduction in the supply this year is compared with that one, being almost entirely at Duluth, the Minneapolis stock this year being practically the same as it was in that year. These figures only strive to indicate what changed conditions can come about with the statistical positions so similar. The dissimilarity in the action of the market this year, as compared with then, may be said to be almost entirely due to the fact that the small mills between the Mississippi river and the Atlantic seaboard have had at their own doors sufficient amount of raw material to take care of their flour demand, and they therefore have been entirely independent of the centers this year. The question from now on, as far as the cash wheat is concerned, is whether or not they will continue in a position of being independent of the terminals for their supplies from now until the time the new crop is ready to move."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool—Less favorable reports from Russia received after the close yesterday, caused some little support at the opening here and checked the extremely bearish sentiment and values were ¼d lower. Following the opening prices further declined ¼d with the undertone heavy. Argentine shipments were heavy and largely in excess of the forceast with large shipments from Australia and predictions that the world's shipments other than American will show an excess of 3,000,000 bu over last week or 12,400,000 bu and heavy weekly shipments from India. The Buenos Ayres market at the close was heavy and Southern Plata steamers were pressed for sale at a decline with cargo markets weak under heavy Argentine shipments. At 1:30 p. m. the market was weak and ½d lower than yesterday, but dull.

Corn—After opening unchanged, declined ¼d to ⅜d on predictions of large Danubian shipments this week and a poor spot demand and free offerings at a decline. Indian shipments for the week amount to 1,521,000 bu against 544,000 bu last week and 280,000 bu year ago. Broomhall estimates the shipments next week at 600,000 bu. Our Russian agent cabled late last night that the weather had turned very cold in the southeast with heavy

Modern Miller said: "Investigation of damage in wheat in Kansas shows winter wheat is better than an average north of the main line of the Santa Fe road. South of that road to the state line two-thirds of the yield is expected. In Oklahoma west of the Rock Island road wheat shows growth green but thin on the ground and farmers do not expect over half of an average crop. Eastern Oklahoma will have an average yield. A great improvement is reported in Texas. In other states the crop prospects average good. Where the Hessian fly is reported, it is in early sown wheat and farmers show no apprehension of extensive damage."

Chicago Record-Herald: "The continued drought in the Northwest is considered extremely bullish by John Washburn of the Washburn-Crosby Milling company of Minneapolis, who was on 'change yesterday. 'I think wheat is low enough,' said Mr. Washburn. 'The flour trade is good for the season of the year and in the last four or five days' shipping directions have been coming in much more freely and there has been a fair volume of new business booked. Stocks are comparatively light in all directions. Minneapolis wheat stocks should begin to show big decreases soon. All through the Northwest it is the dryest it has been in thirty years, and duststorms occur daily throughout the three states. This is an alarming condition and if there are no rains for ten days longer there will be a big crop scare. What the Northwest needs most is heavy, soaking rains. In case rains come in time there will be a big acreage of wheat sown, and a much increased acreage of flax as the result of high prices for the latter cereal the last two years."

Slaughter & Co. summarize their Kansas reports as follows: "Crop conditions seem to be lowest in the extreme southern tier of counties bordering on Oklahoma. The plant in the extreme western counties—that is, west of Pawnee and Edwards counties—is backward, partially owing to the higher altitude and also possibly owing to lack of moisture during seeding season. Warm and early rains in that portion of Kansas may reveal a better condition within a few weeks. All of our news from the heart of the Kansas hard winter wheat belt and from the principal wheat producing counties is very favorable, and speaks of conditions varying from 80 to 100 per cent, against 73 per cent for the whole state in December, as per government report. A very small percentage of fields will be plowed under in the principal counties."

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Weak on Heavy Total of World's Shipments.

Chicago, March 24.—A heavy total of world shipments weighed today on the price of wheat. Forewardings from the Argentine were more than double those a year ago. There were also reports that country offerings at Buenos Ayres had greatly increased. In consequence, the opening here was weak, ⅛@⅜c lower with selling general and buying only scattered. May started at 89½@89⅝ to 89⅝c, a loss of ⅛@⅜c and declined to 89⅜c.

Assertions of French importers having overbought caused more weakness. For the first time in twelve years September sold at a premium over both May and July. The close was steady with May 1¼c net lower at 88⅝c.

Fine weather weakened corn. Cash demand was slow. May opened a shade off at 48¾c, touched 48⅜c and dropped to 48⅛c.

Weakness in wheat affected corn. The close was steady with May at 47⅜@⅝c, a net decline of ½c.

Oats eased promptly with wheat. May started a sixteenth to ⅛c down at 30⅜@30¾ to ⅞c, sold at 30⅞ and fell to 30⅝c.

Bears took advantage of liquidating sales and depressed the market. Initial provision prices were 5@7½c up to 2½c up with May options at $16.10 for pork, nominal for lard, and $9.15@9.20 for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Bearish News and Sentiment Force a Decline in Wheat.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 24.—Bearish news and sentiment forced a decline in wheat. Trading in the local pit moderately active. Short selling of near months popular. May closed 1¼c lower than yesterday, July 1¼c lower, and September ⅞@⅞c lower. Local elevator stocks decreased only 10,000 bu for the week. Minneapolis today received 192 cars of wheat, Duluth 111, and Winnipeg 207. There was no comparison with a year ago, which was a holiday. May wheat opened 96¾c, high 96¾c, low 95⅝@95½c, closed 95⅝c. July opened 98¾c, high 98¼c, low 96¾@97⅞c, closed 97@97⅛c. September opened 93⅜c, high 93⅜c, low 92¼@92⅝c, closed 92⅝c.

Cash wheat firm; demand for choice spring grades good, but slow for others; No. 1 northern sold for ½@1½c above the May contract. Close: No. 1 hard, 97⅝c; No. 1 northern, 95⅞@97½c; to arrive, 95⅝@96⅞c; No. 2 northern, 93⅞@95¼c; to arrive, 93⅜@94⅝c; No. 3 wheat, 91⅜@94½c. No. 3 yellow corn, 43@43½c. No. 3 white oats, 28½@29c. No. 2 rye, 86c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 2,443 tons. The market was steady and strong. Mills well sold ahead and excellent demand reported. Bran in 100-lb sacks, $20.00@21.00.

Flour—Prices lowered today on account of further decline in wheat. Demand fair and shipping directions coming in more freely. Shipments, 41,995 bbl; first patents, $4.55@4.85; second patents, $4.45@4.75; first clears, $2.95@3.40; second clears, $2.60@2.80.

Flax—Receipts, 5 cars; year ago, holiday; shipments, nil. Demand strong for both spot and to arrive, closing at $2.46.

Barley—Receipts, 28 cars; year ago, holiday; shipments, 48. The barley market was not as strong today and prices were quoted about 2c lower than yesterday. Closing range, 74c@$1.04.

DECLINES ARE FRACTIONAL

Stocks Open With Light Trading and Rule Dull All Day.

Prices Scarcely Move in the Final Hour—Close Is Steady.

New York, March 24.—Trading was very light at the opening of the market today and movements were almost imperceptible. National Railways of Mexico were the only feature, yielding a point. Missouri Pacific and Toledo, St. Louis and Western gained ⅜.

A spell of weakness developed which seemed to be due entirely to the general feeling of disgust which the stupid opening aroused. Canadian Pacific broke a point and nearly all of the leading stocks about half as much before the movement halted, after which there was some recovery.

Lower prices were reached and the slight declines were attributed to bear selling. The amounts sold, however, were not sufficient to give a very pronounced tone to the market and covering of shorts resulted in partial recoveries.

The one interesting feature of the market was its extreme dullness, Chesapeake & Ohio running off a point toward midday and there was a sympathetic shading in the active stocks. Bonds were steady.

The market closed steady. Prices scarcely moved at all in the final hour, which was the most uninteresting of the day's session. Final prices were in most instances only a small fraction below yesterday's closing.

Spooner Bill to Control State Water Resources Passes House.

House Holds Another Evening Session But Attendance Is Light.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—After four days of debate and discussion of amendments, the state-wide primary bill survived a brief interval of fruitless jockeying yesterday afternoon and passed the senate by a vote of 49 to 8.

While the bill that was passed bears the name of the senate committee on elections, the committee's bill having been substituted after the first Republican caucus for the bill by Senator Moonan, Democrat, all of the trimmings have been removed so that it is practically the same as the Moonan bill, which the committee had recommended to pass and made a special order in the senate before the caucus got to work.

That feat, by the way, was the first and last act of the Republican caucus. With the specter of reapportionment impending, the Republican organization went to pieces.

The vote on the bill in the senate yesterday afternoon was as follows:

For the bill—Senators Ahmann, Anderson, Bedford, Benson, Boyle, Car-

REFUSES TO APOLOGIZE

Klemer Says He Will Not, Under Any Circumstances, Retract.

Another County Option Bill Introduced by Representative Lundeen.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. L. Klemer made no effort to entertain the house and galleries this morning and the matter was not mentioned. He stated in an interview to The Herald that he would not under any circumstances retract his statement that the committees of the house were packed in the interest of the special interests and he will not apologize now or at any time. This was his unqualified statement.

An effort was made by the radical members of the house to induce him to stand pat after a committee of intercession had been at work to bring about an adjustment of the trouble. Mr. Klemer was on the point of apologizing, but finally decided to stand pat. His reason, as given this morning, was that if he apologized for the unparliamentary language it would be accepted throughout the state as a retraction and he refuses to desert his guns.

The R. C. Dunn resolution calling for a vote of censure will be called up

WOULD FLY TO ST. PAUL

Aviator in Duluth Says He Can Make It in Two Hours.

Claims His "Deroplane" Is the Only Safe Air Machine.

From Duluth to the Twin Cities by deroplane will be the achievement of V. E. Jossenberger if he carries out successfully the plans upon which he was working today. Jossenberger is an inventor, aviator, scenic artist, former Texas ranger and adventurer, who arrived in Duluth yesterday.

Last year Jossenberger got into the papers by taking his machine out for an airing. He chased up and down the Hudson river, gave the provincials on Broadway a surprise by flying up and down the avenue and then he chased over the meadows to Hackensack, jumped across to Long Island and then returned to New York. He also flew from a South Carolina town to Patterson, N. J., and back.

"I'll cover the 150 miles between here and St. Paul in a little more than two hours," said Jossenberger. "It'll be a cinch."

The Jossenberger history is as interesting as the deroplane. The mans' father was born in Baden, Germany, and was killed in the service of the Texas Rangers. The son was with the Rangers for a while and then

WILL REFUTE THE INFORMER

Attorneys for Camorrists Preparing Counter Attack on Abbatemaggio.

Viterbo, Italy, March 25.—The attorneys for the defense flocked to the Santa Maria in Gradi today to consult with their clients on the counter-attack to be made upon the informer Gennaro Abbatemaggio, when the trial of the thirty-six Camorrists is resumed next Tuesday.

With a fine show of indignation the accused declared that when permitted to speak they would refute their former associate's "inventions." During the recital, they said, they had composed themselves with great discretion in order not to disturb the serenity of the court which certainly must eventually acknowledge their innocence.

Abbatemaggio's cleverness in telling his story yesterday, filled the Camorrists with rage. Posing as a penitent prepared, if need be, to give his life in expiation of his crimes, the informer made a deep impression, and the lawyers for the defense, today decided upon a long list of questions to be put to him on cross-examination, in the hope of discrediting his testimony.

The priest Ciro Vitozzi, during the conference with his lawyers, delivered to the latter the memoirs which he has been occupied in preparing during his confinement. Placing the manuscript in the hands of his adviser the priest said:

"They are flesh of my flesh. They are the cry of a martyr whose spotless conscience must appeal to justice."

The memoirs contain a repetition of matters already known, an attack upon the jailers at Naples, who are described as "worse than those of the inquisition;" and wind up with a eulogy of the author, who appears to be consumed with self-pity. His whole life, he said, has been devoted to "reclaiming lost lambs to the fold."

The most sensational session of the trial of the Camorrists occurred yesterday when Gennarro Abbatemaggio, the ex-member of the murderous gang who turned states evidence against his former brothers in crime, took the stand.

Abbatemaggio, as he was interrogated, stood inside his cage erect as though challenging the world. He spoke in a loud tone throughout and endeavored to give strength to his arguments with dramatic gestures. He described the organization of the Camorra, its degrees, plans and modes of working. He said he knew everything concerning the organization, because he was its most active member until 1907 and participated in all its daring enterprises. The witness enumerated thefts that he had committed with Luiga Arona, who set in the big cage with the other prisoners glaring at Abbatemaggio. The witness recounted how Giovanni Rapi, treasurer of the Camorra was made receiver of their stolen goods.

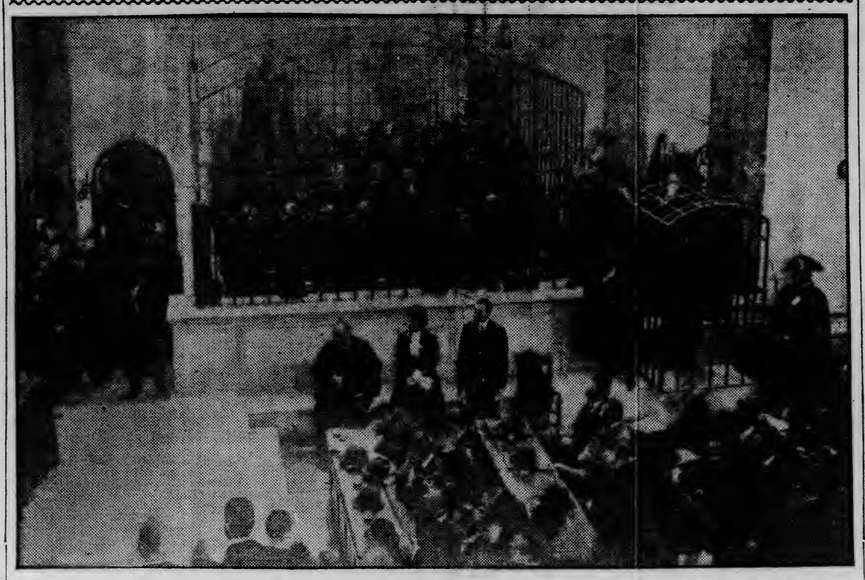
SITUATION GRAVE IN THE FAR EAST

Russia Demands of China Full Compliance With Ultimatum.

Pekin, March 25.—M. Korostovetz, the Russian minister to China, today presented to the Chinese foreign board a note from his government demanding a full and unequivocal compliance with the Russian semi-ultimatum of Feb. 16.

The situation is very grave. It is believed here that unless China accepts the Russian views unconditionally within a stated period, forcible measures will follow. The "stated period" is not made known.

CAMORRISTS IN STEEL CAGES IN ITALIAN COURT



This is the first picture received in this country of the members of the murderous "Camorra" society being tried at Viterbo. In the large cage are the prisoners and in the small one the informer.

LODGING HOUSE CONDITIONS MENACE TO PUBLIC HEALTH

ROLL OF BANK NOTES IN HAIR

Woman Companion of Thaddeus Talcott Has Large Sum of Money.

South Bend, Ind., March 25.—Forty thousand dollars' worth of stocks and bonds, $10,000 in stock coupons and $1,200 in cash were found last night on the persons of Thaddeus M. Talcott and his companion, Fay Woolet, when they were brought to this city from Toledo, Ohio, where Talcott had been arrested, charged with perjury.

Talcott, whose wife obtained a divorce and a judgment for allimony in $145,000 against him here several months ago, is alleged to have sworn falsely as to the value of his property.

Unable to obtain bail in $6,000 though he had more with him, Talcott was confined in the county jail. When Miss Woolet was searched by a matron at the jail, a roll of bank notes was found in her hair.

Attachments for Talcott's property have been obtained by his former wife.

Eleven Deaths From Plague.

Amoy, China, March 25.—Eleven deaths from bubonic plague and six deaths from smallpox were reported within the city during the two weeks past.

No Toilets or Wash Bowls in Entire Row of Shacks.

Back Yards in Vile Condition ---No Sanitary Precautions Taken.

(Note—The need of an effective lodging house ordinance in Duluth has been frequently urged. To show the exact conditions, a reporter of The Herald, deputized as a non-paid health inspector, accompanied by a staff photographer, and Dr. Ignatius J. Murphy of the health department, this week investigated conditions on St. Croix avenue, the Bowery, First alley and First street. What they found shows the need of such an ordinance as has been drafted by the health department, and which will probably be submitted to the city council Monday night.)

"The Great Unwashed" cannot be a much exaggerated title for the several hundred men who throng the rooming and boarding houses packed along the eastern side of St. Croix avenue paral-

AN ECHO OF THE LORIMER CASE

Jury Frees Broderick Charged With Buying Votes for Senator.

Springfield, Ill., March 25.—The Broderick bribery case, which has been on trial in the circuit court since Monday morning of this week, was completed yesterday afternoon and the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" at 4:12 o'clock after being out 22 minutes.

Broderick was charged with bribery in connection with the election of United States Senator William Lorimer. Testimony was heard at the trial that he had given $2,500 to Former State Senator D. W. Holstlaw of Iuka in consideration of the Iuka senator's vote for Lorimer.

Holstlaw testified that he was paid the money in Broderick's saloon in Chicago. While the senate sub-committee was investigating the Lorimer election in Chicago last summer, Broderick refused to answer some of the questions asked him, taking refuge behind his constitutional privilege to decline to incriminate himself.

DIXIE FLYER ON THE ATLANTIC COAST LINE PLUNGES INTO RIVER

Large Number of Passengers and Train Crew Are Killed.

Five Coaches of Train Are Under Ten Feet of Water.

Ten Bodies Have Been Recovered So Far By the Rescuers.

Ocilla, Ga., March 25.—The Dixie Flyer on the Atlantic Coast railroad went through a trestle over the Alapaha river near here at 5 o'clock this morning, killing many passengers. Five coaches were derailed. The coaches are ten feet under water. Ten bodies have been recovered so far, but many others are thought to be beneath the debris and water. The fireman of the ill-fated train is among the known dead.

Flagman Legrade escaped, while Engineer Eugene Green is reported to be badly hurt.

Special trains carrying nurses and physicians have been rushed to the scene from nearby towns.

The wreck occurred at Altamaha on

VESSEL CAPSIZES; ALL MAY BE LOST

Steamer Sechelt Goes Down With Thirty-Five Passengers on Board.

Victoria, B. C., March 25.—With thirty-nine passengers and crew on board the steamer Sechelt, a shelter deck, operated between Victoria and Sooke by the British Columbia shipping company, capsized off Beachy Head late yesterday. It is believed all on board were lost.

The Sechelt left yesterday afternoon with about thirty-five passengers mostly laborers bound to the Canadian Northern railroad construction camp at Peddar Bay, and a crew of four men with Capt. H. B. James, manager of the company, in command. Early this morning a boy arrived at Esquimault in a gasoline launch from William Headquarantine station with news that the steamer had capsized. All that the boy knew was the Sechelt had capsized, and he believed all were drowned.

Not until news is received from the tug William Joliffe, which was sent to the relief of the Sechelt, will it be known what was the fate of those on board the capsized steamer.

COMPETITION IS NOT RESTRAINED

Harvester Company Says It Has Done No Wrong in Missouri.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 25.—In its brief filed in the supreme court today in the case brought by the government to oust it from the state of Missouri, the International Harvester company complained that while Special Commissioner Brace's report showed the company had done no injurious acts in the state, he nevertheless held it an illegal combination. Theodore Brace is special commissioner appointed to investigate the affairs of the company. The brief stated that Brace reported the company had not charged unfair prices, nor restricted dealers, yet he decided the company's form of organization is illegal.

In the brief the company presented evidence from seventy-three Missouri retailers to prove that competition in its line of business has not been restrained. The company further demanded credit for having invited the fullest investigation.

W. J. Bryan's trust speech as delivered to a phonograph for use in the presidential campaign of 1908, was made the basis of an argument. "In this speech," the brief said, "Mr. Bryan stated that the irresistable tendency of trusts is to raise selling prices, lower the prices of raw materials, reduce the quality of manufactured products and lessen wages." None of these results, Mr. Brace finds, followed the organization of the International Harvester company.

SOLDIERS ARE WET.

Unprecedented Rainfall at Camp at San Antonio.

San Antonio, Tex., March 25.—The frequently drenched maneuver camp at Fort San Houston and the brigade field camp at Leon Springs were again soaked by heavy rain last night. The downpour continues today.

At Leon Springs, Gen. Smith has only shelter tents which protection is not of the best. To keep dry in them one must lie at full length.

There have been three heavy rains since the maneuvers camp sprang into existence. It is said the downfall is unprecedented.

DIAZ WANTS YOUNG MEN

Cabinet of Aged Advisers Resigns at Request of President.

New York Interests Want to Know Real Causes of Resignations.

Mexico City, March 25.—The Diaz cabinet resigned yesterday. Following a meeting of that body at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, every minister tendered his resignation to Gen. Diaz. As yet none of the resignations have been accepted, but on excellent authority, it is stated that but two of the ministers and possibly not more than one will be asked to retain his portfolio. In diplomatic circles and among high government officials, it is assumed that Gen. Diaz will insist upon Jose Yves Limantour remaining in charge of the department of finance.

Members of the cabinet refuse to comment upon their action, but it is stated semi-officially that the initiative was taken not by them but by the president, who is is stated proposed to surround himself with younger men in the hope that such action will serve to unite all elements of the nation.

It is probable that the acceptance of the resignations will be coincident with the announcement of the names

That Is What Duluth's Water Carnival Is Intended to Be.

First Gun Fired in Publicity Campaign for Venetian Fete.

Duluth's big illuminated water pageant will be held July 20, 21 and 22. Remember the dates.

During those three days and nights the Zenith City will be the chief point of attraction in the Northwest.

Every town and city in the entire West is to know that Duluth is holding a big summer carnival.

The campaign of publicity is on. From today merchants, business men and professional men are expected to boost for the biggest show that has ever been given here and the most unique and picturesque water fete ever held in the West.

The definite policy of the carnival committee and the publicity committee of the Commercial club, which will work hand in hand with the publicity committee of the carnival committee, was made known this afternoon at the meeting held at the Commercial club, and the first gun fired in the campaign of publicity.

A scheme bigger and broader than any yet imagined by the public is

A BABY A MONTH FOR TWENTY YEARS

THE MERRILL AND RING ROW.

A baby a month for twenty years! West Duluth has one row of buildings that gives the lie to all talk about race suicide. It is the Merrill & Ring row.

Back in the mill days, when the Merrill & Ring people were operating at West Duluth, they erected a twenty-four flat building on Fifty-first avenue west, between Main and Polk streets. Mill workers and their families occupied the building and although this was about twenty years ago, the flats have been filled with families ever since.

The Merrill & Ring row was sold by the mill people to Charles Greves of West Duluth about five years ago, who has owned the flats since that time.

Statistics on file at the board of health office show that more babies have been born in the Merrill & Ring flats than in any other place in the city, excepting maternity and other hospitals.

It has been figured with more or less certainty that in the Merrill & Ring row, the average birthrate among the families which occupy the flats is at least one baby a month. A few years ago the rate was perhaps higher, but one birth a month is taken as a general average.

The Merrill & Ring row is one of the landmarks of West Duluth. When the mill owners acquired the present site, it was covered with at least ten feet of water and some of the older residents at West Duluth remember the time when the present location of the flats was a part of the bay. Ground was made of sawdust and slabs turned out at the mills.

West Duluth realty men say that it will only be a matter of time before the building will give way to some factory site as property in that vicinity is too valuable for residences and is being acquired by those who want bay front facilities. Most of the Merrill & Ring mill site was purchased by the Hanna Coal company, which will spend between $200,000 and $300,000 in constructing a dock. It is also near the Imperial Iron works and other dock and factory property.

Weather: Generally cloudy with rain tonight or Sunday; colder Sunday.

HONEST DRUGGIST GIVES GOOD ADVICE.

Having suffered for some time with backache and after being treated by many physicians for bladder trouble without any good results I was induced by my druggist to try Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. From the first I was surprised, as all pain disappeared. Have since continued the treatment and am satisfied I am cured.

Yours truly,

MAKE THEIR OWN TOOLS

Eleven West Duluth School Boys Are Studying Iron Working.

A class of eleven started in the iron working course this week at the Duluth Industrial high school, West Duluth. The machinery and equipment needed for instruction in the elementary work of the course have been installed and those who are taking the work appear to be much interested.

Frank L. Kreidler, for eight years a practical machinist in the railroad shops at Proctor and a graduate since of the Carnegie Technical institute of Pittsburg, is the instructor and this week taught the class how to make some of the tools necessary for the equipment of a forge.

The poker, rake and shovel were the first implements to be turned out. A day was spent by the class on each, after which the class was put to work on the making of an iron rack to be used in the forge room as a tool holder. Every article that is turned out will have a place in the equipment of the shop.

The aim of the course is to give those who want it a little of the practical work in iron making. While a thorough instruction in iron making would be impossible for a high school course, it affords those who want it, an opportunity to grasp an insight into the work and might prove an incentive to some to follow up the profession.

George H. Maxwell, the "Homecrofter," who visited the school yesterday morning, was much interested in the new course and Principal Foster presented him with the first set of tools turned out by the boys.

The members of the class will later make an individual set of tools for themselves, which they will use later on in the school shops.

FIRST BALL GAME IN WEST DULUTH.

West Duluthians have caught the spring baseball fever, and tomorrow the first game of the season will be played on the Fifty-second avenue west grounds.

James O'Brien, who will manage the Fitwells of West Duluth this year, has had his men out for practice and will play with a picked nine.

The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock and a number of the fans are expected to be there.

INSIST ON SOO DEPOT

West Duluth Commercial Club May Carry Case to Court.

Want New N. P. Depot and Later Train to Fond du Lac.

Definite action on the Soo depot proposition at West Duluth may be expected within the next few weeks.

The West Duluth Commercial club at its meeting last evening passed a resolution offered by F. W. Jolitz, asking the council to arrange a conference with the road officials. The club insists that if satisfactory arrangements cannot be made for the erection of a station west of Forty-sixth avenue, according to the terms of the franchise granted the Wisconsin Central road prior to its absorbtion by the Soo, court proceedings will be instituted to compel the road to erect a depot.

The Soo officials, it is pointed out, are evading the issue and so far have given no intimation of their intentions in the matter. The Commercial club does not intend to let the matter drop.

The franchise terms must be lived up to, argue the club members. In their franchise, the Wisconsin Central agreed to build and maintain at West Duluth, a freight and passenger station. After the Soo acquired the road, the plans for entering the city were changed and West Duluth has been left out. Business men resent this and the Commercial club will fight hard to see justice done to West Duluth.

Maintaining a depot, the Commercial club members say, will be construed in court, to mean that trains shall run into it and the outcome of the fight may be the installation of a train on the Soo between West Duluth and downtown.

Secretary M. J. Murray was instructed by the club to communicate with the health commissioner with reference to the alleged insanitary conditions of the West Duluth station of the Northern Pacific road at West Duluth.

A. G. Macauley and Louis Ramstad were appointed a committee to confer with the New Duluth Commercial club with the view of securing a later train service between West Duluth and the up-river district in the summer months.

It was reported that one or two more carriers will be furnished the West Duluth sub-station in June of this year. A resolution indorsing the action of Postmaster Cook in recommending a postal savings station for Duluth was passed.

Other routine matters were also disposed of. P. H. Martin reported that the committee on the Proctor road had made a trip of inspection over the Getchell thoroughfare.

WOULD RETURN TO OLD HOME

West Duluth Woman Left Destitute By Death of Husband.

The death of Jacob Jacobson, a West Duluth laborer, today in St. Luke's hospital, and the circumstances in which his widow and two children are left, bring out a pathetic story of suffering, hardship and blighted hopes.

The Jacobsons live at 6309 Greene street. They came to West Duluth five years ago from Norway, and when sickness did not prevent, Jacobson worked as a laborer on the Boston Coal company dock.

They prospered at first and bought their home on Greene street on the installment plan. The place is more than half paid for, but as the widow is left in an almost destitute condition, owing to the sickness of her husband, she may lose it.

The Jacobsons had intended to dispose of their property here and move back to Norway. Two months ago Jacobson contracted typhoid feever and was removed to the hospital. He recovered from this but other complications set in, which proved fatal.

Friends of the Jacobsons and Rev. J. A. Bjerke, pastor of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church will take charge of the funeral for the grief-stricken widow. Services will be held Monday afternoon either from the residence or Richter's undertaking rooms, with burial at Oneota cemetery.

The widow wants to return to her people in Norway, but has no funds. Rev. Mr. Bjerke, who with the members of his congregation are contributing to the temporary relief of Mrs. Jacobson, may raise the money and send her back to the old country.

The Jacobson children are a girl, aged 10, and a boy, 4 years old.

West Duluth Briefs.

The funeral of Edward Blair, 49 years old, of 505 South Seventieth avenue west, who died yesterday at St. Mary's hospital will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock from the St. Jean Baptiste church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street to Calvary cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Murray and A. R. Murray of 620 North Fifty-seventh avenue west and N. W. Murray of Short Line Park have returned from Bennett, Wis., where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Murray's brother, W. Kehblar.

Sparks from a locomotive are believed to have been responsible for a fire which destroyed about 100 feet of sidewalk on Grand avenue near Eighty-sixth avenue west late yesterday afternoon. The West Duluth fireman made a run and worked over an hour in putting out the blaze.

The West Duluth Socialist club will meet tomorrow afternoon at Victor hall, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Grand avenue. In addition to the regular program, there will be several musical selections. There will be no admission.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Blair of St. Cloud, Minn., are visiting relatives at West Duluth for a few days.

Miss Florence McClure and Miss Mabel Clark will entertain informally Tuesday evening at the latter's home in honor of several of their friends.

ANXIOUS TO AVOID ARREST

Owners of Vehicles Hasten to Pay Their Wheelage Tax.

The campaign started by Special Detective James Walsh for the collection of the wheelage tax is having good results.

Following the publication of the story in The Herald last night, delinquents streamed into the office of the city clerk this morning to get the brass tags which will save them from arrest and the payment of a fine in addition to the license fee.

Deputy Clerk Williams was busy issuing licenses all morning. Up to noon about twenty had complied with the provisions of the ordinance who had failed to show up before. H. C. Elschen, who entered a plea of not guilty, changed it to guilty yesterday afternoon and paid a fine of $7.50, the same as was assessed against the others.

WOODMEN HAVE GRAFT

City Sealer Says Short Cords Are Sold in the City.

Complaint to Herald's "Open Court" Brought About Investigation.

Investigating a complaint which appeared in the "Open Court" column of The Herald, George E. Duren, sealer of weights and measures, obtained evidence on which he declares he will swear out a warrant for the arrest of a wood dealer.

A resident of East Sixth street wrote that he had been getting short measure in buying wood. The sealer found that the purchaser had piled the wood and left it unused, and that upon taking his measurements the purchaser had been defrauded.

The sealer says that there is probably good cause for complaint in short cords of wood sold in the city. He states that where the purchasers suspect that they have a shortage, he would be glad to aid them in getting full measure, if they will notify him.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY NEWS

The Minnekadha club members were entertained at the home of Luke Flood, 1830 West First street, last Friday evening. Cards were played and the honors won by Arthur Roske, Luke Walla, Cyrus Olsen and Edward Flood. The following members were present:

Arthur Roske,	Cyrus Olson,
Wm. Kennedy,	Arthur Swenson,
Luke Walla,	Edward Flood,
Wm. Downie,	Luke Flood.

Mrs. Herman Henderson of 519 East Fifth street entertained at cards Friday afternoon at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Marvin entertained informally Tuesday evening at their home. Recitations by Miss Agnes Johnson and musical numbers by Miss Jessie McGhie and Miss Maddox added much to the pleasure of the evening.

BOY HANGS HIMSELF.

Scared By Fellow Prisoners, He Ends Life.

Camden, N. J., March 25.—Scared by fellow prisoners who told him that he would likely get a long term, Robert Laygon, a 14-year-old boy of this city, committed suicide in his cell in the Camdem county jail last night. He made a noose of his belt and fastened it to an iron bar three feet from the floor.

The boy had been committed to jail on March 18 on a charge of entering the home of his brother and tampering with a gas meter.

BRITISH COLUMBIA MINERS WILL STRIKE.

Winnipeg, Man., March 25.—Miners in sixteen mines in Southern Alberta and Southeastern British Columbia have voted to go on strike on March 31. The closed shop and check-off system were the cause of the trouble. The strike will last at least a month or six weeks and by that time there will be very little coal in the country.

OBITUARY

Mark L. Sullivan, an attorney who won a large fortune in the mining litigation of early days in Nome and Fairbanks and had made great profit by getting the first shipment of supplies into the Iditarod country last year, is dead at Fairbanks, Alaska.

Patrick Hanley, 87 years old, who hunted ducks nearly sixty years ago where the Nicollet house in Minneapolis now stands, died March 22 in that city. He came to Minneapolis with his wife in 1852, and ever since has made this city his home.

Jesse T. Seely, a pioneer drygoods merchant of Lake City, Minn., died March 23, after a short illness. Mr. Seely was born June 21, 1840, in Orange county, New York, and married Anna Satterlee of Elmira, N. Y., in 1865. They came West in May, 1874, and settled in this city. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. George Coons and Mrs. Dr. C. V. Cole, both of Lake City.

John Strange Walter Reeves, aged 100 years, died March 24, at his home in Tacoma, Wash. He was born on Oct. 18, 1810 in Wilkesbarre, Pa.

BROKE ONE AUTO LAMP; KICKED OUT THE OTHER.

The automobile of Dr. J. D. Park collided with a rig of the Yale Laundry company at First avenue east and Superior street this morning.

The collision broke one of the lamps in the auto and knocked the horse to the pavement. When the animal recovered his footing, he kicked himself from the traces and also kicked out the other lamp on the front of the buzz wagon. No one was injured and the damages were comparatively light.

TWO BOYS SUSPECTED OF HAVING SHOT POLICEMAN

David and Enock Collins Arrested on Suspicion of Superior Crime.

Boys Claim Alibi, But Police Doubt Truth of Their Story.

Have the police caught two more boy bandits, who, starting on a career of crime, have wound up by shooting the policeman who was trying to place them under arrest?

David Collins, 16 years old, and Enock Collins, 19 years old, were arrested on the Bowery this morning by Patrolman Oscar Olson and locked up at headquarters on suspicion of having shot Patrolman R. W. Jackson of the Superior police force about 8:30 o'clock last Wednesday night near the Allouez station of the South Shore railroad. The policeman is in a hospital at Superior, making a desperate fight for life, with an even chance of recovery. He was shot by two thieves who came after a stolen bicycle. The officer found the bicycle hidden in some underbrush, and waited beside it for the thieves to appear. When he attempted to arrest them they shot him and escaped.

The police state that they have no definite charges against the two brothers. They explain that they fit exactly the descriptions given them by the Superior police of two young men who were seen in the vicinity of the shooting the morning afterwards, walking rapidly down the railroad tracks in the direction of New Duluth. It has also been reported that persons fitting their description were seen later that day at New Duluth.

Claim an Alibi.

The brothers claim to have an alibi. They state that they were at Knife River the night of the shooting, having walked up there Wednesday afternoon. They assert that they spent the night in a box car, returning to this city Thursday afternoon. They say that they have not been near Superior. Should the police be able to disprove their statements the case against them will be strengthened. The authorities on both sides of the bay are busy rounding up the witnesses who gave the description of the men seen at Superior and at New Duluth Thursday morning and afternoon. They will be brought to the station to determine whether or not the brothers are the men they saw. A great deal hinges upon the fact of whether or not the witnesses positively identify them. "If the boys are not telling the truth, and if they were not at Knife River, where were they and why should they try to conceal the truth?" ask the police.

The boys' records are said by the police not to be of the best. They state that when arrested this morning they were trying to peddle a mandolin which they had stolen. It is said that the boys claimed that the mandolin had been given to them, but that investigation showed that they had been lying, as the owner of the mandolin denied that he had made a present of it to the boys, who are related to him.

The youthful prisoners have made their home in the bastment where their mother lives, at 316 East Sixth street, according to information which the police say was given to them by Fritz Erickson, the owner of the mandolin, and a distant cousin. It appears that he is living at that address and that Mrs. Collins, the boys' mother, is keeping house for him. It is stated that Mr. Collins is in California. The police say that Erickson told them the boys are shiftless, and that as they refuse to work, he has not wanted them around the house. They assert further that according to Erickson they have got a cot in the basement where they sleep when at home, going and coming without his knowledge.

Referring to the New Duluth proposition, the brothers say that they have not been here since Tuesday morning. They claimed to have worked there until Monday night when they quit, coming to Duluth Tuesday morning and sleeping home Tuesday night. They also say that they slept home Thursday and last night. The only night on which they were absent was Wednesday night, when the shooting occurred. On that particular night they claim to have slept in a box car at Knife River and are unable to produce any one whom they are certain saw them there.

Chief Troyer said this noon that it will take three or four hours to get the witnesses who gave the descriptions of the persons seen at Superior and New Duluth the next morning, and that is is not likely that anything further of a definite nature will be known of the case until this evening.

ITS REPUTATION

Is more than local. During the past week seven young people entered the DULUTH BUSINESS UNIVERSITY representing seven states as follows: Michigan, Wisconsin, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Washington, and the southern part of Minnesota. When young people come so far to attend this school, it would seem that Duluthians ought to better appreciate its worth and take advantage of the excellent preparation it gives for business.

For Loading Cars.
The Northern Pacific Railroad company has completed the new runway in the N. P. yards, off Fifth avenue, which is for the purpose of loading vehicles on to the cars. The platform has been made especially strong in order that automobiles may be loaded and it has also been made heavy enough to hold the fire department, should there be occasion for loading the fire-fighting apparatus on the cars.

Falls From Porch.
Laura Kazunder, a domestic at the Lenox hotel, fell off the rear porch on the second story last night, breaking both arms. She was taken to St. Mary's hospital, where her injuries were dressed. She was found when a passerby was attracted by her groans as she lay in the alley. She can speak no English, having come to this country from Poland only a short time ago.

Allowed to Leave City.
John Carlson, arrested last night on suspicion of having robbed his bed fellow, was charged with vagrancy in police court this morning. He pleaded guilty and got $25 and costs or thirty days. Sentence was suspended with the understanding that he would get out of town.

Retain Possession.
The suit of the Alcesi Realty company against Jeannette Palmer and Phyllis Pendleton, brought to compel them to vacate the properties at 217 and 219 St. Croix avenue, was decided yesterday by Judge Cutting. He found that the Alcesi company had a title to the property, but that the defendants had a modified lease. Under his decision they will continue in possession upon the payment of $200 a month for the property occupied by Jeannette Palmer and of $150 a month for that occupied by Phyllis Pendleton.

DECEPTION IS NOW ALLEGED

An Additional Bill in Equity Filed in the Eddy Will Case.

Concord, N. H., March 25.—An additional bill in equity, filed today in the superior court for Merrimac county in behalf of George W. Glover of Lead, S. D., against the trustees of the First Church of Christ Scientist and Boston makes the direct allegation that the Rev. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church was "systematically deceived and led to bequeath nearly the whole of her property to said church in ignorance of the fact that so great a bequest was forbidden by the laws of both New Hampshire and Massachusetts."

It is further alleged that the plaintiff in the case now before the courts, George W. Glover, "was also deceived and entered into an agreement not to contest the will of his mother, Rev. Mary Baker G. Eddy, without suspecting that an illegal disposition of the property was in contemplation."

TWO PLANS CONSIDERED

Claimed That Pumping Station Should Be Absolutely Fireproof.

Would Cost Large Sum—Station Never Without a Watchman.

The danger of the destruction of the pumping station at Woodland by fire was investigated yesterday afternoon by a party of city officials, including Mayor Cullum, City Engineer McGilvray, President Shartel of the council and representatives of the water and light board, but no definite action was determined upon.

Two different propositions arose. One was whether or not the pumphouse should be made absolutely fireproof, or whether the danger of fire should be eliminated as far as possible at moderate expenditure. The former would cost a large sum.

The matter will be thrashed out at a later meeting of the water and light board.

It is feared that should the plant suffer from a serious fire, the entire water supply of the city would be cut off. It is understood that some of the members of the board favor the elimination of every possibility of that nature, while others take the stand that the interests of the city will be best served by the other course. The latter state that the matter of expense must be taken into consideration, and that the danger of fire can be reduced so much by the cheaper course, that the purpose will be served almost as well as if the more expensive work were done. It is also pointed out that the place is never without watchmen.

FIRST BASEBALL GAME OF THE SEASON.

"Spring has came."

The first "reggler" baseball game of the season was played this morning on the erstwhile free rink at Fifteenth avenue east and London road, the Gopher Juniors and Fifteenth Avenue Sluggers being the opposing forces. Neither team has the honor of winning the first game, the score being tied at 12 to 12. Pitchers didn't work very long at a time this morning and the game was played in regulation big league style, with frequent changes.

The pitchers for the Gophers were Paul Flynn, Howard Parsons and Dewey Brown. Fred Cayo and Howard Parsons caught. For the Sluggers, the pitchers were Teddy McQuaid and Elmo Henderson. Dewey Brown is captain of the Gophers and Paul Flynn manager, while Bert Webb is field leader of the Sluggers and Tedd McQuaid handles the managerial reins.

The furnishing of the exhibit car, which is to be part of the potato special to be sent out Monday for a ten days' trip through Northeastern Minnesota, was begun this morning, with A. B. Hostetter, superintendent of agriculture of the Duluth Commercial club, in charge. Potatoes will be featured, but the tubers will not be the whole show. There will be other exhibits of interest to the farmers and anybody who visits the car will be able to spend a profitable few minutes.

Charles Melby, superintendent of the poor farm, has furnished Mr. Hostetter with some excellent samples of Carman and Burbank potatoes. A. J. McGuire, superintendent of the state experimental station at Grand Rapids, has contributed Carman and Early Ohios. The Holyoke Farmers' club has sent in some Carmans, and the Floodwood club has sent Early Ohios, Carmans and Burbanks. Dr. Magie will also contribute some samples from his farm and other Duluth agricultural enthusiasts will add to the display.

Along the route other samples, brought in by the farmers for comparison and expert criticism, will be added to the display, which will be the finest exhibit of potatoes ever brought together in Northeastern Minnesota.

The baggage car will also contain shipping cases, small implements recommended for use in garden work, supplies for poultry breeding, including incubators, brooders, feeding boxes and coops, and other articles of interest to the farmers. Pictures of farm scenes in different parts of Northeastern Minnesota will be shown, as well as pictures of the St. Louis county exhibit at the Minnesota state fair.

The Producers' Co-operative Market association this morning received a consignment of guaranteed fresh eggs from the Ascov Farmers' club. A case of the eggs has been turned over to the potato special and the chef will use them on the trip in order that the agricultural experts may pass expert judgment on them.

The potato special will pull out of the union depot at about 7 o'clock Monday morning, going first over the Duluth & Iron Range tracks to Two Harbors. The swing will be made around Northeastern Minnesota on the succeeding days and the train will return to Duluth Thursday, April 7, when an all-day institute will be held here for the farmers of the surrounding district.

The experts on the special will be C. E. Brown of Elk River, a member of the staff of the state farmers' institute; Prof. O. M. Olson of the state agricultural school; Prof. N. E. Chapman, head of the poultry division of the extension department of the state agricultural collect; A. B. Hostetter, superintendent of agriculture of the Duluth Commercial club, and H. A. Hopkins, manager of the Producers' Co-operative Market association.

INDORSE PLAN OF PROF. BASS

About fifty Woodland property owners, who met last evening at the home of A. L. Warner, indorsed the plans for the Woodland trunk sewer prepared by Prof. Bass.

According to his estimate the cost will be only $30,000. The property owners felt that the cost of the sewer as planned by the city engineer was too great. His first estimate was $135,000, and this was reduced later to $115,000 by following the shorter route of the sewer planned by Prof. Bass.

Part of the sewer lines now in use will be incorporated in the trunk line to Lake Superior, and it is believed it will be ample for many years to come. It will be constructed of tile.

TEAMSTER LOSES BLOOD.

Fargo, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peculiar accident which may prove fatal occurred to Andrew Lungren, a teamster. He stepped on a piece of broken glass which cut through his shoe and made a four-inch incision in the bottom of his foot severing an artery. It is estimated he lost half the blood of his body before reaching a surgeon. The injured man is unconscious from the loss of blood.

CONFERENCE OF UNIONS

Workers Would Strengthen Position of Organized Labor in Duluth.

Plan Big Gathering to Increase Interest in Union Work.

What is the matter with Duluth labor organizations?

Why is there such a noticeable lack of interest?

Why has the attendance at the meetings of the Duluth Trades and Labor assembly fallen off in the last year?

Why is it that the meetings of different unions have but a small attendance and that little business is transacted?

Is it that the labor organizations are losing their grip in Duluth?

Duluth union men are asking themselves these questions and have been for some time past.

The meetings of the Trades and Labor assembly are poorly attended. The delegates from the different unions fail to show up.

To find out what is the matter and also to organize and strengthen the unions in Duluth a conference has been called.

At the meeting of the Trades and Labor assembly held last night at the Kalamazoo hall, S. S. McDonald, chairman of the committee in charge of the matter, reported that seventeen of the local unions have already announced their intention of having delegates present at the conference meetings.

The organization committee was instructed to set the date of the conference early in April.

Mr. McDonald also reported on the recent meeting of the executive council of the state Federation of Labor. It was announced at that meeting that twenty-seven new unions had been organized in the state during the year. The State Federation will send an organizer to Duluth in the early part of April.

The work of publishing a directory of Duluth labor unions which was done by two members of the Typographical union, was indorsed by the Duluth assembly.

E. G. Hall, a member of the executive council from Minneapolis, gave a stirring address in which he urged the need of organization of the laboring class on the range.

STATE-WIDE PRIMARY BILL PASSES SENATE AFTER LONG DEBATE

Against the bill—Coller, C. F. Cook, L. O. Cooke, Dunn, Gunn, C. D. Johnson, G. H. Sullivan, Van Hoven—8.

Absent or not voting—Dunea, Glotzbach, Handlan, Pauly, Poehler, Works.

When the bill was taken up yesterday afternoon Senator G. H. Sullivan of Stillwater began a series of amendments. First he proposed to provide for a platform convention, instead of having the platforms framed by the successful candidates after the primaries. He proposed two delegates from each county and one for each 300 votes.

Senator Sageng said that few would attend the caucuses and that the conventions would be in the hands of the politicians. Others objected and in order to arrange for having the delegates elected at the primary election, the bill was laid over for an hour. At the end of that time Senator Sullivan submitted a new amendment, providing for platform conventions to be made up of four delegates from each senatorial district, to be elected at the primary election. His amendment was lost, 27 for and 31 against.

Abiding By the Platforms.

Then Senator G. H. Sullivan proposed that candidates be bound by law to abide by the platforms they frame under the proposed bill. His amendment was treated as a joke, though it was not so intended. Senator Schaller said it ought to provide that if candidates when elected didn't abide by the platform it should be made a felony. Senator Moonan added that they ought to be liable to damages by those injured by their failure to abide by the platform. The amendment was lost, 18 for and 37 against.

Senator J. D. Sullivan then offered an amendment striking out the section providing that the candidates should frame the platforms. His amendment failed also, 22 to 33.

Senator G. H. Sullivan proposed to raise the percentage of the party vote required at the primaries from 10 per cent to 15 pere cent, and that was lost, 9 to 41.

Senator Schaller cut off further debate or amendment by moving the previous question, and the vote was taken. On the roll call Senator Julius Coller said he was against the bill on three grounds: First, that it would give the dominant party undue power; second, that only men with money, whether their own or somebody elses, would be able to make a campaign for a state office under it; and third, that it would be unfair to the rural communities, as it would give the cities, with their congested population, an advantage.

Senator G. H. Sullivan, in explaining his vote agaist the bill, said that the cost of elections under it would be appalling, and that it would enable any kind of men with money to beat the best men without money.

Control of Water Power.

The house passed Representative Lewis C. Spooner's bill for the state control of water power and other water resources, by a vote of 84 to 28, after a debate involving the question whether the state can take away the water power rights now claimed by the owners of riparian rights.

The theory of the opponents of the bill is that ownership of land along waterways includes ownership of water power rights.

The bill gives the state the ownership of the beds and lands under the waters of all navigable rivers, on the theory that riparian rights include only the right to have access to the streams, and that the water power goes with the ownership of the beds of the rivers.

After declaring the state's ownership of the land under navigable rivers, the bill declares that "the natural energy of the waters of the navigable rivers and lakes" belong to the state and are "hereby declared to state regulation and control for all purposes except such as are reserved to the federal government in the United States Constitution."

There is created a water supply commission of three members, to be appointed by the governor at salaries of $5,500 for the chairman and $2,500 for the other members, and to have full authority over the water resources of the state. The commission is to inquire into the best methods for the prevention of floods and into waterway development projects, including the feasibility of a canal between Lake Superior and the Twin Cities.

Public water supplies and sewerage systems are placed under the state board of health, which is to consult the water supply commission about them.

The most important feature is that which grows out of the declaration that the state owns the water powers. All existing franchises are repealed, and the commission is to issue new ones good for forty years, the beneficiaries paying from 10 cents to $2 per horse power per year as a franchise fee.

In short, the commission is given complete control over the waters of the state, with ample powers to safeguard the public interests.

The house yesterday afternoon passed a bill by Representatives Orr, Burnquist and C. E. Stone, declaring the state's ownership of "the beds and lands under the waters of navigable rivers," and providing that where the channel of any navigable stream is changed, the land left bare is to go to the city in which it is situated. The purpose of this is to allow St. Paul to change the channel of the Mississippi to make room for more tracks for the proposed new union depot.

The senate yesterday afternoon passed Senator C. F. Cook's bill prohibiting discrimination on railroads or in hotels or theaters against men wearing the uniforms of soldiers or sailors, and Senator Denegre's bill allowing first-class cities to appropriate $10,000 a year for public purposes.

Are the Committees Packed?

Whatever the outcome of the Klemer sensation in the house, no doubt it will leave some slight stain, however undeserved. A charge that the committees are packed in the "interests of the special interests" goes far, much farther than its denial; and it is a charge that rests so completely on suspicion—if not prejudice—that it is impossible to disprove it.

Are the committees packed?

Of course they are packed.

All committees are packed.

Congress was lately Republican, so its committees in both houses were packed with Republicans. Congress has gone Democratic and presently its committees will be packed with Democrats.

The Minnesota house was organized after a contest between the supporters of J. A. A. Burnquist of St. Paul and H. H. Dunn of Albert Lea. Mr. Dunn won and his friends and supporters got the best committee places. To that extent the committees were packed.

Mr. Burnquist lost and while few of his friends have any great ground for complaint, as a rule they did not get the best places because most of them went to Dunn's friends.

That contest, in a way, was more than a contest between two individuals. It was in a certain sense a contest between radical and conservative forces in government and the conservative forces won. Having won, they organized the house.

It is only fair to say, however, that there never has been a time in the history of the state when it was so untrue as it is today that the committees are "packed for the special interests."

Dr. Dunn is not a believer in county option, so his temperance committee did not act favorably on the county option bill. Yet it did, by a unanimous vote, and at the express request of Speaker Dunn, report back the county option bill to the house without any delay whatever, so that early and square-footed action might be taken upon it. A committee made up entirely of county optionists, as Mr. Burnquist might have constituted his temperance committee if he had been elected speaker, could have done no more. It might have recommended the bill to pass instead of sending it out without recommendation, but that wouldn't have given it a single additional vote in the house.

That case is typical. All there is to the charge that the house committees are packed is that Speaker Dunn did not turn over the important chairmanships and the control of the important committees to the friends of his opponent—and no speaker ever elected ever did such a thing as that.

Favored Distance Tariff Bill.

All committees are packed. Speaker Dunn, it happens, was in favor of this distance tariff bill, a measure frr which the reform forces in the state have been contending. His railroad committee is "packed" with men favorable to distance tariff, though the failure of the bill in the senate removes it as an issue.

Speaker Dunn had pledged himself to reapportionment, and he packed the reapportionment committee with friends of reapportionment, instead of turning it over to the enemies of reapportionment.

So are the senate committees packed.

Lieutenant Governor Gordon also believed in the distance tariff bill, and his railroad committee was "packed" with advocates of the distance tariff. He favored county option, and the senate temperance committee has a large majority of believers in county option.

Lieutenant Governor Gordon, too, was pledged to reapportionment, and he appointed a reapportionment committee favorable to reapportionment.

Packing committees is the commonest thing in legislative bodies. To find a presiding officer who fails to put in the majority on the committees he appoints men friendly to him and favorable to the things he believes in is the rarest.

Nevertheless, whatever the outcome of the Klemer sensation, doubtless there will be folks who will believe that the house committees were packed for the special interests. In point of fact they were packed to represent the sentiments of a majority of the house, and a majority of the house ought to represent a majority of the people of the state.

Evening Session of House.

The house, industrious of a sudden, has taken to the night session habit, and it had another evening meeting last night, when general orders were taken up with Representative Lydiard of Minneapolis in the chair. The attendance was light, and only measures on which there was no controversy were taken up.

The remaining two bills taking care of the newspaper publications of the proposed constitutional amendments last fall were disposed of. One has already been advanced to the calendar providing payment for the country newspaper which made lawful publication of the amendments—three in each county, and three publications in each paper. Last evening a bill paying these newspapers for the fourth publication authorized by the secretary of state but not authorized by law, was advanced to the calendar. The third bill, paying twenty-six newspapers in excess of the number provided for by the law, was killed.

A bill by Representative Burnquist, providing for a legislative reference bureau, was advanced to the calendar. It provides for an assistant in the state library, to be employed at $200 a month from Nov. 1 to May 1 in the years when the legislature is in session, and appropriates $1,000 a year to be used by the state librarian in gathering material likely to be needed in helping the legislature draw bills.

The house advanced to the calendar the bill by Representative Mattson, providing that clerks of district court and secretaries of commercial clubs shall act as assistants to the commissioner of immigration by helping him direct immigrants seeking homes in the state, and by sending to those who make inquiries of the immigration commission literature about their respective localities. An amendment was adopted providing that none of these officials shall be designated to help the immigration bureau if they are connected with private land dealings.

A bill by Representative Fowler was recommended to pass, prohibiting the making of false statements to obtain property or credit under penalty of one to five years in the penitentiary, one year in the county jail, or $1,000 fine.

Representative Borgen's bill, intended to protect people building houses from being caught by builders' liens, and requiring notice from lien claimants, was advanced to the calendar.

Representative Hillman's bill requiring those advertising for strikebreakers to state in their advertisements the fact that a strike is in progress, was killed.

Telephone Men Heard.

The senate chamber was comfortably filled with rural telephone men last night, the occasion being a hearing by the house committee on telephone and telegraph on the Minette-Schwartz bill putting telephone companies under the supervision of the state tax commission with power to regulate rates and service and to compel telephone concerns to connect with each other. The bill is asked for by local independent lines, but is opposed by the Bell interests.

The Knapp special drainage investigating committee last evening engaged C. B. Stewart of Madison, Wis., engineer of the Wisconsin forestry board, as an expert to look over the work done on the ditches in Aitkin county which are particularly under investigation. He will leave Sunday for the north to take up his work, and will make a report to the committee as soon as possible, in order that the committee may make its report to the house before adjournment.

Arms and Legs Out of Shape—Helpless, Suffering Intensely.

The Treatment That Cured — Now Hearty and Healthy—Gained Fifty Pounds.

"There is no medicine made on this earth that stands higher in my opinion than Hood's Sarsaparilla or Sarsatabs, which are Hood's Sarsaparilla in tablet form. It has raised me from a crippled and helpless condition to perfect health. I had suffered for a long time from rheumatism and in August, 1908, was suffering intensely. Both arms and legs were drawn out of shape and I was an absolute cripple for five months. I received Hood's Calendar for 1909 from our druggist, W. H. Graffam, and with the calendar I found a post card offering me a trial of Sarsatabs on the 'No cure no pay' plan. I sent for a box and at the end of thirty days the pains of rheumatism had entirely ceased, although my body and limbs were still drawn out of shape. I continued using the medicine, took three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla with Peptiron Pills and also Hood's Vegetable Pills. I am rejoiced to be able to say this treatment effected a perfect cure. I am now strong, hearty and healthy with no trace of rheumatism, and I have gained fifty pounds in weight in the last year. I cannot tell my story in as glowing language as I would like, but I have stated the simple facts, which I hope may be the means of inducing others who have rheumatism to follow the same course of treatment that was so successful with me. I am willing to answer all inquiries if accompanied by stamps for return of postage." Robert Wilcox, West Scarboro, Maine. Jan. 31, 1910.

Hood's Sarsaparilla effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than twenty different ingredients, each greatly strengthened and enriched by this peculiar combination. There is no real substitute for it. Get

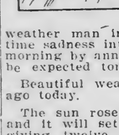
RAIN



The mercury touched 54 deg. yesterday and everybody was happy. It isn't time to get out the bathing or tennis shoes yet, but Percival, this weather does make one feel like going fishin'. Today is bright and mild and altogether beautiful. The weather man injects a little springtime sadness into the perspective this morning by announcing that rain may be expected tonight or tomorrow.

Beautiful weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 6:01 and it will set at 6:27 this evening, giving twelve hours and twenty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Lower pressure prevails over the greater portion of the United States, except along the Atlantic coast and in North Pacific districts, the lowest barometer reading occuring in Saskatchewan. This condition has resulted in warmer weather throughout the Lake region and Central Valley states, and rains have fallen over Gulf states, the Rocky mountains and extreme Northwest. During the ensuing thirty-six hours this rain area will probably include St. Louis and Douglas counties, with a turn to colder during Sunday afternoon or Sunday night."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 25.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Upper Michigan—Cloudy, with local rains tonight or Sunday; warmer in east portion tonight; colder in northwest portion Sunday.

Wisconsin — Increasing cloudiness, with showers late tonight or Sunday; warmer tonight; cooler in west portion Sunday.

Minnesota—Unsettled weather, with rain tonight or Sunday; colder Sunday.

Iowa—Unsettled weather, with showers tonight or Sunday; warmer in east portion tonight; colder Sunday afternoon.

North Dakota—Cloudy tonight and Sunday; colder Sunday and in north and west portions tonight.

South Dakota—Unsettled, with probably rain tonight or Sunday; colder Sunday.

Montana—Unsettled and colder tonight; Sunday fair.

Shippers' forecast—Protect 36-hour shipments of perishiables against temperature 25 to 30 deg. in the Dakotas, Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin.

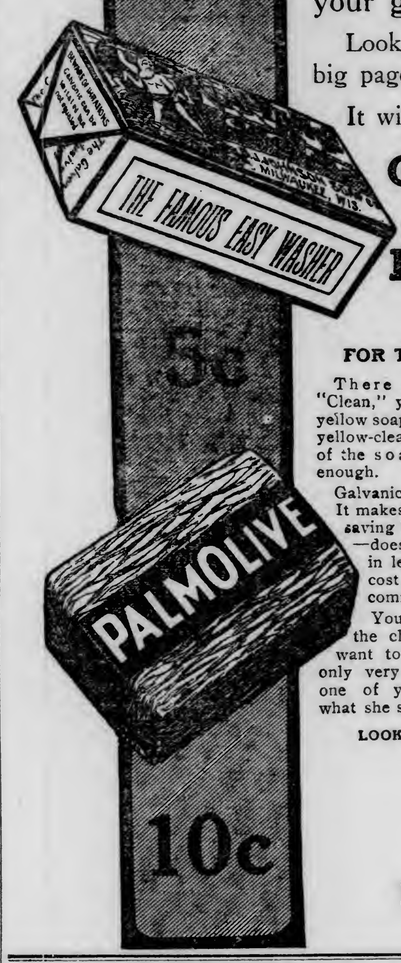
Soap Week Announcement



Monday we tell everything about it. We will publish the list of the grocers' names, and tell you what to say to your grocer.

Look for your grocer's name in the great big page.

It will be a wonderful soap opportunity.

Galvanic Laundry Soap
The Famous Easy Washer

Palmolive Toilet Soap
The Easy Way to Beauty

FOR THE LAUNDRY

There are two kinds of "Clean," you know. Common yellow soap will get your clothes yellow-clean, if you use enough of the soap and work hard enough.

Galvanic is a pure white soap. It makes clothes white-clean, saving half your soap money—does the work itself—and in less time and doesn't cost one penny more than common soaps.

You don't have to boil the clothes—unless you want to—and you need rub only very soiled spots. Ask one of your neighbors—see what she says.

FOR THE TOILET

Palmolive—through the wonderful effect of its palm and olive oils—makes your hands smooth, soft and beautifully white. You have never known soap so delightful to use—so free to lather even in the hardest water—so delicately perfumed—so richly exquisite in texture.

Palmolive has a larger sale than any other high-grade toilet soap. Isn't the soap that has pleased the most women likely to best please you.

AL WILSON AT THE LYCEUM

Pleases Audience With His New Vehicle "A German Prince."

There are apparently Wilson audiences just as there are Maude Adams and Ethel Barrymore audiences. Evidently the folks who were at the Lyceum theater last night were a Wilson following from the gallery to the pit. Wilson got half a dozen curtain calls and he made a little speech.

Wilson's vehicle is not notable for comedy, brilliancy, lines, plot, construction or anything else. If Wilson were not in it there would be no show. But Wilson is there and on the job almost every minute so the Wilson audiences are satisfied.

"A German Prince" is the title of the offering. The prince gets out of marrying the mother-in-law of the widow to whom he finally gravitates. He is a pauper prince and he acts as courier to Florence Lowell, the wealthy widow from the U. S. A. The widow thinks the real prince has killed himself, but she soon learns that the prince is her courier. The prince gets his lady-love the widow.

While this story is being unfolded Mr. Wilson sings "My Queen of Dreams," "Still as the Night," "Songs of the Fatherland," "Love Is All in All" and "The Nightingale Song." The audience liked Mr. Wilson's singing and was not slow to show its appreciation.

Edwin Barbour was Dennis Spots, ex-bankrupt. Barbour has put on a little flesh since he was here before. His smile remains the same. William Gill didn't have much to do as a Chicago lawyer, but he did it well. Richard Milloy was Markey Davis, a landlord. Harry Springler was Howard Briggs, an American crudity.

Mabel Wright as Florence, the wealthy widow, has a pleasant voice. Lizzie Conway as Mrs. Daphne Lowell, the mother-in-law, played a character part satisfactorily. Mabel Cralg was Alicia Lowell, a Boston girl.

Al Wilson will be at the Lyceum tonight. There was a matinee this afternoon.

PRISONERS HOLD COURT.

Find One of Mates Guilty, Administer a Lashing.

Dalton, Ga., March 25.—Following a night of sleeplessness resulting from the hilarious behavior of one of their mates, prisoners confined in the local jail today organized a court, with judge, jury, bailiffs and official executioner. The offending one was arraigned with all ceremony, then tried and convicted of intoxication and disorderly conduct. He was fined 25 cents and sentenced to the whipping post where he was forced to strip his back to twenty-five lashes.

The prisoners hope to keep order in their colony as a result of their lesson in morals.

A CREDIT ASSOCIATION

Has Been Organized By the Retail Merchants of Cloquet.

Cloquet, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The merchants of Cloquet have formed a credit association, and at a meeting Tuesday night elected Albert Cox, president, and L. A. Fish, secretary. Mr. Cox is the manager of the companies store and is also connected with the St. Louis River Mercantile company. Mr. Fish will give his entire time to the work of the association.

Twin girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. Duncan A. Emmes, Monday morning, and on Wednesday passed away. Rev. F. C. Coolbaugh conducted a funeral service at the home Thursday afternoon.

Tomorrow morning at the Presbyterian church, T. Morey Hodgman, president of Macalaster college, will occupy the pulpit.

John Stark, a farmer living in the town of Harney, died quite suddenly of heart failure, leaving a wife and four children. The remains were brought to Cloquet and prepared for burial, and on Wednesday were interred at the cemetery in Harney.

The young people of the Presbyterian church have secured the "Musical Eckhardts," who will give one of their entertainments in the Nelson opera house, Saturday evening, April 8th.

J. B. Baumann, who was recently appointed register of deeds for Carlton county, to fill the unexpired term of Charles Stolberg, deceased, will soon move his family to Carlton.

Nettie and Sadie Huseby have been spending the school vacation at the Rev. Hostager home in Brainerd. They are Mrs. Hostager's sisters.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church will meet Friday afternoon, March 31, with Mrs. Peter Olesen.

Mrs. George Ackerman will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church, Tuesday afternoon.

RED WING WOMAN IS KILLED BY LOCOMOTIVE.

Red Wing, Minn., March 25.—F. O. Quist, aged 62 years, was struck and instantly killed by Passenger Train No. 3 at the Milwaukee station at 10 a. m. yesterday. She was standing close to the track and the cylinder head of the engine, projecting upon the walk about a foot, threw her under the wheels and she was terribly mangled. She and her husband were on their way to Eggleston to visit some friends.

DEFENDANT BRIDE DENIES SHE IS AN EPILEPTIC.

Marinette, Wis., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Rose Youn of Marinette, who was served with papers in a suit for divorce one month after she was married, has retained an attorney and will fight the action brought by her husband. In her answer to the papers filed by Youn's attorney, the young woman denies the charges made by her husband that she is an epileptic.

Railroad Indemnity Selection of Land Has Same Segregative Effect.

Supreme Court Ruling in N. P. Land Case Is Far Reaching.

The Northern Pacific land grant case, recently decided by the United States supreme court is of far reaching importance, but the effect of the decision is not generally understood. At the request of The Herald, M. H. Stanford, who was associated with H. H. Hoyt in the case and who made the oral argument before the supreme court, has prepared a statement of the case and the effect of the decision, which will be of interest to the many who own the disputed Northern Pacific lands.

Mr. Stanford's statement follows:

"Frederick Weyerhaeuser and John A. Humbird vs. Herbert H. Hoyt, recently decided by the supreme court of the United States in favor of Weyerhaeuser and Humbird, involved the title to the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 7, township 54 north range 14, west, St. Louis county, Minn., but as the question of law decided involves the rights of a large number of people, claiming other lands under like circumstances, a brief synopsis of the case is given.

"Mr. Hoyt, the plaintiff in the case, was the grantee of Richard B. Jones, who on Dec. 17, 1897, filed with the register and receiver of the local United States land office at Duluth, his application to purchase the land in question under what is known as the timber and stone act. His application was received by the local officers and after making the proper proofs, March 27, 1898, he paid the full purchase price of the land together with all legal fees and the receiver of the local office executed and delivered to him at that time an official receipt and certificate of purchase. All of his papers and the testimony relating to his application together with a duplicate certificate of purchase were on the day last mentioned transmitted to the commissioner of the general land office at Washington, D. C., and were by that officer recorded and filed. Every step in the proceedings, on the part of Jones in connection with his application and purchase of the land was regular and in strict conformity with the land laws of the United States. Jones was a qualified purchaser and the land in question was subject to purchase by him, unless the Northern Pacific Railway company, which was the grantor of Weyerhaeuser and Humbird, had acquired a prior right to the land, by virtue of its land grant under the act of congress of July 2, 1864, and the extended limits of its grant by virtue of the joint resolution of congress of May 31, 1870, and the filing of its list of selections for losses on Oct. 17, 1883, and the filing of its amended or correction list on April 11, 1893.

"On Dec. 2, 1901, nearly three years after Jones received his certificate of purchase and after he had sold the land to Hoyt, the commissioner of the general land office held for cancellation the foregoing purchase made by Jones on the ground: 'that the land was selected by the Northern Pacific Railroad company (now Railway company) Oct. 17, 1883, for the second indemnity in lieu of land in Section 11, Town 46, N., R. 16 West, in the primary limits disposed of between the date of grant and the definite location of the road.' On appeal from the said order of cancellation to the secretary of the interior, said order of Dec. 2 1901, was confirmed and in October, 1905, a patent was issued to the Northern Pacific Railway company. This action was brought by Hoyt against Weyerhaeuser and Humbird to have it adjudged that they held the title to said land in trust for the plaintiff, Hoyt, and that they be enjoined during the pendency of the suit, from selling or disposing or removing or from creating any charge upon the land or the timber thereon.

Trial in Circuit Court.

"The case was tried before Judge Page Morris in the United States circuit court, and the bill was dismissed by him as without equities. By the final decree under review the United States circuit court of appeals for the Eight circuit unanimously reversed the judgment of the circuit court with direction to give the plaintiff Hoyt the relief prayed for in his bill, the circuit court of appeals holding, among other things, that lands within the indemnity limits of the Northern Pacific grant were open to entry and sale under the general laws of the United States until the secretary of the interior approved of the selections, although the list of selections had been duly filed with the land department; that the jurisdiction and power of the land department to dispose of the public lands was not arbitrary but subject to law and judicial correction; that such power must be exercised in accordance with the law of the land; that Jones, having entered and paid for the land before the selection had been approved by the secretary of the interior, the entire beneficial interest and the equitable right vested in Jones upon his completion of his purchase and the railroad company and its successors in interest held the title under the patent in trust for Jones and his grantees.

"The supreme court of the United States admitted the doctrine that the power of the land department to dispose of the public lands of the United States was not arbitrary but subject to law and judicial correction. It held, however, reversing the judgment of the United States circuit court of appeals; that the land department committed no error in granting the patent to the railway company; that Jones' application to purchase the land being subsequent in date to the filing by the railroad company of its list of indemnity selection, such selection having been subsequently approved by the secretary of the interior, the patent which was afterwards issued related back to the date of filing of selection and cut off the right of Jones to the land, he being an intervening claimant.

"In short, the supreme court of the United States in this case by its ruling declared that a railroad indemnity selection, presented in accordance with departmental regulations and accepted or recognized by the local officials, has the same segregative effect as a homestead or other entry made under the general land laws.

Dissenting Opinion.

"Justice Harlan and Justice Day united in a strong dissenting opinion to that pronounced by the majority of the court. Justice Harlan writing the opinion, among other things said: 'The fundamental inquiry in the case is whether Jones' entry was subject or subordinate to the previous filing of the list of selections of the railroad company, the secretary of the interior not having approved such lists until after such entry and purchase by Jones. The judgment below, (that of the United States circuit court of appeals), proceeded upon two principal grounds: First. That the railroad company did not acquire any right or interest in the lands selected within indemnity limits by the mere filing of its lists of selections. Second. That after such list was filed, and while it was unapproved by the secretary, the land remained fully open to entry and purchase under the laws of the United States: that in the absence of the approval of the secretary of the interior, the mere filing of the lists put no obstacle whatever in the way of homesteaders or others seeking to acquire public lands not already appropriated or sold under the laws of the United States; and that by an entry or purchase in conformity with such laws a right attached to those lands in favor of the entryman which could not be destroyed or overridden by and subsequent approval by the secretary of the interior of the original or enlarged list of selections made by the railroad company.'

"These grounds were sustained by a well reasoned opinion delivered by Judge Sanborn in behalf of the United States circuit of appeals. In view of the elaborate discussion of counsel and by a majority of my brethern it will be instructive to make a liberal extract of that opinion, which Justice Harlan then proceeded to do.

"There is not sufficient space to quote such extracts. Suffice it to say, that Justice Harlan and Justice Day in the dissenting opinion fully sustain the decision of the circuit court of appeals in this case and declare that the opinion declared by a majority of the supreme court in this case, could not be sustained without entirely disregarding the doctrine announced upon full consideration in many other cases decided by the supreme court of the United States, prior to the Sjoli case, which doctrine was restated and reaffirmed in the Sjoli case and quoted with approval in the still later case of Osborn vs. Frosyth.

Decisions Quoted.

"In support of the dissenting opinion Judge Harlan quotes from a large number of the decisions of the supreme court of the United States, wherein the rights of railroad companies acquired in lands within the indemnity limits of their grants by the mere filing of lists of selections were involved, many of such cases relating to the Northern Pacific grant.

"Following such discussion of previous decided cases Judge Harlan concludes: 'Further citation of authorities would seem to be unnecessary. In our opinion, the filing by the railroad company of a list of lands within indemnity limits, which it desired to obtain in order to supply deficiencies in place limits, gave the company no interest in any particular lands, and Jones had the right under the laws of the United States, after the lists were filed, and before they were approved by the secretary, to enter the indemnity lands so specified and to acquire them under the laws of the United States and such right could not be affected or impaired by the subsequent approval of such lists by the secretary of the interior; that the mere filing of the list did not and could not, in itself, be made the bases of any claim, that would be inconsistent with Jones' legal right; consequently, the appellee (Hoyt) claiming under Jones, had the better right. To make the approval by the secretary of the interior relates back to a date, when the railroad company confessedly did not have, and could not have acquired any, even an inchoate interest in these lands, and thus cut off and destroy the intervening rights acquired before the secretary's approval, would be to make a new and dangerous application of the doctrine of relation discussed at the bar. A subsequent act cannot be properly used to give legal effect to a prior act, as of a time when such prior act when performed, if the prior act had no efficacy whatever, to confer an interest in the lands to which the two acts related. No adjudged cases hold to the contrary.

"In our opinion the judgment of the circuit court of appeals (that Jones by his entry and purchase acquired the entire beneficial ownership and equitable right to the land in controversy and that the railroad company and its successors in interest obtained nothing by the patent but the bare legal title which they held in trust for Jones and his successor in interests, Hoyt,) should be affirmed.

Campbell Case Decided.

"The case of Charles D. Campbell vs. Frederick Weyerhaeuser and John A. Humbird was argued and submitted at the same time with the Hoyt case and the court held that as it was of the same general character and was considered and tried below as one case as in any event the decision rendered in the Hoyt case, that decree of this, the decree of the circuit court and the circuit court of appeals is affirmed.

"Justice Harlan and Justice Day also dissented from the opinion of the majority of the court in the Campbell case.

"These cases were twice presented to the supreme court of the United States, the first argument was made the day preceding the last which that the late Chief Justice Fuller sat in that court in the hearing of oral arguments. Chief Justice Fuller died before the case was decided and by the court's order a reargument was had. At the second argument there were three new members of the court, Justice Hughes, Justi e Lamar and Justice Van Devanter.

"The parties were represented by the same attorneys at both hearings, Charles W. Bunn, Frank B. Kellogg and Stlus W. Burr filed briefs in behalf of the appellants, the oral arguments being made by Charles W. Bunn and Frank B. Kellogg. H. H. Hoyt and M. H. Sanford filed briefs and M. H. Sanford made the oral argument in behalf of the appellee."

COPPERS DEAD; UNDERTONE WEAK

Values Sag of Their Weight —Market Dull and Featureless.

The coppers were weak and listless today and there was nothing of interest in the market. Trading is so light both here and in the East that the market's course is of very little consequence. The situation probably will stay in a rut for two weeks at least, or until the supreme court meets again.

Amalgamated sold at $62.87½, East Butte at $12.25, Giroux at $6.18¾, Greene at $6.50, North Butte at $28.25, Shattuck at $19.12½, Superior & Pittsburg at $14.12½.

Thompson, Towle & Co. say: President Cole, in the annual report to Giroux shareholders, expressed the opinion that within three or four months the Giroux will begin shipments of ore from its Alpha workings. For three years the Giroux has been endeavoring to reach these rich deposits of ore. Its knowledge of these deposits of rich ore comes from the developments from the old Alpha shaft before the Cole-Ryan interests became interested in the property, by the use of diamond drills operating both to depth and horizontally at a depth of 1,200 feet in the old Alpha shaft.

These drills showed 60 feet of ore averaging 17.7 per cent in one vertical drill, and in a hole bored at a flat angle 180 feet north of the shaft, ore averaging 14.8 per cent copper was found, while an old winze put down 90 feet northwest of the shaft averaged 12.6 per cent copper for a distance of 110 feet.

To open these rich ores the company put down its big five-compartment shaft, and is now driving to the ore from that shaft on the tenth, twelfth and fourteenth levels.

Independent of the values in the 9,620,000 tons of porphyry ore already developed, there would appear to be speculative possibilities in Giroux stock before the shipments from the Alpha shaft are commenced.

Walker's copper letter in Saturday's Boston Commercial says:

"Copper is more active and slightly firmer in tone. Lake is 12½ to 12⅝ cents and electrolytic 12¼ to 12⅜ cents a pound. I hear that a recent bid of 12⅞ for 12,000,000 pounds of electrolytic for June and July delivery was refused, indicating that producers expect to realize higher prices three or four months hence. American consumers are in the market again and together with foreign buyers are said to have taken 100,000,000 or more pounds of copper so far this month. The home demand is very urgent. As recently as last Saturday one consumer was endeavoring to buy three carloads of copper for delivery before the end of this month.

"Apparently the deadlock between producers and consumers has been broken. Two or three months ago, when copper was about half a cent higher, consumers stopped buying for future delivery, and through January and February bought only such amounts as were absolutely required to prevent a cessation of their manufacturing operations. As is usual when there is a deadlock, the consumers won. They can now buy copper for a little more than 12¼ and 12½ cents for electrolytic and lake. Evidently the consumers have become worried by the extremely small stocks of copper they are carrying, and they have satisfied themselves that the price is unlikely to go much, if any lower, this year.

"Those who are interested in the foreign speculative metal markets tell me that a considerable amount of the European surplus is held by the traders who speculate in copper on the London metal market much as grain and cotton are traded in in this country. It is needless to say that the average holdings of these traders show a very heavy loss at present prices. Some of this copper was bought at above £70 a ton, and the cost of carrying it is £3 10s to £4 annually. When there begins to be even a slight improvement in the general statistical position of the metal many of these speculators will average their holdings.

"What the metal market most needs just now is an increase in demand. Copper interests believe that this will be realized in the comparatively near future. The low money market is stimulating a demand for bonds, and the financing of new enterprises is, therefore, beginning to be possible. If the railroads decide to adopt a progressive constructive policy they will stimulate a largely increased demand for copper.

"At present it seems hardly possible that the world's production in 1911 will be materially larger than in 1910. The Ray and Miami concentrators are just beginning to treat ore; but they will not put any copper on the market before July, and probably not more than 30,000,000 pounds altogether this year. Amalgamated, Calumet & Hecla, Utah Copper and Phelps, Dodge & Co. are continuing their policy of curtailment. The metal situation, therefore, is not quite as blue as it was two or three weeks ago."

TATNALL HEADS ANCHOR LINE

Word was received today of the election of Erie & Western Transportation the Erie ⅞ Western Transportation company, which operates the Anchor line boats that run to the Head of the Lakes. John E. Payne, former president of the company, died in Philadelphia only recently.

J. C. Evans was re-elected vice president and general manager of the company.

Mr. Tatnall is also the fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad and was also a former member of the board of directors of the Anchor line. Through his position as one of the directors of the Anchor line, Mr. Tatnall became thoroughly familiar with the steamship business.

It is probable that the new president of the company will visit the Head of the Lakes some time the present season.

FATAL COLLISION ON CANADIAN PACIFIC

Trains Come Together at Schreiber, Near Fort William.

Winnipeg, Man., March 25.—A train of empty passenger coaches eastbound to Toronto on the Canadian Pacific railway, met head-on early this morning an immigrant train of stock and effects en route to Winnipeg near Schreiber, east of Fort William. Both of the trains were badly wrecked. The wreckage caught fire. Three persons are reported to have been killed, other bodies may be in the burning train.

Among the known dead is a trainman, F. G. Kimball.

The wreck carried away the telegraph line, interrupting service.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY.

Former Clerk in Store Said to Have Stolen Watch Put Up for Loan.

Oscar Olson, 21 years old, was arrested this morning by Patrolman Oscar Olson on a charge of petit larceny. It is claimed that he gave Harry Meeker, a laborer, $1 on a gold watch, telling him that he could redeem it any time at the store at 529 West Superior street, where the prisoner said he was employed. When Meeker went there to redeem the timepiece it was not there. It developed that Olson had worked there at one time, but not recently. It was learned that he had pawned the watch for $4.

CAMPAIGN NEARS CLOSE

George H. Maxwell Will Wind Up With Big Meeting at Armory.

Talks on "Acre-Culture" to Audience at the Y. M. C. A.

George H. Maxwell will wind up his campaign of education of Duluth into the homecroft idea tomorrow afternoon at a big meeting at the Armory. The call for the meeting has been signed by Mayor M. B. Cullum for the city, Chairman W. A. McGonagle for the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, Mrs. S. R. Holden for the Woman's council, President L. A. Barnes for the West Duluth Commercial club, and President Richard Jones for the Duluth Trades assembly.

The meeting is expected to be one of the biggest of its kind ever held in the city. Mr. Maxwell will go into all the phrases of the homecroft movement and its effects upon the social and industrial life of the city. He will show a series of stereopticon views showing the results that can be obtained from gardening on small tracts of land and will tell what can be done in Duluth with the expenditure of surplus energy and spare time.

Tonight at the Central high school, Mr. Maxwell will also address a mass meeting that is open to everybody. There he will sum up the different subjects he has discussed at other meetings since he has been in Duluth, and will seek to impress firmly on the minds of his hearers, the fact that the cost of living can be reduced and the standard of living elevated by following out the homecroft idea.

Mr. Maxwell addressed a big meeting at the Y. M. C. A. last night on the subject of "Acre-Culture Rather Than Agriculture." Mr. Maxwell said the introduction of agricultural courses in the public high schools for the teaching of children to cultivate the soil for commercial purposes is a mistake. The children in the city high schools should be taught to cultivate the soil for supplying the family table, he said, for the field is broader and the man in any occupation can put to good use what he learns in an agricultural course of that kind. The man who wants to take up farming as an occupation can develop the instruction given in public schools to take in the greater expanse which farming requires.

Mr. Maxwell covered some of the ground he went over when talking before the business men at the Commercial club at noon yesterday. He pointed out that by developing the home-garden idea in the suburbs of Duluth, the cost of living can be reduced for the workingman and the value of city property can be increased by the increased population and the increased attractions for residence in the city. He said that Duluth is neglecting its opportunities in not advertising its summer climate and attracting to the city people who suffer from the heat in the cities of the Middle West and the East.

Mr. Maxwell also touched upon the advisability of lengthening the winter school term so as to have it extend over the winter months. He would have summer schools established in the suburbs, where the children might be taught the tilling of the soil to obtain products for the home. The way to purify a human being is to bring him into contact with the purifying influences of nature, and the best way to insure a boy growing up without criminal tendencies is to put him in a garden and get him interested in it, Mr. Maxwell said.

At noon today, Mr. Maxwell talked briefly to the Saturday Lunch club at the Commercial club and he also held a conference with jobbers and wholesale men this morning.

Mr. Maxwell's work has attracted a great deal of attention in Duluth. The attendance at his addresses has been exceptionally large and people are showing a keen interest in the ideas he advances. He is expected to address one of the largest audiences ever gathered in Duluth for a lecture at the Armory tomorrow afternoon.

TO CELEBRATE INDEPENDENCE

Normanna Male Chorus Has the Musical Program in Charge.

Norway's national independence day, May 17, will be celebrated this year under the auspices of the Normanna male chorus.

The Normanna male chorus is the local organization which is affiliated with the Norwegian Singers of America. The program which will be presented is patriotic in character.

Normanna's twenty year record in this city, during which time it has labored harmoniously and successfully with other organizations in the promotion of Norwegian song and music in this community, and during which period it has appeared before the public innumerable times, is sufficient assurance that the program of music which is now being prepared will be pleasing to all who attend.

Arrangements are also being made to secure the most able speakers for the occasion. A first-class orchestra will furnish the music.

A grand ball is also being arranged.

HUSBAND FOLLOWS WIFE.

Albert Lea Man Kills Self When Helpmeet Dies.

Albert Lea, Minn., March 25.—A sensation resulted here when J. H. Myers, a well-known citizen killed himself soon after his wife died.

Mrs. Myers had been sick for several months and it was plainly seen that her death was imminent. Her husband showed evidences of great grief and mental depression, and just after midnight his body was found outside the residence with his throat cut, a razor having been used to do the deed.

Mr. Myers was employed in the Rock Island shops here and was highly respected. A married daughter, who lives in St. Paul, and other relatives are here.

BUSINESS SHOWS MODERATE ADVANCE

New York, March 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Although reports from the leading trades and different sections vary considerably and statistical comparisons do not show uniform gains, yet conditions on the whole continue to indicate a moderate advance. It is noticeable that retail trade is generally more satisfactory and many of the important concerns make quite optimistic statements concerning the outlook.

Activity in structural lines has become more pronounced with the opening of spring and conditions in iron and steel are still promising, although there is some abatement in the demand for pig iron. This, however, is offset by an increase in the output of foundry and steel-making grades, while reports from leading centers indicate that stocks have been considerably reduced during the current months. Moreover the leading producer is steadily extending active furnace capacity, having blown in three additional stacks, and is now operating at a 72 per cent rate.

Construction work is being pushed with considerable vigor especially in the East, and there is also a good volume of orders for material at the West, although individual contracts are for a smaller tonnage. The activity in the wire trade continues unaltered, the mill having run almost to capacity for some time past, and manufacturers are expecting a season of heavy consumption.

Sharp revisions in the prices of certain lines of domestic cotton goods led to some hesitation in purchases, but general reductions did not follow, the changes being confined to a few standard lines. Renswed export trade with China was reported and there was a further revision downward of prices on grain cloths. In dress goods and men's wear values are favorable to the purchaser and a fair volume of business is coming forward. Silk manufacturers are growing more cautious because of the narrow margin of profit. Curtailment of operations is noted in textile producing centers where cotton cost is a factor of importance.

The footwear market shows no material change. The demand continues largely for specialties, with staple lines in less active request. The hide markets are generally inactive, but moderate supplies of most varieties keep prices fairly well maintained.

Trade in leather continues quiet and most tanners report business to be dull. Sales of sole leather are restricted on account of the fact that buyers are mostly stocked up with supplies contracted for in January and also owing to the question of discounts.

APPEAL TO THE COURTS

Sixth Street Owners Refuse to Pay for Paving Street Intersections.

Claim Charter Amendment Adopted a Year Ago Applies in Their Case.

A case that interests many residents of Duluth who live on Sixth street, between First avenue west and Fourteenth avenue east, in which, as a test case, Philip Smith appeals from the assessment of Feb. 14, 1911, was on trial at a special term of district court today before Judge H. R. Dibell.

In this case Mr. Smith wishes to be relieved from the payment of $20, the second assessment for the improvement of the street, alley and avenue intersections. Nearly every property owner on Sixth street, between the two avenues named, is anxious to get out of the payment of the second assessment and while only the one case is being tried, it will affect all the property owners assessed.

The case hinges on the charter amendment which was adopted in February, 1910. This amendment provides that the cost of grading, paving and otherwise improving the intersections of streets, alleys and avenues shall be paid by general taxation. The amendment states that the cost of these improvements of intersections shall be paid out of the street intersection and sewer fund. The amendment was to have gone into effect at once after adoption.

The people of Sixth street had already paid one assessment before the adoption of the amendment. They were later called on for another after the adoption. This they claim is unfair and many of them have determined not to pay it until the test case which was on trial this morning, is settled.

They state that as the amendment went into effect at once, they should not be required to pay the second or final assessment.

The city claims that as the petition for the improvements was made prior to the time of the adoption of the amendment, the old system should follow the improvement until finished and paid for.

MINNESOTA AS IT WAS IN 1863

The Boston War Herald in 1863 and 1862 published the following two stories concerning the wealth of Minnesota in iron and copper and the prices of food raised in this state. They were sent by a subscriber who has preserved them and will doubtless be of interest to many readers:

"Minnesota must be a comfortable place for a poor man to live in these times of high prices. The Republican quotes flour at $4 per barrel, dressed hogs at $3.50 per hundred, corn at 45 cents per bushel, hams 4 cents per pound, eggs 7 cents per dozen, and other articles raised there equally low.

"Those who are interested in the study of the amazing mineral wealth of the Lake Superior district will learn with pleasure that the development of its resources in iron and copper is progressing with unparalleled rapidity. During 1862, 112,721 tons of iron ore and 8,590 tons of pig iron were shipped for market. The value of the rough copper shipped from the same region in 1863 is stated at $4,000,000."

SUPERIOR

GRASS FIRES ALARM SOUTH END SETTLERS.

Grass fires in the vicinity of South Superior have been the cause of much alarm to settlers within the last few days. It is feared that serious consequences might result if a rain does not come for south of the city there is much dry brush and inflammable growth.

The fire department at the South end was called out yesterday afternoon to put out a brush fire at Fifty-eighth street and Hammond avenue.

BOAT SEIZED BY CITY FOR PERSONAL TAXES.

The steamer Olympia of the Gilchrist line has been seized by the city to secure the payment of a judgment of $164 and costs, in all $185, on a suit for personal taxes, levied against the boat. The boat has been tied up at the site of the city dock, near the foot of Broadway street, for the past two years.

MISS LAURA COTE WINS DECLAMATORY CONTEST.

Miss Laura Cote won first and Miss Hermia Mueller, second, in the girls' declamatory contest at the Superior high school last evening. Miss Cote will represent the school at the western division contest at Hayward, April 22. Miss Cote's selection was "The Lane That Had No Turning."

Coopers Win Game.

The Cooper Alumni basket ball team of Superior defeated the city team of Spooner at Spooner last evening. The Coopers will probably play the Blaine grads on their return to Superior.

Registration Day.

Tuesday, March 28, will be registration day for the spring election in Superior and those who did not vote at the primaries may register. A number of interesting fights for office are promised at the spring election and the interest is expected to be greater than at the primaries.

Officials From Duluth.

Fenton and Deighton of Duluth have been named as officials for the basket ball game between the Superior high school and the Normal school, this evening, at the high school gymnasium. The high school has arranged a game with the Central high school of Duluth, April 7.

ANARCHISM AND ATHEISM

Rabbi Lefkovits Replies to Lecture Delivered By Emma Goldman.

Wild-Eyed Anarchists Are Not Real Offenders Against Society.

Answering some of the statements made by Emma Goldman on the occasion of her recent visit here, Rabbi Lefkovits of Temple Emanuel last evening chose for his subject "Atheism and Anarchism," and delivered a stirring reply to the most notorious anarchist in America.

Rabbi Lefkovits chose for his texts: "The fool hath said in heart, there is no God and let us break their bands asunder and cast away their ties from us." He said in part:

"Anarchism and atheism are closely related. Anarchism, negotiating the right to rule in earth, has always been the boon companion of atheism, which denies supreme rule throughout the universe. Atheists are often anarchists; anarchists are always atheists. Both voice the conviction that the only seat of authority is in the individual will. Both assert that each man is a law unto himself. As the atheist refuses to pay obedience to the supreme will of God, so the anarchist defies the supreme will of the people.

Brothers in Spirit.

"Atheist and anarchist are brothers in the spirit. They are both children of the same intellectual parentage. They both draw their food of filth from the stagnant swamps of muddy materialism. For when a man holds that outside of matter, outside of kings appealing to the senses, there is nothing; that there can be no such king as God, for God is said to be spirit and outside of matter there is nothing; that the only good worth stirring for is material good, and the only life possible is the life on earth, because beyond there is nothing. When a man holds beliefs such as these, then he is of necessity both an atheist and an anarchist. There can be no room in his composition for either a God or a government. His early aim in life is the gratification of his appetite, and being a mere creature of sense he will allow nothing to intervene between him and the full indulgence of his will.

The Real Offenders.

"Therefore the real culprits are not the hair-brained atheist and wild-eyed anarchist, who by their very extravagance render themselves more or less harmless; the real enemies of society are or pseudo-scientific materialists, respected and respectable, many of whom are to be found snugly ensconced in prominent pews in fashionable churches. The teachings implied in their alleged philosophy are the very same teachings that flame forth from the sulphuric lips of the avowed atheist and anarchist. They may be prudent enough to compromise for practical purposes, with their intellectual conscience, and refuse to draw the logical conclusions from their own premises, but it is their teachings that inspire atheism and anarchism in others, who may be less prudent and more consistent.

"Wherever and whenever materialism, with its bastard offsprings of atheism and anarchism, has established itself, it has blighted morality and retarded progress. Witness Rome in the first century. Florence and Venice of the fifteenth century and nearly all of Europe of the eighteenth century, materialism reigned supreme. God had fallen into disfavor, government was despised, and the result was vice, corruption and degeneracy.

"Materialism is pernicious in practice, and is false in theory. It cannot explain how dead matter can endow itself with life. We need a God to account for this. We need a God to account for the origin of motion, for we fail to understand how the insensate primordial atoms of matter could move except by some power outside themselves. We need a God to explain the origin of conscience. Dead matter has no appreciation of right or wrong, but man has. We need a God to explain consciousness. Dead matter does not know that it exists, but man knows that he exists. We need a God to aspire after. The brute beast looks down. Man looks up. We need a God because of the trials and cares, the burdens and sorrows incidental to human life. When the anxieties of existence throng about us, when grief beset us, when darkness covers our path, we may listen patiently to all arguments against God, but our deepest cry will still be to God—we want His love and comfort. If we were machines, mere clay and nothing more, we might be able to endure without it, but so long as the human hand means more than a mere tool, so long as the human heart means more than a mere pump, so long as the human tear means more than a mere drop of water, so long will man hunger and thirst after God, so long will nothing but God's love satisfy him.

"And as man feels the need of a God, so does there exist a human need for government. Order is heaven's first law; it is also that of nature as well as of society. Babel is not a symbol of advancement, but a sign of retrogression, and it is the necessary resultant when each is allowed to follow the bent of his own inclinations. When men will cease to be men and become angels, then, perhaps, government may be dispensed with, but for a long time to come some law, some rule, some form of government will be found necessary.

"Anarchism, then, is so pernicious, politically and socially, as is atheism, its twin brother, morally and spiritually. It is the fool who saith in his heart, there is no God. It is an enemy of society who says, 'Let us break their bands asunder and cast away their ties from us.'"

CASE PUZZLING THE HUMANE AGENT.

Mrs. Ida Sukkanen of Biwabik prefers to take up her residence with any one rather than receive aid from the county or become an inmate of the county farm.

Robert D. McKercher, humane agent, who has been investigating the case, finds the conditions unusual.

Some time ago she was deserted by her husband. She has gone to the homes of her neighbors and taken up her residence. With many of them she was but slightly acquainted.

While living in this manner she has given birth to a child. The family with which she is now living was unknown to her before she decided to live with them. She simply went there and made herself one of the family.

The humane agent was notified yesterday by people who do not wish further trouble with her. He was unable to persuade her that she should go to the county farm.

Two Killed at Neenah.

Neenah, Wis., March 25.—Bostic and Everett Gilbert were instantly killed yesterday when a quantity of dynamite, which they were thawing out, exploded. Several bystanders were injured in the quarry where the explosion took place. A rag, covering the dynamite, caught fire and when water was thrown on it the explosion occurred. Both men were badly mutilated.

Back yards all along St. Croix avenue, between the rears of the houses and the lake, present similar scenes. The clothes are washed outdoors or in the kitchen. They are hung over filth which litters the premises. The ends of the clothes lines are generally attached to out houses, many of which have open doors. The ends of these lots are being entended into the lake by dirt, ashes and rubbish hauled there from other parts of the city.

So-called "double-deckers" are common in Duluth lodging houses. They are built of wood, and jammed in about as close as possible. The majority of these sets are built single—that is, each cot is for one man. But there are numerous "double-deckers" which are built for two men on each plane, or four men in the set. These are nailed to the floor, and if the room is big enough, beds are placed on the floor to occupy all available remaining space. They are prolific breeding places for vermin and the bedding in them is disgraceful, to say the least. The above was taken in a St. Croix avenue lodging house, which had many more of the same kind.

Forty-six men who have no other facilities, are expected to wash inside the little shed shown in the picture. The number varies, but the "boss" stated that he has that many there this week. They sleep in three or four tumble-down frame buildings huddled in a group. The filth of the alley, on which the shed abuts, has to be imagined, as does the smell. The tin basins and the towels on top of the old piano box, except for the soap and water, were the total supply of appliances inside the shed at the time it was visited by a Herald reporter, Dr. Murphy of the health department, and The Herald photographer.

lel to the lake shore.

Nothing which, even by the most exaggerated description, could be termed a bath tub, was found in a careful investigation of the thickly-packed places between the street and the beach.

Nor was a single bowl with hot and cold water, such as are seen in the most ordinary homes of today, located in any of them. Many of them didn't even have washing facilities inside the house. The men who do not have to go outside to perform their ablutions may be considered lucky.

Should they happen to want to indulge in the luxury of a bath, the only place visible, after a search, was Lake Superior, the waters of which at all seasons of the year are rather chilly. And incidentally, along this particular stretch of the shore, it washes against a mass of "made" ground, which is being used to extend the lots which abut the lake. It consists of dirt from building excavations, street sweepings, ashes and rubbish of all descriptions. The yards between it and the houses are of the filthiest, and from them emanates a stench which is sickening. And in some of these yards are the tin wash basins and coarse roller towels which are placed at the disposal of scores of men who earn their livelihood in occupations where it is difficult to keep clean under the best of conditions.

One such yard," a short distance below the railroad tracks, serves for the washing place of at least forty-six men. They are mostly regular boarders and roomers, who are herded in bunches in four or five tumble down frame dwellings in one huddled group. In not one of these ramshackle structures is there the faintest semblance of a wash room. There isn't a sink inside at which the men who "live" there, can as much as clean their hands and faces.

The "Washing" Place.

The washing place into which they are almost "yarded" is worth looking at. The exact location of the wash room is inside a small shed about two feet wide and five feet long. It is built of cull lumber and thrown against the side of one of the shacks in which the men sleep. On one side is a rough board, on which are set the tin basins. In the corner near the door are two or three towels of the roller variety, hung on a couple of nails driven into the wall. By crowding, three men might get in front of the board at the same time to wash themselves.

Which gives rise to the query, "How many of these forty or fifty men are going to wash themselves when the mercury is hugging the lower end of the tube, or a gale is sweeping over Lake Superior, or one of the fall and spring storms is raging, or a thawing is dousing the country with buckets of rain water?"

The immediate surroundings of this particular "wash yard" are at least the equal of anything dirty which can be found at the Head of the Lakes. And more than one so-called reformer, who has been through numerous slums in the biggest cities of the United States, has declared with every evidence of sincerity, that conditions in Duluth are as bad as any which they have ever encountered in their slumming expeditions.

Tin cans are a pleasant relief, compared with the junk alongside them and the mire in which they are reposing. Slop pails, some partly filled and some running over, stand on the boards in front of the wash shed. When they are emptied, their contents are dumped in the alley which runs past it. And it may be remarked that the kitchen door, which connects with the "dining room" in which the two or three score men are fed, is only a few feet away from the wash shed, or wash yard. The clothes of the "boss" and his family, and possibly some of those of the lodgers, are washed between the kitchen door and the door of the wash shed. These clothes are hung out to dry in the rear end of the yard, which is little better than a replica of the alley, which is really part of it.

No Running Water.

Not one of the houses the length of several blocks had a lavatory with running water. This was excused by the tenants on the ground that they had no sewer with which to make connections. But it was the common practice to fasten one end of the clothes lines to the outhouses which lined the rear lines of the lots.

The backs of the yards were alike. If any difference could be detected, it was that some spots were dirtier and filthier than others. A representative of The Herald, accompanied by Dr. Ignatius J. Murphy of the health department and Hugh McKenzie, staff photographer of The Herald, went through most of the herding places on the east side of the avenue and the grounds in their rear. Later, they took in a number of places along Superior street. First street, and the intervening alley, between Fourth and Sixth avenues west, and most of these were just about as bad as those along the lake shore. In some respects the latter were worse, but in practically all of them the men were provided a place inside, such as it was, at which to wash their hands and faces, without invading the filth of the back yards.

Generally, however, the conditions are such that the men who sleep in these places cannot keep clean even should they so desire. Bath tubs are very rare, as are wash bowls with hot and cold water. In fact, they are absent, except in the better class of places. That the men wash themselves at all is the marvel, with the facilities which are provided for them.

The proposed lodging house ordinance, which has been drafted by the health department officials under the direction of Dr. H. E. Webster, health commissioner, and his assistant, Dr. Murphy, makes ample provisions for this highly important sanitary feature. The deadly drinking cup, which has been condemned by the entire medical profession, is also eliminated by the ordinance, which requres that the sanitary drinking fountain shall be installed in its stead. Also the common towel, which has been placed under a ban as strong as that against the drinking cup, is prohibited by the ordinance.

The New Ordinance.

The exact language of this part of the ordinance, which is specific, is:

"In every lodging house there shall be at least one wash room on every floor.

"Every such wash room shall be provided with hot and cold water, set wash basins or washing appliances with running water, both in number and character satisfactory to the commissioner of health. The type, number and arrangement of such individual appliances, set basins and drinking fountains, shall be provided on each floor satisfactory to the commissioner of health.

"In every lodging house shower baths shall be provided and in addition tub baths may be provided. All such baths shall be provided with hot and cold water and shall at all times be accessible for the use of lodgers.

"In every lodging house there shall be at all times provided for the use of lodgers an adequate supply of water and clean individual towels. There shall be no common towels and no one shall be allowed to use a towel which another has used."

The sleeping conditions in the lodging houses were investigated in the sections frequented by the lodging houses. A trip through these quarters is a revelation in "how the other half lives." Beds and bunks are crowded into unbelievably small rooms. The ventilation is vile—unspeakably so. Most of the bedding could not be shown on the streets for covers of a horse hauling a garbage wagon. The walls and floors are in keeping, and a large part of the whole abounds with vermin. Further details of this situation will be taken up in another article next week.

he became a scenic artist. After being stranded by the Kansas City flood several years ago he got to New York, landing a job as a scenic artist with a studio in that city.

Jossenberger had played with mechanics from childhood. The aviators were beginning to get into the papers and when they began to fall out of the atmosphere with considerable frequency Jossenberger remarked that an air vessel wasn't much good unless it was safe.

"And what's more," asserted Jossenberger, "I'm the little boy who can make one."

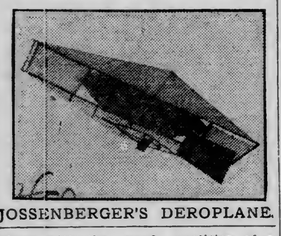
His employer was skeptical.

"I'll back a year's salary against the cost of the materials that I can do it."

"Go to it," said the boss, who had visions of getting a year's work from a competent scenic artist for nothing.

Flies Over New York.

Jossenberger went. Several months later he flew over New York with the deroplane which is said to be the only air craft that is absolutely safe. It combines the advantages of a monoplane with the good qualities of a dirigible. The plane is built around the gas bag. The bag is fifty-five feet long and holds enough gas to keep the craft afloat for thirty-six hours. The machine weighs 400 pounds and can carry 400 pounds, the lifting power of the craft being 800 pounds.



JOSSENBERGER'S DEROPLANE.

If the planes should go out of commission the bag sustains the ship. The operator can land where he pleases even after his planes are destroyed. If the bag goes on the blink it spreads out and forms a parachute. The operator can use his planes to glide to the ground if the bag is put out of commission. If both planes and bag are incapacitated the bag-parachute prevents the machine from bumping the bumps.

While going in front of a wind a sail can be rigged up and the machine can thus conserve its power which is either gas or gasoline or both. Under the machine is a depressor in the form of a fan which creates a suction force and draws the machine to earth in a vertical line. No other air craft can reach the earth except by taking several hundred feet for a glide. The deroplane, however, can hover over a given spot and descend upon it. The deroplane does not have to glide along the ground before ascending but can rise vertically.

The machine will travel sixty to seventy-five miles an hour as a monoplane but when the gas bag is added for safety the maximum speed is between forty and fifty miles an hour, according to the inventor.

Jossenberger is with the Al Wilson show at the Lyceum, as master mechanic, and his contract will keep him with the show until it reaches Kansas City. He will leave the company then and go to Columbia, S. C., the headquarters of the company which is building machines invented by him. He will fly over Lake Erie, up Niagara river and over the falls and will land on a store in Toronto next summer. For this feat he will get $7,000.

"I'll be up in this part of the world in the summer," said Jossenberger, "and I hope to establish a new record for speed between Duluth and the Twin Cities."

An Associated Press dispatch one day last year startled the telegraph editor by its message that a man was flying about the air over New York with a kite. Later the dispatch said that the machine was not a kite but a new sort of combined plane and dirigible air craft. Jossenberger was the daring aviator. He has a photograph showing him circling above the New York World building. The machine is nearly 1,000 feet in the air.

"When one ascends into the air," said Jossenberger, "the earth appears to be dropping away. The machine seems to be still. Traveling in the air is just like riding in a Pullman car. There is not much more movement, unless there is a heavy wind, when the craft rocks considerably. The movements are then in swells or rolls and add to the pleasure of air traveling."

MARDI GRAS OF THE NORTH

behind the carnival movement. The plan is to make Duluth one of the greatest summer resorts in the United States. It is expected that the fete will advertise this city from one end of the country to the other; will eventually become a permanent institution and like the Mardi Gras of New Orleans will bring visitors here from every nook and corner of the country.

A Publicity Campaign.

Traveling men from this city, some of whom cover practically every point in the West, will be asked to become special boosters, and the business men will also be asked to co-operate to make this a big event. Merchants will be invited by the jobbing houses to visit Duluth at this time. A big publicity campaign will start immediately and every man, woman and child in Duluth is expected to become a part of the big advertising machine.

The committee has outlined the carnival program. No wild promises have been made that will not be carried out, and the committee members are determined not to exaggerate any of their plans.

The plans have been outlined by the publicity subcommittee and they will be as follows:

All the larger boat clubs of the Northwest, including the Canadian clubs, will send crews to enter the races. This will bring a great many out-of-town oarsmen and their following to Duluth. A committee of the boat club is making careful preparations for the reception and entertainment of the visiting oarmen. Suitable trophies are being prepared for the winning crews.

Motor Boat Races.

Motor boat races, run in the regulation classes, will attract widespread interest to Duluth's three days of water sports. These races will be open to contestants from all motor boat or boat clubs of the United States and Canada. The fact that three new motor boats, constructed as racing machines of unusual speed, are being built for Duluth owners, will add a particular interest to the races of this motor boat meet. Duluth's excellent course for motor boat racing and the boat club's large fleet of fast boats are attracting a great deal of attention in motor boat circles of the West. It is expetced that a great many out-of-town motor boats, especially from the twin cities and from cities on the Great Lakes, will take this opportunity of entering the contest in Duluth waters.

The sailing races, upon which a great local interest is centered, will be open to all boat clubs of the United States and Canada. Duluth has become famous throughout the Northwest as a city of enthusiastic amateur sailors. It is believed that such a momentous sporting occasion as the coming race meet will bring a goodly representation of fast boats and enthusiastic sailormen from Minnetonka and White Bear, as well as from points east and north of Duluth.

Water Sports.

Minor water sports, such as water baseball, water polo and swimming races are being carefully arranged as events that will add a great deal of interest to the program. These contests will be interspersed throughout the racing features of the schedule in such a way that they will afford entertainment to the onlookers during the progress of some of the longer events. These so-called minor sports have up to the present time been more or less neglected in Duluth athletic circles, but in the past year the interest in fast swimming and water games has had a marked increase, due largely to the activities of the water baseball teams and the swimming races at the Y. M. C. A. tank. The committee in charge of the program of sports for the three-day celebration realize fully the great interest that water games add to such a program especially as appealing to visitors from our immediate territory who are not familiar with aquatic athletics.

The Venetian Fete.

The Venetian fete has become an established and an extremely successful institution of Duluth's summer life. Duluth people realize its attraction and are taking advantage of it to bring their summer guests here for the carnival. Last summer a great increase in the number of out-of-town visitors was evident at the time of the Venetian fete, showing that neighboring cities of the Northwest very rightly consider Duluth's midsummer festivity one which belongs not only to Duluth but to the whole Northwest. Each year has added to the popularity of the event particularly because the carnival itself has been a well conducted, attractive and above all a decidedly distinctive affair. It has come to take an important place in the summer plans of Western tourists.

A possibility of increasing this favorable publicity for Duluth has impressed itself on many of Duluth's most prominent business men. Duluth's opportunity as a summer resort was pointed out by George H. Maxwell in his speeches here on "Homecrofting." From Mr. Maxwell's experience in Los Angeles he prophesies that Duluth can be the most popular summer resort of the Middle West. It is the purpose of Duluth's leading business men to make the illuminated water pageant and three-day rowing, motor boat and sail boat race meet a summer carnival as distinctive a publicity force for Duluth and as strong a drawing card in summer as the Mardi Gras is for New Orleans.

The publicity element in such an undertaking is of the highest importance in preparation for this summer's festivity.

The committee especially appointed by the officers and directors of the Duluth Boat club to plan and carry out the entire celebration in July has at its head Bentley P. Neff. It is the plan of this committee in all its activities to work with a view to Duluth's future standing as a summer resort and as an entertainer of summer guests. It is believed by the committee that the building of such a permanent reputation depends in the first place upon putting up a strictly high class show in July, so that the summer visitors will feel well repaid for their journey to Duluth. No extravagant or exaggerated publicity is to be given to the mid-summer celebration either in Duluth or elsewhere. With such a policy, Duluth's business men hope to gain the enthusiastic co-operation of all Duluth's citizens and to build up a big future for Duluth's Venetian carnival as the popular summer festival of the United States.

the Alapaha river a few miles from here. Latest information from the scene of the wreck is that twenty-five persons were killed and many injured.

The Dixie Flyer is one of the fastest trains through the South. It is made up at Chicago, starting from the Chicago & Eastern Illinois station as No. 95. It is said to have carried a large number of tourists for Florida resorts.

The accident was caused by the engine driving wheel axle breaking off, although the engine remained on the trestle. Hospital trains were sent from the coast line hospital at Waycross to the scene of the wreck with doctors and nurses on board. This train left Waycross at 8:40 o'clock this morning. Doctors were also sent from Tifton on a special train and the company doctors from Willacoochee went to the scene on a handcar. It will be thirty-six hours before the track is cleared.

of the new ministers. This announcement may not be made for some days.

The resignation of President Diaz's cabinet continues to be the absorbing topic in all official and public quarters. Chief interest is now centered in the question, who will be designated for the more important positions in the cabinet; but nothing of a definite character was made known during the early hours today.

The announcement of the resignation while vaguely foreseen for some time, came with distinct suddenness and caused more or less surprise last night. The completeness of the change also was noted with interest, as the resignations comprised the entire ministry, not one of whom is less than 65 years old, namely: Minister of foreign affairs, Enrique C. Creel; minister of finance and public credit, Jose Yves Limantour; minister of justice, Justino Fernandez; minister of public instruction, Justo Sierra; minister of government, Olegario Molina; minister of communication and public works, Leandro Fernandez; minister of war and marine, Gen. Manuel G. Cosio.

The resignations also embrace that of Ramon Corral as a member of the cabinet but not as vice president. The official reason given for the resignations was the belief that it would assist in re-establishing peace and in facilitating contemplated reforms.

New York Wants to Know.

New York, March 25.—The National Railways of Mexico, and other financial interests here with large holdings in Mexico were without other news today from the capital than that carried in the press dispatches.

A friend of Senor Limantour telegraphed him today that it was highly advisable that a prompt explanation of the causes leading to the resignation yesterday of the Diaz cabinet be forwarded at the earliest possible moment.

News Reaches Washington.

Washington, March 25.—Official announcement of the resignation of the Diaz cabinet in Mexico reached Washington today in the form of a dispatch from Enrique C. Creel, minister of foreign affairs of Mexico, to Senor de la Barra, Mexican ambassador to the United States.

The dispatch announced that yesterday the entire cabinet had presented their resignations to President Diaz, who had received them with the declaration that he reserved the right to accept them or to reject them according to his convenience.

Senor Creel added that this action of the cabinet had been well received by the public, as contributing to definite reforms and a lasting peace.

Will Not Lay Down Arms.

El Paso, Tex., March 25.—"We will not lay down our arms until Diaz is out," was the declaration made today by Gonzales Garza, insurrecto secretary of state.

Confident that the resignation of President Diaz's cabinet means the end of the present political regime of Mexico and the institution of great reforms, but still uncertain as to the immediate results which may follow the selection of a new cabinet, members of the insurrecto junta today insisted that the insurrection will proceed.

In spite of the resignation of the cabinet the junta here declared today that there would be no cessation of hostilities in the war zone. It is declared Madero will continue to prevent railroad and telegraphic communication throughout North Mexico and will endeavor to capture more towns as bases of supplies.

The demand that Diaz declare null his last election and agree to a new election for president will not be relinquished and the popular election of governors of states and jefes politico will be insisted upon. The junta declares any negotiations must be conducted under an armed truce.

Nevertheless, the selections made by President Diaz for a new cabinet, it is thought, will have an important bearing on the insurrection. Miguel Ahumada, now governor of the state of Chihuahua, who has been looked upon as a possible minister of the interior, is regarded by the insurrectos as a leader of the reform movement. Senor Jose Yves Limantour and Bernardo Reyes, former minister of war, now in Europe on a military mission, are regarded as men who will figure prominently in the new cabinet if the wishes of the insurrectos are considered.

"It is impossible at present for us to draw definite conclusions from the cabinet resignation," said Senor Gonzales Garza, insurrecto secretary of state. "We are not yet certain that it is not a ruse intended to appease the revolutionists without granting our demands."

The developments at Mexico City are regarded as a direct result of Senor Limantour's conferences with insurrecto agents in New York. Francisco I. Madero, Sr., and Gustave A. Madero, father and brother of the so-called provisional president, had been fully acquainted through the junta here of the terms on which the revolutionary leader would make peace and laid a plain statement of his demands before Senor Limantour at their conferences.

Madero Goes South.

New York, March 25.—Francisco Madero, Sr., and Gustavo, his son, left New York today for San Antonio, Tex., where they can be near Francisco I. Madero, provisional president of the insurrecto party. Before they left, they showed the following telegram from Alfonso Madero, whom they will join in San Antonio:

"Chilapa, in the state of Guerrero, a town of 20,000, is in the hands of the insurrectos. Zahuaripa, in the state of Sonora, Culiacan, the capital of the state of Sinaloa, and Mazatlan, the main port on the Pacific, of the state of Sinaloa, are menaced by insurgents. Otinaga, opposite Presidio, is besieged, and short of provisions. We expect its surrender very soon. Good news from the rest of the republic."

Francisco Madero was visibly elated over the resignation of the Diaz cabinet, but very cautious. "It's a little early to tell just what it means," he said, "but it is certainly along the lines I prophesied. I look on it as the beginning of the end, but if you ask me what the end will be, I don't know. Limantour is now in power, or soon will be. Must wait and see what he will do. According as he fails or succeeds, will the scales dip."

The Maderos would not say in so many words why they have changed their base from New York to this order, but they let it be inferred that they felt events are so shaping themselves that their presence nearer the scene of actual hostilities was needed.

It will be remembered that when Francisco Madero, Sr., first admitted he had been negotiating with Limantour, he was careful to emphasize that he had no power to confirm any terms, but that all negotiations must pass through the hands of the men in the field before they became operative."

THE HEALTH INSPECTORS.

It is to be regretted that such an incident as led to the fining of a storekeeper for an attack on a woman health inspector ever took place. The evidence given in the case was peculiar, in that there were so many different stories told by the witnesses called for the defense. But the thing that came out prominently and was not denied was that the inspector was given to understand that she was not wanted there, and that her work was unwelcome. That being the case, the fine was, to say the least, a good thing in that it will impress on the storekeeper and others the fact that these inspectors are public officials, armed with authority, and that they must be given at least courteous treatment, and their orders obeyed.

It is not pleasant to be a health inspector. It is not pleasant to have to go to people and tell them their faults. Not nearly as pleasant as it is to say to a neighbor that so-and-so's back yard is frightfully dirty and somebody ought to complain to the health department about it. But the carelessness, ignorance or something else of a number of residents of the city has made it necessary to have the inspectors appointed, and the determination shown by Mrs. Baldwin in carrying out her duties is entitled to approval by every citizen.

As long as people are so careless or ignorant or indifferent to their own welfare and that of others that they do not keep their places of residence or business decently clean, health inspectors will be necessary. And as long as they are necessary they should be backed up absolutely by the police and the courts. That is the only way, apparently, to impress some people with the fact that the inspectors are public officials just as much as policemen are, and that their orders must be obeyed just as promptly and strictly. The assault on Mrs. Baldwin was unjustifiable, but the outcome of the affair may have a good effect in helping the health department to enforce its orders. It will serve to emphasize before the public mind the fact that the inspectors have the right to enter premises and order them made clean and sanitary.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION LAWS.

In a decision handed down yesterday the New York state court of appeals declared the workmen's compensation law invalid and unconstitutional, on the ground that it deprives the employer of property without due process of law. The court pointed out that the effect of the act was to abrogate the principles of contributory negligence and the fellow servant doctrine. The facts of the case, which was brought by a workman on lines of the Solvtu Buffalo Crosstown Railway company, were admitted by both parties, the issue being entirely one of law.

Both the fellow servant doctrine and the contributory negligence provisions of the state laws are capable of being abolished by the legislature, and it evidently was the intention of that body to abolish them in the passage of this act providing for compensation to men injured while engaged in certain occupations which are classed by the law as being extra hazardous. Therefore it seems safe to assume that those principles could not have entered very strongly into the decision of the court. They were referred to in the decision and they must be reckoned with by other state legislatures that may seek to add compulsory compensation for injured workmen to the statutes of their respective commonwealths.

But the constitutionality of the compensation act raises a more serious proposition, and one that must be considered by the Minnesota legislature in its discussion of the proposed compensation law in this state. The question of depriving employers of property without due process of law is not a new one. It has been raised in every case where compensation laws have been proposed, and it has formed a great obstacle to every plan that provided for such compensation to be furnished by the employer himself.

In the light of these views, and yet more in the light of the decision of the New York court, the idea of making the compensation take the form of insurance is given new impetus. Indeed, that method of reaching the solution of the problem seems to be the one most favored by members of the Minnesota legislature. The chief difficulty in this plan arises from the question of how the funds to meet the payments to workmen shall be raised—the proportion which shall be paid by the workmen themselves, by the state and by the employers being difficult to determine satisfactorily to all.

It is to be hoped that a solution of some sort may be reached during this session of the legislature. A compensation act is peculiarly needed in Minnesota, where so many men are employed in occupations that must be classed as exceptionally hazardous. It will be a matter of no small moment to the state as a whole if it can find a means of securing ready and certain compensation to workmen, that will pass the scrutiny of the courts and accomplish the purpose desired.

DONE INTO DIALOGUE.

Any one who doubts the ridiculousness of the present position of the United States in the world's postal service ought to read the following dialogue, adapted, with one or two changes in names, from the Syracuse Post-Standard. The characters are a Stamp Clerk and a Citizen who is not familiar with the postal regulations.

Citizen—A book, to go to Superior. It weighs a pound. How much postage?

Stamp Clerk—Sixteen cents.

Citizen—Whew! So much? I guess I'd better not send this other book. It's another copy of the same one, going to a friend of mine in London. How much would that be? It weighs a pound.

Stamp Clerk—Twelve cents.

Citizen—How's that? You're mixed, aren't you? Sixteen cents to Superior and 12 cents to London—is that right?

Stamp Clerk—Right you are.

Citizen—I can't quite figure it out as a business proposition why the United States can afford to send to England for 12 cents what it charges 16 cents to carry to Superior, but I'll take your word for it. And here are two more packages. Each one weighs five pounds. How much for one of them to Tokio, Japan?

Stamp Clerk—Twelve cents a pound, or 60 cents in all.

Citizen—Surely no one would kick on that—2,000 miles across America to San Francisco and then across the Pacific ocean for 60 cents. Great thing, the United States postal service. Now here's the same thing to go to St. Paul—a five-pound package. How much postage?

Stamp Clerk—Can't take it.

Citizen—Can't take it?

Stamp Clerk—Can't take it. Limit on packages for transmission by mail is four pounds. You'll have to send it by express.

Citizen—But you just took a five-pound package to go to San Francisco and thence to Japan, and you won't take one to St. Paul at any price?

Stamp Clerk—That's right.

Citizen—Why?

Stamp Clerk—Postal regulations.

Citizen—Well—Uncle Sam is a corking business man, isn't he?

BEATING THE LOAN SHARKS.

Most people know little about the ways of the loan sharks, at least as a matter of personal experience, and those who know most about them would be far better satisfied if they knew a good deal less than they do. The usury business is not a pleasant one with which to come into contact. There is a heartlessness, an inhumanity, a downright cruelty about it that makes it abhorrent to everybody except the unprincipled wretch who employs it to wring money out of those least able to pay it. For it is that helpless class that falls into the clutches of the real loan shark. No "Heathen Chinee" ever worked in such dark ways; no paint-daubed savage ever went more deliberately about torturing a prisoner than the real loan shark does about squeezing the very life out of his patrons in order to make them yield the last possible penny to swell his own ill-gotten wealth.

There have been laws passed to kill the loan shark's business. Limits of legal interest have been set. Severe punishment has been provided for any person who shall seek to extort more than the legal rate. And yet the loan shark business has prospered, for its practitioner knows how to fool the borrower into believing that the law does not apply to charges for "commissions" and "extensions" and that kind of thing. And the business will continue, probably, as long as men find themselves, because or in spite of their own acts, in sore financial straits and forced to depend on these agencies to get needed funds.

It is pleasing, therefore, to learn how successfully the loan shark has been beaten in Newark, N. J. Six years ago the Newark Provident Loan association was formed to lend small sums of money to the needy, at reasonable rates. These loans have been made at 2 per cent heretofore, but so successful has the business been that the president, in his last annual report, recommends that the rate be reduced to 1½ per cent. The report also gives some surprising figures, as follows:

Last year there were loans to 2,698 persons, the total amount loaned amounting to $173,738.41. The total number of persons who have borrowed from the association since it was organized is 10,652. The net profits in 1910 were $7,428.16, enough to pay the stockholders 6 per cent dividends and to turn $3,927 into the surplus fund, bringing the latter near the limit fixed by law. Compare the low rates charged by the association with those of from 8 to 50 per cent collected by loan sharks, and one can readily see the value of the association and the temptation there is to the unscrupulous to squeeze the victims who get into their net. There is good ground for the opinion expressed by the St. Joseph, Mo., News-Press, as follows:

> Organizations like this should exist in every city. There are a great many people who occasionally get pressed for money, and who are practically forced to place themselves in the clutches of usurers who flourish under one name or another. There is a fair profit as well as a valuable philanthropy in such organizations as the Newark Provident Loan association.

There is reason for just such an organization in Duluth. Recent letters to the Open Court have proved this, and more evidence could be secured easily by anybody who cared to look for it. Such an organization is of peculiar value since, while it practices philanthropy, it does so without infringing on self-respect or encouraging shiftlessness and dependence on others.

THE "ACRE-CULTURE" IDEA.

There is a deal of pith and point in George H. Maxwell's advocacy of "acre-culture" as opposed to agriculture. Mr. Maxwell is an enthusiast in his particular line, and as such is entitled to some leeway when speaking on the subjects in which he is most vitally interested. Therefore he may be excused for condemning the system of teaching agriculture in the public schools. That is a step that has been won by hard work, and it is an advance in popular education that it would be too bad to lose just as it is being realized. In the most practical form that such work is assuming at present, the agricultural instruction is being introduced in rural schools, the schools of the smaller cities and such localities as are surrounded by an active agricultural population. Under these circumstances the boy or girl who is taught the principles of agriculture has a chance to see them worked out on a large scale and to help in that work. It is not a question of a few square feet, with these pupils, but of so many acres. In their cases the teaching of "acre-culture" would be but a waste of time and effort, since their interests and their work must deal with larger areas and big crops.

But for the city boy or girl or man or woman, for the one who probably will spend the rest of life in the city or on such small lots near the cities as may be purchased with moderate means, the "acre-cultural" instruction is invaluable. To such persons as these the details of farm management, the cultivation and enrichment of soil in large areas is of no practical interest. What they want to know is how to get the most possible out of small areas of land, what to do to have a home garden that will be both pleasant and profitable, how to plant and manage a garden rather than a farm.

With such people as these the difference between agriculture and "acre-culture" as the two are distinguished by Mr. Maxwell is just the difference between studying some impractical theories and learning things that they can put into practice. Duluth is surrounded by agricultural land, and there ought to be an opportunity in or near the city for instruction in how to work that land. It is to be hoped that the state will establish the institution provided for in the bill now before the legislature. But for the people who live in the city and who always will make their homes there, such instruction as Mr. Maxwell advocates cannot help but be valuable. To them, agriculture is a big and foreign subject, but acre-culture is something that they can understand and apply. Mr. Maxwell's presentation of that theory in Duluth has been forcible and interesting. The matter should not be allowed to drop there. Duluth people should take to the home-crofting idea with a vim. It is worth while.

WILL SHEEHAN WITHDRAW?

Albany's rumor-factory has resumed its output of stories that Sheehan is going to withdraw from the fight for the senatorship as successor to Chauncey Depew. Whether the rumors have any better foundation this time than they have had before does not appear. There has been a new Democratic caucus, and there is to be another one Monday. But Murphy still is on the job, and Sheehan, if he has had any softening of the heart or awakening of the mind, has not given any signs of such experience. Dix, too, continues in the governorship, but the country has come to regard his relation to the trouble at Albany as wholly negligible, except in so far as it furnishes passive support to Tammany and Boss Murphy.

But the country is not wholly a loser by this spectacle that has been presented at Albany this winter. It has not raised New York politics any in the popular estimation, and indeed it would be too much to expect anything to accomplish that until some political power arises and puts Tammany down and out for good and all. But the Albany deadlock and its attendant circumstances have been a god-send to the advocates of popular election of United States senators. It must be ranked but a little below the Lorimer muss as a helper of the popular election cause. And this will be true whether Sheehan finally sees the light and withdraws or whether he keeps up his fight.

And yet, all things considered, it would be a decided relief to the rest of the country if he would quit. Such an affair as that at Albany does no credit to the state of New York or to our system of government. It is a disgraceful exhibition of the spirit that constitutes the most serious menace to our public institutions and to our government itself. It displays the yellow peril that exists within the country itself, one that is more real and more dangerous than any Asiatic peril. It is, in effect, a form of treason against the system of government, if not against the government. It will be a relief to the whole country when the possibility of such things is done away with.

PATERSON TO THE FRONT.

New Jersey raises some other things besides trusts and mosquitos. It puts out a brand of judge that sometimes hits a small bulls-eye squarely in the center. Such a brand of the judicial article has his station in Paterson, and he has delivered a judgment there that Solomon with all his wisdom need not have been ashamed to father.

It was a wife-beating case, one of those instances of brutal and small-spirited cussedness that occasionally crops out and shows that even though a living creature may walk habitually on two legs and bear the name of being human he can at the same time be little more than a contemptible cur. The man had a fruit stand that was prospering, and when the court had investigated the case the judge deemed it likely that the fellow would sell the stand as soon as he was sent to prison, and on being released would leave his wife dependent on her own resources.

But the judge had another idea of the solution, and he sentenced the wife-beater to three years at hard labor in the state's prison. The man was thoroughly scared, and before he gathered his wits together the judge continued the sentence by offering the alternative that the man turn his business entirely over to his wife and leave the state and never molest her again. It was a hard proposition to decide, but finally the wife-beater took the latter alternative, and under the supervision of a court officer turned the fruit stand over to his wife and left the state.

It was rather rough on the wife-beater, to be sure, but no rougher on him than his beatings were on his wife, and he certainly "had it coming to him." There may be more contemptible things than wife-beating, but if there are they are mighty slow in coming to light. If the New Jersey instance can be wrested into a precedent and followed in other states it will be worth while trying wherever it is applicable.

Anyway, this Mexican business is likely to give a new impetus to the study of Spanish among the small boys of the country.

Some arrests have been made for failure to pay the wheelage tax. Maybe the city officials have hit on the right way to insure the payment of that obligation by those from who it is due.

The chances are that the country will be more interested in the nature of the coming in of the new congress than in that of the going out of March.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WRITES OF FRAUDS THAT DISCREDIT DULUTH'S NAME.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The case of the two men who were arrested in Indiana as suspicious characters, when in reality they were there to sell lots in a plat located near the new steel plant, reminds me of something that happened a few years ago. A company was organized—at least it was claimed there was a company—and a lot of property put on the market in other states that was sold as Duluth land. As a matter of fact, it was not in or anywhere near Duluth, and the city's reputation suffered from the action of these men.

Now, I don't mean to imply that this business these two men were engaged in was anything of that character. They doubtless were in a reputable business. The incident merely reminds me of the former one. But it seems to me that the Commercial club would do well to look up any companies that offer Duluth land for sale, and see that publicity is given to any frauds that may be perpetrated in the name of the city or with the city's name attached. Duluth is growing, and is attracting national attention. It ought to be on the watch to stop anything that will mar the city's reputation. Such schemes as these are inimical to Duluth's interests and ought to be stopped, and their perpetrators punished.

F. O. R.

Duluth, March 25.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Puck: Lady—Why should I buy an egg beater?

Peddler—Well, the lady next door thought you might return hers if you did.

Chicago Record-Herald: 'Pa, where was Washington born?"

"In Virginia, my son. You must remember that Ohio was not then in the Union."

Baltimore American: "Have you any unanimity in your family, Mrs. Jobbs?"

"Not yet, ma'am, but we'll ketch it. We get everything that's a-goin'."

Chicago Daily News: "Mistress—I am sorry you are going to leave, Marie. Are you going to better yourself?

Marie—No, ma'am, I'm going to get married.

Toledo Blade: "In time of trial," said the preacher, "what brings up the greatest comfort?"

"An acquittal!" responded a low-brow, who should never have been admitted by the usher.

Philadelphia Record: Mr. Struckoil—That there sculptor feller says he's a-goin' to make a bust of me.

Mrs. Struckoil—Henry, it's just turrible the way you do talk say "burst," not "bust."

Boston Transcript: Alice—I thought Mr. Smart had good literary taste until he sent me that silly novel.

Kate—Oh, that doesn't necessarily indicate his taste, dear; it merely represents his opinion of yours.

Washington Star: "Do you think there is going to be war?"

"No," replied Senator Sorghum; "I don't exactly think there will be war. But the disputes as to whether there will be one are liable to give us a few local disturbances that will look like war."

Punch: Mother—And what did you talk about while you were dancing with Freddy?

Dora (her first time out)—We didn't talk—we counted.

Philadelphia Record: Blobbs—I don't care much for Jack Potts. He seems to lack repose.

Slobbs—Yes, he has generally been up all night.

Toledo Blade: "I'm up again it."

"What's the matter?"

"The walkin' delegate tells me I gotta strike an' me old woman tells me I gotta work."

Chicago Tribune: "I never wear a stuffed bird on my hat nowadays," said Mrs. Lapsling. "While I am not a member of the Audbie society, I am in full sympathy with it."

Chicago Daily News: Sam Pone—Didn't you buy de horse dat you was lookin' at, Pete?

Ras Hollow—Naw; I was kinda uncertain 'bout his age. He had one toof and I couldn't tell whether it were de first or de last.

Judge: "Oh, father," exclaimed the beautiful girl, after they had left the ship, "there was one thing you didn't declare. I'm afraid the customs officers will get after you unless you hurry back and pay duty on it."

"What do you mean?" declared everything we have in our trunks."

"I know. But the cold you have—you brought it from Europe, you know."

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Spending money is a habit even with those who haven't any.

It costs a heap to raise children, but it seems to cost about as much not to.

There's a great deal more to the weather than a subject for polite conversation when you are out in it and it's stormy.

A woman doesn't think about whether clothes become her; her whole mind is bent upon whether they are in fashion, becoming or not.

When a man remembers he didn't pay you back money you lent him and comes to apologize for forgetting it, it's a sign he's got nothing else for you.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: And pride goeth before us all.

When a golf club gives a dance, is it a golf ball?

Money talks, but it never really ought to use a megaphone.

It is a sin to play poker—the way some people play it.

Many a man shortens his days by lengthening his nights.

As soon as a baby is able to walk it goes after the bric-a-brac.

It takes a woman to manage a man without being able to understand him.

If a man fears death it is almost a confession that he isn't living right.

One way to lose a friend is to have him get rich while you remain poor.

When it comes to sawing wood a minute's work goes farther than an hour's talk.

It's easier for a man to pocket his pride than it is for woman—because he has more pockets.

We are frequently admonished to "come early and avoid the rush," but suppose everybody were to do so?

Women make so much fuss about headgear that a man wonders how they will take to the unbecoming plain halos when they get to heaven.

When an old bachelor meets a good natured married woman he is apt to sigh and think how different it might have been had they met before it was too late.

Why a Horse Rolls.

Selborne Magazine: Horses are fond of rolling on the ground, and no animal more thoroughly shakes itself than they do. After a roll they give themselves a shake or two to remove anything adhering to the coat. The habit is of much service to horses living in open plains.

On being turned loose at the end of a journey an Arab horse rolls in the sand, which acts as blotting paper, absorbing exudations from the body. A shake removes the sand, and the coat soon dries. Cavalrymen in hot climates sometimes put sand on their horses as the simplest and quickest way of drying them.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Minnesota's Shame.

Two Harbors Journal-News: The act of the state senators voting down the bill for the reapportionment of the state last Thursday will stand as a monument of shame to the whole state and a personal disgrace to every senator who broke his pledged word of honor to uphold the laws of his state when qualifying for office. Not only have those senators broken their word, but they have set at naught their party platforms and violated all rules of honesty and decency. The only reason possible to advance for their action is the purely selfish one that they feared they would lose their position.

Of course, it was the members from the southern counties who voted against reapportionment and defeated the ends of justice.

Just think of the situation! The southern counties of the state, having less than one-third of the population of the state and a majority of the senators. Enough to enact such a damnable piece of work as they did last week.

Outplayed at Their Own Game.

Sauk Center Herald: The house passed a reapportionment bill; the senate killed it. Now the Democrats are filled with an unholy joy over the neat way in which they put the Republicans in a hole. Can't blame the Dems, though; the Republicans have been so agitated lest the Democrats get some little prestige for securing a piece or two of good legislation, that they got careless and were outplayed at their own game.

Disgrace to the State.

Hinckeley Enterprise: This senatorial district is not much interested in reapportionment. Under the recently defeated Congdon bill it would neither gain or lose representation. The action, however, of those Southern Minnesota senators who broke party pledges and denied a just representation to the people of the state is considered here a disgrace both to themselves and to the state.

Another Nail in the Coffin.

Buffalo Journal: The senate killed the reapportionment bill, and the members are beginning to realize they have driven another nail in the coffin of the Republican party, so are talking a near reapportionment bill, one that will take effect in 1914. A majority of senators declined to vote themselves out of half their term, the Constitution to be contrary notwithstanding.

Should Be Defeated.

Pine County Courier: The state senate saw fit to turn down reapportionment and deny the northern part of the state a just representation in the law making body. The general opinion is that many of the senators were afraid of shortening their term and thus voted against the bill for merely selfish reasons. Men who have no more sense of right and justice than that should certainly be defeated the next time they come up for election.

As to Senator Marden.

Warren Register: We wonder if the Republicans of Becker county whose votes nominated Senator Marden are not indulging in a few regrets since his vote against the reapportionment bill. He kicked on the original draft of the bill and it was changed in accordance with his expressed desire—then he voted against it.

Covered With Dirt.

Mankato Free Press: J. Adam Bede refers to Senator Lorimer as the cleanest man in the upper house of congress. Bede's spectacles must be covered with dirt.

Will Extend the Glad Hand.

Norman County Herald: Duluth is making big preparations for the next meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association, which is to be held there early in June. Citizens of the Zenith City are pastmasters in the art of extending the glad hand.

It Sounds Good.

Fairmont Independent: Reciprocity sounds good. It is good for you to remember your neighbor, who aids and assists you, or any other friends in a social or business way. It is a good doctrine to apply to the Canadian question at the present time. Careful observers estimate that the benefits received by the American people from Canada, in making a market for their merchandise, meats, livestock, fruits and implements, would far excel the loss caused by Canadian products coming over to this country. Then, again, it is the same nationality, virtually the same country. They are of our blood, climate and territorial kin.

A Johnson Shaft at St. Peter.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: A bill has been introduced in both houses of the legislature to appropriate $25,000 for the erection of a monument at the grave of the late Governor John A. Johnson. It provides for the appointment of five persons who shall constitute the John A. Johnson memorial commission and to whom shall be committed the duty of selecting a suitable design for this monument and for its erection. No compensation is allowed to the commissioners and the expenditure of money on account of this project is limited to the amount stated above.

The friends of this proposition contend that there is a peculiar propriety in the erection of a memorial shaft in the case of Governor Johnson. He was the only governor who died in the service, the only native born governor, and furthermore, it is cited that the collection of $25,000 in $1 subscriptions for the erection of a monument on the capitol grounds, and the raising of $25,000 by friends of the governor for the purpose of providing an income for Mrs. Johnson's support during her lifetime, and the transfer of the revenues of that fund to the university for the creation of memorial scholarships, create a peculiar reason why the state should set apart some amount of money for the proper marking of the grave of a man whose place in the hearts of the people of the state was unique.

There is unquestionably a great propriety in the state seeing to it that the grave of John A. Johnson, who died poor after giving the best years of his life to the service of the state, does not remain an unmarked spot. And it must be evident that if the state does not erect a monument there is no one else to do it as it should be done.

We have no doubt that a great majority of the people of the state will approve the honoring of the memory of this distinguished and much beloved son of Minnesota in this appropriate fashion.

When News Breaks.

Sioux City Tribune: Evening newspapers get the news when it is fresh. They have a distinct advantage over the morning newspapers because they are on watch when the world is at work. Will Irwin, in his series of articles on the American newspaper, in Collier's, lays stress upon the supremacy of the evening newspaper. He says:

"From 10 o'clock in the morning to 5 or 6 o'clock in the evening is the best time for news. Far more events 'break' in that period than in the remaining hours of the twenty-four."

Here lies the strength of the evening newspaper. It gets the news when it is fresh. In a large majority of the twenty-five largest cities in the United States, the evening newspapers have the largest circulations.

Seeking Rare Birds.

London Mail: A final attempt is being made by the New Zealand government to obtain specimens of the huia, a bird which has been practically exterminated by the vogue for its feathers which obtains among the Maoris. The huia is a jet black bird, with a white band at the extreme end of its tail feathers. The birds are hatched in pairs. The mate has a short, strong beak, and the female a long, slender, incurved beak; the male breaks the bark off dead trees and the female then digs her beak into the holes of the big grubs which attack dead timber. She presents one grub to her spouse and then has one herself, alternating most conscientiously. The Maoris say that when one dies the other must necessarily die of starvation, because nature has so arranged that each is dependent on the other.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Is Thinking a Lost Art.

It was never easy for the human mind to think, and it was never harder than today when headlines and half-tones give us the sum of the day's news, when a general tendency to superficiality pervades society. It is easy enough to read and talk. One can even delude himself with the idea that he is thinking when he is really indulging in idle and fruitless revery. "Do you see that senator pacing up and down the corridor?" said a man in Washington, pointing to a distinguished representative of New England at the nation's capitol. "He has his hands behind his back and he looks very much absorbed in what he is doing. He really thinks that he is thinking."

Ah, yes, there is a sharp difference between thinking that we think and the real art. I know a professional man so familiar with the tricks of his own mind that he keeps two or three hard subjects about his person or on his desk and when his mind slips away from his grasp and refuses to grapple the particular subject upon which he first set it at work he directs it to one of the other subjects, saying in substance, "You have got to work somewhere even if you do not work on the thing appointed you." This scholar claims that in the long run he gets more results from his thinking and that if the mind realizes that its owner means to keep it at work somewhere it will more willingly devote itself to the first subject assigned it.

It never was more desirable for the average man to cultivate his thinking propensities than today, when great questions are being brought to the bar of popular judgment, when voters are being asked to decide at the polls questions formerly committed to legislatures or to some other body or supposed experts. We have no right to let anybody else do our thinking for us, concerning matters relating to politics, industry, amusements or religion. Only a well-disciplined mind is equal to the task, but we are the masters of our minds, and we can, if we will, hold them up to the doing of the work for which they were originally given us. Otherwise, we become like sheep following the cue of any chance leader or to change the figure like chaff driven about by any new wind of popular frenzy.

One simple remedy is the devotion of as short a time as fifteen minutes a day to hard thinking on some definite subject. One can really train the mind so that while he is dressing or traveling on the cars or waiting for someone else to meet his appointment, he can be thinking steadily, resolutely and productively. It will come hard at first; all mental effort does in the field either of the imagination, memory or of constructive thinking, but as soon as the wheels become well oiled and in running order, they revolve more easily and by and by the mind springs to its task, responding gladly to the challenge of its inherent powers.

The subjects on which we think are as important as the process itself. As men and women destined to live beyond the reach of our earthly years, as men and women charged with various responsibilities, professional, parental, social, civic, we ought to sift from the many themes that present themselves for consideration those which have a permanent rather than a transient interest, those which are really worth while. "Whatsoever things are honorable, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, think on these things," is where there is a wide and high field for the exercise of our mental powers. Why squander these God-given faculties on the passing show, the gossip of the street, the chit-chat of society, the concerns that have to do simply with our eating and our drinking and our merry-making? We may think on such subjects until doomsday and not be any better or wiser, whereas if we think on high things, things relating to God and His purposes in the world, to man and his highest welfare, we shall have subjects of thought worthy of us as immortal beings and yielding rich fruitage.

THE PARSON.

An Old Time Michigan Tavern.

Detroit Free Press: When fire destroyed the old tavern four miles east of Plymouth, Mich., on the Plymouth road, there disappeared one of the oldest and best known landmarks in that section. It was built in the 40s by David McFarlan, who also gave to the crossroads where it stood the name it bears to this day, "Rough and Ready Corners." Mr. McFarlan was a great admirer of Gen. Zachary Taylor, then in the height of his fame, and on a guide post which stood near the tavern he mounted an image of old Rough and Ready. In each hand was a sword, and when the wind blew the image would cut and slash with the swords.

In this house was born James McFarlan, one of Flint's leading lawyers. James McFarlan's earliest recollections are that black men would come in their home and disappear. After the war was over his mother explained to him that the reason for the black men being at their house was that they were passengers on the "underground railroad." James McFarlan's father and grandfather both belonged to the "underground railroad."

The old house was the scene of stirring times in Lincoln's first campaign. There was a post near the west end, and on this post during Lincoln's campaign was placed a large beetle and wedge as an insult to David McFarlan for advocating the cause of the rail splitter.

A Victim of Science.

From the Chicago Tribune: With much trouble the burglar had effected an entrance into the trust company's office. As he approached the big steel safe he was confronted by this sign:

SAVE YOUR DYNAMITE.
THIS SAFE IS NOT LOCKED.
TURN KNOB AND OPEN.

"I don't know what their little game is," he said, "but I'll just see if it really is unlocked."

He grasped the knob and gave it a turn.

Whereupon he received an electric shock that nearly floored him, an alarm bell rang loudly, the office became flooded with light, a door in the wall flew open and a big dog sprang at him.

"Darn my fool hide!" he exclaimed an hour later, as the door of a cell in the police station colsed on him; "I know what's the matter with me! I'm too trusting!"

Monument to a Pig.

London Chronicle: Memorials to dogs are not uncommon, but Luneburg is probably the only town to boast of a public monument to a pig. A conspicuous object in the entrance to the town hall of Luneburg is a granite pedestal surmounted by a glass case. Inside the case is a ham, withered almost to nothingness, and on the pedestal a slab of black marble inscribed in letters of gold: "Passerby, here you behold the mortal remains of the pig which acquired for itself imperishable glory by the discovery of the salt springs of Luneburg."

Maine Census Note.

Portland, Me., Press: One of the few double four generation families in Maine is the Groves-Gage family. The youngest member is Paul Holmes, 1 year old. He has two great-grandmothers, a grandfather, and a grandmother on his mother's side. One of the great-grandmothers, Mrs. Naomi Groves, is 80 years old. The grandfather is George Alonzo Groves, a famous Maine guide. The second great-grandmother is Mrs. Clara Gage. The grandmother is Mrs. Eliza Groves, daughter of Mrs. Gage. The members of this family all live in Smithfield in one house. Their aggregate age is 281 years.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1891.

High Allin of Duluth, was married a few days ago at Kincardine, Ont., to Miss Sarah Ballantine. Mr. Allin returns home next week, his bride coming later.

Duncan M. Smith of Walkerton, Ont., who is the guest of James McCahill, is favorably impressed with the city and may locate here.

Deupty Revenue Collector J. H. Nordby is after the oleomargarine dealers of Tower.

The illness of Mrs. John Loman, soprano at Pilgrim Congregational church, has developed into typhoid fever.

Mrs. H. K. Gillon of Two Harbors is the guest of Mrs. Alf Gillon.

The Y. M. C. A. was crowded last night to witness the awarding of the medals which have been so warmly contested for during the past three months at the gymnasium. Rev. George H. Kemp delivered a short address. E. W. Matter, as chairman of the gymnasium committee, presented the medals. Julius H. Barnes received the first prize, a gold medal; L. M. Larson, the second prize, a silver medal, and Sidney McPhail the third prize, also a silver medal.

Friends of F. S. Daggett were pleasantly surprised this morning when he appeared on the board of trade looking better than ever in his life. He has been spending the last two months in the Southwest in company with his father-in-law, S. Axtell, and has gained seventeen pounds. When at Colorado Springs, Col., where Mr. Axtell formerly resided, they met E. A. Gilbert, formerly a resident of Duluth.

D. E. Holston returned yesterday from a business trip as far west and south as Helena, Butte and Denver. He was a pioneer in a new field, for Duluth manufacturers have not attempted to sell goods as far away as these places, and Duluth wholesalers' sales there have been few. Mr. Holston, however, met with a flattering reception and sold very large bills of goods, in sash, doors and interior finish in Montana and Colorado cities.

The Iron River Stone company of this city is arranging to improve the water power at Iron River, and will run its drills and derricks by compressed air. It will get out about 100,000 cubic feet of stone this year.

H. H. Phelps of Ada, Minn., has decided to locate at West Duluth and has formed a partnership with J. M. Martin in the law business.

John McAuliffe of this city is about to put on the market the Central division of Grand Rapids, which he has just platted.

Excellent progress is being made in the rehearsals of "The Messiah," which is to be given at the Temple June 11 and 12 by a chorus of 250 voices.

Oliver R. Mathers of Pelican Rapids, will establish a brick and tile yard at the new townsite of St. Louis. The company is capitalized at $10,000 and will employ at least fifty men.

SENATOR BAILEY'S RESIGNATION

By SAVOYARD.

"It is rarely safe to say to the well, 'I will drink no more of your water.'"

And so the Hon. Joseph Weldon Bailey withdrew his flamboyant and spectacular resignation—with a string tied to it. Nothing like it had occurred in the senate since the retirement of Roscoe Conkling thirty years earlier, and politicaldom is not all agreed as to whether the Hon. Bailey's theatrical exploit was prompted by personal petulance or by political policy, or both. But lawyerdom seems to opine that a resignation in the civil service once tendered to the proper authority cannot be recalled.

I will recollect that the Hon. Jake Golladay tendered his resignation as a member of the Forty-first congress by a telegraphic dispatch to John W. Stevenson, then governor of Kentucky, who indignantly refused to accept it, but it was held that the resignation was effective and that Mr. Golladay was no longer a member of congress. I was one of that gentleman's constituency at the time, and am quite sure that my memory of the transaction is not at fault. And it is logical to say that if one can withdraw a resignation within an hour after it is tendered he can recall it within a year afterward. A resignation works automatically and becomes potentially effective from the instant of time that it is tendered to him to whom it should be addressed.

There were some curious episodes attending Mr. Bailey's resignation. It appeared to carry dismay into the ranks of the Hon. Bailey's political enemies. Mr. Jim Sherman, who has done more to cheapen the office of vice president of the United States than all his predecessors in that great station together, threw a fit as soon as he learned that his adversaries on the Democratic side of that august sanhedrin were to be deprived of the prowess of the Ajax from Texas, and other standpatters were likewise stricken with consternation when Coriolanus banished himself from the armies of their foes.

The vice president was certainly guilty of an impertinence when he directed the secretary not to read the notice of the resignation. Indeed, his action was an affront to the senate whose paper it was, and had time permitted it is likely that the senate would have administered another rebuke to its present presiding officer, whose conduct makes it imperative that in 1912 both parties shall name a first-class man for second place on each ticket. Only a few Democrats appeared to be disturbed by the announcement of the resignation, and some Democrats were impolite enough to say it was the most popular thing the Hon. Bailey has done in his twenty years' service in congress. A majority of the Democratic senators were delighted, whereas every standpat Republican was cast in gloom.

What will come of it is somewhat difficult to tell; but it is quite likely that when the senate next convenes, objection will be made to Mr. Bailey's presence as a member.

Mr. Bailey is a public man and folk have the right to talk about his official acts and surmise the motives that prompt them. He had just achieved a "victory" when by a vote of 46 to 40, the senate had plastered a coat of whitewash on William Lorimer, a successor to Stephen A. Douglas and Lyman Trumbull in that body. As Garrett Davis of Kentucky once remarked in the United States senate, "Ye gods, what a succession!" There are some things in statecraft recondite to the common herd, but the Lorimer case is not one of them. The people had tried him and found him guilty, and even the senate could not hide the manifest fact that its conclusion was nothing but a bald "Scotch verdict." The average man knows that if Lorimer had been innocent he would have resigned and appealed for vindication to the 4,000,000 free and independent citizens of the empire state of the Mississippi valley. On the contrary, he acted precisely as a guilty man would act and as no high-minded man could. But what else than he did could one do whose seat was secured as his was?

And what else could the country do than try the case as it did try it? The "Scotch verdict" no more obscured the black in Lorimer's record than the waters of old ocean make white the swan's black legs. Mr. Bailey was the savior of Lorimer, whose case he made his own, though without dispossessing the "interests" that bought it of the corrupt gang at Springfield. The senator from Texas rescued Lorimer from official chastisement, though he was powerless to relieve him of public odium. The country was heard from, and every wave was freighted with virtuous indignation. What was to be done? A grandstand play. Hence the resignation.

Arizona came along with a pretext, and the Hon. Bailey found himself one of a small minority of the minority, a condition that he ought to be accustomed to by this time, as witness his stand on the tariff, on reciprocity with Canada, and on the Lorimer case. He seized on the Arizona constitution and sought to make it a paramount to eclipse the Lorimer case; but the country cared nothing about the Arizona business. One day after he had overcome all his enemies and his reign had become tranquil, a committee of a church congregation waited on Frederick the Great and lodged complaint against the minister he had sent them, who preached that there was no everlasting hell after death. "Very well," responded the royal old reprobate, "if you are resolved to be eternally damned, be it so ordered." And the country is ready to say to Arizona that if she is in love with her constitution, let her keep it. Nobody cares a rap about the Arizona episode, but all America is concerned about the Lorimer case, that isn't yet "res adjudicata" by a long sight.

Senator Bailey is strong for traditional Democracy. Has he read the platform on which John C. Breckinridge ran for president? If not, let him do so, and find himself confounded as to his stand on Arizona.

But Mr. Bailey is a considerable force. He has a following. He is a powerful senator with some half a score votes in the senate, one of them from my own state of Kentucky, that he allows Paynter to cast. How long the Democratic party is going to put up with the capers and shines the Hon. Bailey cuts is difficult to tell; but if on the reorganization of the senate both the majority and the minority of the finance committee are not revised, there is going to be a terrible row. The unspeakable Penrose must go, and so must the recalcitrant Bailey. Let these two tinker with the tariff and Aldrichism and Cannonism will remain with us always. Mr. Bailey preaches free trade and practices protection. He makes tariff reform absolutely impossible by his stand for taxed raw materials. Aldrich knows, Penrose knows, Cannon knows, Dalzell knows, that free raw materials is the beginning and the only beginning of lower and honester tariff taxation. Every one of these joins cordially with Mr. Bailey for taxed raw materials, and Mr. Bailey's position on that question is precisely the position they would have him take.

As for reciprocity with Canada, that is traditionally Democratic. The free trade era—1846-1861—gave us reciprocity with Canada by a treaty negotiated when Franklin Pierce was president. That convention would have been broadened and renewed had not the war of 1861-1865 come on to be fought. By this time there would have been absolute free trade between the two countries had the Democratic view of reciprocity maintained. But Free-treder Bailey's objection to the proposed Canadian reciprocity and Protectionists Cummins' objection are identical. But the country is for reciprocity, and reciprocity it intends to have ere the summer solstice come.

The death of Jonathan P. Dolliver was a great calamity. He had just begun to grow, and he promised to be second to no man in his party in the country. And there was another equally great calamity. It came when the state of Tennessee refused a second term in the United States senate to Edward W. Carmack. Had he been senator when the Payne-Aldrich iniquity was hatched it would have been a foul bird, all right; but not nearly so foul as it is.

Had Edward W. Carmack been senator the extra session of 1909, the infamous schedule K would have been overhauled. Dolliver would have brought that about had he got Democratic aid. Carmack would have forced that aid, as John Sharp Williams would had he been there.

Bye-and-bye I am going to tell you something about the Lorimer case.

CONSERVATION OF HUMAN EFFORT

How Industrial Output is Increased—Workmen Receive 30 Per Cent Higher Wages—Scientific Management in Many Trades.

By JAMES MAPES DODGE, Chairman, Link Belt Company, Philadelphia.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

(Mr. Dodge has been very successful in introducing methods of scientific management in the business of the Link Belt Company of Philadelphia, and was one of the most effective witnesses called by Louis D. Brandeis, counsel for the seaboard shippers in the recent rate hearings before the interstate commerce commission.)

Five or six years ago, I was proud of the fact that I was the head of a concern which was so well managed that it would have been an insult for any one to suggest that we could improve our methods even in the minutest particular.

But one rainy day I went down to the extreme corner of our grounds and found two men in a shed breaking up coal with a piece of joist. A year before, when the blacksmiths had been much driven and their helpers did not have time to bring in the coal and break it up for them, they had asked the boss laborer for two men to break coal. At the end of twelve months they were still at work and might still be if I hadn't found it out. This case, extreme as it was, showed how our magnificent management failed for we manufacture and sell machines for crushing coal.

After a while Mr. Frederick W. Taylor told me that he was turning steel, cutting steel, at Bethlehem, at a rate which to me was beyond credence. I went and saw him do what he said he was doing, but I couldn't even believe the evidence of my own eyes, it was so remarkable. Mr. Taylor's tools which were made to work the hardest steel at first failed on cast iron, but after repeated improvements he produced some that did wonderful work on soft cast iron. And then we found that we could sometimes do work, so far as the actual cutting was concerned, ten times as fast as before. We did not turn out ten times as much product, because a great deal of the time was occupied in getting the steel or cast iron ready, and the time of preparation also had to be counted in. With modern guns we can shoot ten or twenty or thirty or forty bullets about as fast as we could shoot one with the gun which in the old days took five minutes to load. So Mr. Taylor did with his steel.

It became apparent to us that if we were going to turn out work twice or three times as fast as we had done before, we must make a change in our scale of pay. Our rate was fixed and it didn't make much difference whether a man made one or two tools a day or one an hour. But if he were going to make ten in an hour and so multiply our output by five, it was apparent that we needed some rudimentary accounting to make our pay harmonize with the increased speed at which Mr. Taylor made us do our work.

At first the question came up as to whether the workmen would work at this increased rate of speed. We simply had to get men who would permit their tools to do the work at the new rate. A few of the old men left us because after seeing their lathes turn around at a low speed for twenty or thirty or forty years it proved too great a nervous strain on them when the rate was increased so greatly. It kept them too intent upon their lathe expecting a disaster. But the younger men were fascinated and the large majority are still with us. The men in shops under scientific management are well satisfied. A sympathetic strike was called to aid the trolley car motormen and conductors in Philadelphia in 1910 that affected workmen in all sorts of enterprises. A certain factory, running under scientific management, was surrounded by four other establishments. Three of the four lost about one-half of their men through the sympathetic strike and in the fourth all went out. In the shop running under scientific management just one man quit work.

Now this was no accident but is because the very best friends that the workmen have under scientific management are their employers. Formerly we would tell a man we would give him 10 cents for a certain piece of work. Then if he reduced his time so that he could make two, we would reduce the rate to five cents, because we thought the man was making too much money. But we were getting twice as much work for the same money while the men had not been getting any more pay whereas we ought to have congratulated the man on what he made and both be happy.

We adopted a new rule which was that a rate once set must not be reduced unless the shape of the piece or the tool or method by which it is made was changed and that a man should be paid when he did his work. It was a hard dose to swallow, for sometimes men made twice or three times the wage they would have worked for gladly by the day. Once in a while when I went among them, a man would call out: "Well, I got you going today." "How?" "I made $18 today." "Good, you might take me to the theater tonight." "All right, boss, I will."

All this time we were getting from a given floor space, from a fixed investment in light, heat and power, insurance, taxes, all overhead expenses and so on two or three times the product that had been obtained before. Only the men's wages had increased, everything else stood the same. Every item in the aggregate was steadily going down.

We next studied Mr. Taylor's idea of the function of machinery and the application of his rule that every man and factory could do the kind of work for which he is best fitted and that only. If a man is good at a lathe, let him do that and nothing else. Every man admits it when his attention is called to it but it is only when you prove it to men that they fully realize it. We found, for instance, that it cost us $53 a week for the men to get drinking water in one of the shops. Nearly all of these men went out to drink—they didn't leave their work because they wanted to loaf. So we hired a boy at $5.00 a week to carry drinking water around the works. It increased a man's facility for doing his work. We hired laborers at $12.00 a week to help the machinists to get ready for their work and instructors to go around to the men to do the right thing in the right way. What was the result? We made more money and more product and yet we were paying higher wages.

The working out of this problem by us is of general value because it can be applied to any industry. The head of one of our departments said to me: "Mr. Taylor's ideas are all right for the tool room, but you can't tell a right man in the machine shop." The men in the auditing department said: "Oh, yest it's all right for the other departments but our's is different. Keeping books is not like loading cars; we are quite different from a gang of laborers." But Mr. Taylor showed us that we can do the same thing in the accounting department that was done in the others and that the clerks can be studied and managed just as the others had been.

There are now some 50,000 men working under scientific management and they are engaged in structural work, foundries, cotton mills, printing and lithographing, office work, manufacture of electrical machinery, steel business, machine shop work and the paper business. The employers and owners of all these factories are receiving about twice the product per man and per machine on an average compared with the former situation and the workmen are receiving 30 per cent higher wages.

GLIMPSE BEHIND SCENES IN THE LIVES OF TEACHERS

Petty Politician Bane of School System of Many States—Efficient Teachers Should Receive Good Backing —Bright Outlook in Minnesota.

By LAFAYETTE BLISS.

In the growth and development of American institutions there are no finer examples of loyalty to the public good, and devotion to the best interests of the rising generation, than are to be found among the men and women who are serving, or have served on boards of education in this state. There are many of these officials who have thus served the public schools ten, twenty, and even thirty years continuously, who have given their time and best thoughts, best efforts, wisest counsel and broad, sound judgment in unstinted measure, without thought of pay, only seeking to promote the public welfare, and to be instrumental in advancing the cause of education and character building among the young. For such men and such boards of education there are only words of the highest praise, and no language that I can command, can express the lofty respect and deep love that I feel for those noble workers in the cause of civilization. These men are the friends of the teachers. They stand by them in sunshine and in storm. They lend them sympathy. They are appreciative of the teachers' best efforts, and are thoughtful to express a kind word now and then, which always will do more to put efferticeness and push into the teachers' work than anything else.

The average board of education, however, is not made up of men such as I have spoken of above. In fact superintendents and teachers are happy if they have on their board of political superiors three, or two, or even one such, out of a board of six members. The most important function of a school board member is to stand up. The position is no place for a man with the backbone of an oyster. He should be ever ready to protect the schools from meddling city officials, hysterical society leaders, starving doctors, venal politicians, two-faced editors, wily, loquacious salesmen, grafting contractors, and in general from the fellow with an ax to grind. The board member who listens to the hoarse croakings of these birds of prey is never of any positive help in running the schools.

Destructive Criticism.

Volumes of addresses have been delivered at different state teachers' associations this past winter and a fault-finding, critical tone runs through the bulk of them. This destructive criticism was aimed for the most part at superintendents and teachers, and was written and delivered for the most part by superintendents and teachers against themselves. This self appointed jury of experts brought in the well worn indictments against superintendents and teachers, (1) that they show a lack of general culture, (2) that as a class they lack in scholarship, (3) that they lack in professional preparation, and have too limited literary qualifications, (4) that first rate men and women soon drop out of the work when they find that they are in a procession rather than in a profession, (5) that as a class they are not good mixers, or good fellows.

Not much was said about the fact that the great advance in the last fifty years in inventions, commerce, science, art, material progress, and better ways of living, are mere effects, to which the better and more rational methods of teaching the masses, wrought out in our public schools by these same poorly prepared superintendents and teachers, are at least among the chief causes. Little was said about the long years of preparation for the work of teaching; about the short term of effective service before breaking down; of the sublime courage shown by superintendents and teachers who are bearing the burden and drudgery of the day in a spirit of sweetness and light; about the hundreds that are overworked so that they have no time or desire for self-culture or the performance of social duties; about the social and minor political agencies at work that interfere with freedom of action and tenure of office, and the inadequate pecuniary reward for service, which deters the most spirited and active minded men from making teaching more than a stepping-stone to some other profession, whose members therefore look with compassion upon the teacher. There was little said about the fact that no other body of workers puts forth so much effort and spends so much of their time and money in striving to better fit themselves for their work, by attending teachers' conventions and summer schools, in travel, and in the purchase of educational books and periodicals. There was little said about the persistent meddling—often well meant but pernicious—with the details of school work, by school committees, parents, hysterical newspapers, fire chiefs, and other lay influences, for these things are sure to make the one discussing them unpopular. Nevertheless there are some of these subjects that should not be tabooed in these heart to heart newspaper talks but should be frankly and honestly discussed.

Extenuating Circumstances.

Some sentences back I mentioned the usual counts which are regularly named in the indictment against school superintendents and teachers. If this long-continued case against educators were ever put on trial before an impartial jury, it may be that the educators could be proven guilty of every count in the indictment, but I am sure that a great many extenuating circumstances would be brought out during the progress of the case. It is of some of these extenuating circumstances that I wish to hint at this time.

A number of years ago the editor of the Atlantic Monthly requested short articles from a number of educators located in different parts of the United States as to the true social status of teachers in their respective communities, the influence of the ignorant politician and biased newspaper in school matters, and the reason, from the schoolmaster's standpoint, why more men of first-rate ability did not follow school work for life, after having once entered the teachers' ranks. I was among those asked to contribute, which I did. These heart-to-heart confessions were edited by G. Stanley Hall and F. W. Atkinson, whose names stand as a guarantee against anything that might border on the sensational, besides being authors of several years of successful experience in the work were called upon to express an opinion.

To the general question as to whether a man of college training, good ability and character could afford to make teaching a life work, the uniform answer was given that although the work in its nature is worthy of the highest ambition and best effort of any man who possesses qualifications that promise success in other professions or in business, yet no man of first-rate ability could afford to give it as a life vocation, since it means a sacrifice of that public esteem which attaches to many callings, a subjection to harassing and nerve-destroying influences within the school room and belittling restrictions without; besides the compensation is much below what the same training and ability would be able to command in other occupations. This factor of compensation, however, has much less to do with forcing our best men and women out of the teachers' profession than some other things for the true teacher is not too much concerned about what he is to be paid for his work. A few quotations from these confessions will bring out my meaning.

One educator writes: "I left teaching because I found that it was simply impossible for the blind, halt and lame of every other craft. Too often it is a temporary means of support to the doctor, while waiting for patients, to the lawyer while waiting for clients, and to the preacher while waiting for a pulpit. The trained and experienced teacher is put in competition with these amateurs and can never rise above this state with the schools in the hands of the politicians as they now are." Another says: "Successful men in other professions look down upon the teacher with compassion." And again: "The status of the teacher is kept low because the best men and women who are drawn to it are not retained in it." "The normal schools claim to be able to make teachers, but good teachers are born, and make themselves by actual experience in the schoolroom." This teacher added "that we need a few more teachers born."

The Petty Politician.

In California the teacher has a life tenure of office by law, but this is evaded by the politicians. By the way the petty politician is the bane of the school system of many states, than any commercial influence, and partisan newspapers, then comes church influence, then the personal whims of hysterical citizens, and school boards. Good state laws are often set aside by corrupt politicians. In California and in other states teachers are "pliant, timid and servile, and political pulls are potent." A superintendent in Wisconsin says that in that state "a teacher must trade with all the merchants in his town, bank with the bankers, take treatment of all the doctors whether sick or not, consult the lawyers, connive with the politicians and even hustle at school elections to hold his job." In Illinois many complain of "church influences." In a certain state a superintendent lost his position because some influential members of the board had requested him to secure the attendance of the majority of his teachers and the high school pupils at their church, and on his inability to deliver the goods, they let him out. In Iowa a few years ago a man of acknowledged character, ability and success as a teacher, lost a new position at the end of the first year because, as the president of the board told him, "his church was in the wrong street." The teacher was a Unitarian. In Ohio the complaint is heard on all sides that the people who should be leaders in educational thought, do not care to call their souls their own for fear of the politicians. The teacher is practically deprived the privilege of free speech, and especially on political, religious and educational subjects. "They catch their breath in quick starts when they see a power over them wielding the club of dismissal." Many teachers complain of the impossibility of becoming an integral part of the community in which they live although they may own property and are taxpayers. "Unless the teacher is a flatterer and keeps quiet on all political and religious subjects he loses his position." Civil service reform is greatly needed for teachers. Unless merit can win in the teaching profession there will be little encouragement for scholarship and training to remain in the work.

In Missouri there is tendency, particularly in the rural schools, to employ a daughter or a niece of one of the board, usually a young girl 15 to 18 years of age. As an old fellow on a board said, "They make right smart teachers and they are cheap. They can learn 'em all their paps and mams ever knowed."

A teacher in a large city was dismissed because her father had changed his political faith. When she asked a member of the board "how a teacher could be dismissed without charges," he replied: "We always have charges when we need them." She concluded that the teacher was of "little account," only "a great big cipher." One principal wrote as follows: "The teachers in my town are expected to help all the churches, subscribe to the political fund, take all the papers, be helpers for everybody and everything, carry burdens of humanity generally and never assert their own views, but patiently serve." The widespread testimony is to the effect that if superintendents wish to keep their positions they must not express their opinions on local, state or national political questions. This subserviency of itself would tend to make the calling an inferior one.

Cases in Minnesota.

Here in Minnesota a few years ago the city superintendent was not accorded the right of having anything to say concerning the selection of the teachers who were to work under him. The crisis came in one of our larger towns. Three superintendents resigned in that town during one summer vacation as soon after their respective elections as they understood the issue. A fourth man was found who thought that he could conduct the school and waive the issue. His first year was anarchy and he wanted to quit, but the board coaxed him to go on, thinking that it did not look well to have so many superintendents in a year. His second year was anarchy plus. During the winter term the superintendent, hoping to get the school back to a state of ordinary anarchy and thereby reduce the "plus," and at the same time establish the reputation for himself of being a man of courage and backbone, concluded to thrash a bunch of three or four boys. He was thereupon arrested and dragged through the slime and nastiness of a municipal court trial. The judge told him that he had begun his reform at the wrong end. The school board was actually too weak to stand up for rightful authority in the schools, and were swayed this way and that by each howling politician that pointed a finger at them from outside.

In another Minnesota town some years ago it became necessary to elect a high school principal during the middle of the year. The board promised to consider favorably a candidate suggested by the superintendent, but they quietly held a meeting at which he was not present, and elected a candidate whom he considered incompetent. Thereupon he promptly resigned. The board told him that his resignation would kill him in the state. He got a better position, however, immediately, became a leading city superintendent in the state and is now an honored member in the faculty of our state university. A very few weeks' trial showed his judgment to have been correct in regard to filling the vacant position. His was a brave act and I trust it may not often need to be repeated.

At the National Educational association last summer a superintendent of prominence in an Eastern city told me with unhesitating positiveness that the great cause which hinders public education in this country is the fact that the people, the voters, have no genuine love for education and no real appreciation of what learning is. If their interest and their appreciation amounted to anything they would see to it that members of school boards were themselves persons of education, or at least men who appreciated the value of education; men strong enough to stand up for the right. To be sure there should be some good business men on every board of education, for the financial machinery of a district should be well run and kept in first-class repair. But since the school is something more than a great financial machine, there should be on the board some of the most cultured, best educated, safe and sound men of the community. There are other interests, even above and higher than the financial problems involved in running a public school, that should receive due considerable. Spirit, enthusiasm, culture, character, the hidden springs of action in the human soul, cannot be measured by the commercial yardstick, nor by the business man's dollar, almighty though it seems to be. Without such a reform in the personnel of the average board of education very little can be done for the betterment of the schools by raising the teaching class.

"Incompetent and Lazy."

Some months ago, in a village in an adjoining state, a teacher opened up a school in a two-room building, one room of which had never been used. On the first morning he had an enrollment of ninety-one pupils ranging in age from 6 to 19. He went to his board and asked them to open up the other room and give him an assistant. The board met in two weeks and called for his resignation on the ground that he was incompetent and lazy. The man who preceded him lost his position because he was a Republican in politics. Both of these men were teachers of recognized ability. A fellow was found who could "keep" this school and he kept it. But what a school! Without training or preparation, without taste and without love for what should be the highest and most sacred calling for men and women, these "school-keepers" get into the teachers' chair, by hook or by crook, and degrade the profession of teaching to a mere trade, upon which both tradesmen and artisans look down. But do not blame the teaching profession for this sort of thing. The blame for this must be placed upon the citizens and the petty politicians who sometimes represent them. They demanded something cheap and they got it. Had they demanded a higher type of teacher, the supply would have been forth-coming. A second or third rate man cannot begin to do the amount of harm as a lawyer, or doctor, or preacher, or farmer that he can do in the schoolroom where he has charge of forty or fifty boys and girls for six hours a day for ten months in the year. During this impressionable age unconsciously the pupils adopt the habits, lines of thought and rules of action of their teachers.

If school boards desire to make the status of the teacher as high as that of any other profession and to lift the teaching office into the highest esteem, they can do so by giving efficient teachers good backing in authority, security in their positions, freedom to do their best work, and by paying salaries large enough to make the profession attractive to the very ablest men and women, not as a makeshift but as a life career.

A teacher of merit, experience, training and character should have no anxiety concerning his tenure of office, and any system in which merit does not lead to promotion and security, is bad, and is certain to grow worse. Tenure by personal favor is bad, and tenure by political or religious influence is bad. Then again a young, inexperienced teacher or superintendent should not be paid as much, or almost as much as a mature, experienced and scholarly teacher or superintendent, as is now the rule in almost every school district. The difference between an excellent teacher and a "fairly good" teacher is incalculable, to say nothing of the difference between the excellent teacher and the poor or bad teacher, yet school boards make little or no discrimination between these classes. Our greatest need today is that of mature, sane, and well trained leaders. The need is that of men of good principles and backbone on school boards.

School teachers should be considered the elect of the land, and they will be so considered when they are selected from that class which is the best in every community. The school teacher should be a leader in the social life and an adviser in the political life of every neighborhood, because the position is the most important public local office held in any community. In Minnesota school superintendents generally object to being sidetracked, and insist on expressing their views at political gatherings, in the newspapers, and on public occasions, the same as other mortals. This is objected to by little men in some communities, but the sense of fair play among Americans is fast doing away with this medieval restriction.

Outlook in Minnesota.

The picture of the educational outlook in Minnesota is one of brightness, hope and inspiration. There are a few clouds in our educational sky but they only serve to enhance the general beauty of the ever improving scene. Minneseota school boards in increasing numbers are not only treating their superintendents and teachers with justice, but with respect, courtesy and kindness. The status of the teacher in this state has much improved within the past ten years. Often now do members of boards of education in substance advise parents as follows: Parents, let the teacher of your children see that her labors are appreciated, that the perplexities, the toils, the schoolroom trials that overtask the mind, take the roses from her cheeks, unnerve her body and wear down her strength, are justly estimated, fairly considered, and that where possible her faults, common to frail humanity, be overlooked. More and more are our best Minnesota school boards regarding the superintendent as their educational counsellor and agent in administering what needs expert and technical knowledge in school affairs, holding toward him much the same relation that has always been held by the board of trustees of a college toward the president, namely, a pretty direct supervision of the material concerns, but scarcely more than a confirmatory regulation of the selection of teachers, the interior administration, and the schedule of text books and studies.

Without a law regulating the matter, the tenure of office in this state is improving. The Hastings school board had one superintendent in their employ 23 years, Duluth one for 27 years, Hutchinson has had one for 30 years, Glencoe one for 12 years, Worthington one for 11 years, Ada, 10 years, Minneapolis 15 years, New Ulm one in 16 years, Tracy one for 11 years, Albert Lea had one 14 years, Waseca two in 18 years, Sleepy Eye one for 12 years, and there are several other towns that have done as well, or almost as well in this regard. The average term of superintendents in 129 of the largest towns in Minnesota is only three years. This is too short a term to do the best work for the schools. School boards, superinendents and teachers should be the best of friends, and while theoretically there may be rigidity in the interpretation of the rights of each, practically each must learn to give and take—each should think twice of his duty to the children committed to his trust, to once of what he calls his rights. The schools of Minnesota are a subject of solicitation to the great mass of plain people here, as is shown by the fact that the boards of education are kept non-partisan in politics, and non-sectarian in religion, although in many of the towns where this is true in school matters the municipal government is not above reproach.

Best in the United States.

Now a word about our state school system. The public school system of Minnesota is the best in the United States, and educationally Minnesota is the empire state. Able and fair-minded judges living in other states tell us so, and far be it from me to contribute toward building up a false pride. But to listen to newspaper criticism of our city schools and rural schools alike, to the criticism of educational philosophers in the legislature, to the blatant talk of the street corners and many of the discussions in our own conventions, an honest outsider would get the impression that something serious is the matter, and that Minnesota has the worst system of schools in the world. As educators we have fallen into abnormal habits of introspection, and are ourselves responsible in a large measure for the carping criticism on the outside. We do too much of it on the inside. Be loyal to your school, to its work and to yourself, as a board member, as a teacher and as a citizen.

Fellow citizens, these public institutions are ours. They belong to us, the plain people. They are dominated by no creed or sect or party. In this they are vastly superior to the systems of other times and of other lands. We should be loyal to them. We should love them. Our forefathers suffered much that these free institutions might be founded here in this new land. We, their sons, shall never be remiss in their support.

The history of mankind is the story of a struggle; calm and sunshine succeed the storm and the path of tedious toil ends in peace. Out of the soil of suffering and imperfection springs the flower of joy and the fruit of faith. Turn back in your memory to the year 1620. Can you see in your imagination that frail bark floating solitarily across the wild waves of the ocean, bearing its precious freight, that pilgrim band? If she sinks, then sinks the hopes of the oppressed of every land. But she lived the storm, and so that barren and inhospitable New England coast, surrounded by savages, was founded in faith and prayer and patriotic zeal our free school system.

From those log schoolhouses founded upon New England's historic rock, to the magnificent temples of learning erected by the votaries of science in every state in the Union, can be seen a wonderful human advance, the mighty march of our race, the upward and onward trend of man toward the divine. Parents, teachers and school officers, into your hands is committed the most important task ever intrusted to a body of human workers, the mastery of ignorance, the winning of the world to truth.

DOLAN IS MANAGER

Elongated Veteran Will Lead Wausau Team the Coming Season.

With Old Players Back Lumberjacks' Chances Look Bright.

Wausau, Wis., March 25.—Biddy Dolan, first baseman of Wausau, will manage the Lumberjack crew this season. He was unanimously chosen at a meeting of the directors of the club Wednesday night. He played on the team two years.

Wausau fans believe Dolan is the best first baseman in the league. Last season he led the team in hitting with a percentage of .329. His fielding record was splendid, and it was indeed a hard one that got by "Biddy." He has proven an earliest player, was always in the game and there is very little about inside baseball he does not understand.

The signing of Rhodes for third base and Meister for an outfield position puts the Lumberjcks in pretty good shape so far as players are concerned. Johnson will be back to do the backstop work, Dolan will be on first, Rhodes on third and Walliser at short. Fennell and Dunbar will back for box work, with a probability that Lakoff will also be with the squad before the season opens. The others have in sight a husky big pitcher from the Canadian league who is touted to have everything in the way of speed, control and curves and he will probably be signed up. Even should Schieffer refuse to sign the pitching department would be in pretty fair shape. The second base position will probably be filled in a few days with a new man who has been thoroughly tried out and about whose ability there is no doubt.

Duchesne and Meister will fill two of the field positions. "Bugs" Carter can be secured for the sun garden, but if it is decided not to use him this season the place can readily be filled.

Trade is Offered.

Charles Fox, who formerly played second base with the Wausau club, and who is now manager of the Jackson, Mich., club, wants to trade Parker, a first class second baseman, for Cahill. At present the local officers are negotiating for other second basemen to take the place of Bond, recently released, and if these deals fall through, it is not entirely unlikely that Cahill will be traded to Jackson for Parker. Parker has a good record and was one of the best second sackers in the Southern Michigan league last season.

BROWN MAY MEET WHITE

Hibbing Scrapper After Chicago Feather—Match With Forbes in Sight.

A letter today from Dr. Flapper of Hibbing, manager of Pal Brown, the great little range fighter, contains the information that Doc will shortly leave for Winnipeg and will try to induce the Winnipeg promoters to put Pal on with Frankie White of Chicago, rated as one of the greatest little fighters in the country.

Negotiations are also under way for a meeting between Brown and Harry Forbes, the Chicago fighter, who has been talking of fighting Johnny Coulon for the world's bantam championship.

While Forbes will probably be lighter than Brown, his friends figure that he would come around the 126-pound mark and would be awfully strong at that mark.

Paper figures that Brown is one of the very best boys in the country today around the 130-pound mark. With this belief implanted in his bean the worthy doctor is on the trail of some of the best boys in the country.

Brown has to date beaten every boy that has been brought to meet him. Certain men have gone out of their way to have the kid beaten, because there are always some people jealous of success, and very boy that has been signed to fight the Iron Ore Kid, has returned to his native haunts with a bad licking.

One thing is very certain. Brown has come along awfully fast, is a game, terrific hitting and enduring fighter, who is always dangerous because he packs a knockout punch in either mit. His career, should he meet some of the best in the country, will be watched with interest around here.

Racing Rules.

Lexington, Ky., March 25.—Changes in the rules for Kentucky racing, doubly important in view of the death of racing in New York, were passed by the Kentucky Racing commission here today.

It is now provided that in meetings at tracks whose immediate territory contains a population of more than 100,000—meaning Latonia and Louisville—no purse at a spring meeting shall be for less than $500, nor at autumn meetings for less than $400; in cities between 30,000 and 40,000 population—referring to Lexington—the purse limits are $300 and $250 for the respective seasons.

After 1911 all guaranteed stakes are to be prohibited. This means that the Latonia Derby, for example, must give to the winners all fees paid in for entries and declarations instead of being held to the guaranteed $3,000 value.

Other rules keep the commissions for the tracks from the Parimutual machines at 5 per cent, and provide that a graduate veterinary surgeon shall be employed at each track in the state.

COMMENTS AND OPINIONS ON THE SPORTING PARADE

Casting an Eye Over the Prospects for the Coming Summer—Jiggs and the Come-Back—Demmer and the Three I League.

(BY BRUCE.)

With the coming of April we are crossing the threshold that enters the region of summer sports. Baseball, King Baseball, will be ushered in with that majestic pomp that the great old game deserves, and there will be tennis, golf, automobile racing, motor boat racing, rowing and the multitude of sports that go to amuse the great American public.

With the passing of the winter sports it may be interesting to observe that one of the greatest of the events of the wrestling season may be staged this spring.

Word has been received from Chicago that after all there is some prospect of Gotch and Hackenschmidt getting together for that famous match. Gotch has signed a contract with the Empire Athletic club of Chicago, that binds him to meet any wrestler the officials of the club choose, and it may be that the two big men may come together in the very near future. Long, long trail a-winding.

Passing, however, from the winter sports, we are on the eve of the opening of the two major seasons. Two of the greatest questions have to do with the ability of Chicago in the National and the Philadelphia Athletics in the American league. Can they "come back?"

After the brilliant showing of the Connie Mack brigade in the world's series, and taking into consideration that many of the members of the team are youngsters the chances for another pennant for the Mack cohorts would seem bright.

With the Chicago Cubs the situation is very different. The great old machine has begun to go to pieces. Steinfeldt has already been replaced, and there is Overall missing and Brown gone and the chances that some of the other vets who have figured in brilliant campaigns in the past, may find the race too swift.

Barney Oldfield most likely, will be found missing from the dare devil auto racing game. He has disposed of his cars and his retirement looks permanent. You can't say about Barney, for he is a very unreliable individual and the retirement dodge, at that, may be simply the means for more advertising.

Motor boat racing is just coming into its full popularity in this country with the result that there should be some great races the present season. nIn the West, Peoria, Dubuque and Detroit will hold big meets, with our own meet to be considered among the events of the Western season's special attractions.

Down East some of the biggest events in the history of the sport are on the cards. The owners and makers of boats are crying for speed, just as the automobile men cried for speed until the mile in 27 seconds resulted. The result of this mania for faster time over the skimming surface will probably result in some freakish models being seen in some of the Eastern races.

Then there is the preparation for the Olympic games. The selection of a track team that is supposed to contain the very best athletes in the entire United States is an undertaking that has in the past interested the lovers of outdoor events throughout the country.

The tryouts of the different clubs will be interesting and will be one of the bright features of the summer season. Preparation for the world's championship games are long and thorough in detail, and the preliminary work will bring the names of many athletes, heretofore practically unknown, before the public eye.

America's growth as a sport loving nation has been nothing less than wonderful during the past decade. It's material manifestation has been in the construction of great and imposing baseball parks, in the building of automobile racing tracks that maintain large and well conducted press bureaus, and the expending of large sums of money to bring the fastest motor boats in the world together.

With these advances along the line of sport, there is reason to believe that the season which we are facing will be one of the greatest in the annals of sport in the United States.

Poor Jiggs Couldn't Make It.

It has been a habit of this column, in the past, to chronicle some of the unfortunate victims of the "come back" habit. Such notables as James J. Jeffries, Young Corbett, Kid Lavigne, Battling Nelson, Kid McCoy, the Chicago Cubs, and the Yale football team have been treated here.

It has been mentioned, from time to time, that the hope thing springs eternal in the breast of man. When he gets through hoping the man withers, so to speak, like the gentle rose subjected to the wilting rays of old Sol. He congeals and falls into the shambling gait and the gentle touch.

It is sad to relate, but friends, there is another to add to the list of the fateful but failed. Jiggs Donohue, a noble and extremely peppery youth in his day, has been trying out for the first base job on the Chicago White Sox, and now doth news come of the ecliptic of poor Jiggs.

Will Shakespeare had a habit of saying of some slain Kink or fallen foe, that he was a most noble gent. This same goes three ways for his jiggleta.

He reared his highest glory point when the White Sox took the world's championship away from the wonderful Cub machine. It was greatly due to the playing of Jiggs that the Sox were able to accomplish this somewhat difficult feat.

Some of the Sox infielders tried their best to throw the ball away, but Jiggs wouldn't let them. He picked the high ones out of the air with one hand, lugged down into the sand and scooped the low ones with his glove, pulled the wide ones from either side and in general performed with much vim and eclat.

Since that time Jiggs somehow has not been the same man. He was disposed of to Washington, which has been the last perching place for ball players, and then he tried the independent route.

He probably read of the mania to try once more, which historians will surely chronicle as one of the fads or features of the age. He became infected and pleaded to his old chief, Comiskey, for one more try at the first base job. At the present time he is traveling on his way back to Hot Springs, there to attend to the duties of his pool hall.

There will probably be others. The disease is catching in the extreme. Some day we are hoping that a case can be told of some individual who can really come back.

At the present time James Callahan is performing in center field for the Chicago White Sox and it may be that this athlete will be one of the few to break the rule that has been going against the boys for this long stretch of years.

It would be a real pleasure to recount the failure of one John Artha Johnson to reach the goal aspired to by so many of the "come back' boys of the past.

Some War They Have, Those Three I's.

When that offer came saying that Walter Demmer, the hit 'em kid for the Indian band last year, was for sale, Jawn Desmond arrived at the wonderment as to whether the moguls in the war zone of the Three I circuit were on a rampage, a disposin' of all their players before something horrible is going to happen and the players might vamoose of their own sweet will.

The offer of Demmer on the part of Waterloo was some funny play when you come to think of the ability of the youngster. If the deal can be cleared of something of the impediments, it is a very sure thing that Jawn would try to land the demon willow swinger.

Every time this Demmer chap came to bat at Athletic park last season the true fans in the bleachers used to catch their hearts in their throats. He was very liable to smash one a boundin' out of the lot, and for that reason is very useful to any baseball team.

He would have come in mighty handy in some of those games last season, which were lost by the one margin freeze out. Any time you get a hitter on your team that can hit them to the far end of the daisy patch when a hit means a run or two, you will find that the home boys will be winnin' more games than they would had the club all the fancy fielders in the league corraled.

Hitting ability was something that the Sox lacked last season. The season before the team got away without so many hard hitters as some of the other team had, simply because the pitching staff was great, because we had a catcher that used to nip the other fellows off the bases, and also because some more, we had an infield that used to kill a lot of drives.

Get a bunch of those free arm cloutters on your team and it will be found that the turnstiles will have a right merry countenance. Three Demmers in an outfield would be an awful sweet combination. Here is every wish that someway and somehow the kid may land in the daisy patch of the White Sox.

RECRUIT MAY LAND BERTH WITH THE NEW YORK TEAM

EUGENE ELLIOTT.

The Yanks think they have made one great find among the green members of the team for 1911. He is Eugene Elliott, who was playing in McKeesport when captured alive. Farrell thinks he is good enough to play third base regularly, after watching his practice down South.

CAN SAMMY BEAT ARTHA?

Relative Ability of Two Blacks Interests Followers of Fighting Game.

There is no other and younger Jeffries in sight, and the chance of another great heavyweight world's championship battle seems far away. Carl Morris of Sapulpa, Okla., is a giant and young, and he is winning fights. But up to date he has done nothing to show that he will ever take a place among the champions.

But even if giants are scarce, some fighter equal to the task of meeting Jack Johnson may come up before long. Sam Langford is a much smaller man, but Langford looks like a good contender for the heavyweight title. Sam has beaten all of his opponents in a fashion that proves him dangerous to anybody. Johnson won't have an excuse for evading Langford much longer—and holding the title. The champion does not seem anxious to fight again. He has turned down several offers of big purses in England and France—even for them. Apparently he does not intend to fight again. It is quite likely that Johnson knows how much Langford has improved, and that he is not at all anxious to try conclusions with Boston Tar Baby.

And if Langford should have a chance with Johnson, some heavyweight, now just starting, may have as good a chance in a year or two more.

Size Is Not Everything.

Looking back over our long list of great fighters, one can pick out many who proved that the ring that size is not everything. Away back in the London prize ring days, when fighters did not wear gloves, but fought on the turf with spiked shoes on their feet, Charlie Mitchell met John L. Sullivan for the world's championship and a side bet of $2,500. This historic battle was held in Chantilly, France, in a private park. There were few spectators. It was purely a sporting proposition. Rain fell heavily that day and the mud was ankle deep, says Bob Edgren.

Charley Mitchell, known as the "Boxing Champion of England," was a light middleweight, almost a welter. But he was a wonderful boxer. Sullivan, compared to him, was a giant. The fight was desperate from the start. It lasted forty-nine rounds, at the end of which time both were too weary to do further execution, and by mutual agreement the mill was stopped and declared a draw.

One of the most famous cases of a small man against a large one was the fight in which Joe Walcott, 5 feet 1 inch tall, welterweight, knocked out the clever and hard-hitting heavyweight, Joe Choynski. Walcott fairly had to jump into the air to reach Choynski's jaw, but he reached it.

Fits Just Middleweight.

Bob Fitzsimmons, always fighting as a middleweight, knocked out Gus Ruhlin, the Akron giant; Jim Corbett, Peter Maher and a score or so of other good heavies. He proved beyond all doubt that a lanky, long-limbed middleweight with a "kick" is a match for any man. If Fitzsimmons were in his prime now he could give Johnson all the fighting he cares for, and perhaps more.

Then there was little Tom Sharkey, who was built like a miniature Hercules and never knew when to quit. Sharkey fought Jeffries twenty-five desperate rounds for the world's championship, and when Siler declared Jeffries winner, many of those in the crowd held a different opinion. Jeffries won, as the outcome proved, for while he came through the milling uninjured, Sharkey's ribs were caved in and he never recovered his best fighting form again.

Saints Win First.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 25.—In the first exhibition game of the season the St. Paul team of the American association defeated the St. Joseph Western league team yesterday by a score of 5 to 1.

CENTRAL HAS EASY VICTORY

Hilltop Boys Defeat Virginia at Basket Ball, 65 to 4.

Last evening at Virginia the basket ball quint of Central high school defeated the Virginia students by the rather humorous score of 65 to 4. The Virginia boys did not register a field basket, gaining their four points on free throws.

The score at the end of the first half was 32 to 2. During the second half the Central boys shifted positions, the change making no difference in the scoring ability of the team.

"Morty" Harris threw twelve field baskets and scored three points on free throws. Solheim threw nine field baskets, Johnson seven, Osman two and Jeronimus one. Williams scored three of the Virginia points, Olson scoring the other one.

Central defense was practically impregnable and the Virginia boys were unable to shoot.

The lineup:

QUINCY OUT; WATERLOO IN

National Board Announces Decision in Three I League Tangle.

Auburn, N. Y., March 25.—The arbitration board of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues yesterday decided the Three I league tangle, reinstating Waterloo, Iowa, in the league, casting out Quincy, Ill., and ordering the league to continue the coming season as constituted last season.

CANADIAN ALL-STARS DEFEAT CLEVELAND.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 25.—The Canadian all-stars of Toronto, Ont., defeated the Cleveland hockey team here last night, 9 to 6.

NEW BOAT FOR WHITESIDE

Deal Closed for 45-Foot Boat That Will Cost $5,000.

Will Be One of the Finest Pleasure Craft in Duluth.

Yesterday the Dingle Boat works of St. Paul, through its agents, Schell and Wade of West Duluth, closed a deal with R. B. Whiteside for the sale of a $5,000 cruising boat of latest design.

The big boat will be forty-five feet in length and will have a beam of eight and one-half feet. It will be fitted out with a Capitol engine of 150 horse power, and is guaranteed to have a speed of sixteen miles an hour.

There will be a full length cabin and the interior of the boat will be fitted out in the most handsome style, and in every way it will be one of the finest boat at the Head of the Lakes. The local agents of the Dingle Boat works state that the big boat will run faster than the guaranteed speed, although it is only designed for a pleasure craft.

The closing of the deal for a boat of the magnitude of the one ordered by Mr. Whiteside will add materially to the fine list of boats in the local fleet. There are few cities in the world the size of Duluth that can boast of so many fine boats or so large a fleet. The addition of a boat of the size and general character of the one closed for yesterday only goes to show the increased interest being taken in boating.

McINTOSH IS GOOD KIDDER

Hugh Says Lang Would Have Beaten the Boston Tar Baby.

Hugh McIntosh writes from London about the Lang-Langford go. Hughey, strange to say, tells us that Bill had a chance in that go, although every report we've read so far is to the contrary. He says that after the first few rounds Sam wasn't as dangerous as he had been, and was growing weaker every minute.

The letter in part follows:

"Langford is undoubtedly one of the best six-round fighters living, and when weighing the decision against Lang he lost the fight he was on his feet and Langford was on the floor. Most of the papers attribute Langford's fall to a slip, but the cinematograph films, as well as the photographs, vividly demonstrate it was the result of a clean knock-down blow.

"During the last round that was fought Langford was constantly appealing for fouls, and at the time of the disqualification Lang, though weak, was certainly in better condition than he had been in the earlier periods of the fight.

"Langford tried from the outset to put Lang out; his blows were as powerful as he was able to administer, and in the first few rounds he certainly had the opportunity of hitting Lang as often as he pleased, but although knocked down, Lang always got up and fought with great courage.

"Any one who has studies Langford's fighting knows this, that if he fights all out for six rounds he rapidly gets tired and his blows lose their sting. Lang was just about realizing that Langford had done his best—as he said afterward—his blows were getting lighter and he felt that Langford was tiring, while Lang was settling down to fight in his old style.

"Lang's explanation is that he thought Langford was getting up on his feet, and as he had been having the worst of the fight right through, he did not want to miss a chance of scoring a victory. It was a most regrettable ending, and combined with the fact that Lang had been disqualified for the same thing only a month before, it has rather tended to put him in a bad light, but the referees are very strict. Mr. Corri has a reputation for strictness, and his knowledge of the game is beyond question. He strictly interprets the rules without fear or favor, and is, if anything, inclined to err on the side of harshness."

WORLD CHAMPIONS IN BATTING BEE.

Charleston, S. C., March 25.—In a game featured by the terrific hitting of the Philadelphia Americans, the champions yesterday won the second game of the series from the Charleston Sallay league team by a score of 14 to 1. Baker of Philadelphia got two home runs and a double in three times up.

JUST CRAZY OVER MORRIS

Oklahoma Cits Believe Brave Engineer Is the Greatest Living Fighter.

Women Get the Fever and Form "Girl Scouts" Athletic Clubs.

Ever since Carl Morris quit the noble art of running an engine for the manly sport of boxing, he has been quite a big hit in Oklahoma. The following letter from Tulsa, written by W. W. Neal, a newspaper man, tells what a big sensation Morris has created since he came into prominence in the fight game. Neal in his letter to the Cincinnati Enquirer states:

"Dear Sir—There is but one thing talked of in this section of the country nowadays, and that is the coming battle between Carl Morris, the white man's hope, and Mike Schreck, the Cincinnati heavyweight. Morris is being trained by Con Itiley and Harry Wuest for the fight, which takes place on March 28 at Sapulpa.

"The women are so interested in athletics out here that they have formed a Girl Scout club, an organization patterned something on the order of the Boy Scouts of America.

"It is the outgrowth of ladies being admitted one day a week to witness the giant engineer at his training. Mrs. Mabel Hendren, a prominent society leader and church worker, after seeing Morris work out a couple of times, became so enthusiastic over the fistic game that she conceived the idea of forming an athletic club of girls, who have taken the name of the Girl Scouts. A gymnasium has been fitted up in the basement of the First M. E. church, South, where the young ladies daily undergo athletic training. Every Thursday afternoon, which is ladies' day at the training camp of Carl Morris, the girls march in a body there under the leadership of Mrs. Brainerd and remain interested spectators until closing time.

"Dukes and lords may be quite the proper thing on Fifth avenue, New York, in Pittsburg or Atlantic City, but Carl Morris reigns supreme as a social lion in Sapulpa. Several hundred leading ladies there have expressed a desire to witness the Morris-Schreck bout. In many prominent homes in Sapulpa the picture of Carl Morris is seen, and it is displayed in windows of business houses all over the city. Theodore Roosevelt or William Jennings Bryan have nothing on Carl Morris as a celebrity in his home town, where prophets, as a usual thing, are not honored as highly as they are away from home.

Even From Pulpit

"Next Sunday night Rev. Jerry Jeter, pastor of the First M. E. church, South, will preach the third of a series of sermons he has been giving on 'The White Man's Hope.' His subject will be, 'What Is He?' The closing sermon the Sunday night following will be the subject, 'What Will He Do?'

"Rev. Jeter is a great admirer of the big hope, and is confident he is the man who will some day whip Jack Johnson. The Morris camp always attend services at this church, and occupy reserved seats during his addresses on Sapulpa's favorite son. The other day, when a war among local promoters threatened to result in the Morris-Schreck bout being taken away from Sapulpa and staged in Oklahoma City, Rev. Jeter was much worried over the situation, and was highly pleased when peace was declared and the fight remained in Sapulpa. Every preacher there, with possibly one exception, favors the fistic game, and some of them will witness the coming bout.

"Morris is now in splendid condition. In fact, no champion ever entered a ring looking better prepared to whip any man on earth than he does. His skin has the glow of perfect health. Every ounce of surplus flesh has been taken off. His muscles and stomach are as hard as steel. He has developed his breathing powers to such an extent that no bout, no matter how long it lasts, is likely to get his wind. His boxing exercises the past three weeks have brought him to a high degree of cleverness with his fists. He can use his right or left with equal skill and strength. The other day he scored a 1,250-blow on a swinging punching bag. He is exceedingly light and agile on his feet. He combines the strength of John L. Sullivan, boxing ability of Jim Corbett and catlike agility of Battling Nelson. Added to all three qualities, he is as fearless as a lion and has the staying power of a bulldog.

Schreck the First.

"Mike Schreck is the best fighter Morris has ever tackled, but if Morris does not put him out in three rounds, everybody in Oklahoma will be wonderfully surprised. Many people are of the opinion Schreck will not last over one round. They say that the giant hope, with his great size, tremendous strength and splendid training, will overwhelm the Cincinnati man before he has time to gather himself together. Morris looks good enough now to 'eat up' any fighter in the world.

"It will doubtless interest the public to know that Morris comes from a family of giants. His father, two brothers and five sisters are living. The father stands 6 feet 4 inches and weighs 240 pounds. Ulric Morris, who is a sparring partner of Carl, is 6 feet 4 inches and weighs 190. His other brother, who is but 15 years old, is a 6-footer and weighs 180 pounds. Every one of the five sisters is six feet tall and weighs over 200 pounds. The Morrises are Kentuckians, but have been living in Eastern Oklahoma for several years.

"It has practically been decided to stage the Morris-Schreck bout in the arena where Morris has his training quarters. It will be enlarged so as to accommodate about 15,000 people. A New York concern has secured the moving-picture privileges, and every detail of the fight will be photographed. Yours truly,

"W. W. NEAL."

COMMUNICATIONS RECEIVED

To the Sporting Editor of The Herald:

Through your columns I want to ask President Frank E. Force whether he is going to allow the teams of this league to play exhibition games before the opening of the season. As far as I can ascertain, this is not permitted in any other league of the country. Is the Minnesota-Wisconsin league a regular organization, or is it ruled by busk principles?

I believe that exhibition games between teams of the same league before the opening of the season tend to kill the interest in the scheduled games. It is liable to furnish a line on the strength of the teams that the fans would rather wait to the regular season to find out.

This question, forwarded to the president of the league, would bring out the Minny policy in this matter.

TEN OF LAST YEAR'S SQUAD EXPECTED TO BE BACK WITH THE WHITE SOX THIS SEASON

With the statement that Kid Hughes may be back with the White Sox, and also that there is some chance for the return of George Anderson, the speedy deep sea outfielder, the Sox will have a number of the old faces when the team lines up for the opening game on the home grounds.

There will be a large number of candidates to choose from and every man will have to fight for a position on the squad. It's a cinch that some of the members of last year's team will fall by the wayside.

At the present writing it looks as if Blancke, Schwab, Holstrom, Altermott, Hughes, Kramer, Worman, Cummings and possibly Kohl and Anderson will be with the team when it starts on the train trip. These men will have to fight it out with the recruits for places on the team.

Jimmy Anderson has not signed as yet and from present indicatons he may not be asked to sign a contract. With the wealth of material Darby has signed, and the good men that made up the team at the close of the season, the Sox should start the season with a strong aggregation.

DANIELS GIVEN RACE OF HIS LIFE.

New York, March 25.—One of the most remarkable finishes to a swimming race in this or any other country was witnessed at the New York Athletic club last night when C. M. Daniels, the record holder, again won the 100-yard amateur athletic union championship.

Never before was Daniels so hard pressed. Only two inches behind him was McGillivray of the Illinois A. C. of Chicago, while a few inches away R. E. Frizelle of the Missouri A. C., St. Louis, beat out A. H. Hebner of the Illinois A. C. for third place. The four men were only a fraction of one-fifth of a second apart as they touched the finish mark.

The time of the winner was 56 4-5 seconds, which is 4-5 of a second behind Daniels' own American record for the distance with three turns.

SUPERIOR MAY SIGN PITCHER EARL CUMMINGS.

There is a gentle report, stealing the rounds of the baseball alley, which says Earl Cummings, the former high school football star and one of the best hockey players in this city, will play the coming season with Superior. Young Cummings, like his brother, is a pitcher and a good one. Both of the Cummings boys have been throwing the ball around, just kind of getting the kinks out of their arms. Al will join the recruits at Cleveland, according to the statement he made the other day, and is doing a little throwing to get his arm unlimbered.

The acquisition of Earl Cummings by the Superior team might add strength to the pitching force, for Cummings is a comer and should have a mighty good year with the Red Sox, if they have any kind of a team over yonder.

CHICK EVANS BEST GOLFER

Hoosier Player Has Shown Great Form in Recent Contests.

(By Dick Jemison.)

Charles Evans, Jr., known to golfers throughout the United States as "Chick," is one of the most remarkable golfers in America today, if not in the entire world. Chick is now playing golf at East Lake and a little history of his wonderful progress would hardly be amiss.

Though handicapped by a mashed finger, which he received by getting it caught in the swinging door on a Pullman en route to Atlanta, Evans has been playing some remarkable golf on the Atlanta course.

Evans will stay in Atlanta for several weeks, preparing for the British open amateur championships in which he will participate.

Evans was born in Indianapolis July 18, 1890, and will not reach his majority until next July. He is an undergraduate of the Northwestern university.

Evans Popular.

Over half of the golfers in the United States declare that Evans is the best golfer in the United States today, but a canvass of all the golfers in the United States elicits the information that they are divided as to choice between Evans, Walter Travis and William C. Fownes, Jr.

Be that as it may, Evans is without a doubt the most popular golfer playing. This is as the result of his lovable disposition. A man has but to meet Evans to like him. Whether defeated or not, "Chick" is always the same, smiling, sunburnt, lovable lad, having a compliment for every good shot of his opponent and bashful as a recipient of praise for his own brilliant efforts.

An idea of the kind of golf that Evans plays can be gained by an incident that occurred on the Atlanta course a week ago. Evans was playing the island hole, which is 513 yards. His drive went over 200 yards. A midiron shot went into the ditch approaching the island. Dropping out of this ditch and losing a stroke, Evans holed out over the lagoon for a "4," really making a "3."

"Chick" is the acknowledged master of all the iron clubs known to the game and it is his unerring accuracy with these clubs that makes him feared by every golfer in the country. His mashie play is wonderful to behold, but his midiron play is even more remarkable. He plays not for the putting green, but for the cup and it is his half midiron shots in laying the ball dead to the cup that enables him to win his matches.

Accuracy with his irons, good distances with his wooden clubs, plenty of nerve, a confidence that makes his play at times appear uncanny, with a wonderful putting game, makes him appear to the writer the best golfer in the United States today.

Evans is the only amateur who has ever won an open championship in this country.

In 1907 he won the Western Junior title and the interscholastic title; in 1908 he captured the interscholastic title again and won the Chicago title.

In 1909 he won the Chicago title again, captured the interscholastic title for the third time, won the Western Junior title again, was national semi-finalist and won the Western amateur title.

Last year he won in addition to the Western open championship and the Western amateur championship, Westward Ho, Lake Geneva and Onwentsia tourneys, was runner-up in the Western amateur championship and low medalist in the Western Open, Westward Ho, Western Junior and Edgewater tourneys and tied for the low score with Paul Hunter at Onwentsia.

Thorough Sportsman.

In all his matches, Evans is the personification of a gentleman and a perfect sportsman. No matter what the occasion, he never takes advantage of an opponent, on several occasions really conceding points, which to all golfers were to his advantage and could have been legally and gentlemanly claimed.

This is in brief a complete history of the remarkable golfer who has honored Atlanta and its splendid course by his presence. It is a most genuine pleasure to see him play and a large gallery follows the match in which he is playing each day.

While in the foremost ranks of the golfers of America today, Chick Evans, though a mere boy, will in a short space of time, be recognized as the greatest golfer the world has ever seen, either amateur or professional.

And when he gains the highest pinnacle in the world of golf there will be none who will begrudge him his place, for "Chick" is above all a gentleman, a sportsman and a man without enemies. May his success as a golfer continue.

INDOOR MEET OF WESTERN CONFERENCE.

Chicago, March 25.—The first events of the annual indoor meet of the Western intercollegiate conference were held last night at Northwestern university. Athletes from all the Big Eight universities were present. For the first time in the conference the indoor meet is being held on a dirt track under conditions similar to those of an outdoor meet.

The swimming events were concluded last night, Wisconsin, Illinois, Northwestern and Chicago universities taking all firsts.

The Automobile

ROAD IN GOOD CONDITION

Biwabik Party Makes Duluth Run in Less Than Four Hours.

Came Through Without Chains —No Trouble From the Mud.

Fred B. Myers of Biwabik, with a party of six, made the trip yesterday from the range in an automobile over the Miller Trunk road. He states that the roads are in excellent condition as indeed they must be for the trip from Biwabik took but three hours and forty minutes, in actual running time.

The roads are entirely free from snow and as the frost is not out of them, they are hard and dry, making an excellent road at this time of the year. Mr. Myers came through the entire distance of seventy miles with no chains.

In the party were: Henry G. Seeley, Frank S. Colvin, Arthur L. Myers, Dr. Baxter B. Smith and Frank S. Dane. J. A. Talle is in the city and he will return with the party, which expected to leave this afternoon for home.

The roads about Duluth bid fair to be in better condition earlier this season than last. Last year several automobile parties were stuck in the mud on the Pike lake road about the middle of May. If the present weather keeps on they should be in first class condition at least a month earlier this year.

NEW MODELS IN CHALMERS LINE

E. J. Filiatrault Discusses New Shapes for the Season of 1911.

"The most striking changes in our line of 1911," said E. J. Filiatrault of the Mutual Auto company, the local Chalmers dealer, "are some new models. We have a 'Forty' Torpedo of four-passenger capacity, which supplants the 1910 'Forty' Pony Tonneau. Among the Torpedo types I consider this Chalmers one of the most distinctive on the market. The straight line effect is carried out at every point. It is truly beautiful.

"Then we have the '30' Torpedo Runabout, which is certainly one of the raciest cars I have ever seen. This runabout is built on a chassis differing from the regular '30' chassis only in length of wheel base. It is the ideal car for a man who wants a racy two-passenger machine.

"For our '30' Touring car we have handsome detachable fore doors of patent leather, so that in the Chalmers '30' you can buy an enclosed touring car for winter use and still have the regular model for use in warm weather.

"Otherwise the Chalmers line is little changed from 1910. All bodies have been made more roomy because the frames of both the '30' and 'Forty' have been lengthened. Improved manufacturing facilities have given a finer grade of workmanship. The finish is equal to that of the highest priced cars. The seats have been lowered in all models, giving greater riding comfort. Tonneau doors are wider. The wiring systems of both the '30' and 'Forty' have been greatly simplified and improved.

"It is difficult to specify any great changes. A number of minor improvements both in construction and finish have, however, given us a better and smoother working car than ever before."

THREE MILES IN A MINUTE?

"Will the almost impossible speed of three miles a minute ever be attained by man and motor?" is one of the questions that is now perplexing the followers of auto racing.

Ever since Barney Oldfield hurled that combination of German skill and ingenuity, the "Blitzen" Benz across the Florida sands a mile in 27:33 seconds race followers have convinced themselves that as far as the construction of a machine is concerned, three miles a minute is a possibility because the car would merely be an evolution of the present record holder, but the problem of having a set of pneumatic tires that could stand the strain arose and almost precluded the three-mile-a-minute possibility.

E. A. Moross, director of the coming events at Jacksonville, is out to have a three-mile-a-minute mark for the new beach initiation and all of his efforts have been directed along this line. He has been in touch with foreign motor car builders who are prepared to make a car that will stand the tear of a three-mile-a-minute torture, and with their guarantee in his possession he encountered the tire proposition, which was harder to solve because manufacturers did not want to guarantee their product to carry the car at this terrific rate of speed.

MILL CITY TO DULUTH

Hibbing Man Claims He Came Through in Less Than Seven Hours.

Says the Roads Are Hard, Dry and Free From Snow.

Fred Smith, the agent for the Velie car at Hibbing, Minn., states that he was the first to make the trip from Minneapolis to Duluth this year.

He claims that the roads are in perfect mid-summer condition and that he came through with no trouble whatever in 6 hours and 35 minutes.

Mr. Smith was in the city yesterday and the appearance of his car bears him out in the statement that the roads are good. It bore no appearance of muddy roads.

If Mr. Smith came through in this time the record is probably the best ever made at this time of the year. Other years the roads have been so bad that no one would attempt the trip until along in June.

He states that the roads all the way are entirely clear of snow and that they are hard and dry. One man made the trip a few weeks ago with a limousine, but at that time the road was very bad in places and the snow very deep.

The car which Mr. Smith says he drove on the trip to Duluth was a 40-horse power, fore-door Velie. It was the first 1911 model of this make seen in Duluth.

DAYS OF FREAK AUTO ARE OVER

Factories Are Now Turning Out Cars Built Along Standard Lines.

(By C. E. Matthews.)

The one thing which particularly impressed me at the recent automobile shows that I had occasion to visit has been the very evident fact that the automobile is becoming quickly standardized. A standard form and construction is being adopted by America's largest automobile manufacturers. The freak automobile has just about seen its day. Those which have been thrust upon the market have in a great many cases, proven absolutely unsatisfactory. In a great many cases the manufacturer went to a great expense to elaborate on the freakiness of his model and neglected to spend enough energy on the perfecting of its internal working parts and the material which went into the construction of his car.

For the past year the number of freak models has gradually diminished. Manufacturers found that a car of freakishness of design soon fails to appeal to the man who has bought such a car, and he becomes more or less dissatisfied. There now seems to have been a fine line of division drawn between those cars which have been designed to greater increase touring comfort and cars that have been designed merely to be attractive through their individual designs.

The next few years will not see a marked change in automobile construction. The experimental stage with the larger manufacturers is a thing of the past. Many have made their mistakes and profited by them. The high class automobile of today is practically without a flaw.

A few years ago it was the ambition of every automobile engineer to produce something different, something individual, something original in the way of motor car construction and in his endeavor to be individual he sometimes got freakish. As the years go on we find that there is being fixed a set standard of automobile construction which most manufacturers are closely adhering to. The day of the freak motor car is past.

Reaches for Salt; Picks Up Pepper

Scientist Tells How Little Signs Point To Approaching Decay.

It is said by an authority on nervous conditions, that they are the little nervous signs rather than the big ones, which indicate the approach of early decay of the nervous system. Twitchings, loss of memory, lack of decision in little things, growing nervousness, loss of confidence and courage indicate that the nerves are in a bad way.

With nerves that cannot stand the natural demands upon it, a man or woman is only one-half a man or woman. Without nerve-strength there can be no courage, no vitality, no prosperity, no enjoyment of life.

There is a nerve invigorator which is truly remarkable for its power, safety, blood-purifying qualities, and its promptness in producing results. It stands supreme among all nerve builders for men and women.

This nerve-invigorator is Make-Man Tablets. It is made for any nervous disorder. Its results are remarkable on Run-down Condition, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Kidney or Liver Troubles and Rheumatism.

Make-Man Tablets are sold at all drug stores at 50 cents a box. If you want to try them before buying, just drop a line to the Make-Man Tablet Co., Make-Man Bldg. Dept. 10, Chicago, Ill., and they will send you a trial treatment absolutely free.

Sold and recommended by all leading druggists, and A. E. Swedberg, White Swan Drug Store, 3 East Superior street, also 2015 West Superior street.

Sunday Services in Duluth Churches

The well known Swedish orator, President Frank Nelson, Ph. B., of Minnesota college, located at Minneapolis, will be the speaker Sunday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A.

Prof. Nelson graduated from the University of Iowa and was regarded by all as one of the strongest speakers in the university, where he won renown as an orator. For a number of years he was state superintendent of public instruction in Kansas. During his occupancy of this office he devoted a great deal of time to lecture work, appearing in numerous Chautauquas.

Samuel M. Hill, ex-president of Luther academy at Wahoo, Neb., says of him: "I have heard Thurston, Bryan and Lamberton, the three best speakers of Nebraska, but I would put this Iowa boy as equal to any of them. My praise is enthusiastic, but it is not overdrawn."

United States Senator Burton, after hearing President Nelson, wrote: "Prof. Nelson is one of the most polished speakers in the West. He is a deep thinker and his addresses are prepared with great care and presented with eloquence and enthusiasm."

The association feels very happy in securing the services of this noted Swedish educator.

The Svea Glee club, with thirty-five voices, will furnish the music.

The subject of the lecture will be "The Light of the World."

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Dr. Vincent to Arrive on Day He Assumes the Presidency.

All Manuscript for 1912 Gopher Has Gone to the Printer.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Vincent will arrive in Minneapolis April 1, just two hours before he is to take over the presidency of the university. President Northrup will lead the chapel exercises for the last time on March 31. Dr. Northrup is averse to any farewell ceremony, but although no plans have been made, he will probably be given a loyal Minnesota demonstration.

Subscribers for the 1912 Gopher are promised the best annual ever published by a class at Minnesota. All the manuscript has gone to the printer. The book will contain 500 pages and will have sections devoted to the junior album, sports, debate and oratory, and a calendar of the university year. The feature secton will not be confined to one college but will cover the follies of all the departments. The 1911 Gopher was second only to one college annual in the United States and all indications now point to the top notch position for the next Minnesota annual.

Two annual scholarships are offered to the women students by the Minneapolis College Women's club and by the St. Paul branch of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae.

Dean Woods of the agricultural school was host to the entire senior class of the school, members of the legislature, President Northrup and the faculty of the school and college at the annual reception to the graduating class of the school of agriculture. This reception is the first function of commencement week at the school of agriculture.

Minnesota psychologists will hold their annual conference at the university beginning March 31, in conjunction with the annual meeting of the state superintendents. It is expected that 150 psychologists, teachers and students will attend.

The 1911 senior prom, instead of being exclusively a farewell party for the senior, as has been the custom in past years, will be made the big social event of the year. It will be open to all classes of the university as well as to the alumni.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. will give a banquet in honor of President-elect Vincent. The social committee is planning to make this reception of Dr. Vincent one of the biggest events of the social calendar.

A message of optimism was delivered to the graduating class of the School of Agriculture by John Lind, president of the board of regents. "Your education in agriculture," said Mr. Lind, "is not completed; it is just begun. You have your book learning, but now you are to go back to the bigger school on the farm, where will be disclosed to you the secrets of nature."

The legislators' wives spent one day of this week as the guests of the Woman's league. Luncheon was served at Shevlin, after which there was a tour of Sanford, where coffee was served. A musical program by the Euterpean club was one of the features of the afternoon. From Sanford they went in a body to chapel to attend the production of "The Servant in the House."

Alumni and class days are to be combined, as was decided by the seniors. The united exercises will be on June 7. This is to bring the alumni and outgoing students into closer contact with one another. Part of the day will be given over as a field day, a feature of which will be a baseball game between the seniors and alumni.

President Faunce of Brown university, who has been visiting in the Twin Cities during the week, has much praise for Dr. Vincent. He said: "If Minnesota had searched the world for a man to place at the head of its university it could not have made a better choice than Dr. Vincent. Under his guidance I expect to see the University of Minnesota grow enormously and become a leading power among the educational institutions of the United States."

The Minnesota song book is a reality, according to the report. The necessary number of copies have been subscribed for and the book will go to press. W. N. Norton, author of the book, is very much pleased with the interest shown by the students, 500 copies being subscribed for in twelve days. The book will be out May 1 and is dedicated to the university as a memorial of the class of '11.

BRAINERD INSTITUTE PROVES BIG SUCCESS.

Brainerd, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farmers' institute held here this week ending today has proved to be a great success. Many farmers with their wives came to town and were interested listeners at the proceedings.

F. B. McLeran of Wrenshall spoke on the possibilities of agriculture in Northern Minnesota and also took up the subject of the dairy industry in a most comprehensive manner. L. H. Bugbee of Wrenshall spoke on the fertility of the soil and the best means of preserving the same. N. E. Chapman of Owatonna took up the subject of gardening and small fruits.

President of the Brainerd Commercial Club Carl Zapffe welcomed the visitors and paid a high tribute to the good work which these institutes are doing among the rural communities.

SURE TO BREAK A SEVERE COLD

How to Cure a Bad Cold and End Grippe Misery in a Few Hours.

The most severe cold will be broken, and all grippe misery ended after taking a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

You will distinctly feel all the disagreeable symptoms leaving after the very first dose.

The most miserable neuralgia pains, headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, running of the nose, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness, rheumatism pains and other distress vanishes.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

WHERE DO YOU KEEP YOURS?

A prominent Duluthian lost his life insurance policy a short time ago—hunted everywhere for it—home, office, factory.

Told us about it. Do you know what he had to do to get a new one? Had to advertise the loss for six weeks. Had to establish his personal identity—give bonds of identification for twice the amount of the policy to the insurance company—worried for fear he would die before he could get all of these matters adjusted. He has a new policy now deposited in one of our boxes. No more worry. Costt $3.00 per year.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

INDIANS ARE GOING AHEAD

Children of Red Men on Fond du Lac Reservation Like Public Schools.

Many of Indian Children Are Already Attending Schools in Cloquet.

Cloquet, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is estimated that considerably more than $20,000 in timber money has been paid out to Fond du Lac Indians through the Indian office in Cloquet during the past two years. This money has been almost entirely spent in this locality, Cloquet and the smaller towns tributary to the reservation as the Indians rarely go to the Head of the Lakes to spend their money. There is but one government Indian school remaining on the Fond du Lac reserve, since the school at Sawyer was closed and the pupils sent to the public school, as it is everywhere becoming the policy of the Indian officials to send these wards of the government to public schools wherever public schools are within reach, since they are citizens and have the same right to public school education as the white children.

Something like sixty white children are brought to Cloquet every school day of the year, in a covered wagon, from the surrounding country where children have no school privileges and these are attending the various schools of the city.

Indians Have Same Right.

By law, the children in the one remaining Indian school on the Fond du Lac reserve, the school a mile northwest of the city, have the same right to be transported to the public schools in Cloquet, and there has been considerable speculation for some time as to whether it would not be feasible to take advantage of this fact, and have the Indian children brought to the city, closing the government school in the village.

There are about thirty pupils in attendance, and in intelligence and general appearance the school averages with any country school. Many of the families in the Indian village feel that as they spend their money here they have a right to public school privileges, which are really theirs if they choose to avail themselves of them.

NORTHERN TOWN SEES GOOD YEAR

New Sawmill, New Business Blocks and Other Good Things at Falls.

International Falls, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—This promises to be the greatest year in the history of this community in an industrial way, the vast expenditures made here on water power, paper mill and other concerns by the Backus-Brooks syndicate assuring the town's future and giving hope to every one.

Besides the construction here this year of a big sawmill, several big business blocks are assured.

Duluth Concern to Build.

The latest is that the Duluth Brewing company will erect a modern business block to cost about $40,000. This resulted largely from the visit here this week of President Hoch of Duluth, who after looking over the town became so pleased that he closed a deal with John Stone for lots 1 and 2, block 10, which gives them one of the choicest fifty-foot corners in the Third street business section. On this property the company will within thirty days commence the construction of a solid brick building, 50 by 90 feet, two stories in height, with full basement. The structure will be modern in every way, with two store-rooms below and living rooms above.

An effort is being made by the company to acquire twelve and one-half feet of the front part of the adjoining lot, and to have the owner of the latter build in conjunction and uniform with the company. If this is done, the structures will be arranged as a European hotel, for which there is urgent need here. The company will also improve its property on the opposite corner to the north by putting in a full-sized concrete basement and a heating plant, and already estimates that before their improvements of this season here are completed they will have invested approximately $40,000.

Following closely upon the heels of the Duluth Brewing company's investment, Mrs. Fred W. Kelly has become the owner of lots 13 and 14, block 10—the corner just across the street west of the Minnesota & International railway passenger station. On this property Mrs. Kelly plans to commence the early construction of a two-story brick building, with full basement, the structure to cost $15,000 and to be used as a European hotel.

Two-Story Frame Block.

The International Improvement company, which is buying lots and erecting buildings on the same for its customers, announces that work is being started on a two-story frame business block for Frank & Co., the same being located in block 9, on Third street. The building will be 25 by 65. They will also at once commence the construction of a modern home for E. E. Peterson on lot 17, block 38, the location being on Third street, opposite the schoolhouse.

R. C. Fraser has become the owner of the lot adjoining Mr. Peterson on the west, it being lot 18, block 38, and the corner east of the Baptist church, which he will improve with a splendid modern home.

La Page & Company have purchased lot 10, block 10, and taken an option on lot 9. Their plans are not yet perfected, but they expect to improve the property at an early date with a business block.

R. L. Horr of Minneapolis has added to his local possessions by the purchase of lots 23 and 24, block 40, and will improve the property by the erection of a modern residence.

J. E. Burdick has become the owner of lots 17 and 18, block 40, and will erect a residence upon the same at an early date, for his own use.

R. H. Bennett has become the owner of some of the choicest residence property in the city. For some time he has owned the three lots on Sixth street on the corner west of Patrick Lynch's. He has now purchased of R. L. Horr the two-story residence and four and one-half lots adjoining the three on the west, which gives him a solid stretch of seven and one-half lots. This, in the estimation of many of our citizens posted in realty matters, is one of the finest individual holdings of residence property in our city.

BROST FAMILY ENDS TROUBLES

Alienation Suit Dismissed and Divorce Action Finally Disposed Of.

McClusky, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The troubles of the Brost family, which resulted in the institution of a breach of promise case and a divorce action, have been settled.

The breach of promise action, commenced by Emelia Brost vs. Jacob Brost, her father-in-law, charging that he had been responsible for the loss of her husband's affections, was dismissed. The divorce case started by her husband, Fred Brost, resulted in a divorce being granted to her on a cross complaint. He alleged cruel and inhuman treatment, and fear that she would poison him. She set up desertion. The Brost family is very prominent in this county.

FIRE IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Bonfire Starts Bad Blaze in Fashionable District.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 25.—Fanned by a strong wind, a small bonfire, started in an alley by children at play, caused a fire in the heart of a fashionable residence district, filled with apartment houses that caused a loss that will aggregate $1,000,000.

The fire soon communicated to the warehouse of the Tyler Lumber company and one of the fiercest conflagrations in recent years was soon in progress. The entire area was threatened by the rapid spread of the flames and the firemen were unable to subdue it for several hours. Sparks ignited houses several blocks away. Many minor accidents occurred during the fire, but no loss of life resulted.

SANDSTONE FIREMEN HAVE AN ELECTION.

Sandstone, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the firemen's election held Thursday evening, Simon Jensen was named chief, Paul Ghirlnghelli retiring after serving two years in that capacity. William Prenevost was elected captain; Albert Bobeck, first lieutenant; August Stenmark, second lieutenant; Harry Hammerstad, secretary; James Robertson, treasurer; Gust Gjertson, Hugo Wickstrom and Gust Westberg, fire marshals, and John Harris, A. Bobeck and G. E. Westberg, trustees.

The funeral of William Brummer was held Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Stegeman of the Dutch Reformed church officiating. He was taken to a Minneapolis hospital last Saturday for an operation, but failed to recover from the effects. He was 63 years of age and lived alone on a farm two and a half miles west of here. A wife and son reside at Rochester. The son arrived Wednesday morning to attend the funeral.

SOO SHIPPING TIES.

Many Rumors Set Afloat About New Railroad Work.

Fordville, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Orders for the removal from this city of 150,000 ties that had been shipped in here by the Soo railroad in anticipation of the construction of the proposed Fordville to Devils Lake line, have been issued by the railroad and a large crew of men is now engaged in the work. The ties are being distributed along the line west of here for repair purposes. Rumors have been afloat recently to the effect that the Soo would abandon its construction work, although it has a large amount of grading done, extending the line south from Egeland instead. This new move adds weight to that report.

NORTH DAKOTA BACHELORS HAVE MATRIMONIAL CLUB.

Langdon, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nekoma bachelors have decided that they want to get married and have organized a club for the furtherance of their matrimonial aspirations.

Important Prescription For Stomach Troubles

This comes from reliable medical authority as being one of the most remarkable prescriptions of recent years as demonstrated in the results shown by its widespread use in hospital work and private practice. It is said to give immediate relief for distress after eating, belching, sour stomach, dizziness and headaches, and if used for sufficient time will eradicate the worst dyspepsia. "Two ounces essence of Pepsin; three ounces syrup of Ginger; one ounce Catandir compound. Mix and use one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time." Catandir always comes put up in one ounce sealed packages. Any druggist should have it in stock by this time or he will quickly get it from his wholesale house. For best results mix the Pepsin and the Ginger, then let stand about an hour before adding the Catandir. It will be more convenient to get the ingredients from the druggist and mix them at home. Those who have tried this are enthusiastic over its prompt and effective action.

FOREST FIRES IN WISCONSIN

Farmers in Sawyer County Having Tussle With Flames in Several Places.

Couderay, Wis., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bush and forest fires are burning at a number of places along the Omaha road in Sawyer county. There has been no rain since the snow left and with the dry leaves and high winds, fires are threatening at several places. Several farmers near Angus and Birchwood had narrow escapes from being burned out by the bush fires yesterday afternoon.

Forest fires in this section this time of the year are unusual, something that has not happened here before since the white settlers can remember. Rain is neded very badly, both to insure good crops and as a check on the forest fires.

OLD CHURCH FIGHT ON.

Differences in Icelandic Church of North Dakota to Be Aired.

Pembina, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of the famous case involving the doctrines of the Icelandic Lutheran church, and affecting the entire church, both in this country and Canada, will be commenced in teh district court of Pembina county Monday morning, with Judge C. T. Templeton presiding. This is the case in which the rights of the so-called liberal faction of the church to take possession of and conduct services in old established church buildings is questioned, and the decision will have far-reaching effect upon the entire denomination.

BALLINGER AT HOME.

Former Secretary of Interior Is Warmly Welcomed at Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., March 25.—Richard A. Ballinger, former secretary of the interior, returned home from Washington last night and was given a rousing welcome by his fellow townsmen. He was met at the train by a committee headed by Mayor Dilling and by representatives of all the clubs and commercial organizations of the city.

When Judge Ballinger appeared, the gathering broke into cheers and then followed with organized yells and songs. Mr. Ballinger was visibly affected.

RAY, MINN., COUPLE WEDDED IN DULUTH.

International Falls, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Glava, a prosperous merchant of Ray, and Miss Elsie Enzmann of the same village were quietly married this week in Duluth. After a ten-day honeymoon, they will return and commence housekeeping in the "Hub" city of the beautiful Rat Root valley.

Bemidji Commercial Club Elects.

Bemidji, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The directors of the Commercial club have elected officers for the ensuing year, as follows: T. J. Burke, president; W. A. Gould, first vice president; A. P. White, second vice president; G. E. Carson, re-elected treasurer; H. E. Reynolds, re-elected secretary.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Negaunee—Thomas Forester, an Italian, who had been employed at the Mary Charlotte mine, died Wednesday evening in a house at the location, where he and nine or ten countrymen were batching. Typhoid fever was the cause of his death.

Escanaba—J. F. Sullivan, district agent for the Minneapolis Brewing company, enjoys the distinction of driving the first automobile from Marinette to Escanaba this season. Mr. Sullivan found the roads in good condition except between Harris and Wilson, where once it was necessary to procure a team to pull the machine out of a monster snow drift.

Menominee—F. J. Walker, who some months ago purchased the Vaudette theater from Harry Weiss, has sold his interest to H. H. Kiddey of Bicknell, Ind.

Ishpeming—A class of candidates was received into the Ishpeming branch of the Modern Brotherhood of America on Wednesday evening. Following the meeting a lunch was served. A ladies' degree team is now being organized and will soon be ready for work. The lodge has a membership of about 100, with indications that this number will be considerably increased before the close of the year.

Marquette—Members of the water board are highly elated because of the two splendid reports that have been received on the city water since the sterilization plant has been in operation. The second report was received yesterday and pronounces the water to be in excellent condition and entirely safe for drinking purposes.

Calumet—Frank Converso, aged 22, employed by the Calumet & Hecla Mining company, died at the C. & H. hospital early Thursday from injuries sustained while at work underground two weeks ago. A dislocated spine is given as the cause of death.

Hancock—Frederick F. Wagner of East Hancock, a Hancock business man for longer than a quarter of a century, died Thursday morning at his home on Cooper avenue. He had been ill for some months, but it was not thought dangerously. He was 46 years old. A complication of diseases caused death.

Houghton—The funeral of Roger Beaumont, the Canal farmer who met death Monday evening while walking along the Copper Range tracks by stumbling off of the Union brewery docks, where the tracks and dock met, and fracturing his skull, took place Thursday. Services were conducted at St. Ignatius' church.

Calumet—A team composed of five Commercial bowlers has left for Ishpeming to take part in the Upper Peninsula bowling contests, Friday evening and Saturday.

Ishpeming—August Swanson of the firm of Swanson & Person, furniture dealers, died Thursday morning about 5 o'clock at his home on Fourth street, aged 56. Death came unexpectedly and was due to heart disease, from which the deceased was a sufferer.

Marquette—Mrs. Lawrence Lattrell, wife of Lawrence Lattrell, a painter, died Thursday morning at St. Mary's hospital at the age of 29 years. She was, before her marriage, Miss Florence Boldue and lived here all her life.

Calumet—The following entertainment course for next season was outlined at a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Lyceum Lecture bureau Wednesday evening: Chicago Ladies' orchestra, Chicago Operatic company, Southern Jubilee singers, C. L. Burgdurfers, entertainer, Hon. Seaborne Wright of Georgia, Col. Bain of Kentucky.

Houghton—Deputy County Clerk Mitchell has for some days been engaged in indexing the marriage licenses issued in Houghton county since the county was organized and the work is now fairly well advanced. The task is an intricate one and is somewhat of an innovation.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Kenosha—The Social Democrats of Kenosha county have adopted resolutions of protest against the action of President Taft in sending troops to the Mexican border. Copies of the resolutions have also been sent to Senators Stephenson and La Follette, together with a letter asking them to make an immediate personal protest to the president and a demand for a withdrawal of the troops.

Madison—The assembly committee on commerce and manufacturers unanimously voted to recommend for passage the Ballard bill to make more stringent the law relating to false weights and measures.

Altoona—It is probable that the Eau Claire-Altoona interurban line will be built this year, as application for a franchise to furnish electric power for both lighting and manufacturing purposes in Altoona has been made by the Chippewa Valley Railway, Light & Power company of Eau Claire. It is practically certain that a transmission line will be installed within a few weeks.

Eau Claire—That Northern Wisconsin has the best facilities for seed growing in the United States is the decision of P. L. A. Ferguson, a seed expert, who has purchased 3,000 acres of land near the Stanley for a seed farm, after an investigating trip through the United States and Canada, covering 100,000 miles.

Marinette—Sugar beet pulp will be used as winter food for sheep for the first time on a large scale by the Menominee Sugar company, which is planning to feed a herd of 30,000, to be imported from the West and pastured on the cutover lands of the upper peninsula.

Neenah—It is announced the annual meeting of the Fox River Valley Foresters' association will be held at New London on March 26. The meeting will be largely attended by Foresters from all over Eastern Wisconsin.

Grand Rapids—Raymond Schenock, employed in the Consolidated Paper mill, was injured by catching his hands in the rewind rolls. In his endeavor to free one hand the other was drawn in.

Milwaukee—The Rev. Robert V. Griffith, pastor of the Welsh Presbyterian church, Milwaukee and Martin streets, has resigned. Mr. Griffith and wife expect to leave Milwaukee next week for a year's trip abroad, where they will visit their old home in Wales.

Madison—State Claim Agent Philip Lehner has been appointed special commissioner by Governor McGovern to hear testimony in the ouster suit brought against District Attorney J. C. Mars of Forest county. Mr. Lehner will go to Crandon April 11 for the hearing.

Eat and Get Thin

This is turning an old phrase face about but modern methods of reducing fat have made this revision possible.

If you are overfat and also averse to physical exertion and likewise fond of the table and still want to reduce your excess flesh several pounds, do this: Go to your druggist (or write the Marmola Co., 491 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.) and give him (or send them) 75 cents. For this modest amount of money the druggist will put you up the way of satisfying your ambition for a nice, trim, slim figure. He will hand you a large case of Marmola Prescription Tablets (compounded in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription), one of which you must take after each meal and at bedtime until you begin to lose your fat at the rate of 12 to 16 ounces a day. That is all. Just go on eating what you like, leave exercising to the athletes, but take your little tablet faithfully and without a doubt that flabby flesh will quickly take unto itself wings, leaving behind it your natural self, neatly clothed in firm flesh and trim muscles.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Bismack, N. D.—Commencing March 25, the Hotel McKenzie will change over to the European plan of management as was originally intended by the proprietor, and it is confidentiy expected that this mode of conducting this mammoth new hostelry will prove decidedly popular with the travelling public.

Steele, N. D.—At the township election, held here, all the old officers were re-elected without exception. The sum of $1,000 was voted to be used on road work in the township, this being a move that has been order way for some time in this township, but has been defeated every other election.

Bismarck, N. D.—The ice of the Missouri river between the Bismarck-Mandan railroad bridge and the Indian school broke up Thursday morning, and has drifted out, and it is expected that all of the ice in the river will be out within the next twenty-four hours, as there is a fine wind blowing and the weather forecast is warmer. The river is open at present from a point ten miles south of the city.

Aberdeen, S. D.—The thirty-first convocation of South Dakota Consistory No. 4, Valley of Aberdeen, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, will be held in the temple at Aberdeen on April 10 to 13, inclusive.

Fargo, N. D.—Judge Charles F. Amidon of Fargo has been called to St. Paul to preside over the grand jury of the federal court term which will be held in the Gopher state. The local federal judge will go to St. Paul next month to be present at the opening of the grand jury term which begins April 4, and he will also sit in the regular court session.

Bismarck, N. D.—The second child in the family of J. F. Brenan of Steele in Kidder county to die of infantile paralysis, passed away Thursday, following an illness of but two hours.

Devils Lake, N. D.—The La Rue brothers are breaking ground for the erection of one of the finest garages in this part of the state, which will be located on lots 17 and 3 in block 34, facing the Great Northern depot. It will be 50 by 140 feet, two stories with a basement in the rear. The entire first floor and basement will be used for a garage and repair shop, and the entire building will be steam heated.

Fargo, N. D.—The management of the Fram, the leading Scandinavian weekly of North Dakota, has changed hands. Announcement was made when J. G. Halland took control for the stockholders, relieving A. A. Trovaten, for years the editor and manager of the newspaper.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Foley—The tie vote inthe treasurership of Foley was settled when the council met as a canvassing board and W. S. Howe and Albert Latterell drew lots to see who would handle the village funds for the coming year. In the match Mr. Howe drew the lucky slip and he will be the next treasurer.

Detroit—The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Mills at Spruceedell was totally destroyed by fire recently, together with practically all the contents. The misfortune falls doubly hard on the estimable couple because of the affliction of Mr. Mills, who has near lost his eyesight. The fire is thought to have caught from the chimney.

Staples—A quiet home wedding occurred at this place Monday evening, the bride being Miss Maude Courtright, daughter of Editor and Mrs. I. J. Courtright, and the bridegroom, Harris M. Aldrich, only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Aldrich of Aldrich village.

Little Falls—The Pine Tree sawmill will very likely begin sawing Monday, March 27, if the weather keeps as warm as it has for the last few days, and every effort is being made to get things in running order by that date. The men are dynamiting the ice near the mill so as to get the ice out of the pond as soon as possible, making the date for starting that much earlier.

Pine City—Applications for free grass seed have continued to pour in to the county auditor and Mr. Hamlin says he now has over 200 and expects more.

Hinckley—The shaft of the Big Eddy mine has been pumped out and the work of deepening it commenced. Mr. Wilson, who has been here continuously for the past two weeks, went to Minneapolis Wednesday but will be here next week.

Brainerd—R. C. Craddock has purchased a Stanley steamer, a five-passenger automobile, and will use his car to carry passengers about the city or to points on the Cuyuna iron range.

Crosby—Dr. R. H. Monaghan is building a large hospital at Crosby. This institution is to be one of three belonging to the Northern Minnesota Hospital association, having hospitals at Blackduck and International Falls.

Moorhead—Benedict Gunderson, one of the very earliest settlers in Clay county, died Thursday at his home in Moland township. Mr. Gunderson was born in Norway Sept. 5, 1822. He came to Houston county, Minn., in 1861, and in the spring of 1871 came overland to Clay county, settling on the Buffalo river in the town of Moland. Here he has resided ever since.

International Falls—United States Commissioner F. J. McPartlin has resigned his position and upon his recommendation Guy C. Parker of Littlefork was appointed United States commissioner for that section of country, while Clerk of District Court Drummond will attend to the duties of that office throughout this section of the country at his office in the courthouse.

Mora—The confectionery store of F. C. Johnson was broken into Friday night, March 17, and about $8 worth of candy and money to the amount of $2.50 taken. The thieves removed a panel in the door in the rear of the building and entered through this opening.

Littlefork—On Monday afternoon County attorney McPartlin held a juvenile court in the courthouse to consider the cases of three boys of this city who had been arrested by Chief of Police White for petty larceny, the boys were released "on their good behavior."

Princeton—Henry Hamilton, one of Princeton's pioneer settlers and an old soldier, who saw much active service, died at the home of his son, Edwin, in Baldwin on Saturday morning, aged 84 years. The funeral, which was largely attended, was held from the home of Edwin Hamilton in Baldwin on Tuesday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. Goodell.

North Branch—Prairie fires southwest of town destroyed considerable hay again. Alfred Horton lost about five tons of hay which was stacked in the meadows on his farm, John Lillgren lost about seven tons and other farmers in that neighborhood were heavy losers.

Hear Willard Mack sing "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" and Maude Leone warble "So Long, Mary."

It sounds funny, doesn't it? That's just what you will have the opportunity of doing. George M. Cohan's big musical show, replete with humor, musical numbers, melodramatic effects and a real chorus, will be put on by the Mack-Leones.

The production of "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" will start next Thursday. It requires a vast amount of labor to put on a show of the magnitude of the Cohan piece. That is one of the reasons why the production has been delayed until Thursday.

There will be special scenery and some startling scenic effects. There will be the costumes and the infinite number of details that go with the production of a musical show, for "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" is not exactly a musical comedy. It is a show set to music, or rather it might be called a play with musical numbers and some catchy songs cast into the plot.

New Rochelle is just a 45-minute ride from Broadway, New York. The scene of the big Cohan piece is laid in New Rochelle. That is where the name, "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," originated. The rural simplicity of New Rochelle compared to the deep and abiding knowledge of New York has furnished the author with his comedy.

Kid Burns is an ex-prize fighter. His lounging places have been the Bowery and Broadway. He goes to New Rochelle and wonders at the simplicity of its inhabitants. The good citizens of New Rochelle are considered worldly-wise and sporty if they remain up after 10:30 p. m. In New York Kid Burns really never quite began to wake up until after the dear and enchanting hour of midnight.

At New Rochelle he meets Mary, just plain Mary. Mary is a domestic, plain as she can be, but a loving soul, and she gives the worldly-wise and somewhat cynical Mr. Burns some ideas in being what Kid Burns might call a good fellow, only Mary is a very different kind of a good fellow.

Maude Leone will be Mary. She will have several opportunities. First of all she will have the opportunity of singing a song. "So Long, Mary," and "Mary Is a Grand Old Name" will be two of the songs that will be rendered by Miss Leone. There is a chance for real acting in the part of Mary, for aside from the musical numbers, there is a genuine comedy, some serious moments and a little touch of real pathos.

Maybe you don't believe it, but Willard Mack is going to play "Kid" Burns, a man who used to fight. Again you may be quite incredulous, but he is also going to sing. He will sing "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," and will also do a few steps.

James Rennie will play the Million Dollar Kid. The Kid has so much money that he is sometimes troubled with ennui. Then he meets Kid Burns and his sense of loneliness and despair disappears.

The company has been increased and three rehearsals are being held every day. The production will be complete, as it will be played on the road for a few days by the company. "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" will be the biggest production that the company has ever given here, and the work of preparation is also the most thorough that the members of the company have ever been called upon to go through.

"Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" will open Thursday and will continue into next week.

The circus is a familiar and standard institution of American life. In the country district its coming is eagerly looked forward to as the one crowning event of the summer, and its tented field is the mecca to which pilgrims come from near and far. And yet the inner life of the circus is as little known to those who bask in its tinsel glitter and its tawdry pomp as the ancient life of the Etruscans might be. Margaret Mayo's tender little play, "Polly of the Circus," permits a glimpse into the inner life of the circus. It is through a window the panes of which are rose-tinted with romance, but the atmosphere of the sawdust ring and the dressing tent is so well produced, by her clever coadjutor, Frederic Thompson, wizard of stagecraft and effects, that the romance and the sentiments seem real and grateful.

The contrast between the life of the circus where Polly has grown to girlhood unspoiled in character, but totally undeveloped save in her profession, and the quiet, cultured life of the young minister's household serves to accentuate the effect. The playwright, too, has known how to make use of the narrow puritanism of the villagers and their bitter prejudice, the more stubborn because of the ignorance from which it springs, as an effective background to a story. How the love of Polly and the parson grew, how it led each other into the path of betterment, how the accusing voice of scandal came to interrupt and separate the twain, how Polly went back to the circus, with sacrificial intent, and how the parson found her there and declared his love—these are the items in a pretty conventional story. The reunion of the pair in the full glare of the circus ring is sufficiently dramatic to satiate the theatergoers' desire for thrills and sufficiently poetic to please those who believe true love should ever be triumphant and happy when the final curtain falls. Not a little interest centers in the final emergence from her childish chrysalis of Georgie Olp and her treatment of the role which, while calling for youth, still makes no small emotional demand. It is known that Miss Olp has youth and the tradition of a stage-bred family behind her. The play will be seen at the Lyceum Sunday and Monday with a matinee on Sunday.

After a record of two years' run at the Gaiety theater, London, and over two seasons at the Casino theater, New York, "Havana," George Edwardes musical play will be the attraction at the Lyceum theater, on April 6, 7 and 8, with James T. Powers as the star. The fact that Leslie Stuart who wrote the score of "Florodora," is the composer of the music of "Havana" will give some idea of the brilliancy of the numbers. Last season failed to produce a song which met with more favor than did, "Hello People, People Hello," which may be regarded as one of the feature numbers of "Havana." The piece will be given here in its entirety with the original cast and with one of the largest companies ever seen on the local stage.

If Raymond Hitchcock had not been a dire failure as a shoe clerk in Philadelphia the stage would not have known him. It is said that everything turns out for the best, and in this case the amusement loving public of America has been benefited for Hitchcock is the best and most popular comedian who ever graced the American stage. He says himself that his part in "The Man Who Owns Broadway," in which he is now appearing, is the best he has ever created in his theatrical career. It will be seen here.

MISS GEORGIE OLP,
As "Polly" in "Polly of the Circus."

MISS ALBERTINE BENSEN,
With Joe Hart's "Bathing Girls," at the Orpheum Next Week.

AT THE ORPHEUM

A musical revue in six scenes, known as "The Bathing Girls" will feature next week's bill at the Orpheum. It is more than two months since the last musical comedy act was seen on the Orpheum circuit, and "The Bathing Girls" should meet with a ready reception next week.

The act is one of Joseph Hart's, and one of his biggest. Mr. Hart is one of the best known vaudeville producers of the present day and has several pretentious acts on the circuit at the present time. His best known one, outside of "The Bathing Girls," is probably "Dinkelspiel's Christmas."

"The Bathing Girls" present an act of the type known as a "girl revue" in New York, consisting of a number of musical specialties strung together by a very slender thread. There are six scenes in the revue, showing Madison Square Garden, the New York Roof Garden, an artist's studio, the beach at Long Branch and one actual surf scene, which is said to be startlingly realistic. Mr. Hart secured several novelties for the act while he was in Paris last summer. One of them shows the paintings in an artist's studio. They become animated and dance while the artist sings. The cast of "The Bathing Girls" includes Glenwood White, Albertine Benson, Feurette De Mar, Nettie Uart, Marjorie Mack, Anna Hall, May Fitzgerald and Sylvia Latl, all of whom are more or less known to followers of musical productions along Broadway.

The big comedy hit of next week's bill is expected to be Tom Waters. In fact, the local management has been looking forward to the visit of Mr. Waters for several weeks. Press reports from other cities indicate that he is one of the big comedy hits of the season on the circuit, and much is expected of him next week. He is well known from his successes in "The Mayor of Laughland" and "Coming Through the Rye," in which he was starred, but his vaudeville work is said to be superior to anything he ever did in musical comedy. He will leave for England as soon as he completes his present tour of the circuit, and will play a long engagement in the London Tivoli and other English music halls. His act consists of an amusing monologue and his inimitable pianologue.

It is not often that an acrobatic act is among the headliners on a bill, but Robledella, in the language of the baseball writer, has been burning up the circuit. He is a young Cuban who has but recently come to this country, and he is said to be a wonder on the wire. He was in St. Paul last week, and some very favorable reports have been received regarding his act.

Something new in the sketch line will be shown next week in "His Phantom Sweetheart" presented by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Allen and company. A review of the act in the New York Telegraph describes it most effectively. The review follows: "If ever you have said anything against vaudeville and its frivolous appeal, by all means see 'His Phantom Sweetheart.' Frederick Allen and a slender company play the sketch, which is not a sketch after all, but a bit of frank sentiment and given with much honest breaking of dramatic laws. It tells a story, though, that touches as genuinely as the hand of a little girl.

"John Stoneman is a Wall street wonder. He is worth so much money that even he cannot estimate the amount. He is as old and pitiless and friendless as he is rich. His heart has turned to metal and he sits in his apartments and raises the price of coal, refuses time to men who owe him money, and crushes the lives of his financial victims. Then he dozes and dreams. His youthful sweetheart appears to him in a vision. She had waved farewell to him forty years before when he went to the war. (It's very obvious, you see). Now she comes to him again and reminds him of the friends of his boyhood. She tells him how she used to love him because he was 'square' and played his games honestly. All this seems stupid to repeat, but the sketch is not stupid to hear. Of course he wakes up and reforms.

"Frederick Allen as Stoneman does some realistic acting. He is clever and convincing. The sketch is well staged."

Miss Hilda Hawthorne is said to be a very charming young woman with a good soprano voice, and a gift for ventriloquism. She uses both of her accomplishments in her act, carrying on a humorous conversation with "Johnnie" and singing a "get back" song with the dummy which shows her ventriloquial powers to good advantage.

Hopper's cartoons are known to the average American newspaper reader. For vaudeville purposes he calls himself "Lightning Hopper", and he is said to have an act which differs from all other cartoon acts in vaudeville. He will be on next week's bill.

The Gee Jays will be the seventh act on the bill. They have an act which is described as "A Stage Upon a Stage." The miniature stage is fitted up in a very elaborate manner, and the Gee Jays are two comedians who impersonate manikins in such realistic manner that it is said to be difficult to tell them from puppets. They give a little comedy sketch on their miniature stage.

The Orpheum motion pictures and overture by the Orpheum concert orchestra will complete the bill, which will continue all week with a daily matinee. The opening performance will be given Sunday afternoon.

AT THE EMPRESS

The management of the Empress announces for next week the special engagement of Fred Karne's London pantomime company, which will present "A Night in an English Music Hall" as the headline attraction, commencing Sunday matinee.

This is one of the big attractions that has been promised the patrons of the Empress and should serve to increase the popularity of Sullivan & Considine vaudeville in Duluth.

"A Night in an English Music Hall" is practically a stage upon a stage. There are sixteen performers in the production and each is an artist. When Karno's pantomime company visited America several years ago, it registered one of the biggest comedy hits ever scored in America, and it was only after much persuasion that Mr. Karno consented to allow his company to return to the United States for a limited tour of the Sullivan & Considine circuit. "A Night in an English Music Hall" has been called a laughing sensation by the press and critics in all the cities in which it has appeared, and the management of the Empress is satisfied that it will gain additional laurels during its engagement in this city. In this pantomime, it is the box holders having fun with the actors that creates merriment. On one side is the schoolboy with his stock of buns and bananas, some for eating but more for ammunition. On the other side is a real tough, in a state of semi-intoxication, and between them things are kept in a constant state of laughable turmoil. An entire vaudeville bill of the English style is presented during the action of the pantomime, and a burlesque wrestling bout brings the fun to an uproarious close. Mr. Karno's mute comedy creation is full of the most ridiculous situations and is one that will appeal to the lover of good, clean comedy. "A Night in an English Music Hall" is but a fair sample of the acts that Sullivan & Considine have booked to appear at the Empress this season. Commencing Sunday, April 2, the feature will be Gennaro's Venetian Gondolier band of twenty symphony musicians; for the week of April 9, the United States Army Boys, twenty-five military experts, and for the week of April 16, Joe Welch, the Hebrew comedian, will be the headline attraction.

An attraction that will interest all lovers of music and high-class singing is "Phenomena." The offering of "Phenomena" consists of a series of songs arranged to show the remarkable possibilities of the human voice. This singer has a voice ranging from a low G to a soprano high C. He sings in five voices, viz: bass, baritone, tenor, contralto and soprano. The tones produced are not what is commonly known as falsetto, but are legitimate and are the result of development. The range in quality and sweetness of tone produced by "Phenomena" have never been duplicated, it is claimed.

Edward Barton and Florence Clark will come to the Empress in a side-splitting specialty termed "In Sixty-Five," which deals with the trials and tribulations of a young lady in a second-rate hotel. Their offering includes some of the latest popular songs and some very clever dancing. Miss Clark is a captivating comedienne and is the possessor of a very beautiful voice, while Mr. Barto is a brilliant comedian and a clever dancer, it is claimed. There is a strong vein of comedy running through the entire act.

No bill of vaudeville would be complete without an acrobatic or gymnastic act, and in LaVier patrons of the Empress will see a gymnast who has appeared in all the principal hippodromes and circuses of Europe. LaVier works on a trapeze and performs equilibristic stunts in midair in a graceful and spectacular manner. LaVier works with rapidity and presents his act in a very graceful and artistic manner, it is claimed.

The big extra added feature for the week will be a unique playlet entitled "A Gay Old Boy." This highly amusing sketch will be presented by Frank Graham and Edith Randall. This team is well known for clever work in character delineation, and the roles in the lively farce in which they appear allow them plenty of opportunity to provoke mirth. Miss Randall is said to be a very beautiful young woman and her wardrobe is one of the most elaborate of any seen at the Empress this season. During the latter part of her engagement at Milwaukee, Miss Randall received one of the new harem skirts, which was imported direct from Paris. This skirt caused a sensation in Milwaukee and it drew large crowds at the Unique in Minneapolis last week. This will be the first opportunity that the ladies of Duluth will have to pass judgment on the latest whim of Dame Fashion. The following is a press notice from the Milwaukee Sentinel: "Miss Randall of Graham and Randall, who are making such a hit at the Empress this week, sprung a surprise on yesterday's audience by appearing in a brand new harem skirt, imported direct from Paris. We refuse to commit ourselves as to our opinion of the harem skirt, but at any rate Miss Randall created a genuine sensation and the Empress has been packed at each performance since the harem skirt has appeared."

The moving pictures will close the show, as usual. This show has been reported as one of the best that has appeared on the circuit for months and should make a favorable impression with the patrons of the Empress. A matinee is given daily at 2:45, and evening performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved one week in advance by either 'phone. A special school children's matinee is given every Saturday at 2:30. All scholars under 14 years of age are admitted for 5 cents. Special attention paid to the entertainment and comfort of ladies and children at all times.

NEW PROGRAMS OF PHOTOPLAY

Bill for Coming Week at Odeum and Lyric Theaters.

"The Wedding Bell" is a dramatic photoplay which will run all of next week at the Odeum theater. It is said to be an intensely interesting little drama, telling a story of the evils of the sweatshop and the tenements. Clara Grey, the daughter of a rich New York man, comes to a typhoid fever on the eve of her wedding, from paper decorations which are made in the vile tenement where the flower makers live. He investigates and to his horror finds that he is the owner of the tenement himself, although he had never seen it, and did not know the conditions that existed there. He does everything in his power to remedy the conditions, and the story has a happy ending.

Manager Furniss of the Odeum and Lyric theaters made special efforts to secure this picture, and it is in line with his policy to show pictures that have some value in bettering social conditions.

The other films on the Odeum bill will be "Code of Honor," another dramatic film, and "Teaching Dad To Like Her," a comedy picture. Mr. Lenz will sing the illustrated song, "The Best Place of All."

At the Lyric theater, the feature film will be "Red Eagle," a dramatic film, and the other photoplays will be "Department Store" a comedy, and "Little Drudge," a dramtic film. Mr. Mistichkin will sing the illustrated song "Shine On Mr. Moon."

AT THE HAPPY HOUR

The feature act will be Lysat and Fair in a refined musical comedy act, featuring their singing and dancing, and pretty costumes. They come from the American Music hall in Chicago, and give about twelve minutes of up-to-date vaudeville.

Trudell and Fuller will be seen in an

BILL FOR WEEK BEGINNING SUNDAY MATINEE MARCH 26

BATHING GIRLS This is one of Joseph Hart's big acts, a musical revue of musical comedy proportions. There are six scenes in the act with most elaborate costumes and electrical effects.

TOM WATERS Here is the man we have been waiting for. "The Mayor of Laughland," he is called. He's as funny as Ezra Kendall ever was, and if you miss him you will miss the biggest laugh of the year.

ROBLEDELLA This man is a Cuban wire artist, one of the greatest in the business. He has been a big novelty on the circuit this year.

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK ALLEN These two clever people present a sketch called "His Phantom Sweetheart." Read the advance press notices in this department regarding it.

HILDA HAWTHORNE Miss Hawthorne is just a pretty young woman with an excellent soprano voice, and a gift for ventriloquism. The combination makes a very pleasing turn.

LIGHTNING HOPPER This man is one of the well-known American cartoonists, but he has an act different from others of its type.

THE GEE JAYS Do you remember Jolly Fanny Rice and her clever act? The Gee Jays have one somewhat similar, presenting living marionettes. The Gee Jays have carried the idea farther, however, and make their living figures present a little sketch.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Contracts have been signed between the New Theater directorate and George C. Tyler, whereby the latter will become the lessee of the New Theater building on Central Park west, for the next theatrical season. The name of the theater will be changed as the directorate of the institution wish, naturally, to preserve that name for their own undertakings. The attractions of Liebler & Co., will be shown, and only the most elaborate productions will be made.

In speaking of his venture, Mr. Tyler said yesterday:

"To my mind, there has never been a question about the New Theater being a great house for great productions. There is an immense auditorium —but it is not too large for the crowds which have been drawn out by attractions like 'The Blue Bird' and 'The Piper.' This has proven unquestionably that the New Theater is a practical proposition when a play appropriate to its magnificent proportions is presented.

"In making our productions, we shall be guided always by this condition. No play which requires for its best interpretation a small theater will be attempted. Only those productions which call for the utmost endeavor in scenic effect, largeness of treatment and staging room will be given.

"For example, the first production of the season will be 'The Garden of Allah,' and for this every available inch of the stage will be utilized. The spectacular effects of this play are so important that only on a stage of the size of that of the New Theater could they conscientiously be undertaken. I regard the New Theater as the ideal place for such a setting, and 'The Garden of Allah' as the most fitting production with which to inaugurate our season."

The 100th performance of "Pomander Walk" has been celebrated at Wallack's, where the Louis N. Parker comedy of happiness has established itself for the entire season. A cablegram signed by the company was sent yesterday to the author, thanking him for having provided the English players with a vehicle of a charm sufficient to permit their stay in New York for so long a period.

"A Certain Party," the musical farce in which Mable Hite is to go a-starring in a few days under the management of Liebler & Co., is the product of what the program will call "A Legion of Authors." Among the humorists who have contributed a bit here and there is William Collier. Collier has insisted, with all the ardor of a part-parent, that he should be witness of the opening performance. This is set for next Monday, in Dover, N. J. Mr. Collier, unable to obtain permission to absent himself from the cast of his own particular attraction, complained bitterly to Liebler & Co., whereupon those managers have come to his relief with the offer to put on a matinee at Dover instead of opening with a night performance. Mr. Collier and the other authors of "A Certain Party" will therefore travel to Dover, N. J., on three special cars on Monday morning. The remainder of the dramatists will go via automobiles.

Grace Merritt has secured a new play by Margaret Turnbull, the co-author of "Classmates," the agreement being made through the office of Mrs. H. C. De Mille. The play is entitled "L. G.'s Wife," and will show modern political life in a great city, with a cast of seven persons, all of a distinct type. The play will probably be produced early next season.

The cast for the new play, of which Frederic Thompson is at once author and producer, is complete in all its parts. Formerly called "A Child of the Desert," the play will henceforth be known as "Trailing a Rainbow." Rehearsals were begun at the Hollis Street theater, Boston, during the engagement of "The Spendthrift," and are now going into their third week in Baltimore. Mr. Thompson is thus carrying two companies, and he is constantly and closely supervising the work of both. A special public matinee of "Trailing a Rainbow" will be held in the vicinity of New York within the next two weeks. The leading members of the cast are T. Daniel Frawley, Francis McGinn, Vivien Martin, Emily Lytton, Robert Cain and Arthur Maitland.

The Lieblers have promised to star Richard Bennett next season in a play by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett. Though Mrs. Burnett denies that the play will be a dramatization of her novel, "The Shuttle," she states that the incidents of the play will be taken from the book. Of course, Mr. Bennett will be cast for the part of Sheldon. The play will probably be called "The Shuttle."

The Werba-Luescher producing firm have signed Alice Lloyd, the English vaudeville star, to star in a new opera, for which Heinrich Reinhard, composer of "The Spring Maid," will probably write the music. Miss Lloyd is now touring the Orpheum vaudeville circuit in the West, but will return to London in time for the coronation. Her starring season under the management of the enterprising Werba-Luescher firm will begin in September.

A. H. Woods announces the engagement of Dustin Farnum and William Farnum as co-stars to be launched in a new four-act drama entitled "The Little Rebel," by Edward Reple, author of "The Prince Chap." "The Littlest Rebel," as a sketch, with Dustin Farnum, was first presented at the New Amsterdam theater for a benefit performance several weeks ago. A. H. Woods was in the audience and was so impressed by the dramatic possibilities contained in the playlet, that he imendiately sent for Edward Peple, the author and contracted with him for a four-act play, using the sketch as a nucleus of the finished drama. At the same time Mr. Woods opened negotiations with the Farnum brothers.

Lee Harrison has secured as his first star Valeska Suratt, who has signed a contract whereby she goes under his management for a term of years. He will present her in his first production Easter week in Atlantic City. This will be a musical comedy, entitled "The Pet of Paris." Harry B. Smith is the author of the book and lyrics of "The Pet of Paris," and the music is by Robert Hood Bowers. The production will come to New York immediately following the Atlantic City premiere.

"The Girl and the Kaiser" has closed in Chicago.

Rev. Thomas Dixon, author of "The Clansman," is to star in his latest play, "The Sins of the Father," when it opens its metropolitan engagement at the Princess, Chicago, March 26. The Chicago appearance of Mr. Dixon does not mark his first appearance as an actor, for he has been touring the South as the star of the piece since the drowning of Robert Barton Pahr, the young actor who had been playing the role.

Helen Ware has been lent by Henry B. Harris to David Belasco for the latter's new play, "The Woman," which will open in Washington on Easter Monday. The play is by William C. De Mille and in the cast will be William Courtleigh, Cuyler Hastings, Edwin Holt, William Harrigan, Carleton Macy, Guy Nichols, John Ellis and Jane Peyton. Whether this will interfere with the appearance of Miss Ware in "The Price," the George Broadhurst play which Mr. Harris recently secured, is not announced. If "The Woman" proves a success the production of "The Price" undoubtedly will be deferred.

Rudolph Schildkraut, the German tragedian from the Deutches theater, Berlin, arrived in this country and last Wednesday began his two weeks' engagement under the management of Gustav Amberg at the Irving Place theater in "King Lear."

Charles Frohman has secured the rights to a very broad French farce called "Papa," which is to be rendered into English by Louis N. Parker.

Lily Langtry has gone into vaudeville. She has a one-act version of "The Degenerates," which she calls "The Right Sort." She is also to appear in a revival of "Sins of Society" shortly.

Bessie Abbott again comes under the direct Liebler management next season and by this contract will sing seven times a week instead of four, as had been contemplated when the Mascagni co-operation was in view for this year. A new opera comique is to be supplied for this tour, but it has not been selected as yet.

Fritzi Scheff appeared in Victor Herbert's new comic opera, entitled "Mlle Rosita," at New Haven, Conn., last night for the first time. Star, company and opera made a distinct impression and if New Haven's verdict proves general, then "Mlle Rosita" is primed for a long life. Victor Herbert's score is said to be capital and both star and composer were compelled to answer many curtain calls.

Martin Harvey, the English romantic actor, seems to have found a good play at last and to have repeated the success he made in "The Only Way." His latest vehicle is an adaptation of the well-known Spanish drama, "Marta of the Lowlands," originally presented in English by Miss Corona Riccardo in the United States, and later played by Bertha Kalich. Mr. Harvey's adaptation is quite different from the American version and he calls it "The Wolf of the Lowlands."

Rumors of trouble between Lillian Russell and her manager, Joseph Brook, have been rife for some time. Lillian is said to be very much displeased with the manner in which her business affairs have been directed and the results of her tour this season over the long-jump route provided for her.

Dorothy Russell Dunsmuir arrived in New York a few days ago from a tour of South America, on which she was accompanied by her new husband, the son of the late premier of British Columbia, and she announces that before long she will make her appearance upon the dramatic stage, following the footsteps of her illustrious mother, Lillian Russell. If Mrs. Dunsmuir carries out her plan to become a dramatic star she need not worry about the financial results of the venture, for she has become a millionairess in her own right. Mr. Dunsmuir presented her a quarter interest in some immensely rich gold mines which he owns in Peru.

For the forthcoming production by Margaret Anglin of the Julia Ward Howe drama, "Hippolytus," at the Tremont theater, Boston, on Friday afternoon, Liebler & Co., have organized a special cast, which will include members of "The Fourth Estate" and "Green Stockings" companies, augmented by several recruits from New York. Miss Anglin will create the role of Phoedra that was written for Charlotte Cushman, and Charles Waldron will create the title role that was written for Edwin Booth. Rehearsals are now proceeding daily at the Tremont theater, under the direction of Miss Anglin, whose stage assistance will next week be augmented by Edward E. Rose, the playwright and producer.

A great deal of interest has been aroused in Boston at the prospect of seeing a play from the pen of the late Mrs. Howe, who often expressed the disappointment she felt when the accident happened that precluded the drama's production by Edwin Booth and Charlotte Cushman.

Harrison Gray Fiske announces the special engagement of Henry E. Dixey for Mrs. Fiske's company during her forthcoming season at the Lyceum theater, in New York. In "Becky Sharp" Mr. Dixey will enact the role of the Marquis of Steyne, while in the new American comedy which Mrs. Fiske is to offer on Monday, April 3, he will be cast for an important comedy role, one which is thought to be particularly adapted to his abilities. In order to accept the engagement with Mrs. Fiske it was necessary for Mr. Dixey to cancel an extensive tour but recently booked in vaudeville.

Louise Gunning, who is starring in "The Balkan Princess," has renewed her contract, which was to have expired at the end of the current season, and will continue under the Shubert direction.

DRINKERS UNABLE TO RESIST CRAVING

That the Poison of Alcohol Creates—Become Slaves to the Habit.

SHOULD TAKE 3-DAY CURE.

It Drives Poison Out of the System, Removing Desire.

The habitual use of intoxicants is altogether a bad thing. The drunkard finds every avenue of employment closed to him. To the business man excessive drinking spells ruin. It robs the professional man of his talents, of his reputation and of his substance. It undermines health. It destroys morals. It is the handmaid of crime. It brutalizes its victims. It brings torture and despair to unhappy wives and clothes numberless children in rags. The history of over-indulgence in alcoholic stimulants is an open book and it always reads one way. There is only one thing the man can do who is addicted to the liquor habit if he does not want to meet the fate of all other drunkards, and that is to stop it. Oh, but you say, "I can't. I have tried that. The appetite is too much for me. I can't resist the craving." Have you ever thought of the Neal Cure? It takes that craving away. The craving results from a poison alcohol leaves in the system. The Neal Cure drives out that poison. It cures in three short days. It cures without the use of hypodermic injections or dangerous drugs. The cure being effected in so short a time can be taken without publicity. It is certain as well as prompt. It is like staying three days at a first-class hotel. If you are afflicted with the drink habit and really want to be cured or if you are interested in a friend or relative who needs treatment, write to the Neal Institute company, corner Belknap and Seventh streets, Superior, Wis., for their free booklet, giving full information and a copy of their contract and guarantee bond. It will be mailed to you under a plain sealed envelope and everything will be strictly confidential. You can be treated at the Superior Institute, or at the St. Paul, Minn., Institute, 676 Dayton avenue, or the Minneapolis, Minn., Institute, corner Fourth avenue south and Seventh street, whichever happens to be the most convenient to you.

MISQUOTATION OF DR. VINCENT

Does Not Oppose Higher Standards of Medical Education.

Chicago, March 25.—The Journal of the American Medical association for March 25, contains the following editorial on "Prof. Vincent and Higher Educational Standards":

"If all statements appearing in the public press may be judged by those regarding the recent address by Prof. George E. Vincent, then, indeed, very little confidence should be placed in newspaper reports. By quoting only the first part of a paragraph, the reports made it appear that Prof. Vincent opposed higher standards of medical education, although a reading of the entire paragraph shows that the opposite is true. In fact, the address as a whole contains a severe arraignment of those who are opposing higher standards. Prof. Vincent points out that one danger in raising educational standards—namely, limiting the field of choice to those groups which can afford the cost of long and expensive preparation,' which 'socially and professionally * * * would be deplorable'—could be offset by establishing 'a system of scholarships,' which could be 'awarded by competent authority, after adequate tests, and continued only so long as the scholar's work justifies the support.'

"It can be seen how easily a wrong impression could be conveyed by omitting the latter part of the paragraph. And this is what was done in the newspaper reports. This misquotation might have passed without comment, except for two reasons. The first is that Prof. Vincent is soon to take the presidency of the University of Minnesota and, therefore, his views will have much to do in shaping the future educational policy of that state. The second is that Minnesota is on the firing line in the fight for higher standards of medical education, and the enemies of such standards have widely circulated this erroneous report of Prof. Vincent's views in an effort to obstruct the movement for higher standards. In the paragraph just preceding the one misquoted, the speaker makes special reference to those who are opposing higher standards of medical education. He shows these to be self-interested persons 'who look on the 'medical career chiefly as a means of livelihood,' and who 'resent the rising standards * * * as obstacles to the early enjoyment of an income.' It is important that this misquotation should be corrected, and especially that the people of Minnesota should appreciate that in Prof. Vincent they will have an able champion in their battle for higher standards of medical education."

SOLD TO CLAFLIN

After Half a Century of Business Life in New York.

New York, March 25.—With no other announcement than a two days' notice given privately to its employes, the department store of Ehrich Bros., which was founded more than a half century ago, has closed its doors, and will not reopen. The information that the firm has gone out of existence was contained in a statement issued by Julius Ehrich, sole member of the firm.

Mr. Ehrich, through his secretary, said that the entire stock of the store had been sold to John Claflin, president of the H. B. Claflin corporation and of the Associated Merchants company.

NO USE TAKING ANY MEDICINES

Is What Many Good Doctors Had Told Henry Vogelsang of Fremont.

Henry Vogelsang, who is an old and well-known transfer man of Fremont, Neb., had suffered from a severe kidney and bladder disease which was fast undermining his health. So serious was his condition that he spent most of his time and money with doctors, always to be told the same story; that an operation was his only hope, and the operation was a most dangerous one.

At last Mr. Vogelsang heard of the great work of healing diseases that is being done by the United Doctors in Omaha, the same specialists who have their Duluth institute located on the third floor of the Columbia building. He immediately went to them as a court of last resort and took their treatment. He was so well pleased with the work done by the United Doctors that he wrote the following testimonial for publication:

"Fremont, Neb., Feb. 14, 1911.

"I had been afflicted with a kidney and bladder trouble for several years. So greatly did I suffer that for weeks at a time I could get scarcely any rest at night and my health was entirely broken down. I consulted many physicians here and elsewhere but they said they not only could not cure me, but that there was no use in my taking medicine of any kind as nothing but an operation would do any good.

"I heard of so much good work the United Doctors were doing in this and other communities that I concluded to try them. I went under treatment three weeks ago and am glad to say that I have experienced more relief in this short time than from years of other treatments. In fact, I am feeling better right now than I have felt for three years and I feel that I have at last found a treatment that is going to cure.

"HENRY VOGELSANG."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Maxwell Speaks in Chapel—Debate in Forum Meeting—Bird Study Club—Seniors Downcast—Senate Busy—Zenith Work Progressing—Anonia Preparing Play—Class Play Well Under Way.

During chapel Thursday, George H. Maxwell, who has been talking on the Homecroft movement in Duluth the past week, spoke to the high school students. His speech to the pupils was short but enthusiastic and the scholars were undoubtedly impressed by his sound and persuasive arguments. Mr. Maxwell urged upon all the boys and girls to become owners of their own homes or cottages rather than be the tenant of property owners, before starting out in life. He argued that this increased the worth of the individual and hence increased the strength and power of the country. Mr. Maxwell finished his argument by the old saying: "The strength of a chain is in its weakest link" and argued that the strength of the United States was in the strength of the common people. He was warmly applauded by the students when he finished.

The high school students, especially those of the upper classes, were agreeably surprised the past week when they learned that one of their former teachers, Miss MacEwen, was married to George Linnaeus Marsh of Chicago last Wednesday. Mrs. Marsh was formerly a member of Latin and history departments at the high school and was very popular with the students.

Mr. and Mrs. Marsh have sailed for a trip to Europe and will be at home in Chicago after Oct. 1.

The third of the series of championship debates in the Forum society was held Thursday. The question debated was "Resolved, That the United States Should Adopt a Parcels Post System" and such enthusiastic arguments were given against the resolution that the question was defeated by a 2 to 1 score.

Fred Weinberg and Walter Wielander upheld the winning side and Roger Lerch and Seward Kempton, the affirmative side.

The Bird club is taking advantage of the museum collection of birds. This serves as an excellent means of identifying Minnesota birds and learning to recognize the early spring arrivals. At the next meeting of the club a program consisting of essays on the different species of birds will be given.

The seniors were somewhat downcast after the defeat at indoor baseball at the hands of the faculty, while those members of the faculty who took part in the game seemed to be in a very joyous mood. But the seniors will not give up and as soon as the weather permits will issue a challenge to their teachers for a real game of baseball.

The senate is a busy aggregation at present and some of the members from the lower classes already think themselves capable of enacting law, even for the state of Minnesota. Friday several bills were introduced but all were defeated.

The contract for printing the 1911 Zenith has been awarded by the Zenith board to the Collier company. Nearly all the material is in and will be sent to the printers very soon, with the purpose of having the book out some weeks earlier than is customary.

The Anonia society has been busy for some weeks in preparation for the play, "Captain Joe," which will be given by the members of the society very soon. The play will be presented in the assembly hall and will be open to all the high school students.

The senior class play is well under way and with two more weeks of rehearsing the members of the cast should take their parts well. David Wanless, who has taken Frank Higgins' place as Launcelot, has proven to bn a find and is expected to create a good deal of amusement for the audience.

The date of the play has been set a week later and will be given on Friday and Saturday, April 7 and 8.

The members of the senior class are busy at present in writing their senior essays. Several of the best of these essays will be read by the writers on commencement night.

The students of the high school will be glad to learn that John Wagner will return to school next week.

* * *

During the chapel exercises Thursday Miss Myrtle Hobbs sang the solo part of "Hark, Hark, My Soul," by Schelley. The solo was very well received.

A Special Medicine for Kidney Ailments

Many elderly people have found in Foley's Kidney Remedy a quick relief and permanent benefit from kidney and bladder ailments and from annoying urinary irregularities due to advancing years. Isaac N. Regan, Farmer, Mo., says: "Foley's Kidney Remedy effected a complete cure in my case and I want others to know of it." Sold by all druggists.

MOTHER WOULD FORGIVE

If Missing Daughter, Suspected of Eloping, Would Come Back.

Philadelphia, March 25.—The police have been asked to look for Miss Edna Powell of this city, and Irvine Hyde of Milwaukee, Wis., a freshman in the University of Pennsylvania, who have been missing since Sunday morning.

At that time Hyde and the girl, who have been friends for several months, left the latter's home ostensibly to visit a relative of the girl in Westchester. They did not go to the relative's and nothing has been heard from them since.

Mrs. Powell, the mother of the girl, today appealed to the police to find her daughter. The latter is 17 years old and quite pretty. Hyde is three years her senior. Mrs. Powell says that Hyde and her daughter were good friends but nothing more.

"If the eloped I will be satisfied, but I think they would have let me know," said Mrs. Powell. "My only fear is that some accident has happened."

ANGRY YOUTH

Punches Former Sweetheart on the Nose and Is Arrested.

Hartford, Conn., March 25.—John Riley, aged 25 years, an insurance clerk of this city, supposed that he was engaged to be married to Miss Annie Connor until he picked up an evening paper and saw a formal announcement of Miss Connor's engagement to William Allen.

Riley's rage knew no bounds. He had not entirely recovered when he looked up and saw Miss Connor seated in a trolley car speeding by. Riley gave chase, overhauled the car, walked inside and planted a solid punch on Miss Connor's nose, flattening it and breaking the bones.

Then Riley jumped off the car and ran. The motorman also got off and gave chase. In a few minutes half the town was chasing Riley. He was finally captured by the motorman and turned over to the police.

Miss Connor's injury was dressed by an ambulance surgeon. She is apt to be disfigured for life.

Nels Bakken, 1 East Sixth street, Duluth, Minn., says: "Off and on for twelve years I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and have found them to be an excellent kidney medicine. I had sharp twinges in the small of my back and I was lame across my hips and loins. If I took cold, I had to be careful that my kidneys did not give out entirely. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills about two days, I noticed that the secretions from my kidneys were clearer and more natural. The soreness and lameness soon left and I continued taking Doan's Kidney Pills until I was well. Since then I have used them occasionally and they have always benefited me."

Mazda-Tungsten Lamps

The Birth of Tungsten

Evening is here! The God of Night hath flung
A purple shroud across the sky and hung
His silver Moon-Lamp in the lofty dome.
Evening is here—the World is going home!

Swift autos whirl, slow street cars clank and grind;
Up every street the weary workers wind;
From countless windows slender swords of light
Fling pale menace into the face of Night.

For countless centuries Mankind has sought
The wherewithal from which those blades were wrought—
This is the steel with which the gods made war,
On high Olympus in the days of yore!

The gods are gone; yet on the cloudy plain
They left their weapons scattered 'mong the slain.,
A Dreamer found them there one stormy night,
And brought them down to give his fellows light.

From them he wrought a myriad tiny blades
Of deathless light, which flames at will, or fades,
And with them armed his fellows in the fight
Against the Demon-Terrors of the night.

That fight is won! No more Mankind need hide
While winged terrors of the night-time glide
Around him. With the Tungsten sword he may Turn darkest night, at will, to brightest day!

—C. H. Mackintosh.

Flood Duluth's vast new auditorium with brilliant light at the least possible expense. Mazda-Tungsten Lamps give two and one half times the volume of light given by carbon incandescents at the same cost. That's why, when the question of lighting some giant building thoroughly, yet economically, arises, the choice invariably falls upon this best and cheapest of illuminants. The saving of more than half the light bill on so huge a building runs to an enormous total at the end of the year---and you, in your home, can save a sum of ample size by installing Mazda-Tungstens throughout. True, your loss would not be so great as would be that at the Auditorium were it not equipped with Mazda-Tungstens, but why take any loss at all? Mazda-Tungstens mean more light and better light for less money. Get them!

EVELETH LIKES "THE PRINCESS"

Class Play By Seniors of High School Makes Hit in Range City.

Eveleth, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senior class play, Tennyson's "The Princess," was ably presented at the high school yesterday afternoon and evening before two large audiences. The play was elaborately staged and no hitches occurred to mar the success of the production. The play was given under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Marsh, instructor at the high school in the English department. The title role was played by Miss Ruth Jesmore, who scored a hit as the Princess, while Leslie J. Tobin as the Prince, by his clever stage presence and skillful interpretation of his role brought forth much applause. Anna Sholund as Lady Psyche and Elivra Forsman as Lady Blanche, tutors at the court, carried their parts in a manner befitting professionals. Maurice Levant as Florian and Curtis Bent as Cyril, friends of the Prince, played their parts in a capable manner, while Carl O. Siemee as the King, father of the Prince; Ralph Wilg as Gama, father of the Princess, and Lawrence J. Andrews as Arac, also came in for much applause. Jane Mulligan, Adeline Bother, Margaret Corbett, Bina Bent, Albina Virgle, Ethel Wilk and Anna Niemee, as students of the college, and Floyd Farnum, Jacob Saarl, Axel Turnquist, David Erickson, in minor roles, played their parts in a satisfactory manner. Gertrude Owens, as Melissa, scored one of the hits of th evening. During the course of the play vocal numbers were rendered by Jane Mulligan and a quartet composed of Miss Edith Helegson, Miss Emmalissa Mandeville, Prof. John S. Peeples and Principal Arthur M. Cannon, in good voice. Choruses were rendered by a group of pupils composed of Irene Campbell, Rachel Harwood, Maude Williams, Rose Damberg, Mary Prince and Jane Mulligan. The high school orchestra rendered classical selections.

BIWABIK TOWN BOARD MEETING

For First Time It Was Decided to Exact Bond of Road Foreman.

Biwabik, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Biwabik township supervisors at their annual meeting this week made a departure from former customs in deciding to exact a bond from road foremen. As the road foreman is authorized to issue time checks when men are discharged, it was thought proper to require that he give a bond.

Bonds for the different officers, etc., were fixed as follows: Treasurer, $15,000; First National bank, depository, $15,000; clerk, $2,500; constable, $500; justice of the peace, $500; road inspector, $500.

Dane Again Chairman.

F. S. Dane was re-elected chairman of the board by a unanimous vote.

Fred Dobel was chosen road inspector, the title being changed from last year, when he was elected as overseer of highways. His work will be the same as in 1910, he being really road foreman. William Bowden was the only other applicant for the place, but after talking over the matter Dobel was elected by the supervisors by a unanimous vote.

Dr. C. W. Bray was again elected township health officer.

The Biwabik Times was chosen as the official paper.

KNIFE RIVER CHURCH.

Presbyterian Congregation Organized in the Village This Week.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. J. F. McLeod of the Presbyterian church was in Knife River Tuesday evening, and with S. A. Jamieson and S. A. Blair of Duluth, and A. A. Scott of this city, organized a Presbyterian church at that place with thirty-five members.

Three elders were elected as follows: Archibald McPhee, Marcus White and D. C. McCaul. Trustees will be elected April 4, and the society incorporated. Plans for a church building are well under way. Rev. McLeod of this city will have charge of the work.

SUNNY MONDAY

Sunny Monday is an ideal soap for washing flannels, woolens and finer fabrics, because it contains no rosin and there is absolutely no danger of shrinking; it leaves them as soft and fleecy as they were originally.

In addition to this, Sunny Monday Laundry Soap contains a marvelous dirt-starter which saves time and rubbing, as well as wear and tear on clothes.

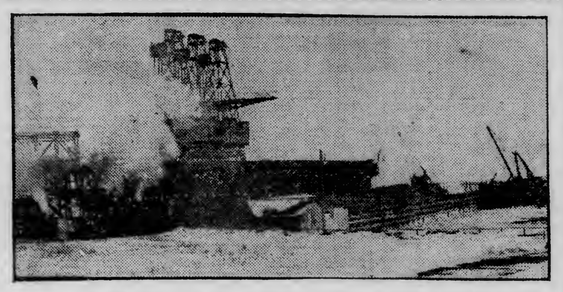
ORE DOCK NO. 1 TORN DOWN



Recent photograph of Whitney Bros.' operations, who have the contract for tearing down the old No. 1 dock at Two Harbors and rebuilding it with steel and concrete. The disposal of the lumber in the old dock was quick and efficient, hardly anything being wasted. The dock is now completely torn down, and the work is now being done on the foundation for the steel dock.

ENLARGED TWO HARBORS Y. M. C. A.

AS NEW ADDITION LOOKS.

Work is progresing rapidly on the addition to the Two Harbors Y. M. C. A. The finishing coat of plaster is being applied. The contractor has promised the gymnasium to be ready for its first use on Saturday night, April 8, if nothing prevents, and that will mean that the first basket ball game to be played in the new gym, will be between the Wolverines and the athletic association

NEW HOSTELRY FOR HIBBING

Reported Plans Are on Foot for Building Another Hotel There.

Hibbing, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A rumor is current here that steps are being taken for the erection of a first class three-story brick hotel on Third avenue in the vicinity of the new Missabe depot. The new hotel will, it is understood, be on the American plan, and will supply a very great want in this line, as Hibbing in spite of its 15,000 population, including Stuntz township, is lacking in accommodation, and many of the travelling men who come here are said to go on to Chisholm, Virginia, Eveleth and other points, who might stay if the new hotel were built.

Tannery Near Hibbing.

John Pavala, a recent arrival from Finland has started a tannery in Fern township, north of Hibbing, and is proving very successful.

Drill holes recently made in the vicinity of Alice by George H. Cole for the Oliver Iron Mining company, have given disappointing results as regards ore, the holes having gone as deep as 900 feet without any deposits worth working being found.

HIBBING LID NOT RESULT OF THREAT

Mayor Weirick Says Council Decided to Saloons for Community's Good.

Hibbing, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor Weirick denies that his action in issuing the orders to the police department to enforce the closing of all saloons at 11 o'clock every night was in any way the result of either the desires or threats of any church, minister or delegation. "This town is not run by any church, sect, party, or business," declared the mayor, "and any action taken by myself or the council is taken because in our opinion it is beneficial to the community. I wish it understood that the council is running things in Hibbing, and the majorities given at the recent election seem to justify the manner in which the municipal affairs are managed."

Speaking in regard to alleged threats by members of the prohibition party, the mayor said: "I do not intend to be terrorized by any persons, preachers, or parties, and whatever the council decides is right, will be carried out without fear or favor."

In regard to the alleged pre-election threats of the "dry" element, the mayor said: "The Hibbing council met in executive session and as a result of our deliberations, I issued the orders to the chief of police, and as long as the orders remain in force they will be carried out to the letter, and this had no connection whatever with any outsider."

Closed Saloon at 11 A. M.

An amusing incident occurred in connection with the recent closing order. One of the Austrian saloon keepers on Pine street mistook the wording of the notice served on him, and was so anxious to comply with the regulations of the council that he closed up his doors at 11 o'clock in the morning, and remained closed all day, thereby being just as much a law-breaker as if he had kept open all night. He was informed of his mistake by the police and corrected it.

Small Eveleth Fire.

Eveleth, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fire department was called out yesterday to the Spruce location, where they succeeded in extinguishing a blaze at the home of an Austrian miner, which destroyed the roof of the house and damaged some household goods. The damage was small, but as a strong wind was blowing at the time, many turned out to witness the blaze.

MICHIGAN MAN BUYS PROPERTY

Acquires Tract Near Grand Rapids and Will Prospect for the Iron Ore.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Passard has sold his residence property and the ten-acre tract on which the home stands, just outside of the village limits, to John A. Davis, a Michigan man, the consideration being $3,000, and half interest in the mineral rights.

The property is very nicely located, and has excellent prospects for ore on several portions of it. Mr. Davis will not occupy the premises for six months or a year, and Mr. Passard will continue to live there until the new owner wants the property for his own use. Mr. Passard states that he expects to build on the east side of McKinney lake, just across from his old home, where he owns eighteen acres of beautiful building spots among the pines, and he states that he will hereafter devote his entire time to his contracting business.

Joseph Picard and Mrs. Millesey Yost, both for a long time residents of this city, were married Monday at Ironwood, Mich. The couple returned to Grand Rapids Thursday, and they will for the present make their home here. Mr. Picard is well known to a large number of local people, having at one time operated the Central cafe.

James Passard has sold out his confectionery stock and fixtures on Third street to James Marden who took immediate possession.

The Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society will hold monthly meetings in the lecture room of the Presbyterian church, Monday afternoon, March 27, at 3:30.

Home topic, "Financial Affairs in Foreign Africa."

There will be a report given of the meeting of the Presbyterian society in Duluth, also a short address by Pastor Rev. Leo. R. Burrows.

E. H. Dorothy and family left Monday for Ute, Iowa, where they will spend four or five weeks visiting relatives and friends. The Dorothy farm will be looked after by Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Jacobs during their absence.

$3.50 Recipe Cures Weak Kidneys, Free

Relieves Urinary and Kidney Troubles, Backache, Straining, Swelling, Etc.

Stops Pain in the Bladder, Kidneys and Back.

Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say good-bye forever to the scalding, dribbling, straining or too frequent passage of urine; the forehead and the back-of-the-head aches; the stitches and pains in the back; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and the despondency?

I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend one, and if you want to make a quick recovery, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $3.50 just for writing this prescription, but I have it and will be glad to send it to you entirely free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, K 94 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. As you will see when you get it, this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has great healing and pain-conquering power.

It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

The new postoffice will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. and will serve the settlers in that rapidly growing section.

KICKED SHOEING HORSE.

Biwabik Blacksmith Hit in Face and Badly Injured.

Biwabik, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Oscar Erickson, a blacksmith, was injured Tuesday while shoeing a horse, the animal kicked and the knee struck the blacksmith in the face, causing a bad injury. He was taken to the Biwabik hospital for treatment, after which he was able to walk to his home.

POTATO SPECIAL AT TWO HARBORS MONDAY.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—How to raise more potatoes and how to get a better market price for them is the object of the "Potato Special" that is due here Monday.

The train will be here three hours and it is expected that a large number of farmers and citizens will take advantage of the free lectures on these vitally interesting topics, and turn out.

Farmers are requested to bring samples of last year's potatoes which will be criticized and commended as they deserve and information given as to methods of improvement.

TWO HARBORS MEN GET FLORIDA LANDS.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 25—(Special to The Herald.)—William Peterson, Jr., of this city, his brother, Gus Peterson of Knife River and Adolph Schroeder of Ely returned Wednesday night from their trip to Florida, where they attended a drawing of lands in the fruit raising country. The Peterson brothers drew two 20 and one 10-acre tracts. There were several other members of the party from this city, but they are not expected to return until the latter part of next week. All members of the party are very much pleased with the country in the South and like the location of the land and the climate very well.

HIBBING TEACHERS TO PLAY BASKET BALL.

Hibbing, Minn., March 25.—The teachers basket ball team held a practice on Thursday night, and good form was displayed by the players. There is a possibility of the teachers team playing the girls' team before the season closes, but no definite arrangements have yet been made.

A movement is on foot at the high school to organize a tennis team and possibly league for the coming summer to take the place of the basket ball teams, whose season will soon close. The girls' basket ball team has had a very successful season and great credit is due Miss Laura Olsen for the hard work she has put in in managing the team.

ALLEGED HOLD-UPS IN HIBBING ARE FINED.

Hibbing, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although it could be definitely proven that Dan Ogonovich, Nick Shakich and Nick Gigish held up John McDonald in an alley, as he claimed, and tried to take his watch, Judge Brady gave two of the accused fines that will remind them that law is enforced here. Ogonovich was fined $100 and costs for being drunk and disorderly, Shakich was given a fine of $20 or thirty days in the county jail for vagrancy and Gigish was dismissed.

Patsey Pachan paid $31.75 in municipal court for being drunk.

QUESTION OF DAM FREELY TALKED OF

Tower Commercial Club Discusses Proposed Power Matter at Big Meeting.

Tower, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A special meeting of the Commercial club was held Thursday evening, with a very large attendance.

The mayor, city clerk and aldermen were all present, being members of the club. The city clerk tendered the club the use for the evening of several documents bearing on the matter of the proposed bond issue, for which a special election has been called for next Tuesday.

W. A. McCurdy, superintendent of the Soudan mine, well versed in engineering, who was present, was able to interpret the technical terms of the engineer who had viewed the site of the proposed dam. It was developed that at seasons, the proposed dam would furnish insufficient power. The estimates were very meager and the estimated prices of some classes of the work considerably under what such work costs on this range. The opinion was held by several that the actual amount needed to construct a dam that would be capable of sufficient power, was too great for the city to raise by bonding.

The matter of giving a properly guarded franchise had its supporters. The sale of the present light plant and increasing the amount by bonding sufficiently to install water works appealed to others. The matter is one the public is hardly prepared to vote on intelligently at present, or until the whole matter is reviewed by a competent engineer in the employ of the city.

Mining Men at Tower.

Tower, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Vermilion hotel was thronged Thursday night with a large delegation of mining men from numerous towns more or less distant. The party was here on an inspection trip of iron properties and spent a day of much pleasure and profit.

It is reported that the sum of $35,000 has been apportioned by the county commissioners for use on the roads in the district. A portion will be spent in improving the road to Virginia and Ely.

WANTS $15,000 FOR INJURIES

Sub-Contractor Claims He Was Furnished Defective Equipment.

Carl G. Gustafson wants $15,000 from the construction firm of Higgins & McDonald for injuries alleged to have been sustained while doing sub-contract work on the Canadian Northern road near West Duluth.

Gustafson claims that he took a subcontract for some work under the general contractors. They furnished him crooked rails and defective cars, he states in his complaint.

While riding on a string of small dump cars, they got beyond control and finally ran off the track. Gustafson claims that he was caught under one of the cars and so badly injured that one leg had to be amputated.

For failure to supply proper and safe equipment, Gustafson charges negligence on the part of the contracting firm, and asks the above named amount.

STRIKE GUARD SHOT.

Special Officer on Freight Engine Hit Three Times.

Somerset, Ky., March 25.—Paul Suggs, a special guard on a freight engine of the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific railroad whose white firemen are on strike, was shot three times near King's Mountain, Ky., last night. He was brought to a hospital here today, and it is said his condition is serious.

The train was in motion when the shots were fierd from ambush. Two bullets struck Suggs in the back and one in the leg. The engineer and fireman of the train escaped being hit by falling to one side of the boiler.

DEER THICK AND TAME.

Unusual Conditions Presented in Wilds of Cass County.

Brainerd, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Game Warden J. P. Sanders has returned from an extensive trip through Cass county and was surprised to see the number of deer wandering about the country. They were exceedingly tame. They were observed in bunches of five and six in the vicinity of the Pine Tree Manufacturing company's spur on the new Soo line. The water in the streams is the lowest seen in the last twenty-five years.

Is This Man Gifted With Strange Power?

Prominent People Say He Reads Their Lives as an Open Book.

Do You Want to Know About Your Business, Marriage, Changes, Occupation, Friends, Enemies, or What to Do to Achieve Success?

TEST READINGS FREE TO ALL DULUTH HERALD READERS WHO WRITE AT ONCE.

Attention of the mystically inclined seems to be centered at present upon the work of Mr. Clay Burton Vance, who, although laying claim to no special gift of supernatural powers, attempts to reveal the lives of people through the slender clue of birth-dates. The undeniable accuracy of his delineations leads one to surmise that heretofore palmists, prophets, astrologers and seers of divers beliefs have failed to apply the true principles of the science of divination.

It is not to be denied that astrologers have excited the interest of enlightened people of all ages, but there have been many earnest thinkers reluctant to accept the theories of the ancient Chaldean science. One can only judge the potency of the science of Astrology by a personal application of its principles. To have all the cardinal events of your life spread out before you; to read an undeviating description of your true character, habits and inclinations, is proof positive that the mighty power that shaped the universe and set the hands on the dial of time to mark the destiny of man has not left us without the means through which we may know ourselves, through which we may fathom the mysteries of life. Asked to explain the method by which he gives his delineations, Mr. Vance replied: "I have simply resurrected an ancient science and moulded it into a key to human nature."

The following letters are published as evidence of Mr. Vance's ability. Mr. Lafayette Redditt writes: "My Reading received. With the greatest amazement I read, as step by step you outlined my life since infancy. I have been somewhat interested along these lines for years, but had no idea that such priceless advice could be given. I must admit that you are indeed a very remarkable man, and am glad you use your great gift to benefit your clients."

Mr. Fred Dalton writes: "I did not expect such a splendid outline of my life. The scientific value of your Readings cannot be fully appreciated until one has his own Reading. To consult you means success and happiness."

Arrangements have been made to give free test Readings to all readers of The Herald, but it is especially requested that those who wish to avail themselves of this generous offer make application at once. If you wish a delineation of your own life, if you wish a true description of your characteristics, talents and opportunities, simply send your full name, the date, month and year of your birth, and also state whether Mr., Mrs. or Miss. Send your letter to Mr. Clay Burton Vance, Suite 642, No. 14 Rue de Richelieu, Paris, France. If you wish you may inclose 10 cents (stamps of your own country) to pay postage, clerical work, etc. Please note that 5 cents postage is required on letters posted to France. Do not inclose coins or silver in your letter.

CROOKSTON LAWYER SUES.

Brings Action for Services Against East Grand Forks.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city's public utilities commission, which has been involved in a legal squabble almost since the day of its birth, is again in court. Martin O'Brien, a Crookston lawyer, is suing the city for services performed as the counsel of the public utilities commission. The city council refused to allow such claim, contending that the city was not liable for expenses created by a board of that nature. The outcome of the case will be of interest to public utility commission cities throughout the state of Minnesota, determining, as it will, the powers of such commission along this line of action.

TELEPHONE LINEMAN KILLED BY A FALL.

Williston, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—B. H. Agnew, a lineman employed by the Dakota Western Telephone company, was killed by falling from a telephone pole east of this city. He fell about thirty feet, crushing his chest and sustaining other injuries. Death resulted yesterday, eight hours after the accident.

To Electrify Entire Road.

London, March 25.—The success attending the electrification of a portion of its suburban lines has resulted in a decision of the London, Brighton & South Coast Railway company to electrify the whole system of 479 miles. It is expected that the electric service will be in operation throughout the system by 1916.

Bulgarians Arrested.

Portland, Or., March 25.—Six Bulgarians were arrested last night and warrants issued for six others in connection with a murder which has puzzled the police since 1909, when Theodore Atjam, a Macedonian, was murdered here.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL 2 17

SOCIETY

The week has been a most quiet one socially, a very few teas, luncheons and bridge parties having been given to break the monotony. Mid-Lent with its spring sewing and early spring house cleaning, is keeping the hostesses occupied with home affairs, leaving them no time for the usual rounds of bridge and other parties.

The travelers who have been spending the winter months in warmer states are beginning to travel northward again and many of them have reached Duluth.

Adolphe Borchard's concert Monday evening at the Endion M. E. church before the members of the Matinee Musicale wis the biggest event of the week in musical and social circles, and from an artistic standpoint it was a delightful success. The music lovers who heard him all agree that he is a great artist and his work was individual and interesting.

Next week the Twentieth Century club, Duluth's largest women's club, will finish its study for the year in all departments and will hold its annual meeting Monday for the election of officers.

The Minnesota Daughters of the American Revolution are planning to send a special delegation to the national convention of the order to open in Washington, April 17. A president for the national order will be elected, the candidates being Mrs. William Cummings Storey of New York, present president, and Mrs. Matthew T. Scott of Bloomington, Ill. Congress Hall hotel on Capitol hill will be the headquarters for the Minnesota delegation.

Events Planned

The members of the Temple Assembly will be hosts at a dancing party Friday evening of next week at the ballroom of the Masonic temple. This is to be an open party and invitations will be extended to men who are not members of the club.

Mrs. E. Frank Barker of Park Point will be hostess at a Lenten tea Tuesday afternoon at her home for St. Andrew's Episcopal guild.

Mrs. Julius Barnes will give a historical talk on the cities of Plymouth and Alexandria. Miss Ada Campbell of the Young Women's Christian association will discuss the work of that organization and musical numbers will be rendered by Miss Frances Berg and Miss Alta Hallock.

The Samaritan Ladies' Beneficent Degree, Alpha Council No. 1, will give the third of a series of card parties Thursday evening at Forester's hall.

A vaudeville show is the form of entertainment decided upon by the members of the Alumni of the Duluth Central high school to be given in the high school auditorium by local talent on Friday evening, June 9, which is the Friday immediately preceding commencement week in the high and grade schools of the city.

A. F. M. Custance whose ability in this line has been so often demonstrated, will direct the production with the assistance of a committee composed of Ed Furni, president of the alumni; Charles McLennan, Victor Rakowsky, Miss Hazel Owens, Miss Violet Robinson and Miss Margaret Taylor.

Among the members of the Alumni of musical ability who will sing will be Miss Gladys Reynolds, Miss Frances Woodbridge, Miss Jean Wanless, Miss Maude Matheson, George Suffel, Charles O. Applehagen and Leon Cooley.

The purpose in view in giving this entertainment is that of raising money to swell the Charles Alden Smith Memorial fund for which the committee has $600 on hand. The amount set as a goal is $5,000.

The date chosen is a propitious one as interest in school affairs is highest at that time and a good many of the alumni who are attending colleges and schools in other cities will be home.

Weddings

A pretty home wedding took place last Saturday at the home of J. Bergman, when his daughter, Miss Clara Bergman, became the bride of Raymond Ebner. Rev. M. S. Rice of the First M. E. church read the service at 12 o'clock.

The bride wore a gown of white all-over embroidery and carried a large bouquet of pink roses. She was attended by Miss Anna Jeronimus as bridesmaid, who wore a gold colored dress. Frank Bergman was groomsman.

During the afternoon an informal reception was held and again in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Ebner received.

The home was prettily decorated with ferns and pink roses in the living rooms and in the dining room daffodils were used for a centerpiece.

"The Best Dressed Woman on the American Stage"

MRS BETTY CHAPMAN.

Mrs. Betty Chapman is concededly the best dressed woman of the stage. She isn't so well-dressed in this picture. But her beauty when unadorned is adorned the most. Her frocks are the envy of all her associates of the stage and those "society persons" whom she knew when she was the wife of a Boston broker.

HER DAUGHTER WILL INHERIT TWO FORTUNES

MRS. H. BRAMHALL GILBERT.

Mrs. H. Bramhall Gilbert is one of the most delightful of New York hostesses. She is theh mother of Miss Lilla Gilbert, an acknowledged belle among the debutantes of this year. Mrs. Gilbert is a daughter of Isaac Brokaw, one of the richest men of New York. She is a sister of Mrs. Preston Satterwhite, who was formerly Mrs. James E. Martin. Mrs. Satterwhite is very wealthy and has no children; so most of the Brokaw millions will eventually come to Mrs. Bramhall Gilbert's beautiful daughter.

MISFORTUNE FOLLOWS ENGLISH COUNTESS

COUNTESS OF CREWE.

The beautiful daughter of the earl of Rosebery, the wife of the earl of Crewe, gave birth to an heir to the title a little more than a month ago. Only a few days afterward the beautiful townhouse of the earl in Mayfair was burned and Lady Crewe and her baby were taken to her father's house in Berkeley Square. Now her husband has been brought home a sufferer from concussion of the brain and he will be laid up for two months, if he is not permanently retired from public life.

A Skin of Beauty is a Joy Forever.

DR. T. FELIX GOURAUD'S Oriental Cream or Magical Beautifier.

Removes Tan, Pimples, Freckles, Moth Patches, Rash and Skin Diseases, and every blemish on beauty, and defies detection. It has stood the test of 60 years, and is so harmless we taste it to be sure it is properly made. Accept no counterfeit of similar name. Dr. L. A. Sayre said to a lady of the fashion (a patient): "As you add I will use them. I recommend 'GOURAUD'S CREAM' as the least harmful of all the skin preparations." For sale by all druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers in the United States, Canada and Europe.

PURIFIES as well as beautifies the complexion. No one will ever guess it has been used.

KING AND QUEEN IN CORONATION ROBES

KING GEORGE.

QUEEN MARY.

These are the first portraits received in America of the king and queen of England in their robes in which they will be crowned in June. The robes and insignia worn by the king on state occasions are those of the Order of the Garter. The regalia used by the king at the coronation will include the crown, orb, scepter, sword and spurs. Queen Victoria wore a crown containing nearly 2,800 diamonds, 377 pearls, 17 sapphires, 11 emeralds and 5 rubies. It weighed three pounds three and one-quarter ounces. It is not known whether King George will use Victoria's crown or the so-called heraldic crown of his father or the imperial crown worn by a former Edward. At his crowning King George will carry the orb, a globe of gold girt with diamonds, emeralds, rubies and pearls; on its summit a large amethyst from which springs a golden cross bedecked with diamonds, pearls, a sapphire and an emerald. In the matter of scepters the king will have his choice. There are the roya scepter, two and three-fourths feet long, borne in the king's right hand; St. Edward's staff (ending in an orb and supposed to contain wood from the true cross), more than four and one-half feet long, carried before the king in the coronation procession and the scepter with the dove, three and one-half feet long, placed in the king's left hand. These scepters are of gold set with jewels. Queen Mary will also carry a scepter. The sword of state is an important part of the regalia. There are three swords borne before the king—the sword of mercy, having no point; the sword of justice to the spirituality, which has a dull point, and the sword of justice to the temporality, which is sharp pointed. The sword of state is separate from these three and is the sword which is girded on to the sovereign at his coronation. Finally the king at his coronation wears the great golden spurs, which have no rowels. These he wears at his coronation only.

CLUBS AND MUSICAL

DULUTH HAS FULL FLEDGED, AMBITIOUS CHORAL CLUB

Fifty Members Are Rehearsing "The Erl King's Daughter"—Some of the Club's Plans—Other Musical and Club Events of Interest.

The Duluth Choral club has started itself.

What it may grow into its score of members do not know. Some of the singers came last fall to Alfred Wiley, saying "We want to sing in a choral club." But it wasn't a good time. By and by some more singers came saying "We want to be a choral club." And for pure love of it they organized the club and chose Mr. Wiley as leader of the tentative organization. Rehearsals began about six weeks ago for "The Erl King's Daughter."

The club began with thirty voices. Thirty was considered a great plenty. In fact, the best artistic results could hardly be gained with too large a chorus. Artistic mobility must not be sacrificed to numbers. But some more people with voices came and wanted to join, so the limit has raised to forty. Forty would not hurt the artistic mobility. The next rehearsal some of the members worked in a friend apiece and now there are more than fifty, and the conductor has positively shut down on more recruits—unless it is a few tenors to balance the weights of voices a little more evenly.

Every Thursday evening in the old Masonic temple the chorus puts in two hours of study and practice on the Erl King music, learning the crashing choruses line by line and note by note and working up to a splendid swing that every chorus develops, the members of which sing for love of it.

This chorus also sets out to be self-sustaining. It intends to give a choral concert that will finance itself. Quite the homecroft idea in music.

Local Singers Only.

True to homecroft principles, the choral club will rely to a large extent on local singers for the solo parts. Local soloists are really just as good, they claim, and they cost much less. If they cannot have a full orchestra they will have piano accompaniment. But they will sing choral music and give choral concerts anyhow.

There are a lot of people who are interested in singing in Duluth. There always have been. There is always an audience here for good music presented at popular prices. The concerts in the Bethel years ago used to be well attended. The Sunday afternoon concerts in the Armory used to attract thousands. And there was no place in the United States at that time, unless it was that little town down in Kansas, where there was so much good music to the square inch as Duluth in Minnesota. There is just as much appetite for good music now. The brilliant days of the choral organization of a few years ago is still a vivid memory. Duluth never had any music that was more enjoyed than those concerts in the First Methodist church. Commercially the results might have been happier for those who had to do with that end of it, but every other way the choral organization leaves a white page in Duluth's musical history. There never came a time when Duluth had not a good appetite for good music.

One of the objects of this organization is to give specimens of the short dramatic compositions that have musical value and dramatic interest, compositions that are worth while, and with that to give part songs well finished and well balanced.

Then there are the soloists. A distinguished singer comes as the feature of a choral concert from Chicago or New York and Duluthians are properly impressed and never know how much that singer owes for the impression she made to the chorus that furnished the background. Duluth has singers who can do every bit as well on the same foundation for their vocal pedestal. It is claimed, and this choral club will give them the opportunity. And that is one of its objects.

But the Choral club will not confine itself exclusively to home-grown soloists. As the club progresses it is intended to bring from time to time artists from other cities whom Duluth audiences will enjoy hearing.

Music for Its Own Sake.

But the real reason is because the members love it. They organized this chorus because they had to be singing, and if other musical advantages follow, so much the better. And all of all, they are making music for its own sake.

The Choral club is officered by musicians, chiefly members of the chorus. The president is F. How, vice president, J. A. Kreimer, and J. A. Lund, secretary. George Suffel is chairman of the artists' committee, C. H. Dunning chairman of ways and means, W. C. Robinson chairman of active membership committee. The other members of the directorate are: S. E. Culp, S. J. Johnson and Curtiss C. Carman. Mrs. M. B. Morrison, Mrs. August Lofgren and Miss Dorothy Kohagen. Miss Alfhild Nordby is accompanist.

Sopranos? No, there is a waiting list now. But there is room for one or two more tenors. And speaking of balance, Mr. Wiley, who conducted the Minneapolis Choral club to its present fame and has handled a number of choruses in other cities, deposes that he has never heard a chorus, deposes that he has never heard a chorus that gave the same purity and solidity of tone.

ALFRED WILEY.

Mrs. C. F. Sheldon and Mrs. G. Herbert Jones.

After the program there will be a meeting of all the active members for the purpose of electing officers for the club for the year. Every active member is urged to be present.

The program for the afternoon follows:

Prelude and Fugue, B flat major..Bach
Miss Clara Stocker.
"The Spirit Song".....Haydn
"Homeward" .....Chopin
(An elegy on the sorrows of the Polish people.)
"The Trooper Before the Battle"....
.....Chopin
Dwight W. Hiestand.
"By Sea and Woodland".....Denza
"Morning Dreams," "The Song of the Birds," "The Heart of the Wood," "Evening Song."
Mrs. James Wanless.
Polonaise, Op. 53.....Chopin
Miss Eva Zalk.
"Rejoice Greatly," "Messiah"..Handel
Mrs. Leo Ball.
Accompanist, Miss Simonds.

Club for Girls.

A junior club of twenty-one girls from the sixth and seventh grades of the public schools was formed Wednesday afternoon at the Young Women's Christian association. Miss Isabelle Patrick and Miss Frances Swift will have charge of the club.

Lester Park Club.

The Lester Park Literary club will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Clifford Howard, 5003 London road. Mrs. Bogan will have charge of the program.

The four narrative writers, Lamb, MacCauley, Carlyl and Newman, will be considered, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Dryer and Mrs. Goodrich taking part.

Musician Leaves.

Adolphe Borchard, the pianist who appeared in concert here Monday evening before the Matinee Musicale, left today for the East after spending the week here. He has been the guest of honor at a number of informal functions given by prominent musical leaders of the city during his stay.

Will Direct Oratorio .

At the spring festival of the St. Paul Symphony orchestra, to be held in St. Paul next week on Wednesday and Thursday in the Auditorium, "King Olaf," Sir Edward Elgar's most beautiful oratorio, will be presented under the direction of Horace W. Reyner of this city.

Wednesday evening Mme. Schumann-Heink will sing an excellently arranged program, including "Carmen," which she will sing for the first time in America.

Thursday afternoon the St. Paul Symphony orchestra, which was heard here in three concerts in January, will play a program introducing all of the soloists who will accompany the orchestra on its ten weeks' tour. Louise Barnolt, contralto of the Montreal Opera company, will be among the soloists.

The oratorio will be sung Thursday evening. The soloists in this will be Mme. Harriet Orendorf, soprano; George Harris, Jr., tenor; and Charles F. Champlain, bass-baritone.

Sing in Minneapolis.

Miss Gladys Reynolds, who was the guest of Mrs. Frank Suffel of Minneapolis this week, has been the guest of honor at several dinners and evening affairs there. Thursday evening she and George Suffel, who is also a guest there, sang at a musical given by Mrs. Suffel at the Radisson hotel. They will return to Duluth this evening.

MAY WED HEIR OF AUSTRIAN THRONE

PRINCESS VICTORIA LUISE.

It is reported that the little Princess Victoria Luise is to marry the ultimate heir of the Austrian throne. This report has been in circulation at intervals for some months but has been discredited because it was not believed the Austrian royal family would ally itself with a Protestant house. This picture of the little daughter of the kaiser shows her in the unifrom of the regiment of which she has been made colonel. The empress is colonel of a regiment as is the czarina of Russia. Many of the lesser German princesses hold this honorary position.

CLUB NOTES.

Final Class Meetings of Twentieth Century Club and Election.

Class meetings for the Twentieth Century club for next week will be as follows:

The evening Shakespeare class will hold its last meeting for the year Monday evening at 7:30, at the club room of the library, when the reading of "Henry VIII" will be finished with Miss Gage as leader. A special paper will be contributed by Mrs. J. H. Crowley on "Shakespeare's Women."

A special session of the Literature class will be held Tuesday afternoon in the club room when the election of a leader for next year will take place and a course of study for the coming year will be definitely decided upon. Every member should be present.

The usual activities of the Neighborhood house will be carried out during the week.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the club will be held in the library club room on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Reports will be given by the executive officers, the chairman of the departments, the historian and chairman of the committees. Following these reports the election of officers will be held. This is most important and always interesting, and it is hoped that every member of the club will be present.

MATINEE MUSICALE.

Program and Election of Officers.

The Matinee Musicale club will meet Monday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. auditorium. The composers whose birthday anniversaries are in March, Johann Sebastian Bach, born March 31, 1865; Franz Joseph Haydn, born March 31, 1872, and Frederick Chopin, born March 1, 1809, are the composers from whose works the program for the afternoon has been arranged by

CROWN CITY OF SIERRA VALLEY

Matchless Gardens of Never-Fading Flowers, Velvety Lawns, Beautiful Homes and Clean Streets—Visitors From Duluth to the Southland.

By MARY B. STATHAM.

Pasadena, Cal., March 16.—(Special The Herald.)—While the stay-at-homes in Duluth are enjoying ice carnivals and winter sports the travelers in Southern California are reveling in sunshine and flowers.

The tourist season has been a most successful one. Pleasure and health seekers from all over the East and Middle West have flocked to this Southland.

At all the resorts along the Pacific coast from San Francisco to San Diego the hotels are packed to their capacity. It is said that 1,000 arrive daily in Los Angeles over the various railroads centering there and are distributed from there over the surrounding country.

During the cold months of February and March a majority of the tourists show a preference for the inland, homelike town of Pasadena. It sets well back from the ocean to the foot of the Sierra Madre mountains and is sheltered from the cold breezes of the coast. The mean temperature in winter is 65 degs., and golf and other out-of-door sports are indulged in throughout the year.

Los Angeles, with its opera house, theaters and other places of amusement, is only twenty minutes' ride on the electric railway and can be enjoyed at any time.

What the Northern visitor seeks is an entire rest from business life and he can find it in "this Crown City of the Sierra Valley," in its matchless gardens of never fading flowers, its velvety lawns, its beautiful homes and its clean streets.

Splendid Hotels.

The three great hotels here, the Green, the Raymond and the Maryland, afford every convenience, luxury and pleasure, and their service is not surpassed anywhere. The buildings themselves are miniature villages, while their parks cover many acres of ground. Each hotel has its private theater, its golf links and its tennis courts and is not dependent on the outside for amusements.

Besides the private grounds there is the Annandale Golf club about two miles from Pasadena which is famed far and wide for its up-to-date equipment. It is located in the midst of 120 acres of ground and the links cover an eighteen-hole course of 6,400 yards. The grounds and house cost the club over $150,000. Hotel guests enjoy special privileges at this club.

Motoring is the pleasure par excellence of the day for the man of leisure in this great playground of the South. Magnificent speedways radiate in every direction and he may drive his automobile over the finest in the land and through a country of ever varying beauty. It is asserted that he can throw snowballs in the mountains at early morning, pluck oranges and inhale the fragrance of flowers as he eats his luncheon in the valley at noon, plunge in the temperate waters of the great ocean at one of a half-dozen magnificent beaches in the afternoon, and return before the shades of evening fall, to his comfortable home in Pasadena."

An excursion to the alligator and the ostrich farms, and to the Indian village, horseback riding and mountain climbing afford perpetual holidays to the Pasadenans and to the tourists.

Handsome Mansions.

The bungalow in every shape and form is the favorite style of residence in Southern California, but in Pasadena there are many mansions, the homes of wealth, for Pasadena is one of the wealthiest cities of its size in the country. It has a population of 35,000 inhabitants, handsome public library, public schools and splendid churches. At Oak Knoll, Henry E. Huntington, the electric railroad magnate, has an estate of baronial extent which he is beautifying. Adolphus Busch of Milwaukee owns a magnificent residence and gardens on Orange Grove avenue. Each year Mr. Busch acquires a few acres and adds them to his gardens and park. He puts them in the care of his landscape gardener, who introduces some foreign and novel feature in picturesque tropical culture, until his domain is considered "the pride of Pasadena."

Dr. Rudolph Schiffmann, formerly of St. Paul, has a fine old colonial house and beautiful flower gardens on Orange Grove avenue.

However, the handsomest home, Italian palace style, and gardens in the heart of the city are owned and enjoyed by Hulett Merritt and family, formerly of Duluth. The house is of grey stone and stucco and contains twenty rooms besides the billiard rooms and swimming pool in the basement. In the gardens are parterres of blooming flowers of every kind and handsome hedges trimmed in artistic shapes and forms. The live oak, the graceful pepper tree and every conceivable tropical plant grows to unusual size, and the flowering hybiscus, the arbutalon and the camelia Japonica attain the size of small trees. Fountains splash their spray over the velvety lawns and their waters course through the shaded nooks.

Frederick Weyerhaeuser and family of St. Paul, have taken a handsome residence on South Grand avenue for the winter, but during the past week he bought one of the handsomest estates in the Oak Knoll suburb and will spend a part of next winter there.

Visitors From Duluth.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Peyton and the Misses Peyton arrived last week at the Hotel Raymond and will remain here several weeks. Mr. Peyton and Miss Josephine are enjoying the fine golf course at the Raymond.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Crosby, daughter and governess are still at the Hotel Maryland, but spend a great deal of their time touring the country in their handsome machine.

Mr. and Mrs. James McCahill are also at the Maryland and are never so happy as when driving their car through this beautiful country full of old Duluth friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Volk left the Maryland yesterday for their home in Duluth.

Henry A. Ware, formerly of Duluth, is spending the winter at the Hotel Raymond. His many friends are pleased with the prospect of his building a summer home in Duluth.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Adams have taken a beautiful bungalow for the season in Santa Barbara, but paid a short visit to Pasadena last week while motoring with St. Paul friends.

Mrs. D. H. Costello and Mrs. Stephen H. Jones and small children made the run in their machine to the Raymond on Friday to visit the Duluth contingent there.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Billson and family are enjoying a quiet life at their pretty home on Marengo avenue, with an occasional spin to the coast in their car, with old Duluth friends.

Mrs. E. C. Little and son will remain a while longer in Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Stone have found the Hotel Potter in Santa Barbara so delightful that they have no desire to move elsewhere.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cokefair have just arrived at the beautiful Mission Inn, at Riverside.

Mr. and Mrs. John McAlpine are in Los Angeles at Hotel Van Nuys for a couple of weeks, and will also visit other resorts.

There are so many attractive resorts and handsome hotels and homes in Southern California, or this "Riviera of America," that the traveling public from all over the states may come and be satisfied.

THEY WED FAST AND OFTEN

In Modern Korea Marriage Isn't a State, It Has Become a Habit.

If there is any matter in which a Korean's whole mental capacity comes to a state of white heat, it is in regard to marriage. He is a born match-maker, a born marrier, says the Japan Mail.

What money is to a son of the West, so marriage is to the Korean; every man is after it. He never, never associates with marriage such a line as "Kiss me softly and speak to me low," and yet he wants to be married.

Theoretically he says: "Let me be married in the spring, when the plum blossoms are at their best and when the peach flowers and apricots tint the hillside," but he never thinks of his bride as his plum blossom. Spring is the mating season, and he would mate. He wants to be married, not for his selfish pleasure, not because there is a little soft-coated heart and soul that longs to rest in his love and be looked after; not a bit of it.

Recent rumors swept over the land to say that in a little while no marriage would be permitted between Koreans; that every marriageable Korean would have to be mated to a Japanese, and such a scurry in all go-between circles was never seen before. Marriage bonds, that are given the bride, ran up in price and at last were scarcely purchasable for any money. Everybody seemingly was out on the hunt to get one ere the lawful decree took effect over the land. Now, however, they know it was a "scare head" rumor only, and trade has fallen off in marriage boxes.

In the choice of bride the old elements are consulted, metal, wood, fire and earth (keummok-su-wha-do). Everybody has his fixed element according to the day, month, hour, year in which he was born. A girl marked "meta" is crossed off when a "wood" boy is in question. A "fire" girl and "water" boy mated would mean fuss, heat and sizzle, while a "wood" girl and a "water" boy would fall within the encompassing sphere of good luck. Also an "earth" man and a "metal" man might walk hand in hand and be partakers of harmony, bliss and never-ending prosperity. A foreigner would go crazy under the wearisome drag of it all, but the Korean has kept it up faithfully for 2,000 years.

When the lots are cast and the elements juggled sufficiently with and the girl made fast and the day settled, with its heaps of sewing and stitching done, the wedding takes place. The bride rides in a tiger-bedecked chair and the bridegroom on the back of a prancing pally.

They meet in the stiff posturing manner of the East, drink, bow low and are married. She swims in the colors of blossomy orchard spot and when the peach flowers and apricots tint the hillside," but he never thinks of his bride as his plum blossom. Spring is the mating season, and he would mate. USE UMBRELLA AS PHONE

"Talking through one's hat" has passed into innocuous desuetude, but talking through an umbrella will soon be a commonplace on moving trains on the Union Pacific, says the Pittsburg Dispatch.

Speaking of the prospective installation of a wireless telephone system on that road to be operated in connection with the block signal system, Dr. Frederick H. Millener, the inventor, said:

"On a railroad an electrically-controlled, automatic block signal must work at least 100,000 times without a failure," said Dr. Millener. "The 100,000th time, perhaps, it may go wrong. The lighting of an arc lamp or some atmospheric disturbance may cause the signal arm to fly up and the signal to be set at danger. The engineer of the train that it halls has to wait until he gets orders to proceed. On these rare occasions when the signals go wrong the track may be clear; but the engineer does not know anything about what is ahead of him except what the signal tells him. Therefore he waits.

"The delay may be so long that traffic may be delayed in an ever lengthening line from the point where the signal has stopped the movement of the trains. This costs the railroad more or less money. It means the loss of the productive labor of a great many employes and the idleness of a lot of rolling stock as well as annoyance to travelers and shippers.

"Now the Union Pacific has the finest system of block signals of any railroad in America. They make travel safe and expedite it. Perfect as it is, however, there is a remote but possible element of delay—of loss in the battle against time—that must be eliminated. The Union Pacific decided that the only way to do so was to devise some means by which an engineer in his cab, either while the train was in motion or if it was stopped anywhere on the line by some inexplicable danger signal from the automatic devices, could 'call up' the train dispatcher's office and find out what was wrong—whether to stay where he was or to go ahead. Therefore, about four years ago I was asked to devise a means of overcoming this difficulty. The solution seemed to be in wireless communication by telephone.

"We have been prosecuting these researches ever since. The work is not yet absolutely completed, but wireless telephony from a moving train is more than a practical, and probability, and within a year or so from now it will be a feature of the daily operation of trains on the Union Pacific. If we save one fruit train from freezing it will pay for the cost of practically the whole installation. More than that, however, it will make travel by rail even safer than it is now on the safest of railroads. With properly constructed wireless stations there is no chance of failure. There will be no more trouble with the block signals, no delays or annoyances because wires have been blown down by storms or anything of that sort.

"Two of these wireless stations will be established soon, one at Sidney, Neb., and the other at Cheyenne, Wyo, 103 miles apart, where the line is a single track. We expect to keep up communication with moving trains between these stations and others that are to be established. These wireless stations will be close to the train dispatchers' offices, so that communication may be established quickly whenever it is necessary. We have discovered, through our experiments, that wireless waves will follow the direction of the rails further than in any other direction and more closely. It is well known that they will follow a stream of water or metallic conductors better than they will pass over a wooded country or even a treeless plain, and that these waves work better in stormy weather than when the skies are clear.

"The wireless telephone that we have devised and have been using in Omaha is sufficiently powerful that messages may be received from a considerable distance simply by attaching the receiving apparatus to an ordinary umbrella, which is held over the head of the person who gets the message. It may be on top of a moving train or walking about the yards. The tones of the human voice are reproduced perfectly—far better than by the ordinary telephone. The ordinary telephone 'head set' is used by the person receiving. The ribs of the umbrella correspond to the antennae or aerials. Using an umbrella for this purpose, however, is a wasteful method, because it requires more electricity. Therefore it must not be inferred that all train employes will carry umbrellas in future. I mention it simply to illustrate what we have accomplished."

DOCTOR PRESCRIBES CUTICURA REMEDIES

Says: 'I Have Great Faith in Cuticura Remedies Now that I am Convinced of their Wonderful Merits.'

"I wish to let you know of a couple of recent cures which I have made by the use of the Cuticura Remedies. Last August, Mr. ——— of this city came to my office, troubled with a severe skin eruption. At first I could not understand the nature of the case until I had made a careful examination. I finally traced it to his occupation as he was a painter and decorator. It was dermatitis in its worst form. It started with a slight eruption and would affect most parts of his body—thighs, elbows, chest, back and abdomen,—and would terminate in little pustules. The itching and burning was dreadful and he would almost tear his skin apart, trying to get relief. I recommended all the various treatments I could think of and he spent about fifteen dollars on prescriptions but nothing seemed to help him.

"In the meantime my wife who was continually suffering with a slight skin trouble and who had been trying different prescriptions and methods with my assistance, told me she was going to get some of the Cuticura Remedies and give them a fair trial. But as I did not know much about Cuticura at that time I was doubtful whether it would help her. Her skin would thicken, break and bleed, especially on the fingers, wrists and arms. I could do nothing to relieve her permanently. When she first applied the warm baths of Cuticura Soap and applications of Cuticura Ointment she saw a decided improvement and in a few days she was completely cured.

"I lost no time in recommending the Cuticura Remedies to Mr. ——, and this was two months ago. I told him to wash with warm baths of the Cuticura Soap and to apply the Cuticura Ointment generously. Believe me, from the very first day's use of the Cuticura Remedies he was greatly relieved and to-day he is completely cured through their use. I have great faith in the Cuticura Remedies and shall always have a good word for them now that I am convinced of their wonderful merits." (Signed) B. L. His Wife Will Garden.

"WILL I have a garden this summer?" he repeated in answer to the question. "Oh, certainly. My wife is already figuring on the bulbs, roots and plants and seeds."

"You had one last summer, I believe?"

"We did, and I was figuring up the cost today. That garden was 50x50 feet. It cost me $10 to have the ground spaded up. Then there was five more for fertilizers. Then came $6 for garden publications. Then $4 for tools. The seeds and bulbs cost about $15. They were very choice, you know. I believe the wages of the man we hired at odd times to weed and sprinkle came to $20."

"That's $50," said the other, "but I suppose your wife got that much good out of it?"

"Oh, yes. She was home as much as a week during the summer, and I think she walked out to the garden twice!"

"But it was a success?"

"Oh, undoubtedly. We raised five bullthistles, three burdocks and a hill of catnip that somehow got mixed in."

"And—and——"

"And, as I said, we are to have another garden this summer. We see where we failed a bit last summer. It was in not buying a hundred dollars worth of bulbs to start with, and in putting up a barbed wire fence to keep the cats from galloping over the beds."

JOE KERR.

CALLED FOR A FISHING TRIP.

"What's the matter with you now?"

"I've got spring fever."

"You always were in luck."

WAYSIDE WISDOM

Few men know enough not to give advice.

There is no hunger as keen as the hunger for sympathy.

Energy has made more men famous than merit.

Don't blame a woman for wearing her heart on her sleeve. The new styles leave her no other place to put it.

Sometimes a man kisses a girl against her will, against his own will.

A woman can go into the biggest department store on earth, and without half trying, ask for something they haven't got.

Some people look on the bright side of things so persistently that they wind up the proud possessors of a gold brick.

Most of us are too busy looking for tomorrow's possibilities to see those of today.

No matter how lazy a man may be, his laziness seldom extends to his tongue.

You can be a friend to some of your friends all of the time, and to all of your friends some of the time, but no honest man can be a friend to all of his friends all of the time.

WHY HE DIDN'T LAUGH.

"Don't take it so hard, old chap; it's April first, you know."

"Oh, I am not annoyed, I assure you, but that particular 'joke' has been played on me six times already today and I'm a trifle bored, that's all."

The Spring Fever.

A MAN asked me a rather curious question the other day," said the old man as the talk was about the weather. "He wanted to know if I had the spring fever. I'd like someone to tell me what it is."

"Why, a man of your age ought to know," was answered.

"But I don't think I do."

"Why, when spring comes and the dandelion blooms most men with gray hair begin to sop on the dye."

"They do, eh?"

"And you'll notice old men getting a prance to their legs."

"Humph!"

"And you'll see them lingering around establishments where they remove wrinkles."

"Jess so."

"And if they are widowers their thoughts turn to matrimony."

"They do, eh."

"And they become liars about their age. They take off from 10 to 15 years. It generally ends in matrimony and making a fool of themselves. The first symptoms of spring fever are——"

"Never you mind about the first symptoms, nor the second, nor the last," muttered the old chap. "If I want to dye my hair or get married again I'm going to do it, and you and your old spring fever can go to Texas. I thought you was a mean man when I spoke to you first, and now I'm sure about it."

JOE KERR.

AN UNFORTUNATE SLIP.

"Oh, doctor, my husband has given up smoking during Lent. Isn't that lovely of him?"

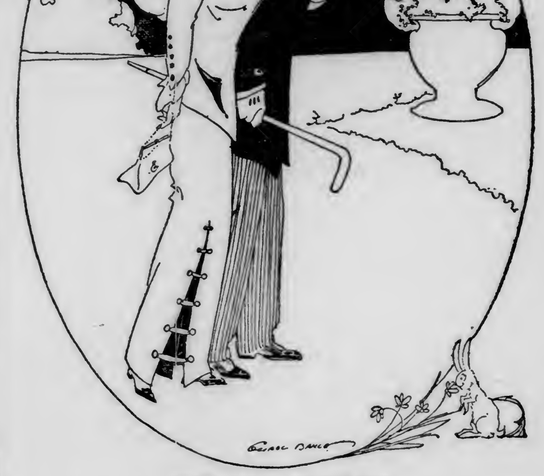
"Yes, madam, and very necessary to his health. I ordered it."

"The brute."

The Waltz Girl

COME, sweet little girlie,
Please dance with me, do
We'll waltz late and early,
Only just I and you.

THE tune's soft and dreamy,
Just fitted for this;
With you, peach and creamy,
Oh, waltzing is bliss.



WHEN MARIE WAS FOOLED.

Hubby—Marie, were you ever April fooled?
Wifey—You know very well I was.
Hubby—I don't recall it at all.
Wifey—Why, have you forgotten that we were married in April?

Where It Hurts.

"OF course," said the young man in the music store, "if you set out to April fool a person you can accomplish it, but there is one phase of the thing I don't like. I may say it really hurts my feelings."

"Is it kicking a stone under a hat?" was asked.

"Oh, no. It's when I get on a street car and get comfortably seated and feel complacent to have the man next to me display a $20 yellow-back in his fingers and softly ask:

"'Mister, didn't you lose this out of your vestpocket when you came in?'

"I didn't of course. I hadn't 50 cents in my pocket when I got on, but there's—there's——"

"The temptation to lie about it?"

"Exactly. I want to lie. I want to claim that bill. I want it for my own. I even open my lips to lie, but then I hesitate."

"In other words, your conscience begins to work?"

"N-o, I can't say it's conscience."

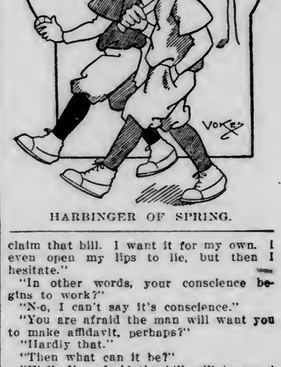
"You are afraid the man will want you to make affidavit, perhaps?"

"Hardly that."

"Then what can it be?"

"Well, I'm afraid the bill will turn out to be an advertisement for a ten-cent store, and that someone will yell 'April Fool!' at me."

JOE KERR.



HARBINGER OF SPRING.

Joab's Good Day.

WHEN Joab Scruggins went to town
The day was April Fool;
The weather wasn't awful hot,
Nor yet so very cool.

A hat it rested in the street—
Beneath it was a brick;
And Joab sent it forty rods
With just a single kick.

A wallet fat next caught his eye,
And then it caught his toe;
And through the window of a store
That wallet fat did go.

A bundle lay upon the walk—
Store clothes it might contain;
But Joab drew his right foot back—
The kick was not in vain.

A package met him face to face—
'Twas coffee or 'twas tea;
But Joab kicked it o'er the roofs
And never stopped to see.

And then he turned upon the town:
"Oh, come, ye villains all!
Come and be kicked for April Fool—
Come, fat and short and tall!"

The grocer got a couple, and
The dry goods man got three;
The druggist he was lifted up—
The cooper had to flee.

The blacksmith he did not escape,
Nor yet the sawmill man;
The doctor flew, but got the boot,
As down the street he ran.

For two long hours did Joab kick,
And then laid off to cool;
And to remark unto the folks:
"How's this for April Fool!"

JOE KERR.

Not Too Early.

HE entered a lawyer's office to find the attorney busy with fishpole and hooks and lines, and called out:

"Ha! Getting ready, I see?"

"Yes, sir."

"Going a-fishing, are you?"

"I am."

"Expect to catch anything?"

"Oh, no."

"Expect to get any nibbles?"

"Not a one."

"Then—then you are just going a-fishing?"

"That's it."

"Just to sit on the dock and bob your fishpole?"

"Just that."

"Well, there's no law against it."

"No, no law."

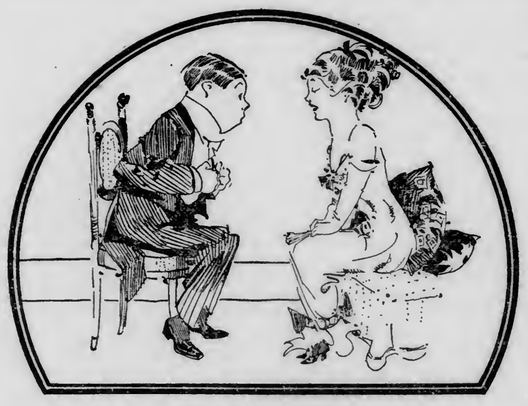
"But isn't it rather early in the season?"

"Lord, man, no! I've been at this ever since New Year's, and you make the seven hundredth man who has been in here asking the very same question."

JOE KERR.

A HARD ROAD TO TRAVEL.

The tariff is a topic warm,
It's fate there's no deciding.
With bills to lead it to reform
And amendments for backsliding.



THE BLIND PASSION.

PALE lover, full of thoughts sublime,
You little know the while you woo
That she is thinking all the time
She'll make an April fool of you.

THE TWO PIPERS.

He was a long-haired bard;
His daddy was a plumber;
All winter long dad labored hard;
The son worked spring and summer,
And, though he saw some verse in type,
No payments came for days,
And dad makes more at laying pipe
Than the son makes piping lays.

MOVING DAY.

Critic—What is that picture supposed to represent?

Artist—"Holme Street on the First of May."

Critic—Only a moving picture would do justice to that scene, old man.

AN APT COMPARISON.

Minnehaha—That was a pretty figure of speech that you got off:

"As unto the bow the cord is,
So unto the man is woman,"

Though she draws him yet she follows."

Hiawatha—And I might have added that when she draws on him too hard he goes broke.

LATE STAYER AGAIN.

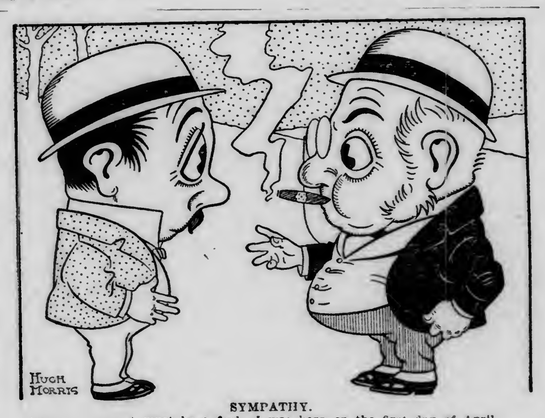
"Virginia, er-what does that young man follow?"

"What young man, papa?"

"Why, the one that calls three nights a week and never notices the clock."

"Oh, papa, he has political aspirations. He really expects to be elected a legislator."

"H'm. Well, tell him not to practice any all-night sessions around here."



SYMPATHY.

Jenkins—I must be a fool. I was born on the first day of April.
Muchwed—Shake, old fellow. I consider myself a fool also.
Jenkins—And were you born on that day, too?
Muchwed—No; married.

The baseball season had opened.

"I wouldn't mind it a bit," said a grouchy person, "if the baseball vocabulary hadn't been opened too!"

SURGEON WANTED.

"I'll have to remove the appendix from this dictionary before I'll ever get it in my school bag!"

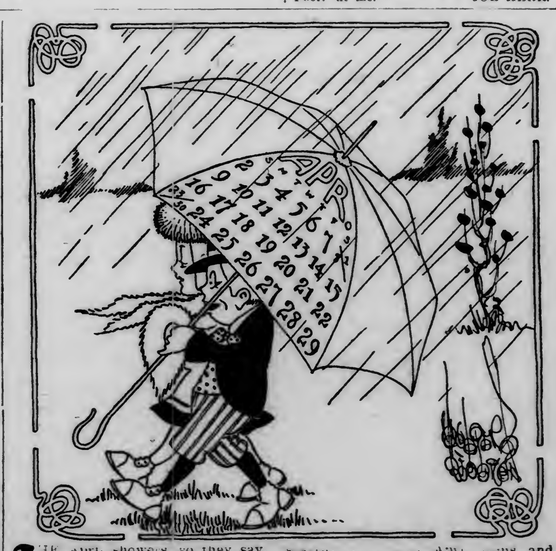
HOPEFUL.

"You been fishin' here every day, ain't you, William?

"Yep."

"Ever ketch anything?"

"Nope, but Gran'pa sez he kin remember when a man did ketch a fish right in dis spot"



THE April showers, so they say,
Will bring May flowers out in May,
So everyone feels light and gay.

Both bring him out with little Rose
The sweetest little flower that grows.

For Senator Dillingham of Vermont It Came When He Had Finally Secured the Conviction of a Gang of Bank Robbers—Aviator Curtiss' Story of His Happiest Hour—When Sweet Followed Hard on the Heels of Bitter for Governor Harmon's Late Gubernatorial Opponent — The Dinner That Senator Depew Enjoyed Most—Happiest Hour Stories By Edison, Col. Hepburn, Senator Money of Mississippi, and Victor Herbert.

Written for The Herald by E. J. EDWARDS ("Holland")

(Copyright, 1911, by E. J. Edwards.)

"Which has been the happiest hour of your life?"

Not long before he retired from public life, on March 4, to his Mississippi plantation, this question was put to the scholarly Senator Hernando de Soto Money of Mississippi.

"The happiest man in the world," he began, seriously, "the very happiest man in the world is he who temperamentally is so constructed that he settles down to the belief early in life that the only genuine happiness which comes to one in this life is found within the domestic circle and in the companionship of a few congenial associates. In order to realize this fully, and to be able to appropriate it properly, he should not be a man of positive genius or even conspicuous talent; not that I believe the possession of either of these rare gifts is an absolute bar against happiness, but in practice it seems to amount to that.

"Nor do I think it an especially good fortune for a man to have the faculty of accumulating riches, as regard a sudden access of wealth as a positive misfortune. I have never known it fail to produce a case of arrested development of the domestic and social faculties. Instead of being the master of wealth acquired by inheritance or by some get-rich-quick method, the victim—I regard him as such—is the slave nine times out of ten. The ideal happy man, as I define him, is he who finds it necessary to work more or less steadily and diligently and to economize in order to provide for the comforts of life for himself and for those who are dependent on him, who fills with reasonable success and the approbation of those who are interested in him the offices of son, father, husband and brother, who is a good neighbor and a desirable citizen, and who pursues the even tenor of his way undisturbed by ambition and unvexed by failure."

"But how about that 'happiest hour,' senator?"

"Well," Mr. Money laughed, "I have passed a good many happy hours, but I don't recall anything more closely ak'n to positive ecstasy than the moment when it was announced in open court that I had won my first case. I wasn't a bit happier than my client, an old Scotchman, whose brindle cow had come off second best in an encounter with a locomotive. A sympathetic jury brought in a maximum verdict against the unpopular railroad and my client was jubilant. 'Maister Money,' he chuckled, 'I would to heaven it had been a dozen cows at that price.'"

Senator Dillingham's Happiest Hour.

Another notable American statesman whose confessedly happiest hour came during his early legal life is William P. Dillingham, senior United States senator from Vermont. Although the senator began his professional career under the most auspicious conditions—his father was governor of the state and at the head of the Green Mountain State bar—the young attorney was on a constant lookout for an opportunity to prove that he was capable of doing big things at his own initiative, quite independently of the various influences by which he was surrounded.

It was twelve years before his coveted opportunity came. At the time Dillingham was state's attorney of Washington county, and when he went into office he fell heir to one of the most complicated legal tangles ever encountered in the criminal courts of the commonwealth. It was so involved and so bristling with difficulties of all sorts that Dillingham's predecessor had retired from the office with the declaration that the moment at which his term expired was "the happiest of his life." The new incumbent went into office with precisely the same feeling—it was the happiest hour of his life.

"The happiest, that is," Senator Dillingham qualifies, "until there came one still happier. That arrived when I had succeeded in landing every man connected with that bank robbery in state prison. In those days the detective system was far from being at its present state of efficiency. It was expected of the prosecuting attorney that he was to combine the profession of detective with that of lawyer, a sort of Sherlock Holmes facility of performing the impossible. Fortunately for me, my tastes inclined that way, and I sailed into the business for all I was worth.

"Now, I don't wish to convey the impression that I was endowed with any superhuman skill in ferreting out crime, but it so happened that the scheme I set on foot worked admirably, and within a few months after I took office the four men implicated in the bank robbery were behind the bars. When I saw those criminals move out of the courtroom in the custody of the sheriff and his deputy, I experienced a thrill of satisfaction which, in my case, has never been repeated, not even when I was sent to the senate to fill out Senator Morrill's unexpired term, or had made good, and thereafter I should not be known solely as 'Governor Dillingham's son, you know.'".

An Aviator's Answer.

As illustrative of the fact that happiness is largely a matter of temperament and that mankind is not at all unanimous as to what constitutes "the happiest moment," the decision being as wide as human nature itself, the answer of Glenn H. Curtiss to the question "Which has been the happiest hour of your life?" is both interesting and instructive.

"The happiest I have ever been? Certainly: I remember it well, although it happened when I was a small kid," replied the aviator. "I had a job delivering the local newspapers in a country town in New York state, and liked it well enough all except the labor connected with it. Partly as an advertisement and partly to stimulate us newsboys to further exertion, the publisher of the sheet bought a cheap bicycle and announced that the boy who could make the delivery route in the shortest time would become owner of the wheel at the end of the week.

"Of course every newsboy in town was determined to win that bicycle, and excitement ran high. Altogether there were six boys in the final competition and all the others were more familiar with the wheel than myself, for I had never owned one and my only experience had been obtained on 'joy rides' and similar occasions. The knowledge of my unfitness didn't dissuade me in the least from making the attempt to get that wheel. A little girl in our neighborhood owned a decrepit affair which she stabled in our woodshed, and after she had gone to bed at night I used to practice on that wheel in one of the back streets. Fortunately for me, my trial came last, on Saturday afternoon, and by the time it came off I had learned to stick on pretty successfully.

"Well, I thought Saturday afternoon would never come, but it did. With my bundle of papers and wearing a pair of new red-topped boots I had procured for the occasion, I started from the Courier office with a big send-off from the mob that had gathered in the street. Although I was the smallest boy among the contestants, I was the nimblest in any stunt outside of actual labor, and I was so determined to become proprietor of that wheel that I got up a speed that astonished me as much as it did anyone else. The evolutions I went through with were something amazing. I had a fall or two, but I didn't let that discourage me. I lost no time in inspecting the bruises, but mounted again and was off like the wind.

"Still, as I drew near the close of my stunt I feared I had lost. It seemed ages since I had started out, and as I dashed up the street on my return to the office the cheers that greeted me on both sides seemed to me to be an outburst of jeering over my defeat. My heart was in my mouth, or somewhere else it shouldn't be, but I set my teeth firmly and steered for the office.

"I steered all right, but I didn't stop soon enough. I ran that wheel against the curb with such force that the impact sent me heels over head on to the sidewalk with a jar that seemed to dislodge every rib in my body. One of our compositors, a big Irishman, gathered me up in his arms and I heard him say, 'Poor little devil's ez dead ez me hat, but he's winner.' I knew no more, but the thrill of joy that ushered me into unconsciousness has never been duplicated in my experience. I wasn't hurt seriously, only badly shaken and in a state of nervous collapse. In half an hour I was well enough to mount my wheel and scud for home.

"Since that day I have passed through some thrilling experiences. As you know, I was a bicycle racing specialist before I went into air navigation, and some of my motorcycle records were almost as speedy as the flight of a bullet. My aerial trips have been highly exhilarating, some of them, but I assure you that nothing I have accomplished has ever made me so happy as those words uttered by that big compositor as I was going into dreamland."

A Wizard's Happiest Hour.

According to Thomas A. Edison, his happiest hour came to him during his newsboy period. "It was in the early spring of 1862," he relates, "and the military situation in Tennessee was becoming exciting. Everything pointed to a big fight at Pittsburg Landing, and the North was wrought up to a high pitch of suspense. At the time I was a lad of fifteen years of age and held the position of 'train butcher' on the Grand Trunk railroad, with my headquarters at Detroit. On the morning of the battle of Shiloh I saw a chance to make some money by selling papers at way stations to the anxious crowds waiting for news.

"There was just one thing that interfered with my little scheme—I had no money to pay for the papers and I was practically unknown at the newspaper office, so that the prospect of getting credit was decidedly slim. Anyhow, I made up my mind to try it and I went over and interviewed the circulation manager. He was very civil to me, put me up a bundle of 1,500 papers and then told me I would have to see Mr. Storey, the boss, before he could let me have the goods. 'Take the bundle upstairs to Mr. Storey's office,' he directed, 'and tell him all about it. I guess it'll be all right.'

"I wasn't so certain of it. I didn't know Mr. Storey, but I had heard a good deal about him and from what I had heard I believed him to be a pretty tough proposition. There was no other way out of it, however, and so I shouldered the bundle of papers and climbed the stairs that led to the great man's office. I found him alone, seated at his desk, a tall, thin, ascetic looking man, who frowned deeply as I entered the room.

"'Well—what's the matter now?' he demanded severely.

"I droped the heavy bundle on the floor and proceeded to state my case as clearly as I could. He heard me to the end without a word of comment, and when I had finished commanded sharply, 'Bring that bundle here!'

"I deposited the heavy package at his feet and with a blue pencil he marked it 'O. K.' Then he turned again to his desk and I made my way out of the awful presence, thankful I had fared no worse in my face-to-face encounter with the man who was reputed to be fonder of a scrap than of his dinner. That was my first meeting with the famous Wilbur F. Storey, who started life as a druggist in Jackson, Mich., and in time developed into one of the most original editors ever known to any country.

"As I toted that weighty bundle down to the Grand Trunk station, a wild spasm of joy took possession of me and the heavy parcel became as light as feathers. I don't know precisely what it could have been that filled me with a happiness I have never forgotten, but I suppose it must have been the fact that I, a common 'candy butcher,' had been given credit by the proprietor of a daily paper. It was a day of joyful surprises for me. I sold the first hundred of these papers at 5 cents a copy, then 300 at 10 cents and the remainder at 25 cents a copy. The edition contained the rumor that 60,000 men had fallen at Shiloh, although it went to press hours before that bloody battle was begun. That was the novelty in the way of journalism that was pushing Storey to the front."

Sweet After Bitter.

Occasionally the "happiest hour" succeeds the "bitterest hour," and is accentuated by the contract. Warren J. Harding, Governor Harmon's competitor last November in the race for governor of Ohio, relates an experience of that kind.

"When I was serving my apprenticeship in journalism," he says, "I was offered the position of editor of a small weekly Democratic paper in a central Ohio town. It was a veritable Godsend to me, for I had my own way to make and thus far I hadn't found it a matter free from anxiety. The only thing that seemed to stand in the way of acceptance was the fact that I had always been a lively Republican and had no disposition to abandon my political creed. The owner of the paper saw no difficulty in the situation and I finally consented to undertake the job.

"Other men have steered clear of shipwreck in similar circumstances, but I was doomed to suffer right at the start, and it served me right. It was at the close of an unusually spirited campaign and as a final blowout the Democrats organized a torchlight procession. I don't know how the committee of arrangements ever managed to hit on the scheme, but at the last moment I was interviewed by a delegation of local politicians who insisted that the success of the demonstration demanded that I should head the procession on horseback. In vain I argued against the suggestion. They were immovable and finally appealed to my employer, who seemed to find plenty of amusement in my predicament.

"'I don't see how we can refuse to do it,' he said. 'The paper depends on the county advertising and those fellows control the patronage. It won't do to antagonize them, and they seem to have set their hearts on having you at the head of the show.'

"At last, almost goaded to frenzy by my distaste for the job and my apparent powerlessness to decline it, I resigned, and I give you my word that it was the most nauseous dose I ever had to swallow. While the jollification was in full blast I made my way to the office, and threw myself into my chair in a state of near-collapse. After I had been sitting thus for some time, my head bowed on my desk, a hand was laid on my shoulder and a voice said: 'Young man, aren't you a Republican?'

"I looked up quickly and recognized the old gentleman who was president of the local bank and head of most of the business enterprises in the town.

"'I used to be,' I groaned. 'I don't know what I am now.'

"'You are a Republican still, and you are going to remain a Republican if I have anything to say in the matter,' he declared emphatically. 'Come over to the bank in the morning and I'll tell you something that will 'interest you. No, by George, I'll tell you now. I'm going to start a Republican daily paper in this town and I want you to run it. Good night.'

"He was gone before I could recover my breath, and I want to tell you that the flight I took out of the depth of bitterness into the realms of perfect joy covered the happiest moment of my life. Next day my patron and I went down to Cincinnati and purchased an outfit and in less than three weeks from that day I was the editor of the first daily paper ever published in that county."

Depew's Most Enjoyable Dinner.

Asked recently to put his finger on the happiest hour he had ever passed, ex-Senator Depew raised his hand helplessly and shook his head. "If I were not a professional altruist," he said, "I might be able to recall my moment of supreme happiness, but when one has been in the business of being happy for so many years as I have it isn't easy to discriminate. Only the other day I was accused by a post-prandial orator of having spent half of my life in formandizing and the remainder in telling about it. That speaker was not of my political school, and his charge may have been inspired by partisan aggressiveness.

"Still, I must admit that the only present memory I can command of my happiest hour has to do with eating. It was not on one of those frequent occasions at which I am expected to dress up some of my venerable humoresques so that they cannot be recognized as old acquaintances. It was the one memorable instance in my career in which I was not even invited to illustrate by word of mouth how exceedingly narrow is the margin which separates buffoonery from real after-dinner wit.

"It was at Mentor, in 1880, whither I had gone on a delightful autumn day, to consult with Gen. Garfield on a little matter of business in which we were both interested. Despite the perfect weather, there was gloom in the political atmosphere—the news that the Democrats had carried the Maine fall elections was responsible for it. According to all precedent, that meant that Gen. Garfield's chances of becoming the next president were not a foregone conclusion. Even the hackman who drove me up to the Garfield homestead was pessimistic. 'Darn them Maine folks anyhow,' was about all to which he seemed willing to commit himself.

"In the Garfield home serenity reigned supreme. It was the first day for a long time, my hostess informed me in the most gracious manner, that they had been alone. The stream of political pilgrims had been turned aside by the news from Maine, and she declared that she regarded it as a happy respite. The general appeared to enjoy the relief as much as did his wife and was fairly bubbling over with good spirits.

"Our business over, I was invited to stay to dinner and I accepted. The only other guests at the table were two old army friends of the general from Cuyahoga county who had just 'dropped in,' as they expressed it, to talk over old times. The dinner was a very unpretentious affair of broiled beefsteak, baked potatoes, mashed turnip, delicious home-made bread, excellent coffee and the very best butter I ever tasted in my life, if I am a native of New York state. For dessert, we had some fine golden pippins, the most luscious I had eaten since my boyhood days in Peekskill-on-the-Hudson.

"I wasn't expected to do a thing but eat, and I am sure I disappointed nobody in that respect. I just ate and listened to the general and his army friends talk. Gen. Garfield gave a brilliant word picture of the battle of Chickamauga, the most illuminative description I had ever heard or read, so eloquent and so explanatory of what really happened that I sat entranced. Altogether it was the most enjoyable dinner I ever attended, and when I hurried to the station to catch my train I realized that I had put behind me three of the happiest hours I had ever known, nor have I known a happier experience since that day."

A Famous Iowan's Happiest Memory.

Ex-Congressman William P. Hepburn of Iowa declares that the happiest hour that has impressed itself indelibly on his memory occurred when he was a barefooted ragged youngster of 10. That was when Iowa was still a territory, two years after his parents had removed from the upper Ohio river valley to the Western frontier. A farmer hired him to plant corn at 25 cents a day of twelve hours, and at the end of a fortnight paid him off in the Spanish coin current in that part of the country.

"I ran home with the speed of a deer," he says, "in spite of the fact that I had been dropping seed corn since daybreak and rushed into our little cabin with a shout that startled everybody. 'Here they are! I've got 'em!' I yelled jubilantly.

"'Got what, my child?' gasped my mother, sinking into a chair, a look of concern on her usually placid features.

"For an answer I dumped a handful of Spanish coins into her lap, with a whoop that would have done full justice to a Comanche. There it was sure enough—all in pistareens, reals and a variety of smaller copper coins that I didn't know by their proper names.

"'You must keep it until you are a man,' said my mother. 'It is good luck to keep the first money you ever earn. No matter how much you may have afterward, it will never give you the pleasure that you have in this.'

"So she put it away in her chest to keep company with a couple of 5-franc pieces she had saved. Although her method of disposing of my first earnings did not appeal to me at the time, I was too happy to make a feature of my disapproval. I do recall, however, that those Spanish coins parted company with their more artistocratic companions the very next Fourth of July."

Happiest Over Future.

"It may sound a trifle 'fishy,'" said Victor Herbert, whose first venture in grand opera, "Natoma," has recently had its premiere, "but it is a fact that the happiest moment I have ever known came to me when it became a matter of certainty that a musical production of mine having its first public tryout was going to be the deadest sort of a failure. It was in my apprentice days, and I hadn't acquired enough confidence in myself even to think of showing myself in public without an attack of something like vertigo.

"On the occasion referred to, I was to conduct the performance, and just before it was time to begin the overture the manager informed me that in case the piece should make a hit I would be expected to show myself in front and make a little speech. That was quite enough to upset me. I declared at once that, with that possibility hanging over me, it would be impossible for me to conduct, and one of the first violins was drafted into service as my substitute, while trembling and dejected, I took my position in the wing, prepared to take my martyrdom as heroically as I could.

"I had my big scare all for nothing. From start to finish that play had the chilliest reception imaginable. The singing was bad, the lyrics were execrable and the music itself didn't deserve the name. The only happy, almost riotously happy, person in the theater was the composer As the signs of failure became unmistakable, a great weight rolled off my system and I began to breathe freely. I shouldn't have to make that speech, and I could have gone down on my knees for gratitude. It was positively the happiest moment of my life."

Edwin Hawley, the noted railway man, traces his "happiest hour" to a game of whist. Andrew Carnegie is recorded as saying that the greatest happiness that has come to him came through his giving of libraries to the people.

YOUNG MOTHERS

The greatest crisis in a woman's life is when first she becomes a mother. All the physical strength of her nature is demanded at such times, and it is necessary that her system be thoroughly prepared for the event, in order that her health be preserved for future years. Mother's Friend is woman's safest reliance; it is a medicine for external use, composed of oils and other ingredients which assist nature in all necessary physical changes of the system. Its regular use before the coming of baby prepares the muscles and tendons for the unusual strain, aids in expanding the skin and flesh fibres, and strengthens all the membranes and tissues. Mother's Friend lessens the pain and danger at the crisis, and leaves the mother in such healthful condition that her recovery is always rapid and natural. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. TOOELE SMELTER TO BE ENLARGED FOR LEAD ORE

Extensive Improvements Being Made at East Butte Smelter.

Butte-Alex Scott to Resune Mining at the Little Annie.

Butte, Mont., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The official announcement is made by F. P. Mathewson, general manager of the Washoe smelter at Anaconda and of the International Smelting company, whose plant is located at Tooele, that the plant of the latter company is to be enlarged at once by a building with a capacity of 500 tons daily for treating lead ore. This is in line with the statement made by John D. Ryan at the time the International plant was commenced. At that time the president of the Amalgamated Copper company declared that, while for the present the company would prepare only for the treatment of copper ores, if conditions warranted it in the future, the plant would be enlarged for the reception of other ores. This statement of Mr. Ryan was made somewhere in the vicinity of two years ago and he is going to keep his word in this as he has in every other matter since assuming the responsible duties of head of the big copper company. The International company has already secured by contract enough ore to justify the construction of the addition, and if more ore is forthcoming in the future why Mr. Mathewson says that the extension will be constructed so that it can be easily enlarged. The plans and specifications have been approved, and work on the the addition will be pushed with all possible speed. General Manager Mathewson, who has just returned from Tooele, says that the new plant will be ready for operation in six months. It will be a thoroughly up-to-date structure, equipped with the very latest machinery and appliances. "We are in the market for lead ores," remarked Mr. Mathewson, "and we want the whole country to know it." Since the International Smelting company opened for business it has done much to encourage and make possible the operation of small properties by the treating of ores at a reasonable cost, and the mine owners are beginning to appreciate this, particularly those located in what may be called the territory in which the plant is situated.

Tuolumne.

The new gallows frame and hoist for the Tuolumne mine will be here in June, but the fact that it is to be erected just as soon as it arrives is not to interfere with the operation of the mine, as it is to be built around the old equipment and the only delay in mining will be two or three days while the gear is being changed.

East Butte.

The East Butte property is undergoing some extensive improvements which will greatly enhance the producing power and also the earning power of the company. Dams are being constructed for purpose of treating the old tailings and mine waste by precipitation and which President Gross of Boston, who was recently here, estimates will bring in a revenue of about $2,000 a month for many months to come, as he calculates that there are tailings and waste to the value of $500,000 available for treatment. Workmen have just completed excavating preparatory to the construction of a new dust chamber and also a new smoke stack which will be 150 feet high. Preparations are also under way for the putting in of a third furnace and for the introduction of a mechanical ore feeding device. All the improvements will be completed in a few months and will put the East Butte smelter in a position to handle ore and turn out copper at a considerable saving over present costs.

Keating.

The Keating Gold Mining company in the Radersburg district is undoubtedly going to prove a great investment for the stockholders if all the reports being received from the property are true. On a claim recently added to its holdings the company struck an eight foot vein of $70 ore, while a report is in circulation that ore carrying $1,000 to the ton has been discovered. There are other properties, including the Black Friday, the Rena and the Butte & Radersburg, which are reported to be making an excellent showing.

Pilot Butte.

The equipment for the Pilot Butte company is nearly all on the ground, and it is expected that by the first week of April work will be commenced in developing the property. It is not the intention of the management to unnecessarily rush the work of getting ore out for shipment, but rather to thoroughly explore the property and learn just what quality of ore the mine contains and block out a large quantity before any is sent to the smelter. The company is well qualified financially to carry on development work for the next ten months without earning a cent, and the idea of those in charge is that when shipments are once commenced to have sufficient ore in sight to make daily shipments continuous.

Butte-Alex Scott.

The Little Annie, the property of the Butte-Alex Scott company which has been idle for three years, is being got ready for active mining operations again. This mine was a good producer at one time, and some of the copper ran from $25 to $30 to the ton, while one carload netted the company $1,500. The old incline shaft is to be replaced by a new shaft which is to be sunk to a depth of 200 feet at once. The fact that some of the copper ore taken from the Little Annie a few years ago ran 9 per cent copper, and the belief that there is much more of the same, has induced the company to re-open the property. A new gallows frame and hoist have been ordered and electric equipment will be installed in the ccurse of a few weeks. From the Butte-Alex Scott mine one to two cars of ore are being shipped to the East Butte smelter every day averaging 7 to 9 per cent copper. Development work is proceeding steadily on the 500, 1,400, 1,500 and $1,600-foot levels and a fine grade of ore is being blocked out. Manager Stone says that never in the distory of the property has the earning capacity been as great as at the present time.

Washoe Sampling Works.

The Washoe Sampling works which were destroyed by fire in this city about one year ago are being rapidly rebuilt, and it is expected the works will be ready to receive ore about June 1. The new buildings are being constructed of steel and are being made thoroughly fireproof. They will be modern and up to date in every respect and will prove a great convenience to the small mine owners and prospectors.

Davis-Daly.

Although Mr. Heinze stated some time ago that the Colorado mine of the Davis-Daly company was not a paying proposition and in fact it was a waste of money to keep on with the development work, a small force of men still continues to work in the property. About the same time Mr. Bacon, general manager of Heinze's Western interests, said that the Colorado had bright prospects and that considerable ore was being blocked out of a 3 per cent quality. He went further and declared that in the spring it might be possible that shipments of ore would be made, and that for that purpose connection with the tramway constructed last year from the mine to the railway might be made. There are no signs of Mr. Bacon's predictions coming true at the present time.

Decreased Production.

There have been rumors and intimations from various sources that the Amalgamated properties were producing more copper than they really should under the curtailment agreement, but to a person at all familiar with the conditions existing in this city such will be found very far from the fact. While it is true that the pay roll of the Amalgamated properties runs somewhere over $800,000 a month, and a large force of men is employed in development work, improvements and repairs, the number of men engaged in actual producing work at the present time is small as compared with the time when there was no such thing as a curtailment agreement. As an evidence that the copper is not being produced in the Butte mines to anything like it was before curtailment, a few instances of the decrease in production may be given. Before the 15 per cent reduction the Butte Coalition mines were hoisting all the way from 1,800 to 2,000 tons a day, and today the output is somewhere in the vicinity of 1,000 tons a day. The three big producing mines of the company are the Minnie Healey, Rarus and Tramway, but from the two former no ore is being hoisted and practically the entire output of the Coalition mines comes from the Tramway, which is equally as rich as the Minnie Healey. The Anaconda and the St. Lawrence have been closed down all winter, so far as the hoisting of ore is concerned, both mines undergoing extensive repairs, including the retimbering of the shafts. The High Ore has not been in operation since the fire, while the Badger State, which is fixing out to be one of the richest properties of the district, and the Buffalo mines, are being operated under a very limited force of men. The Mountain View was closed down about six weeks ago to make the necessary changes from steam to electric power for the hoisting of the ore by the new compressed air plant system. From the above it will be seen that the production of the Butte mines is very materially reduced.

North Butte.

The North Butte company has sold to the Anaconda company the Emily and Millview claims, which are the western extension of the Berlin, and both are regarded as very valuable claims. While the price has not been made known, it is believed the North Butte company received a good round figure for the property. The Emily and Millview adjoin the Elm Orlu, Poser, Pilot Butte and the Badger State.

SHOWING IS IMPROVED

Mohawk Strikes Better Copper Ground in the Newer No. 6 Shaft.

New Baltic Is Centering All Activity in Shaft Sinking.

Houghton, Mich., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mohawk Mining company is obtaining a decidedly better showing of copper ground in the newer No. 6 shaft, and in Nos. 4 and 5 shafts as well. In the No. 6 shaft this betterment is particularly noticeable in the lower level, the seventh, at a depth of about 600 feet from surface. Here the improvement extends across the line of the shaft and in both continuity and copper content excels the ground developed in the first 400 feet below surface. Shafts 4 and 5 have shown improvement and held it for many months past and are today, at depths of 1,600 and 1,200 feet respectively, showing the richest ground developed in the Mohawk acreage. The recent striking of rich copper ground in the Ahmeek shafts 3 and 4 in the underlay below the territory in which Mohawk No. 6 shaft is sinking would seem to point to unbroken richness between that depth and the seventh level at which point in this shaft a truly good showing of copper ground is in evidence.

New Baltic.

The New Baltic Copper company, centering all activity in shaft sinking, has reached a depth of 280 feet, which will be increased to probably 350 feet before a second attempt is made to crosscut the vein and drift upon it. At the 200-foot level a short crosscut was started but broken ground forced a suspension of this work and no disclosure of the copper ground was obtained. The shaft is sinking nearly in line with the drill hole, which at a depth of 330 feet yielded the remarkably rich core reported at the time. The company has all the equipment necessary to put a shaft down to a depth of 1,500 feet, including a fifteen-drill air compressor, and is making seventy to eighty feet of openings each month. Operations are directed towards the development of an unidentified amygdaloidal bed lying on the presumed horizon of the Baltic lode.

Keweenaw.

The Keweenaw Copper company has a promising tract of copper ground in the old Phoenix property, which it controls through stock ownership. In this tract the Ashbed received a thorough test in the diamond drill exploratory campaign of last summer with results that may induce the sinking of an exploratory shaft this summer, the finances of the company permitting. In the meantime the company continues engaged in shaft sinking in the Kearsarge formation which drill borings show to carry commercial values at various points along its strike though these borings are not uniformly rich nor do all indicate commercial ground. The shaft in this formation has attained a depth of 730 feet and is now in trap, having passed out of the lode in which it was started. More or less copper was encountered in the course of sinking but the showing was never more than "promising." A like condition is revealed in the lode at still greater depth by the drill borings made at several levels in the shaft though in the drill core taken from a depth of between 1,350 and 1,400 feet excellent values are noted. This hole passes through the lode less than 600 feet below present bottom of the exploratory shaft and which is being sunk to explore the ground from which it came.

Wolverine.

The Wolverine Copper Mining company is showing very little copper in the openings made in the Osceola amygdaloid and little is expected in that portion of the lode in which the shaft is sinking. The Osceola is a lode of exceptional width, as much as 100 feet wide in places, though the mining width is only eight to twelve feet. This occurs generally along the hanging wall in the lode and away from the footwall in which all openings to date have been made. With the object of intersecting this copper shoot a crosscut is now driving across the lode from foot to hanging wall at the second level. Shaft sinking has temporarily ceased to be resumed as soon as the crosscut and drifts have gotten clear of the shaft. There is no intention on the part of the management to give up the development of this lode because of the poor showings so far made.

Isle Royale.

The Isle Royale Copper company is again operating at a profit, and since the cessation of all exploratory work in the Baltic horizon is centering its activities in the development of the Isle Royale lode, which is slowly but surely being prepared for larger production. Four shafts are in active operation and for more than a year past have been yielding at the rate of 7,000,000 pounds fine copper annually. The copper yield per ton of rock milled has been irregular during the past few years, averaging as low as 13.8 pounds fine copper and seldom climbing above 15.5 pounds in any year. In the first months of the present year and to date the yield has grown better and holds above the higher average quoted. Proper selection of rock is impracticable at the present time owing to limited underground openings in three of the four shafts in operation and the limited amount of stoping which may be drawn upon. With increased openings that are to come and an additional shaft or possibly two that may be sunk all tending to give a greater rock output there is little question that the property can be made to earn dividends even as Mohawk is doing with the same quality rock, a vein but little wider than is Isle Royale's and with a distinct disadvantage in the matter of rock transportation. Isle Royale has never been much more than a one-shaft mine and after thirty years will be given proper recognition if the plans of those who are seeking control carry through.

MINING IN THE BLACK HILLS

Unusually Fine Season for Southern Hills Is Predicted.

Deadwood, S. D., March 25.—Indications at present seem to point to an unusually fine season for the Southern Hills this summer. Development of mining in that region has been retarded in many ways. The lower grade of ores did not exist there as further north, and while rich strikes have been frequent, they have been of the pocket variety and when one pinched out in a property it was seldom followed up. Within the past year outside capital has begun to look upon Southern Hills properties in a different way. The reorganization of the old Harney Peak Tin Mining company and the expenditure of $50,000 in development and prospecting work in the fields around Hill City was an important step. The reorganization of the old Clara Belle Mining company at Oreville and its later successful development under the name of the Forest City Mining company by Cleveland men added to the reputation of the Southern Hills. Quite recently the Gold Medal Mining company has turned the Golden Slipper mine, near Hill City, into a producer that is yielding regular amounts of gold and is in fact the only gold producer in the Southern Hills at present. Now another group of men, working on the Forest City claim east of the Golden Slipper, has just uncovered what appears to be a vein of rich gold ore. This claim has been worked for more than twenty years in more or less desultory fashion, but recently Messrs. Forsythe, Roland and Brown took hold and tried another form of development. A shaft was started down the gulch some distance from the surface outcrop of the ledge and by proper calculations they found the ledge at a depth of thirty feet, where it shows as a quartz vein two feet thick, carrying free gold in rich quantities. It has been thoroughly sampled and holds its values well. It is of more importance as it shows that the gold bearing area is not confined to the Golden Slipper zones and that prospecting in new fields often pays.

The Westinghouse company, which recently shut down temporarily its mica properties and pulled pumps, remaining idle for three weeks, is now making preparations to resume. Orders from New York caused the last suspension.

FURNACE TO BE ERECTED

Republic on the Marquette Range to Have an Ardis Furnace.

Large Stripping Work Has Been Begun at the Negaunee Mine.

Having demonstrated the existence of sufficient deposits of lean ore to warrant the installation of a plant of the kind, John T. Jones of Iron Mountain and his associates have decided to erect at the old Kloman mine at Republic, Marquette range, a furnace of the Ardis type, the invention of Mr. Jones. An order for the big cylinder shell which is the most prominent feature of the furnace and for various other portions of the plant has been placed with the Allis-Chalmers company of Milwaukee. Other than the experimental plant installed at Mr. Jones' home city on the Menominee range, the Kloman furnace will be the first one erected. It will be followed by the establishment of many others, however, provided its success is that which is claimed for it, and there will have been opened to the world a new source of iron supply.

While there still is skepticism in various iron circles as to the practicability of the Jones process—and this is not surprising in view of the revolutionary character of the invention—the confidence of the Jones interests that the problem of metalizing low grade ores on a commercial basis has been solved is shown by their activity in acquiring lands known to contain iron deposits at present valueless from a merchantable standpoint and by the manner in which they are going ahead with their furnace projects. If the Ardis furnace is a success and can treat lean ores at the profit claimed for it, there is no limit to its field of operation in the Lake Superior region, for there are tremendous deposits of that grade of material.

Stripping at the Negaunee.

At its Negaunee mine at Negaunee, the Cleveland Cliffs company has started work on a stripping operation that will require a number of months' time to complete. A considerable area of the surface surrounding what is to be the main shaft of the property is to be removed. The collar of the shaft is down twenty feet, and the ground will be cut away to that depth. A steam shovel and a force of fifty men are employed. The earth that is excavated will be used in a railroad fill leading to the shaft. The Negaunee shaft is being lined with concrete from top to bottom, a distance of hundreds of feet. While this work is nearing completion, a steel shafthouse is still to be erected, much trestle and other construction are to be done and considerable equipment is to be installed, in consequence of which it will be well along toward the latter part of the year before ore is hoisted.

The Cleveland Cliffs company has practically decided upon the location of its proposed big power dam on the Camp river between the cities of Negaunee and Marquette, and for the purpose of testing the ground preliminary to the construction of the foundation diamond drills are in commission. The power station, at which will be developed, it is estimated, fully 7,000-horse power, will be erected near Mount Mesnard, close to the outskirts of Marquette. It is intended to utilize the electrical power that will be generated not only at the mines on the range, but at the company's Pioneer and Carp river furnaces at Marquette.

With the great bulk of the old employes back on duty and a number of new names on the payroll, operations at M. A. Hanna & Co.'s American mine, Marquette range, are proceeding as if the recent strike at the property had not taken place. The order that the mid-day and mid-night meals be eaten underground, and to which the men objected, is in force, as is a new arrangement under which the night shift will work fifty hours a week and receive pay for fifty-five, instead of working fifty-five hours and receiving pay for sixty.

Ore-Drying Plant.

A novelty in the Lake Superior region is an ore-drying plant which is to be erected at M. A. Hanna & Co.'s Hollister mine, in the Crystal Falls district of the Menominee range. The plans call for an outlay of $30,000. The ore at the Hollister is very wet, so much so that transportation charges are enhanced materially and the best results are not achieved in the furnace stacks. The purpose of the drier is to eliminate a large percentage of the moisture, assisting in the sale of the ore and reducing freight charges. Hanna & Co. have in prospect a number of other mines in the Crystal Falls field. One of these is the Monongahela property in section 36, 43-33. This tract has been tested, has been found to contain a valuable deposit of ore and is about to be formally taken under lease. Shaft-sinking probably will be started a few weeks hence. Because of the showing at the Monongahela, Hanna & Co. some time ago took an option on the so-called Merry-Maitland lands, in section 31, 43-32, directly to the south. Diamond drills have been in operation there, and with such success that it is expected at least two more mines eventually will be opened up.

Merry-Maitland Lands.

The value of the Merry-Maitland lands had been surmised for a long time past, but on account of defective titles their exploration has been delayed. In the same section 31, Corrigan, McKinney & Co., of Cleveland, have recently acquired an option on a desirable tract, and are about to test the acreage with a diamond drill. Another property that the Hanna interests are exploring in the Crystal Falls field is the Ravenna, adjoining Oglebay, Norton & Co.'s big Bristol property on the west. Shaft sinking has been in progress here a number of months and drifting is soon to be started. The Lot Three tract, adjoining the Bristol on the east, is being tested by the International Harvester company. Pits are being sunk at present, but it is the intention to use a diamond drill. In fact, exploratory work in the Crystal Falls district is more active now than at any time the past year. More will be done, too, with the disappearance of the winter's accumulation of snow.

Interesting Process.

An interesting process in operation at Corrigan, McKinney & Co.'s Great Western mine at Crystal Falls is that by which the water in the big open pit is being gradually lowered to a level below the ledge. A "blower" is in commission. This consists in part of two large iron tanks, each of a capacity of 2,400 gallons. The tanks are connected with an air compressor which sucks the air out of one of the big iron receptacles and forces it into the other. As the air leaves the first tank, its place is taken by water, which gushes into the vacuum. With the first tank full of water, an automatic valve switches the operation of the compressor so that the air is pumped out of the second tank and forced into the first one, the air in turn driving the water out into the launder, which carries it away. The process alternates regularly, each tank being emptied of its 2,400 gallons of water in exactly 45 seconds.

SPRING RUSH TO ALASKA IS ON

Iditarod, Kuskokwim, Seward and Valdez Drawing the Crowds.

Seattle, Wash., March 25.—The spring rush to Alaska is on a month earlier than usual. The last three sailings have had all passenger and freight accommodations taken, and all indications now are that all records will be broken, including the great rush to Nome in 1900. The Iditarod will draw as many men as Nome did in its best days, the Upper Kuskokwim is already a powerful magnet, and Seward and Valdez will be among the livest and busiest quartz camps on the continent.

In addition transportation by rail into the heart of the great Copper river region is now an accomplished fact. The Kobuk is far above the Arctic circle, but even that remote region will receive its share of attention because of the $200,000 output last season of the New Squirrel river placers there. Taken all in all it will not be surprising if 25,000 persons travel into the great northern territory this season, and the gold output for 1911 will undoubtedly be larger than in any other year in Alaska's history.

Pay has been struck on No. 2, above on Lynx creek in the Tanana, which is known as the Gold Mountain country. Two outfits are down to hard rock and in the pay gravel.

It is believed that a continuous paystreak at last has been found in the Koyukuk for pay has been struck on four or five claims on Sheep creek, near Nolan, recent arrivals report, and there is a run of fine gold different from that usually found on the Koyukuk streams. The Koyukuk is a peculiar camp, never having had a paystreak, although many homestakes have been taken out, and will continue to be taken out from pockets.

A grant of 20,000 inches of water from the north fork of the Klondike has just been made by the Federal government at Ottawa, to A. N. C. Treadgold. This grant, with previous grants, gives Mr. Treadgold a total of 30,000 miner's inches of water from the north fork.

BIG DEPOSIT AT THE INSPIRATION

Experimental Mill Working to Give Facts for Big Plant.

The annual report of the Inspiration Copper company, which was sent to stockholders this week, shows how extensive a plan of campaign has been carried on at this property during the past year.

Henry Krumb as the consulting engineer of the property, describes the ore body as occurring in seams and veinlets and in minute grains of copper minerals disseminated through the schist and granite porphyry. In his report Mr. Krumb states that the capping will average 367 feet. The commercial ore on this property averages a thickness of 155 feet. The ore body has been developed for a length of 3,400 by 1,400 feet. Under the date of Feb. 15, 1911, Mr. Krumb estimates the developed ore to show 17,173,000 tons of 2.02 per cent copper and 402,900 of 1.90 per cent copper ore, or a total of 21,202,000 of 2 per cent ore.

This ore has been developed on thirty-nine acres out of a total of 581 acres or at an average of 543,000 tons per acre. To date eighty-one holes have been drilled in the property. An experimental mill is now working and when satisfactory tests have been obtained from its operation, a mill for a 5,000-ton capacity will be designed.

F. R. Drummond, general manager, in his report gives in full the operating details of the property and says that no ore going below 1.65 per cent copper has been included in the estimates made.

The financial exhibit of the company is a particularly gratifying one. The company has cash on hand of $774,213 and has loaned out at good interest, $1,000,000.

During the year mine developments cost $425,893, churn drilling $108,412, surface improvements $12,224, and assaying $5,543.

THIRTY-TWO BUILDING PERMITS ARE ISSUED

Busiest Week in Some Time for Building Inspector Kielley.

Bids Opened But Contract Not Let for New Wholesale House.

The greatest development in Duluth building circles this week was the increase in the number of building permits issued. In number of permits, and probably in amount also, the week was the best since the first of the year. Thirty-two permits were issued for buildings estimated to cost $119,300. The total was brought up by the permit for the rebuilding of the Metropolitan block, which will cost $75,000, and most of the other permits were for small work.

The Manufacturers' Exposition Building company, which has established offices in Duluth, has a big project if it is able to put it through. It is proposed to build big buildings in the big cities of the country, with the first floor given over to a permanent exhibition of manufactured goods, doing away with many displays from time to time. The plan provides for a manufacturing center in each city and it is believed the manufacturers will take kindly to the idea. Outside of the space to be occupied by the display, it is proposed to have the other floors for light manufacturing purposes. A building 140 by 199 feet and seven stories in height is proposed for Duluth. Vernon J. Price & Co. have been appointed architects for the concern.

Bids were opened yesterday in the office of W. A. Hunt, architect, for the Rust-Parker-Martin company building, which is to be built this year on Lake avenue. The piling work has been completed and the bids opened yesterday are on the superstructure. The contract was not let yesterday but it will be within a few days.

The contract for the new garage, for which Bray & Nystrom have prepared plans, will be let Monday. The garage will be located on East Superior street at about Eighth avenue east and will be owned by John A. Smith. It is to be a fireproof building, 50 by 92 feet.

The American Exchange bank of Virginia is having plans made for a modern two-story bank and office building to be erected at the corner of Chestnut street and Cleveland avenue in Virginia. The building will be the finest on Chestnut street. The exterior will be of glazed brick and terra cotta. The building will be 25 by 85 feet and will cost about $20,000. Anthony Puck & Holstead of Duluth are the architects.

FOUR CLOSETS AND A BATH VS. THE SUBURBAN HOME

"Get Some Chickens and a Garden," Says George H. Maxwell.

Talks of "Back to Land Movement" for City Dwellers.

"We are swinging back from the flat building and apartment house method of living to the detached home and the piece of ground of our fathers," said George H. Maxwell, "homecrofter," in an interview this week. "The flat building has had its day. It had a certain attractiveness to some people. Its accessibility, janitor service, steam heat and other conveniences were attractive; there was no fuel to carry in and no ashes to carry out; no paths to be shoveled off and no yards to be cleaned. The change was the charm of the flat building, but now people are tired of looking at bare walls, tired of the absence of sunshine and fresh air, and tired of the noise of close-living neighbors. They want fresh air and sunshine and room for playgrounds for their children and they want room for a garden and for a poultry yard.

"The family living in a flat building hasn't a home. The members have a place where they eat and sleep, but their interests are outside. They leave their homes for their outside interests; the children go to the public playgrounds. It should not be so. A man's greatest interests should be in his home and his home should be so attractive that no other interests would draw him away except during business hours. The children should be raised under the influences of a good home—the same home all through their young lives, and the father should, in justice to his children, own a home of his own. He should not only have a house on a piece of ground of his own, but he should have a piece of ground large enough for a garden and a poultry year. Children raised in such environment will make good cititzens.

Room to Grow.

Duluth is getting away from the flat building idea and the work Mr. Maxwell is doing in Duluth and the work that has already been started and will be continued by real estate firms and other people will take Duluth farther from the congestion in residences. Duluth is just starting to grow. As Mr. Maxwell said one day this week, Duluth has none of the problems of the larger cities in housing. Duluth has plenty of room to grow and it should grow, not numerically only, but in territory. The people already in the city should be spread out and those that come in the future should take up their homes in the suburbs to avoid the congestion of crowded centers.

"Legislation will not prevent people building homes on 25-foot lots," said Mr. Maxwell. "The people must be educated so that they will not live in a home on a 25-foot lot. They will demand more land for their homes and go where the land is available. Transportation must be provided, but the transportation will be provided when the demand for it is created. If a traction company sees business in any community, they will go after that business by extending their lines. Build up the suburban communities, create a demand for suburban property, and the problem of transportation will work itself out."

The trend of thought in city building is along the lines laid down by Mr. Maxwell. In every growing city in the country suburban property is being boomed, and the arguments that are used to boom it are the arguments used by Mr. Maxwell in support of the homecroft idea. Men are urged to own their own homes, and the easy payment plan of payment opens the way. Men are urged to cultivate the land and raise products for the family table, and the state agricultural extension departments and different agricultural societies teach them the way. Men are urged to raise poultry, and they are taught the business for the trouble of learning.

The Home Garden.

The solution of the high cost of living is the home garden. The man who raises his own vegetables doesn't need to worry about the high prices on commission row. The man who has fresh eggs and poultry for his table doesn't need to worry about the oppression of the beef trust. Mr. Maxwell is not a theorist, and those who have heard him this week have been impressed with the soundness of his arguments.

Mr. Maxwell is doing a great work to further the home garden idea in Duluth. The work was started here by the enthusiasts who are responsible for Mr. Maxwell's visit to the city. When he goes, they will continue to hammer into the minds of the people the propositions that he has forcibly advanced. They will place within reach of working men and clerks pieces of land where they may build their homes along the lines that lead to ease and contentment. Mr. Maxwell goes to the limit of the theory in advocating the homecroft community, but even if the owner of a 50-foot lot can be induced to cultivate that lot and can be induced to care for a few chickens, much will have been accomplished.

Plant vegetables in the front yard, is Mr. Maxwell's advice. "Do you know where the lawn idea came from?" Mr. Maxwell asked his audience at the Marshall-Wells plant Thursday. "In England, where the lords owned great estates, they had great lawns and live deer. We took many ideas from England, and when man in this country got down to a 25-foot lot, he thought he should have a lawn also. He couldn't have a live deer, so he got a stuffed deer; and if he couldn't get any kind of a deer, he had a stone dog at the portals of his home, and he considered himself a prince of the earth. If he had a vegetable garden in his front yard he would be nearer to being a prince of the earth."

WILL MAKE YOU INDEPENDENT.

The soil there is particularly adapted for all kinds of crops. Here is a letter from another farmer living there:

Meadowlands, Minn., Dec. 1, 1910.

Dear Sir:—The first thing that attracted me after arriving here was the rich level soil, devoid of rock—the nearby market—the fact that clover and timothy GROW TO PERFECTION.

Vegetables are of a finer, better quality than any other place I ever lived. Sweet corn did finely here this year and last. We had all the tomatoes we needed to use from a few vines. We took first premium on potatoes at the County Fair, raised on first breaking this year. The fact that strawberries, raspberries, currants and gooseberries grow wild here is evidence sufficient that they can be successfully grown here.

There are less chances of failure here than any other place I ever lived.. Yours truly,

FEW DEALS ARE CLOSED, BUT INQUIRY IS ON THE INCREASE

Prospects for Movement of Investment Property—Improved Residences on the Market—The Greysolon Farms Project—Getting Ready for the "Sales."

THIS was a quiet week in the real estate market as far as the closing of deals is concerned, but inquiry was of good volume and of such character that real estate men are well pleased with the prospects. There has been a marked increase in the volume of inquiry for investment property during the past two weeks, and that has brought about a notable change in the market. Investment property has languished in almost total neglect for over a year, and while dealers were sure that residence property and outlying acres would move freely, there was some question about the prospects for larger deals.

Several big deals in investment property in the downtown district are said to be pending, and they may "break" any week. First street is coming in for more attention than it has had for some time, and the demand for East Superior street property continues strong. Owners are none too anxious to release their holdings, for investments are safe and are making good returns, and whether the increase in inquiry brings about an increase in sales remains to be seen.

INCREASE in inquiry for improved residence property is noticeable, and a number of pieces of that class of property are coming on the market as spring advances. A number of people who are contemplating taking up homes out in the newer suburbs or on suburban acres this year are putting their home properties in the central part of the city on the market. With leases expiring May 1, many people are anxious to get into homes of their own immediately, and the month of April should see a large number of deals in improved property closed.

REAL ESTATE men are taking keen interest in City Assessor Scott's plan of revaluation, and are showing a disposition to aid him in the work in every way possible. No citizens know the inequalities of the present valuation better than the real estate men, and they have nothing but commendation for the systematic manner in which Mr. Scott has gone about the work of revaluation.

The real estate men are for scientific, equitable valuation, every one of them, and Mr. Scott is at liberty to call on any of them to support his judgment at any time. Mr. Scott is an expert on Duluth real estate valuations himself, and the real estate men of the city believe that his judgment is sound; but if he should desire any additional expert opinion, he will have no trouble in getting it.

The great objection on the part of the real estate men and citizens generally to the present valuation is that it is inequitable as between the percentage of valuation on which different classes of property are assessed. Regardless of the percentage basis of valuation, everybody would be satisfied if the valuation were made on an equal basis in all parts of the city and on all classes of property. Mr. Scott has set about the work in a manner that shows he is working to that end. Every description will be assessed on a fixed percentage of its true valuation, and that percentage will avail all through the city. Two adjoining descriptions, both of equal value, will not show differences in the basis of assessment, as is now the case, and if Mr. Scott accomplishes the work he has laid out for himself, every property owner should be satisfied. No man with the welfare of the city at heart wants to pay less than his share of taxes, while his neighbor is paying more than his share. And such a condition is unfair to the neighbor and should be remedied as quickly as possible. Mr. Scott has set out to remedy it.

THE work of George H. Maxwell in the city this week will undoubtedly give new impetus to the Greysolon farms project, and will result in the plan of providing acre tracts for working men's home gardens being put through as rapidly as possible. The Greysolon farms project has encountered many difficulties, but the men behind the project will this year exert every effort to overcome the difficulties, arrange the matter of transportation and get the community into being.

THE warm weather of the past week has set those who have suburban plats in course of preparation to work, and early next month the "sales" of lots on the easy-payment plan will begin. Many lots were sold on that plan last year, but the number will be even greater this year, for more dealers will be in the business, and more people have become interested in Duluth property.

There is a new phase to the situation this year in that a speculative demand has developed. Last year almost every lot sold was for actual use. People wanted home sites, and they bought them with the idea of putting up homes, not of holding them for speculative profits. This year there is a well-defined speculative interest in the market, and that speculative interest should make the sales of lots on the easy-payment plan even more exciting than they were last year, when some people camped over night on desirable pieces of property in order that they might not lose the opportunity of obtaining them when the sales opened.

The activity in acreage has not been great this year, but much of the acreage suitable for suburban divisions is in the hands of people who intend to plat it and put it on the market in building lots. Although the acre-tract idea is being pushed forward just now, the great bulk of the people is interested in the 50-foot lot, which also gives space for a home garden, and the 50-foot lot is expected to occupy the limelight at least for a year or two, or until the transportation problem is solved.

NEWS OF THE WEST END

SOO LINE EMPLOYS LARGE CREW IN ITS TRAIN YARDS AT WEST END

SOO TRAIN YARDS, WEST END.

A crew of fifty men, working on two shifts, is employed by the Soo road in its West end train yards to take care of the passenger coaches of seven trains. The coach yards are between Garfield and Twentieth avenues west on the Soo right-of-way and are occupied by seven trains at different times of the day. It is the duty of the workmen in the yards to clean the cars, repair them, if needed, and see that they are kept in ship-shape condition. Foreman McFadzen is in charge of both shifts.

JOINT BANQUET SEEMS CERTAINTY

Members of Hillside Improvement Club Favor Proposed Booster Meeting.

That the members of the West End Commercial and West End Hillside Improvement clubs will get together this spring for a big "booster" banquet now seems a certainty, although the proposition of the Commercial club for a joint dinner has not been officially acted upon by the hillsiders.

Memmbers of both organizations favor the idea and there is little doubt but what the affair will be carried out. The two clubs have much in common and for several years there has been a movement on foot to consolidate, although the proposition was never brought to a head.

The St. Jean Baptiste hall will probably be the scene of the banquet. The first annual dinner of the Commercial club was held there last year and the efforts of the club were crowned with success.

If the joint "love feast" is arranged, a list of good speakers will be selected and effort will be made to make the occasion a memorable one in the West end. August Width, Sanford W. Hill and Carl Hagberg are in the committee named by the Commercial club to confer with the hillsiders.

WILL LOOK OVER ROUTE OF MAINS

Hillside Club Members to Visit Route of Proposed Extension.

The Sixth and Seventh ward aldermen and members of the West End Hillside Improvement club will make a trip of inspection over the proposed route of the extension of the water mains to the hillside district tomorrow afternoon.

Two routes have been picked out and the trip will be made with the view of indorsing one of them. One route selected is to extend the mains from their present terminal at Fourteenth avenue west and Fifth street to Twentieth avenue west and Seventh street and then along the boulevard to Twenty-second avenue. Another route that it is proposed is to take the mains along Seventh street to Piedmont avenue and up Piedmont avenue to Twenty-third avenue west and Tenth street.

The aldermen who will make the trip with the hillsiders are Hoar and Bergstrom of the Sixth ward and Bernard and Gibson of the Seventh. They will meet with the members of the club tomorrow afternoon at the home of Peter Olson, 2333 West Tenth street.

DEBATE ON QUESTION OF FREE SPEECH.

"Have the American People the Liberty of Free Speech?"

A debate on this question will be held under the auspices of the Scandinavian Socialist club of the West end tomorrow evening at the Great Western hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street.

Admission will be free. The meeting will be at 7:30 o'clock.

Fire Destroys Store.

Fire practically destroyed the one-story frame confectionery store and dwelling of Mrs. Ellen Van at 2332 West Superior street last evening. The loss is about $800, partly covered by insurance. The cause is unknown. The fire started at the rear of the store and spread rapidly. By the time that the firemen arrived the flames had broken through the roof.

Entertains Club.

Mrs. S. R. O'Donnell entertained the Amateur Five Hundred club at her home, 1721 West Second street, Thursday afternoon. Three tables were played. The head prize was won by Mrs. E. Olson and Mrs. C. Works captured the consolation event. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. McNamare and Mrs. Stran.

Child Dies.

Lester, the month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hendrickson of 2019 Piedmont avenue, died this morning. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the family residence to the Scandinavian Union cemetery at Hermantown. Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the First Swedish Baptist church, will officiate.

West End Briefs.

William G. Fortnier of Clear Lake, Wis., is visiting friends and relatives in the western end of the city for a few days.

The funeral of Eric Harold Grufman, aged 20, who died Wednesday of Bright's disease at the home of his sister, Mrs. Charles Fremling of 126 Gilbert street, was held this afternoon from the Olson & Crawford undertaking rooms, 2118 West First street, to Park Hill cemetery.

Alfred Goodall of Vancouver, B. C., a former resident of the West end, is renewing acquaintances in the western end of the city.

The funeral of Mrs. Louise Strom, aged 48 years, 610 North Twenty-fourth avenue west, who died Thursday morning, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence, with burial in the Lutheran cemetery.

"The Deestrict Skule," a rural comedy, was presented at the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, last evening under the auspices of the Young People's society. A good program was given in connection with the affair.

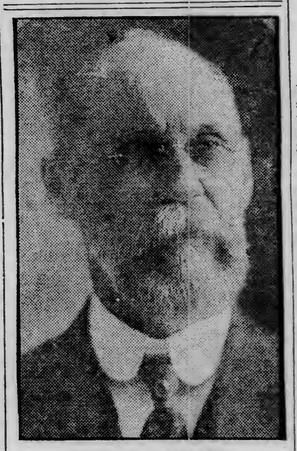
Patrick Nelson, a brother of Sam Nelson, aged 58, who died in a shack on 508 Garfield avenue, Thursday, arrived this afternoon from Hayward Wis., and will complete the funeral arrangements some time today. Sam Nelson is survived by two sons besides his brother. They are John of the Philippines and Harry of California.

The Lion drug store has moved to the new Anderson-Thoorsell block, 2030 West Superior street.

GAILLARD IS "ON THE JOB" AT THE PANAMA CANAL

Former Duluthian Making Good in Stupendous Engineering Feat.

J. H. Darling Tells of Work Being Done on the Isthmus.



JOHN H. DARLING.

John H. Darling of the corps of engineers in charge of the improvements of rivers and harbors in the Duluth-Superior district, has returned from the Isthmus of Panama, which he visited on the annual excursion of the American Society of Civil Engineers. The excursion occupied from March 9 to 16 and the engineers had an opportunity of inspecting all phases of the work on the Panama canal.

Mr. Darling spoke interestingly on the subject today. He said:

"The Panama canal is a work so large and spectacular that all eyes are turned toward it and many tourists are visiting the isthmus to see it. More would go if they knew how delightful the climate is there at this season, and how easy it is to get there, provided you have the money. The engineering profession is especially attracted to this spot, with a desire to see at close range how the work is being done. The American Society of Civil Engineers has just made a visit of inspection and it was my good fortune to join the party, consisting of about 120 members. Many of them were accompanied by their wives and ladies climbed around the locks and dams like engineers.

"We were met at Colon by members of the canal commission, who took us in charge and had a special train prepared for our week's stay in the isthmus, and each day conducted the party over portions of the work, until all the principal features had been seen.

"The first day was spent at the central division, of which the celebrated Culebra cut was the chief attraction, and throughout its nine miles was a very busy spot. Col. Gaillard is the engineer in charge of this division and was our guide in looking it over. He will be remembered by many Duluthians as the officer in charge of harbor improvements on the Lake Superior district for two years, 1901 to 1903, with his office at Duluth. He takes much interest in this district and inquired particularly regarding Duluth-Superior harbor and the people of our cities.

Col. Gaillard's Work.

"In common with many others, I was anxious to know whether this big undertaking, for which the people of the United States will have to stand the cost of nearly $400,000,000, was being carried out in a business-like manner and with due regard to economy. Generally speaking, I believe that it is so conducted at present. The officers and civilian engineers and administrators in charge of the work appear to be like competent and energetic and honest men. I am sure this is true as to Col. Gaillard, from my association with him in Duluth. At Panama he is keeping up his reputation for hard and effective work, and in my opinion no better could be found in the whole country for the position he now fills.

"He gives the work close personal attention, without an assistant, being on the ground the first half of each day and giving orders directly to his superintendents and foremen. In the afternoon he is in his office at Empire, and signs about 150 papers each day. He has at work in the Culebra cut, 46 steam shovels, 155 large locomotives, rock and earth trains of twenty cars each, the most approved and rapid unloaders and spreaders and track shifters, and the work is systematized so that it moves along like one great machine. He is taking out during the present dry season an average of 71,000 cubic yards a day, hence measurement, and made a record of 80,000 March 11, while our party was on the isthmus. The material is stated to be 70 per cent rock or other hard material requiring blasting or loosening up so that it can be handled by the steam shovels. These shovels pick up very large pieces of rock and place them on the car with remarkable skill, balancing the piece on top of the shovel and rolling it off on the flat car in a way that brought out cheers from the visitors who were watching the operation. It was stated by Col. Gaillard that he had seen a 22-ton piece handled by the shovel in the same way.

"During the rainy season, from May to December, the floods of water hinder the work considerably and the average output from the Culebra cut is less, or about 51,000 yards per day. The average length of haul to the dumps is twelve miles. The total cost of rock and earth excavation including cost of plant and administration is stated to be now about 64 cents per yard in the Culebra cut, as against the estimated cost of $1. This is a creditable showing, and this reduction in cost will more than pay for removing the earth which has been sliding into the canal in large quantities during the last two years and for that which is likely to slide in hereafter.

Sliding of Earth.

"This sliding of earth is due to the peculiar combination of soft and hard material in that locality. There has been, I believe, 6,000,000 or 7,000,000 yards of it so far, and there is an uncertainty as to what may yet occur. The material is rapidly removed, however, and it is expected that the cut will be completed in 1913, together with the other portions of the canal and locks. The water will then be admitted to the canal, giving a depth of forty-five feet, and it is thought that the back pressure of the water will check the tendency to slide. The bottom width of the canal at the Culebra cut is 300 feet, the sliding is almost entirely confined to one side and will cease in time as the material takes its natural slope, and what may occur after the opening of the canal will probably not interrupt vessels and may be dredged out at leisure.

"I have spoken of the Culebra cut more at length for the reason that this is the most formidable portion of the work of building the canal. Among other interesting constructions is the large dam at Gatun which will impound the water of the Chagres river so as to make a large lake covering 164 square miles and with its water surface eighty-five feet above the sea level. This lake will form a portion of the canal, and the channel through it now excavated with steam shovels will have a length of twenty-three miles, a depth of forty-five feet where excavated and a natural depth of eighty-five feet in places. The width of this channel will be 500 feet, 800 feet and 1,000 feet, according to the locality and amount of work required to deepen it. With these large dimensions vessels will be enabled to run at full speed through the 23-mile stretch of water in Lake Gatun or nearly half of the total distance of fifty miles through the canal.

Gatun Dam Construction.

"The Gatun dam now under construction has an interior portion of a mixture of sand and clay sluiced into place by the hydraulic process so as to form an impervious core placed between two large masses of rock and dry earth. It is noted for its very generous dimensions, being very wide and flat in proportion to its height, to allay criticism and make it evident to even a layman that there will be no danger of its failure. An elaborate concrete spillway founded on rock near the middle of the dam and provided with gates will take care of excessive floods and regulate the height of the lake.

"Vessels will be raised fro mthe level

"Vessels will be raised from the level level of the canal in Gatun lake, eighty-five feet, by a flight of three locks at Gatun. These are in duplicate, to provide against accident and for other reasons, making six at Gatun, and these is to be an equal number at the other end of the canal for descending to the level of the Pacific ocean. These locks are of concrete, resting on rock, and are chiefly noted for their size, each lock chamber having a usable length of 1,000 feet and a usable width of 110 feet, and providing for a draft of something more than forty feet. They will be the largest in the world. It will require 4,500,000 yards of concrete to build them.

"Col. Sibert is in charge of the locks and other work at the Atlantic end, and Mr. Williamson, a civil engineer, is in charge of the Pacific division, and both of these impressed me with being good men for the positions. There is some rivalry between these two, who are both on lock construction, trying to surpass each other in output and economy, one making a record only to see it broken by the other. I was glad to see this, for such competition has a beneficial effect. Something like 5,000 to 7,000 yards of concrete are placed each day, and the cost per yard is moderate at Gatun, and at the Pacific end is very low, on account of special facilities in getting crushed rock and improved plant for handling concrete.

Sanitation of Canal Zone.

"The sanitation of the canal zone has been effected, at great cost. It is true, but this was a very important matter, and necessary in order to get laborers and mechanics to go there and work. Mosquitoes and the fever which they propagate have been exterminated, the locality is healthy, and the death rate compares favorably with that of our Northern cities. They are paying common laborers (colored) as low as 10 cents per hour, and they work nine hours. White employes are paid very liberal wages. There is an army of about 35,000 employes now on the isthmus, and the monthly pay roll is about $1,500,000. Col. Goethals, chief engineer and chairman of the commission, appears to me to be a good administrator. He has ample authority and efficient assistants in his office, has the work well in hand, and created a very favorable impression on the visiting engineers. He expects to reduce the estimated cost by $20,000,000, that is from $375,000,000 to $355,000,000. The canal is expected to be completed in the fall of 1913, so as to pass some vessels for the purpose of trying the machinery, and the formal opening is set for Jan. 1, 1915.

"Each member of the party was presented with a cane, made from the original ties of the Panama railroad which had been in place about fifty-eight years. They are of lignum vitae wood, and make an interesting relic. The road was built in the early '50s of last century, when the isthmus was very unhealthy, and each tie of the road is said to have cost a human life."

IOWA INEBRIATE KILLS TWO MEN

Doctor Being Taken to Hospital Shoots Guard and Saloon Keeper.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 25.—Dr. H. B. Kelly of Council Bluffs early today shot and killed Deputy Clarence Wollman, also of Council Bluffs, and a short time later shot and killed Edward Sterzing, a Des Moines bartender.

The Council Bluffs physician was being taken by the deputy sheriff to the inebriate hospital at Knoxville. The two men occupied the same room at the Kirkwood hotel during the night. Early this morning Kelly awakened, extracted a revolver from the pocket of the deputy sheriff and fired three shots into the body of the latter as he lay asleep.

Kelly then unlocked the door to the room and hastened down the street. Entering a saloon at Third and Court streets and demanding a drink, Sterzing, the bartender, refused the liquor.

"You saloon keepers have made an inebriate of me, and now you refuse me a drink," Kelly said, as he drew the revolver, which he had reloaded, and fired five shots into Sterzing's body. Sterzing died an hour later at Mercy hospital.

Kelly was arrested within a short time and is in the city jail. He is 30 years old and well known at Council Bluffs. He is prominently connected.

AITKIN NEWS NOTES.

Aitkin, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Segren of Cannon Falls, Minn., has arrived with his family, taking the position of druggist in the Red Cross store.

Mrs. George Davis has returned from the Brainerd hospital, where she was recently operated on for appendicitis.

Miss Catherine Shook is at home for the spring vacation from Lake City, where she has been teaching.

Paul Falconer came home from Laporte Monday, where he has been employed during the winter.

The young people of St. James' Catholic church presented the play "Home," in the opera house Friday night, March 17, to a large audience. All parts were well taken and the play proved a financial success.

Walter Haines of Orin, Wyo., is the guest of his brother, C. E. Haines, whom he has not seen in thirty-five years.

Announcements have been received of the marriage of Thomas H. Knott and Miss Lura Gildersleeve, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gildersleeve at their home in Labanon, S. D. The bride is well known here where the family made their home during the years Mr. Gildersleeve held the office of county superintendent of schools.

Mrs. Clara Hopkins has taken a claim in Roseau county and is now living upon it.

Miss Geisdorf, who has been visiting her brothers at Hebron, returned to St. Paul Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Malley of Minneapolis spent Sunday here with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Murphy have returned to St. Paul after a ten days' visit here with relatives.

F. J. Zilch of Canton, Minn., was here last week on business. Mr. Zilch owns property in Spencer township.

Leonard Madden left Monday for Duluth to join a party of engineers for the Canadian Northern road.

Stott Briquets—pure anthracite coal, $6.25 a ton. All fuel dealers.

JURORS DISAGREE.

Fail to Reach Verdict in Ekala Case at Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The jury in the case of Andrew Ekala, charged with assaulting Carl Unsink with an iron bar at the Fayal mine, after being out since 8 p. m. yesterday, reported a disagreement at 9 a. m. today. A new trial will be held Wednesday. The case of Quinlan Sullivan, for wife beating, was dismissed.

DIES ALONE ON PRAIRIE.

Bisbee, N. D., March 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Death came to Peter Erickson, aged 43, very suddenly while he was making his way across the prairie eight and a half miles from Perth, alone. His body was found in the snow by passersby about forty-eight hours after death. Erickson evidently had received a stroke of heart failure from over-exertion and had laid down to rest when death came to him.

WHEAT IS LIQUIDATED

Longs Sell on Reports of Unsettled Weather in Northwest and Southwest.

Foreign Situation Excessively Bearish—Seeding Starts in the Northwest.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 25.—Wheat slumped again today. May declined ¾c and July went down a similar length. Cash wheat was on a parity with May. Oats, rye and barley were unchanged.

Flaxseed advanced 3c. Cash was 1c over May, which closed at $2.48 asked. Winnipeg had a flurry, May dropping 13c to $2.30. La Plata seed at Antwerp was unchanged.

The government forecast of unsettled weather in both the Northwest and the Southwest caused further liquidation in wheat. The bulls endeavored to convey the impression that they were passing into the July delivery, but the netlo nof that option indicated that the selling was simply liquidation and that there was very little support either to May or July. There were scattered showers in North and South Dakota that did not amount to much. A slight rain fell between Mankato and Minneapolis this morning and the sky is cloudy in Western and Southern Minnesota.

Seeding is starting in scattered areas of the Northwest. It is confined to wheat and some small grains. While there is no rush about putting wheat into the ground there are always some farmers who like to be first to sow their grain. Their eagerness in this regard does not always result advantageously to them. The soil in some parts of the Northwest is in good condition for seeding and in others it is dry. Generally, however, conditions are favorable. Rains are seriously needed and an effort to bull wheat because of a lack of moisture in the Northwest is not founded upon reason. If rains come by the middle of April they will be regarded as seasonable. If no moisture materializes by that period or afterward there will be ample basis for regarding the lack of spring moisture with apprehension.

The cash demand for wheat continues dull, so far as the general market is concerned. In this market receipts of first-class spring wheat are light and buyers snap up car shipments which can be easily unloaded where the mills desire. The Eastern demand is conspicuous by its absence. Supplies of wheat at terminal points are large but not excessively so. The bearish feature of the situation lies in the ample supplies of wheat near country mills which are compelled to draw upon terminal stores. There is almost enough wheat in sight to supply mills until the end of the crop year. Some people think there is sufficient wheat in store to meet requirements. The estimate of a carry-over of 100,000,000 bu next July is beginning to appear small. Of course conditions may change so as to reduce supplies more sharply than in the early months of this year, but there is nothing on the horizon to lead one to hold this belief.

The Indian and Australian exports are pressing heavily on foreign markets. Russian shipments are heavier than expected, and Argentina is offering wheat at reduced prices and in large quantities. Speculative support abroad is absent. American shipments are heavier than usual, and other countries are offering wheat in the Liverpool market at lower values.

Crop reports continue good. There are reports of Hessian fly in Illinois, but the news is unimportant.

MARKET GOSSIP

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Weakness in wheat in America yesterday, and heaviness in Buenos Ayres at the close caused some additional realizing and opening values were ⅜d lower and during the morning there was a further decline of ¼d@½d with the undertone weak. Indications are for heavy American shipments this week, with exporting countries other than America offering freely at a concession. Crop advices from India and Argentine are favorable and expectations are for continued liberal exports from Australia with La Plata steamers pressed for sale. There was the smallest kind of a speculative support. At the close, the market was dull but weak and ½d to ⅝d lower than yesterday. Corn—After opening ¼d lower further declined ¼d with the heaviness in wheat and cheaper American and Danubian offers. Wheat cargoes arrived off coast nil and awaiting orders nil. Wheat cargoes in distant positions weak offered at 1½d to 3d decline. Corn slow no bidding. Roummania — Weather is seasonable and outlook for the crops is generally favorable.

Grand Forks, N. D., wired: "Land man in the office says that in his opinion the Red River valley is in fine shape for seeding. Farmers claim land is in good condition and will work very easily. They say they would sooner have the rain after seeding than to have it now. The country will be in better shape to stand a drouth this year than last as so much of the land was summer fallowed."

Chicago Record-Herald: "Wheat traders were inclined to credit the report that the big holders of the May were changing over from that month to July wheat. It has been the general opinion for some time that there has been heavy liquidation in May, but recent indications point to the changing over of at least part of the lines into the July. It was said that this had been largely responsible for the narrowing premium of the May over the July. Yesterday the difference between May and July narrowed to ½c, while the September went to a slight premium over the July. For several days the July and September have been about the same price all the time. The reason the September was favored by buyers was because of the dry weather conditions in the Northwest, while the weak cash situation continues to be an oppressive factor."

Closing wheat cables: Buenos Ayres, ½@¾c off; Antwerp, 1½c lower; Berlin, ¾c lower; Budapest, holiday; Liverpool, ½@¾d off; corn, ⅛@¼d off.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

General Dry Weather Swings Wheat to the Bull Side.

Chicago, March 25.—With dry weather prevailing in both the spring wheat section and in the winter crop territory as well, prices for the cereal today swung to the bull side of the market. An increase of cash business tended likewise to create a feeling of strength. Notice was also taken of dispatches telling of freezing temperatures in Russia, causing fear of damage. The opening here was ⅛c higher to ⅛c off. May started at 88⅛@88⅜c and showed the same change from last night as the option list taken altogether. A rise of 88¾@88⅞c followed.

Predictions of generally unsettled weather led to a reaction, but profit-taking by shorts rallied the market. The close was steady with May at 88⅝c exactly the same as last night.

Local selling eased corn. May opened a shade to ⅛c down at 47⅜@47½c to 47⅜c, rallied to 47⅞c and then fell to 47½c.

Resting orders to buy brought about a recovery. The close was steady at 47⅝@47¾ for May, a net loss of ⅛c.

In oats the chief feature was the action of a leading warehouse concern letting go of May and buying July. The first named month started a sixteenth lower at 30⅜c, touched 30⅜@30½c, and declined to 30¼c.

Packers took a hand in purchasing some sorts of hog products and made the tone of the provisions market firm. Initial sales were 5@7½c higher to 2½c down with May options at $15.95 for pork, $8.70 for lard and $8.90 for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Scattered Showers and Rain Predictions Send Wheat Down.

Minneapolis, March 25.—Light, scattered showers in the Northwest and predictions of rains for Minnesota and South Dakota over Sunday caused wheat prices to decline still further. May closed ⅝c lower than yesterday; July ¾c lower and September ⅞@1c lower. Local elevator stocks increased 20,000 bu for the week. Minneapolis today received 174 cars of wheat against 367 a year ago; Duluth 12 against a holiday and Winnipeg 182 against 117. May wheat opened 95⅝c, high 95⅝c, low 94¾c, closed 95c; July opened 97@96¾, high 97, low 96@96⅝, closed 96⅛@96⅜c; September opened 92½c; high 92⅝@92¾c, low 92c, closed 92¼@92⅜c.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Market Opens With Very Scant Amount of Orders.

Features Lacking and Close Dull With Nominal Declines.

New York, March 25.—The stock market was again extremely dull today, with barely enough orders at the opening to keep up an appearance of business for a few minutes. Most of the standard stocks were either unchanged from last night or showed only slight changes. General Electric declined a point.

Small progress was made downward, but the recessions were trivial, aside from Missouri Pacific, which declined from 52⅛ to 51¼.

The market closed dull with a number of nominal declines. Trading fell to absolutely insignificant proportions in the latter part of the session and the market was almost featureless except for some slight activity in Missouri Pacific and Western Union, the latter showing a degree of strength.

New York Money.

New York, March 25.—Close: Money on call, nominal; time loans, dull; 60 days, 2½ per cent; 90 days, 2¾@3 per cent; six months, 3¼ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 4@4¼ per cent; sterling exchange, easy with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.84.25 for 60 day bills and at $4.86.10 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.83¾. Bar silver, 52½c. Mexican dollars, 45c. Government bonds, steady; railroad bonds, irregular.

Cotton Market.

New York, March 23.—Cotton opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of four points, under scattered liquidation and local selling which was inspired by unfavorable domestic trade accounts and good weather in the South. Old crop positions sooh sold off to a net loss of 5@7 points, but found some support below 14.50c for May, while the new crop in spite of further rains in Texas, held within 2 or 3 points of last night's figures and ruled relatively quiet.

Cables were a shade better than due if anything, but were offset by the unfavorable view of domestic trade and rumors that one of the large Massachusetts mills will close down next week, throwing more than 7,000 hands out of employment.

Futures closed steady. Closing bids: March, 14.30; April, 14.32; May, 14.43; June, 14.28; July, 14.26; August, 13.76; September, 12.95; October, 12.53; November, 12.48; December, 12.54; January, 12.43. Spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 14.55; middling gulf, 14.80. Sales none.

ORDER OF HEARING ON PETITION FOR PROBATE OF FOREIGN WILL—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis.
In Probate Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of R. W. S. Blackwell, Decedent.
Certain instruments purporting to be authenticated copies of the last will and testament of R. W. S Blackwell and of the probate thereof in the County Court in and for the County of LaMoure, State of North Dakota, having been presented to this court, and the petition of Waldo R. Blackwell, being filed herein, representing, among other things, that said decedent, then being a resident of the County of LaMoure, State of North Dakota, died testate in the County of LaMoure, State of North Dakota, on the 4th day of October, 1910, leaving estate in the County of St. Louis, State of Minnesota, and that said instrument has been allowed and admitted to probate as his will in the Court above named, and praying that said will be allowed and admitted to probate in this state, and that letters testamentary be issued thereon to Waldo R. Blackwell.
IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in Duluth in said County, on Monday, on the 24th day of April, 1911, at ten o'clock a. m., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.
ORDERED FURTHER, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Herald, according to law, and that a copy of this order be served on the County Treasurer of St. Louis County not later than ten days prior to said day of hearing.
Dated at Duluth, Minn., March 17th, 1911.
By the Court,
S. W. GILPIN,
Judge of Probate.

ANOTHER WARM TIME IN THE HOUSE OVER CHARGES BY KLEMER

NEW PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF EQUADOR

EMILIO ESTRADA,
New Executive Elected for Four Years, Succeeding Gen. Alfaro.

"Bob" Dunn Enraged and Calls Interrupter a "Miserable Whelp."

Speaker Dunn to Resign If Resolution of Censure Is Defeated.

Senate Passes Wallace's Bill Exempting Public Bonds From Taxation.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hot words passed in the house this morning when the Klemer case was taken up for the fourth day, this time with the probability that it would be settled before it was dropped. Shortly before noon Representative R. C. Dunn called up his resolution of censure and moved its adoption after it had been amended, on motion of Representative Pfaender, to strike out the demand for a retraction and to state the fact that Klemer had prepared a statement apologizing and admitting that his language was unparliamentary and that he had no grounds on which to base it.

The debate continued into the after-

OLD WINTER CALLS AGAIN

Warm Weather Succeeded By Snow and Fall in Temperature.

Storm Is General Throughout the North and Central West.

Old Man Winter awoke with a start and, while a gentle spring rain was falling yesterday, he swooped down on Duluth with flurries of snow and a chilling blast that sent the mercury tumbling down the tube. From 43 deg. yesterday morning at 7 o'clock, the temperature fell off to 13 deg. at the same hour this morning. During the night the northwest wind attained a velocity of forty-two miles an hour several times and when the temperature was at a low point this morning, the wind was doing thirty-six miles an hour.

During the twenty-four hours ending at 7 o'clock this morning, the precipitation was .52 inch and the snowfall was about one inch on the level. The high wind drifted the snow to a depth of several inches in places, while at other places the sidewalks in the downtown districts were bare except for the thin coating of ice formed by the rainfall and the drop in temperature yesterday.

The wintry weather is expected to continue through today, with the temperature moderating tonight and spring-like conditions occurring again tomorrow afternoon or evening. The wind will shift around into the northeast by tonight, which will bring more moderate temperatures.

The storm is general over the Northwest and it extends southward to and including Kansas. The temperature in Kansas this morning was about 22 deg. In other parts of the Northwest the cold was severe, 6 deg. below zero being recorded at Minnedosa. In the extreme Northwest the temperature is moderating and the warmer wave is

CHIEF JUSTICE TO ACT AS UMPIRE

Judge Jones of Ohio to Settle Questions in the Cox Case.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 27.—Judge Thomas A. Jones, chief justice of the circuit court of Ohio, today became the umpire in the war of technicalities which has resulted from the attempt of the prosecuting authorities to force George B. Cox to trial on charges of perjury. He came here from Jackson, Ohio, accompanied by Judges Festus Walters and E. D. Sayers of the Fourth district, but these latter two, Judge Jones said, were to act merely as his advisers.

Judge Jones, on taking the bench, at once called for hearing of the affidavits swearing Judge Peters Swing and Samuel W. Smith off their circuit bench. The documents were filed by the prosecuting attorney of this county following the granting by the two judges of an injunction designed to prevent Judge Frank Gorman of the court of common pleas from proceeding with the Cox case.

It became evident early that the Cox attorneys were prepared to put up a stiff fight against the removal of Judges Swing and Smith.

COWAN CONFIDENT OF EXONERATION

Trial of Impeached North Dakota Judge Begins at Bismarck.

Bismarck, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—With impeachment managers holding a session today copuled with the arrival of Judge John F. Cowan and the attorneys for the prosecution, George Bangs and Mr. Sinkler, an air of expectancy surrounding the trial of the impeached jurist of the Second judicial district has become aroused in Bismarck. Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock the state senate will be called to order by Secretary Foley as a trial body to hear evidence for and against Cowan and determine upon his innocence or guilt. Judge Cowan arrived at noon, confident that the trial would end in his acjuittal an exoneration.

ESCANABA MAN IS SUED BY EX-WIFE

Richard B. Stack Made Defendant in Suit for $50,000.

St. Louis, Mo., March 27.—Mrs. Orion Allen Stack-Burbank, formerly of Nashville, Tenn., wife of Ray E. Burbank, filed two suits in the circuit court here today, one for a writ of habeaus corpus, one for John King Stack III, her 7-year-old son by her first husband, and all members of his family.

The suits were filed after the criminal case against Stack on a charge of kidnaping the boy was continued until tomorrow.

In the damage suit, Mrs. Burbank charges that she spent $10,000 in search for the boy and that she has suffered greatly from being deprived from his company. The court suggested that certain technical amendments be made in the habeas corpus writ and that he would make an order under it.

Stack is a wealthy lumberman of Escanaba, Mich. He was married to Miss Orion Allen in 1902. She obtained a divorce and the custody of her son at Spokane, Wash., in 1908. It was while she was on her second honeymoon that Stack is accused of taking the boy from the home of his former wife's relatives here.

OFFICERS TO TRY TO PREVENT "SNIPING"

Railroad to Take Measures to Protect Train Crews.

Lexington, Ky., March 27.—Precautions to guard its employes made by the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas railroad, during the strike which ended Saturday night, are not to be relaxed at once. Guards will be taken off the locomotives, but the secret service of the road will be kept on the alert to prevent "sniping" at trains by the sharpshooters of the mountainous sections of Tennessee and Kentucky.

Some of the employes and officials of the mountain division are fearful lest news of the end of the strike fail to permeate the backwoods districts sufficiently to inform all strike sympathizers there of the outcome of the strike. There is also some speculation as to whether the men who have been shooting at the trains can successfully resist the temptation to try their skill further at moving targets as the cars wind through the mountain passes.

PRESIDENT IS NOT LIKELY TO PARDON MORSE AND WALSH

BARON'S SLANDER CASE SUDDENLY COLLAPSES

BARON DE FOREST,
Who Sued His Mother-in-law, Lady Gerard, for Alienating His Wife's Affections.

Appeals for the Two Convicted Bankers Will Not Be Granted.

Recommendation of Attorney General Is Adverse to the Criminals.

Scarcely Any Doubt But That Executive Will Follow His Findings.

Washington, March 27. — From sources close to the president, it was learned that the pardon appeals of the two convicted bankers, Charles W. Morse of New York, and John R. Walsh of Chicago, undoubtedly will be denied.

It is stated that the attorney general's recommendation in both cases is adverse and that the president will follow its findings.

Reports that Charles W. Morse, now in the Atlanta penitentiary is in a critical condition are without foundation, according to an unofficial statement today by the department of justice. It was declared that when Morse's petition for pardon was prepared to be submitted to President Taft less than two months ago the prisoner's health was reported to be entirely normal.

President Taft has had Morse's application for clemency under consideration about three weeks.

He also has considered an application for the pardon of John R. Walsh.

DEFENDANTS WIN VICTORY

Baron de Forest Loses Suit Against His Mother-in-Law.

London, March 27.—The suit brought by the wealthy young Baron Arnold de Forest against his mother-in-law, Lady Mary Gerard, and the latter's brother, Henry Milner, for slander was tried today and collapsed suddenly when Lord Derby, to whom the slanders were alleged to have been confided, took the stand and swore that he had no recollection of the same. Sir Edward Clarke, counsel for the plaintiff, thereupon announced that he was unable to proceed in view of the lack of evidence and judgment for the defendants was returned.

The case was heard by Justice Darling in the king's bench division. The courtroom was crowded almost to suffocation by a fashionable throng. As many more persons vainly besieged the closed doors clamoring for admission. Seldom has a more notable array of counsel been engaged in a civil action, and a bitter contest was expected. The

UNCLE SAM ASKS PRICES ON COFFINS

Quartermasters' Departments Post Notices Calling for Estimates.

Washington, March 27.—The quartermasters' departments of the posts in this vicinity have posted advertisements asking for estimates on the cost of caskets, preparation for burial and embalming of all the officers and men "who may die within the next three months."

Officers will have superior caskets, but the soldiers will be embalmed and prepared for burial with as much care as if they had worn shoulder straps.

It is not known whether the department has a tip that there will be a raise in cost of handling the dead or whether it expects the death rate to increase suddenly.

Holocaust on Saturday Night Causes Death of 141 Persons.

Fire Starts in Ten-Story Building Without Outside Fire Escape.

Young Girls Jump From High Windows and Land Mangled Corpses.

New York, March 27.—Eighty-six bodies of the 141 victims of the fire in the ten-story loft building on Washington place Saturday night have been identified. Sixteen of the bodies were men There are twelve injured in the hospitals.

District Attorney Whitman started an official investigation today to fix the responsibility for the horror.

No arrests have been made by the district attorney of any person in connection with the fire, and none will be made until the facts disclosed in the investigation give sufficient evidence for taking this action. Fire Marshal Beers began his official investigation today. It is now definitely known that the fire started on the eighth floor of the building near a window at the northeast corner of the building. The fire began under a cutting table in a scrap heap, and is now thought to have been started by a cigarette.

Crowds assembled today at the morgue to view the bodies, fifty-two in all. At least half of the corpses were unrecognizable and only a small trinket or a shred of clothing will help to show who the unfortunate was. Some of these bodies probably will never be claimed. The victims, living alone in furnished rooms, or little flats, may have had no friends and few acquaintances.

Managers of the Triangle Waist company, which occupied the burned floors, deny today that the iron doors

JUBILEE IS CELEBRATED

Italian National Art Celebration Opened By King Victor Emmanuel.

Rome, March 27.—The celebration of the jubilee of Italian unity began today with the formal opening by King Victor Emmanuel of the national art exhibition. On Wednesday an industrial exhibition will be opened at Turin, where, in 1861, Victor Emmanuel II, grandfather of the present monarch, assumed the title of king of Italy (as Victor Emmanuel I).

At midnight a gun was fired from the Janiculum hill and the bell on the capitol was rung. From that hour the city was astir. Bands playing patriotic airs traversed the principal streets, which were bright with lights and gay with flags and bunting; crowds filled the squares shouting "Viva Roma!"

The celebration is offensive to the holy see, and today some of the less orderly attempted to approach the Vatican. They were met by a strong detachment of police and turned back.

MADERO IS IN GOOD SPIRITS

Insurrecto Leader Enthusiastic Over Condition of His Men.

Will Not Cease Fighting Until President Diaz Is Displaced.

El Paso, Tex., March 27.—Couriers who left Madero's camp several days ago when the insurrecto leader was about sixty miles north of the city of Chihuahua, reported to the junta here today that Madero was enthusiastic over the condition of the insurrectos.

At that time Madero had not heard of the resignation of the cabinet. The couriers reported, however, that Madero had repeated his declaration that the insurrectos would not cease until Diaz had been replaced and reforms had been accomplished rather than promised.

From the interior of Northern Mexico came reports that suffering among the noncombatants is growing worse. The order of the insurrectos that no food shall be taken into the small towns from the surrounding country is working a hardship on the people who are held practically under siege.

Limantour to Remain.

Mexico City, March 27.—It is conceded that Jose Yves Limantour will remain as minister of the cabinet of President Diaz. Four other members of the new body have been chosen besides Senor De La Barra, but the official announcement will not be made until later. Senor De La Barra's appointment was not officially announced here.

De La Barra Accepts.

Washington, March 25.—Francesco De La Barra, Mexican ambassador to the United States, has been named minister of foreign relations of the Mexican cabinet by Dr. Diaz. Senor De La Barra has telegraphed his acceptance of the portfolio to Mexico City.

Immediately after telegraphing his acceptance to Mexico City Senor De La Barra went to the White House and informed President Taft. The president congratulated the ambassador warmly on his appointment.

TO CLIP OFF SOME OF THE RED TAPE

Secretary Would Correct Some of Abuses in Treasury Department.

Washington, March 27.—While the customs service is being rehabilitated, there is a disposition at the treasury department to clip off red tape wherever possible. The abuse has grown up through many years and Secretary MacVeagh wants to elliminate it and practical p...tics wherever he can. A collector of a small port in New Jersey, who has a record of collecting 50 cents a year and drawing $400 in salary and expenses, was recently called to account for not sending certain documents in connection with the payment of his salary. He made this protest, which has been preserved among the archives of the treasury:

"I was criticised because I had failed to make an affidavit that I had paid myself my salary. In spite of the fact that I had sworn in my monthly accounts that I had paid myself my salary, I had not sworn that I had received the salary which I had sworn I had paid myself. This last affidavit cost me 25 cents.

"I then had to put in a voucher for the 25 cents and make an affidavit that I had paid myself the 25 cents. This, according to a new ruling, was accompanied by an affidavit that I had received the 25 cents I had sworn I had paid myself."

JOKER STARTS A GENERAL SCRATCH

Some Student Scatters "Cow Itch" in Various Public Places.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., March 27. — A practical joker has kept half the residents of Conyngham scratching their irritated skins much of the time for a week, and the school board is endeavoring to find and punish him. They suspect the joker is a schoolboy.

The afflicted did not know what was wrong at first. Some thought it was an epidemic of hives. The skin grew red, there was a slight swelling and the irritation was continuous, while the number of those affected grew.

Then it was learned that it was all due to "cow itch," distributed in the school, in two lodgerooms, and postoffice and at a horse sale, evidently by some practical joker. The school directors heard the joker procured the "cow itch" by mail. He may be publicly flogged if caught.

HIGHWAY FROM NEW YORK TO MONTREAL

New York Senate Makes Appropriation for Doing State's Share.

Albany, N. Y., March 27.—With the proposed international highway from New York to Montreal apparently in a fair way to be carried out, friends of the project are now advocating an extension of the road from New York to Jacksonville, Fla. The bill appropriating $1,600,000 to complete New York state's share of the highway from New York to Rouse's Point, has passed the senate and probably will come up for passage in the assembly this week. Governor Dix already has announced his approval of the measure.

President Taft, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Mayor Gaynor of New York city, Mayor Guerin of Montreal, and others have endorsed the project in letters to Howard D. Hadley of Plattsburgh, chairman of a committee of citizens organized to enlist interest in the undertaking. President Taft wrote:

"I have your letter in which you speak of an enterprise to build a broad highway of modern construction from New York city to Montreal. Of course, I should like to see such an enterprise carried out. It would contribute to the social and business union of the two countries and cannot but be of benefit in many other ways."

From Phoenix, Ariz., Col. Roosevelt sent a letter saying:

"Of course it would be a great achievement if we could have such an international highway from Jacksonville to Montreal. Anything which will stimulate communication between this country and the great country of our neighbors of the North has my cordial approval."

Mayor Guerin, commenting on the importance of the proposition, said:

"I am confident that the building of the road would be a great boon to Montreal and also to New York. It is most important that the friendly intercourse between the two countries should be as free as possible."

POTATO SPECIAL LEAVES FOR TEN DAYS' TRIP; ENTHUSIASTIC INSTITUTE AT TWO HARBORS

THE POTATO SPECIAL.

With snow on the ground and a chill wind blowing out of the Northwest, the potato secial of the Duluth Commercial club and the state farmers' institute left this morning shortly after 7 o'clock for a ten days' trip through Northeastern Minnesota. By the time it reached Two Harbors, however, the sun was shining and fair weather seems to be in prospect.

The train consists of a baggage car, two day coaches to be used for audience cars, two special cars for the accommodation of the speakers and guests and a caboose for the trainmen.

The exhibit in the baggage car is the finest that could be collected and is a testimonial to the attention and personal interest given it by A. A. Hostetter, superintendent of agriculture of the Commercial club. The potato exhibit consists of fine specimens of all the varieties of potatoes recommended for cultivation in this latitude and Mr. Hostetter expected to pick up additional samples along the way.

The speakers on the special are C. E. Brown of Elk River, a practical farme rand one of the speakers for the state farmers' institute; N. E. Chapman, head of the poultry division of the extension department of the state agricultural college; O. M. Olson, an instructor in the state agricultural college; H. A. Hopkins, manager of the Producers' Co-operative Market association, and Mr. Hostetter.

This morning, the train visited Two Harbors. This afternoon Brimson and Fairbanks are to be visited. Tonight, there will be an evening meeting at Tower. Embarrass, Aurora and Biwabik will be visited tomorrow.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the shortage of seed potatoes, which has given agricultural experts throughout the West trouble this spring, extends to Northeastern Minnesota developed here this morning when the farmers of this district reported to the experts on the Duluth Commercial club's potato special that seed potatoes are none too plentiful in Lake county. One of the problems to be solved by the state farmers' institute this year is the shortage of seed potatoes and steps will probably be taken to equalize the supply in the different districts in this part of the state.

The porato special arrived from Duluth shortly after 8 o'clock this morning and was met by about seventy-five farmers who developed a high grade of enthusiasm as they viewed the exhibit of potatoes, other vegetables, agricultural implements and poultry-raising accessories. In fact, their enthusiasm was so great that the men in charge of the car had to use all their arguments to induce the interested farmers to break away from the exhibit car long enough to hear the addresses in the audience cars.

Prof. Chapman, Prof. Olson and Mr. Brown were the speakers and it is doubtful if they ever had a more interested or more critical audience. The discussion that followed each talk was an animated one and the enthusiasm of the audience reached such an acute stage at times that the speakers were interrupted to more clearly explain some point or to answer arguments advanced by the farmers. It was a satisfying institute for the speakers and the farmers.

The potato planter shown in the exhibit car attracted special interest here. It was a new one on the farmers and they kept the experts busy explaining its operation.

L. D. Rose, Clarence Hillman and Mr. Croke added potato samples to the exhibit here.

Weather—Fair tonight and probably Tuesday.

THERE'S QUITE A DIFFERENCE BETWEEN OAK HALL CLOTHES AND THE ORDINARY KIND

Most men have a hazy idea—a rather dim mental picture—about the kind of suit they are going to buy for the new season.

A woman pores over style news; she must know style details to keep in fashion—a man is too busy; he has too much to do, so he puts his trust in some store's clothes.

Why not rely upon a store that is and has been recognized as the fashion leader of Duluth.

OAK HALL CLOTHES are considered by men who know to be an investment. You MUST consider this fact.

OAK HALL CLOTHES are superior in fabric and exclusive in style, the smart natural shoulders and a score of other little "Oak Hall" tailor touches tell the story.

OAK HALL PRICES are no more than you pay for ordinary garments.

The "OAK HALL" price range extends from $15 to $35.

There's a style and a price to suit every man. Men who know demand "OAK HALL" Clothes.

now in the Leavenworth penitentiary.

Morse is serving a 15-year sentence while Walsh is serving a sentence of five years.

The papers in the two cases have been before the president for several weeks. They first were considered by Attorney General Wickersham who went exhaustively into the evidence presented at the trials of the two bankers and who also made a thorough inquiry into the condition of the health of the two former bankers.

Various reports as to the recommendations of the attorney general have been current and two weeks ago it was rumored that Morse was to be pardoned. This report was entirely without foundation for even the friends of the banker had not expected anything better than a commutation of sentence.

It is stated today that the president, acting upon the advice of the attorney general will even deny a commutation of the Morse case. Morse has been in the penitentiary at Atlanta a little more than a year.

list of witnesses, most of whom are prominent in the social world, was so long that these would have been sufficient to fill the courtroom had all of them been present. Many, however, failed to appear.

Baron de Forest, whose marriage to the widow of Menier, the chocolate manufacturer of France, was annulled, subsequently entered English society and married Miss Gerard, who is very wealthy, having inherited most of the fortune of the late Baron Hirsch. The wife, who is described as beautiful and accomplished, later vanished from her home, and, according to the plaintiff, in the company of Lieut. H. C. S. Ashton, of the Second Life Guards and a friend of the family.

The plaintiff alleged that the conduct of his wife was approved by Lady Gerard and Milner in utterances reflecting upon him. He charged that they had accused him of having beaten his wife, kicking her downstairs, and generally behaved with such outrageous brutality as made it impossible for her longer to live with him.

Milner, who married the duchess of Montrose, denies having uttered the alleged slanders, and set up the alternative claim that if the slanders were spoken, they were true in substance and spoken in a privileged occasion in answer to a confidential inquiry. Denial was also made that the plaintiff's reputation had been damaged.

Genoa, the count of Turin, the ministry, diplomats and the members of parliament and the foreign commissioners of the art exhibition met at the capital at a sitting, the solemnity and impressiveness of which was in marked contrast with the rollicking in the streets. Count di San-Martino, president of the exhibition committee, presided, and speeches tuned to the patriotic occasion were delivered by President Manfredi of the senate, President Marcora of the chamber of deputies and Mayor Nathan.

King Victor Emmanuel replied with an address that made a deep impression. The Americans present were Ambassador Leishman, Harrison S. Morris, the United States commissioner to the exhibition, and J. P. Morgan, president of the foreign committee.

headed this way. It is expected to reach Duluth tomorrow afternoon.

Beneficial in Dakota.

Fargo, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Yesterday's snowfall, while not heavy, was highly beneficial. It will pack the loose earth that has been disced and dragged and will also add considerable moisture. The cooler weather was timely in retarding the growth of the trees, which were almost ready to burst out. Last year the foliage was all killed by a late storm in April.

Blizzardy in Nebraska.

Omaha, Neb., March 27.—After more than a week of mild weather, blizzard conditions prevail in Nebraska and Western Iowa. A moderate north wind, prevailing during the early hours, at night increased in velocity and with it came considerable snow and a drop in temperature of from 16 to 20 deg.

Reports from the state indicate heavy winds and snow. The temperature in this city at 10 o'clock last night was 26 deg. above, with prospects for colder weather during the night.

Storm in Kansas.

Kansas City, Mo., March 27.—A high wind, rain, snow, sleet and dust storm prevailed over Kansas and Western Missouri yesterday. In many Kansas towns the wind tore down wooden supports and canvas awnings. Telephone and telegraph poles were blown down, seriously interrupting service and thereby delaying trains. In Northwestern Kansas a light snow is falling.

Killed at Medicine Hat.

Des Lacs, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word has been received here of the accidental death at Medicine Hat, Can., of E. C. Vance, formerly of this city. Vance was driving home with a wagon load of sawdust when he was in some manner thrown from his seat. Internal injuries brought on death twelve hours after the accident.

THREE CASES TO BE TRIED

Criminal Calendar for March Term of Court Is Nearly Cleared.

Harris, Teetzel and Doyle Will Stand Trial on Indictments.

There are but three more criminal actions to be heard in district court during the present term. The cases are those of the state against John M. Harris, accused of swindling John Runquist on a horse deal; Patrick H. Doyle, accused of entering a West end tailor shop and taking a quantity of cloth, and John Teetzel, the Detroit man, who is charged with having swindled the Kelley Hardware company on some "addy stones."

The March term criminal calendar has been light. The next term does not come until May and as the time between terms will be longer than usual, the new term will undoubtedly be heavier than the present one.

This term has been featured by the few trials that have taken place. In a majority of instances those accused have pleaded guilty and have been sentenced by the court.

There is considerable interest in the case against John M. Harris. He is the man who fought every step of the way rather than come back from Sioux City, Iowa, to stand trial on a charge of swindling preferred by John Runquist. He has pleaded not guilty to the charge and will fight the case. At present he is trying to secure his release from the county jail on bonds.

John Teetzel will put up a defense. He, too, has fought the authorities every step of the way. He will soon come here from Detroit, Mich., to stand trial.

Patrick H. Doyle has a bad record and the court told him at the time the plea was entered that if he is found guilty he will get the limit. He has, according to information from other states, served time in several reformatories and other state institutions besides being mixed up in several questionable escapades.

STORK BUSY IN CLOQUET.

That Place Lead All Others in Carlton County Births.

Cloquet, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to the reports of the clerk of court for the year 1910, there were 472 births in Carlton county and 191 deaths. Cloquet had the largest number of births, 228, with the township of Thomson second with forty-four births, and Kalavala third on the list with twenty-eight.

The Cloquet baseball team are selling tickets for a dance, to be given in the Nelson opera house April 22. The proceeds will go to repair the baseball park and the boys are hoping that the affair will be a big success, as this is the first event of the kind.

Paul Leonard, Dan Boland and Simon Loisel went to Duluth yesterday to take a second degree in the Knights of Columbus lodge.

Mrs. Ed Swindale will be hostess to the euchre club next Wednesday evening.

Mrs. W. W. d'Aoust left Saturday to visit her mother in Virginia.

Mrs. Gust Berglund is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Ed Falk of Coleraine.

Miss Hazel Hall came home Saturday from the Stout institute at Menomonie, Wis., where she is attending school.

The boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. gave their annual circus stunt Friday and Saturday evenings before a good sized audience. The affair was very entertaining and was carried out with a vim that kept everybody laughing. The tumbling was exceptionally good.

City Surveyor E. S. Spencer spent the latter part of the week in St. Paul on business.

Mrs. Paul Lavoie has returned from several weeks' visit in Chicago.

The Luther league will be entertained at the Judge Diesen home on Wednesday evening.

D. J. McGillivray was called to Chippewa Falls Saturday afternoon by the death of a sister.

Mrs. A. Sewars of Gillette, Wis., is the guest of here sister, Mrs. William Valley.

The Bissette home, south of Fourth street, is quarantined for diphtheria, Floyd, the youngest son, being ill with the disease.

Killed in Saskatchewan.

Leeds, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. M. Ryan, formerly a resident of this county, was killed in an accident at Maple Creek, Sask., where he had removed. Ryan was driving a team of horses attached to a loaded lumber wagon when they became frightened and ran away. In going down a steep hill the load overturned and Ryan was caught in such a manner as to receive internal injuries from which he died twenty minutes later.

AT DICKINSON IN 1913.

Next Meeting of Slope Educational Association Goes There.

Beach, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dickinson was selected as the place for the 1913 meeting of the Slope Educational association which closed here Saturday night. The meeting was one of the most successful ever held, there being a large attendance and very evident enthusiasm. The officers elected follow: President, Miss Mary Nolan, Dickinson; vice president, Michael Tsch, Glen Ullin; secretary, H. S. Berg, Dickinson.

SENATOR GRONNA TO SPEAK FOR MERRIAM.

Lakota, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator A. J. Gronna of this city, who left yesterday for Washington, will stop in Chicago several days where he has consented to deliver several addresses for Charles E. Merriam, the Republican candidate for mayor.

The senator has been at home since the recent adjournment and is returning to the capital with firm determination to enter the fight with the other North Dakota congressman against the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

THREE BRAINERD TICKETS.

Democrats, Republicans and Socialists After the Votes.

Brainerd, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Democrats nominated H. P. Dunn, a druggist, as mayor, James M. Elder making the nomination speech. The meeting was harmonious and much enthusiasm was manifested. Fritz Koop was nominated city treasurer. Aldermen nominated are: First ward, Louis Stallman and Jacob Miller; Second ward, James M. Elder and James Cullen with Swan Johnson on the board of education; Third ward, William Hogan with Tim Toohey, Republican candidate, endorsed, and William Barron nominated on the board of education; Fourth, L. J. Erickson with G. P. Fogelstrom, Republican candidate, endorsed. J. W. Koop, John Hughes, John T. Imgrund, P. E. McCabe and P. M. Bisiar were appointed a committee to fill all vacancies on the ticket. Nominee Dunn made a happy speech and outlined his plans in the coming campaign, stating he would make a clean, honest fight for the majorality. This puts three complete tickets in the field for the coming election in April, being the Republicans with Edward Crust for mayor, the Socialists with the present incumbent A. Ousdahl for mayor, and the Democrats with H. P. Dunn as their standard bearer.

ORDERS DULUTH PROPERTY SOLD

Will of Owner of Half Interest in Superior Street Lot Filed.

The will of Allan Danforth Hidges of San Francisco, Cal., who owned an undivided one-half of lot 30, block 5, Central division of Duluth, which is occupied by the Panton & White store, was admitted to probate this morning by Judge S. W. Gilpin.

The Duluth property will undoubtedly be sold as Mr. Hodge's will provides that all his property outside of that owned in Rhode Island be sold and converted into cash.

The half interest in the lot is valued at $70,000, according to information filed in probate court. It has been known for some time that the property would be sold. The whole estate left by Mr. Hodges consists of business property in a number of Eastern and Western states. It is all valued at $200,000.

Mr. Hodges died Nov. 7, 1910. He left all his property to his friends Charles H. Rieber, a professor at the University of Calafornia, and Harris Milton of Norfolk, Mass. They are to give to his son, Frederick Hodges, who is declared incompetent, money from time to time as he needs it throughout his life.

BOTH MEN ARE ACCUSERS.

Jealous White Earth, N. D., Business Rivals Make Charges.

White Earth, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Business envy existing between two local pool hall owners, H. E. Anderson and James Moore, resulted in both being lodged in the county jail. Anderson was originally arrested upon a complaint made by Moore that he was maintaing a gambling place, and, in turn, Moore was arrested on a similar charge with an additional charge of cruelty to animals. Testimony introduced at the preliminary hearing brought out the fact that the two men had been bitter business competitors.

WANTS $5000 FOR HIS FINGERS

Brakeman Brings Suit Against Great Northern Railroad Company.

Vernon G. Knocke wants $5,000 from the Great Northen Railroad company for injuries alleged to have been sustained while he was in the employ of the company as brakeman.

Knocke claims that one of his hands was caught in a defective coupling and that as a result it became necessary to amputate several fingers.

He claims negligence on the part of the company in that no proper signal was given at the time the other cars were backed to the one on which he was working. He also states that if the coupler had been in proper working order it would not have been necessary for him to endanger himself.

The complaint in the action was filed this morning with the clerk of the district court.

THREE PEOPLE KILLED IN COLLISION IN CANADA.

Fort William, Ont., March 7.—Three people were killed, four injured and thirty-one cars burned as a result of a head-on collision Saturday near Bluejay between a westbound colonist train and an eastbound freight train. Telegraphic communication was interrupted for hours. The dead: Brakeman Kimball, Fireman Burgess, Porter Tees.

Injured: Robert McCarthy, skull fractured, probably will die; Ambrose Kelly, one hand off; Harry Pullen, head and body injured; G. Allen, badly bruised.

After an inquest it was stated that the collision was due to the colonist train running past Blujay without orders.

NO JURISDICTION.

State Powerless in Matter of Fire Escapes in New York.

Albany, N. Y., March 27.—Governor Dix said today that as a result of Saturday's fatal fire in New York he had made an investigation of the state's jurisdiction over the matter of fire escapes in New York buildings and had found that the state is powerless in the matter, such jurisdiction having been delegated to the bureau of buildings in New York city and established by a decision of the appellate division, first department, in 1903.

GERMAN COUNTESS WEDS IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, March 27.—Countess Louise Alexnadria von Bernstorff, only daughter of the German ambassador and Countess von Bernstorff, was married today in Concordia Lutheran church to Count Raymond Pourtales, until recently an attache of the German embassy here. The ceremony was followed by a reception in the German embassy.

OPENING TO BE VERY LATE

Many Vessel Owners May Not Bring Boats Out Before June 1.

Fairly Good Prospects Are Reported in Package Freight Lines.

From the general talk of local shippers, which is borne out by the fact that there is plenty of some varieties of coal on the docks, it does not seem likely that very much coal will move before June 1.

From Cleveland and the other lake ports comes the report that many vesselmen will not bring their boats out before the first of June.

Cargoes are being traded in at the present time. For instance, one owner, who has some coal cargoes at his command, has traded some coal cargoes for ore cargoes. In other words, the boats that he handles will bring coal to the Head of the Lakes somewhat earlier than when the bulk of the movement starts in and will return with ore.

No statement of the program of the Pittsburg boats has been made as yet, and there has been no preparation among the independent boat owners. From the information that can be gathered here, there will be a very late opening among these carriers.

From gossip heard among the traffic managers of the large jobbing houses of this city and also judging from what is said by the agents of the package freight lines, there will be at least a fairly strong opening in the package freight business.

There are quite a number of cargoes to come up to the Head of the Lakes, while there is a fairly good outlook, even at the present time for a good movement down the lakes starting with the middle of next month. To date there is nothing in sight that promises any early grain chartering.

DESERTS AFTER MANY YEARS

Woman Breaks Marriage Vows Thirty-Two Years After Marriage.

After thirty-two years of married life, Adam Buckborrough, 52 years old, wants to be relieved from the ties of long ago.

On a charge of desertion he filed a complaint with the clerk of the district court this morning which petitions the court for a divorce from his wife, Nettie Buckborroughs, 54 years old.

In his complaint he claims that they were married in Springford, Can., in 1897. There are two children, both of whom have long since passed their majority. One is 31 years old and the other 27.

Buckborrough claims that his wife deserted during 1910.

Business, like some people, is sensitive and will only go where it is invited.

TO BE COLLECTORS AT PORT OF CLEVELAND.

Washington, March 27.—Maurice Maschke is to be appointed collector of the port at Cleveland Ohio, President Taft having arrived today at that decision. The name of Mr. Maschke probably will be among the first sent to the senate for confirmation when it convenes next week in extra session.

The president announced his decision this morning after a call at the White House by Senator Burton.

WILL NOT ATTEMPT TO CROSS OCEAN UNTIL FALL.

Kiel, Germany, March 27.—Joseph Brucker has decided to postpone until next fall his attempt to cross the Atlantic in the dirigible balloon Suchard. The voyage had been planned for this or next month, and the delay is to permit of trials of the balloon and its machinery over land before the trans-Atlantic trip is undertaken.

Greenbush Farmers' Institute.

Greenbush, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A farmers' institute was held here Saturday and much interest was shown by the farmers of this locality.

The young people of this town will present a home talent play at the Rutkowski hall, April 1. The play is entitled "Aunt Mathilda's Birthday Party."

Neche Printshop Damaged.

Neche, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a fire Saturday night considerable damage was done to the Neche Chronotype office. The printing establishment is located in the basement of a bank building, and the fact that the watchman discovered smoke coming up from below gave the alarm early enough to prevent any very serious damage.

Reyes on Way to Paris.

Modena, Italy, March 27.—Gen. Bernardo Reyes, the Mexican soldier who is mentioned as likely to return to his former post of minister of war in the cabinet of President Diaz, left here today for Paris. He said that he expected that the new ministry would be formed before his arrival at the French capital.

No Quorum at Albany.

Albany, N. Y., March 27.—The fifty-ninth joint ballot for United States senator today showed no quorum.

SUPERIOR MURDER IS SUSPECTED

Was in Marine Corps on Duty on Prison Ship Southery.

Was Private Louis E. Rasmussen, aged 28, a Superior boy and marine on the prison ship Southery, murdered at Portsmouth, N. H., Saturday night?

Advices yesterday received from Portsmouth say that Rasmussen's body was found Sunday morning in the Kittery baseball grounds of that city. The face and head were badly battered and the body bore other marks of mutilation.

Lying near the body was found a woman's necklace. This is regarded by the authorities as a likely clue to the probable cause of the murder. The navy officers have detained a man who left the navy yard with Private Rasmussen.

Private Rasmussen was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Rasmussen of 5829 Banks avenue, South end, Superior. He has four brothers, Frank, Tony, Axel and Albert and one sister, Annie. L. Knudsen of Brainerd, Minn., is an uncle.

When in Superior, he attended the Bryant school and bore an excellent reputation. He enlisted four years ago and was sent with a detachment of marines to the Philippines. He returned from the islands recently and a short time ago was assigned to duty at the prison ship. His enlistment term would have expired in a few weeks and he wrote his Superior relatives that he would be home at that time.

RUNNING DOWN TWO SUSPECTS

Police on Trail of Boys Wanted for Shooting Officer.

Two boys, believed to have been implicated in the shooting of Patrolman R. W. Jackson at Allouez Wednesday morning, are being tracked by the police. The Superior department is cutting off every avenue of escape and with a detail of special officers, expect to apprehend the two youths before night.

The youngsters answering to the description furnished by the wounded policeman, were put off a freight train near South Range Saturday and, although, the police tried to get them before they escaped, the youths managed to get away.

They were next heard of at Lake Nebagamon at noon yesterday. They left there in the direction of Iron River and officers and special policemen from both towns are closing in on them. Although the two boys are armed, it is not expected that there will be any difficulty in arresting them.

MRS. J. A. MONGER DIES.

Well-Known Superior Woman Succumbs to Attack of Pneumonia.

Mrs. Ida Jean Monger, aged 52, wife of John A. Monger, died Sunday afternoon at the family residence, 1512 John avenue, Superior. She had been ill nine days with pneumonia.

She was born in Dubuque in 1859 and there married Mr. Monger in 1878. They came to Superior from Chicago in 1893. She was active in church circles, being prominently affiliated with St. Alban's Episcopal church.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a son, R. S. Monger of the South end, three daughters, Elizabeth F., Ellen and Ruth, all of, Superior and three brothers, John, George and Clarke Henry of Dubuque, Iowa.

The funeral arrangements are incomplete.

NORMAL SCHOOL WINS.

High School Basket Ball Five Loses to Pedagognes—Other Games.

In a speedy exhibition, the Superior Normal basket ball five, Saturday evening defeated the high school team, 30 to 22. The Normalites were faster than their opponents and outplayed the high school lads in every department of the game.

At Spooner Saturday night, the Cooper Alumni quint was defeated by the Spooner city team, 27 to 20. It was the second of a series, the first affair having been won by the Coopers. The Superior team returned last evening.

The Rice Lake high school girls' basket ball team was defeated, 15 to 12, by the girls' team of the Superior normal scvhool Saturday evening at the latter's gymnasium.

DUMPING IN BAY MAY BE STOPPED BY CITY.

A city ordinance will be drawn up by City Attorney Tipton to prevent the dumping of old lumber and other material, which is liable to hamper navigation, into the waters of the Superior harbor inside the limits of the government channels. It is said that contractors for various new buildings on Tower slip are allowing old material to remain on the ice and go through into the water. The new ordinance will be presented to the council for passage as soon as it is drawn up.

PUMPING STATION WILL HAVE $7,000 ADDITION.

A $7,000 addition, built of concrete, will be built to the pumping station of the Superior Water, Light & Power company this spring. The work will commence in about three weeks. The addition will be the first unit in an improvement which will cost several thousand dollars.

"POST CARD DAY" PROVES A SUCCESSFUL VENTURE.

Advertising Superior by postcard proved a successful venture, according to the postoffice authorities, who say may thousands of postal cards with souvenir views of the city on them were sent out by Superior people Saturday, "postcard day." The day will probably be observed annually.

OPENING DAYS

Tomorrow and Wednesday
We shall hold
A Most Important Exhibit of Styles for Spring, 1911.

Fashionable Millinery, Gowns and Dress Fabrics

French Importations together with our own Adaptations.

It is an esthetic study worthy the attention of every woman within reach of this store.

Mattsons in Trouble.

Mary and Alex Mattson, who were married a few weeks ago, were arrested Saturday charged with robbing Mike Burke of Floodwood, Minn., of $97. They were arraigned at the afternoon session of the court. The charge against the man was changed to plain drunk and he paid $5 and was released. The woman was held on $300 bail.

Church Dedicated.

Formal dedication services for the new Evangelical Lutheran Christ church of the Missouri synod at Cumming avenue and Belknap street were held yesterday morning. The new church is built along the lines of Gothic architecture and has been occupied by the congregation but a short time.

Slashed in Saloon.

So badly slashed that he was unable to inform the police of his assailant and that it was necessary for a surgeon to take several stitches to bring the edges of the wound together, Jack Salo, aged 23, sustained a bad knife wound on his right shoulder Saturday night in a saloon row. Salo was unable to describe his assailant and the police have not found him.

UNDECIDED AS TO MURDER OR SUICIDE

Banker Found Seated at Desk With Bullet in Abdomen.

New York, March 27.—When business opened at the private bank of Julius de Brovsky today the first customer was annoyed that she could get no answer to questions from the banker who sat leaning over a table, seemingly buried in thought. It developed that the banker's abdomen was a bullet wound, from which he died shortly afterwards without recovering consciousness. Investigation showed $1,000 missing from his safe.

The police are undecided whether the case is one of murder or suicide. In the table drawer was found a loaded revolver with one chamber discharged, but it did not seem probable that the banker could have taken the revolver from the drawer, shot himself and then replaced it. Stephen Broczelly, his clerk, who entered the bank a few minutes after the body was found, was led to the police headquarters for a close questioning and later to the coroner's office. No arrests were made.

MINISTER FALLS DEAD IN PULPIT

Rev. F. W. Pratt of Waterford, Wis., Expires Suddenly on Sunday.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 27.—A Journal special from Racine says: While delivering an impressive sermon at the First Methodist Episcopal church in the village of Waterford, Racine county, yesterday, Rev. F. W. Pratt, one of the most prominent ministers of this district, suddenly fell backward and was caught in the arms of Elmer Anderson, a member of the choir. Physicians were called, but Rev. Mr. Pratt had died when they arrived. Death was caused by heart failure.

Rev. Mr. Pratt was on the fourteenth page of his 28-page sermon when he was stricken. Deceased was 49 years old.

MERRITT S. COOK PASSES AWAY

Aged Civil Engineer Dies at His Home on Park Point.

Merritt S. Cook, 76 years old, one of the best-known civil engineers in the city, died about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his residence, 3302 Minnesota avenue, Park Point, of peritonitis, from which he had been suffering the last three weeks. He came to Duluth in 1892 from Grand Rapids, Mich., and was actively engaged in his profession until his recent illness.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Alice Ashley of Winnipeg and Mrs. Harry Reynolds of Bemidji, and two sons, W. H. and Ray M. Cook of this city. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of his son, W. H. Cook, 317 Fourth avenue east. Interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery.

LEGAL SPARRING

Expected to Mark Opening of Cowan Impeachment Case.

Fargo, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large number of state senators, witnesses, spectators and others passed through Fargo today en route to Bismarck to participate in the Cowan impeachment proceedings, which begin tomorrow. It is anticipated there will be some technical sparring about the legality of the indictment by the house and the proceedings are expected to be long drawn out.

EAST GRAND FORKS HAS DAMAGING FIRE.

East Grand Forks, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The worst fire East Grand Forks has known for some time, broke out about 10 o'clock Saturday evening in the building at 306 De Mers avenue used by Joe Jarvis as a storeroom for baled hay, and for about an hour and a half baffled all attempts to extinguish it. Before the firemen had the blaze under control, the interior of three buildings had been gutted and a loss of from $15,000 to $25,000 had been entailed.

The three buildings gutted were owned by the Griggs estate, and their value was estimated at $35,000. The amount of insurance carried on the buildings is not known.

Mothers Make This Home Made Cough Syrup

The good, tender, thoughtful mother can make a full pint of the quickest acting, permanent result giving cough syrup which can be used by the whole family for coughs and colds, thus preventing pneumonia, sore throat, diphtheria and other fatal maladies. Just obtain a concentrated fluid known as Essence Mentho-Laxene—a 2½ oz. bottle, and empty it into a pint jar or bottle. Then take a pint of granulated sugar and pour over it a half pint of boiling water; stir, cool and fill up the bottle with the syrup. Full directions for making and using are contained on each package. All good druggists sell it, or it can readily be obtained of their wholesaler. Thousands of families are using this because of its cheapness and thoroughness.

CALUMET NOMINATIONS.

Calumet & Hecla Mining Official Heads List of Candidates.

Calumet, Mich., March 27.—With James MacNaughton, general manager of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company heading the list as candidate for supervisor the complete Calumet township ticket just named in convention follows: Supervisor, James MacNaughton; treasurer, William Lamore; clerk, George Martin; member board of review, Edward Ulseth; commissioner of highways, Charles Mugford; overseer of highways, Alex Silvola; justice of peace to fill vacancy, R. T. Hicks; justice of peace for full term, David Armit; constables, Paul Tinetti, Thomas Curtis, James Glasson, and Paul Spehar; poundmaster, Josiah Reed.

STEPHEN MAN IS FINED.

Must Pay $75 or Go to Jail for Blind-Pigging.

Warren, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Watson, who has been hanging around Stephen for a while and who was bound over to the grand jury by Justice Braggans for blind-pigging and selling intoxicants to August Magnuson, a drunkard on the black list, pleaded guilty before the district court and fined $75 and sentenced to thirty days in jail. The jail sentence will be suspended upon payment of the fine during good behavior.

CONDITIONS GOOD; SAYS I. FREIMUTH.

I. Freimuth has returned from an Eastern trip lasting nearly six weeks. He visited most of the large Eastern cities, buying for the spring and summer trade. Business conditions are good and business men are becoming daily more optimistic regarding the outlook, according to Mr. Freimuth.

To Join San Antonio Maneuvers.

Marinette, Wis., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. Brearley of Company I, Marinette, has been chosen as one of the six Wisconsin officers who will go South to the manuevers at San Antonio, Tex.

Reliable Rheumatic Prescription

At this season many people suffer with rheumatism, which is likely to assume a chronic form unless carefully treated. The following prescription possesses great virtue and has been known to relieve and cure many of the most hopeless cases. Any good druggist can fill it. The true ingredients, and pure must be used to insure success.

Iodide of Potassium	2 drams
Sodium Salicylate	4 drams
Wine of Colchicum	½ oz
Comp. Ess. Cardiol	1 oz
Comp. Fid. Balmwort	1 oz
Comp. Syrup Sarsaparilla	5 ozs

Mix in a half pint bottle and begin by taking one teaspoonful after each meal, and one at bedtime; after the first week gradually increase the dose to two teaspoonfuls. While somewhat more expensive than ordinary patent medicines, it is really to be desired if results are the goal.

THE EVENING STORY

THE NIGHT CALL

By Jane Harris.

Dixon looked back over the last five years of his life and felt that he had passed only one mile stone, that was when he had left his college and hospital work. Little he thought in those optimistic days when he first settled in this thriving town that six long weary months of waiting would go by before the public came to recognize his sign. And the fact that this apparently blind public seemed to be getting along surprisingly well without his services struck him very forcibly tonight.

Andrew Dixon, M. D., could not afford to go on much longer unseen and, in the dim light of his office, he was trying to figure out how much longer he could afford to pay for his office and waiting room, which latter also served as a sleeping room at night, (although the bed-couch proved rather small quarters as a resting place), and he was face to face with the unpleasant thought that his rapidly diminishing funds would not carry him through another month. Unless "something turned up," he would have to pull up stakes and hunt for another location where there fewer doctors.

"Even if I were to open a book," he thought aloud as he was alone in the house, "it would not sell because I am practically unknown, and if I should take up any outside work in connection with my profession it would spoil everything for no one wants a doctor who is not 'on his job' every minute."

Thereupon he gave himself over to the gloomy contemplation of his boots, and found little to cheer him there, the uppers showed the effect of long use and he was sure the soles were worn almost through.

Boots and shoes play an important part in the life of a professional man, and Dixon realized only too well that it would never do for him to cross a "pay patient's" threshold with these old ones of his. Not unless it was a hury call and the possiblity of even this good fortune seemed far off, just now.

Suddenly Dixon heard hurried foot falls on the pavement outside, some one ran up the front steps and gave the door bell a violent pull.

He answered the summons at once, forgetting in his haste, that his collar and tie were lying on the office desk and never giving a thought to the poor old worn-out boots.

The instant he opened the door the tall girl who stood there cried out in an eager voice, "Are you Dr. Dixon? Won't you please come with me at once? My father has suddenly been taken ill and he is alone so I must hurry back, come right along with me—"

"Just a minute," called Dixon as he sprang back into the office and caught up his "emergency bag" that he had prepared oh! so long ago, for just such a call as this.

"We live across the street there," explained the girl as he followed her down the steps and together they hurried over and went into the house.

Dixon found the old gentleman critically, if not dangerously ill, and for a time in the quiet room an observer might have witnessed one more of those struggles that are fought daily, thousands of times, the world over, between man's intelligence and the grip of Death.

The physician and the daughter, however, had no time for observation, their undivided attention was centered on the patient, and, finally, when the moment came that they could pause to look into each other's eyes and say "he is better," the same note of thanksgiving was sounded from one heart to the other.

"He is not likely to have another attack," Dixon said to the girl, "but I had better wait until he recovers from the effects of the strong restoratives and then give him something that will quiet him until morning. Then, perhaps, you will be wanting to send for your family physician."

"No! Oh no!" she said hastily, "we have lived here only a short time and never needed a doctor before. My father has business interests here in town and we moved in from the country because his health was so poor; but, really, I did not think his condition had become so serious."

Dixon sought to reassure her. "There is no cause for alarm. If he will take a complete rest, I am sure that I can bring him out all right. that is—if—" he hesitated.

The girl smiled up at him, her eyes meeting his own frankly. "You mean if we would like you to take the case? Well, I am very sure that after your successful work of tonight, father and I couldn't think of having any other doctor. And, do you know," she went on, smiling again, "I noticed your sign when we first moved in here and said to myself, 'there now, when we need a doctor, I shall certainly send for Andrew Dixon, M. D., because the name sounds so substantial'—just as if you had been established a long time and had lots of experience—and isn't it funny that you have turned out to be young and at the beginning of your career?"

Andrew Dixon wondered to himself what this tall, beautiful girl would say if she could have known how pitifully true were her words concerning the "beginning" of his career, and all of a sudden he remembered the collar and tie, left behind in his haste.

He also remembered that he owed this girl a debt of gratitude for coming to him when his mental vision was almost completely obscured by the clouds of discouragement and failure.

But now, could it be possible that this call in the night, this appeal out of the darkness for help could be the turning of the tide that would bring back to him a fulfillment of the hopes that he had had for an opportunity to do his work in the world.

Dixon expressed his thanks for her kindly interest, and then fell to talking quietly while the patient slowly rallied, and his breathing became more regular.

During an interval of silence a door opened and closed somewhere in the house; then came the sound of subdued voices.

The doctor looked up inquiringly and she told him that the servants were coming in.

"They have been to a ball together, and that's why I was alone with father," she added further. Then she excused herself and went out, leaving him alone with the father. Soon a maid came in and arranged the disordered table which stood near the bed.

The daughter came in some minutes later and Dixon noticed that she had taken off the long coat which she had worn when she called for him, and had replaced it by a beautiful soft white wrapper which clung to her tall figure with graceful folds.

"By the way, Doctor, I did not tell you my name. I am Miss Trainor—perhaps you have heard of my father, David Trainor?"

"Yes, indeed, I have, Miss Trainor," answered Dixon, and try as he would he could not keep the delight out of his face for he realized only too well what the patronage of David Trainor meant to any doctor and surely no better good fortune could have come to him in the days of his obscurity.

The beautiful girl blushed under his earnest gaze, for surely admiration as well as pleasure was there in his brown eyes, and her own blue ones faltered.

"Your father has passed over the danger line now, Miss Trainor," Andrew said hastily, seeing her evident embarrassment, "and I will come in about 9 in the morning to talk with him about a rest and to suggest some medicines for him to take until he is on his feet again. In the meantime you should rest yourself, for I am sure you are tired out. So for the present I'll say goodbye."

"Goodbye, Doctor," replied the girl, and she held out her hand. Dixon clasped it in his own and it seemed to him that the thrill of her touch went through his whole being, giving him a great joy because he knew a true friend had come into his life.

As he went out into the night the softly falling snow came down upon him like a benediction of peace, and the dim light in his office shone through the darkness like a beacon of hope to guide him on to a future of success.

Opening the door he turned on the step to look back at the house across the way and saw the lights burning brightly. There too, was hope and cheer for him.

Perhaps, some day, another light, the tender light in a pair of blue eyes—might also come to brighten his life—but not now, he must work on, and up with this star to lead him.

Then turned and went in, shutting the door softly, so as not to disturb his dreams.

Would Make Hotels an Educational Factor in America

—Copyrighted by George Grantham Bain.

MRS. MASON DAVIDGE.

The hotel of tomorrow will be an educational factor in American life.

So says Mrs. Mason C. Davidge, daughter of the late Bishop Henry C. Potter, and herself an expert in hotel decoration and furnishing. Mrs. Davidge, who has lately furnished a $500,000 hotel at Cooperstown, N. Y., and other important hotels and clubhouses, is a stickler for all the creature comforts, in planning and the equipment of such buildings. But while insisting that tables and clothes presses and chairs must touch the maximum of convenience and durability, Mrs. Davidge exacts also a standard of artistic beauty and harmony.

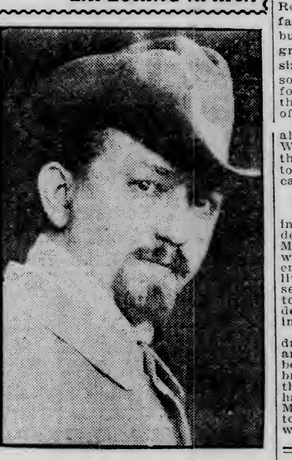
"In France," she says, "the theater is a public model in the lessons of life, manners, the French language. Why should not the hotel, in America, become a source of information and suggestion in public taste? From its designs and furnishings travelers and the community will draw ideas that will mean something to them in their homes. The hotel of tomorrow, in a hundred American cities, will be, in a sense, an educational museum devoted to the study of appropriate living. And remember that it will before all else, be inviting and comfortable. Will this cost more? It does not," says Mrs. Davidge, "it will be simply a case of more brains and less money, and of expert control. A trained specialist is needed to co-ordinate a scheme of colors and choose decorative style or period for the furnishings of a building, as much as the architect himself is needed. How else is the result to express the character desired for the hotel or club?

"In dealing with my own clients, I have noticed a marked change in the past few years, and a strong tendency among progressive hotel men not only to appreciate artistic individuality and correctness in furnishings, but to demand it. Why? Because it pays. The hotel that has distinction and congruity of style is agreeably remembered by guests and is talked about by travelers, while the commonplace hotel is forgotten. This is, in fact, glorified advertising. American hotel managers are not their business are too astute not to perceive this, and I believe the results will become increasingly evident, especially in the Middle West and the Far West."

Mrs. Davidge, though she sets high standards for her clients, does not demand the impractical. "If we tried to furnish hotel rooms with genuine Jacobean or Tudor or Queen Anne pieces," she remarks, "the cost would run into perfectly hopeless figures. And there is not enough really antique furniture in existence to go around. But you can take the antique as a model and reproduce its lines and colorings, even though you use a cheaper wood and stain it. It is possible today to transform wood color through and through so that the colors follow the grain. And one can modify the old designs and so get endless variety with distinction and without undue expense. To illustrate what I mean by appropriate design, I will cite the case of a Western hotel man who once told me that he wished to furnish part of his new building in the style of Louis XVI. I told him promptly that this would be wholly against the spirit and traditions of the community in which the hotel was situated. This was a new idea to him but he soon perceived that the early English was the only style that would accord with the inherited taste of the people of his city. I told him that I had lived in the West myself and he saw that I understood American life in spite of years in New York and Paris."

To broaden the scope of her decorating and furnishing work, which is not confined to hotels, but includes clubs and residences as well, Mrs. Davidge has lately opened the Coventry studios in the heart of busy uptown New York on Madison avenue near Forty-second street. In the Coventry studios is the Madison Art gallery where talented American painters and sculptors can show their work under conditions not obtainable in the purely commercial galleries. The Madison Art gallery was established by Mrs. Davidge as an altruistic enterprise two years ago, and it has met with the cordial co-operation of artists and collectors. Earlier organizations attesting Mrs. Davidge's ability, executive ability and initiative were "Holiday House," the first summer boarding place for New York working girls, and a club in the city for these girls. But today it is the large art movement in the affairs of everyday life that interests her. A hotel in every American town that needs it, a hotel that is not a mere barracks but a point where comfort, good taste and good ideas centralize and from which educational influences in artistic artizanship is radiated—this is the object for which Mrs. Davidge is chiefly working.

THE EMINENT SOCIALIST EXPLORING AFRICA



PROF. FROBENIUS.

The distinguished Prof. Frobenius, eminent anthropologist, headed a scientific expedition which went to Northern Nigeria in December. Now reports are coming from that country of trouble between the scientists and the natives. The natives, who are under control of Great Britain, complained to the government some time ago that some of their precious and sacred masks and images had been taken by the Frobenius party. Some of these reports came from the Oni (chief) of Youruba. He said that the Germans had come to the capital of that country—Ife—which is a place of great antiquity, containin sacred groves and stone images—and taken away the image of the sea spirit. At Murkwa the Germans were charged with having forced from the natives certain masks by which they set much store. The British forced the return of these articles and the matter may come to the attention of the German government.

The Bachelor's Catechism

By POLLY PAGET

What is marriage?

Marriage is an institution for the blind.

When a man thinks seriously of marriage, what happens?

He remains single.

Should a man marry a girl for her money?

No. But he should not let her be an old maid just because she's rich.

When a girl refers to a "sad courtship," what does she mean?

She means that the man got away.

Is an engagement as good as a marriage?

It's better.

In selecting a husband, why does a girl prefer a fat man?

Because a fat man finds it hard to stoop to anything low.

When asking papa, how should a young man act?

He should face papa manfully and never give him a chance at his back.

When a man says he can manage his wife, what does he mean?

He means he can make her do anything she wants to do.

When a child is smart and good, to whose family is it due?

To its mother's

When a child is bad and stupid, to whose family is it due?

We refuse to answer.

Is it possible for a married man to be a fool without knowing it?

Not if his wife is alive.

Wait for the Open Mouth

By CARA REESE

Your ambition is to make a study of people? Quite laudable. Wait until your subjects open their mouths. You get the prologue, the epilogue and the whole dialogue the minute the mouth opens. You have the basis, the capstone, the four walls and the cavern. It may require a little investigation where the minor details are concerned, but as for fundamentals you should be able to sketch a pretty good character outline. Two men may look alike enough to be twins, gentlemanly in appearance, well dressed and with some claim to courteous behavior. Wait until they open their mouths, and your study begins and ends.

Wait until the subject opens the mouth and you will know to a certainty whether one belongs to the class familiar with profanity and the other is a saint or minister of the gospel. Wait until the subject opens his mouth and you will have no difficulty in gauging the grade or degree of culture and refinement. Wait until the subject opens his mouth and you may form a fairly accurate idea whether wealth has been hereditary or acquired, and about how much is left. Wait until the subject opens his mouth and you are put into possession as to the number of friends and enemies, the pleasing and non-pleasing traits of wife, the number or number-less that comprise the family. It is not trick at all to study people.

There are splendid looking specimens of humanity, endowed by nature as keepers of the secrets, as depositories of faith and churchly tenets, as instructors in higher education, as leaders of men, but, alas, when the mouth opens down crumbles your estimates and your preconceived opinions. It does not take long to make a study of fellow-beings. The reverse, also, is true, there is the insignificant, the half-asleep, the apparent weakling, evidently lacking spirit, capacity and backbone. But when the mouth is opened you put in heavy lines of charcoal where before you had a sketched out the dimmest sort of vision. Wait until people open the mouth in the moral sense, although faultless as to construction and dentistry. If you are uncertain, have patience, the mouth will open and you are bound to receive convincing testimony.

There are dainty mouths with lips like full ripe cherries and curved like cupid's bow. But, alas! when the mouth opens all charm vanishes before the illiteracy or the dash of low talk perhaps slang or vulgarism. There are mouths set behind lips of stern granite, as it were, inflexible and unyielding. But when the mouth opens the firmness vanishes in a weak quivering of muscles and all that issues forth is flabby and faltering.

The mouth is the great give away in more things than good or bad dentistry. There are very few really mystifying personalities. Some there are who have learned to keep the mouth shut and thus investigation is a little more difficult. But to study people wait until the mouth opens.

A SIXTEEN HEAD CABBAGE.

Boston Globe: Julius Weinstein, who tills the soil in an humble way on a bit of land fronting on Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury, was a very much surprised farmer this season when he watched a bunch of cabbages break through the ground. There were many of the usual size and shape, but somehow or other a sort of brotherly attachment was formed between a bunch of heads so that they insisted on doing the role of Siamese twins eight times over.

When they had reared themselves about a foot above the ground Mr. Weinstein cut short their existence in his stall and the twin has a fine freak to show his neighbors, sixteen heads of cabbage on one stalk.

HEALTH RECORD OF A FAMILY.

Philadelphia Record: A remarkable instance of family immunity from death is afforded in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Biermann of Shenandoah, who will shortly celebrate their golden wedding and who have relatives living in this city. Eleven children, seven boys and four girls, were born to them, all of whom are living. Indeed, there has not been a death in the immediate family in forty-eight years.

There are now thirteen grandchildren. Mr. Biermann is 73 years old and his wife 69. Longevity seems to be common in the family, for an older brother of Mr. Biermann, a veteran of the Civil war, who resides with him, is hale and hearty in his 80's. A sister of Mrs. Biermann, Mrs. W. Schley, of Easton recently celebrated her golden wedding.

ON THE IRON RANGES

SAYS RAILROAD CAUSED BLAZE

Virginia, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The four cases of the Pennsylvania Insurance company against the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company, began in district court today. The plaintiff alleges that the location of Knox was destroyed by fire as a result from sparks flying from the locomotives of the defendant company. Several houses were destroyed by fire and the insurance company is suing to recover about $60,000 which it paid to the owners of this property as risks.

The case of Oscar Harju against the Oliver Iron Mining company was settled out of court, the sum paid to the plaintiff not being given out. Harju alleged that through the negligence of the company he was injured by falling from a boom of one of the steam shovels at the Norman mine in this city on the 17th day of October last year and sustained quite serious injuries.

Joe Samsa, who began suit against the Oliver Iron Mining company to recover the sum of $5,000 for alleged injuries received by the police officers at one of the company's mines at Sparta, lost his case, it being dismissed. The officers claimed that Samsa had been giving them considerable trouble and that when he was ejected from the premises of the company they were obliged to use considerable force with the plaintiff.

CARNEGIE MAKES CHISHOLM OFFER

Ironmaster Will Give $15,000 for Library Under Unusual Conditions.

Chisholm, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chisholm is in a fair way to have a Carnegie public library. Dr. Kirk of the Commercial club recently applied to the ironmaster for a donation and has received a satisfactory reply.

James Bertram, private secretary to Mr. Carnegie, replied that if the city agreed by resolution of the council to maintain a free public library at a cost not less than $1,500 a year, and provided a suitable site for the building, Mr. Carnegie will be glad to give $15,000 to erect a free public library building.

The public library project as made possible by Mr. Carnegie's offer of $15,000 will be one of the important matters before the next session of the Chisholm Commercial club.

Telephone For Schools.

The three outlying public schools located at the Myers, Monroe and Shenango locations are to be brought into close touch with the high school building and with Supt. Vaughan's office by a telephone system exclusively for the use of the Chisholm schools.

Work on the new independent system was begun last week by the Mesaba Telephone company and when completed and installed will be the only independent telephone line for school purposes in the range country.

Five phones will be installed in the high school building, and the switch board will be in Supt. Vaughan's office.

The plans for the installation of such telephone system for the schools of Chisholm have been under consideration for a considerable time, but not until one of the recent school board meetings had the plans been finally adopted.

Miss Ethel Bradford, librarian of the Chisholm public schools, recently underwent an operation for appendicitis at her home near St. Paul. The latest reports are that Miss Bradford has about recovered.

The Boriiva Livery company has purchased a big seven passenger 50 horsepower Mitchell car.

BETTER DEER RIVER.

Is Object Sought By Civic Improvement League.

Deer River, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tonight the Civic Improvement league will again meet in the high school building further to discuss plans to beautify the village. The object of this society will be sanitation and health and all good citizens of our village should unite in the movement to "boost" the town.

In a fast and furious game of basket ball at the high school Friday evening, Deer River was defeated by the Grand Rapids boys, the score being 36 to 12.

Supt. William Lacroix of the M. & R. road left Saturday on a business trip to Duluth.

The Eileen Oge troupe from Deer River played at the city hall, Cohasset, Saturday evening, to a full house. It is reported that the play was one of the best ever shown in Cohasset and that the players all acted their parts to perfection.

SPARTA MAN'S FUNERAL AT EVELETH TUESDAY.

Eveleth, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Warna Hrja, who died Saturday at Sparta after a long illness with tuberculosis, will be held tomorrow afternoon from the Finnish Lutheran Concordia church, Rev. P. C. Keranen officiating. The deceased was 28 years old, single and employed on the range for many years. He has many relatives on the range and was very popular among the Finnish people. His body will be interred at the Greenwood cemetery, Virginia.

VIRGINIA WANTS PUBLIC BUILDING

Commercial Club Will Urge Representative Miller to Push Matter.

Virginia, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edward C. A. Johnson, chairman of the publicity committee of the Commercial club, has called a meeting of the committee for tonight. Among the matters to be considered are the postal savings bank proposition, the federal building, reapportionment and the good roads project. Some three years ago congress appropriated the sum of $65,000 for a federal building for Virginia. A site was purchased by the government at the corner of Maple street and Wyoming avenue with a frontage of 145 feet by 120 feet deep. About a year ago it was thought that the building would be erected shortly after that, but the thing is dragging along and the people of Virginia are anxious that something be done to stir the government officials into activity.

Virginia is badly in need of more postoffice room, as the present quarters are over-crowded and people who go to the office for mail are greatly inconvenienced by waiting to get to the general delivery or the carriers' window. Saturday nights and Sundays the place becomes so crowded with people that it is next to impossible for one to move about the place and many are obliged to wait for an hour or so before they can receive their mail.

The publicity committee will take up these matters with Congressman Miller with an endeavor to have him get busy and see if the government will not go ahead with the erection of a federal building as planned. Mr. Miller will also be urged to have a postal savings bank established here. Good roads will be discussed at this meeting and the committee is going to put forth its best endeavors to see if something in this line cannot be accomplished the coming summer. The publicity committee is composed of E. C. A. Johnson, N. J. Smith, F. E. Lister, D. E. Cuppernull, W. E. Hannaford and R. G. Sherwood

NEW VIRGINIA CHURCH.

German Lutherans Will Erect Edifice There This Year.

Virginia, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The German Lutheran congregation has acquired possession of the two lots at the corner of Beech street and Wyoming avenue and it has been definitely decided by this society to erect a house of worship thereon. The lots are located opposite the John A. Johnson school and are most desirable for church purposes. The cost of the structure has not been definitely decided upon. The local congregation was organized May 22, 1910, and incorporated as the Zion Lutheran church in December of the same year. The services are conducted in the German and English languages and are at present being held in the Swedish Lutheran church. The pastor, Rev. William Greve, is a resident of Duluth, but comes here every other Sunday to hold services. It is his intention to remove to Virginia in the near future and take active charge of the pastorate.

TO STRIP SHARON MINE.

Drake & Stratton Company Secure Big Contract at Buhl.

Buhl, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Drake & Stratton company is said to have secured the contract for stripping the Sharon mine and will soon begin operations. Three shovels and twelve dinkey engines will be put to work on the work this spring.

There is a rumor in circulation to the effect that the Oliver Iron Mining company will strip the Culver mine this season.

Progress is being made at the Broad mine, owned by H. L. Bartlett and others of Virginia. The mine consists of eighty acres and lies between the Whiteside and the Woodbridge.

The rates for water and light in Buhl have been reduced by the water, light, power and building commission, owing to the fact that the plant has been so profitable the past year.

The water and light plant is owned by the municipality and has been excellently managed as its profits show. The light service has been very satisfactory while the water supply of the village has been twice tested by the state board of health and pronounced pure.

PLAN UNION MEETING.

Eveleth Denominations to Join in Committee of Fifty Meet.

Eveleth, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The next public meeting of the Committee of Fifty will be held in the First Presbyterian church next Sunday evening at 7:30. It will be a union meeting, the Methodists and Presbyterians giving up their regular services for the occasion.

Watson S. Moore, president of the Duluth Y. M. C. A., will be one of the speakers. His address will be along the line of civic righteousness.

Bert N. Wheeler of Duluth will be another speaker. Special music will be provided for this occasion. Louis Dworshak will be the soloist. Arrangements are also being made to secure the male quartet from the Runneberg lodge.

HATCH GETS COMMISSION.

Eveleth's New Postmaster Ready to Assume His Duties.

Eveleth, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alderman Edward H. Hatch has received his commission as postmaster and is preparing to commence his duties April 1, when his resignation as chief clerk of the Adams-Spruce district will take effect. He also will resign as alderman.

No changes in the location of the postoffice or staff will be made, Assistant Postmaster Fergus R. Ellsworth, Cass U. Jenkins and Ruby Noel being retained. Louis J. Andrews, Harry Anderson and Edward Anderson, the three regular mail carriers, will also commence the free mail delivery service April 1. Mr. Hatch has purchased the Gans dwelling on Jones street and will remove from the Adams location to his new residence this week.

TOWNSHIP BOARD IS MEETING AT GILBERT.

Gilbert, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The old and new Missabe township officials are holding a joint meeting today at the village hall. The desks have been removed from the township hall at Eveleth to Gilbert and the hall has been placed on sale. The township officials plan on erecting a two-story brick hall here to be used by the village and the township.

OPEN NEW HIBBING BANK.

The Security, the Third Bank in Village, Starts Business.

Hibbing, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Security, Hibbing's third bank, opened its doors for business today, the new fixtures having been received and installed in the building, a picture of which recently appeared in the Duluth Herald.

The bank is owned entirely by local people. C. A. Remington is president and W. A. Spensley is cashier.

AKELEY CAPTURES BOTH.

Serious and Humorous First Prizes Won By That Village.

Akeley, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—This village enjoys the distinction of capturing both of the first prizes offered in the fifth annual declamatory contest of the North Central Minnesota high schools in this city. Akeley, Bemidji, Grand Rapids and Park Rapids schools were represented. Cass Lake and other schools withdrew, after the preliminary contests which were held at the various towns during the last two weeks.

Marjorie Hunter of Akeley was the winner of the first serious prize in the preliminary declamatory contest.

Mesdames John Costin, H. E. Neff and N. E. Simons will give a social at the home of Mrs. Costin, Spruce street and Cleveland avenue, next Friday afternoon from 4 to 7:30 o'clock.

Virginia Newspaper Quits.

Virginia, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota Utiset, the Finnish paper which was established in this city several months ago, has suspended publication and it is understood that the outfit will be removed to Duluth. Lack of patronage was the cause of its suspension. The paper was owned by a stock company and A. Kolemaine, formerly of Duluth, was its editor and manager.

A FOOD STORY.

Makes a Woman of 70 "One in 10,000."

The widow of one of Ohio's most distinguished newspaper editors and a famous leader in politics in his day, says she is 70 years old and a "stronger woman than you will find in ten thousand," and she credits her fine physical condition to the use of Grape-Nuts.

"Many years ago I had a terrible fall which permanently injured my stomach. For years I lived on a preparation of corn starch and milk, but it grew so repugnant to me that I had to give it up. Then I tried, one after another, a dozen different kinds of cereals, but the process of digestion gave me great pain.

"It was not until I began to use Grape-Nuts food three years ago that I found relief. It has proved, with the dear Lord's blessing, a great boon to me. It brought me health and vigor such as I never expected to again enjoy, and in gratitude I never fail to sound its praises." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a Reason."

BLIZZARD SWEEPS THE MESABA RANGE

Snow and High Wind Made Sunday Well Remembered at Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The snow carried by a high wind with all the elements of a blizzard swept the Mesaba range yesterday reminding people that winter still lingers in the lap of spring. The streets here were deserted all day as a result of the storm and some say as a result of the saloons being closed tight.

The weather changed from a slight to heavy rain on Saturday night about 6 o'clock, clearing up a bit later, but Sunday morning started with more rain turning into snow and towards night a very heavy gale blew from the north, causing the snow to drift. The thermometer remained well above zero all through the day and succeeding night. A large number of lodgers applied for shelter at the police station for the night. Only one arrest was made during the day that being for drunkenness.

Threatened to Kill.

Joseph Bozovich was brought before the municipal court Saturday charged with threatening to kill Paul Maras, and dynamite Nick Frankoviches' house. The case was put over till Tuesday.

Theodore R. Wilkie, attorney of Winterset, Iowa, is visiting his brother, J. F. Wilkie, an attorney here, who has recently received notoriety on account of his invention of a speedometer for automobiles.

W. M. Merriman of Seattle, Wash., who is one of the old time railroaders of this district has been spending a few days here renewing old acquaintances, left this morning for Virginia

J. F. Lewis of the Merchants and Miners bank left on the noon train Saturday for Duluth on a brief business trip.

LEONIDAS MINE IS BUSY PLACE

Hurrying Work Along to Begin Mining in New Property Near Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald. — The new Leonidas property is a veritable hive of activity. The steel shaft is being rapidly sunk, and at the 350-foot level a pumphouse is being installed. It is planned to have the pumphouse completed within three weeks, which should greatly aid in the sinking operations. The shaft has passed the 350-foot level. The original plan of sinking the shaft to a depth of 620 feet has been abandoned, and regular mining operations will be commenced at a higher level, which will make it possible to commence shipping this season. The new warehouse and machine shop, which contains the blacksmith, electric and carpenter departments, will soon be ready for occupancy.

Fifteen houses were erected at the new property last season and plans are being drawn for twenty-two more. Many carpenters are employed in the erection of the warehouse and machine shop and will be ready to commence work on the proposed new dwellings in a few weeks.

The shafthouse, which was erected at the No. 2 Adams many years ago and which has not been used for the past two years, has been dismantled.

The mining company is planning on installing a second pumping house at the shaft when the level at which mining operations will be started is reached, which is certain to be past the 400-foot mark. It is expected that the depth for the mining operations to start at will be between 500 and 600 feet below surface, and that in a few years the shaft will be sunk to the originally planned level of 620 feet.

KELLEY LAKE EXPECTS ORE SHIPPING SOON.

Kelley Lake, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Snow fell here on Sunday, drifting in front of a very strong gale in the evening. Everything is beginning to look up in anticipation of an early opening of ore movement. No definite time has so far been set for the starting of ore movement, but if the weather permits, probably April 7 or 8 will see work start up for the season.

AIR TESTING TRAIN ARRIVES AT HIBBING.

Hibbing, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald)—The Missabe air train is in the yards ready for the testing of the equipment. The train arrived earlier this year than usual and partially on account of the anticipated earlier opening of ore shipment.

Eveleth Watching Bill.

Eveleth, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fate of the bill before the state legislature providing for probate sessions at Hibbing and Virginia is being watched here with more than passing interest, as Eveleth was the prime mover in the establishment of courts on the range.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF COMPANY C.

The annual banquet of Company C, Minnesota National Guard, will be held at the Armory Wednesday evening.

Heretofore the affair has been only for the members of the company. This year the wives and women friends of the soldiers will be invited to be present.

Invitations have been sent to the staff officers, the ex-staff officers and others who were formerly identified with the Third regiment.

The banquet will be followed by a dancing party. There will be card tables for those who prefer this amusement.

Capt. W. O. Flodin will act as toastmaster. Mayor Cullum, B. P. Neff and Lieut. Chris Briand will respond.

WILL CLEAN CITY.

Women of Fergus Falls Organize Town Improvement Society.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a very enthusiastic meeting held under the auspices of the Women's clubs of the city, for the purpose of discussing the best methods of making and keeping the city clean, three minute speeches were given by local speakers who were much interested in the subject.

Before closing those present organized the Town Improvement society, and elected W. B. Windsor, president; Mrs. Trott, secretary; Paul Stortroen, treasurer.

Active steps will be taken to make Fergus Falls one of the cleanest cities in Minnesota.

GREATER LOSS OF LIFE THAN THAT IN FACTORY FIRE MAY HAPPEN IN NEW YORK ANY MINUTE

leading to the elevators and stairs were locked.

The fact that there was only one fire escape on the building will come in for a careful investigation to determine what city official is to blame.

Progress has been made by public and civic organizations toward offering relief to those who have suffered as a result of the fire. Mayor Gaynor headed the list with $100, and made an appeal to the citizens of the city for a relief fund. Industrial organizations, theaters and civic bodies have also set in motion plans for supplementing the fund. Fire Chief Croker said today:

"I do not hesitate to say that a more appalling loss of life in office buildings and big stores is likely to come upon New York at any moment because of the lack of safeguards."

Fire Marshal Beers summmoned the proprietors of the Triangle Waist company and several employes of the firm to testify at the public investigation he instituted today. He will inquire particularly into the statements that doors leading to the exits were locked.

"So far as I have been able to discover," said Mr. Beers, "there has never been a fire drill in this factory. In my opinion it would take the 700 girls three hours to reach the street by the fire escape that was used in the building. I can say that the shutters obstructed this escape.

"There are 1,000 other buildings in this city in the same condition as the scene of Saturday's disaster. Nine-tenths of the employes cannot read English, yet in the examination I have made I could not find a sign in the Yiddish or Italian tongues, which most of the employes spoke, pointing out fire exits."

Many Buildings in Same Condition.

Dr. George M. Price, chairman of an investigation committee, appointed by the Cloak, Suit and Shirt Industry of New York last September to investigate and remedy unsanitary and protective conditions affecting members of that union, gave out a statement with a long list of factory buildings which he says fail to comply with fire regulations.

"What was expected has happened," says the statement." Those who knew of the flimsy fire protection in the lofty buildings of New York long ago predicted such a disaster as occurred in Washington place. If, however, this building was the only one of those unprotected, the situation would not be so terrible. But the fact is that there is hardly a large, lofty building in New York which is better protected against fire."

In a statement to the press issued today, Borough President McAneny said that 500 firemen, recently detailed by Fire Commissioner Waldo for the purpose, reported 3,500 buildings lacking adequate fire escapes. The building department has already investigated 700 of the 3,500 cases reported and said that only 10 per cent of them were in violation of the building code. The Asch building in which Saturday's disaster occurred, had not been reached among the cases reported by the fire department.

Mr. McAneny urged a thorough revision of the code, leaving the provisions relative to fire escapes to a commission of building and fire experts to be appointed by the city.

All Will Be Prosecuted.

District Attorney Whitman said: "If what Chief Croker tells me is correct, then some one is criminally liable and whoever it is, whether it be one or a dozen, shall be prosecuted. I never saw anything more horrible in my life."

"There are many buildings in this city in which even worse conditions prevail," declared Commissioner Waldo. "On this building there was only one outside balcony fire escape with treads eighteen inches wide, and so constructed that persons entering on the fire escape by windows would have to close the iron shutters before they could escape. There were two enclosed fireproof stairs, only sufficiently wide for one person to descend at a time and with winding steps at the turns. Entrances to the stairs were blocked by partitions. From indications, gates and doors appear to have been locked at the time of the fire."

The building itself, said Commissioner Waldo, seemed to comply with the law governing the erection of fireproof structures. The owner of the building, J. J. Asch, of South Norwalk, Conn., apparently had observed the regulations of the building department, he said.

The fire started late Saturday afternoon in the ten-story loft building occupied in part by the Triangle Waist company and in an instant the entire top floors were in flames.

Bodies Break Iron Roofs.

Four alarms were rung within fifteen minutes. Before the engines could respond, before the nets could be stretched or the ladders raised, five girls had already fallen from the eighth and ninth floors so heavily that they broke through the glass and iron roofs of the sub-cellars and crashed through the very streets into the vaults below. In an hour the fire was out; in half an hour it had done its worst; probably the death list was full in two minutes.

The building stands on a corner with exposure on two sides, but the only fire escape was interior, opening on a light and air shaft. In all there were seven exits—the single fire escape, two freight elevators at the rear, two passenger elevators in front and two stairways. All of them proved almost useless and practically all who escaped either climbed to the roof and scrambled thence to the roof of the building occupied by the American Book company adjoining, or fled in the first rush for safety before the crush and the smoke grew too thick.

The building stands today with shell intact and barely scarred—rather only smudged; the partitions of architectural tiling between floor and floor are sound, and it is impossible for one who did not see it, to imagine how the flames in so short a space could have wrought such havoc. Seven hundred hands, 500 of them women, were employed by the shirt waist company. They sat in rows at their whirring machines, the tables before them piled with flimsy cloth, the floor littered with lint, the air itself full of flying, inflammable dust. The first rush of flame was almost an explosion.

Die at Machines.

Operators died in their chairs, their lungs seared by inhaling flame. Others were crowded into the elevator shafts after the cars had made their last trip. Still others were pushed off the inadequate interior fire escape. In such a horrible stream did the bodies overflow from the windows that the fire nets, stretched by the first company to arrive, were soon gorged beyond capacity. Twelve bodies weighted one net to the bursting point, but the bodies kept on tumbling to the pavement, through meshes that could no longer support them.

When the first breath of flame curled over the edge of a pile of shirting on the eighth floor, five minutes before quitting time, hundreds were in line before the cashier's window.

In the office buildings across Washington Place scores of men detained beyond office hours worked at their desks. One of them saw a girl rush to a window and throw up the sash.

Pursued by Flames.

Behind her danced a seething curtain of yellow flame. She climbed to the sill, stood in black outline against the light, hesitating, then, with a last touch of futile thrift, slipped her chatelaine bag over her wrist and jumped.

Her body went whirling downward through the woven wire glass of a canopy to the flagging below. Her sisters, who followed, flashed through the air like rockets. Their path could be followed, but the fall hardly heard.

It was about eighty-five feet from the eighth floor to the ground, about ninety-five feet from the ninth floor, 115 feet from the cornice of the roof, and the upward rush of thedraft and the crackle of the flame drowned their cries.

Six girls fought their way to a window on the ninth floor, over the bodies of fallen fellow workers, and crawled out in single file to an eight-inch ledge, running the length of the building. More than 100 feet above the sidewalk they crept along the perilous pathway to a swinging electric wire spanning Washington place. The leaders paused for their companions to catch at the edge of the ledge, and the six grabbed the wire simultaneously. It snapped like rotten whipcord, and they crashed to death.

A 13-year-old girl hung for three minutes by her finger tips to the sill of a tenth floor window. A tongue of flame licked at her fingers, and she dropped into a life net held by firemen.

Fall Through Net.

Two women fell into the net at the same moment. The strands parted, and the two were added to the death list.

A girl threw her pocket book, then her hat, then her furs from a tenth floor window. A moment later her body came whirling after them to death.

At a ninth floor window a man and a woman appeared. The man embraced the woman and kissed her. Then he hurled her to the street and jumped. Both were killed. Five girls smashed a pane of glass, dropped in a struggling tangle, and were crushed into a shapeless mass.

A girl on the eighth floor leaped for a fireman's ladder, which reached only to the sixth floor. She missed, struck the edge of a life net and was picked up with her back broken. From one window a girl of about 13 years, a woman, a man and two women with their arms about one another threw themselves to the ground in rapid succession. The little girl was whirled to the New York hospital in an automobile. She screamed as the driver and policeman lifted her into the hallway. A surgeon came out, gave one look at her face, and touched her wrist.

"She is dead," he said.

Jumps Into Blanket.

One girl jumped into a horse blanket held by firemen and policemen. The blanket ripped like cheesecloth and her body was mangled almost beyond recognition. Another dropped into a tarpaulin held by three men. Her weight tore it from their grasp and she struck the street, breaking almost every bone in her body. Almost at the same time a man somersaulted down upon the shoulder of a policeman holding the tarpaulin. He glanced off, struck the sidewalk and was picked up dead.

Within the building a man on the eighth floor stationed himself at the door of one of the elevators and with a club kept back the girls who had stampeded to the wire cage. Thirty were admitted to the car at a time. They were rushed down as fast as possible.

The call for ambulances was followed by successive appeals for police until 500 patrolmen arrived to cope with a crowd numbering tens of thousands—a mixture of the morbidly curious and of half-crazed relatives and friends of the victims. A hundred mounted policemen had to charge the crowd repeatedly to keep it back.

FLAX SCREENINGS KILL NORTH DAKOTA CATTLE.

Williston, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The use of flax screenings in the feeding of cattle proved disastrous to a number of owners residing north of Williston. There were a large number of deaths from the use of this feed and for a time the farmers, unaware of the properties of flax screenings when used in that manner, were somewhat startled at conditions and fearful that a plague had broken out.

Girl Accuses Farmer.

Towner, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Roy Stevenson, a farmer residing near Denbigh, this county, is under arrest on a charge lodged against him by Venus Berry, an 18-year-old girl, who was in his employ. At the preliminary examination he was bound over to the district court under bonds of $10,000.

FAIR

Old Man Winter is giving us the laugh. We thought he had hiked to his summer home, but he was just waiting for a good chance to assert himself. While the gentle spring rains were falling, he appeared with a swirl of snow and an icy blast yesterday and the furs, heavy overcoats and other winter raiment were brought out from storage by those confiding beings who had laid them away. The lowest temperature was 13 deg. at 7 o'clock this morning and the wind at that time was travelling thirty-six miles an hour. The wind attained a velocity of forty-two miles an hour during the night. The weather will moderate somewhat during the night and another warm wave is expected tomorrow afternoon. The "come in like a lamb, go out like a lion" fiends are waiting expectantly. March came in like a lamb.

A year ago today was Easter Sunday and a high wind put the fashion parade out of business.

The sun rose this morning at 5:57 and it will set at 6:30 this evening, giving twelve hours and thirty-three minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four hours a cold wave of marked intensity has overspread Manitoba, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Western Iowa and Kansas in connection with the high pressure now central over Texas. The low pressure over Michigan caused high winds in the lake region and central valley states during the last twenty-four hours and rain or snow during the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours in practically all districts east of the Rocky mountains. Another low pressure that has appeared over Alberta is attended by rising temperature throughout the extreme Northwest. This turn to warmer will reach the Head of the Lakes during Tuesday, but the temperature will remain low in St. Louis and Douglas counties tonight."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 27.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Upper Michigan—Snow this afternoon and tonight; colder tonight; cold wave on south and east portion; Tuesday snow flurries.

Wisconsin—Snow tonight and much colder in east and south portions; cold wave in east portion; Tuesday probably fair with warmer in west portion.

Minnesota—Fair tonight with warmer in west portion; Tuesday propably increasing cloudiness and warmer.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; warmer Tuesday and in northwest portion tonight.

North Dakota—Increasing cloudiness tonight or Tuesday; warmer.

South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; warmer tonight.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; colder in north and west portions tonight and in east portion Tuesday.

Shlpper's forecast: Protect 36-hour shipments of perishables against temperature 10 deg. to 20 deg. above zero in the Eastern Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Michigan Copper country.

"POLLY OF THE CIRCUS"

Old Favorite Returns to Duluth With Capable Company.

"Polly of the Circus," an old favorite in Duluth, returned to the Lyceum yesterday, playing to two fair sized audiences.

Duluth first met Polly in the person of Edith Taliaferro, two years ago, and enjoyed the sensation hugely.

The story gives a glimpse into real circus life. Polly is a little circus rider, who becomes crippled temporarily through an accident, and has to be left behind in a little town where the circus has been appearing. She is carried into the nearest house after being hurt, and this proves to be the home of a young minister. Her injuries prove so serious that she cannot be moved, and she is compelled to remain there until she recovers. Meanwhile Cupid and the town gossips get in their work. Polly realizes that the minister's reputation is suffering from her presence and decides to leave. The minister follows and finds her back with the circus. Cupid finally triumphs over the gossips and Polly decides to return as the minister's wife. In the closing scene the circus is seen wending its way over the hills, while the minister and Polly stand watching it disapear in the moonlight. It is a most effective bit of stagecraft evolved by Frederick Thompson, who first staged the production.

The famous third act shows the dressing room of a circus tent, and it is also staged in a very realistic manner.

Miss Georgia Olp has the role formerly played by Miss Edith Taliaferro. It demands youth and genuine artistic ability, for the part is an exacting one. Miss Olp appears to have both requirements, and in spite of the fact that Miss Taliaferro established her reputation in the part and Duluth has seen her in the role, Miss Olp made a most favorable impression yesterday.

The other members of the company are capable, and the production has not been allowed to degenerate since its first season on the road. It is also artistically staged and costumed It will be repeated tonight.

THE NEW BILL AT THE ORPHEUM

Remarkable Wire-Walking Act Is Best Number on the Program.

A wonderful young Cuban, who is in a class by himself as a slack wire walker, a dainty little playlet, Tom Waters with his happy-go-lucky monologue and pianologue, and the clever pantomine work of the Gee Jays are the best features of the Orpheum bill this week.

Tom Waters seems to get the lion's share of the applause, because he has the best comedy act on the bill, but for genuine merit in comparison with other acts in its own class, the performance of Robledello, the young Cuban wire walker must be given first place. There have been a number of wire walkers at the Orpheum this season, but none of them can even be compared with Robledello. He outclasses all of them. He doesn't use any balancing pole or other aids to equilibrium, and he works with amazing ease and rapidity. He walks along the wire with his hands in his pockets and then follows this with a cake walk on the wire and an imitation of an intoxicated gentleman that is nothing short of wonderful.

Waters has an old-fashioned, rough and tumble monologue; and he winds up with some imitations at the piano, which are well done. The audiences yesterday seemed to thoroughly enjoy him. His personality seems to count more than what he says or does.

The playlet is called "His Phantom Sweetheart." The theme is far from being a new one—that of a rich and miserly millionaire who repents. In this case the appearnce of his boyhood sweetheart in a dream brings about his repentence. He had always been known as a fair player in all boyhood games, she says, and now he was playing unfairly in the business game, cheating his fellow players and oppressing the weaker players. He awakes and turns over a new leaf, doubling the salary of his amazed private secretary, raising the pay of thousands of his employes and doing many other magnanimous acts that repentent millionaires in stories and dramas do. While the plot is not a new one, it is delightfully presented by Frederick Allen, an actor of the old school, and a player of no mean ability. Mr. Allen looks the part of the financier; his makeup is excellent and he handles the role in a convincing manner. He is ably assisted by Miss Edith van Allen.

If the Gee Jays would revive their comedy dialogue they would have a very novel and attractive act. They have a living marionette show of the type that is so popular in England. On a stage upon the stage they impersonate marionettes. Their faces are the faces of the little figures, and miniature bodies are attached. They sing several songs and do some grotesque dances that are funny and entertaining. Their dialogue, however, needs a little brushing up.

The featured act this week is Joseph Hart's "Bathing Girls." The producer has taken six very fair song numbers, added some very good electrical effects, provided six chorus girls of rather more than average attractiveness and served them with two principals, Glenwood White and Miss Albertina Benson. Mr. White has a very fair voice with plenty of volume, and what Miss Benson lacks in voice she makes up in appearance. It is a good average musical comedy act, the best number in it being the poster girl song.

The other two numbers on the bill are presented by Lightning Hopper, the cartoonist, and Miss Hilda Hawthorne. Miss Hawthorne is an excellent ventriloquist, rather better than the average. With a little more personality she would have an excellent act. Her dialogue with "Johnny" is humorous enough and her songs are well sung. She got twice the applause the ordinary ventriloquist act receives.

Lightning Hopper has discovered the fact that vaudeville audiences do not like to wait to see a cartoonist draw his pictures. His pictures are produced in a very few seconds. He works with great rapidity and tears off his pictures in record time. He has a short but entertaining act.

The motion pictures are up to the usual high standard and the overture is worth getting in early to hear. The bill will continue all week with a daily matinee.

Staging Musical Comedy.

If one could see the Mack-Leones rehearsing for "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway," one could gain some idea of the amount of work it requires to put on a musical show of the immensity of the Cohan piece. The members of the company have been at work for over a week and until Thursday, the opening evening, there will be scarcely time to sleep. There will be a chorus, special scenery and all the Cohan effects.

"A NIGHT IN AN ENGLISH HALL"

Karno's Feature Act Pleases Three Large Audiences at Empress.

Featured by Karno's Pantomime company presenting "A Night in an English Music Hall," the new vaudeville bill which began yesterday at the Empress theater is thoroughly up to the standard set by the Empress management.

The sketch by sixteen people is a combination of farce, caricature and comedy. Perhaps that latter virtue—for comedy is a virtue in vaudeville—predominates.

It is a play within a play and it gets safely across two sets of footlights easily and naturally.

The reception of some of the performers by the "Lunnon" audience is not the most polite. They "kill" some of the actors and others are dealt with more roughly, while the Duluth audience applauds.

The spectators—the London ones—come to the theater loaded with ammunition and they do not hesitate to show their likes and dislikes. Those who try to please the London music hall audiences take an awful chance, apparently.

The act provides music for everybody, however, and as a mirth provoker "A Night in an English Music Hall" has the average act beaten a logging road mile.

There are a lot of good things about the bill at the Empress this week. All the numbers are quite out of the ordinary. They are widely different from each other and each one is a hit in its particular class.

Frank Graham and Edith Randall in a sketch entitled "A Gay Old Boy" have an act in which is mixed a lot of clever comedy with some especially fine character work. Miss Randall appears inside a harem skirt. It was the first appearance of the skirt on a Duluth stage and it came near causing a scene from "A Night in an English Music Hall" to be enacted at the Empress. It would be hard to render a verdict on the harem skirt. There were, however, many comments on the newest thing from the French race tracks. "A Gay Old Boy" furnishes fun and amusement and does not depend on the harem skirt to hold attention.

"Phenomena" is a young man who sings. He sings everything—bass, baritone, tenor, contralto and soprano. He sings them all well and his songs with which he illustrates his wonderful voice are well chosen.

Edward Barto and Florence Clark do a song and dance turn. There is nothing very new about what they do, but they become favorites by the way in which they do it. Edward and Florence make themselves solid in the beginning and twenty minutes doesn't seem long enough to have them out in front.

La Vier, an aerialist, gives thrilling exhibitions of mid-air gymnastics. His stunts are new and this is saying a good deal for any one who attempts an act of this type.

The program closes with moving pictures. There will be three performances each day, one each afternoon and two each evening during the remainder of the week.

PROMINENT SUPERIOR CIGAR MERCHANT ENDORSES BAKE OVEN TREATMENT

AUG. J. BRUDER.

The latest man who is sounding the praises of the Bake Oven treatment administered by Loughney & Loughney is in the person of Aug. J. Bruder, a prominent Superior cigar merchant, located at 1022 Tower avenue, Superior, Wis. Mr. Bruder contracted a severe case of rheumatism in which his limbs were swollen and very painful. He found the greatest relief from the first treatment and discarded his cane and crutch after he had taken his third or fourth bake in the now famed Bake Oven.

Given Relief From First Treatment and Was able to Discard Crutch and Cane.

The old as well as the young are finding long-sought relief, and are very much surprised and pleased as the majority of them, after trying so many different treatments with no avail, had come to the conclusion that they would never be rid of either their ailment or crutches. Chronic cases of all disorders yield readily to the Bake Oven treatment. The sole reason is that it produces a perfect hyperemia effect of the blood stream and cleanses it of all poisonous secretions and impurities, thereby leaving it in a healthy condition.

Read Mr. Bruder's signed statement:

"I was suffering the most severe pain and after trying a few remedies with no results, was advised to take the Bake Oven treatments. I did and was a tickled man to find that I got instant relief. I have thrown away my crutch and cane and can get along fine without them. I think it will only be a matter of a few more treatments that I will be entirely cured. Everybody you come in contact with at their offices are enjoying a speedy cure. I give this testimonial so other sufferers will take advantage of the treatment and profit thereby,

"Yours truly,

Aug J Bruder

That Secret Recipe

The recipe for Van Camp's Spaghetti is a secret of our kitchens.

We can't reveal it to you.

Only three men know it. It has never been written down.

The dish is so popular—so amazingly liked—that the recipe for it has become an asset, almost beyond a price.

But you can always get it ready-cooked for less than it would cost you to make it.

You can have it on hand, always ready to serve simply by heating or baking.

Let our chefs make it, for there are 17 ingredients. And they have spent two years in getting this harmony of taste.

The main materials are:

Durum wheat spaghetti.
Herkimer County full cream cheese.
Best creamery butter.
The same expensive tomato sauce we use in Van Camp's Pork and Beans.

Italy, whose chefs are famed for spaghetti, has never produced a recipe like this.

Nobody who comes to your table will ever have tasted any other spaghetti comparable with this.

You'll want to serve it three times a week, and your folks will want to have you.

Please try it—order now.

PROTECT THE FORESTS.

A campaign of agitation has been started by the Minnesota Forestry association to secure pressure upon the Minnesota legislature, to insure the passage during the present session of the bill for the protection of the forests in the state from devastation by fire. It ought not to be necessary to bring any pressure to bear on the legislature to make the passage of that bill certain. Minnesota has had many sad and fearful lessons on the subject. She has seen her natural wealth reduced to ashes by the flames; has seen the homes of hundreds and thousands of her people swept away in the rush of the element; has been called upon to succor the needy whose entire possessions have been swept away by the periodical fires. There have been examples galore of the folly of leaving the great wooded areas unprotected, and one of these examples is so recent and was so fearful that every member of the legislature is familiar with it.

The bill now before the legislature provides for an efficient supervision of the forests and for a patrol that would make certain the extinguishing of any incipient blaze before it reached uncontrollable proportions. That is just what is needed in Minnesota. To fail to provide such protection would be the rankest folly.

Even aside from the immense financial losses to the state and to private interests within its boundaries, protection of the forests is necessary to the building up of the unsettled areas. Minnesota is making a bid for settlers. She is trying to convince outside people that here they will find opportunities to establish homes and rise to prosperity. But what man of common sense will risk his family and stake his entire wealth on a place where he may lose all—family, property, health and even his life—without a moment's warning? Yet that is the position that Minnesota, by her old-time policy of non-protection of her forests, is asking these possible settlers to take. The thing is not just to them, is not just to the state itself, and is not just to the people already within the state. To refuse to give this protection to our forests is to indulge in a parsimony that is bound to be disastrous.

The bill now before the legislature has the approval of the foremost forestry officials of the state and nation, and it ought not to be left in the discard when the legislature adjourns. It ought to be taken up at once and passed, and made a law of the state.

NEW YORK'S LATEST HORROR.

New York has added another chapter to her story of rapacity and greed for gain at any cost. Perhaps there will be found in the details of these new paragraphs another theme, too; a sinister theme, that, if bared fully to the light, would show humanity to be capable of the basest of treachery if by such treachery some moiety of personal profit might be obtained.

As usual, the city authorities have declared that there is to be a rigid investigation. That is well, as far as it goes. But no investigation can restore sound limbs to those crippled by the disaster, can renew life in those who died horribly on the altar of human greed, can bring back to bereaved homes the happiness of association with loved ones now dead, can supply for needy dependents the pittance earned by the victims of the Washington Square affair, or can wipe from the memory of the spectators the spectacle of scores of helpless human beings as they were hurled to a frightful fate on walks or pavements.

There have been other disasters, and other investigations. And after each disaster public opinion has been stirred to the fighting point, and after every investigation remedial laws have been passed. And a little later the laws have sunk quietly from the public mind, and conditions have gradually resumed the same state that prevailed before the disaster, and remained so until a fresh horror of the same character once more roused public opinion to another five minutes of wakefulness.

This is not the first horror of its kind that New York has seen. It is only a repetition, and a repetition whose prevention was sought by laws made in other years. It was not lack of legal provisions, but failure to enforce those provisions, that made the Saturday affair possible. And that is the fact that should stand out before the public more vividly than even the tragedy itself.

Although it was used for purposes that made a conflagration easy to start, the building was not provided for such emergencies. Trapped by the flames, there was no way for the inmates to escape. The result was a disaster that sent a shock to every home in the country, and the disaster was due to nothing in the world but the fact that somebody failed in his duty.

Who that somebody is has yet to be determined officially. But when his identity has been made sure, there should be no delay in punishing him. Such things as the Washington Square disaster are a blot on civilization. There are so many ways that they could be prevented, and yet there are so many men who allow personal gain to blind them to the rights of humanity and of society at large. The writing of laws on the statute books is not enough. Those laws should be enforced. If the provisions already made for protecting inmates of buildings are insufficient, let them be made more stringent. But if they are sufficient already, there must be strict enforcement of the requirements. New York has furnished too many such instances already. She should have learned her lesson by now, and her experience should be ample warning to other cities to guard against similar catastrophes within their own borders.

WILL THEY SAVE MONEY?

One of the most interesting studies for the people during the coming session of congress, and throughout the existence of the Sixty-second congress, will be the manner in which the Democrats, with their majority in the house, handle the finances of the nation. Through all the years of Republican administration the Democrats have been active critics of the way money has been spent. They have preached economy and have fired battery after battery of charges of extravagance at the party in power. Now they are to have a chance at the problem themselves. What will they do with it?

Representative McHenry of Pennsylvania, a Democrat, is one of the advocates of more careful use of the nation's money. In a post-humous edition of the Congressional Record appears a speech which he made on the last day of the short session, and in this speech he gives some interesting figures regarding the expenditure of money by congress. He begins with a criticism which is so well founded that it admits of no refutation. He says:

> When a system of appropriations can become so lax that in the closing session and on the very last day and hour of the session, as we have witnessed here today, congress votes on appropriations of over $540,000,000 of the people's money within the space of a few hours with scarcely any one in the house familiar with the details, it is time for the system to be changed, and it is now squarely up to the Sixty-second congress to change it.

Reducing these expenditures to their relation to the individual voter, Mr. McHenry says:

> In the election of 1908 the total vote cast for all presidential candidates was 14,888,442. If the total government cost is divided among the voters of the United States, the per capita tax for each voter would be $75.25. So, under the present order of things, every time the voter casts his vote for a member of congress or for president it is well for him to bear in mind that for the two years covering a congressional period he has a direct investment or interest in the matter to the extent of $150. And for every presidential period of four years his national government is costing him $300. Shall this per capita cost continue to increase, or shall it be reduced? That is the important question for the next and future congresses to answer.

Mr. McHenry promises to devote his energies, as long as he may remain in congress, to the enforcement of a policy of economy in government. It is a worthy ambition, one that the whole country would be glad to see realized, if it could be accomplished without a corresponding effect on efficiency. The Republican newspapers are skeptical as to the possibility of its being accomplished by the Democrats, but that in itself means nothing. They were skeptical about the possibility of the Democrats' controlling the house too, but they got badly left. With the senate Republican, it is easy to imagine that what the house determines may be allowed to stand if the Republican leaders see therein a chance to discredit the Democratic party. But in this matter of economical administration both houses should join, and save as much of the people's money as is possible. At any rate the action of the Democratic house in the matter of appropriations will be intensely interesting, and if a solution of the high cost of government is reached there will be rejoicing on all sides.

SEEKING EDUCATIONAL REFORM.

The intensity of the feeling that there is something radically wrong with the present educational system in this country is shown by a bill recently introduced in the Kansas legislature, to which attention is called by the Minnesota Alumni Weekly. The bill was first drawn to put the duties it involves on one man, but since that time it has been amended to provide for a commission to take up the task. The provisions of the original bill were as follows:

> Relieving from routine duty the chancellor of Kansas university and placing him upon special detail for one year at double pay to study and perfect a plan for the radical rearrangement of the courses of study pursued in the schools, high schools, colleges and university of the state, with the purpose of fitting the course to the natural bent and modern needs of the student; to eliminate multiplicity of subjects and divide and subdivide the retained subjects to the end of making the student a trained specialist; to plan a divorcement of the research department of the university from the teaching department; to give the study of the English language prominence over the study of foreign languages and dead languages; to plan not to throw a student into the waste heap because of an uncongenial study, but to eliminate that study from his path; to have made an economic study of flunking students and have same removed from college courses to a correspondence school or from high school courses to a business college; to plan to reduce juvenile crime by opening the eyes of eighth grade pupils to the more serious crimes and the punishment; to study other matters tending to enhance the helpfulness of the university; and to prepare a brief giving his conclusions and his recommended changes.

Whoever framed that measure had not only an extensive knowledge of the faults of our present public school and university systems, but a marvelous confidence in the ability of Chancellor Strong. The task proposed is one that might stagger the keenest student of modern education. It is not in the least likely that such reforms as are proposed could be even planned in the space of one year. But some of them, particularly those involving the flunking of students and the practice of "dumping them on the waste heap because of some uncongenial study," might be accomplished.

It has been the custom in our public educational system to seek to make every kind of mentality conform to a given standard of accomplishment. There is more of injustice, more of tragedy in that practice of enforcing failure because of one uncongenial study than the average man can see at first glance. In everything else, we study the object and put it where it will fit, but in our handling of the boys and girls we put them in some place and tell them to fit themselves into it. Sometimes we come across a case where such adaptation is impossible, but we go ahead on the same old lines and put all the blame on the boy or girl. If the Kansas commission is appointed and accomplishes the abolition of that practice, it will not have served in vain, though some other tasks consigned to it be left untouched.

So there is still a little of the lion left in the old month, after all.

Or maybe the troops were sent south to keep a lookout for Dorothy Arnold.

An Indiana woman carried a roll of banknotes in her hair. Now that is a kind of rat which no man would object to his wife's wearing.

It will be a hard race between the sporting editors of the country to see who can apply the most terms from the reciprocity treaty to the baseball lingo.

Out in West Duluth is a building in which children have been born at the rate of one a month for the last twenty years. Sometimes it seems as if it would be more humane to speak of "the storks."

Representative Underwood says the wool men need not expect that Schedule K in the tariff law will remain unchanged. That will not please the wool men, but it is mightily welcome news to the rest of the country.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

NOW IS THE TIME TO SWAT THE FLIES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

If a visitor in your home deliberately should wipe his muddy shoes on your best rugs, the lace curtains, the tapestry couch and the portieres, you would call the police if you personally were unable to eject him. Consider, then, the unmannerly and offensive conduct of these first house flies of spring, that are tracking cholera infantum germs over the sleeping baby's face, wiping off typhoid germs on the coffee cake and, loaded with tuberculosis germs, occasionally tumbling into the cream pitcher.

It's up to you to fight the flies—it's useless to call the police for such a need. And now is the time to destroy the advance-guard of the fly army that is responsible for the death of many persons in Duluth each summer. Get them before they have a chance to multiply, and be sure they have no garbage to feed and thrive upon. A well-directed swat right now may mean trillions of flies fewer when the hot weather causes the rapid decay of vegetable and animal matter and makes stagnant the ponds and sewers and sluggish the creeks.

The fly battalions do not come with waving banners and sounding drums and glittering weapons, but they are more destructive than all the standing armies in the world.

PHYSICIAN.

Duluth, March 26.

SCHOOLBOY JURORS.

Lincoln, N. B., Star: Down through the long ages has come the appeal that the boy be given a chance, and at last it has been answered.

Down at Owingsville, Ky., he has been drafted for service as a juror, possibly as an expedient for heading off the encroachments of woman suffrage.

A few days since a jury composed entirely of school boys heard and determined a criminal case in the circuit court at the town mentioned. It chanced that when this especial prosecution was called both sides announced ready for trial, but no jurors of the regular panels were available. Both petit juries were out, considering other cases, and Judge Young ordered the sheriff to go to the school building and summon twelve boys. This was done, and the boys, ranging from 13 to 18 years in age, were impaneled and placed in the regular jury box. The case tried was one wherein the defendant was charged with violating the local option law by selling a malted drink which contained more than the allowable percentage of alcohol. The youthful jury heard the evidence and retired, bringing a verdict of guilty after some twenty-five minutes' deliberation.

This is certainly a novelty in court procedure, and it worked so well that it may become infectious. The large majority of men who heartily despise jury service, will welcome the innovation, not only because it will allow them to escape this burdensome service, but because it will open the way for an industrious boy to become self-sustaining, while at the same time gaining that knowledge of the law which every citizen is presumed to possess.

Sober judgment will further suggest that it is quite probable that twelve bright school boys will make better jurors than the average panel of adults, will be more capable of discerning the intricacies of the law, will be fairer and more conscientious in the adaptation of the law to the facts and much less susceptible to improper influences than a similar body of men who have business, social and political connections that inevitably warp their judgment.

However, it might not be either wise or safe to the lads to bring them often in contact with the bootlegging cases. Boys are so inquisitive, and many of them might start out in life with an unconquerable ambition to discover what it is that "makes the wheels go round."

Railway Travel in Japan.

Railway Magazine: It was in 1875 that the first railway was opened, connecting Tokio and Yokohama. Since then new lines have been completed in many directions and it is now possible to travel from the extreme south to the northern boundary—a distance of more than a thousand miles. As a people, the Japanese have taken to traveling in a remarkable manner. Even in winter the trains are full, while in summer the passengers literally overflow on the footboards on the end of each carriage. The rolling stock is all made in Japan; it is less well cared for than that to which we are accustomed in the British isles, and the compartments are less comfortable, the first-class coaches being about equal to the third-class in England.

But much as the rolling stock may be behind our own, the Japanese methods of handling luggage are infinitely superior, and if the passenger has no more than hand baggage his bicycle is carried free. The names of the stations are displayed in English as well as in Japanese, but although advertising has begun to disfigure the rural beauties of Japan, it has happily not yet reached that advanced stage when it is easy to mistake somebody's cocoa, soap, ink or other commodity for the name of the station. At many of the stations a list in Japanese and English enumerates the places of interest in the neighborhood, and having given the distances at which they will be found adds the words: "For further information apply to the station master."

Some Help to the Church.

New York World: George Brockway, whose death occurred recently at Hillsboro, N. H., was 83 years old.

He began singing in the choir of the East Washington Baptist church when 12 years old. For sixty years he was the leader of the choir. There were many years that he did not miss a Sunday.

He sang at over 800 funerals. For thirty-five years he was superintendent of the Sunday school.

The Galaxy of Double Stars.

Portland Oregonian: Coburg, Lane county, a village of 800 people, boasts two pairs of twins born within the last six weeks, and six pairs of various ages in attendance upon its public schools. Upon the basis of these facts Col Roosevelt is to be invited to visit Coburg while in the state and say a few encouraging and congratulatory words to the parents of the village.

A Hoosier Warning.

Laporte Herald: Editor Herald—Mrs. Bessie Baker of Laporte, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Mattie Nicholas of Chicago Heights, will return home today. The parties on Scott street, also on Perry, who have told it around that me and my wife have deserted each other, is certainly a mistake. Now those parties had better keep their noses out of other people's business and not cause further trouble.

WILO E. BAKER.

Manx Laws.

London Chronicle: Legislation in the Isle of Man is at a standstill because the House of Keys has gone on strike. Manxmen can afford to mark time for their laws have long been in advance of ours. Every woman, widow or spinster, in the Isle of Man, whether she be owner, occupier or lodger, enjoys the parliamentary franchise. Every widow enjoys half of her husband's personal estate and has a life interest in his real estate, and she cannot be deprived of this by will. The sale of cigarettes and intoxicants to children was forbidden in Man for years before such a prohibition was enforced here. We have legislated mildly against money lenders. The highest interest that can be charged for a loan in the island is 6 per cent, and that has been the law for over 200 years.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

"Flopping" on Reciprocity.

Stillwater Gazette: The Dassel Anchor says considerable "flopping" has been done lately on the part of newspapers, as well as public men, who have been against the Canadian reciprocity treaty. A good deal of their frenzied argument against it has been inspired by the idea that they might make themselves "solid" with the farmers.

No Danger to the Farmer.

Albert Lea Tribune: It looks a little curious that the Minnesota and other Northwest senators should feel so fearful of the interests of the farmers regarding the Canadian reciprocity agreement, relative to their wheat, when the price of wheat is practically fixed in Liverpool, and will continue to be if reciprocity is agreed to. Relative distances from market considered, wheat has brought the same price to the Canadian farmer of the Northwest, that it has the farmer in this country, and will doubtless continue to do so, so there will be no danger of the American farmer of the Northwest running up against a lot of cheap wheat, should the agreement be accepted.

Due to Misunderstanding.

Chisholm Tribune-Herald: The Tribune-Herald is firm in the belief that much of the ill feeling that exists between the country districts and the cities is due to misunderstanding. While their interests are to some extent different yet they are so interdependent on each other that they cannot afford to grow apart.

Political Death Warrants.

Warren Register: Some of the senators are trying to bluff Eberhart out, by saying that by calling an extra session he would be digging his political grave. In effect, they hold that it would be suicidal for him to do what he can to put an end to the injustice that is being and for many years has been done to Northern Minnesota in the matter of representation in the two houses of the state legislature, and that his political future depends upon his acquiescenece in the continuance of this wrong for which they are primarily responsible. Has it come to such a pass that the people prefer in seats of honor and authority men who stand for the wrong to those who uphold the right? Those senators who are threatening Eberhart are thereby signing their own political death warrants, if their constituents are, as they should be, honorable and fair minded citizens.

Kept His Promises.

Sauk Rapids Sentinel: Senator J. D. Sullivan was one of the men who stood by his guns and his pre-election promises when he voted for reapportionment the other day. More than that he raised his voice in a demand for justice for Northern Minnesota and, according to the Twin City papers, made one of the most effective speeches during the debate. He was one of the five Democrats who voted right on the proposition. Senator Sullivan is proving to be a real heavyweight in the councils of the state. One of the most commendable things about him is his desire to be right even though in so doing he is upholding the hands of a Republican administration and not playing politics with some of his fellow Democrats.

The Right Attitude.

Cambridge Independent Press: The attitude Governor Eberhart has taken relative to the duty imposed upon the Republican party to pass an equitable reapportionment bill is most commendable. The governor takes the stand that when the Republican party in its convention last summer declared in favor of reapportioning the legislative districts of the state, the party and the people demanded it and the party became pledged to that action with all the solemnity of a contract.

The Cities' Unselfish Interest.

Alexandria Post-News: In the support accorded the Dunn good roads amendment by the legislative delegations of the three large cities of this state the evidence of an unselfish interest in these cities in the welfare of the state at large. It will be no small contribution to good roads to pay $400,000 of the proposed tax of $1,000,000 and receive in return only $90,000 for road work in Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis counties. Under the proposed amendment the most any county can receive is 2 per cent of the tax levied. This disposition on the part of large cities to support the measure further demonstrates the fact that the good roads proposition has taken a deep hold on the public. All recognize the value of good foads and the need of a general tax for road construction. These cities will not directly receive back that which they give but they will be repaid indirectly in the general improvement of the state.

Prodigal Career Ends.

Philadelphia Record: After having squandered several fortunes, John Applegate, originator and builder of what is now known as Young's million-dollar pier, in Atlantic City, is serving a sentence for vagrancy in the Los Angeles county jail, California. The old man is now 87 years old and unless some of his relatives or the friends he knew in his palmy days come to his assistance he will probably end a somewhat spectacular career behind the prison bars.

The brief news dispatch announcing that old Applegate has been sentenced to jail, destitute, has recalled the man to the memory of many Philadelphians. In the early 90's his prodigalities, both here and in New York city, caused a sensation. He was the first of the tintype photographers, and while he was in business he was said to have made as much as $50,000 a year, his daily sittings at times netting him nearly $1,000. He was also one of the largest of the early advertisers, his signs and other odd devices being erected all over the city and along the greater portion of the river front.

Unclaimed War Medals.

London Daily Mail: Over 30,000 King's and Queen's South African war medals and clasps are awaiting ownership at the medal branch of the royal ordnance stores, Woolwich.

Most of the missing claimants are members of the various irregular corps which existed during the war only. Each of the 30,000 medals is stamped on its rim with the rank and name of its owner so that identification becomes comparatively easy.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1891.

•••New Duluth has secured a new industrial enterprise in the shape of a furniture factory. The contract has just been closed with B. B. Richards for a concern to employ 300 men. The work on the foundations has been started.

•••J. B. Holmes, general manager of the Duluth, Red Lake & Northern road, who is in Duluth today, says: Our surveying party will reach Duluth via Lester river in about a week. They are now somewhere this side of the Mesaba range and are making good progress. The money is secured and we are not talking for fun." Mr. Holmes built the Duluth & Manitoba, now an important feeder of the Northern Pacific.

•••Senator Ignatius Donnelly, in talking in the state senate yesterday about rail and water route competition, said: "Duluth is the center and heart of the prosperity of this state. But for connection with Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis would be only way stations on the Milwaukee railway, Lake Superior, that great arm of the sea, reaches into the Northwest, and with its very fingers seems to extend itself further inland for the benefit of our state and this great section of the Union."

•••The Eastern Minnesota road has fairly earned the title of "menagerie route." Last year its day passenger train caught a full-grown deer on the cow catcher and carried it to the next station, and a few weeks later it caught and killed a black bear which was enjoying an afternoon promende on the track. Yesterday evening the list was increased by the death of a wolf and a catamount, says Conductor Gilboy, and he shows some mangled remains to substantiate his claim. The two animals were engaged in a duel on the track when struck by the locomotive.

•••Supt. F. S. Wardwell of the Duluth street railway says that work on the extension of the line to West Duluth will begin at an early date and should be completed by July 1. It is not likely that anything will be done this season on a line to Lakeside or up Twenty-fourth avenue west.

DULUTH AND THE HERALD.

Not the Brainerd Schools.

Brainerd Dispatch: A scare head over a Deerwood special in The Duluth Herald says "Scarlet fever closes the schools of Brainerd." It will take something more than scarlet fever in Deerwood to close the educational factories of this city.

For a New State.

Moose Lake Star-Gazette: State of Northern Minnesota, capital, Duluth. Wouldn't that look pretty good?

Favors an Amendment.

Greenbush Tribune: We are heartily in favor of the suggestion made by The Duluth Herald, that an amendment be submitted making it mandatory on the legislature to reapportion the legislative districts when the population of one section becomes larger than that of another. This thing of letting a handful of selfish senators trample on the rights of others would then be done away with.

A Republican View.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The Duluth Herald sings in great glee that the Republicans have been stung by the reapportionment hornet. In looking over the list of senators who fought the reapportionment bill, it may be in order to venture the information that if the Republicans have been stung, the Democrats have been sandbagged.

The Coming Metropolis.

Biwabik Times: Duluth banks report an average deposit of $21,500,000, according to the Commercial club of that town. That is another proof of the growing importance of this entire section of the country. Even in St. Paul and Minneapolis it is conceded that Duluth is the coming metropolis of Minnesota.

It Has Begun.

Hill City News: Isn't it about time that the agitation for a safe and sane Fourth of July began again in Duluth?

The Teachers' Salaries.

Laporte News: Instead of the school children of Duluth howling, it is now the teachers who are doing the "howling." They are after an increase in salary, and say if they do not receive it they will have to go home to spend the summer as they will have nothing else to spend.

The Conventional Unconventionalist.

Spectator: Mr. Shaw's method is the method of that very useful person the jester with a purpose, the jester who wants to make you think, the jester who aims at playing the part of the Socratic gadfly, who stings the community into taking itself seriously and considering its immortal soul. His chief artifice is to single out and isolate some admitted folly and inconvenience in an institution which he dislikes, and next, by the use of devices which the dialectician has employed ever since primitive man sat in the mouth of his cave and dissected his neighbors and showed up their "goatish dispositions," to throw the limelight of his humor and irony straight in our eyes. It is very dazzling, but it does not make for cool reasoning.

Every one remembers the manner in which the clown in "Twelfth Night" proved to the Lady Olivia that she was a fool to grieve for her brother's death. That, with a little more subtlety and sophistry, is Mr. Shaw's way, and a very successful one it sometimes is. Even though it may involve a certain amount of exaggeration and injustice and the ignoring of true proportion and true perspective, it does very often make men think who could not be made to think by any other method. Unfortunately it is a method which is apt to become stiff and rigid. Mr. Shaw delights to think himself, though of course he would not admit it, very unconventional, whereas he is in reality the most conventional of writers. One wants very little knowledge of his works to realize exactly how in any given case he will twist his paradox, set the pyramid on its apex, and generally turn things inside out and bottom upward. If the truth be told, he often attacks us with an equivalent of the circus clown's strident "How are we tomorrow?"

$6,000,000 for Toys.

Consular Reports: The bulk of the American toy purchase at Nuremberg for this year has now gone over, and it is notable that it is considerably larger than last year.

For the first nine months of this year the declared value of the toys shipped from this district to the United States was $1,854,519. This is $246,186 greater than the shipments for the same period last year and only $50,058 less than the shipments for the entire year 1909. Toy exports to America for the present quarter will probably reach $850,000, making the total for the year something over $2,200,000, an increase of more than 15 per cent over 1909.

These toys pay an average of 35 per cent duty, or a total of about $770,000, and thus, without taking account of freight, they cost the American importers in round figures about $3,000,000. From the best information obtainable, 100 per cent is a small figure to add for freight charges, profits of wholesalers and profits of retailers. Thus the toys bought in the single city of Nuremberg this year for the amusement of the boys and girls of the United States will cost the American donors the round sum of $6,000,000.

The Ball of Company L.

Keokuk Gate City: Extremely brilliant, superlatively beautiful, the most magnificent affair in a decade, the first annual military ball of Company L presented to all Keokuk last night, surpassed all expectations in point of elegance and unalloyed enjoyment for the nearly 500 ladies and gentlemen who formed the guest company of the city's proud military organization. To launch upon the luxuriousness of the details words seem inadequate to express the splendor of the affair, which can truly be said not to have had its peer in recent years and was the cause of gladsome surprises for the many who were present and assisting, made the event the more than success that it was.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Life: At the Brooklyn Bridge—"Madam, do you want to go to Brooklyn?

"No. I have to."

Washington Herald: "I have sold my old typewriter."

"You were sensible. Jinx married his."

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "What did you say the former senator's oldest boy is doing?"

"He's organizing the 'Society of Sons of Lame Ducks.'"

Chicago Record-Herald: "Tell me that I may hope," he pleaded.

"All right," she replied, "hope on, but don't ask me to feed your hope with a spoon."

Houston Post: "One thing about Jinx, he never comes into one's office without knocking."

"Another thing about Jinx is that he never goes anywhere without knocking."

Puck: Landlady (smilingly).—"Are you aware that you slept in a real mahogany bed last night, Mr. Howells?

Howells (meanly).—"Was that what it was? It felt like lignum vitae!

Washington Star: "When I got through with my remarks," said one lawyer, "the jury was in tears."

"Yes," replied the other; "they probably realized then that your poor client hasn't a chance in the world."

The Hitching Post in Chicago.

Chicago Record-Herald: The old hitching rack for farmers' teams is not obsolete in Chicago. At least one is left and that not far from the West end business center. It is on West Madison street near Forty-eighth avenue, in a growing business district. Twenty years ago there was a small cluster of stores at this point, which then was far from the city limits and street car service. Farmers from the west drove in to do their small marketing and attend church. Now it is a part of Chicago, but the hitching rack is still there. "Oh, yes, the old rack is still used," an old timer in the neighborhood said, "but of course nothing like in the old days. It was crowded with teams every Saturday afternoon when the farmers came in to do their trading."

SURGEON FOR POLICE DUTY

Need for Doctor Assigned to Headquarters Regarded as Pressing.

Attention of Surgeon for Injured Men Needed Frequently of Late.

The pressing need of a regularly hired police surgeon to attend injured men who come to the attention of the police in one way or another, is becoming more apparent every day.

A glance over the records at the police station shows that in the last two weeks a physician has had to be called in to dress the wounds of half a dozen men, who have been hurt in different ways. Two of them had been stabbed, another had tried to commit suicide by slashing his throat, and two others had injuries to their heads and faces. All of these cases were of the urgent kind, and in two or three of them the men would have lost their lives from loss of blood had they not received prompt attention. Others who were not so badly hurt had to get along as best they could.

In fact, say those who are familiar with the situation, it will not be long before it will be necessary to have a police surgeon at headquarters constantly, to accompany the patrol wagon or the city ambulance when it is sent out on an accident case. There is a public sentiment, which is constantly becoming stronger, that the city shall give proper attention to the men who are injured in its limits. Many of them are without funds and unable to pay for the services of a physician. In some instances, even where the man has had money, it has been found impossible to get a doctor in a hurry. But a police surgeon would be constantly within reach and could be summoned in a hurry. In more than one case a life has been lost because a physician could not be secured in a short enough time.

The hiring of a police surgeon has been frequently and forcibly urged by Chief Troyer, who, from an intimate knowledge of the situation, realizes the great need of such an official. It has been brought before the council several times, but up to date no action has been taken. The matter has been referred to a committee, which, evidently, has not given it the serious consideration it merits.

In the last two weeks the men who were most seriously hurt were John Maki, stabbed in the abdomen; James Wesley, colored, gash in forehead and broken arm, discovered after he had been in jail half a day; Andrew Koja, who tried to commit suicide by cutting his throat and whose life was saved by prompt attention; and John Lien, who was stabbed in the back as he was leaving a St. Croix avenue saloon late one night last week.

KNIFE USED TO COLLECT MONEY

Proctor Man Says Shoemaker Threatened to Kill Him.

Antonio Carica, alias Hart, was arrested this morning by Deputy Sheriff King on a warrant sworn out by Edwin B. Hoyt, charging him with assault in the second degree. Hoyt declares that Carica, who is a shoemaker, threatened him with a dagger and said that he would kill him.

It seems that the shoemaker had repaired a pair of boots for Hoyt in his shop at Proctor, and that Hoyt objected to paying him $1.40, the price demanded. It is said that Hoyt offered him $1 for the job, and that after a wordy wrangle, he grabbed the shoes and started out. At this stage it is said that Carica caught him, and refused to let him go, using a long knife which he had on his bench with which to intimidate Hoyt.

During the altercation it is explained that a mutual acquaintance came into the shop, and that by his aid they compromised upon $1.25, which was paid. Carica asked for an examination when he was arraigned in police court this morning and his hearing was set for Friday morning.

DULUTH POLICE MAKE INQUIRIES

About Former Zenith City Man Who Admitted Forgery in Fargo.

Fargo, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Duluth officials are after John Eckmark, who pleaded guilty here last week to forgery. Eckmark signed the name of a farmer living near Amenia, N. D., to a number of checks and claimed he was drunk at the time. He stated that he had lived for years in Duluth until her recently came here. Since his arrest Duluth officials are making inquiries concerning his alleged connection with forgeries in the Zenith City.

FORMER MAYOR JOHNSON PASSES RESTFUL NIGHT.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 27.—"Mr. Johnson's condition is good," was the statement issued today from the sick room of Former Mayor Tom L. Johnson, whose present illness has caused anxiety among his friends. Last night he was reported not so well, as the result of his exertions when he sat up for a while. A restful night, however, enabled him to regain some of his lost strength.

FINDS NO TRACE OF BURNING STEAMER.

Washington, March 27.—After a thorough search of the California coast, Capt. Daniels of the revenue cutter McCulloch, reports that the story of a burning steamer sighted on Saturday off Eureka, Cal., is probably untrue. The McCulloch was ordered to search for survivors, but could find no trace of a disaster.

FRINK CASE STILL ON TRIAL

Suit of Former Duluth Butcher May Last Another Week.

The case of H. C. Frink against the wholesale and retail meat dealers of the city is still on before Judge William A. Cant of the district court.

This morning a number of local butchers were on the stand and several of them admitted that the association maintained a regular schedule of the prices of meats from day to day and that a violation of that schedule was cause for suspension from the association.

The attorneys are working to draw out the purposes of the Retail Butchers' association. After they have done that to their satisfaction, they will try to show instances in which Frink was turned down for meats by the wholesalers because he did not belong to the association.

The case is one in which Frink asks damages to the amount of $57,000 for an alleged conspiracy between the wholesalers and retailers as the result of which he was forced out of business.

The case has been going on for a week and looks good for the remainder of the present one.

IS A BULL ON FLAXSEED

Charles H. Thornton Returns From a Tour of Northern Europe.

Charles H. Thornton returned today from a tour of Northern Europe for several Eastern linseed oil crushers. He visited London, Paris, Antwerp, Hull, Rotterdam, Amsterdam and several other cities. He would have gone to Russia if reports of plague in districts he intended to visit had not deterred him.

"I am hillishly inclined regarding the price of flaxseed and linseed oil," said Mr. Thornton. "Europe cannot cut down its consumption further and supplies are low. I didn't get to Russia on account of the plague. The London papers played up the plague prominently and I didn't care to take any unnecessary risks.

"The decline in flaxseed prices is not specially significant. The fact that crushers have been offering seed in the Northwestern markets indicate that they can import seed more cheaply than they could buy it here if there were any seed to buy. They can replace the seed they have been offering with cheaper foreign seed."

Business in the East, said Mr. Thornton, is fair but not above normal. European travel is heavy for this time of the year.

LEAVES WIFE AND EIGHT CHILDREN.

James Martin, 57 years old, a teamster, died last night at his residence, 906 Garfield avenue, supposedly of injuries sustained at the Alger-Smith mill St. Patrick's day, March 17.

He was struck by a slab from a chute, which was thought to have caused internal injuries. The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of Flood & Horgan on East First street, where a post mortem will be performed this afternoon to determine the exact cause of his death.

He is survived by his wife and eight children. The funeral will take place Wednesday morning from the residence to St. Clement's church, with interment at Calvary cemetery.

STEAMER LUCKENBACH IN DANGEROUS POSITION.

Washington, March 27.—The steamer D. N. Luckenbach is in a dangerous position on the New Ground shoals, northwest of Key West, Fla. The revenue cutter Forward is standing by and has called for assistance. The Yamacraw, cruising near there, has been ordered to the scene by wireless.

New York, March 27.—Advices received today by the Luckenbach line here of the grounding of the steamer D. N. Luckenbach contained no particulars of the mishap to the vessel. The Luckenbach sailed from Tampa on March 22 for Baltimore with a cargo of merchandise. She carried no passengers. Her crew numbered twenty-eight men.

The Luckenbach is a steamer of 1,851 tons net burden and was built in 1883.

ART IMPORTING FIRM PAYS $20,000 IN FINES.

New York, March 27.—Louis J. Duveen and Joseph Duveen, members of the art importing firm of Duveen Bros., pleaded guilty today to charges of conspiring to defraud the Federal government by making under-valuations of imports of art objects.

Judge Martin, of the United States circuit court, fined the importers $10,000 each, the maximum fine, which was paid.

DYNAMITER GETS TEN YEARS IN PRISON.

Columbus, Ohio, March 27.—William Cavanaugh, the first of the quartet of dynamiters to be found guilty, was sentenced to ten years in the Ohio penitentiary today by Judge Rogers.

Cavanaugh was found guilty on two counts, one of having dynamite unlawfully in his possession, and the other of placing it on the street car tracks. Judge Rogers gave him five years on each count.

Detroit, Mich., March 27.—The 1911 season of passenger steamboat navigation opened here today when the steamer City of Detroit left for Cleveland with a thirty-two mile gale blowing from the southwest. Lake Erie is reported clear of ice between here and Cleveland.

New Postmaster.

Washington, March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Francis Hrachoviski has been appointed postmaster at Page Millalac county, vice J. F. Malone, resigned.

Cold Wave Did No Harm.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 27.—Dr. George M. Chappell, head of the Iowa crop bureau, said today that the cold wave of last night did no harm to fruit, as the buds had not sufficiently developed. The thermometer in Des Moines registered a minimum of 18 deg. above zero.

One Killed, Eight Injured.

Manchester, N. M., March 27.—The head of a twelve-inch steam pipe at a local power house blew out today, killing one man instantly and severely injuring eight other persons.

SPRING OPENING AT GIDDING'S

Beautiful Display of New Styles in Women's Garments.

Despite the wintry weather this morning J. M. Gidding & Co. held their spring opening. The store was spring-like enough inside, with its display of spring and summer clothes which were complete in all lines.

The shoppers were taken through the entire store and shown the handsome offerings in every department. They started with the gowns. First came elaborate evening gowns in which the veiled effects given with chiffon or marquisette over silks and satins, were the characteristic feature. Beaded designs and striped effects were the principal trimmings of these gowns. Next the semi-dress gowns were seen where the foulards in plain and fancy effects are the strong feature. In the white gowns the cotton voiles and marquisettes trimmed with cluny laces and embroidered and beaded in Oriental colors were the leading styles. A touch of color appeared on nearly every white gown.

In the suit department the suits showed the Eton coat as the newest feature, although the most usual coat is of hip-length. Satins in blacks and navy blues are very strong and style features of these were their cutaway effects, the long revers and sailor collars. The high waisted effect is also brought out in milkado hat. The smartest feature in trimming for the coats is the wide Hercules braid.

Black and white is the principal color combination for the season and appeared in every line in the store, in handbags, hats, coats, suits and hosiery.

The hat department of the shop was a scene of beauty, although the variety of brilliant colors is somewhat astonishing. Never before have such brilliant colors been used on the hats and such queer combinations of colors, but the effects are good and the hats are most attractive. For early wear the rough straws in small hats are the leading style, but later the softer straws and larger models will be worn.

Two handsome hats were displayed in one of the windows. One of purple with an abruptly rolling brim and two large willow plumes of the same color covering the entire hat, and another of black and white with the white willow plumes, were very attractive.

Lacy undermuslins and elaborate negligees of soft silks, messalines, lawns and dimities were shown in the underwear department.

The children's and misses' department also was filled with a complete line of coats, suits, party dresses and wash dresses built on junior lines but following the same general style effects as the women's garments are made on.

Waists of chiffon, marquisettes, linens and delicate fabrics with chiffon beaded jumpers and elaborate allover Irish lace waists are displayed, and a full line of new novelties in jewelry and leather goods complete the display which they are making for spring shoppers.

GOOSE AS A PET.

Country Life: During a recent visit to Bridlington, writes a correspondent, I was much amused to come across a large goose that had been adopted as the pet of a small home in the older part of the town. It frequently followed its master on the pier and in the streets and might often be seen waddling after him with slow, measured steps along the country lanes, sometimes walking eight and ten miles at a stretch.

Two years ago the live goose was sent in November for the Christmas day dinner, a destiny which was never fulfilled, as before a week had passed it had become the pet of the family, walking in and out of the house at its leisure. It now often takes its food from the children's hands at the dinner table and constantly perches on the man's shoulder as he sits and reads. The old bird is a popular favorite in Bridlington, where it is well known by the name of John Willie.

COPPERS STRONGER; SHORTS COVERING

Values Advance in Dull Market—Traders Still Apathetic.

In a dull market the copper stocks generally advanced today. There was some buying in rails which gave a better tone to the market and coppers moved forward in sympathy. Shorts were disposed to get under cover and their buying gave the upward movement a slight impetus.

The local market was dull. Denn sold at $6, Warren at $2.12½, Cliff at $1, Keating at $2.75, Tuolumne at $4.93¾, Vermillion Iron & Steel at $2.93¾, Calumet & Corbin at 22c.

Amalgamated sold at $62.25 to $63.75, Superior & Pittsburg at $14.25 to $14.12½, Calumet & Arizona at $50.25 to $50, Giroux at $6.25, Greene at $6.50 to $6.56¼, Ojibway at $6, North Butte at $28.25 to $28.50.

The Boston News Bureau said today: "United Metals Selling company is understood to have been in negotiation this week for sale of a substantial block of copper which would materially lessen that agency's surplus accumulation now on hand. Had the United Metals been willing to do business at 12¾ cents it could have sold fully 50,000,000 pounds this month. The sales made by the Amalgamated agency during February were not heavy and the average price of its transactions in that month was close to 12⅜ cents a pound."

A Boston wire to Paine, Webber & Co.: "The new reverberatory furnace at the Greene-Cananea plant has been blown in and two reverberatories and four blast furnaces are now in operation. During April a small supply of concentrates from the Miami mill will be received, but not until late in the year will Miami be in a position to send forward a normal tonnage of these concentrates.

Notwithstanding the low price of copper there is basis for the statement that a small dividend to Greene-Cananea shareholders is by no means an impossibility during the current year."

The rumor has periodically appeared of late that following the listing of Chino on the New York Stock exchange a similar course would be undertaken in Boston, says the Boston News Bureau. This, however, is not the case. Chino is listed on the Boston curb, and there it is likely to remain so far as the local market is concerned. Those who are responsible for Chino—as a mine and so far as is necessary in the stock market—have no intention of again asking for a listing on the Boston Stock exchange. This privilege has once been asked and was denied. Some members of the Boston Stock exchange feel that a mistake was made in turning down Chino's application made last summer. With the ever narrowing market in Boston, the refusal to list a "respectable" stock is regarded by these members as a distinct loss.

SLANG OF THE CRIMINAL.

"Modern criminal slang has expressiveness and applicability," says a writer in Case and Comment. "It has taken our modern civilization to make the present day criminal and to evolve his peculiar dialect.

"To everybody the subject appeals as interesting, but to certain classes, it is vital. I mean all detectives, policemen, lawyers—in short all persons in any way whatever connected with the administration of justice.

"Crooks can converse at will in the presence of the police or can write to each other without being in the least understood by the uninitiated. The average policeman is known to the underworld as a 'harness bull,' and the criminal feels a contempt for the officer's knowledge.

"Thieves from different parts of the country have different expressions, though after a 'meet' of Western and Eastern thieves an interchange of slang follows and one group readily picks up the sayings of the other. A critical study of this slang of the criminal world is interesting.

"Take the pickpocket, who is called 'a gun.' 'A gun' is a thief who does not use force, which sounds like a paradox but is nevertheless true. In this way he is unlike the 'gorilla,' the strong arm highwayman. A 'grafter' is a thief. A complaint or charge is a 'rap' and the complainant is the 'rapper.' The one whose property is stolen is the 'sucker' and the judge is the 'beak.'

"A 'fall' is an arrest, 'fall money' is what is used to liberate a man from custody. 'To spring a man' is to bail him out. And to help square the 'sucker' and get a man off clear from any charge the 'underground wires' must be used. A pocketbook is a 'poke' and the man who jumps his bail, becoming a fugitive from justice, is a 'lamaster.'

"The thief who steals your pocketbook is the 'wire' or 'tool,' and the gang of three or more pickpockets who travel together is called a 'mob.' A 'swell mob' is a gang that can hire first-class legal talent and have good financial backing. When a man is convicted of crime he is 'settled,' or, to use the English phrase, 'unfortunate.'

"If a girl loses her fellow through a court sentence she is 'divorced.' A 'swell mouthpiece' is a very good lawyer, while a very bad one is called a 'shyster.' A pickpocket is frequently called a 'dip,' and in Western states a 'cannon.'

"A shoplifter is called a 'booster,' or 'hoister' or 'hyster,' and an exceptionally smart one 'a swell booster.' A green goods man who is playing his trade is said to be 'out of the spud.' Store thieves who steal jewelry are called 'penny weighters,' while thieves who tap store tills are called 'damp getters,' and when working are said to be 'out of the heel.'

"Thieves who steal diamonds or other precious stones from the person are called 'prop getters' or 'stone getters.' A woman thief is called a 'gun moll,' and a male thief who makes a specialty of robbing women is called a 'moll buzzer.' A safe blower is called a 'gopher man,' 'peterman' or 'yeggman' and 'gerver.' An empty safe is called 'bloomer.' A second-story worker who breaks and enters dwelling houses is called a 'houseman,' 'porch climber' and 'flat worker.'

"'Turn out' is to discharge from arrest and put a man on the street. The go-between of lobbyists who buys up legislators is called the 'gravel train,' because he has the 'rocks' whereby he can debauch legislators, and the lobbyist himself is known in the criminal world as a 'dress suit burglar.'

"The thief who robs drunken men is called a 'lush toucher,' and the stylish hotel beat is called a 'bon.' A lodging house is called a 'doss house,' and to sleep is to 'doss.' A restaurant is a 'dump' or 'beanery,' and a convict who works the churches and is insincere in his profession of religion is termed a 'm'ssion stiff.' A minister is called a 'sky pilot' and a Catholic priest is called a 'Galway' or 'buck.'

"A prison turnkey is alluded to as a 'screw' and prison food is called 'steamed grub.' 'Mugged' is photographed and 'stood up' is to be placed in the line at police headquarters for identification and exposed to the gaze of probabel 'rappers.' An 'Irish clubhouse' is the police station, and an 'ink pot' is a reporter for low characters.

"A 'thimble' and 'turulp' is a watch, and counterfeit money is 'bad dough.' Diamonds with flaws are called 'bum rocks,' and a 'fixer' is a man who looks after the interests of the man who is arrested, squares the 'sucker,' hires the lawyer and attends to all necessary details. A thief of police is a 'buzzard' or 'mean person,' and a 'good fellow' is a thief, man or woman, who pays his bills.

"A 'prison stool pigeon' is a 'trusty psalm singer' or 'pie,' and 'stick and slug' means 'keep together and fight.' 'Slinging the lingo' is to hold a conversation in slang, while a 'mush' is an umbrella and a 'wipe' is a handkerchief. 'Track 13 and a washout' is a life sentence in a Western penitentiary, and 'Salt creek' means death in the electric chair.

"'Anchor' is a stay of execution of sentence, and a 'lifeboat' is a pardon.

"'Making the boast' is getting by the pardon board and obtaining a pardon. 'Shakedown' is paying for police protection against your will, and a 'dead criminal' is one who has become discouraged, reformed or given up grafting. 'Rat' is a cheap thief who squeals on 'fall money' and refuses to pay his bills.

"These are but a few specimens out of hundreds which might be given. The vocabulary of criminal slang is large, and strangely enough there runs through it a vein of good natured humor."

TEACH SICK FOLKS TO JUGGLE.

American Medicine: Speaking of conjuring, the allied art of juggling is one of the most amusing and valuable of diversions, especially to the sedentary. Many physicians become expert in juggling, but it is to their patients that it is most useful.

The bedridden, if they retain the use of their hands, may beguile many a weary hour in learning to keep three or four tennis balls in the air at once and in balancing sticks and other simple objects on the forefinger or on the chin.

For the brainworker who does not care for walking there is no better recreation. It has often occurred to us that in cases where there is any reason to fear some form of paralysis the educating of disused cerebral, cerebellar and spinal centers by the rapid and complex movements required in juggling might serve to act as an efficient preventive.

We do not wish to claim too much for manual education of this kind, but we may point out that it tends to perfect nervous poise and that no juggling trick can be properly done if the performer indulges in dissipation even so mild as beer and cigarettes.

For instance, in renting rooms the answers will be better and more numerous if you tell the size, price, direction, locality, accessible car lines, etc., than if you merely give the street address. CLOQUET Y. M. C. A. CIRCUS MINSTREL SHOW BIG SUCCESS

HOW THE BURNT CORK ARTISTS LOOK.

Cloquet, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The boys of the Y. M. C. A. gave a circus minstrel performance Friday and Saturday, March 24 and 25, under the direction of Secretary Charles Gross and Physical Director Lee Earl. The event was a success in every way and netted the boys a neat sum to be used toward their summer camp and phonograph funds.

As Quickly As Water Dissolves Sugar

About The Time It Takes For a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to Work on The Food and Bring Relief.

TRIAL PACKAGE SENT FREE.

There is no long wait between the time you take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and the feeling of relief it will bring to an overloaded stomach. It gets busy in a jiffy and quickly sets things to rights in that tired and disordered stomach. It goes right at the work of digesting the food it finds lodged there and in no time at all has things on the move—the gases cease forming, the breath is sweetened, the coating on the tongue disappears and you are no longer conscious that you even have a stomach.

That is one of the chief recommendations for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets—that they don't take forever to accomplish the purpose for which you need them. It is just as if you put an extra stomach or two to work when yours needed help. You can't continually overload your stomach and expect it to always smile. It is going to get rebellious and sulky after awhile and refuse to go on being driven to do double work. You must rest it occasionally—not by starving and thereby weakening yourself physically—but by using a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to do the work of digesting your food.

These tablets contain all the active elements of the natural stomach juices and will alone and unaided digest food just the same as the gastric juices. And nothing could be more harmless than these tablets. They do not effect the system in any way—do not cure any ailment except as they digest food. Use them freely.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists everywhere. Price, 50 cents per box. A trial package will be sent if you will write F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

New Brown Bread Recipe

Never soggy—Easily made

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Nearly everybody likes Boston brown bread, but so many have experienced trouble with its being soggy, they have become discouraged. Here is a new recipe that cannot fail if the few simple directions are carefully followed. You will be delighted with the results.

K C Brown Bread

One and one-half cup yellow cornmeal; 1½ cup entire-wheat flour; 1 teaspoon salt; 1⅔ cup sweet milk; ½ cup molasses; 5 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder.

Sift together, three times, meal, flour, salt and baking powder. Mix molasses and sweet milk and stir into dry ingredients to make a smooth batter. Turn into two empty K C Baking Powder boxes, thoroughly buttered, and let steam three hours. This bread is particularly good to serve with salads or raw oysters; also at breakfast, as toast of all kinds.

Raisins or currants may be added, though some prefer it without.

Readers of this paper may obtain The Cook's Book containing this and 89 other delicious recipes free by sending the colored certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JAQUES MFG. CO., Chicago. Send for The Cook's Book today. 28

MAXWELL'S VISIT ENDS

Homecrofter Talks to Large Sunday Audience at the Armory.

"Opportunity" Subject of Saturday Evening Talk at High School.

George H. Maxwell, the apostle of the homecroft idea, wound up his four-days' work in Duluth with a stirring address at the Armory yesterday afternoon. Although the inclement weather was discouraging, a good crowd gathered and heard one of the best addresses given by Mr. Maxwell during his stay in Duluth. The lecture was illustrated with a large number of views of back-yard gardens and homecrofts, the results of the movement for which Mr. Maxwell is working.

Mr. Maxwell urged upon his hearers the fact that the man who bears arms for his country is not the only patriot. One may show his patriotism just as well by what he does in his everyday life, he said, and, although his service may not be as spectacular as that of the soldier, it is nevertheless a service to the country.

The man who spends his leisure time in tilling the soil is a patriot, for he is adding to the wealth of the country, said Mr. Maxwell. Everything that is produced is an addition to the prosperity of the nation, he said, and even though a man raises only food for his own table, he is adding wealth to the wealth of the nation and is doing a service not only for himself but for his fellow men.

Mr. Maxwell said again that the homecroft idea is more advanced in Duluth than in any other city in the country, with the exception of Billings, Mont. He said that the problem of today is not to get the people out of the cities but so to educate them that they will make life in the cities more enjoyable and working conditions more bearable. The tenement house is a curse, said Mr. Maxwell, and if the bulk of the population in the large cities is allowed to life in tenements, the nation will decay in two generations.

At the Central high school Saturday night, Mr. Maxwell talked on "Opportunity." He said that there is opportunity for every man right at home, for the backyard garden offers him an opportunity to better his conditions by reducing the cost of living and thus increasing his wages. He repeated that every man should make his first ambition in life the acquiring of a home of his own, and that home should be such that he will have room for a backyard garden to occupy himself, his wife and his children in their spare hours. The acre-tracts within easy reach of the city are the solution of many great economic and social problems, he said, and the people are just coming to realize the fact.

During the four days he was in the city, Mr. Maxwell made fourteen talks and he scattered the seeds of the homecroft movement in every part of the city. He created wide interest in the movement among all classes and it is certain that he gave new impetus to the acre-garden plans which Duluth people already had.

LAST OF SERIES OF FREE CONCERTS

Program of Wagner Music Delights Large Audience at Temple.

There may be some honest differences of opinion concerning the enjoyment which can be obtained from the music of Wagner by the ordinary listener but there is none in the minds of those who have become familiar with his style. Those who like the music he represents like it 'hard' and those who gathered to hear the Wagner music at the Masonic concert yesterday afternoon were no exception to the rule as their hearty appreciation seemed to indicate. The weather warranted the use of the English epithet "beastly," but the interest in the composer overbalanced the discomfort of the walk to the temple.

George E. Suffel sang the vocal numbers with great taste and in good voice. The first Wolframs song in Tannhauser, "Blinck Ich Umber," was well received and as an encore he sang Mack's "Forever and a Day." "The Sublime Evening Star," also from Tannhauser, was sung as well as it has ever been sung in Duluth and gave genuine pleasure, calling for an encore which was given by Allitzen's stalwart, virile song: "Youth," Mr. Custance contributed to the success of the vocal music by his artistic accompaniments and to the pleasure of the organ music by his explanation of the stories of some of the operas mentioned on the programs.

The overture to "Rienzi," opened the program followed by selections from "Die Walkure," in which the "Love Song," of Siegfried, "The Ride of the Valkyries," and the "Magic Fire Scene," were the principal features. Selections from "Gotterdammerung," and "Die Meistersinger," together with the inspiring "March from Lohengrin," Act III, Scene 3, formed the group of representative Wagnerian music which preceded the 'Evening Star" and the whole program of the free concert series of the season of 1910-1911 was grandly brought to a close by the greatest tone poem of the age, the overture to the opera of "Tannhauser." It was played well and the organ itself seemed to be interested in giving musical token of its appreciation of the honor of being selected to render this sublime musical creation.

This season just closed has consisted of twenty concerts, all well attended even to the overflowing point. The grade of music was a little above that of last season and a satisfactory progress in the appreciation of good music has been made. Three organ recitals are in contemplation but the time has not yet been fixed. There will be no concert next Sunday.

COL. ROOSEVELT SAYS THE BIBLE SHOULD BE STUDIED.

Berkeley, Cal., March 27.—Delivering the third of his series of lectures at the Greek theater of the University of California here yesterday on "The Bible and the Life of the People," Col. Theodore Roosevelt declared the Bible should be as much a subject of study in the colleges of the country as in the theological seminaries, and urged the study of it by all persons as a guide to conduct.

Thousands who could not gain admittance remained in the vicinity of the theater to cheer Col. Roosevelt as he left the building.

Col. Roosevelt received a telegram from Charles A. Ingram, speaker of the lower house in Wisconsin, inviting him to Wisconsin to speak to the legislature on his way East. Col. Roosevelt replied, accepting the invitation for Saturday morning, April 15.

BOYS' MINSTRELS ON "POP" PROGRAM

Boys' Department Success Will Be Repeated at Central Building.

Owing to the large number of people turned away from the minstrel show at the Boy's Department Y. M. C. A., on account of the great crowd, the program committee in charge of the "pop" for Tuesday night, March 28, has arranged for a reproduction of the program at the central department in the large gymnasium. A special stage for the occasion will be constructed, and the entire floor space of the large gym will be used in seating the crowd.

The committee in charge expects the largest crowd that has ever attended any of the "pops" and an effort will be made to provide seats and accommodations for all.

Aside from the minstrel show the program will include the "Twenty Minutes of Fun" by Chester McLeod. The minstrels will be assisted by Miss Jean Wanless, vocalist, and Miss Effie Brotherton, reader.

The program committee has found it necessary to limit the attendance at the "pops" to the older people so that next Tuesday night none under 18 years of age, unless accompanied by their parents, will be admitted. It has been necessary to do this on account of the fact that the boys and young people have had an opportunity to see both performances at the boy's department while a number of the older people were turned away.

The program follows:

Selection ..... Boy's Department Mandolin Club.
"Twenty Minutes of Fun" ..... Chester McLeod.
Selection ..... Boy's Department Mandolin Club.
Vocal solo ..... Miss Jean Wanless.
Reading—"Mrs Casey's Neighbors" .. Miss Effie Brotherton.

BOY SUSPECTS ARE RELEASED

David and Enoch Collins Not Identified as Policeman's Assailants.

David and Enoch Collins, who were arrested Saturday morning by the police on suspicion of having been implicated in the shooting of Policeman R. W. Jackson of Superior Wednesday night, were released late Saturday.

Persons brought over from Superior, who claimed to have seen two young men answering their description in the vicinity of the shooting the next morning, failed to identify them as the men they had seen. The boys stoutly maintained that they slept in a box car at Knife River the night the shooting took place.

BREAKFAST CLUB VOTES TO TURN MAYOR DOWN.

The Sunday Morning Breakfast Club of the Y. M. C. A. is giving the Saturday Lunch club a run for its money.

Yesterday morning the Y. M. C. A. members dissected Mayor Cullum while toying with the grape fruit. After the mayor's methods of law enforcement had been discussed nearly everybody voted that the mayor's administration in this respect was n. g. One vote was cast unanimously for the mayor. Somebody suggested that it be divided, but the voter stood pat.

The mayor told the lunch club about his troubles a week ago. What the mayor said evidently didn't make much of an impression. When the mayor's fate was decided after a debate between four partisans and a discussion by club members the verdict was "thumbs down."

Floyd Fuller and George Short defended the mayor. He was assailed by J. L. McKee and D. D. Morgan.

Don't Grow Old Too Fast

"A man is as old as his arteries." Old age is merely a hardening of the arteries—and hardening of the arteries comes from excessive eating of high-protein food such as meat and eggs. Cut down the high-protein diet for awhile and eat Shredded Wheat. It supplies all the body-building material in the whole wheat prepared in a digestible form. Of course will not "cure" appendicitis—nor will any other cereal food. The excessive eating of indigestible foods, however, gradually brings on stomach and bowel disorders—and these can be prevented by a daily diet of thoroughly cooked cereals. Shredded Wheat is best for this purpose because it is steam-cooked, shredded and twice baked, retaining the bran coat, which is so valuable in keeping the bowels healthy and active.

Heat the Biscuit in the oven to restore crispness and serve with hot or cold milk and a little cream, adding salt or sugar to suit the taste. It also makes delicious combinations with stewed or preserved fruits. Two Shredded Wheat biscuits with stewed fruit makes a wholesome nourishing meal.

"JIM" PATTEN ELECTS J. ADAM TO ANANIAS CLUB MEMBERSHIP

J. Adam Bede lives in Pine City, Minn. He formerly was a representative in congress from this district. He also wore a pair of birch-bark trousers once. Another claim to distinction is that he had his photograph taken with President Taft. Then he was beaten for re-election.

This is the life history of Jadam Bede, but it is not complete without the latest development in his career. To him has been applied the "shorter and uglier" word invented by Ananias and revived by T. Roosevelt. Mr. Bede, according to Jim Patten, the Chicago wheat and cotton speculator, is a prevaricator—or else some newspaper reporter is.

Discussing with a reporter Mr. Bede's statements regarding Jim Patten's position on Canadian reciprocity, Mr. Patten delivered himself of these remarks:

"As to the article in the newspapers in reference to a conversation which it is claimed J. Adam Bede had with me in reference to the reciprocity treaty, I would say that I never have met J. Adam Bede but once, and that was at a banquet given last fall by the bankers' association at the Blackstone hotel in Chicago, at which Mr. Bede delivered an address. I have not seen or had any conversation with him since, and as this banquet was given several months before the reciprocity treaty was known, or even talked about, therefore the alleged conversation held with Mr. Bede cannot be true. I have frequently stated during the past few years that I believed the time was not far distant when Canadian wheat would have to be admitted into the United States free of duty, in order to supply ourselves with bread at a reasonable price. I do not believe that Mr. Bede has made any such statement in regard to me, and that it is merely the imagination of some enthusiastic reporter who wished to send out some sensational news. It is almost unnecessary for me to state that the statement is not true, and that I am in favor of the admission of Canadian wheat."

SEES GROUND FOR ANARCHISM

Anarchists Have Not Right Plan for Remedying Evils, Says Preacher.

"The Gospel of the Anarchist" was the subject of Rev. George R. Gebauer's sermon at the First Unitarian church yesterday. He said in part:

"A short time ago I listened to an address by a noted anarchist. It was not idle curiosity that induced me to go, but rather the desire to observe and to learn. To the average man, who naturally is inured by the conventional notions of society, who believes that with coercive rule of the majority, social development has reached its zenith, anarchism is merely a destructive and immoral and anti-social force. From his point of view anarchism should be of extreme interest to the captain of the police force, but not to any loyal citizen who believes in the infallibility of the constitution. True it is, the tendencies of anarchism are destructive from such a conventional point of view; but they are not so from the standpoint of the anarchist. He somehow believes that this very gospel, is the gospel of social salvation.

"Now the grievances the anarchist has against present social conditions are not entirely without good cause. We certainly all feel, that the social conditions of today do fit the spirit of the times. A large mass of men today are insurgents, not only dissatisfied with party rule, but with the reign of law and government for the good of the greatest number. We all see that the kingdom of heaven is not found in an economic prosperity which disinherits a large portion of the people, that it is not found in a church which stultifies reason, that its not in the government of a majority that tyrannizes over the minority. What we object to in the scheme of salvation by the anarchist, is not his ideal of perfect freedom, but the fact that he can not appreciate the historical development of humanity and cannot see that 'man-made' law has grown out of the very nature of man, and that freedom will only come when man has become a law unto himself in the best sense. The law, church, government, must be schoolmasters unto the Christ of freedom.

"It is not for us to abolish all law, but to develop it, to make it more educative and less and less punitive. Now, to bring this about, what is needed? I think the more philosophical among anarchists well understand this. It certainly seems to have been in the mind of Miss Emma Goldman, when in answer to the question "What is the meaning of life?" she gave an answer worthy of a true ethical teacher. It was not 'the meaning of life is in happiness,' as so many people think, and upon which interpretation of life as much false culture and civilization rests. Her answer was: "The meaning of life is to bring out the best in ourselves—and in others.' This is a fine and true thought."

STEEL FOR QUEBEC BRIDGE.

Order for Material Most Important Development of Week.

New York, March 27.—The most interesting development in the steel trade last week was the perfecting of arrangements for furnishing 60,000 tons of American steel for the Quebec bridge in Canada. The general contract has been awarded the St. Lawrence Bridge company. It is also expected that an order for 10,000 tons of heavy steel rails for New Zealand will be placed in this country. Several other contracts for rails and bridge materials, structural steel and steel pipe have been secured for export to South America, Cuba and the Far East.

Domestic railroads placed numerous small orders for equipment and supplies, but the car shops and locomotive works were small beneficiaries. The principal order was 1,500 cars for the Atlantic Coast line. The Louisville & Nashville also ordered 500 cars. The Pere Marquette ordered fifty locomotives and the Nickel Plate fifteen engines.

Rail contracts were 25,000 tons, including heavy and light sections, and some small export orders.

Structural and fabricated steel contracts, mainly for commercial buildings, aggregated nearly 22,000. The steel companies are now operating at an average rate of 75 per cent or better.

In pig iron circles, the most prominent feature was the concession made by Southern furnaces to secure business, resulting in the placing of contracts for about 40,000 tons, including about 15,000 tons of basic, mainly for Western shipment. There was also considerable activity in Ferro alloys at sales aggregating 12,000 tons, including 5,000 tons for the Cambria Steel company, shipments to be made up to March, 1912.

NO QUESTION ABOUT IT.

House Will Revise Wool Schedule at Coming Session.

Washington, March 27.—Members of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives are not much exercised by the announcement that Western wool growing interests are preparing to march upon Washington in force when the tariff question is considered.

"While I have no authority to say that wool growers will not be given a hearing," said Chairman Underwood, "it is my opinion that they might just as well make an assault upon Gibraltar as upon the house. We know now all the arguments that will be advanced against the revision of Schedule K, but there is no question about what the house will do. We will make our revision and send it to the senate, and whether it goes any further remains to be seen."

The comment made by Mr. Underwood reflects the attitude of the entire majority of the ways and means committee and the leaders of the new Democratic house.

Acting as a committee on committees, the members of the ways and means committee have practically completed their labors. There has been a great deal of speculation about the chairmanships and the general impression is that in general the seniority rule has been followed, but as the lists prepared are all subject to change at the Democratic caucus to be held next Saturday, there will be no official announcement made of the proposed organization in advance of that time.

GOLD DUST will sterilize your kitchen things and make them wholesome and sanitary

GOLD DUST does more than clean—it sterilizes and leaves your kitchen things sanitarily safe. The ordinary soap-washed utensil is not fit to eat from, because soap does not cleanse as thoroughly as it should—does not kill germs of decay which are bound to lurk in oft-used utensils.

Besides its cleansing virtues, GOLD DUST has the merit of doing work quickly, and saving your strength. It will do most of the cleaning without your assistance, and do it, too, in a quicker and more thorough manner than will soap or other cleansers.

GOLD DUST makes pot and pan spick and span.

GOLD DUST is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package offers greater economy.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS INITIATE LARGE CLASS.

There was a notable gathering of Knights of Columbus in Duluth yesterday, when a class of about seventy candidates was initiated into the order by Duluth council, No. 447.

About 400 members of the order witnessed the ceremonies and attended the evening session at Knights of Columbus hall, 210 West First street. Visitors came from all over the Northwest, including Superior, Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls, Spooner, Ashland, Washburn and Hurley, Wis., Ironwood Mich., St. Paul, Brainerd, International Falls and the range towns in Minnesota.

At the evening session addresses were made by W. D. Dwyer of St. Paul, John Walsh of Washburn, Wis., John McCabe of Superior, Rev. Father Powers of Virginia, John Dwan of Two Harbors, Rev. Father Floyd, Leo A. Ball and others of Duluth.

RAILROAD MAN HELD FOR FORGERY.

James McKnight was arrested Saturday night at the Soo depot charged with having forged the name of J. Peterson to a check for $25, which he passed on George Shapiro of 715 West Superior street.

Purchasing $15 worth of goods he obtained $10 in change. He says that he is a railroad fireman by occupation and claims to have been employed by the Northern Pacific. He said that J. Peterson, whose name he is claimed to have forged, is also a railroad man who had worked for the same company.

STOMACH MISERY JUST VANISHES

No Indigestion, Heartburn, Gas or Dyspepsia Five Minutes Later.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of Indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula, plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes, and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour, undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common, every-day cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and, besides, poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

NO DECISION IN FEE CASE

Williston Awaits Outcome of Litigation Over Fight on County Auditor.

Several Criminal Cases Are Disposed of at Present Term of Court.

Williston, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—No decision has been made in the case involving the fees collected by the county auditor, over which action was instituted by the state's attorney against the board of county commission for the purpose of compelling the latter to make a check-up of the auditor's office on the fee question, Judge Burr of Bottineau was called in by Judge Fisk to hear the arguments and he took the matter under advisement.

Ten Years for Forgery.

Tony Winkle, who pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery, was sentenced by Judge Fisk to ten years in the state penitentiary.

John J. Brown of Ray, accused of violating the prohibition law, was found guilty; W. F. Lukenbill and Guff Ward entered pleas of guilty to the same charge, while Charles Herman, accused of resisting an officer in the discharge of his duty, was found not guilty.

AGED RECLUSE IS FOUND DEAD, ALONE

Elijah Haynes Living Solitary Life Hunting and Fishing Dies in Chair.

Couderay, Wis., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Elijah Haynes, an eccentric old man, aged 82, who has been living the life of a hermit for a number of years, was found sitting in a chair, dead, in his little shanty near Crooked rapids on the Chippewa river, nine miles from here. A number of years ago, it is claimed, he had a disagreement with his family and he became a recluse, coming up the Chippewa river and building the little shanty where he lived, making a scant living by fishing and trapping for years. He was a harmless man and little of his past life was known, but a letter was found on his person from a daughter living at Fort Worth, Tex., asking him to come and live with her. His body was found by some small boys, and he had been dead for several days. Death was due to old age.

Both blazes were mysterious and unlikely to have occurred through natural causes. The officials are conducting a quiet investigation and a detective may be engaged to look into the matter.

WINS SCHOLARSHIP.

Good Fortune Comes to St. Cloud Young Woman.

St. Cloud, Minn., March 27.—Miss Belle Ranney of this city, a junior at Wellesley college, Wellesley, Mass., has been notified that she was awarded a Durant scholarship, the highest distinction that the faculty of that college confers, in recognition of academic distinction.

Miss Ranney is at home at present, taking special work at the normal. Next fall she will go to Wellesley to complete her course. Miss Ranney is a graduate of the St. Cloud high school, being valedictorian of her class. She attended Carleton college for a year before going to Wellesley.

TO TACKLE MORELAND.

Capt. Reid of Sarnia Will Try to Raise the Boat.

Houghton, Mich., March 27.—Carroll Brothers have received a letter from Capt. James Reid of Sarnia, Ont., in which he states that he will arrive in this city April 1, with two crews of men. They will immediately commence work of fitting out the wrecking tug and lighter Sarnia City and Manistique and as soon as this is done go to Eagle River to resume salvaging operations on the wreck Moreland.

The captain tells in his letter of his futile attempt at salvaging the Richardson at Buffalo and his ultimate abandonment of her. Weather conditions seem to have been unfavorable to the wrecking master, and after lengthy periods spent in the work he was compelled to give up and return home. He is positive, however, that the same effect will not be had with the Moreland here, and he hopes with good weather such as is usual in this section when the navigation season opens to have the Moreland in port in less than two weeks after operations are commenced upon her.

RURAL DELIVERY FROM SANDSTONE

First Route Established From Village to Serve Twenty-Six Miles.

Sandstone, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Information has been received here by Postmaster Webb that the petition of a rural route has been granted by the postal department. The petition signed by over 100 heads of families had been circulated for over a year and the farmers residing along the route entertained little hopes of having their wish granted. The proposed route encircles about twenty-six miles and will lead from Sandstone to the Junction, then to the south end of Grindstone lake and for one mile into Kanabec county; then north to Lake Eleven and Bass Lake, then through Groningen back to Sandstone. The service will probably begin July 1 and it will be the first rural delivery route out of Sandstone.

A star route leading to Banning a small hamlet about four miles north of here, has been maintained for many years, which could easily be changed into a rural route also by extending the route east and south, but that territory is as yet practically unsettled and the length of route would be a great deal greater as the adjoining towns of Askov and Bruno on the north have petitioned for routes which includes a great deal of territory that rightly belongs to this circuit.

ALGOMA DITCHES WILL GO THROUGH

Big Water Drainers in Northwestern Minnesota Will Be Constructed.

Roseau, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The so-called Algoma ditches which are now being surveyed and which affect the towns of Algoma and 162-38 and 162-39 will be ordered constructed by the state drainage commission, when the survey is completed.

The construction of these ditches was objected to by Israel Sjoborg of this city, because he was of the opinion that benefits could not be assessed against homestead land and government lands. Upon investigation it was found that the Volstead act covers the objection and makes the assessment of benefits to United States land for ditch purposes legal.

COUNTY MEETINGS ARE BEING HELD

To Select Delegates to North Dakota State Anti-Reciprocity Meet.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—This will be a big week in the North Dakota movement against the Canadian reciprocity agreement, a large number of county meetings being scheduled at which delegates will be elected to the state convention here, April 4.

Conventions were held Saturday at Valley City and at Beach. The Valley City delegates were George M. Young, Mort White, Frank Sanford, F. E. Packard, M. P. Langemo. Charles Noltimer, C. B. Vallandigham, William Olson, C. D. Jones and H. T. Green. Mr. Young was also elected as the representative of the "Hundred Dollars an Acre" club to go to Washington and lobby against the measure.

Among the conventions that have been called for this week are the following:

Foster county, at Carrington, March 31; Grand Forks county, at Grand Forks, March 31; Towner county, at Cando, April 1; Benson county, at Oberon, March 31; Pembina county, at Hamilton, March 31; La Moure county, at La Moure, March 31; Walsh county, at Park River, March 31; Cass county, at Fargo, March 31; Stutsman county, at Jamestown, March 29; Nelson county, at Lakota, March 31; Cavalier county, at Langdon, March 31; McHenry county, at Velva, March 29.

MINE ROOF CAVES IN.

Young Ishpeming Miner Is Killed in the American Mine.

Ishpeming, Mich., March 27.—Alfred Young, an Ishpeming young man employed at the American mine at Diorite, met instant death Saturday, when tons of rock passed down upon him, burying him completely.

Young Lund and a companion were working in a stope leading from the third level. Lund was sitting on a wheelbarrow momentarily resting when without warning the roof caved in and completely buried him. His companion, who was with him, and but seven or eight feet away, miraculously escaped serious injury, being but slightly bruised by falling rock.

The work of recovering the body was immediately started and after almost eight hours of incessant work it was found and brought to the surface.

ROB EXPRESS CAR.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the express cars on the Soo flyer from Winnipeg was burglarized Friday night somewhere between Emerson and here and a number of packages taken.

Police were waiting for the train when it reached Mahnomen and one suspect was found on top of one of the cars and the other was found on the other car roof. Both had suit cases in which were several of the express bundles. The men were returned to this city. It is supposed they got possession of the baggage car key and thus found access to the car easy. This is the first robbery of a car or train which has ever occurred on the Soo system in this northern part of the state.

DEVILS LAKE-DRAKE SOO LINE ASSURED.

Drake, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Drake to Devils Lake extension of the Soo railroad will not be constructed this year, information to that effect being contained in a letter received by H. Thorson of this city from President E. Pennington of the Soo. President Pennington states that the railroad extension will be constructed ultimately, but he believes that there will be no action looking toward the completion of the work this year.

BEACH, N. D., BOY KILLED.

Beach, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mark Baughman, 17 years of age, accidentally knocked down a shot gun. The gun was discharged, the load entering the boy's ankle. The shock was so great the youth died two days later.

NO NOTICE OF MILL'S CLOSING

Report That Rainy Lake Institution Will Shut Down Not Confirmed.

Rumors have been persistent at West Duluth within the last few days that the Virginia & Rainy Lake sawmill at the foot of Fifty-first avenue west is through operating at West Duluth. This rumor cannot be confirmed.

Supt. Charles Mattson of West Duluth, superintendent of the mill, has received no official notice of such action, and discredits the rumor. The general offices of the company are at Virginia.

The Rainy Lake mill is one of the largest in the city and about 250 men have been employed in past seasons all the year around.

No logs have yet been shipped to the West Duluth mill, and this is probably responsible for the rumor that the mill will close down. In former years at this time in the spring there has always been a large stock of logs on hand. However, with the facilities of the company, there is little doubt but that a large stock of logs could be shipped here at short notice.

An official stated some time ago that the Rainy Lake people expected to cut about 30,000,000 feet of lumber at the West Duluth mill this summer, and that the mill would start operations with the opening of navigation, or as soon as the bay was clear of ice. Last year the mill did not close down and ran day and night. The cut reached close to the 50,000,000 mark.

It is understood that the Alger-Smith mill will open up in a few weeks and will run at full capacity. The Mullery-McDonnell Lumber company, the new owners of the Red Cliff mill, will begin operating at West Duluth as soon as the ice is out of the booms. When the three mills are running full blast, nearly 1,000 men are afforded employment at West Duluth.

MISS EDITH CASHIN DIES AT DULUTH HOSPITAL.

Miss Edith Cashin, aged 24, telephone operator, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cashin of 405 North Fifty-seventh avenue west died early Sunday morning at the Duluth hospital, following an illness of two months' duration.

For a number of years Miss Cashin was employed as an operator at the main exchange of the Zenith Telephone company. She was a graduate of the West Duluth public schools and also of the Duluth Central high school.

Besides her parents, she is survived by five brothers and three sisters, all of whom reside in the city. They are John, Patrick, William, Thomas and Frank Cashin, Mrs. T. McDowell, Mrs. Mason Rall and Miss Kate Cashin.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock from the St. James' Catholic church, Fifty-seventh avenue west, to Calvary cemetery. Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Division No. 2, of which Miss Cashin was a member, will attend the services in a body.

Jacobson Funeral.

The funeral of Jacob Jacobson, aged 34, who died at St. Luke's hospital Saturday morning, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence, 6209 Grand avenue, with burial in Oneota cemetery. Rev. J. A. Bjerke, pastor of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church officiated.

Johnson-Olson.

The wedding of Miss Hannah Johnson and August Olson was solemnized by Rev. Gustav Oberg of the Swedish-Finnish Lutheran church, Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gustaf Westlund, 22 North Sixty-third avenue west. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Olson will live at 109 South Sixty-first avenue west.

Notice.

All members of Division No. 2, Ladies' Auxiliary of A. O. H., are requested to meet at 8:30 Wednesday morning at the residence of M. Cashin, 405 North Fifty-seventh avenue west to attend the funeral of late Sister Edith Cashin, by order of President Mrs. Brotherton and Recorder M. Allen.

Edgar J. Lynch of Minneapolis is the guest of friends and relatives in West Duluth.

Mrs. W. L. Seaton has as her guests, Mrs. J. L. Lewis and mother, Mrs. MacLeod of Hibbing.

Mrs. J. A. Richardson of 4102 West Fourth street has gone to Port Wing, Ont., to visit friends and relatives.

B. F. Fortnier of Winnipeg, Can., who has been the guest of West Duluth friends for the past week, left last evening for Chicago.

Miss Lillian Bernier of Shakopee has returned to her home after a visit in West Duluth.

Arnold Erickson of Fifty-fourth avenue west has left for the Twin Cities, where he expects to spend the summer.

Miss Hannah Johnson of Two Harbors is a guest at the home of her cousin, Miss Ella Johnson of Fifty-ninth avenue west.

Mrs. John Glover of 23 North Fifty-fourth avenue west, returned Saturday from a visit in Southern California.

Prof. Frank Nelson of the University of Minnesota conducted services yesterday morning at Elim Swedish Lutheran church, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Elinor street.

The West Duluth fire department was called out last evening to a fire which broke out on top of a telegraph pole at Fifty-ninth avenue west and Grand avenue. Power wires crossed by the storm, evidently caused the blaze.

Hurst, watch repairing, West Duluth.

STEVENSON MAY HAVE NEW JOB

Reported That He Has Been Appointed Assistant Attorney General.

It was reported in Duluth today that William J. Stevenson, special counsel for the St. Louis county board, had been appointed an assistant attorney general of the state. Mr. Stevenson is out of the city at present and no verification of the report could be obtained this afternoon.

It is known that Mr. Stevenson was elected for appointment in the event of the bill now before the legislature, providing for two new assistants to the attorney general, passing. Whether the report arose from the fact of Mr. Stevenson being slated for appointment or whether an appointment has already been made, could not be learned today.

Mr. Stevenson has practiced in Duluth for a number of years. He was for some time assistant county attorney and when the position of special counsel for the county board was created about three years ago, he was appointed to it and has filled it since. His ability and learning in the law are regarded highly by his brother attorneys and the county officials, and the appointment to the state position would be viewed as a well merited step forward.

SPRING OPENING AT SILBERSTEIN'S

Beautiful Showing of Women's Apparel in Superior Street Store.

The Silberstein & Bondy company held its formal spring opening today at its store on West Superior street. Palms and bright pink spring blossoms were effectively arranged about the store and the elevator was a dainty bower of apple blossoms.

The display windows were filled with handsome gowns, hats and other articles of feminine wearing apparel which were much admired by all the shoppers today.

An evening gown of emerald green crepe with an over dress of black chiffon effectively beaded and made in the two panel style was one of the most handsome exhibits, and another which attracted much favorable comment was made of white satin covered with black chiffon.

In most of the gowns the high waist line was noticeable. This style is becoming to so many that it will always be a favorite.

The millinery department in this store was also a gorgeous show place of brilliant creations, large, small, dressy hats and nobby street hats in all colors and in all manner of shapes and styles.

The infants' department is a special feature of this shop and elaborate clothes for the tiny tots were displayed to good advantage.

The dress goods in tempting arrays, were artistically shown. Elaborate chiffons over the brilliant satins and messalines for evening gowns were combined in most approved fashions and dainty marquisettes, dimities, linens, and cotton voiles for the wash dresses were shown. Long gloves in all the new shades, dainty neckwear for shirtwaists and effective new automobile veils were also among the new displays. The veils were most of them in two colors. Some were bordered with contrasting materials of another color than the body of the veil and others were made double of two differnt colored chiffons. Emerald green and bright red were the most popular colors in these veils although the softer colors are also shown.

Why keep the "don't need things" and worry about the "can't get things?" A Herald want ad negotiates a trade.

Ladies!

Just received a large shipment of

Black Suede Shoes

also the new brown velvet shoes.

FIRE TEAM IS STOLEN AT JAMESTOWN, N. D.

Jamestown, N. D., March 27.—The Jamestown city fire team was stolen last night from the fire hall. The team consisted of a heavy pair of blacks worth $600. The chains which kept the horses in the stalls were forced from their fastenings with a crowbar. No trace of the thieves has been secured.

Presume Grace Is Dead.

London, March 27.—The executors of the estate of Cecil Grace, the aviator, who lost his life while attempting a cross-channel flight, were granted leave to presume his death by the probate court today. The body of the aviator has never been found.

TWO WILL BE DEPORTED

Immigration Inspector Leaves for New York With Undesirable Citizens.

One Goes Willingly While the Other Has Fought Deportation.

Brown McDonald, inspector in charge of the Duluth immigration district, will leave this evening for New York with Kurt Huebener and Ivan Juricev, who are to be deported to Germany and Austria, respectively. One is to be a willing traveler and the other has put up every effort to stave off the threatened deportation.

Huebener is the young man who walked into the immigration office a few weeks ago, told the inspector that he had been in the "crazy house" twice, that he couldn't support himself, that he had entered the country without inspection, and asked that he be deported. As he was subject to deportation on five different counts, his request was readily complied with by the department and he is delighted with the prospect of returning to his old home in Germany.

Juricev has been mixed up with the immigration officials for the past six months. In September he was arrested by the city authorities and sentenced to spend sixty days in the county jail on a statutory charge growing out of his living with his sister-in-law. When his term was up, proceedings were begun against him under the federal "white slave" act, it being alleged that he had brought his sister-in-law from New York to Duluth for immoral purposes. The January federal grand jury failed to indict and he was released.

The immigration officials were not through with him, however. They found that he had entered the country without inspection and also that he had been convicted of a crime in Austria. He was arrested at Norwood, Mich., where he and his wife were conducting a boarding house. He tried to get out of trouble by promising to be good in the future, but the immigration authorities thought him an undesirable citizen and he will be sent abroad.

Fined for Petit Larceny.

Oscar Olson, arrested Saturday on a charge of petit larceny, entered a plea of guilty in police court Saturday afternoon and was fined $20 and costs or thirty days. He paid the fine. The complaint was made by Harry Meeker, who said that he had borrowed a dollar from Olson, putting up his watch as security on the representation that he could get it back whenever he wanted it by applying at the pawn shop where Olson said he was employed. It developed later that he was not working at the place and had pawned the watch for $4.

Held to Grand Jury.

James Knight, arrested by Detective Terry Saturday night at his boarding place, 22 North Twentieth avenue west, on the charge of having forged the name of J. Peterson to a check for $25, waived examination in police court this morning and was bound over to the next grand jury. He was located through a rebate receipt issued by the Soo to him, which he had left with George Shapiro, 715 West Superior street, on whom he passed the check.

Fire in Residence.

Fire which started from a stove in the basement at 22 North Third street about 9:30 o'clock last night damaged the furniture and fixtures of Mrs. S. Zimovski about $300. The loss is covered by insurance. The blaze was confined to the interior of the dwelling.

Complains of Conductors.

Dr. H. E. Webtser, health commissioner, has written a letter to the management of the Duluth Street Railway company, calling their attention to the fact that some conductors sweep out their cars just before leaving the end of their runs. The health commissioner stated that this leaves the dust filling the car when it starts on its run, picking up passengers. He said that it is not only uncomfortable, but a practice which endangers public health.

Three-Hour Sale.

Tomorrow afternoon from 2 to 5 we place on sale $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 corsets in the very latest models for 69c; also a very beautiful line of new spring suits in all the latest spring shades and very newest models, regular $18, $20, and $22.50 values for $12.95. Ginster's, 24 West Superior street.

Wood Dealer Is Arrested.

J. D. O'Connell, proprietor of a woodyard, was arraigned in municipal court this morning on a charge of having sold a short half cord of wood to William Langdon of East Sixth street. He entered a plea of not guilty and the case was set for Thursday morning. The complaint was sworn out by George E. Duren, sealer of weights and measures, who investigated a complaint that was made by Mr. Langdon through the "Open Court" column of The Herald.

Railway Club Meets.

The Northern Railway club held its regular monthly meeting Saturday night at the Commercial club. There was an open discussion on many matters pertaining to railroad affairs. At the next meeting F. B. Farmer will read a paper on "Train Slack Control." This is a matter of great interest to railroad men and advance copies of the paper have been mailed to each member of the club.

Raid Alleged Resort.

Four women were arrested Saturday night when the police raided an alleged house of ill-repute upstairs at 111 East Superior street, almost across the street from the police station. They gave their names as Gertrude Monson, who was charged with running the place and with having sold liquor on Sunday; Elizabeth Moore, May Lee and Lillian Nichols. The Monson woman pleaded guilty to selling liquor on Sunday and not guilty to the charge of running a disorderly house. Elizabeth Moore forfeited bail and the other two pleaded not guilty to visiting a house of ill fame. Their cases were set for this afternoon.

TO BE ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL

W. J. Stevenson Gets Position Paying Salary of $4,200 a Year.

St. Paul, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. J. Stevenson, special counsel of the St. Louis county board, has been appointed assistant attorney general under a bill passed by the legislature Saturday afternoon.

The bill provides for two additional assistants to Attorney General Simpson. The other is C. L. Weeks, who has been a special assistant attorney general for three or four years. The salary of Mr. Stevenson is $4,200.

NEW STEAMER TO BE BUILT

Northern Navigation Company Will Have Fine New Passenger Boat.

Notice was received today at the local office of the Northern Navigation company that tenders are to be received by the company for a new freight and passenger steamer that will be finer than any of the boats now being operated by the line. That means something when it is considered that the company owns the Hamonic, Huronic and other big passenger steamers.

The Northern Navigation company has merged with the Inland Navigation company and a list of the offices of the new company was also received today. The name of the new company is the Northern Navigation company.

"GET YOUR GARDEN STARTED" IS SUGGESTION.

Despite the fact that there is snow on the ground, Commercial club members were confronted with the notice on the bulletin board today: "Follow the Maxwell plan and Get Your Garden Started." The slogan, "Keep Pushing Duluth," was also flashed up on the bulletin board today.

NOT GOING TO MEXICO.

Madero, Senior, May Be Arranging to Confer With de la Barra.

San Antonio, Tex., March 27.—Alfonso Madero, head of the local junta, declared today that his father, Francisco Madero, Sr., and his brother, Gustavo, who are due here tomorrow, are not making the trip on business connected with the insurrection. He also said that they are not on their way to join the insurrectos near Chihuahua.

The visit of the Maderos to this city and the fact that the new Mexican premier, Francisco de la Barra, has started for the City of Mexico is regarded as more than a coincidence. If a place for the conference is determined upon, San Antonio is the logical meeting place. It is doubtful if any member of the junta would care to trust himself on Mexican soil, even to seek a cessation of hostilities.

Five Burn to Death.

Aurora, Miss., March 27.—Dr. D. E. Morris, a prominent physician, and his four children were burned to death early today in a fire that destroyed the Morris home three miles southeast of here.

EXPERIENCE WITH A FAKIR

Traveler in India Had Weird Adventure When He Tried To Photograph Magician's Trick.

Los Angeles Times: "Yes," said Jack Barrett, "I did see some of the fakirs. Had a good, close view of one especially."

"Could he do the rope trick?" I asked, sneeringly.

"Well, rather," Jack replied. "In fact, I don't mind telling you that before going out there I was as skeptical of India's farfamed magicians as you are. So when I landed in Bombay amid the sickish, sweet smell of the jungle, and the vile smell of the streets, a magician was the last person I expected to meet, even though I was in the land of magic.

"It was at Benares, while on my way to the Monkey temple, that I saw my first magician. I was edging my way through a crowd at a street corner, when I came upon an odd figure squatted by the curb. In looking at him, at first I saw nothing but his eyes. They were large and black and they glittered as a diamond glitters under the electric light. By degrees I saw the lean, sharp-nosed face, and the dirty gray beard which met a cloth of the same color wrapped about his middle. A short cloak, which had once matched his faded red turban in color, hung in ragged folds from his shoulders; for leg covering—like his countrymen of the nursery rhyme—he made his skin do. To add to my curiosity I saw a coil of rusty looking rope lying among the small cartload of junk, which he was watching with jealous care while an assistant was beating a pair of cymbals and harranguing the crowd. Another assistant, a boy about 10 years old, squatted solemnly beside his chief.

"'I say, 'Arry, 'e's going to do the rope trick,' said a voice at my elbow, confirming my suspicions.

"Turning, I saw a young soldier in the regulation khaki and pith helmet crowding to the side of the speaker, who also served the king.

"I had lost all interest in temples by this time, and monkeys, sacred or profane, held for me no charm.

"The crowd having become a sweltering mob, which added something to the already pungent air, he of the cymbals and Coney Island voice rested from his labors and produced from somewhere a white cloth like a table cover, which he and the boy proceeded to spread on the ground. With cracking joints the old fakir arose and took his stand on the cloth half way between the center and the edge, reached out his hand to the older assistant, whose other hand clasped that of the boy, and, like the spoke of a wheel, they circled slowly around the cloth singing a sad, despairing chant. Faster and faster turned the wheel, and although I knew the old fakir was turning with the rest, it seemed that his burning eyes stared always into mine. I grew dizy and felt that I too, was turning with the trio.

"Suddenly the turning and singing stopped; the two assistants drew back, and I noticed the cloth slowly rising in the center. With a few more incantations for good luck, the magician jerked the cloth away, revealing a tree about six inches high, rooted in the pavement. Before my eyes the tree grew as high as a man's head, shooting forth leaves and blossoms. The blossoms grew into little green things which ripened into large yellow mangoes. The two assistants came forward. One of them picked the fruit and distributed it to the audience, while the other collected such small change as the crowd cared to part with.

"As I reached into my pocket to add my bit to the collection, my hand came in contact with my camera. I was filled with joy. I would take a snapshot of the next act. You can't hypnotize a camera. I shifted it cautiously in front of me and had it ready just as, with a whirl, the old fakir threw the end of the coiled rope into the air. It was not a hard throw, but the rope shot up as if tied to a balloon until the upper end was lost to sight and the lower end hung about two feet above the ground. Click went the camera, and I pulled it under my coat just as the old fakir whirled around, throwing a wicked glance from me to the two Tommies and back again to me.

"A wave of his hand brought the boy to him, who, grasping the rope, climbed up hand over hand, until he looked like a bird in the sky and finally disappeared altogether. Again the camera clicked and was safely under my coat, when the malevolent scrutiny traveled from me to the two soldiers, and back to linger on me with blazing hate.

"The older assistant was motioned for. He came, climbed and disappeared; but this time the blazing eyes glared full into mine, and the camera stayed under my coat.

"After a long period during which those baleful eyes seemed to pierce me through and through, their owner again turned to the rope, and with much shouting and gesticulating, ordered his helpers to come down. There was a pause; then the rope was lashed back and forth at a furious rate, and something fell with a crash at its foot. The old fakir started back with horror, then sprang forward, and turning over the shapeless mass, showed us the crushed and mangled form of a boy. He knelt by the bleeding corpse, wailing and pulling his beard, knocking his head to the ground and throwing dirt in his hair. Suddenly he sprang to his feet, shook his fist in the air, and cursed. He would have revenge. Running to the pile of paraphernalia, he picked out a short, curved sword, felt its edge, and with much cursing he stuck it in his belt and started to climp the rope.

"Here was my chance, and the camera clicked, but even as it clicked he turned, and I am sure the curses hurled at me were worse than those heaped upon his false assistant. With a snarl he was on the ground, and at a motion of his hand I rose, seated through the air, and stood beside him. Another wave of his hand and I started going up the rope, he following. I seemed light as a feather, using no effort to climb, but only holding to the rope because I knew if I let go I would soar into space, and although paralyzed with fear at my present condition I felt that would be worse.

"As I climbed, or ascended, I saw the crowd standing below me, and, looking at the place I had occupied, I was shocked to see what seemed to be myself standing in the same place—standing stiff and motionless with outstretched arms still holding the camera. If I could only take a snapshot now, I thought, and quick as the thought I saw my hands move, and faintly heard the camera snap.

"Looking up I saw the first assistant clinging to the rope above me—fear written on his face. And well might he be afraid, for, letting go of the rope, the fakir sprang over my head, and catching the young man by the hair, drew his sword, and with one blow severed the head and threw it down. The body still clinging to the rope, he tore it away and threw it after.

"The next instant I felt his hand in my hair, and tried to shriek, but could utter no sound even when I felt the keen sword crash through my spine and knew that he was holding my head out at arm's length. He gazed at it for a moment; then with a fiendish chuckle, pulling one of my hands from the rope, he made me hold my head by the hair as he had done. With a look of hellish joy he then proceeded to cut off my legs, one at a time, and let them fall to the ground, pausing to enjoy his work. Then he severed my body in the middle, and, last of all, my arms at the shoulders, letting the pieces fall one at a time, until only one arm clung to the rope. This he also pulled loose, and sent it to join the rest of me on the ground. As I lay there, my head with one hand still grasping it by the hair, and the rest of me scattered around between the crushed boy, and the head and body of the other assistant, I remember wishing I had a snapshot of the scene.

"The chief fakir having descended from the rope, he went to his paraphernalia, and taking a large sack placed the lifeless boy into it, tied the end, and after he had made a few incantations over it the sack began to move and jump around in a very lively manner. Soon the incantations ceased, the sack was untied, and out stepped the boy as good as ever, ready to help gather his treacherous friend into the bag, when a like service was performed for him. Last of all, the two assistants gathered me up, one holding open the sack, and the other throwing in the different parts. The sack was tied, a few words muttered, and I found myself standing in the crowd with the camera still in my hands.

"The tall assistant again took up a collection, while the boy coiled the rope. As I staggered out of the crowd I heard a voice behind me say:

"'I say, 'Arry, where did 'e get the other blooming h'assistant 'e carved?'

"Well, I got to my hotel somehow, and when after a month in the hospital with brain fever I tried to develop some of the films I got only one good negative. I think that will convince you there are magicians in India and I will win my bet of a feed at Del's."

"I was betting there were no magicians in India, if you remember," I protested, "not that there were no hypnotists."

"You forget," said Jack, "that you can't hypnotize a camera. Here is the photo."

"I picked it up with curiosity but gazed at it with horror. It was a very good photograph and among other details showed the body of a boy lying between the head and body of a man, with severed arms and legs scattered here and there. A severed hand was clutching by the hair a head; turning the face up in full view, and although distorted with pain and terror, I knew it was the face of Jack Barrett. While I was still gazing at the ghastly thing a ring called Jack to the door, where after a few words with some one he called to me:

"'Don't go away; 'Ill be right back.'

"I laid the photograph face down on the table and walked to the window, but as Jack did not come back I turned to look at some sketches lying on the floor by the open trunk. They were mostly landscapes and some of them were good. Jack is no mean artist. Having looked them all over, and no sign of Jack, I saw what seemed to be another bundle partly covered by some clothes in the trunk, and I took them out. Sketches they were, but not landscapes, as I had supposed. The first was a blur of arms and legs and heads. The second was much the same, and hastily looking at the last I found a complete sketch of the horrible picture now lying face down on the table. I puzzled over the riddle a moment, then the solution came clear as mud. Jack had drawn the picture, then photographed it. Hearing steps in the hall I hastily replaced the sketches and was busily looking out of the window when Jack came in.

"'Jack,' I said, "you dine with me at Del's tonight.'

"Then you are convinced that there are fakirs in India," he asked.

"'Yes,' I replied, "I am convinced there are fakirs in India—and elsewhere," I added under my breath.

INDIANS WANT TO BE LET ALONE

Chief From Arizona Makes Personal Appeal to the President.

Washington, March 27.—Chief Yukeoma, a thin, dried-up looking little Hipi Indian from the Moqui reservation in Arizona, clad in the trappings of his tribe and stubbornly protesting against the march of civilization, appeared at the White House today and made a plea to President Taft on behalf of himself and several hundred of his fellow tribes men to be left alone. The aged Indian's speech was interpreted to the president as follows:

"Oh, great white father, my people want to live as in the days of old, before the paleface took from us the land that was ours. We don't want schools and school teachers. We want to be let alone to live as we wish to roam free without the white man always there to tell us what we can do and what we can not do."

Yukeoma's beady little black eyes were sadder than ever when he left the White House, for the president told him that the schools could not be abolished and that the school teachers must continue to work on the Indian reservations. It is said the majority of the Hopi Indians are not in favor of education and the compulsory attendance of the children.

OBITUARY

D. H. G. Gates, a leading surgeon of Los Angeles, Cal., died March 27 of blood poisoning, the result of having accidentally pricked his hand with a pin while bandaging wounds in the operating room a week ago.

Prof. Henry Mitchell Whitney died March 26 of heart failure. He was the last of four brothers of whom the other three were Prof. William Dwight Whitney, the Yale philologist; Prof. Josiah Dwight Whitney, the Harvard geologist, and James Lyman Whitney, for some years head of the Boson public library. Born in Northhampton, Mass., in 1843, Prof. Whitney graduated from Yale in 1864. For twenty-eight years he was professor of English literature in Beloit college, Beloit, Wis. Since 1899 he had been head of the Blackstone Memorial library in Branford, Conn.

INFANTRY FOR JAMAICA.

England May Send 1,000 There on Completion of Canal.

Kingston, Jamaica., March 27.—The local papers print the report that upon the completion of the Panama canal, the Jamaican garrison will be strengthened by the addition of 1,000 British infantry. A hint of this was given by one of the chief military officers during a debate in the legislature last month.

It is generally believed that the buildings recently destroyed by fire in the naval yard at Port Royal, will be replaced and the yard again opened.

To Take Practice March.

Washington, March 27.—A practice march for 1,500 soldiers under his command at San Diego, Cal., will be undertaken by Brig. Gen. Bliss tomorrow. The "hike" will consume about two days and represents part of a general program to harden the troops to camp life.

Farmer Freezes to Death.

Redfield, S. D., March 27.—Bert Ness, a rich farmer, was found frozen to death in a field near his home this morning. He evidently had become lost in the storm while on his way home.

SCHEDULE OF GOLF EVENTS

Trophy Play on Northland Links Will Begin May 13.

Special Cup Will Be Contested for Throughout the Season.

With the announcement of the full golf schedule for the season comes also the announcement of a new idea on the part of C. H. Bagley, who has charge of the events. There will be a cup played for each Saturday, the player getting the most points in each competition getting his name on the cup, and the player getting the greatest number of points in the season's play getting permanent possession of the cup.

Each player entering the competition will have a red card and the score of each Saturday will be kept by this means. The play is expected to prove one of the most enjoyable features of the season's events.

The regular season will be formally opened May 13, with the play for the above mentioned cup. The grounds and clubhouse and restaurant will be opened May 1, as mentioned in The Herald, but May 13 will really mark the inauguration of trophy play.

On the following Saturday, May 20, the spring handicap, 18-hole qualifying round, will be begun. The first sixteen players will qualify and the finals of this event must be played prior to July 1, as the spring handicap is one of the most interesting events of the club season and is looked forward to by all the players.

May 27 will see the play for the season's cup resumed.

On June 3 the spring championship will be resumed and there will be scratch match play for the club championship. Play for the first flight in the championship event will also be on.

On June 10 the play for the season's cup will be resumed, and on June 15 the play for the Morris Memorial cup will be on the program. The Morris cup is played for by clubs all over the country, the club making the lowest score gaining possession of the Morris trophy for one year.

On Saturday afternoon, June 24, play for the season's cup will again be taken up.

July 4 will see the start of the short-stop tournament. On July 8 and also on July 22 the season's cup play will hold the boards.

From July 23 to 30, or thereabouts, as nearly as is known at the present time, the state tournament will be played.

July 29 and Aug. 12 will be taken up with the play for the season's cup.

On Aug. 19 the play for the fall championship will begin. This is one of the big events at the Northland club and always brings out one of the best fields of the club's players.

The fall handicap will start on Sept. 2.

On Monday, Sept. 4, Labor day, play for the president's cup will hold the boards.

Saturday, Sept. 16, will be taken up with the season's cup play.

On Sept. 30 the play in the president's and vice president's match will be on the program.

Saturday, Oct. 7, will be the last Saturday set for the season's cup play.

There will be other events that will suggest themselves later. The above program is the first official announcement of the games committee and gives the golfers of the Northland club their first idea of season's play. It can be seen that the events for the coming season will provide a very attractive program for the golf enthusiasts.

The little booklet giving the above schedule and other matter will be out some time in the near future. There will also be some other announcements of interest to the club members.

From the general information that comes from several of the officials and leading members of the club, there is every reason to believe that the coming season will be one of the most successful ever held by the Northland club.

KING GEORGE RECEIVES ENGLISH POLO TEAM.

London, March 27.—King George gave further stimulus to the already widespread interest in the forthcoming attempt to win back the international polo cup by receiving at Buckingham palace today Capt. Hardress Lloyd and the others of the English challenge team, who sail for Nek York next week.

His majesty is keenly interested in the effort to recover the prize which Queen Mary handed over to the Whitney team in 1909, and chatted at length with the team members, inquiring and advising in regard to the ponies and practice. He told Capt. Lloyd that he looked to him to bring home the trophy.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 27.—In a hard-fought game yesterday the St. Paul team of the American association defeated the St. Joseph club by a score of 6 to 5.

Memphis Defeats Cubs.

Memphis, Tenn., March 27.—In a game characterized by fast fielding and heavy hitting, the Memphis Southern league team defeated the Chicago Nationals yesterday afternoon, 6 to 1. The Cubs left for Nashville last night.

Millers Are Defeated.

Vicksburg, Miss., March 27.—The Vicksburg Cotton States league team defeated the Minneapolis American association team yesterday afternoon, 3 to 1.

EXCITEMENT RUNS HIGH IN SAPULPA

Sapulpa, Okla., March 27. — With prices high enough for a championship fight, more than half of the arena seats already sold, and indications that 2,000 paid admissions will be received before the gates are opened, the Morris-Schreck fight Tuesday promises to be the greatest pugilistic event ever witnessed in the Southwest.

Sapulpa has been dubbed "the Reno of the Southwest." The forthcoming battle is virtually the sole topic of conversation. The Rev. Jerry Jeter, pastor of the First M. E. church (South), here, has been preaching a series of sermons on "the white hope." Delegations from all principal cities in the country will attend the contest. Several hundred women have purchased seats. "Ladies' day" at the Morris camp was for several weeks a society event and many women here are eager to witness the giant "hope" in real action.

Schreck, accompanied by his manager, Billy Corcoran, arrived from Pittsburg Saturday night.

Morris has been taking his exercises in smaller doses for several days. He goes to bed early in the evening and sleeps late in the morning. His work is sufficient to keep him in splendid condition. He is confident that he will win.

JONES SAYS AD WILL WIN FIGHT

Believes German Can Trim Packey in Coming Gotham Scrap.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 27.—Commenting on Wolgast's forthcoming meeting with Packey McFarland in New York, Manager Tom Jones said: "Wolgast has been at the ringside of many of McFarland's fights, and knows exactly what to do to beat him. Ad will stay close in, ripping in at the body and uppercutting to the face all the time. This is the way to beat McFarland. Packey will whip any boy living who tries to stand away and outbox him. My boy will carry the rough stuff to Packey from the very start, and you can take my word for it, he will have the stockyards lad clinching and running away to avoid punishment."

However, Jones was dubious about Wolgast carrying away the "popular" decision in New York over McFarland.

"Packey has boxed there so often that they regard him as a local product," said Jones. "The only way we could secure a newspaper decision in New York would be to knock McFarland out. Ad could probably turn the trick if he had twenty rounds to go.

"Nevertheless, we are going back there and grab the coin by whaling Packey in a ten-round go."

Jones has a wholesome respect for Owen Moran, whom Wolgast is signed to meet before Coffroth's club in San Francisco on July 4. Although confident Wolgast would win from Moran, Jones refused to put himself on record as to how the champion would turn the trick over the Britisher.

BASEBALL NOTES

Davy Crockett, the "Parson," will manage the Bristol, Va., team this year.

Rudy Schwenk, sold by Louisville to Spokane, has decided to quit "holdouting" and report.

Thirty-two veterans of 1910 will be missing when the American Association starts its season.

Moving pictures have been taken at all the big league teams' training quarters down South.

Dayton of the Central league has sold Tim O'Brien to Grand Rapids. Tim will do backstopping.

Chief Miller, the Louisville Indian pitcher, is said to be the only portside Redskin in the fast set.

Brooklyn has released Outfielder Blakely to the Binghampton team of the New York State league.

Dal Williams, veteran minor league catcher, will manage an independent team in Rockford, Ill., this year.

Walter McCredie of Portland is figuring on getting Pitcher Krapp back from Cleveland after the season opens.

"Nobby" Nash, Cubs' leading in joining the Cubs this year is making considerably less noise than it did last season.

The "bad heart" scare for Jack Pfeister of the Cubs was only a blank cartridge, much to the joy of the Chicago fans.

Edward Kusel, pitcher who was tried out by the Browns in 1910, then sent to Saginaw, is now with Austin in the Texas league.

They persist in calling Jimmy Dygert the diminutive pitcher, yat he reported to the Baltimore camp weighing 174 pounds.

The Columbus, Ohio, club is wondering if its Mexican player, Casas, can get through the lines of soldiers on the border and report.

"Chief" Fairoanks, a ball player, soon to join his club at Spartanburg, was killed by a deputy sheriff at Etowah, Tenn., in a quarrel.

The father of George Paskert of the Phillies, died last week at Cleveland and "Dode" has temporarily been excused by Manager Dooin.

Manager Jennings has put a stop to crap games among his players, and Manager Chance of the Cubs has ruled against poker playing.

Of course Mullin will pitch the opening game for Detroit, but as a matter of form, Manager Jennings has made the announcement for Lil.

John Selgel, outfielder with Nashville in the Southern last year, has been named manager of the Clarksville club of the Kitty league.

Joe Rudd will manage the Zanesville team from the bench, because, he says, his youngsters are so good they would show him up.

Ralph Frary, an umpire in the Northwestern league last season, will be on the staff of President Lucas of the Union association this year.

Herbert Slater, sporting writer on the Kansas City Post, will become president of the Western association on May 1, Thomas C. Hayden having resigned.

Garry Herrmann is backing Melvin Vanman, the bird man, for a trip across the ocean. He will lend financial aid toward building a sure-enough airship.

Lave Cross, now manager of the Charlotte team in the Carolina association, has seriously asked the league magnates to rule out the spit ball in their circuit.

There seems no doubt in the minds of his fellow-players on the Cincinnati team that McQuillen has really come back and he is said to have more speed than ever.

The Tri-State league will live up to its name this year in earnest, having clubs in three states, since Wilmington has taken Williamsport's place in the circuit.

Catcher Simon Pauxtis, sold to Cincinnati to Syracuse, will coach an Eastern college team in the art of baseball before joining the New York state leaguers.

Syd Smith, it is said, is to do the catching for the left-handed Nap pitchers this season. The rotund backstop is said to be a past master at handling port-siders.

George Stovall will continue as captain of the Cleveland brigade. He has been field boss practically all the time since Lajoie quit being manager-captain back in 1909.

Clyde Fullerton of the Giants hails from Texas, but this didn't prevent him falling for a badger fight at Marlin. He pulled the badger so hard that the dog won hands down.

Mert Pfyl will be the first baseman for the Oakland team on the coast this year, Manager Wolverton deciding to let the balking Don Cameron go by the waiver route.

Catcher Fred Mitchell of the Rochester team, whose right name is Fred Yapp, was married recently to Mabel Gonding, an actress who has been with "The Three Twins" company.

The story going the rounds that Walter Johnson's uncle has signed to pitch for Los Angeles is true enough, but the uncle of the great Washington flinger is only 19 years old.

The Northern Indiana Baseball league has perfected its organization with the election of Charles A. Klunk of Wabash as president and A. Mandelbaum of Wabash, as secretary.

COMMENTS AND OPINIONS ON THE SPORTING PARADE

Golf Events for Head of the Lakes This Year—Automobile Racing Game Is Menaced—Ted Ames Visits Duluth—Jack Johnson's Twenty-Five-Day Sentence.

(BY BRUCE.)

ANNOUNCEMENT of the golf playing events of the season is always an interesting one to many of the lovers of outdoor sports of this city. The number of golf enthusiasts at the Head of the Lakes has shown a steady increase during the past few years, with the result that the game has advanced from a sport participated in by a few members of the Northland club to a position where it counts its devotees up well among the hundreds.

From the program of coming events that will be found upon another part of this page, it can be observed that the present season will be one of the very best in the history of golf activities at the Head of the Lakes. Some time ago announcement was made in this column that there would be decided activity in golf circles the coming season, following a statement from one of the leading members of the club, and a glance at the full schedule of events for the season shows that the prediction was correct.

At the present time the Northland Country club is counted among the very best patrons of the great Scotch game. Ranking with the Town and Country Club of St. Paul, the Minnekahda and Bryn Mawr Clubs of Minneapolis, the Northland has co-operated with these organizations, since golf really became a recognized sport at the local club, to establish golf as one of the leading outdoor sports of the Northwest.

Before the sport really became general, as it is at the present time in the West, it was very popular in the East. Then the leading clubs of this section of the country took it up, with the result that today there are few more popular games.

Locally the game has flourished because it has been in the hands of enthusiasts. In the past those members of the Northland club who have had charge of the games for the season, have used energy and intelligence in making a thorough success of the sport. C. H. Bagley is in charge the present season, and those who are acquainted with him are amply assured that he will measure fully up to the standard of efficiency of the past, for there is no more enthusiastic lover of the game and no harder worker in its interests, than the man who starts the present season with the idea of making the game even more popular than it has proved in the past.

May Hurt the Racing Game.

ANY time some of the makers of automobiles quit the automobile racing game you can make up your mind that the sport of high speed racing is going to suffer.

There is a precedent to judge from. Back in the old Class B days of bicycle racing, when the wheel was all the rage, even the ladies taking to the wheel with more enthusiasm than area showing at the present time for the suffragette movement, it seemed as if nothing could hurt the popularity of the sport.

The different makers of wheels maintained expensive racing teams. John S. Johnson and later Bald, Cooper, Kiser, Sanger, the three Butlers, Cabanne, Titus and other of the stars received handsome salaries for riding a certain make of wheel. As long as the support of the rich makers continued as an asset of the game, the sport of bicycle racing flourished.

Suddenly the support of the manufacturers was withdrawn. The large and imposing bicycle teams disappeared and the game became more of a maverick sport, each rider depending largely upon the money he could earn, the meets becoming less attended and the public in general beginning to withdraw its interest.

Those of you who have followed sports are very well acquainted with the complete death of the bicycle racing game. There are perhaps one or two cities in the country today where races are held for small purses. Then there is the annual six-day grind in New York. Frank Kramer, Floyd McFarland, Root, Fogler and just a few of the old boys are left in the game. Compared to its former brilliance as a national pastime, bicycle racing has ceased to exist.

Look at the automobile racing game at the present time. Note the number of big manufacturing concerns that have racing cars on the circuit. Some of them have teams of racing machines. Think of the advertising, of the pomp and swing the entering of cars on the part of the big manufacturing concerns means. Think of the blow the game will receive when some of the companies pull their cars and crack drivers off the tracks.

According to the announcement yesterday, this is going to occur. A dozen of the big concerns have announced their withdrawal from furthrer participation in the game of record smashing. This is a very hard blow at the sport in itself, and that of what it means if followed by some of the other big makers.

Like business and other details of our rushing, throbbing life of today, fads have become a distinct feature of our big sporting events. Skilled press agents would tell you the same, were you to ask them.

Fad and the mania for records induced the manufacturers to go into the bicycle racing game. The fad was carried to the end of the big racing team, then some of the makers decided that they had received all the advertising they needed and the hired men were obliged to quit.

Speed, advertisement and records have been the dominating features in the American automobile racing game. We have carried the record mania to that stage where a mile in 27 seconds was the result. Has the fad run its end?

Certain it is that the present season will be a great one. The reaction, if there is any, is too new to begin to show any real destruction force. But this withdrawal from the racing game is a warning, may mean that the sport of record smashing has gone nearly to the limit and that the glory, the spectacular magnificence of the game will slowly recede in the next few years.

That was the history of bicycle racing, and in the case of the automobile, history may be repeated as far as racing is concerned, though the auto will never cease to be a part of our commercial life, though the bicycle did cease to figure.

Ted Ames Was With Us.

"TEDDY" AMES, of St. Paul, a former member of the Notre Dame football team, and also a former member of the crack A. A. A. team of St. Paul, the same aggregation that gave Superior a trimming at football that has not been forgotten by some of the young men of that city, was in our midst yesterday.

Ames was one of the greatest natural football players that ever came out of the West. Had he gone to Minnesota or Michigan he would have been one of the stars of the West. Williams tried to persuade him to enter Minnesota, but Ted was through playing football at that time.

The husky Ames is in the employ of the Butler Brothers and will have charge of some work for them at Virginia.

Hope They Keep His Houses.

DID you notice how some servant of the commonwealth stung the big black buffalo by clapping him in the stir? This sticking in his cell for a few hours was the height of humiliation for Lil' Artha, for this negro's conceit is so monumental that it would make the Washington monument of pure white look like an anthill that had been flattened by the stumbling foot of man.

There was nothing that John Artha enjoyed more than he did the parade into court and the paying over the nominal fine for speeding. Invariably he exhibited a huge roll, enjoying the surprised looks of the court attendants as he flashed his roll. That fine would have as much chance of stopping the darkey from going as an imitation of the Twentieth Century limited down the boulevard as a pink flea would have of stopping the charge of a battalion of loosed elephants.

Now some wise judge has soaked the dinge in the neck with a twenty-five-day stretch, and although Johnson has put up bail for the time, it is hoped that the sentence goes straight. It may have the effect of toning down the wild-running imagination of this fellow, who has come to the belief that he is a privileged character and will not be seriously molested for repeated infractions of the law.

If some poor white driver had committed half the offenses of this strutting coon, he would have been aiding his digestion and giving full vent to retrospection by breaking large rocks into small pieces. But the negro has simply been allowed to make laughing stock of the courts and gather good advertising from the small fines.

This fellow is simply a clown on public parade. Some historian of the future will comment upon the fact that an ignorant and strutting negro paraded before the eyes of the world for a series of years, exploiting himself in a number of wild capers that go far to confirm the theory of old man Darwin.

Johnson knows a lot about fighting. He is one of the greatest and perhaps the greatest fighter that the ring has ever produced. When you say that, you let him out.

Out of the ring he is as impossible as perpetual motion. He has the vanity of the negro developed to the highest possible degree. He has gone daffy with the notion that he is a personage before which the doors of convention should open.

Some years back he used to starve almost to death. The first money he would get, so ring history has said, would go for a gorgling feed and then for loud and shrieking wearing apparel. He used to deck his then black wife out in sealskins in the heat of summer. His sense of spectacular display is grotesque.

Now he squanders money on diamonds and wine and automobiles and soirees and court fines for speeding through the streets of village and city. His nature is without rhyme or reason, save for some animal and catlike instinct that makes him fight with more infinite art than any man of his time.

Cage an animal and you will teach him a lesson. Some precept might be taken from natural history for this bounding black, who has only flashed a golden grin at times.

LOOK WHO'S HERE! HE WANTS TO PITCH

The first freak of the season in the baseball line has made its appearance. The time was this morning and the place the baseball office of Magnate Desmond.

Jawn was out at the time of the call, the lady who handles the routine business in the absence of genial Jawn being called upon to greet with the elongated specimen of bugitis.

This freak is, according to the lady's description, six feet, five inches tall, and in retelling the story Desmond made it six and one-half feet for sake of general appearance.

He wants to pitch. There have been lots of young men with a desire to hurl them over with craven deception written all over the ball. Whether this human telegraph pole can put anything but his fingers on the ball, will be left to future development.

It was left to Jawn to sign with him. The long boy promised to call again and Jawn will give him a ball and ask him to get out on commission row and try out some new curves. They are continually trying out new curves down in that district.

The tall pine did not leave his name, but as he promised to call again, some more news may be gleaned as to his family tree and general habits both on and off the baseball field.

Another letter came to the baseball office this morning, from Barby the faithful. About the only detail of news value was the statement that several of the recruits were on hand, and that a big chap by the name of Mondamin, a former student at Georgetown, who is in the claim department of one of the Cleveland railroads, has been out several times and looked like a wonder.

Whether this player will be a regular candidate for the team or is just limbering up and shaking some winter lethargy out of his system, the Irish poet did not say.

BRITTON MAY HEAD ST. LOUIS NATIONALS.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 27.—Schuyler P. Britton of this city may become the new president of the St. Louis National baseball club, succeeding Stanley Robison, who died here Friday.

Though Mr. Robison's will has not yet been opened, it is understood that he left his property to his sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank De Haas Robison and her daughter, Mrs. Schuyler P. Britton.

President Lynch of the National league, after a conference with the family yesterday, said Britton would probably be acceptable to other magnates, if his wife and Mrs. Robison should decide to hold the stock and name him president. In 1907 Mr. Britton spent part of the season with Mr. Robison and the Cardinals and it was said then that he was being groomed to succeed Mr. Robison.

The Robison funeral will be held here this afternoon.

SAILORS MAY GATHER HERE

Sculling Races Suggested for Carnival—Cabinet Will Meet.

Charles Brewer, captain of the sailing department of the Duluth Boat club returned yesterday from St. Paul, after an absence of seven weeks from the city. From now on he will devote some of his time to his department of the club and will be able in a few days to give some idea of what part the sailors will take in the carnival.

There will be a meeting this evening of the cabinet of the club. This includes the captains of the four departments of the club and also the officials. There are a number of important matters coming up this evening, one of the most important probably being an expression of what the sailing department of the club will do during the three days of water events.

It is believed that invitations will be issued for the competing in special events of some of the outside sail boats. This was talked of last fall. It was stated at that time that many of the sailors who annually sail in the Inter Lake regatta, would bring their boats to Duluth for a special event series.

More on this score will be known after Mr. Brewer has had the opportunity to look the situation over. He is one of the most enthusiastic sailors at the Head of the Lakes and has in the past worked hard for a regatta here.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE FIRST

Professional Ball Players Preparing to Get Into Action.

New York, March 27.—Tuesday will witness the start of the 1911 season for professional baseball games, and before the games are abandoned next fall, nearly 20,000 regular league contests will have been played. The Pacific Coast league is the first to begin play and the last to close.

In the seventeen days now intervening before the opening of the American and National leagues and the American association season all on April 12, two small Southern leagues—the Cotton States and South Atlantic organizations, will swing into action in a number of wild capers that go far to confirm the theory of old man Darwin.

In quick succession after the inauguration of the big leagues April 12, the Southern, Eastern and Western leagues open, with the Central league among the last of the big leagues to get into motion—April 26. The Ohio and Connecticut state leagues start April 20, and 21, respectively, and the New York State and New England leagues April 24.

The Michigan State league does not begin play until May 25, and is the last of the recognized leagues to open. By that time, the country over, there will be at least thirty professional leagues in the field, with schedules calling for from 300 to 600 games each.

COMMISSION TO CONSIDER THREE I LEAGUE DISPUTE.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 27.—Chairman August Hermann of the National baseball commission, said today that the commission would meet in this city tomorrow to consider the dispute concerning the Three I league circuit. Presidents B. B. Johnson of the American and T. J. Lynch of the National leagues, will attend the meeting.

KILPATRICK IS IN TOWN

Was Holder of World's Half Mile Running Record for Years.

Charles Kilpatrick, until the advent of Mel Shepperd, the greatest middle distance runner the world has ever seen; the same chap who hung up the world's half mile record of 1:53 2-5 running the last half of the race with his clothing disarranged and somewhat interfering with his stride; the tall boy who upheld the colors of Uncle Sam in the international games of 1895, is in the city today.

"Kil" as he was lovingly known to the students of the University of Wisconsin, had one of the most beautiful strides ever seen on a track. Mike Murphy, back in '95, pronounced Kilpatrick the most easy moving athlete he had ever seen on a track. The record pegged that day by "Kil" stood for fourteen years, despite the fact that it has been the ambition of many star runners to shatter it.

Lughi, the Italian, Mel Shepperd's great rival, clipped it by 3-5 of a second, thereby taking from Kilpatrick the great mark he made in one of the greatest runs ever seen on any track.

Kilpatrick was at Madison in the palmy days of Phil King and Big Holt, the former Princeton and Harvard player. He turned out some of the greatest middle distance runners of the West and was ranked with Keene Fitzpatrick and A. A. Stagg as one of the greatest trainers of tracksmen that the West has ever had.

THE SEASON IS ON— LAKESIDERS DOWN RIVALS.

Anyway spring has almost "came." Saturday the first baseball game of the season was played. The Lakesides downed the Crescents by the score of 13 to 7 on the Children's home grounds, and, according to the report of the field bringing in the somewhat crumbled score, "she were a dandy."

In boyous excitement he painted the contest as one fast and exciting, sayin' as how Pilly Wood, the boy twirler of the Lakesides made thirteen desperato Crescents fan the air. "Rip' Owens of the Crescents must have been there with the flossy stuff, for his curves grossly deceived nine of the Lakeside boys.

Following is the line-up:

IN THE SPRING EVERYONE NEEDS S.S.S.

Spring is the season when the blood is weakest, and our systems least responsive to the demands of nature. It is the time of fickle appetites, poor digestion, lack of energy, bodily fatigue, and many other systemic disturbances which warn us that we need a tonic.

Everyone who needs a tonic needs a blood purifier, for it is the weakened and impure condition of the circulation that is responsible for the run-down constitution. A great many so called tonics are mere nerve stimulants, often producing instantaneous exhilarating effects, but acting with decided injury on the system later. If your system is weak and depleted you can only tone it up by supplying an increased amount of nourishment, and this can come only through pure, rich blood. Any tonic which does not purify the blood is dangerous, because it leaves the impurities in the circulation to constantly prey upon the health.

S. S. S. is the greatest of all tonics because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers; and it is the one medicine you can rely upon to supply the system with the best tonic effects and at the same time thoroughly purify the blood. Everyone needs S. S. S. in the Spring, because by building up the system now they may avoid serious illness later on. Many people have put off using a tonic until the system became so weakened it could not resist disease, and have paid for the neglect with a spell of debilitating illness. S.S.S. is nature's ideal tonic; made entirely of healthful roots, herbs and barks. It tones up the stomach and digestion, and contributes to strong, robust health. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

S. S. S. has been used extensively in our family as a Spring tonic, given to both young and old, and always with the best results. It thoroughly cleanses the blood of all impurities, at the same time it builds up the general health, gives appetite, strength and energy. We have given it to our children as intimated, and found it to be non-injurious to the system and always capable of purifying the blood and restoring health.
MRS. CLARA DAUBERT.
Schuylkill Haven, Pa.

My blood was weak and impure last Spring, and I was troubled with a general letting down of the system. Under the fine tonic and blood purifying effects of S. S. S. my appetite improved, I increased in strength and weight and my blood was restored to its normal healthy condition.

WEST END

THIEF HAS A CONSCIENCE

Returns Brass Fittings Stolen From West End Boathouse.

Leaves Note Promising to Return Other Stolen Articles.

A. Blewitt of the West end has found a boathouse thief with a conscience. As a rule, those who have been engaged in this sort of petty thievery, are not bothered with scruples, and when Mr. Blewitt discovered on his front doorstep one morning last week, a bundle of stolen brass fittings taken from his boathouse, he was much surprised.

A few days ago, some one entered and looted the Blewitt boathouse of a considerable quantity of brass and fittings from a motor boat and although the police were informed, they had nothing to work on to serve as a clew to the thief. Mr. Blewitt gave the stolen articles up as lost until he discovered them on his doorstep.

All the missing brasses were not returned, but a note was left in the package, briefly stating that the other articles would be returned some time this week. The thief is not known and it is probable that he will not take any chances of being discovered, as the police believe that he may be connected with the numerous other boathouse thefts at the West end.

FIVE FUNERALS IN THE WEST END

Five funerals were held today at the West end. Two services were held this morning at the French Catholic church, one this afternoon at the undertaking establishment of Olson & Crawford and two funerals were conducted from West end homes.

The funeral of Charles Poissant, a carpenter, killed Thursday in a fall off a roof on a Lake avenue building, was held this morning at 8 o'clock from the St. Jean Baptiste church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street with burial in Calvary cemetery. His brother, Andrew Poissant and nephew, Joseph of Little Falls were here to attend the funeral.

Funeral services for Edward Blair, aged 49, of 505 South Seventieth avenue west, who died Friday at St. Mary's hospital were held at 9 o'clock from the St. Jean Baptiste church to Calvary cemetery.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock, the funeral of Samuel Nelson, who was found dead in a shack at the rear of 508 Garfield avenue, last week, was held from the Olson & Crawford rooms, 2118 West First street with interment in Forest Hill cemetery. Patrick and John Nelson, brothers, residing at Hayward, Wis., were in attendance at the funeral.

At 2:30 o'clock, funeral services for Lester, infant son of John Henrickson were held from the Henricksen home, 2109 Piedmont avenue. Burial was in the Scandinavian Union cemetery at Hermantown. Rev. Swaney Nelson officiated.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edlund of 108 North Twenty-seventh avenue west, died Sunday morning. The funeral was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the residence to Oneota cemetery.

EASTER SUNDAY PROGRAM IN SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Sunday school children of the First Swedish M. E. church are making preparations for an elaborate Easter Sunday program and will meet tomorrow evening at the church. Twentieth avenue west and Third street for the first rehearsals.

On Wednesday evening, the Ladies Aid society has arranged to hold its annual sale of fancy and useful articles in the church. The semi-monthly meeting of this society will be held at the church Thursday afternoon. Choir practice will be held Friday evening.

BEGIN WORK ON NEW ELEVATOR.

Excavation work for the foundation of the new elevator and feed mill for Nelson & Peterson at Nineteenth avenue west and Michigan street, has been completed by the Barnett & Record company.

The work of building the foundation will be started this week and will be rushed to an early completion. It is expected that the structure will be ready for use by July 1.

Under Other Auspices.

Owing to the death of one of the members, the Uniform League, Order of Vasa, will not hold the ball scheduled for tomorrow evening. Blewitt's orchestra has assumed charge of the affair and the ball will be held under its management at the scheduled time and place.

West End Briefs.

The Junior League of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will entertain tomorrow evening at the church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. The Misses Thorstad and Gertrude Jorgenson are in charge of the affair.

Mrs. Peter Haupt of Twenty-sixth avenue west left Saturday for a visit at Minneapolis.

Five girls will entertain the Parthenoi Society of the Swedish Mission church at its meeting tomorrow evening at the church, Twtney-first avenue west and Second street.

Mrs. Evelyn Daust of 215 North Twenty-fourth avenue west, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Frank Monnott of Houghton, Mich., left Saturday for Medford, Or., where she will spend the summer with relatives.

Fred G. Hanson of Miles City, Mont., is visiting West end friends and relatives.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Swedish Mission church will meet Wednesday afternoon at the church. Miss D. Johnson will be hostess.

L. P. Peterson of Spokane, Wash., a former contractor of the West end, is renewing acquaintances here this week.

The quarterly meeting of the Young Peoples' Society of the Swedish Mission church will be held Thursday evening at the church.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Second Presbyterian church will be entertained Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Robert Gillen of 419 Eighteenth avenue west.

ATTEMPT TO END HIS LIFE FAILS

Aged Man Cuts His Throat But Is Expected to Recover.

John Govkawski, 65 years old, made an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide by slashing his throat with a razor about 7 o'clock yesterday morning at the home of his son-in-law, 128 West Tenth street. Lieut. Fritz, accompanied by Patrolman McDermott and Dr. Hirschfield, responded to the call for assistance which was sent to police headquarters. The wound was dressed and the aged man removed to St. Luke's hospital. He severed his windpipe but missed the jugular vein. It is thought that he will recover.

MOTION IS ANSWERED.

Latest Move on Legal Checkerboard in Russell Will Case.

Cambridge, Mass., March 27.—Counsel for William C. Russell of Melrose, have filed in the Middlesex county court an appearance and answer to the motion "pro confesso" filed Friday by the attorney of the Dickinson, N. D., claimant, "Dakota Dan," to one-half share in the $500,000 estate of the late Daniel Russell, of Melrose.

The answer denies that the claimant is the son of the late Daniel Russell, denies his right to ask the court to construe the will of Daniel Russell and denies further "that the said will gives to Daniel Blake Russell, therein mentioned, any interest in the estate of the late Daniel Russell."

The final paragraph of the answer of William C. Russell to the motion "pro confesso" indicates for the first time the contention of William C. Russell that even if the claimants should prove to be the son of the late Daniel Russell, "he is not entitled under the will to receive any portion of the estate."

Business, like some people, is sensitive and will only go where it is invited.

MEN SHOULD STRIVE FOR BEAUTY, SAYS SPEAKER.

Men should strive for beauty, said Frank Nelson, president of the Minnesota college of Minneapolis in an address to men at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon.

Men should have a true understanding of the word "beauty," said the speaker. He thought this would not be a pleasant world if everybody wanted to be ugly. Christ, he averred, was the only person who ever claimed to be the light of the world. Light, he said, is the first thing to impress itself upon the eye of a newborn babe. God created the eye, he declared, so men could talk in the light, see light and enjoy it. The first sight of the spiritual eye, he said, should be the light of Christ.

Although a man may be physically blind there is no spiritual blindness. The most natural thing in the world is light and Christ is the most natural personality. To be religious is to be natural, said the speaker.

GLADSTONE'S FINE MILL.

Upper Michigan Town Boasts of Very Complete Affair.

Gladstone, Mich., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—After having been in course of construction since last June, the flooring mill of the Northwestern Cooperage & Lumber company here has gone into commission. The plant is a model and is the most modern of its kind erected in this country. The mill building is 70x280 feet, of concrete and steel and is absolutely fireproof. The walls are eight inches thick and nine feet high, above which, on all sides, is a continuous window, supplemented with an 8-foot skylight in the roof the full length of the building. This arrangement floods the big structure with light and is augmented with several hundred tungsten lamps for use on exceptional dark days. The mill is equipped with every labor-saving device known to the industry.

PLANT MAKES TANNIN.

New Industry Started at North Escanaba, Mich.

Wells, Mich., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new industry in Upper Michigan is the manufacture of tannin, a liquid product used extensively in the process of converting hides into leather. The plan belongs to the Escanaba Extract company and recently went into commission, after building operations extending over a period of two years. The plant is on the shore of Little Bay de Noquette at North Escanaba. It has a capacity of 100 cords of hemlock bark daily.

DULUTH LODGING HOUSE CONDITIONS AS THEY ARE SHOWN BY THE CAMERA

WHERE TWENTY-SEVEN MEN WASH.

THE UNVENTILATED BASEMENT, WHERE SEVENTY-SIX MEN SLEEP. ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE PARTITION TO THE RIGHT IS ANOTHER SET OF BUNKS.

Sleeping rooms in lodging houses shall be adequately ventilated.

They shall have enough light to satisfy the officials of the health department.

Four hundred cubic feet of air shall be provided for each lodger.

No beds or bunks shall be placed one above the other.

No one shall be permitted to sleep or lodge in a basement.

Each lodger shall have a separate bed.

All bedding shall be kept clean and free from vermin, and no comforters shall be permitted, but blankets used instead.

These are some of the requirements of the new lodging house ordinance which has been prepared by the health department, and which will probably be submitted to the city council at the regular meeting tonight. It will then be referred to a committee for investigation and report.

They are set forth because they show what most of the lodging houses in Duluth lack. Every one of them fails to comply with most of these provisions, and many of them totally lack in every respect.

Some of them are located in basements. None of them have proper ventilation. Some of them are so dark that in broad daylight it is impossible to see without the aid of artificial light. The bedding is anything but inviting, looking in many places as though it hadn't seen a washtub for weeks. Many have "double-deckers," with the cots one on top of the other, while double beds occupied by two men are common.

One of the worst places in the city was found on Lake avenue. Also it was about the largest lodging house in town. The basement was literally packed with bunks, the so-called "double-deckers." Down one side there were twenty-seven of these, accommodating fifty-four men. Down the other were twelve of them, accommodating twenty-four men. Every bit of space was utilized.

Bedding Is Filthy.

Most of the bedding was filthy. Old blankets and comforters were tossed on top of the bunks. What had once been white pillowcases were in evidence, sad relics of better days, reminders of "what might be." Down one side the bunks were partitioned off into "stalls," two "double-deckers" to a "stall," with places for four men. On the other side the "double-deckers" were run lengthwise, one against the other, without even a partition to lend a semblance of respectability.

In the same basement there was another long set of what are quite aptly termed "stalls." They were just about as numerous as the others and located in much the same way. The conditions were not any better. Any self-respecting livery stable proprietor has better quarters for his horses.

One Bathtub.

In the first bunch there were sleeping quarters for fifty-four men and in the other the number was not much less. For the hundred men who might seek this basement there was one bathtub. It was tucked in a far corner of the basement, in a separate room, which was kept locked. If any of these hundred men should want to take a bath, they would have to apply to the man in charge to get the key.

The atmosphere of the place in the middle of the afternoon, hours after the men had left there in the morning, was anything but pleasant. It was dank and disagreeable, calling to mind a thought of what it would be early in the forenoon, after the scores of men had spent several hours there, packed in like cattle. In fact, worse than cattle, because the animals are not put in stalls one above the other. The only way the place could be ventilated would be to open the doors at either end, one of which opened on a yard which was extremely filthy and other of which opened on another dark hallway in the basement, which led to the common toilet. The light was noticeable by its absence. Two or three faint streaks of daylight were visible the lenth of the aisle, accentuating the gloom and general air of unhealthfulness.

The lodging houses on the east side of St. Croix avenue were smaller, but the crowding was as bad as possible with the smaller rooms available. In one place two double rooms housed twenty-six men, the furniture consisting of wooden "double deckers" and wooden cots packed in the remaining available space. They had plenty of windows, but the bedding was dirty and vermin was common.

At another place twenty men were kept in six rooms with double beds. The "dining room" and the washroom were one, with beds flanking it on all sides.

In one small attic five double beds were found. The roof was so low that one could stand only in the center. The roofs sloped away to the sides, with the beds shoved against them. Ten men slept in the place and it was big enough for two men who might want to live under cheap conditions. The floor was littered with dirt, the rafters were bare and the only means of access was a ladder nailed to the floor below. On the first floor was a kitchen. Slops and refuse flirted with the groceries and meats which were intended for meals, and off in one corner was a bedroom used by the man who acted as cook and waiter.

In First Alley.

In First alley, between Fourth and Fifth avenues, on the lower side, a place worse than this was found. Upstairs quarters for twenty-seven men were located in two rooms, which were practically a double room. In one were placed three "double deckers" for twelve men, while between them were two double beds for four more men, or sixteen men huddled in one small room. In the other were five double beds, so close together that the occupants had to climb over the ends to get into them. Not to overlook a small corner a single cot was tucked into the last remaining clear spot of floor space.

The kitchen would make any one but a person with a strong constitution sick. Just about a look would be enough. Kettles and pots and pans, in all stages of dirtiness, were hung promiscuously about. Quantities of food were uncovered. Some of the refuse had not been relegated to the garbage can, if such a receptacle were on the premises. In one corner was the toilet, used by the men from the upstairs rooms, and they were frequently passing back and forth. In the other corner was a bedroom, the door of which was open. Off from this kitchen was the dining room, which opened directly on an alley which was so dirty that to go through it one ought to be equipped wit ha pair of boots and a fumigating apparatus.

CO-OPERATIVE STORES TO HAVE DISTRIBUTING POINT.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The officers and managers of the many co-operative stores in the northwestern section of the state held a meeting here Friday to discuss matters pertaining to the establishment of a distributing station in this city for all the stores in this section. This business would be in the nature of a wholesale house and would job the goods required for the local stores. The co-operative sentiment is strong in this territory and the farmers are establishing co-operative creameries and stores all over the upper part of the state.

BELIEVE LODGE ORGANIZER WAS ALSO BURGLAR.

Enderlin, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—That J. H. Stahl, convicted at Hawley, Minn., of a series of petty robberies there, also perpetrated similar burglaries here only recently, is the belief of the local authorities. Stahl was in Enderlin several weeks as a lodge organizer, and while so employed had an opportunity of making a very general inspection of several places of business that were entered and burglarized. It is believed that Stahl had an accomplice, and the authorities are now searching for him.

FALLING ROCK KILLS SUPERIOR TIMBERMAN.

Houghton, Mich., March 27.—Drego Tomaz, aged 35 years, a timberman employed at the Superior mine, met with injuries Friday which resulted in his death a few hours later at the St. Joseph's hospital following the accident. Mr. Tomaz was at work on the eleventh level of the No. 1 shaft, and while lifting a rock, loosened a larger rock which rolled over upon him inflicting internal injuries.

The decedent is survived by no relatives in the Copper country but leaves a wife and two children in Austria.

DECLARES BOWBELLS BURKE COUNTY SEAT.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Templeton has made public his decision in which he holds with Bowbells and if the decision stands that city becomes the county seat of Burke county. The decision of Judge Templeton was handed down on application for a writ of mandamus brought by partisans of the town of Lignite to compel the canvassing board to reconvene and canvass the returns including the votes of several precincts which were not canvassed by the board on the ground that the election was not held at polling places designated.

THE VARIETIES OF RHEUMATISM

Do You Suffer From Any Of Them?

Rheumatism is of various kinds. These are the principal ones:
Inflammatory Rheumatic Gout
Chronic Articular Gout
Muscular

There's a little booklet entitled "Medical Advice on Rheumatism." It was written by an expert. He gives an exhaustive resume of much interest to any rheumatic sufferer.

The symptoms of the oncoming of the disease, the parts affected, the age at which one is most apt to contract it and other interesting items of information are given.

Correct rules of diet, which, if followed, will assist in effecting a cure.

Reasonable and reliable rules of exercise bathing, etc., are laid down.

Proper massage treatment is described.

And last, but not least, the use of "6088" is recommended and a history of this wonderful preparation is given. "Not a cureall, not a patent medicine," says the book, "but a prescription put up in convenient form after the physician who first compounded it had demonstrated to his own satisfaction that practically every rheumatic patient who used his 'Prescription No. 6088' was either cured or immeasurably relieved."

The medicine is on sale—the booklet is free.

TEAMS HAVE MANY PLAYERS

Three New York Teams Used Ninety Men During 1910 Season.

New York, March 27.—Ninety athletes took part in the championship games played by the three teams of Greater New York last season, the Highland combination using thirty-one men, the Washington Park club the same number, and the polo grounds aggregated twenty-eight. Only one pastimer went through the campaign without missing a game, the individual who made this astonishing record being outfielder Zach Wheat, of the Superbas. Certain players—Tom Madden and Lawrence McClure of the Highlanders and Frank Schneiberg of the Superbas—were not in the big show long enough to make the fans remember them. Madden acted in the capacity of pinch hitted in a game played on the Hilltop last April, and was with the Montreal team the next day. A fortnight later Madden was on his way westward.

McClure, a graduate of Amherst college, broke into the American league and out of it on the same day. He played left field for the Highlanders in two-thirds of a half inning and went to bat once, being whiffed by Bill Donovan. McClure, when next heard of, was in Toronto, and soon afterward was in the wilds of West Virginia.

Frank Schneiberg, a pitcher, labored on the slab for the Superbas for one round, and was so wild and was hit so viciously that Manager Dahlen immediately bought a ticket to Des Moines for the tall fellow from Wisconsin. Other players who had brief careers last season with the three clubs of Greater New York were Pitcher Albert Klawitter and Outfielder Zacher of the Giants. Outfielder Clyde Engle and Catcher Jack Kleinow of the Highlanders and Outfielders Lumley and Hunter of the Superbas. Of this sextet the only men who were in the big show when the season closed were Engle and Kleinow, their post-office address being Boston, Mass. It is no certainty that "Hack" and Jack will be employes of John Irving Taylor next season.

Favorites of year's standing who were no longer able to hold their jobs on metropolitan teams were Billy Keeler, Tim Jordan and Harry Lumley. "Wee Willie" finished the season with the Giants and got some of the proceeds of the series with the Highlanders. Billy then was presented with his freedom. None of these eminent hitsmiths played in enough games to get an average. Keeler was in nineteen controversies, but in seventeen of these he was merely a pinch hitter. John Arnold Heydler, keeper of the National league records, does not credit a man with playing a game unless he fills some position.

Keeler was a .309 hitter and 1,000 fielder last year, going to bat ten times, scoring five runs and making three safeties. He drew three passes and fanned once. In the field he had only one chance, which he accepted.

Tim Jordan and Harry Lumley, whom President Ebbets of the Superbas could have sold for $20,000 three years ago, accomplished mighty little in the National league last season. "Big City" did good work with the Washington Park team when it was at its training headquarters in Hot Springs, but then his fame knee began to bother him and he soon had to sit on the bench and hear the fans sing the praises of Jack Daubert. "Thumping Tim" was used by Manager Dahlen five times as a pinch hitter. On two of these occasions Jordan did the Gus Hill act; twice he raised easy flies and once he sent the ball soaring over the fence, two Superbas being on the bases at the time.

"Judge" Lumley covered right field for the Superbas in parts of four games, and speedily demonstrated that he was in the James J. Jeffries class. From Brooklyn Lumley went to Binghampton to act as manager of the team from which Billy Keeler graduated in 1892.

The leaders of the Highlanders—George T. Stallings and Harold H. Chase—did the most experimenting. From the material at their command the Hilltop chieftains figured out forty-seven combinations, eight players covering left field during the year. Manager McGraw of the Giants shifted his men about in forty-three ways, while Commander Dahlen of the Superbas utilized his athletes in thirty-seven ways. The Little Napoleons did not break into any championship battles, but Wilbur Wilfliam Dahlen called on himself to pinch-hit for some of his Pirates. Once Dahlen laid down a sacrifice that turned the tide of battle in his team's favor.

Fred Snodgrass of the Giants was the champion all-round player of his team. Jack Knight was the Highlanders' handy man, while Pryor McElveen was Brooklyn's ready rescuer. Snodgrass played six positions during the year, being stationed behind the bat, at first and third bases, and doing duty in all three outfield districts. Knight subbed for Chase, for Laporte and for Austin, and finally covered short field so well that he became the regular guardian of this place. Jack played right field for a few minutes. McElveen at various times was the second baseman, third baseman and shortstop of the Superbas, and when all the Brooklyn catchers were crippled, went behind the bat and comported himself with credit.

Princeton Wrestlers Win.

Princeton, N. J., March 27.—The intercollegiate wrestling meet which was stopped at midnight Saturday, was continued here today, Princeton winning the championship by a margin of six points. The final scores:

Princeton, 17; Pennsylvania, 11; Columbia, 11, and Cornell, 10.

This morning Capt. Wells of Princeton defeated Nisson of Pennsylvania on a decision after one nine-minute period and two two-minute periods in the 175-pound class.

In the unlimited class, Groff of Cornell won from Neilman of Pennsylvania after a twelve-minute bout, three minute bouts and two of two minutes each.

Sapulpa a Lively Town.

Sapulpa, Okla., March 27.—Sapulpa was alive today with ring followers here to attend tomorrow's fight between Mike Schreck and Carl Morris of Sapulpa. Morris did little training today, although his quarters were crowded. He skipped rope a while and after a few minutes of shadow boxing, announced his training was at an end and that he was "ready."

Schreck himself said Morris "had a chance," but that was all. Mike declared Morris will have to go back to his job on the railroad after tomorrow's fight. "Lack of experience, you know," said Schreck.

The fight is scheduled to go fifteen rounds. The men probably will enter the ring at 4 o'clock.

Edward W. Cochran of Kansas City who will referee the bout arrived today and announced as 4 to 1 on Morris with even money that Schreck does not stay five rounds.

HARD AND EASY GAMES UMPIRES HAVE TO DECIDE

(By Umpire Billy Evans.)

What are the easiest games to umpire?

What are the hardest contests to handle?

Who is the easiest pitcher to work behind?

Who is the hardest twirler for the judges of play?

What city is hardest for you to umpire in and please the fans?

What city in the circuits is easiest for you to work in and give satisfaction?

What sort of player is hardest for the umpire to get along with on the ball field?

What baserunners are hardest for the umpire when a close play arises?

Do umpires find it easier to work behind certain catchers than others for various reasons?

Are all major league umpires paid the same salary for working the regular schedule of 154 games?

Do you ever feel after rendering a decision that you might have been mistaken in your ruling on the play?

Every man who has ever officiated in a major or minor league as an umpire will smile as he peruses the above questions. These and a few million more of a similar nature are passed up to the umpires every year.

It is really extraordinary the opinion that some of the fans have relative to the above questions. Ofttimes I have asked my questioner what he thought about it, and hardly ever have the two opinions concurred. Quite often the scores of games as they appear in the paper cause one to believe the contest must have been a difficult one to umpire because of the closeness as well as the smallness of the score, but usually such is far from being the case.

"What was the score today, Billy?" said a fan to me one day last summer while on my way to the hotel.

"One to nothing, in favor of the home team, twelve innings," I replied.

"Must have had your troubles today," he said, as he thanked me and walked away.

Was Easy Contest to Umpire.

The fact that it required twelve innings for the home team to win the game by the narrow margin of 1 to 0 was enough to cause the fan to believe it must have been a hard game to umpire. Such was far from the truth. In fact, the contest was anything but difficult to preside over. Most anyone could have got away without a kick. The contest was a pitchers' battle. Neither team could do anything with the stick, weak grounders and little pop flies being the usual contributions, when the batter escaped going back to the bench over the strike-out route. There was hardly a single decision of any consequence for the base umpire to render, while the two pitchers were so steady and effective that the man behind the plate had scarcely a strike or ball questioned. The winning run was the result of a triple and a single.

Contrary to general opinion, the close, small score games in which the pitchers are effective are not the hardest to umpire. Any judge of play will tell you that there is much more to do in a game replete with hitting, in which some one is always on the bases. The more men on bases, the more base running, consequently all the more decisions for the umpire. Games in which pitchers are wild or getting hit increase the work of the plate umpire many times. Ninety times out of 100 a free hitting game with a 9 to 8 score is considerably harder to umpire than a pitchers' battle of twelve innings with a 1 to 0 result.

As a general rule the easiest pitchers to work behind are the best. I have often heard fans say after Walter Johnson has pitched one of his wonderful games:

"I would certainly hate to work behind that fellow Johnson with his wonderful speed and curves. He must be an awfully hard man to judge correctly."

Job Is Easy With Johnson in Box.

Ask any umpire in the American league what pitcher is easiest for him to umpire behind, and he will be sure to include the great Walter Johnson. Ask any National league umpire what pitcher he would prefer passing judgment on, and the reply would surely be Christy Mathewson, who is generally regarded as the premier twirler of that organization. Usually great pitchers possess excellent control. The fact that Christy Mathewson hit only three batters in the National league last year is proof of that. A pitcher who is steady is a much easier man to work behind than the twirler who hasn't the slightest idea of the location of the plate. Pitchers who are prone to be wild are always troublesome, twirlers who are achieving success more through their brain than brawn are always hard to umpire behind.

During the regime of Dusty Rhoades in the American league there were plenty of pitchers who had more stuff, yet Rhodes was, perhaps, the hardest of them all to work behind. The ball was always just on the inside or outside corner of the plate, and just above or just below the knee or shoulders. With three and two on the batter, he was just as likely to slip up his slow ball as a fast one. Groove balls were few and far between. Quite often Dusty would express a belief that the umpires regarded the corners of the plate as purely ornamental.

Another thing that makes it easier for the umpire, with a really star twirler pitching, is the fact that few star pitchers do much kicking. Rarely do you see pitchers like Mathewson, Johnson, Brown, Coombs and any of the other high-class twirlers in arguments with the umpire. They take what is given them, believing that on the whole they are not being mistreated. They have confidence in their ability and are not always looking to the umpire for assistance. Quite often they believe the umpire has erred, but they always express their opinion in a way that wins the respect rather than the antipathy of the umpire.

Like to Work in Certain Cities.

Naturally umpires regard the different cities in entirely different lights. A certain city that is a hard place for one umpire to please may be the stronghold of another umpire. It all depends on the success and luck that follows the umpire. Nine times out of ten the doing of something that at the time appeared quite trivial will seriously work against the umpire's popularity.

Billy Klem and Silk O'Loughlin regard Philadelphia as their jonah town. Silk gave a decision against the Athletics in that memorable seventeen-inning game of 1908 with Detroit that the followers of Connie Mack refused to forget. Several years ago Klem forfeited a game against the Phillies which the National League fans still recall. New York fans still associate the famous Hank O'Day with the Merkle decision that cost the pennant. Cleveland fans make it troublesome to Jack Egan simply because Egan gave a decision against the Naps in a game with St. Louis that meant much to the Clevelanders. The play happened in St. Louis, yet Egan is forced to pay the penalty in Cleveland. Detroit was always regarded by Jack Sheridan as his jonah town, while Cy Rigler looks on St. Louis as his hoodoo station.

The base runners who make the most trouble for an umpire are those who employ the fall-away slide, the use of which gives the fielder only the feet of the base runner to touch. Often the ball beats the runner, but the fielder fails to touch him, and a declaration of safe by the umpire seems the height of folly. Base runners who glide straight into the base without shifting the body are not hard to pass judgment on, as the fielder has the entire length of such sliders in front of him.

Every umpire will tell you that the player that worries him most is the nagger. By nagger is meant a player who is always quietly expressing a poor opinion of your work, yet never in any way showing you up to the crowd. The ejection of such a player from the game for a really just offense always gets the umpire in bad, for the crowd has not seen him do anything wrong, and regard the umpire as a czar.

Easy to Work Behind Some Catchers.

It is considerably easier to work behind some catchers than others. Backstops who assume a crouching attitude are much easier than catchers who stand almost straight when receiving. It is much easier to see over the catcher who crouches.

Any honest umpire after a game is over will tell you that he has often made a decision and felt afterward that he might have slipped up on the ruling. This often happens with a base runner, using the fall-away slide. Often the fielder misses when it seems certain he has been touched. Often the base runner is touched so lightly that it is evident to only the player handling the ball. No one knows it any better than the umpire when a mistake has been made.

Umpires do not get the same salary. Competency and length of service are always considered in fixing a salary. Few major league umpires get less than $2,400 and expenses, while some get as much as $4,000.

Precipitation Causes Values to Slide — Covering Starts Rally.

Statistics Less Bearish Than Expected—Flaxseed Is Weaker.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 27.—The wheat market slumped today. The decline was 1c for both May and July. Cash was on a parity with May. Oats lost ½c, rye and barley were unchanged, durum lost ¾c.

Flaxseed last 1c. Trading was extremely small. Foreign markets continued weak. Plata, February-March seed at Antwerp was $2.12 a bushel.

Heavy selling at the opening carried the market into stop-loss orders, and the decline was precipitate. Shorts began to cover freely, and on the rally shorts bought heavily. The decrease in the visible supply of wheat in this country was 1,392,000 bu, which induced considerable covering. The Canadian visible increased about 1,100,000 bu. Shipments to Winnipeg in the last week have been heavy and in excess of receipts last year.

Rain and snow in the spring wheat territory in the Northwest comprised the chief bear factor. Temperatures are expected to moderate, and the soil conditions, it is believed, will be considerably improved as a result of the precipitation. There were scattered showers in the Southwest, although the dry region in Southwestern and Western Kansas did not receive any moisture of consequence. Fair weather for the Northwest and Southwest is predicted for tomorrow.

Reports to the Kansas City Drover's Telegram on wheat reserves in the Southwest were bullish, reserves being shown to be small in the places reporting. The acreage, however, is above normal.

Cables were higher as world's shipments were smaller than were expected. Shorts covered freely. Shipments in the near future are expected to be heavy. An official Indian report said that rains in the North have proven beneficial. There has been some damage from too much rain and hail in the united provinces. Harvesting is proceeding. Russian shipments were lighter than expected and induced short covering. Australian offers were firmer.

MARKET GOSSIP

Weather forecast: Illinois—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday preceded by unsettled in north portion tonight; colder tonight. Indiana—Fair in south; snow in north portion tonight; much colder tonight; Tuesday fair. Missouri—Fair tonight and probably Tuesday; colder in east portion tonight; rising temperatures Tuesday. Wisconsin—Snow tonight and much colder in east and south portions; colder in east portion; Tuesday probably fair with warmer in west portion. Minnesota—Fair tonight with warmer in west portion; Tuesday probably increased cloudiness and warmer. Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; warmer Tuesday and in northwest portion tonight. North Dakota—Increasing cloudiness tonight or Tuesday; warmer tonight. South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; warmer tonight. Nebraska and Kansas—Generally fair tonight.

Inglis wired from St. Louis: General condition of wheat through Central Missouri very promising. Good stand, color and growth. Don't believe there will be any loss in acreage. Corn land being prepared. Millers disheartened over poor flour trade prospects. Grass showing up; cattle on the fields. Good shower last night and still drizzling.

Cars of wheat inspected: Wheat—No. 1 northern, 1; No. 2 northern, 1; rejected, 2; No. 2 durum, 2; winter, 1; total wheat, 7; last year in 48 hours, 200; flax, 2; last year in 48 hours, 6; oats, 3; last year, 23; barley, 6; last year, 38. Total, 18. On track, 14.

Chicago Record-Herald: "The February exports of wheat show in a remarkable degree the insignificant part that foreign demand at present plays in this country's wheat markets, the total exports for the month from east of the Rocky Mountains being but 256,642 bu and flour exports 487,973 bbls," says Ware-Leland in a special wheat letter. "Pacific ports during the same period shipped 1,076,396 bu of wheat and 351,115 bbls of flour. In the eight months since July 1 the exports from ports east of the Rockies have been 8,568,337 bu wheat and 4,933,514 bbls flour, while Pacific coast ports have shipped 9,780,865 bu wheat and 1,733,719 bbls of flour. We call your attention to the figures simply that you may be posted on the present situation. If we are on a basis simply of domestic consumption there is nothing to suggest other than a friendly view of conditions. However, should the surplus from the old crop or the yield from the new crop necessitate our going on an export basis it means quite a readjustment of values here during the next few monthts."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: Total world's shipments of breadstuffs last week, 14,400,000 bu, previous week, 12,288,000 bu, last year, 9,120,000 bu; corn, last week, 3,426,000 bu, previous week, 3,580,000, last year, 1,804,000. An explanation is given for the descrepancy in our American shipments and those posted by another authority on Friday. This authority used 800,000 bu of wheat from Portland to Liverpool, while the corrected amount should have been 37,000 bu as used in our total. The wheat market at the opening was influenced by the speculative support and values were ½d higher and following the opening offerings were lighter and shorts rather nervous and prices further advanced ¼@⅝d. Buying was stimulated by the lighter American and Russian shipments than were expected and the fact that although the world's total shipments were large, a very large percentage went to the continent. The corn market was steady and unchanged, with no feature of importance. At 1:30 p. m. the market was firm, ⅜@½d higher than Saturday. Australian offers were firmer, as well as Russian and local stocks here showed another liberal decrease. The Indian official report caused some disposition for profits and helped to check the advance.

Le Count wired from York, Neb.: "Light snow yesterday. Will scarcely lay dust. Crop accounts are good. Color is poor. Plant deeply rooted. Weather clear and favorable."

C. H. Thornton returned today from a trip through Europe. He visited the linseed oil markets. After thoroughly investigating the European situation he is still bullishly inclined toward flax.

Stephen H. Jones was on the floor today after a trip to California.

On passage: Wheat increased 2,640,000, corn increased 758,000.

B. W. Snow wired, in response to a question, "Is there sufficient moisture in the ground to start crop satisfactorily?" "Only one county in North Dakota answers 'No.' Reports saying that there is sufficient moisture at present have been received from Traill, Clark, Sargent, Richland, Pembina, Morton, Grand Forks, Foster and Cavalier. Rolette is the only county reporting moisture lacking. These reports, of course, are made prior to the rain of Sunday and today."

The Drovers' Telegram of Kansas City reports from fifty-six Kansas counties, well scattered and including all important wheat districts, making the average condition $2.2 per cent; acreage, 101.9; old wheat reserves, 5.3; corn reserves, 17.7. Nebraska reports show wheat condition $7.3; acreage, 103.3; wheat reserves, 18.6; corn reserves, 20. The Missouri wheat condition is $8.4; acreage, 100.6; wheat reserves, 12.1; corn reserves, 32. Broomhall's special Russian service: "In the Southeast the weather is mildder. Navigation on the Sea of Azoff will open in a fortnight. Some damage is feared to the crops in the southern belt as a result of the recent frost. Arrivals at the port of Odessa are generally small, while at Nicolaieff they are generally on a fair scale. Markets in the Southeast are firmer, whilst in the Southwest they are easy."

Minneapolis puts closed 93¼c and calls 94¾c.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Moisture in Either Rain or Snow Causes Weakness in Wheat.

Chicago, March 27.—Plenty of moisture in the form of either rain or snow led to weakness today in the price of wheat. Improving prospects for the Kansas crop turned sentiment likewise in favor of the bears. There was a small advance at Liverpool, but traders here looked on the upturn as having no special significance. Opening prices were unchanged to ⅜c down. May started at 88¾c to 88⅝@88½c, a loss of ⅛@¼c to ⅜c. Later there was a reaction to 88½@88⅝c.

Lack of support, however, allowed prices to slide still further down than before. The close, nevertheless, was steady with May ⅜c net lower at 88c.

Shorts were firm buyers of corn. A good outside demand was also in evidence. Unsettled weather furnished the impetus. May opened a shade to ⅛@¼c up at 47¾c to 47¾c and steadied around the higher level.

The market was but little affected by the weakness of wheat. Closing prices were firm. The May contract was at 48⅛c net, a gain of ⅜@½c.

In the oats pit scattered selling on the part of longs overcome the effect of sympathy with corn. May strated the same as Saturday night to a sixteenth dearer, at 30⅜@30½c to 30⅛c, and fell back to 30¼@30⅜c.

Offerings of hog products made a very light showing. People who were conspicuous sellers Saturday turned to the other side. Sales were 5c higher to five off with May options at $15.85 to $15.90 for pork, $8.60 for lard, and $8.85 to $8.90 for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Prices Make Sharp Break on Account of Moisture.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 27.—Wheat prices registered a sharp break early today on the rain and snow over Sunday. Reports from the Northwest say that this precipitation will put the ground in good shape, but more moisture would be welcome. Buying sold down to lowest prices in four years, closing ⅞@1c lower than Saturday. July closed ¾@⅞c lower and May ⅝@⅞c lower. Local elevator stocks increased 45,000 bu for two days. Minneapolis got 600 cars; received 346 cars of wheat against 297 a year ago; Duluth, 7 against 200, and Winnipeg, 19 against 46. May wheat opened 94½@94¾c; high, 94¾c; low, 93⅝c; closed, 94¼c. July opened 95¾@95⅞c; high, 96¼c; low, 95c; closed, 95½c. September, 91½c; high, 92c; low, 91c; closed, 91⅝c.

Cash wheat was steady to a trifle more active demand showed some slight improvement. No. 1 northern sold for the even May price to 1¼c above: Close: No. 1 hard, 96c; No. 1 northern, 94@95½c, to arrive, 94@95¾c; No. 2 northern, 92@93½c, to arrive, 92@93¼c; No. 3 wheat, 90@92½c; No 3 yellow corn, 43@43½c; No. 3 white oats, 28½@29c; No. 2 rye, 85@86c.

Millstuffs — Market steady; shipments, 2,182 tons. Prices advanced and demand excellent from all quarters. Brand in 100-lb sacks, $21.50@22.00.

Flour—Prices lowered on account of further decline in wheat. Demand slow and shipping directions light. Shipments, 48,606 bbls. First patents, $4.45@4.75; second patents, $4.35@4.65; first clears, $2.85@3.30; second clears, $1.85@2.50.

Cotton Market.

New York, March 27.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 3 points, near months being relatively steady while late positions reflected Wall street and other local selling, based principally on favorable conditions for the start of the new crop in the South and further unfavorable reports from domestic mill cirlces. Cables were about as due, however, and with the Egypt sales lowering, there was some covering by recent sellers, which imparted rather a steady tone to the market during the middle of the morning when prices ruled only a point or two under the closing figures Saturday.

Spot closed quiet, 15 points lower; middling uplands, 14.40; middling gulf, 14.65; sales, 8,800 bales. Futures closed barely steady. Closing bids: March, 14.16; April, 14.19; May, 14.29; June, 14.12; July, 14.10; August, 13.63; September, 12.94; October, 12.52; November, 12.44; December, 12.41; January, 12.40.

Bar silver, 53¾c; Mexican dollars, 46c. Government bonds, steady; railroad bonds, steady.

STRENGTH IN STOCKS

Trading Livelier in Last Hour and Prices Improve Decidedly.

Rise Starts in Canadian Pacific and Extends to Other Issues.

New York, March 27.—Fluctuations were narrow and the stock market was quiet at the opening today. A majority of the changes consisted of slight advances. Baltimore & Ohio and United States Steel preferred gained ⅜c and Great Northern preferred lost ½c.

Secondary prices were better but the advance came virtually to a halt after a few of the representative stocks had risen a large fraction. Chicago & Northwestern advanced 1¼. Atlantic Coast line yielded 2 points and Toledo, St. Louis & Western, 1.

A general advance of prices gave the stock market an appearance of strength this morning although gains were small. The heaviness of the previous two days disappeared, but trading remained on the same small basis as last week. A feature of the market was the upward movement of some specialties, including the gas group. Consolidated Gas, La Clede Gas and People's Gas each gained a point. National Biscuit advanced 1½. Bonds were steady.

The market closed strong. Trading became livelier in the last hour and there was a decided improvement in prices. The rise started in Canadian Pacific and soon embraced other important issues, but with the transcontinental group in the best demand. Canadian Pacific gained 2 points and Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Norfolk & Western, Illinois Central and Great Northern Ore Certificates 1 to 1¾.

LEGAL NOTICES.

CONTEST NOTICE—
Department of the Interior, United States Land Office.
Duluth, Minn., March 2, 1911.
A sufficient contest affidavit having been filed in this office by Rikkard K. Niemi, contestant, against Homestead Entry No. 02111, made November 2, 1903, for SE¼ NW¼ Section 32, Township 61 N., Range 13 W., 4th Principal Meridian, by Manu Raukonen, Contestee, in which it is alleged that said Manu Raukonen has never resided on said land and has not improved or cultivated the same for two years last past. And that said alleged absence from said land was not due to service in the army, navy or marine corps of the United States in time of war, said parties are hereby notified to appear, respond and offer evidence touching said allegation at nine o'clock a. m. on April 20th, 1911, before the Register and Receiver at the United States Land Office in Duluth Minn.
The said contestant having, in a proper affidavit, filed March 2, 1911, set forth facts which show that after due diligence personal service of this notice can not be made, it is hereby ordered and directed that such notice be given by due and proper publication.

KLEMER UNABLE TO MAKE ANY DEFINITE CHARGES TO HOUSE

When Called Upon to Specify, He Has Nothing to Say.

House Then Adopts the Dunn Resolution Censuring Klemer.

Dr. Stone Also Called to Bar of House and Apologizes.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Yesterday, the fourth day of turmoil in the house over the Klemer charge that the house committees are "packed in the interests of the special interests," was not only the most turbulant and exciting of the series, but in all probability it was the most sensational day's proceedings in the history of the Minnesota legislature.

At its close, though many things had happened, none seemed to stand out more clearly than this: That Representative Klemer, who had made this charge, and Representative W. T. Stone of Park Rapids, who had dragged himself into the mess by stating in the progress of the debate that Klemer had told the truth, were finally given a chance, much against their will, to make their charges definite, and were unable to do so.

First, Mr. Klemer read a brief and rather half-hearted apology for his charges. This occurred immediately on the reconvening of the house yester-

ARE TRYING TO PLACE BLAME

County Officials Thoroughly Investigating Waist Factory Horror.

New York, March 28.—Sifting down the great mass of testimony at their disposal, city and county officials hoped today to draw closer to the source of responsibility for Saturday's factory fire horror in which 142 persons lost their lives. Investigations started yesterday by Fire Marshal Beers and District Attorney Whitman were continued and in other official quarters the effort to place the blame was kept up with undiminished vigor.

While officialdom was thus struggling with the questions which are being asked as to the underlying causes of the disaster, the mournful task of burying the dead was continued. Added to the fifty funerals of yesterday many more were held today. There remain twenty-nine bodies, so badly burned that identification seems improbable.

Aside from the probe into the causes of the disaster undertaken with a view to bringing whoever is culpable to an accounting, architects and fire experts are engaged today in examination of existing fire laws with a view to legislation for prevention of further horrors.

Before Legislature.

Albany, N. Y., March 28.—A commission of nine members to inquire into the cause of the Asch building fire in New York to investigate and fix the responsibility for the loss of life and to recommend legislation for the safety of lives in factories and large buildings in New York, was proposed today by Assemblyman Cuvillier. The bill provides an appropriation of $15,000 for expenses.

FOG HELD SHIP; NO NEW ROBBERY

Rumored That Amerika Was Held Up By Drummond Episode.

New York, March 28.—It was simply the fog, and not another big robbery or any new development in the Drummond jewel mystery, as some rumors had it, that caused the detention of the steamer Amerika outside the harbor for many hours after her arrival yesterday, it developed when the steamer came up the inner harbor today. The Amerika had a little bad luck outside the bar, losing her starboard anchor and part of the anchor chain.

The vessel was boarded at Southhampton on her outward voyage by detectives, who sought a trace of the $130,000 worth of jewelry missed from the stateroom of Mrs. Maldwin Drummond of Chicago on the liner's last voyage here. There were no new developments in the case up to the time of the steamer's arrival here, according to th ship's officers, but it was thought that another search of the vessel might be made here.

WIESES ARE POPULAR.

Family Comes Within One of Having Control of Council.

Eldridge, Iowa, March 28.—Only the efforts of one of the members of the family prevented the Wiese family from having a majority in the town council in the Eldridge town election yesterday. Two Wieses were elected and a third had been nominated, but spent the entire day inducing his friends to vote for his opponent, who was finally elected by a small majority.

INCOME TAX IS RATIFIED

House Passes Joint Resolution Favoring Income Tax Amendment.

Senate Passes Moonan Bill for Recall of Public Officials.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house this morning passed the Robinson joint resolution ratifying the income tax amendment to the Federal Constitution by a vote of 95 to 0. The author of the bill, Representative Robinson, talked for it, but nobody spoke or voted against it. It now goes to the senate, where it is likely to pass.

The senate this morning took up the Moonan bill, proposing a constitutional amendment providing for the recall of public officials by the people, and the debate on it extended into the afternoon when it was passed by a vote of 48 to 9.

Senator Moonan, in urging its passage, said that if its provisions had been in effect when the senators pledged to

STEAMER'S CREW IN GREAT DANGER

Navy Department Asked to Send Tug to Assistance of Luckenbach.

Washington, March 28.—Twenty-eight men in the crew of the steamer D. N. Luckenbach of New York, which grounded eight miles from Key West yesterday, while bound from Tampa to Baltimore, are in peril of losing their lives and the navy department has been appealed to for help.

Owners of the vessel reported the steamer to be in a dangerous position today and asked the navy department to send the naval tug Massacoit from Key West to assist the Luckenbach.

The revenue cutter Forward is standing by the steamer, but reports that the men may be lost unless help is promptly sent. Efforts were made to reach the Savanna revenue cutter Yamacraw at sea to send that vessel to the Luckenbach's assistance, but the revenue cutter was out of wireless communication.

As soon as Assistant Secretary of the Navy Winthrop learned of the perilous position of the D. N. Luckenbach, he sent orders to the naval station at Key West to have the tug Massasoit render all practicable assistance.

Believed to Have Foundered.

Moss Point, Mass., March 28.—The schooner Elizabeth Dantzler, which sailed from Havana, Cuba, for this port on March 7, is believed to have encountered a squall in the gulf and foundered. Nothing has been heard from her by her owners in this city since she left Havana.

Fire at Newburgh, N. Y.

Newburgh, N. Y., March 28.—The extensive plant of the Taft-Howell company, contractors and builders at Cornwall Landing, was destroyed by fire today. It is supposed the buildings were struck by lightning. The loss is about $150,000.

Steamer Goes Aground.

Cape Haitien, Haiti, March 28.—The German steamer Allemannia of the Atlas line, which sailed from New York last Thursday, for Haitien ports, is aground off Pointe Mardi Gras and in a dangerous position. Her ten passengers are safe.

CYCLONES SWEEP OVER THE SOUTH

Wind of Intense Force Strikes Several Towns in Alabama.

One or More Persons Killed and Property Greatly Damaged.

Fierce Storm Visits Suburbs of Philadelphia, Causing Heavy Loss.

Monroville, Ala., March 28.—A cyclone of intense force struck several small towns in this section late yesterday and left death and destruction in its wake. As far as known one is dead and another is reported to be dying.

Passing over the county in an easterly direction the cyclone killed Stephen Byrd and probably fatally injured Frank McCrory. Mrs. Byrd and her three children were injured and Mrs. McCrory and her four children were also injured.

The Byrd and McCrory homes and other buildings were destroyed. Fifteen others are reported to be slightly injured.

At Excel several persons were injured and a number of buildings were destroyed.

At Manistee, on the Pineapple branch of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, Dr. J. S. Harper and Miss Alice Lambert were slightly injured. The damage runs into the thousands.

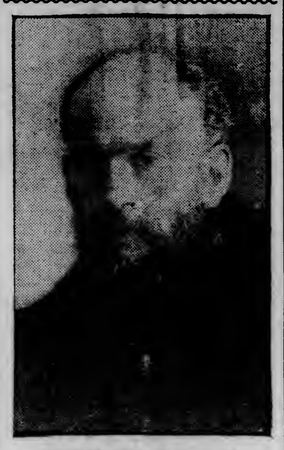
TELEGRAPHERS TO STRIKE APRIL 1.

General Walkout to Occur Unless Increase in Wages Is Granted.

New Orleans, La., March 28.—A general strike of the telegraphers employed by the Illinois Central railroad will be called on April 1, if the demands of the men for a 20 per cent increase in wages is not granted, according to local representatives of the telegraphers. This bears out previous statements of a like nature from the North. It was asserted that a strike vote already had been taken resulting in 95 per cent of 1,600 men declaring in favor of a walkout.

It is claimed by the telegraphers that the road has discharged more than 300 operators within the past week.

COUNT LEO TOLSTOI VISITING AMERICA



COUNT LEO TOLSTOI.

Count Leo Tolstoi has come to this country to study social conditions. He is the guest of Edmund C. Hill of Newark. He has visited Boston and a few days ago he called on Thomas A. Edison at his laboratory in West Orange. Count Tolstoi bears a remarkable resemblance to his late father.

LET WOMEN KEEP QUIET

Bishop Doane's Idea Regarding Speaking in Churches.

Refuses to Allow Purity League Leader to Talk in Cathedral.

Albany, N. Y., March 28.—Bishop William Croswell Doane has refused to permit Mrs. Elizabeth B. Grannis, president of the National League for the Promotion of Purity to speak in All Saints' cathedral at the convention of the Purity league, which was to have been held here today. In refusing Mrs. Grannis permission to speak, Bishop Doane quoted from the Bible, First Corinthians, xvi:34:

"Let your women keep silence in the churches; for it is not permitted unto them to speak."

Speaking of the affair, the bishop said that when he gave the league the right to hold the convention in the cathedral he was under the impression that Rev. J. Aspinwall McCualg, the New York refermer, was to speak.

The meeting of the league will be held in New York, where Mrs. Grannis will address it.

CANADIAN SWINDLER CAPTURED

Said to Have Secured Nearly $2,000,000 on Bogus Stock Deals.

Skips From Dominion and Operates in City of Pittsburg.

Traced By Private Detective and Taken After a Hard Chase.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 28.—Charles D. Sheldon, alias Charles D. Washburn of Montreal, Can., who is wanted in that city on charges of embezzlement, said to involve nearly $2,000,000, was arrested here late yesterday at Fourth avenue and Smithfield street, in the local financial district by a private detective from the East. Sheldon, who was known here as C. W. Ross, admitted that he was a fugitive from Canada. An information by the local authorities charges him with embezzlement and receiving money by false prenses in the sum of $500,000.

When the detective approached Sheldon he made a sensational attempt to escape and was captured only after an exciting chase. When brought to the central police station he asked permission to use the telephone. He called up a local stock broker and gave orders to close out his deals on the local stock exchange.

Sheldon, according to the police, dis-

NORTH DAKOTA SENATE MEETS

Predicted Trial of Judge Cowan May Last Two Months.

Bismarck, N. D., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sitting as a high court of impeachment the North Dakota senate convened at 2 o'clock this afternoon to try Judge John F. Cowan on articles filed against him by the house. The work today was of a preliminary nature, organization being effect and discussion of the rules occupying the time.

The members of the senate are greatly agitated over the probability of having to remain here from six weeks to two months, as the present indications point to. The fact that this is the year's busiest season makes many of them exceedingly anxious to return home at the earliest possible date, and they had not supposed that the entire trial would take over two or three weeks.

REBELS ABANDON ALL GUERRILLA WARFARE BY ORDER OF MADERO

COMMISSION MAYOR OF SPOKANE, WASH.

WILLIAM J. HINDLEY,
Who With Four Associates, Will Govern Spokane Under the Commission Form of Government.

Decree Issued Organizing the Country Into Seven War Zones.

Intention Is to Have Foreign Countries Recognize Insurrectos.

Francisco Madero Becomes Head of the Entire Insurgent Army.

PEACE ASSURED.

San Antonio, Tex., March 28.—Francisco I. Madero, Sr., father of the insurrecto leader, upon his arrival here today, declared that peace in Mexico is assured within thirty days and probably within ten days. Himself, his son, Alfonso, and his son, Gustavo, he thought, would be the revolutionary representatives.

El Paso, Tex., March 28.—Guerrilla warfare has been formally abandoned by the Mexican insurrectos, according to a decree issued by Francisco I. Madero and made public here today. The decree organizes the entire republic of Mexico into seven groups of states, each group to be known as a war zone and the insurrectos in each group to constitute a corps.

Army ranks and the promise of a law giving pensions to widows and children are announced.

Madero becomes supreme head of the insurgent army. One of the objects of Madero abolishing guerrilla warfare which consists in the fighting of disorganized bands, is to induce foreign countries to recognize the belligerency of the insurrectos, it is stated.

Plans Discovered.

El Paso, Tex., March 28.—Advices received here today are to the effect that insurrecto plans to destroy the railroad bridges south of San Luis Potosi and prevent fuel oil shipments, have been discovered. This would have tied up the Mexican National railway system and many industrial enterprises in Mexico, as most of Mexico's oil comes from the Ebano fields, south of San Luis Potosi.

Rebel bands are now operating in Jalisco and Zacatecas, having crossed over from Durango. Several small towns have been taken, including Tlaltenaga, where the National Bank of Mexico, the postoffice and tax collector were robbed. San Juan de Teul, Montecscobedo, Villaneuva, Ville del Refugio, Huamusco and Jalpa are other towns that have fallen into the hands of the insurgents.

Closing of a mining company's plant at Tepic, capital of the state of Tepic, has thrown 3,000 persons out of work and is causing riots. Many of the men, it is feared, will join the insurrectos.

DIAZ NAMES HIS CABINET

Zacamacona Inclan Named as New Minister to United States.

Mexico City, March 28.—Coincident with the official announcement of a new Diaz cabinet, came that of the appointment of Zacamacona L. Inclan as ambassador to the United States, succeeding Francisco Leon De La Barra.

At the same time the resignation of Miguel Macedo as sub-secretary of the department of the interior became known. In the cabinet as announced the office of secretary of the interior was left vacant, and speculation as to its incumbent still favored Teodoro De Hesa, former governor of the state of Vera Cruz, and candidate for vice president at the last election.

Gen. Cozio retains the portfolio of the department of war. The cabinet as at present constituted, follows:

Foreign relations, Francisco Leon De La Barra; interior, pending, justice. Demetric Sodi; public instruction, Jorge Vera Estanol;

RESULTS OF THE IOWA ELECTIONS

Marshalltown Has First Ballot Under a New Commission Plan.

Burlington, Iowa, March 28.—Elections in rural cities in the state yesterday resulted as follows:

Fort Madison—R. F. Johns, Democrat, the present mayor, was re-elected without opposition. The Democrats elected several out of eight councilmen.

Marshalltown—In the first election under the commission plan, the heaviest vote ever polled in a city election resulted in the election of W. H. Jones as mayor by a majority of 184 over Joseph Mohr, Socialist, running on a Union Labor ticket. George Herman, present member of the council, and L. Derby, former city clerk, were elected councilmen. The latter's election will be contested by Door Lamb, the Socialist candidate, whom Derby defeated by only eight votes.

Washington—J. D. Glasgow, the Citizens-Independent candidate for mayor, was elected by 177 votes over W. W. McFarland, the straight Citizens candidate.

Mount Pleasant—In the city elections here Fred Walt, progressive, defeated James Pourihan for mayor by a majority of 170 votes.

Sleeping Men at St. Clair Have Narrow Escape From Death.

St. Clair, Mich., March 28.—The J. R. Whiting & Co. building, together with a stock of dry goods and groceries owned by George H. Little, was destroyed by fire early today. The loss is about $50,000 with about $25,000 insurance.

Omar D. Cope and Walter A. Deavantier, who were sleeping in an adjoining building that was damaged by a falling wall, had a narrow escape from death. Their bed was buried under a mass of bricks.

DEMOCRATS TO CAUCUS AGAIN

First Attempt to Select Candidate for New York Senator Unsuccessful.

Albany, N. Y., March 28.—The Democratic caucus last night having failed to place a candidate in nomination for United States senator, the Democrats will get together again tonight for another try at it, and opinions differ as to the probable outcome.

Twenty-five candidates were placed in nomination at the caucus, William F. Sheehan leading with 28 votes. Despite this dwindling of his supporters, Mr. Sheehan's friends say he is not yet out of the race. New names and some old ones were discussed at the various conferences during the forenoon.

The negotiations between the Republicans and the insurgents has added to the uncertainty of the situation. Senator Brackett, the Republican leader, declares the Republicans mean business, but the Democratic organization leaders have not yet been convinced that it is not a "huge bluff," as they profess to believe it.

Senator Brackett said today that he had received a telegram from ex-Senator Chauncey M. Depew releasing the Republicans from their caucus pledge to vote for him as the minority candidate.

"We will vote for Mr. Depew today," said Senator Brackett, "as we have no time to call a conference or caucus before the noon-day ballot. We probably will hold a conference some time today and decide upon our future plan of action.

CELEBRATION CONTINUES.

King and Queen of Italy Visit Historic Castle.

Rome, March 28.—The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of Rome as the capital of United Italy, by the Italian parliament, was continued today amid popular rejoicing. King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena visited the historic castle of Saint Angelo, where they viewed the magnificent Italian exhibition of the art of the middle ages and renaissance objects. They were received by Count di San Martino, president of the committee. Twelve other pavilions representing the art of as many foreign countries make up the international exhibition. The exhibition will be open for a prolonged period.

WEST END DECLINES TO PROSECUTE

J. August Anderson Will Not Press Charge Against Boy Thief.

Frank R. Wike Arrested Twice and Finally Confesses.

Frank R. Wike, 16 years old, failed in a clever attempt to steal $60 from the drug store of J. August Anderson and after being arrested twice, the first time being released because there was no evidence to hold him, finally confessed the crime, but secured his liberty a second time on account of the unwillingness of the druggist to prosecute him.

The money was taken the first time by Wike from a private hiding place in the store, which Wike discovered Sunday evening just before closing time. He bought a ticket to Minneapolis and purchased a new shirt and some collars with a part of the money. The rest he put in a purse.

He tried to board a train for Minneapolis yesterday afternoon, but a policeman stopped him and took him to the west end drug store, where he was searched. Young Wike seized an opportunity when the officer and druggist were not watching him and tossed his purse, containing $25 in bills, into a wall case in the store.

After a search and a failure to find the money on his person, he was released. He stoutly maintained his innocence. Later in the day a clerk at the store discovered the purse and the money and, suspecting Young Wike's game, notified Mr. Anderson and the police.

The police stationed detectives at the Union, West Duluth and Superior stations to watch for the boy should he try to get away on the evening train. He attempted to board the Northern Pacific train for Minneapolis at West Duluth and was arrested by Detectives Terry and Toewe and taken to police headquarters.

Previous to his arrest he had visited the drug store in the early part of the evening and had asked the clerk if he had not dropped a box of cigarettes in the place. They began to look around and the clerk observed that Wike was evidently searching for the pocketbook which he had hidden in the store during the afternoon. The purse, however, had been removed.

When confronted with the new evidence at the police station young Wike broke down and confessed. He said that he had a good job in view in Minneapolis and that he had taken the money to buy his ticket, some new clothes and settle a few other bills before leaving town.

Mr. Anderson is unwilling to prosecute the lad and the boy will go to Minneapolis. Mr. Anderson will be satisfied to have the boy pay the money back out of his wages.

WATSON S. MOORE AND E. M. MORGAN TO SPEAK.

Watson S. Moore, former First ward alderman, and E. M. Morgan, former assistant city attorney, will be the principal speakers Friday evening at the meeting of the Men's club of Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. There will be other speeches and a musical program.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of Grace M. E. church will be held tomorrow afternoon at the church parlors, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street.

Rev. O. H. Nelson of Superior will address the Luther League of Bethany Swedish Lutheran church at its meeting this evening at the church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. There will also be a number of musical selections on the program.

Mrs. Jacob Paleen of 2629 West Fifth street, who will leave in a few days for Spokane, Wash. with her father, A. Kalmen, was tendered a farewell reception last evening by the congregation of the First Swedish Baptist church in the church parlors, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street.

A. P. Anderson of Piedmont avenue has returned from a business trip to the Twin Cities.

George H. Thompson of Fall Creek, Wis., is visiting friends in the West end.

The Lion drug store has moved to the new Anderson-Thoorsell block, 2030 West Superior street.

MIDLAND INSURANCE COMPANY,

OF ST. PAUL, MINN.

Licensed to Write Legal Reserve Life Insurance in This State By the Insurance Department.

JOHN SHAMBEAU
Director of Agents of the New Company.

The stockholders of the Midland Insurance company will be pleased to note that the company has secured a license from the insurance commissioner of this state to write Old Line Legal Reserve Life Insurance policies. Incorporated under the laws of Minnesota, the company starts out with a capital of $100,000 and a surplus of $100,000. With application for Old Line Insurance policies on file amounting to over $5,000,000, judging from the progress made during process of organization and from the foundation the company has at the start it is destined in a few years to be one of the largest corporations in the state.

The stock is scattered and limited in amount to prominent business men in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Northern Michigan, North and South Dakota and Montana, who will be interested in promoting the future general welfare of their company. Minnesota people can well feel proud of so well organized a company within their state and will undoubtedly watch with considerable amount of pride the rapid growth of same.

Mr. John Shambeau, who has charge of the agency force, will open offices in the Sellwood building and personally conduct the affairs of his department from this office. St. Louis county people interested in the company's stock, many of whom were interested personally by Mr. Shambeau, will be pleased to learn of his decision to remain with them and operate one of the most important departments of the company from the Duluth office. The president of the Midland Insurance company is H. W. Strickler of St. Paul, and M. L. Hanft of Minneapolis is secretary and treasurer.

Other insurance men of the city will find in Mr. Shambeau a welcome competitor, as he never looks with any selfish pride upon the company he represents, but is ever ready to speak a good word for his neighbor. He has had considerable experience in the building up of young companies. It was largely through his successful efforts in the field and labor as general agent for the Lake Shore counties in Wisconsin of the Wisconsin Life Insurance Company of Madison, that the company is now recognized as one of the leading companies of that state.

Tomorrow Concludes Our Formal Displays of

Spring and Summer Wearables

THE way the women of Duluth and vicinity are receiving our efforts, in presenting the season's fashions, certainly affords us much gratification—we appreciate the many expressions of praise and approval that are being made directly to us, or that come to us indirectly. Moreover, we cannot but feel elated over the splendid early-season business which we have already enjoyed.

In the face of yesterday's adverse weather, we feel that our opening was a success, and many women are taking advantage of these "looking days," for they realize that Easter is drawing near, and when the weather turns warmer, Spring Clothes will need to be mustered into service suddenly.

Every department is in complete readiness, with offerings that eclipse our former efforts. We feel this superiority of our stocks this season is due largely to the superior buying advantages which we now enjoy with our important New York connections, and more intimate relations with foreign houses.

Gowns: Elaborate Designs in veiled effects, Beaded and Embroidered Models of Cashmere de Soie, Chiffon, Satin, Crepe Meteor and other fancy fabrics.

WHY ARE THEY CALLED "UNITED?"

Many Inquire About the Name of United Doctors. Ask Why "United."

A question that is often asked is "Why are those specialists who have their institute on the third floor of the Columbia building called "United Doctors?" The following explanation is to answer the question:

The United Doctors, as the name implies, is an association of expert medical specialists who have united to organize a new school of medicine; a new and more scientific and positive system of curing human ailments. For centuries the world has been full of different cults and "isms" in medicine. We had the old root and herb doctor with his bitter potions; the Allopath with pills and quinine in heroic doses; the Homeopath with his triturations and infinitesimal doses; the Eclectic, the Osteopath, and the Christian Scientist.

Most doctors have a fad or hobby and they ride their hobby to death or, more likely, to the death of the patient. One doctor makes a hobby of electricity and tries to cure every disease under the sun with it. Another uses massage or vibration and thinks he has found a cure-all; another uses heat in an oven, or some other of the many methods of using intense heat, and he forgets that heat won't cure but only relieves temporarily.

Another doctor uses strong doses of calomel, quinine, mercury, opium, and potash, on all his patients; another uses the infinitesimally small dose of the Homeopath on all his patients. The surgeon becomes so fond of his knife that he is prone to cut where more conservative measures are called for, and so it runs on and on throughout the long list of "hobbies" and "isms" that the different doctors have taken up.

There is good in all of them and each hobbiest is able to point to some wonderful cures that he has made but, sad to relate, he could also point to some terrible failures. The trouble is that the doctor with a hobby tries to cure every disease in the catalogue with his own method.

The work of the United Doctors has been to "unite" all these various systems of treatments; to select the good and leave out the useless and thereby form one perfect "united" system of treatment.

The United Doctors have no one method which will cure all diseases, but when a patient comes to them to be cured, they study his case carefully and then prescribe for him whatever system of treatment is most suitable for his particular case.

The United Doctors never treat symptoms—never treat the pain, but by searching out the underlying condition, they remove the cause of the pain or trouble, and thus make real and lasting cures.

The United Doctors' institute is located on the third floor of the Columbia building. Office hours from 9 to 12 a. m. and 1:30 to 5, and 7 to 8 p. m.; Sundays, 10 to 12 a. m. only.

THEATRICAL MAN WANTS INFORMER

Offers Abbatemaggio $200 a Day to Come to United States.

Viterbo, Italy, March 28.—The trial of the Camorrists, the adjournment of which on Friday interrupted the recital of the informer, Gennaro Abbatemaggio, was continued today.

Abbatemaggio in the past three days has received many letters and telegrams congratulating him upon his confession and also been the recipient of many threats of what is in store for one who violates his vow as a member of "the beautiful reformed society."

A few correspondents seem bent on making sport of the situation. Then there are the inevitable theatrical propositions. One who describes himself as Sam Charing, an agent at Milan of an American theatrical house, offers the informer $200 a day for the privilege of exhibiting him in the United States. This impressed Abbatemaggio, who exclaimed: "Wouldn't it be funny if, after being shut in a cage like a bird, I were to go to America to become a lion."

Continuing his revelations today, Abbatemaggio described a burglary committed by the Camorrists at the home of Count Dauguino in Naples, in which he participated. There was a quarrel over the division of the booty, which amounted to $20,000.

The leaders in the Camorra, including Cuocolo, for whose murder the thirty-six prisoners are being tried, Elrico Alfano, the alleged head of the organization, and De Marinis, demanded so large a share of the spoils that none of those who actively participated in the crime received more than $50. One Camorrist, who got nothing, denounced the burglars to the police and some of them were imprisoned.

reapportionment voted against it, the people could have recalled them.

Senator Sageng called attention to the fact that the Democrats in the senate are pledged to reapportionment and the recall.

Senator Coller, Democrat, said that after the Democratic convention adopted the platform, Frank Day and Jim Gray instituted a recall on it, so that it is no longer binding.

Senator G. H. Sullivan opposed the recall on principle, saying that the recent use of it in Seattle, where Mayor Gill was recalled, was a dastardly outrage. He said that only a few people in the state are asking for the recall and that it is a new and glittering thing that attracts the unthinking, while the thinking are contented with the paths blazed by the revolutionary fathers.

Senator Works said the bill represented the right kind of a move ahead, and that it would have salutary effects.

Senator Wilson wanted to amend the bill so that it should not apply to legislation and so as to lengthen the time between the beginning of recall proceedings and the election.

Senator Noonan refused to accept the amendment as to legislators, but was willing to amend the measure so that it shouldn't apply to any kind of judges—it now excepts supreme and district judges—and so as to lengthen the time.

Senator Wilson doubted if many people wanted the bill. A few, like those in the Saturday Lunch clubs of St. Paul and Minneapolis, who profess to represent the people, but have no commission from the people, clamor for such measures as are called progressive, but he did not believe the majority of the people cared anything about them or their measures.

The Murray and Lende bills for the direct nomination of United States senators were made a special order for next Tuesday. The Keefe bill for the direct election of senators will remain on general orders.

The senate passed the Wilson bill proposing a constitutional amendment clearing away all possible legal obstacles in the way of adopting the commission form of city government.

The house had a grateful vacation from the Klemer rumpus today, Representative Klemer not calling up his resolution of investigation. He stated, however, that he would call it up tomorrow and that then he would have definite charges to make against the house organization. The house, unless it promptly votes down Klemer's resolution, is therefore in for an additional loss of time on this matter.

The house session, lacking the turmoil of yesterday, seemed dull and tame, but more real work was done than has been possible for a week. The bill putting telephone companies under the regulation of the tax commission, which was a special order for this morning was put over to Thursday afternoon.

Representative Holmberg proposed that the house begin work at 9 o'clock hereafter, and his resolution was sent to the rules committee.

The house elections committee recommended the Putnam non-partisan judgeship bill for passage and it now goes on general orders in the house after having passed the senate.

Representative Healy tried to get the range court bill advanced by suspending the rules, but was prevented by the objections of Representative Mattson, who has consistently opposed all such motions of late.

* * *

Dr. W. T. Stone wanted to kill his corrupt practices act by having it referred back to him on the ground that it needs so many amendments that it will be impossible to get it in shape in the time remaining. Representative Lundeen and others objected, so Dr. Stone withdrew his motion. This is the bill which the house elections committee recommended for defeat for much the same reasons as those offered by its author this morning and which the house put on general orders, overturning the committee report after a hard fight.

Representative Harding wanted to recall from the reapportionment committee his bill proposing a constitutional amendment providing that no county shall ever have more than four senators, which he said had been in committee since Feb. 15. Chairman Congdon of the committee was not present, however, so the motion went over till tomorrow.

SPECIAL AT EMBARRASS

Schools Close to Allow Children to Attend the Institute.

Embarrass, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trip of the potato special through Northeastern Minnesota has resolved itself into a triumphal tour of education. At every station, the people swarm aboard so that every car is filled. The entire population of the village seemed to be in attendance at the session at Tower last evening.

The Embarrass school was closed today so that the children might visit the potato special and tell their parents about it afterwards. The farmers here are very much interested, especially in choosing the varieties of potatoes and keeping the tubers cleared of scabs.

Mr. Hostetter makes a special talk to the children at each station and is getting them interested in gardens and the state school garden contest.

The special goes to Aurora this afternoon and Biwabik this evening. Cook, Lake Junction and Eveleth will be visited tomorrow.

TEAM RUNS AWAY AND WRECKS WAGON.

A team owned by J. D. O'Connell, proprietor of a wood yard, caused some excitement on Fourth avenue west about noon today. The team ran out of the alley between First and Second streets and crossed to the courthouse grounds, where one wheel of the wagon was left. The horses then ran down the sidewalk on the west side of Fourth avenue and caused a scattering of people. Arriving at Michigan street the team turned east and was stopped after traveling some little distance. The wagon was wrecked, but otherwise no damage was done.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of an obstinate cough more quickly, usually ending it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for whooping cough, sore lungs, asthma, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix 1 pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help cure a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.

The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guiaicol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is now used by thousands of housewives throughout the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equaled.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

NEW STATION AT ASHLAND, WIS.

Wireless Messages Can Now Be Received at That Point.

A new wireless station has been established at Ashland, Wis., and messages are now being received there. L. W. Warner, signal officer of the First battalion, Wisconsin Naval militia, has written to Capt. Swenson of the local hydrographic office as follows:

"I have the honor to inform you that I have perfected and now maintain a wireless receiving station at this port, headquarters of First battalion, Wisconsin Naval militia, which has been successfully used to a distance of 100 miles. My aerial is 100 feet high and I estimate my receiving wave length at approximately 400 meters. I have no sending outfit as yet, but has a 2-K. W. installation under consideration.

"I am forwarding this information as I think it may be a benefit the coming season to those vessels equipped with wireless on the Great Lakes, and for your own information.

"I would suggest that a call letter be issued to me."

CHANGE BOAT SCHEDULE.

Goodrich Line Will Cut Out Some Places Formerly Touched.

Marinette, Wis., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the first time since the Goodrich company's northern schedule was inaugurated, years ago, Marinette, Menominee, Green Bay and Escanaba are to be cut off the company's schedule. There will be three boats a week from Chicago to the Soo but two of them will only touch at Sturgeon Bay going north and the third going up the lake through Death's Door. Besides these three boats another will go as far as Sister Bay, giving Sturgeon Bay three boats a week from the south and four from the north.

First Clearance Papers.

PROVES HER IDENTITY

Widow of David Kangas Establishes Her Claim to Property.

Little Will Be Left After Attorneys' Fees Are Paid.

The matter of the division of the estate of David Kangas came up this afternoon before Judge S. W. Gilpin of the probate court.

Kangas lived in Ely as a single man. It was not known that he had ever been married until Mrs. Marie Kangas turned up from the old country, claimed to be his wife and claimed his estate, which consisted of a house and lot in the city of Ely and a homestead located but a few miles from that place.

Mrs. Kangas has had a hard time to prove that she was lawfully married to Kangas and that he is the father of their two children, but she finally accomplished it. This was not done until nearly the whole estate had been eaten up in attorneys' fees and expenses, however. Seven different law firms have been engaged by her from time to time.

David Kangas was drowned in November, 1909, in Eagle's Nest lake. He was a tailor at Ely and had been in this country for twenty-two years.

The case has been in probate court for some time and a number of different hearings have been held. Mrs. Kangas has letters, papers, a marriage certificate, pictures and other means by which she identified herself. It took her some time to gather up the data and it was only today that she proved her identity.

She will probably be allowed what is left of the property after the debts have been paid.

COPPERS STRONGER; TRADING IS LIGHT

Shorts Show Disposition to Cover—Undertone Seems Firmer.

The copper market opened strong and advanced slightly. There was not much trading. Reports of sales of the red metal and an improved undertone in the general market were responsible for the advance. Shorts covered. The market is largely professional but dull. A belief that the supreme court may not hand down decisons in the Standard Oil and American Tobacco cases until in May caused some buying from people who think these factors are the only ones which are keeping the market back. The court will meet April 3.

The local market was slightly more active. Butte-Alex Scott sold at $4.75 to $4.87½. Denn at $6, Calumet & Corbin was strong and sold at 24c, 23c, 25c and 26c. Keating sold at $2.81¾ and $2.87½. Tuolumne at $4.93¾. North American at $2.31¼. Vermilion at $3.06¼.

Amalgamated sold at $54, $64.37½ and $64. Butte Coalition at $18 to $18.25. Calumet & Arizona at $50.12½. Girous at $6.37½, $6.25 and $6.37½. Greene at $6.50 and $6.62½. North Butte at $29 and $28.75. Ojibway at $6.37½ and $6.50. Shattuck at $20 and $20.75. Superior & Pittsburg at $14.12½ to $14.25.

The Boston News Bureau said today: "General Manager Greenway of Calumet & Arizona says: 'We expect to have the preliminary plans for the new Calumet & Arizona smelter ready for submission to our board of directors by the first of next month.

"'Of course this does not mean that construction will begin on this plant in the near future. The plans must first be submitted and gone over carefully before final decision is reached, and if they are approved, much time will be required for placing orders for the manufacture of structural steel and other required machinery.'

"The general expectation is that the old plant is to be made the basis of additions and renovations, so that the plant will be practically a new one. It is also the expectation that the new plant will contain reverbatory furnaces and roasters similar to those now being added to the Copper Queen Smelter."

Globe, Ariz., wired Paine, Webber & Co.: "President N. L. Amster of the Arizona-Commercial, now in Globe, says that the mine will be ready to resume production by July 1, basing his prediction upon the result of diamond drill exploration work now in progress at the property. It is the belief of the management of the Arizona-Commercial that much ore will be opened in the ground contiguous to the Eureka shaft below the 1,000-foot level, at which depth a station has been finished. The shaft will be sunk to the 1,200-foot level, at which depth considerable 10 per cent and 12 per cent sulphide was cut by the diamond drills. The ore also carried 3½ ounces of silver. Fourteen feet of 16 per cent copper glance also was encountered at 1,000 feet depth. The Arizona-Commercial is pumping only a sixth of the amount of water that almost made the working of the mine impossible in the past."

At the annual meeting of the Butte-Ballaklava Copper company in the Sellwood building yesterday afternoon the following directors were elected: P. H. Nelson, Mille Bunnell, J. L. Washburn, I. Freimuth, Gust Carlson, A. L. Warner and J. A. Percival. J. L. Washburn, attorney, and president of the Northern National bank, is a new director. The following officers were re-elected: P. H. Nelson, president; Mille Bunnell, vice president; J. A. Percival, secretary and treasurer.

The veins not in dispute with the Anaconda Copper company will be mined and developed as soon as the repairs to the shaft are completed. The company has more than $90,000 in its treasury and is out of debt. There are 1,400 stockholders compared with about 800 a year ago, and 500 when the suit of the Anaconda company was commenced.

The directors expressed confidence in their position in the fight with the Anaconda.

MANY INDORSE FARM COLONY FOR VAGRANTS.

The Associated Charities continues to receive letters from different parts of the country indorsing the bill creating a state labor colony for tramps and vagrants.

T. W. McGregor of the Michigan commission to investigate the treatment of minor offenders writes:

"There is no question about the value of a farm colony for vagrants, as well as certain other classes of prisoners. There is great need, throughout the country, to lessen jail imprisonment, which in a large number of cases is not beneficial, and sometimes is even harmful."

The secretary of the Associated Charities in Portland, Or., writes: "I most sincerely hope that the bill may become a law—it is something we all believe in."

Hearty indorsements have been received also from Dr. Harris R. Cooley, who so successfully managed the farm at Cleveland, Ohio, Sherman C. Kingsley, secretary of the United Charities of Chicago and a number of others.

There will be a meeting of the execution committee of the Associated Charities in Memorial hall this afternoon.

IMPORTANT THAT PUBLIC SHOULD KNOW ABOUT GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY.

The testimonial I am to give you comes unsolicited. I have been suffering from lumbago for ten years and at times was unable to stand erect. A Mr. Dean of this city, saw me in my condition (bent over) and inquired the cause. I told him that I had the lumbago. He replied, "If you get what I tell you to, you need not have it." I said I would take anything for ease. He said, "You get two bottles of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and take it, and if it does not fix you O. K. I will pay for the medicine myself." I did so and am a well man. For five months I have been as well as could be. Before I took your Swamp-Root was in constant pain day and night. This may look like advertising, but it seems to me most important that the public should be made familiar with this treatment as it is the only one I know which is an absolute cure. I owe a great deal to Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and am anxious that others situated as I was should know and take advantage of it. Hoping that this testimonial may be of benefit to some one I am, is that dental work of quality can not be done as cheaply as a few years ago. Higher prices of materials, equipment, etc., render it impossible. It is true, however, that dental work can be done better today than ever before; newer methods, later equipment and advancing ideas make it possible for the up-to-date dentist to deliver perfect work. Cheap dentistry is poor dentistry. Therefore we do only the better kinds, at moderate prices, by modern methods, in an office that is up to the minute in skill and equipment. A Remarkable Offer to Local People: A 10c Cake of Palmolive Soap Absolutely Free!

A few days ago, the B. J. Johnson Soap Co., of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, made a startling offer in the columns of this paper. It was this: With every 25-cent purchase of Galvanic—the famous white laundry soap—they would give a ten-cent cake of Palmolive Toilet Soap. This offer is good during all of this week, and judging from the reports of local grocers, large numbers of enterprising people here are taking advantage of this unprecedented offer.

It is costing the B. J. Johnson Soap Co. a small fortune to introduce both their brands of soap into local homes, but they say they can afford to do this for the reason that once these soaps are taken into the home, it means that all other brands of soap will be discarded.

In the large advertisement which appeared last Monday a list of grocers was published where free Palmolive Soap can be obtained during this week —"Free Soap Week." Unless you have already taken advantage of this offer, we urge you to do so as the offer will not appear again and is good only during this week— "Free Soap Week."

SIX MEN SLEEP IN "DOUBLE-DECKERS" IN DAMP, DARK AND UNVENTILATED BASEMENT

ONE OF THE WORST HOUSES FOUND.
Six Men Sleep in This Black Hole With Only a Cellar Window for Ventilation.

In a hole below the street level so dark that it was impossible for one to see a hand's length ahead, a set of "double deckers" were found by a Herald reporter and Dr. Ignatius J. Murphy of the health department when making rounds of lodging houses last week.

The bunks were crammed against the stone walls of the basement. The section which was photographed had sleeping "accommodations" for six men. Towards the top at one side was the typical cellar window, shut off from the outside by another building close to it. Just the faintest streaks of daylight filtered through, it the only light in the blackness of the room. It looked more like the inside of a dungeon of an old-time jail. In Minnesota, and in many other states, it could not even be used for jail purposes. The city health department would put any dairyman out of business who attempted to stable his cows in a place of that kind.

There is absolutely no chance for ventilation. The atmosphere can't help but be damp. Even adequate artificial light is lacking. Eight or ten feet away, in another part of the basement, is a small incandescent light hanging in front of a toilet. A short distance away it looks like a glow worm which happened to get inside by mistake. As far as lighting the room, it is about as efficient as a candle, and is not as much use as it cannot be carried around.

The "double deckers" are the regulation variety, made of wood and fastened to the floor and wall. One person suggested that they might be fastened to prevent the little inhabitants of the bunks from crawling away with them. The bedding was about as bad as that seen in some of the other lodging houses, about fit for the covering of an ash wagon if it traveled through unfrequented streets.

In the same basement was another set of four "double deckers," made to "accommodate" eight men. They were in a narrow passage way, with barely enough room between the outer edges of the bunks and the wall for a man to get through. The place had a toilet with running water, but if the men who sleep there want to wash themselves they have to go to another building, which is provided with the accessories common to lodging houses.

ON ORDER OF GOVERNOR

Insane Woman Is Brought to Duluth From New York.

Becomes Violent on Train—Passengers Called on for Assistance.

Mrs. Bertha Clausen, a passenger on the Omaha train from Chicago, was taken to the probate court on the arrival of the train in Duluth this morning. She was examined as to her sanity and ordered committed to Fergus Falls.

Mrs. Clausen is a resident of St. Louis county. She was visiting in Norway and while there her mind became unbalanced. As she had lived in the United States for a number of years, the Norwegian government sent her back to this country for final disposition.

She was accompanied to Duluth by Miss Hjalda Haltquist, a deaconess of the Swedish Lutheran Augustana synod of New York and also a missionary at Ellis Island.

Mrs. Clausen was accompanied across the water by her daughter, 20 years old. The daughter was exhausted by the trip and stayed in New York to rest.

Miss Haltquist made the trip to Duluth with the woman at the request of Governor Eberhart, who wired her instructions to deliver Mrs. Clausen into the hands of the probate judge on arrival here. The governor has been following the case for some time. He vouched for her residence in St. Loius county.

Mrs. Clausen is 52 years old. Family trouble is supposed to be responsible for the condition of her mind. So far as is known she has but the one child. She was divorced from her husband several years ago, it is understood.

She gave her nurse much cause for anxiety on the journey from New York to Duluth. She begged people to save her, tried to break the furniture and the windows and screamed at the top of her voice. She talks a great deal of the time but says little that can be understood. She claims to have property in Wisconsin.

Miss Haltquist was very tired after her long journey and stated that she was glad that it was all over.

Mrs. Clausen is evidently not known in Duluth for this morning efforts were made to find her friends or relatives. Her name does not appear in the city directory.

OBITUARY

James Jack, treasurer of Utah for twenty years and treasurer of the Mormon church for more than fifty yeas, died at Salt Lake City, March 27, of old age. He was 82 years old. Jack crossed the plains with an ox team in the early '50s and shortly after reaching Salt Lake City was appointed by Brigham Young as treasurer of the church. He served in this office under all of Mr. Young's successors.

Thomas Gaynor, aged 63, died at Chippewa Falls, Wis., March 25 from heart failure following a two days' illness. He was one of the prominent loggers of this state, long associated with W. E. Moses, in the firm of Moses & Gaynor, this firm finally securing the logs that John Dietz held up at Cameron dam. Moses and Gaynor moved the last of the logs over to the Pambeau river in the winter of 1908. This completed Mr. Gaynor's long career as a logger and he retired with a fortune, being a bank director, paper mill proprietor and having other extensive interests here and on the Pacific coast. He was born in Ireland.

Marcus Wing, a pioneer resident of Olmsted county, and in his day prominent in the affairs of the county, dropped dead in the rear of his home in Rochester, Minn., March 27, a victim of apoplexy of the heart, with which he had been a sufferer for a number of years. Mr. Wing was born in Michigan and was 69 years old at the time of his death. In 1864 he came to Rock Dell, this county, and was highly successful as a farmer. He held the offices of supervisor and justice of the peace for nine years, was postmaster, and in the seventies served three terms in the state legislature. He moved to Rochester in 1898. He is survived by one ssiter and three children.

FOR INLAND HARBOR.

Kleeman's Bill Passes the Illinois House.

Springfield, Ill., March 28.—Kleeman's bill for the construction of an inland harbor for Chicago in Lake Calumet passed the house of the Illinois legislature by a vote of 90 to 5.

Under the provision of the bill the harbor and basin are to be constructed by the Chicago sanitary district. After the cost of construction is met 25 per cent of the gross income is to be turned into the state treasury, the remainder going to the treasury of the sanitary district. It is estimated that the cost of constructing the inland harbor will be $5,000,000.

We will also place on sale black voile and navy and black Panama skirts, worth regularly up to $8.50, special for tomorrow only $3.95. Ginster's, 24 West Superior street.

Sold Liquor on Sunday.
Nellie Blaine and Lucile Wells, who conduct resorts on St. Croix avenue, pleaded guilty to selling liquor on Sunday and were fined in the police court $100 each today. They paid the fines. P. Mulligan, a West Superior street saloon keeper, pleaded not guilty to a similar charge and his trial was set for next Tuesday morning.

Looking for Fugitive.
The police have been asked to arrest John Schultz, a middle-aged man, who is said to have attempted to criminally assault Mrs. John Taylor this morning on the Howard Gnesen road, several miles out of the city. Schultz is supposed to be headed for Duluth. The police were furnished with his description. He is about 5 feet 10 inches in height, had a smooth face, was rather fleshy, wore blue clothes and a blue cap.

WAITING FOR RAILROAD WORK

Many Idle Men in City Following Breaking Up of Camps.

With practically no opening in the railroad work, such as usually exists at this time of the year, many of the laboring men who are in from the woods are just now finding employment a very difficult thing to secure, and until there is some opening of general gang work on the railroads, employment men say that the laborers will have an enforced vacation.

General reports received from the railroads this morning were of an encouraging nature, but no orders for men were received.

There are a number of laborers in the city at the present time who are depending upon railroad work to give them employment. The employment houses of this city are also dependent upon this work for a source of their revenue.

With the crop of the two Dakotas off to a good start, it is certain that there will be some extensive improvements made on the two Western roads.

Supt. K. M. Nicolls of the Northern Pacific has his plans for the work ready, but until orders have been issued from the general office at St. Paul, there will be no work done on this division of the Northern Pacific.

Laxative Sent Free to Try

It may be taken for granted that there is no family of any size that goes very long without needing a laxative. If you don't know of a good laxative, or the laxative you are using is losing its effect, we want to call your attention to Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which thousands of families are using successfully.

We have scores of letters from mothers, and scores from prominent men saying they are using it personally and giving it to their families, men like Mr. C. K. Smith of the Traffic Clearing House, Pine Bluff, Ark., and Mr. George B. Turner, a lawyer of Harlan, Ky. The thousands of mothers who use it themselves and give it to their children would take too much space to mention.

The reason they prefer Syrup Pepsin is that it is a mild, gentle laxative-tonic that does not gripe—effective and yet so mild that babies can take it. Its tonic ingredients invigorate the body and strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles so that they again do their work naturally. If you have been a victim of salts, pills and strong cathartics you will discard them when you once use Syrup Pepsin.

You can buy a fifty cent or one dollar bottle of any druggist, but before doing so you may want to try it free. If so, send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will promptly forward a free sample bottle. Then, being convinced, do as others are doing and buy it in the regular way of your favorite druggist.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

SHOOTS HERSELF WHILE IN STATION

Student at Hamline University Ends Her Life in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ruth Grow, 20, a student at Hamline university, died early this morning in the city hospital as the result of a self-inflicted bullet wound.

The young woman had returned to the Twin City after having spent the spring vacation with her parents at Hector, Minn. She arrived early yesterday at the union station and remained there all day long, going out at intervals.

Station attendants were attracted about 6 p. m. by a pistol shot and found her unconscious with a wound through her head. She was taken to the city hospital. Relatives have been notified. The body is at the Hennepin county morgue. It is not known what prompted her to end her life.

Still Deadlocked in Iowa.
Des Moines, Iowa., March 28.—Today's joint ballot for United States senator by the Iowa legislature was as follows: Deemer, 33; Kenyon, 29; Porter, 44; Judge Martin J. Wade, Democrat, 1; paired, 1; absent, 20; necessary to choice, 69.

Tariffs Suspended.
Washington, March 28.—Freight triffs on cement filed with the interstate commerce commission by the Wabash, Grand Trunk, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis, Cincinnati Northern, Lake Shore & Michigan Southern and Michigan Central railroads were suspended today by the commission from the effective date of the tariffs April 1 until June 29, 1911.

ARE YOU A MAN?

Or Are You So Weakened by Neglect and Disease That You Have Lost All Virility.

Many people are going around nowadays under a misapprehension: It is not sufficient to look like a man to be a man — manhood is something by itself —the virile look, the athletic step the sharp, incisive word, all these go to prove that a man is a man. Many are content to drag through life deadened by lassitude and worn out in the prime of youth—why—because they do not know, or shut their eyes to the fact that in this decadent state of twentieth century manhood, no man is perfect and those who are fairly so, will retrograde rapidly unless they take some active step to retain their virility.

The seeds of disease are in your system, and neglect will encourage them to multiply until they are more powerful than your constitution. One little trouble neglected leads to a greater one and so on to the natural termination—death.

Careful, and above all, scientific treatment, will, if taken in time, conquer all diseases of men.

Remember though, the treatment must be skillful, it must be prescribed by a specialist, or it is liable to do you irreparable harm. The Progressive Medical Specialists, whose offices are at No. 1 West Superior street, have devoted their lives to the study of the diseases of men, both in the colleges of this country and in those of Germany—the most famous in the world. They have effected thousands of cures where ordinary practitioners have pronounced the cases hopeless, because they are Specialists. If you are afflicted with any chronic disease, do not fail to consult them, their methods are marvelous and thousands of Duluthians are now praising their science and skill. You are cordially invited to consult them free of charge and they will explain how they can cure any of the diseases of men regardless of age or complications.

Their offices are crowded from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. No. 1 West Superior street.

Feet Troubles Overcome.

Every clerk, policeman, housewife or person who is compelled to spend the greater portion of their time standing on their feet will profit by adopting a sanative, curative and tonic foot wash. It is really marvelous what relief and freedom from foot-soreness follows:

Obtain a 2-ounce package of vilane powder and to a gallon of hot water add a teaspoonful; also a tablespoonful of salt. Then immerse the feet from 10 to 20 minutes every night until all the poisons, soreness and congestion are removed. Corns, callouses, bunions, are relieved promptly. Excessive sweating, cold feet, tired, swollen and aching feet will soon be unknown. This is without doubt the most effective treatment for the feet ever published.

A Nurse Says:

"In many years of nursing here, some of our best Doctors have sometimes given me samples for my own personal use. I have never found any cathartic or laxative equal to Blackburn's "CascaRoyal-Pills," for they are mild, thorough and have no bad after-effects. While I can get Blackburn's Casca-Royal-Pills, I shall not use any other, and I think the CascaRoyal-Pills ought to be in every home, thus saving many a sick spell."

WOMAN'S REALM.

Round table discussions conducted by prominent musicians of the state and papers on musical problems will be the principal topics on the program at the tenth annual convention of the Minnesota State Music Teachers' association, which will be held in Minneapolis May 9, 10 and 11.

Hamlin Hunt, president of the association writes the following in regard to the association work: "The state association has been maintained for ten years with sufficient success to justify its existence, and has many times proved that it can be of genuine value to the fraternity and to the community where its annual meeting may have been held.

"The experimental days are passed and the days of small things for the musical Northwest are now history. If the professional teachers will now respond and co-operate we can have by far the best meeting we have ever had. Our physical surroundings are to be ideal. The rooms at our disposal in the Hotel Radisson, which is to be the headquarters and place of meeting for a number of the sessions of the convention, are excellent for sociability, for the round tables and for the evening concerts. To the end that every teacher may contribute to the success of the convention and take something home with them, which shall be of value to their professional life, there are to be fewer concerts, but much attention is to be given to the papers and round tables during the day."

Tuesday the convention will open with an address by Hamlin Hunt, followed by the reports of the officers. A violin round table, conducted by Carl Ruggles of Winona, Minn., and discussion and papers on the public school music, conducted by T. P. Giddings of Minneapolis, and illustrated by classes of children from the schools of Minneapolis, followed by an organ recital at Plymouth church by G. H. Fairclough of St. Paul, dean of Minnesota Chapter of American Guild of Organists, will complete the first day.

Wednesday morning will be given to the voice round table, conducted by Harry Phillips of Minneapolis, when "Voice in the School Room," "Voice in the Choir Room" and "Voice in the Studio" will be the topics discussed. Wednesday afternoon the piano round table will be conducted by Donald N. Ferguson for primary, intermediate grades and advanced grades. That evening an artists' concert will be given at the Hotel Radisson and a lecture recital by Glenn Dillard Gunn of Chicago.

Thursday the organ round table conducted by G. A. Thornton of St. Paul will be followed by the business meeting at 10:30, when election of officers for next year will take place. That afternoon Carlyle Scott of Minneapolis will conduct the general musicianship round table, and the convention will close Thursday evening with a concert at the Hotel Radisson by the St. Paul Choral Art society of St. Paul with Leopold G. Bruenner, conductor, and William McPhail, violinist, assisting.

In regard to these conventions, Austin Poote says: "I should say that the great advantage resulting from the national and state teachers' associations lies in the appreciation that we get of the work that others are doing, that we find others have ideals and standards, and that a certain fellowship is bred which musicians need, and are too apt not to get. These meetings often result in real friendships."

DULUTH DELEGATES.

Playground Workers Will Attend Minneapolis Convention.

A number of Duluth people will attend the playground institute for the North Central states which will be held in Minneapolis April 6, 7 and 8, for the purpose of exchanging ideas and discussing in full the problems of playground administration.

Miss Jean Poirier, Mayor M. B. Cullum and City Attorney Bert Fesler will be sent by the park board and playground association, and Mrs. H. Field and Mrs. L. W. Kline have been appointed as delegates from the Women's council of this city. They are members of the playground committee of that organization and the Twentieth Century club will also send some one to represent it.

Musical Club Officers.

The Matinee Musicale held its nomination of officers yesterday afternoon following the regular program. The nominating committee composed of Mrs. K. A. Ostergren, Miss Mae Wylie and Miss Hyland presented the following names for the various offices which were accepted by the club: President, Mrs. George S. Richards; vice president, Miss Bradshaw; recording secretary, Mrs. W. D. Edson; treasurer, Miss Bernice Crowley; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. Herbert Jones; directors for two years, Mrs. John A. Stephenson, Mrs. Fred Bradbury and Miss Isabelle Pearson. Mrs. John Currie was nominated from the floor as one of the directors. The election of officers will be held following the program in two weeks.

Former Duluth Woman Working for Women's Suffrage

MISS MARY McFADDEN.

Miss Mary D. McFadden, formerly of Duluth, is conducting a vigorous campaign in St. Paul and Minneapolis in behalf of women's suffrage. A bill introduced by Senator Sageng, which submits the question of equal suffrage for women in Minnesota to the people, has claimed her chief attention for some time and she has been doing a great deal of lobbying for it. She was refused an opportunity to speak before the senate on this bill. Miss McFadden was prominent in newspaper work here for many years before going to St. Paul.

SEEN IN THE SHOPS

Sheffield plate silver is gaining more and more in favor and is not nearly as expensive as the sterling silver. One of the jewelry stores of this city is displaying a handsome line of this ware. Of course the old original Sheffield plate is rare and very expensive but the modern reproduction of this plate combines all the quaintness and beauty of the old designs with great perfection at a cost so much less than possible by the old methods that a perfect table service of authentic designs and equal in appearance to the best solid silver ware, is within reach of every family of moderate means.

This shop has a number of the old table pieces such as hot milk pitchers, hot water pitchers, muffineers, double vegetable dishes, chop plates with hot water compartments underneath and comports, fern dishes, cream pitchers and sugar bowls, tea and coffee pots, gravy and sauce boats and candle sticks.

Another article which attracts much admiration is an old silver urn made with a compartment in the center for hot coals or ice to keep the beverage placed in the urn at the right temperature.

THE EVENING STORY

Is Cupid Ever Defeated?

By Mary F. Paddock.

"Just think of it, Grace! A trip to Newport! Won't the sail be delightful? But what I shall enjoy most will be a good swim in the real ocean."

"Yes, Helen, no doubt we shall enjoy every moment of the time, and Aunt Laura is very kind to take us."

"Of course she is. She was born good, and has never been otherwise than kind and generous," answered Helen, who considered Aunt Laura, with whom these girls always spent a part of their vacation, about perfect.

The excursion day dawned bright and clear, and seemed, indeed, the "bridal of Earth and Sky." Therefore, on account of the smooth sailing, the passengers were allowed an extra hour on the water, thus giving them a much shorter stop at that famous summer resort.

While viewing the brilliant scenery, Helen suddenly noticed many of the "400" going for a dip in the sparkling waves, and exclaimed, "Oh Auntie, how fast the time is flying, and we have not been bathing yet!"

And in a few moments Helen was in the water, enjoying the high waves as only a lover of them can. But Grace, thinking that the trouble would not pay for so short a time preferred to remain with Aunt Laura.

Helen really was an expert swimmer, a born water-nymph, and was the pride of her younger brothers, to whom she had taught the art, and now, as she met the in-coming waves, allowing their cool foam to break over her, she wished her brothers were there to enjoy them also.

At this moment, her attention was drawn to a spot where two young men, emerging from the gay throng of bathers, seemed to be striving in a race. Yes; they really are, and their goal seems to be a rock which rises from the water a little distance from where Helen is sitting, for she is watching them, deeply interested to see the result of the contest.

They reach the rock, one a little in advance of the other, and turning backwards with the swiftness of an accomplished swimmer he is soon half way back again. But his companion, as he turns, seems to be struggling in the water as if he had lost all control of himself, and doubtless he would have been drowned had not Helen darted like an arrow into the water, and firmly grasping his arm, held him up. While he, with one look into the bright earnest face bending over him, heard these words—"Keep up courage and I will save you."

But his strength had failed him and he sank back apparently lifeless, while Helen started for the shore as best she could.

However, she had not gone far before attracting notice from the other swimmers, and immediately they started to meet her.

As they came near and Helen willingly gave up her burden, she said, "I was just in time to save your friend from going down, and he needs attention at once."

Then she hurried back to where her aunt and sister were waiting, and Aunt Laura, becoming quite impatient, exclaimed, "What on earth were you doing with that young man? Did you save him from drowning?"

"Pardon me, dear auntie, it was not on earth but in water. I hope that I did really save him though."

"Well, I hope so, too, but you must not lose time talking now, for we have less than fifteen minutes before that boat leaves."

"Yes, I will hurry and agree to be on time if you will promise me that neither of you will say a word about this incident. I do not want a great piece in the papers about me."

"Of course you don't," answered Grace, who hated publicity. "And I know that Aunt Laura will agree with me and promise also, if you will only hurry."

Soon the final signal was given, and, as the boat was leaving, Aunt Laura and the girls could be seen comfortably seated on deck, from where a last view of the beautiful Newport might be obtained.

While each moment added to the distance between Burton Lyndon and his rescuer, physicians patiently worked to restore him to consciousness.

Their efforts seemed fruitless, however, for about an hour, when he opened his eyes and asked, "What is her name? Thank God, she was in time."

"Yes, you are safe now, but you must take this and not talk any more at present," he is quietly answered.

When allowed to talk, he said to his friend, "Will, you must help me to find the name of this water-nymph, for it was a brave deed and must be rewarded. I shall search the earth and sea until I know."

"I doubt if you will have to search far, and I sincerely hope that you will find her."

However, the summer turned to winter and winter to summer again, yet the mystery remained unsolved.

But it had been a hard winter for the Masons. The father had been taken with a slow fever, and for many days life was despaired of. Fortunately, Grace had a fine position as teacher, and without her earnings and the help of friends, the family would have been in a sad plight.

Yet the warm spring days helped them all to regain their courage, and they would have felt quite cheerful had they not known that the interest on the mortgage must soon be paid.

Although Helen had earnestly pleaded for more time, hard hearted Arthur Collins would give them only thirty days before the money must be paid or he should foreclose.

One afternoon, Helen, returning from the city, exclaimed, "Oh Grace, I have such good news! Yesterday I met kind old Prof. Lawton, and he wanted to see me. When in his study, he asked why I had given up my singing lessons. Then I told him all, even about that hateful mortgage, and also about the songs and music that you have composed. Well, I carried them to him today, and he says that they are really beautiful and that you are a genius. He is to give a concert soon and wants the honor of having you play and me sing. He says that he will pay us well."

"Helen," replied Grace, slowly, "I can hardly believe this."

Now it happened that Burton Lyndon was spending a short vacation with his college chum, Will Russell. One morning Will said to him, "You remember Prof. Lawton. He is to give a concert soon, and as they are considered a rare treat, and well worth going twenty miles to hear, I thought perhaps you would like to attend."

"Of course, I should be delighted to go," answered his friend.

Consequently, when the evening arrived, these two young men were on time and seated in one of the boxes.

After the first few numbers Grace Mason appeared and rendered a fine piece on the piano, for which she was heartily applauded, especially as the program stated that the gifted composer was the player. Presently she appeared again, and as the first few notes were heard, Helen quietly stepped to the front of the stage.

She was simply dressed in white, and needed no adornment but the red roses to set off her expressive dark eyes and fresh complexion to advantage.

Before commencing the beautiful song, she raised her eyes over the audience, and as they rested for a second on the eager, earnest face of Burton Lyndon, she knew at once to whom the face belonged.

And Burton, when the song was ended, said to his friend: "Will, that is she at last. I am positive that is our water-nymph, and we must learn her name."

Before returning home, a call was made on Prof. Lawton, from whom, by plying questions with the tact of a lawyer, Burton learned much to his advantage concerning the Masons.

The next morning Helen received a kind letter signed, "Your sincere friend, Burton Lyndon," which contained a draft for $2,500, $2,000 of which, the writer thought, she would be happy to present to Arthur Collins. As she hated publicity, perhaps the less said the better about the reward, but he was sure that if his parents could only know her, they would agree with him that no money could justly reward so brave a deed.

It is needless to add that Burton Lyndon managed to meet Helen quite often, and as their acquaintance became more than mere friendship, one day he asked her a question.

When she mentioned the objections that his millionaire father might raise, he replied: "Don't think of them, but remember that I hold the first mortgage, and unless the interest is paid I shall foreclose."

And Helen, with a happy laugh, paid the interest, with which he seemed perfectly

IONIC LODGE ENTERTAINS

Good Program at Social Session in Masonic Temple.

Dinner Is Followed By Speeches and Musical Numbers.

More than 200 members of Ionic lodge, A. F. & A. M., attended the dinner and reception held last evening in the banquet hall of the Masonic temple. A dinner was served and it was followed by speaking by members of the lodge, and a musical program by young women from the high school, under the direction of A. F. M. Custance.

The gathering was in the nature of a social evening. There was no degree work and the evening was spent pleasantly and all too quickly.

Walter N. Totman, worshipful master, presided. Talks were made by Burr Porter, secretary, H. W. Richardson and Carl F. Wiberg. Mr. Richardson was presented with the past master's jewel and the presentation speech was made by Mr. Wiberg.

The Scottish Rite quarter, which is composed of C. O. Applehagen, Don Gearhart, A. R. Bjorquist and Don Cole, gave several numbers that were greatly enjoyed. C. O. Applehagen and A. R. Bjorquist gave solo numbers and were called upon to respond to encores.

A. F. M. Custance covered himself with glory in the matter of local hits. He had a large chorus of girls on hand and his parodies on popular songs and hits on members of the organization were hailed with delight. The girls also rendered several numbers from "The Chocolate Soldier," and "Il Trovatore." The soloists were Miss Maud Matteson, Miss Mary Whitecomb and Miss Myrtle Hobbs.

Miss Ethel M. Long gave several recitations. The selections were well chosen and well rendered. Miss Long's entertainment was pleasing and she was heartily encored several times.

It was the first real old-fashioned "blow-out" that Ionic lodge has had this year, and it was thoroughly enjoyed.

KLEMER UNABLE TO MAKE ANY DEFINITE CHARGES TO HOUSE

day afternoon, as The Herald indicated that it would.

Then the house, notwithstanding this apology and because it was not satisfied with its form, passed a resolution censuring Klemer for his language.

Then Klemer, returning to the charge, demanded that his resolution providing for an investigation into his assertions be reported.

Then Speaker H. H. Dunn brought the excitement to a climax when he moved that Klemer and Stone be brought forthwith to the bar of the house, there to specify what committees are "packed" and what members "pack" them.

This motion, being adopted after a hard fight for delay by the friends of Klemer, brought the issue squarely to the front. What committees are packed and who are the tools of special interests who pack them?

And neither Mr. Klemer nor Mr. Stone had any answer ready.

Interspersed between and through these several chapters is the story of about as tense and hot and exciting a fight as the Minnesota legislature ever witnessed.

Plain words were used, many people were dragged in, including those at the press table, and even remarks with reference to continuing the discussions outside the chamber, where parliamentary usage is not so binding, were heard.

When the house reconvened yesterday afternoon it had before it the motion to substitute the Morton resolution of censure for the Dunn resolution.

Klemer's Statement.

Before action could be taken Representative Nolan said that Mr. Klemer had a statement to make and would be in the house in a few minutes. Therefore he wished that action on the Morton resolution be delayed.

He had scarcely finished speaking before Klemer reached his seat, and read a brief statement to this effect: "In my remarks last Wednesday I used what I believe to be unparliamentary language. I wish hereby to offer an apology to the speaker and the members of the house for my remarks in so far as they are unparliamentary."

Thereupon Representative Morton withdrew his substitute resolution.

Representative Robinson moved that Klemer's apology be accepted.

Representative Pfaender said that there was a question pending before the house—the adoption of the R. C. Dunn resolution of censure.

Representative Fowler, in the chair, declared the point well taken, and said that the R. C. Dunn resolution was the question before the house.

"The question before the house," said R. C. Dunn, "is simply this: Shall the house stand for the accusations of the gentleman from Rice that the speaker has packed the committees in the interests of the special interests? The gentleman has apologized for his unparliamentary language, but that doesn't settle the matter. He makes no reparation for his attacks upon the honor of the speaker and of the house."

Representative Nolan said: "Mr. Klemer has apologized for his unparliamentary language, and so far as his charges are concerned, he has offered a resolution to investigate them which has never yet been reported to the house."

Representative Kunze said he would like to ask Mr. Klemer some questions in order to determine how to vote on the resolution of censure, and Klemer agreed to answer them.

"In your remarks the other day," said Mr. Kunze, "did you mean to say that all the committees are packed?"

"I didn't state that or mean that," said Klemer. "What I said in the heat of debate did not specify any committee. I said 'the committees.'"

"May I ask another question?" said Mr. Kunze.

"I am undecided," said Mr. Klemer after hesitating, "whether I should concede that or not."

"What committees do you consider to be packed?" asked Mr. Kunze.

On a point of order Speaker-pro-tem Fowler ruled the question out of order.

Representative Kneeland asked Mr. Klemer if he thought the judiciary committee, of which Mr. Kneeland is chairman, was packed; and that was ruled out of order.

Mr. Kunze said: "As Mr. Klemer refuses to answer questions leading to the particular committees he believes to be packed, it does not seem to me that his apology is any kind of an apology at all. I am not trying to try his case, but where is there a better place or time to try it than right here and now?"

Representative Morton said that he believed Klemer's apology ought to be accepted and the matter dropped.

Censure Resolution Adopted.

Representative Lindberg of Ottertail county moved the previous question, and the roll was called on the R. C. Dunn resolution, resulting in its adoption, 66 to 42, as follows:

Ayes—Aker, Andrew Anderson, Boothroyd, Borgen, Bouck, G. W. Brown, L. D. Brown, Clarke, Congdon, Converse, Denzer, Diessner, R. C. Dunn, Ferguson, Fowler, Fuchs, Greene, Haften, Hauge, Herzberg, Hillman, Hoffman, Hopkins, Hurley, Jelinek, Just, Kelly, Knapp, Kneeland, Kunze, S. N. Lee, Lennon, Libera, Lydiard, McDonald, MacKenzie, McNeil, Mettling, Minette, Moriarity, Nash, H. Nelson, Nye, O'Brien, O'Neill, Orr, Papke, Perry, Peters, Pfaender, Ribenack, Rice, Robertson, Saggau, Schuler, Spooner, C. E. Stone, Sullivan, Thielen, Untiedt, Utecht, Virtue, C. H. Warner, Wescott, White—66.

Nays—A. V. Anderson, J. J. Anderson, Burnquist, Campbell, Christie, Conley, Crane, Davies, Davis, Edwards, Farley, Frankson, Harding, Holmberg, Holten, C. E. Johnson, J. N. Johnson, J. T. Johnson, Knutson, I. J. Lee, J. F. Lee, Lindberg, Lundeen, McMartin, Mattson, Morton, A. Nelson, Nolan, Nygren, Palmer, A. J. Peterson, J. E. Peterson, Putnam, Rines, Robinson, Rustad, Skartum, W. Y. Stone, Sulerud, E. Warner, Webb, Wisniewski—42.

Absent and not voting—Healy, Honlon, Keefe, Klemer, O. Peterson, Reed, Sampson, Schwartz, Voxland, Washburn, Whiting.

Three members—Reed because he is Klemer's colleague, Klemer because he was on trial, and Speaker Dunn for a similar reason—were excused from voting, though they were present.

Debate having been foreclosed by a demand for the previous question, many members sought to make up for it by working in speeches in explanation of their votes. Representative Harding was the first. He said that the report that the committees were packed was prevalent, and that it ought to be investigated. He had investigated for himself. He had asked old members of the house to name the ten most important committees, and he found that eleven members of the house hold positions on all these committees, with from eight to ten committee assignments each. The eleven members hold ninety-three assignments in all. Three of them are on nineteen committees.

Representative G. W. Brown raised the point of order that Harding was making a speech, not explaining his vote, and Representative Fowler, in the chair, declared the point of order well taken.

Resuming his explanation, Mr. Harding declared that more committee reports had been rejected by this house than by any previous house. Representative G. W. Brown renewed his point of order, and again it was sustained.

"If the house doesn't want to hear me explain my vote," said Mr. Harding with twitching lips, "I shall vote no and sit down." Which he did.

In explaing his vote Representative Kneeland, though not a member of the house "organization," said that if ever a speaker in Minnesota was uninfluenced by the special interests, it was Speaker Dunn.

Several members said that they would have voted for the resolution if Klemer had not apologized, and most of these admitted that they would have preferred the apology to be stronger.

Half-Hearted and Superficial.

Representative Kunze said that the apology was half-hearted and superficial.

Representative Moriarity said that Klemer had stated that he would apologize fully, and he would have done so if it had not been that forces that have never been effective in the uplift of good government got behind him. He had charged that all the committees were packed, and the charge was absurd.

"I did not charge that all the committees were packed," exclaimed Mr. Klemer.

"You said 'the committees,' and that means all," said Mr. Moriarity. "The apology is insufficient, and it does not offset the crime committed by the gentleman from Rice in making his wholesale charge."

Representative Nolan, who seeks to be classed as the leader of the progressives, said that the resolution was the result of the most unfair and unparliamentary proceedings ever indulged in by any parliamentary body.

Representative Pfaender said that the apology was not adequate. Klemer had several times agreed to apologize, and had stated that he had no facts on which to base his charges.

Representative Spooner, referring to the report of the special committee, said that he had understood that it was unanimously adopted, as he heard no negative votes.

Representative J. N. Johnson, who has stated in the house that he voted against the report of the committee, demanded to know if Mr. Spooner meant that when he had said that he voted against the report Mr. Spooner did not believe him.

"I said that I heard no negative votes," responded Mr. Spooner.

"That does not answer my question," said Mr. Johnson.

"That's all the answer you get," said Mr. Spooner calmly. "If you want any other answer, you must ask me outside the chamber."

Continuing, Mr. Spooner said: "When the committee, of which I was a member, was investigating the case, the only evidence adduced by Mr. Klemer was that his bill raising the vessel tax had been killed by the tax committee. That action was based on a statement by Mr. Congdon that the state is now getting a considerable tax from the vessels registered at Duluth, and that the only effect of raising the tax would be to drive the vessels to other states, thus losing the state the taxes it now gets. I asked Mr. Klemer if, on that explanation, he would not have voted as I did in the committee, and he said he would."

Dr. Stone "Butts In."

Representative W. T. Stone said, in explaining his vote, that he voted against the resolution because he thought Mr. Klemer had told the truth; and this is what dragged Dr. Stone into the fracas.

After the resolution had been adopted, Mr. Klemer called up his resolution providing for a committee of seven to investigate his charges, three to be named by himself, three by the speaker, and the seventh by the six. This precipitated a still hotter fight.

Mr. Klemer moved the adoption of his resolution.

Speaker Dunn, rising to speak on the floor for the first time this session, moved as a substitute that the gentleman from Rice (Mr. Klemer) and the gentleman from Hubbard (Dr. Stone) be required to come before the bar of the house forthwith and name the committees that they believe to be packed, and the members who pack them.

This demand for a bill of particulars, which was met by prolonged applause from the house, turned the tide completely. The radicals who had been backing Klemer began fighting for delay, and protested every stage of the proceedings.

Representative Spooner seconded the motion, stating that by urging the adoption of his resolution Mr. Klemer had reasserted his charges.

"If these gentlemen had charges which they can substantiate, let them come forward," said he. "If the legislature belongs to the interests, let's find it out. If it belongs to the people, let us demonstrate it. This house is more nearly representative of the people than any of which I have been a member. Now let the charges come!"

Representative Lennon said the motion should carry. "The bar of this house is the place to make and prove such charges as have been made."

Representative Nolan said that the motion was only in keeping with the bulldozing methods that have been used in the house thus far. "If were either of these gentlemen," he said, "I should refuse to respond to the motion if it is adopted."

"I rise to a point of order," said Representative Kneeland of Minneapolis. "The gentleman's language is unparliamentary and he should apologize to the house for it."

"What I said goes," responded Mr. Nolan valiantly, though his face was white and his voice trembled.

"The question is close," said Speaker pro tem Fowler, "and I shall render a Scotch verdict—don't do it again."

Ready to Apologize.

Dr. Stone rose to explain that any position he had taken was not for notoriety, and that if anything he had said was unparliamentary he would apologize and withdraw it. However, he was ready, he said, to accept such a challenge as was implied in the speaker's motion.

J. N. Johns gave notice of debate on Klemer's resolution, putting it over to tomorrow, and that out of the way, Speaker Dunn renewed his motion that Stone and Klemer be brought before the bar of the house. Representative Conley, one of the Klemer adherents, moved to adjourn, but his motion was lost.

Representative Pfaender, in seconding Speaker Dunn's motion, said that he had intended to introduce a resolution to the same effect himself.

Representative Lundeen thought summary action unfair.

Representative Spooner said that the house must have definite charges before it could act. "We want the charges in detail, and then we can investigate. Let these men say which committees are packed, and which men pack them. The same people from whom these charges come are charging that the reporters are subsidized. Who believes they are subsidized? It is a falsehood, as everybody knows."

J. N. Johnson moved as a substitute for Speaker Dunn's motion that Klemer and Stone be given until Wednesday to make their charges.

Representative Kunze said that the least Klemer and Stone could do was to say definitely which committees they think are packed. "If they are not ready to answer that question now, they never will be," he said.

Radicals voting for delay, J. N. Johnson's motion to give Klemer and Stone until Wednesday to make their charges was lost, 40 for and 66 against. Speaker Dunn's motion requiring them to make their charges at once was carried, 69 to 36.

Had No Specific Charges.

Representative Klemer and Representative Stone then approached the bar of the house, and stood there, decidedly ill at ease.

Representative Klemer, asked for his charges, said: "I cannot make any charges in detail in such a short time. I cannot name the committees which in the heat of debate I charged were packed."

Speaker Dunn asked if he might ask one question, and Mr. Klemer refused to submit to being questioned.

Representative Robinson moved that Klemer be excused, and his motion was lost, 36 for and 55 against.

Representative Spooner then asked a question: "What committees did you have in mind when you made the charge?"

"I cannot answer that question at this time," said Mr. Klemer. "It was a general charge."

"Is it a fact that you had no particular committee in mind?" asked Mr. Spooner.

"No," said Mr. Klemer.

"Did you have in mind the committee of which I am chairman?" asked Mr. Spooner. Klemer asked permission to look at his pocket manual, stating that he did not know what committee Mr. Spooner was chairman of; and after looking he refused to answer. Mr. Spooner is chairman of the appropriations committee.

Representative Lennon moved that Klemer be excused with instructions that he could not reiterate his charges hereafter. Asked what he meant by that, Mr. Lennon said: "As the gentleman from Rice has failed to make any charges and the house has refused to excuse him, I don't know what else can be done with him."

Speaker Dunn then moved that Klemer be excused from the bar of the house, and his motion was carried unanimously, this letting Mr. Klemer out of a very embarrassing position.

Dr. Stone Excused.

Dr. Stone's turn came next. He said that he had practically nothing to say. He did not know why he had been drawn into the matter. If he had said anything that was unparliamentary, he was willing to withdraw it and apologize. More time should be allowed, he said, to formulate charges.

Speaker Dunn asked if he might ask a question, and Dr. Stone refused to be questioned.

Representative Hopkins moved that as Dr. Stone had expressed a willingness to retract and apologize, that he be excused, and his motion was carried.

Mr. Klemer then wanted to call up his resolution for an investigation, but he was informed that one of his friends had put it over by giving notice of debate. The house then adjourned.

Duluth Bill Passed.

The senate, in spite of the excitement in the house, passed thirty-eight minor measures yesterday afternoon before the attraction in the house forced an adjournment. Among the bills passed were two local measures, one giving Duluth the right to acquire land for dock purposes and to issue $100,000 bonds for that purpose, and the other making special assessments equal as liens with taxes. Both were introduced by Senator Cheadle.

Household Remedy

Taken in the Spring for Years.

Ralph Rust, Willis, Mich., writes: "Hood's Sarsaparilla has been a household remedy in our home as long as I can remember. I have taken it in the spring for several years. It has no equal for cleansing the blood and expelling the humors that accumulate during the winter. Being a farmer and exposed to bad weather, my system is often affected, and I often take Hood's Sarsaparilla with good results."

Hood's Sarsaparilla is Peculiar to Itself. There is no "just as good."

How to Stop Drinking

It was formerly customary for the habitual drinker to take the pledge regularly, sometimes once a year, and sometimes in every fit of remorse that follow his debauches, and then—Break it.

But now it is gradually dawning on the world that pledges do not stop drunkenness. The nervous system of the habitual drinker is diseased and he must have treatment that will cure this condition. If Orrine does not benefit after a trial, we refund your money. Can be given secretly.

LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS.

California Solons Go Home After Enacting Many Laws.

Sacramento, Cal., March 28.—The California legislature adjourned last night after enacting into law practically all the reforms on which Governor Johnson made his campaign, as a progressive. Among the more important laws placed on the statute books were the following:

Enlarging the powers of the railroad commission; authorizing the physical valuation of railroads; prohibiting the employment of women more than eight hours a day; the Oregon primary law; the Australian ballot abolishing party emblems, and an anti-betting law.

The following constitutional amendments will be submitted at a special election in October:

For the initiative and referendum; for the recall of elective officers, including the judiciary; for woman suffrage; elimination of technical errors as a ground for reversal in criminal cases.

MORSE GOING INSANE, SAYS JOHN F. GAYNOR.

Washington, March 28.—Charles W. Morse, the former ice king, is going crazy in his cell at the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., according to the statement of John F. Gaynor, just released from that institution after serving four years for grafting in harbor contracts. Gaynor was released a few days after his associate, Greene, who reached New York Friday.

"Morse," said Gaynor, "is losing his mind from imprisonment and worry. He is surely going crazy. I told Mrs. Morse about it yesterday and she is prostrated."

MASKED MEN HOLD UP WESTERN UNION BOYS.

New York, March 28.—A trio of masked men, armed, invaded the financial district late yesterday afternoon, lined eleven messenger boys against the wall in the dressing room of the Western Union Telegraph company's office in Wall street, and took from them their week's wages. A clerk, who rushed in to learn the cause of the commotion was marched to the head of the line and searched too. The trio backed out after warning the boys that an outcry would mean death.

ALCOHOLIC POISONING

Causes Morbid Craving and Unnatural Desire for Strong Drink.

PERFECT CURE DISCOVERED.

A Harmless Vegetable Remedy That Cures in 3 Days —No Failures.

There are few who become addicted to drink who, in their sober moments do not resolve to reform. They realize that they are on the downward road. They have gone far enough to know that it is no primrsoe path. They realize that to the drinker comes loss of employment, loss of reputation, loss of substance, loss of character, loss of the respect of friends and loss of self-respect. They know that the man who is a slave to his appetite for stimulants brings disgrace to his friends, poverty and privation to his family and ultimately degenerates into the bar room "bum" where no worse fate awaits him. When a man realizes that he is on the downward grade it's time for him to stop, and he knows it. But when he tries to he finds that he can't. The craving for liquor has mastered him, and if no helping hand is held out to him ninety-nine times out a hundred he goes from bad to worse. What these men need is something that will destroy the craving for drink which they find themselves unable to resist. This is what the Neal Cure will do. It is the antidote to the appetite for strong drink. It destroys it. It takes it away entirely. In fact, an aversion and distaste for liquor takes its place. By taking the Neal Cure, even the habitual drunkard becomes again his own master. The cure is simple. It requires only three days. It is absolutely effective and absolutely harmless. It involves no considerable loss of time. No hypodermic injections are given and no powerful or poisonous drugs are used. There are no bad after-effects. Every patient receives a plain contract agreeing to effect a perfect cure in three days—and to the entire satisfaction of the patient—or the return of the full fee paid. If you are afflicted with the drink habit and really want to be cured, write to the Neal Institute company, corner Belknap and Seventh streets, Superior, Wis., for their free booklet giving full information and a copy of their contract and guarantee bond. It will be mailed to you under a plain sealed envelope and everything will be strictly confidential. You can be treated at the Superior Institute, or at the St. Paul, Minn., Institute, 676 Dayton avenue, or the Minneapolis, Minn., Institute, corner Fourth avenue south and Seventh street, whichever happens to be the most convenient to you.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MISSIONARY MEET OPENS

Adams Presbytery Home and Foreign Missionary Societies in Session.

Two Days' Gathering at East Grand Forks With Thirty Delegates Present.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—With thirty delegates in attendance the eighth annual convention of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the Adams Presbytery opened at Mendenhall Memorial church here this morning. The meeting will occupy two days, one being given over to the foreign work and one to the home mission work, while the closing number will be a large public reception on Wednesday evening in honor of the visiting women.

Mrs G. W. Eastman, president of the District Foreign Missionary society, opened the session this morning and after roll call and the appointment of committees she delivered her annual address. Mrs. J. H. McNichol welcomed the visitors for the city and Mrs. M. D. Phalen responded for the delegates. The officers made their annual reports and were followed by society reports from the representatives of Bemidji, Bethel, Blackduck, Crookston, Euclid, Hallock, Keystone, Orleans, Stephen, Thief River Falls and Warren. Mrs. H. A. Noyes conducted a magazine quiz.

Afternoon Proceedings.

The delivery of several interesting papers occupied the afternoon session, Mrs. Jessie Powell speaking on "Our Missionary Jubilee," Mrs. E. W. Akers on "The Synodical Meeting," Mrs. L. Robertson on "The Edinburg Conference," and Mrs. Engstrom on "Accomplishments of Field Work." This evening a public session will be held with Mrs. Engstrom, field worker, as the principal speaker.

Tomorrow morning will open the Home Missionary society work and Mrs. E. W. Akers of Crookston will deliver the annual president's address. Committees will be appointed and reports will be made by officers, heads of departments and society delegates; in the afternoon both branches will elect officers and three papers will be read, "Work of Westminster Guild" by Mrs. R. Stewart, "Education of the Freedmen" by Mrs. C. C. Potts, and "Woman's Work in Missions" by Mrs. W. H. Matthews. Committees will then report and new officers will be installed. The closing reception will be held at the home of Mrs. J. H. McNichol.

BRAINERD GETTING LIGHT AND POWER

Concern Given Contract to Furnish City for Ten Years Starts Service.

Brainerd, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Toltz Engineering company of St. Paul, which has a ten-year contract to supply lighting and power to Brainerd, commenced delivering to the business district on Sunday afternoon. In a few days the entire city will be supplied.

The gas producer plant has three 150-horse power producers, two wet scrubbers and two dry scrubbers, the latter removing all impurities in the gas. The machinery consists of one twin engine of 150-horse power and one tandem engine of 50-horse power.

One dynamo is belt-connected to the twin engine and the other is direct connected to the tandem engine. About 2,300 A. C. three-phase 60-cycle voltage transformed to 110 volts is generated. The Minneapolis Steel & Machinery company built and installed the machinery. In the space of 100 days the ground was broken for the foundations, a brick building 50 by 75 feet with steel roof trusses and columns erected, a ten-ton crane installed and coal bins of two carloads capacity with a coal conveyor built. The auxiliary machinery consists of air compressors, air tank and 10-horse power gasoline engine.

DRILLING NEAR BRAINERD.

Duluth Man Said to Have Five Iron-Searchers Working.

Brainerd, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. Huddleston of Ossipee states that five drills said to be owned by John Whiteside of Duluth are drilling for iron ore on the Van Horn property, about three miles south of his farm. The scene of this drilling lies about sixteen miles north of Brainerd.

Thomas Keating of Deerwood has shipped a drill from his Crosby properties to Ironton.

C. W. Potts of Superior, Wis., has been drilling for the June Lake Iron company in the seventy-one acres leased from Congdon and Hartley in 9, 46-29. He has also had a drill working for Messrs. M. Weum of Moorhead and J. A. Stetson of Deerwood and Duluth, in lot 3 and the nw¼ of the sw¼ of section 4, 46-28.

SELF-CONFESSED THIEF OF BEMIDJI SENTENCED.

Bemidji, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ted McManus, arrested a month ago with H. A. Simons on the charge of stealing some grips from the Red Lake depot, was held to the grand jury yesterday and later in the day pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the second degree before Judge Stanton, who sentenced him to eighteen months in the penitentiary. Simons was discharged.

KICKED BY HORSE, FARMER MAY LIVE.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., March 28.—Hugh Cameron, a prosperous farmer in Lafayette, this county, was working around his horses when one kicked and struck him a severe blow on the top of the skull. He was rushed to the hospital here and an inch and a half square piece of his skull was cut out. His condition is precarious and he is not expected to live.

SHOCK KILLS FATHER.

Anguish Over Son's Being Injured Fatal for Parent.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., March 28.—Joseph Rothbauer, aged 35 years, a farmer, residing nine miles northwest of here, near Bloomer, met a tragic death. His 8-year-old son, Edward, while playing was caught in a steam wood saw near their home, and his right leg was nearly cut off at the knee. The father picked the child up and carried him to the house. He had just laid the child down when he was seized with heart failure and dropped dead. A widow and four children survive. The little boy was brought to the hospital. His leg will be amputated at the knee, which was torn open by the saw.

COULD NOT FOOL SHERIFF.

Wisconsin Officer Comes Across Man He Wanted on Train.

Oconto, Wis., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Burns was riding recently on a train bound for Clintonville, and was passing the time pulling at a clay pipe, when a stranger accosted him in this manner:

"Hello, Dug, how are you? How long is it since you visited the old town in Maine?"

"I haven't been there for several years," replied the sheriff eyeing his questioner. "But you've got me. What is your name?"

"My name is George Brooke," he replied. "Don't you remember me?"

"Sure, I do," said the sheriff, "and I was just starting out to look for you. I've got a warrant in my pocket for your arrest."

KILLED IN MONTANA.

Former Grand Rapids, Wis., Man Shoots Self While Hunting.

Grand Rapids, Wis., March 28.—Word has just been received that he Miles City, Mont., of the sudden death of George Raymond, a former resident of Pittsville. He had taken his gun and ammunition and started early in the morning, presumably to go hunting. When he did not return at nightfall, a search was begun and his body was found back of the barn near his own home, with a bullet hole through his head.

MANY BODIES TO MOVE.

Work of Exhuming From Negaunee Cemetery to Be Resumed.

Negaunee, Mich., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. O. Stenrud, who has the contract for the removal of the bodies from the old to the new cemetery, will resume work next Tuesday. Mr. Stensrud suspended operations more than two months ago, when the snow became so deep that the work could not be conducted to advantage. During the three months or so that he had a crew at work he moved 4,058 bodies. He said that he believes there are still over 3,000 bodies in the old burial grounds.

MUST LEASE HAY LAND.

North Dakota Will Not Issue Cutting Permits This Year.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—By a new ruling of the state public land department, no hay permits will be issued this year as heretofore, but parties, in order to secure the hay on public lands, must lease the land. The rental on the land is 5 per cent of the appraised valuation and all leases will be subject to cancellation in case of sale, coal and mineral rights being reserved.

Applications for lease will be received in Grand Forks county up to April 7, the applications after that date being forwarded to the state land commissioner at Bismarck, who will return the contract.

SIX INCHES OF SNOW.

Falls Around Conderay, Wis., Putting Out All Brush Fires.

Couderay, Wis., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A northwest blizzard raged through this section all day yesterday, six inches of snow falling and the high wind is drifting it bad.

The twelve hours' rain before the snow began to fall yesterday morning was needed very badly and has put the ground in good condition for the crops. It was the first rain this spring.

The rain and snow also put a stop to the forest and bush fires which had been burning in this section for the last few days and began to be dangerous, having done much damage to standing timber.

GRAND FORKS BOY SCOUTS TO ORGANIZE.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A movement for the establishment of a boy scout brigade has been started in this city and Fern Munson of Fargo, a young boy of 14 years, and an enthusiastic scout, has been secured to speak at the organization meeting next Friday evening. The meeting is to be held at the Y. M. C. A. and the officers and members of that organization have taken the responsibility of interesting all the boys in the city in the movement.

WINTER, WIS., TICKLED AT PARK COUNTY'S DEFEAT.

Couderay, Wis., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The defeat of the bill introduced to the Wisconsin legislature creating the county of Park was received with pleasure in Sawyer county. The bill proposed taking some townships of this county in making up the new county and that would have blasted the hopes of the people in Sawyer county, as they are in hopes of creating a new county out of Southern Sawyer county, with the county seat at Winter. A bill was introduced two years ago to create this new county but was defeated on account of the scarcity of settlers, but this is being overcome rapidly, and another effort will be made in the near future.

DEVILS LAKE DRUGGIST IS FACING CONTEMPT.

Devils Lake, N. D., March 28—(Special to The Herald.)—Ben J. Ness, a druggist of this city, has been held for violation of an injunctional order of the district court and the hearing of the case has been set for trial April 17. A restraining order against the sale of intoxicants by the defendant was issued some time ago and yesterday afternoon, on the application of Attorney General Miller, the proceedings took on the new turn.

OLD POLK COUNTY RESIDENT CALLED.

Crookston, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—County Commissioner Chris Houston, a resident of Polk county for nearly thirty years, died suddenly yesterday afternoon of heart trouble, aged 57.

CLIFF MINE CAPTAIN SMOTHERED TO DEATH.

Calumet, Mich., March 28.—While Capt. James Rowe, aged 35, superintendent of the Cliff mine in Keweenaw county, was inspecting ground back of the timbering in the bottom of the shaft yesterday, he was caught by a cave-in and smothered to death. It was the first fatality in the property in many years.

OTTER TAIL COUNTY TO PAY OFF DITCH WARRANTS.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county commissioners of Otter Tail county have decided to issue bonds for the sum of $35,000 to pay off outstanding ditch warrants, which have accumulated to that amount.

BEMIDJI SAWMILLS START.

Bemidji, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Bemidji and Crookston sawmills resumed operations Monday and will run both day and night until about the middle of November. Each mill employs over 500 men, the monthly pay roll averaging around the $30,000 mark. The men are paid every two weeks.

Thief River Hears Orchestra.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra arrived Sunday afternoon on a special train from Winnipeg and were greeted Sunday evening by an audience which filled the auditorium to more than its capacity. Special trains were run from Warroad on the north and from Crookston on the south, and these brought in several hundred music loving visitors.

Grand Forks Y. M. C. A. Campaign.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two hundred new members in one day is a big undertaking, but the Young Men's Christian association of this city is determined that it shall gain its purpose and last evening a committee of seventy-five men was selected to canvass the city for that purpose.

Death Follows Operation.

Rochester, Minn., March 28.—Judge Morse H. Rohnert of Detroit, Mich., who underwent an operation at the Mayo hospital here ten days ago and was thought to be convalescent, died Sunday evening at his rooms at the Hotel Kahler, where he had been taken several days ago. Mrs. Rohnert was with him when the unexpected and sudden end came.

Brainerd Missionary Meet.

Brainerd, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The twenty-third annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary societies of the Red river presbytery is being held at the First Presbyterian church, and will continue Wednesday. Yesterday and tomorrow have been designated foreign missionary days and today is home missionary day. Some of the visiting speakers are: Mrs. M. D. Edwards of St. Paul, Mrs. F. L. Plank of Minneapolis, and Mrs. S. F. Lincoln of New York city, the field secretary of the home board of missions.

SUNNY MONDAY

Naphtha soaps can be used successfully only in cold water. Sunny Monday laundry soap does its work, no matter what kind of water you use—hard, soft, cold, luke-warm, hot or boiling; it also softens hard water.

Sunny Monday will not shrink woolens or flannels, and will not fade the colors in colored goods. It will double the life of your clothes and is the most economical soap you can use.

THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY CHICAGO

Escanaba—Stephen B. Todd, a veteran hotel man, has purchased the Oliver house from D. A. and J. A. Oliver. Mr. Todd contemplates making extensive alterations and improvements.

Gladstone—On April 1 the name of the Marble Safety Axe company will be changed to the Marble Arms & Manufacturing company. The change of the corporate name is made because of the tremendous growth of the arms business and it is thought that the new style will be more appropriate.

Houghton—A class of fifty candidates will be initiated into the mysteries of Odd Fellowism on the occasion of the dedication of the temple April 26. Hecla lodge of Calumet, will conduct the work.

Marquette—Two more convicts have been received at the penitentiary here, Frank Logan and Thomas Monroe of Lenawee county, convicted at Adrian of safe blowing. Logan is under sentence of twenty-five years and Monroe of twenty. The convicts were brought to Marquette by Sheriff Knowles, Under-Sheriff Hennig and Deputy Sheriff Gibson.

St. Ignace—The Republicans of St. Ignace have nominated Charles Machla for mayor and Hugh D. Whitwell for treasurer, to succeed themselves. They have practically indorsed City Clerk A. J. Gennell for re-election by closing no candidate for that office.

Ishpeming—Charles J. Yelin passed away Sunday morning. Heart disease with which he had been afflicted for some time, was the cause of his demise. He was born at Verna Socken, Bessco, Sweden, in 1858, and came to America in 1881, locating in Ishpeming, remaining here continuously ever since. He was in the employ of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company. He was married here May 5, 1883, to Miss Anna Lehman, sister of Sheriff John Lehman of Marquette county. He is survived by his widow and eight children, all living in the city.

Houghton—It is probable a line of passenger and freight boats will be operated this year between L'Anse, Baraga and Houghton and Hancock. The owner of some of the smaller crafts which have been in winter quarters near Houghton are going after the shore trade, and they will establish a daily schedule if business enough can be secured to make the project pay.

Hancock—Towns in the Portage lake and south range districts will send representatives to this city next Tuesday to attend the Sunday school convention which will be held under the direction of Prof. Goodrich of Albion. The sessions will commence in the morning and will continue through the afternoon and evening.

L'Anse—The farmers of Skanee have made preliminary arrangements to have a franchise granted them by the freeholders Monday, April 3, for the purpose of placing in a local telephone line and also get connection with the Baraga County Telephone company at L'Anse.

Houghton—The annual meeting of the Portage Lake Motor Boat club will be held at the Douglass house the first Wednesday night in April. It is expected that business of importance will come up. Officers will be elected.

Hancock—A membership campaign of immense proportions has been opened within the walls of St. Bernard court, Catholic Order of Foresters, for an increased membership. Members of the order have set out to secure at least fifty new members by May 1, and with this object in view, have appointed a committee of six to shoulder the work.

Laurium—The petition of the patrons of the Laurium postoffice for free delivery of mail in the village of Lahrium and the adjoining location of Florida, signed by several hundred residents of both the village and location, has been forwarded to Congressman H. Olon Young.

Lake Linden—Fred C. Hagen, a former Copper country newspaper man, brother of August Hagen of Lake Linden, is now editor and manager for the Ledger, a weekly publication printed at Reedley, Cal. This paper is published every Friday and enjoys quite a large circulation.

South Range—The following township officers have been nominated: Supervisor, A. D. Edwards; clerk, J. P. Nelson; treasurer, Dan Harrington; highway commissioner, M. Messner, Sr., overseer of highways, J. Tourvanen; constables—Precinct No. 1, Martin Messner; Precinct No. 2, J. Manderfield; Precinct No. 3, F. Rickard; Precinct No. 4, M. McCarron.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Jamestown, N. D.—Hereafter Commercial Travelers headquartering in Jamestown will be given an opportunity to enjoy the privileges of the Commercial club during the time they spend here. The arrangement was made at the last meeting of the board of directors of the club, when it was voted unanimously to extend the social privileges to all traveling men who make their home here.

Fargo, N. D.—Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Sherman and family, who have resided in Fargo for the past twenty-three years, left Saturday for their new home at Victor, Mont., where they own a fine fruit farm in the Bitter Root valley.

Minot, N. D.—James O'Neil, the Williston man, whose whereabouts was sought by the Minot police, and who was recently arrested at Kenmare, was bound over to the district court of the Eleventh judicial district on a charge of manslaughter in the first degree.

Bismarck, N. D.—Maj. Louis Brechemin, Jr., has arrived in the capital city from San Francisco, where he has been several months at the hospital. He has been assigned to the command of the hospital detachment at Fort Lincoln in place of Maj. F. A. Dale, who was transferred to Omaha, Neb.

Fairmount, N. D.—Albert Hauge of Sandoun, N. D., was run over by a freight train in the Soo yards and had his leg cut off just above the shoe top. The freight was switched and when Hauge went to jump on he missed the handle bar and fell, his left leg falling across the rail, and in a few seconds eight cars passed over the leg, severing it completely.

Bismarck, N. D.—At a meeting of the Morton County Fair association the following officers were elected: President, C. F. Messingham; secretary, H. R. Ritzing; vice president, C. J. Coyne; treasurer, A. Boley. Dairy Superintendent Flint will be superintendent of the dairy department and William Falconer of Bismarck superintendent of the poultry department.

Williston, N. D.—On a "United Williston" platform, so-called and promulgated at a meeting of citizens, J. W. Jackson was nominated as candidate for mayor and he has consented to make the run. The plan of action is unusual for this city.

Devils Lake, N. D.—A deal was completed Saturday whereby Jack Duis, one of Devils Lake's popular machinery men, becomes the owner of a handsome piece of residence property on Sixth street. The consideration approximates $5,000 and Mr. Duis expects to spend a large sum in making improvements thereon this season.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—The senate has appointed Senators Browne and Snover as the senate members of the investigating committee proposed in the resolution introduced by Assemblyman Roycroft for the investigation of lobbyists.

Manitowoc—Increasing the capacity of the Reiss coal docks 200 per cent; also lengthening the North-Western slip 100 feet and the building of entire new coal docks comprises the work which will be done during this summer by the North-Western Railroad company on the lake front and which will give employment to 100 or more wormen of the city until fall.

Kenosha—In the circuit court Judge E. B. Belden handed down a decision in regard to the sale of liquor by druggists, which hold that durggists are not liable to prosecution for selling liquor to miners on the same basis as saloon men.

Racine—Charles Gillette is at St. Mary's hospital in a critical condition with a bullet in his head, fired by Ronald Strauss. The revolver was found in the Gillette home and Strauss was examining it. Not knowing that it was loaded, he pulled the trigger and the bullet struck Gillette over the left eye. Gillette was hurried to a hospital, but physicians are unable to locate the bullet.

Portage—Frank Dollaceck, aged 28, of Marcellon, was killed by Milwaukee train No. 56 on a grade crossing Sunday. His team was also killed, but three companions in the carriage with him escaped injury.

Sheboygan—A proposition has been received here for the addition of a piano factory to the local industries. The company does not ask a bonus, but merely that the Business Men's association select a suitable plant to lease.

Wausau—The Badger Chemical company is rushing work on its retort plant to completion and will soon be in operation. The company will utilize pine roots in the surrounding country for the extraction of turpentine.

Menasha—Matthew Mueller will lose the use of both hands for life as the result of injuries sustained when he extinguished flames which had set fire to his wife's clothing. The accident occurred when Mrs. Mueller attempted to light a fire with kerosene.

Neenah—In order to promote the growing of wheat in Winnebago, Outagamie and Calumet counties, the Krueger-Lachmann Milling company is offering special prizes to farmers. The firm explains they can make cheaper flour by not being obliged to pay freight charges, if the demand can be supplied from this vicinity.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

St. Hilaire—Elling Ellingson of Saco, Mont., who owns eighty acres of land in Wyandotte township, has returned here with his family and is intending to move on and improve the land. He has rented the Collins house and will keep his family here this summer.

Deer River—P. R. Brooks has discovered that his fine dock and boathouse at Deer lake has been badly racked by ice jambs and he will have to now take his boats out for safety, fearing the ice will move onto the piles again and smash the boats.

Sauk Rapids—As Ed Hall and family, who live about a mile and a half northeast of Sauk Rapids, were eating dinner Saturday, a neighbor telephoned them that the roof of the house was on fire. The flames had gained such headway that the fine farm house was quickly destroyed before there was even time to save any amount of the household goods, and the loss was a total one, exceeding $5,000.

Milaca—Arthur Ahlquist has received notice of his appointment to the railway mail service and will report for duty April 1. He passed the examination last November with a very high standing.

Badger—The well drillers at the creamery are having hard luck. Thursday they were down 176 feet without striking water and broke the casing. Yesterday they started a new hole and hope for better luck.

St. Cloud—Dr. C. B. Estey has received appointment as federal inspector of horses and cattle from Washington. The doctor is to act as inspector for Stearns, Sherburne and Benton counties and will inspect horses and cattle going into the Dominion.

Little Falls—Contracts were closed Saturday morning by P. O. Duclos, manager of the Duclos brickyards, west of the city, with a firm of International Falls for the shipment of 2,000,000 brick to that point this summer, and also for the shipment of 500,000 to the Watab Pulp & Paper company at Sartell.

Aitkin—Dr. J. Murphy was unanimously elected manager of the local baseball club at a meeting called for the purpose of forming an organization, electing officers and making plans for the coming season.

Minneapolis—After smashing a sidewalk show case on Washington avenue south, between Second and Third avenues, a bold thief calmly made his toilet, selecting a pair of trousers, a cap, a coat, a pair of suspenders and several other articles. He left four pairs of trousers, three caps and a pair of galluses, which were brought to the police headquarters by the patrolman on the beat when he discovered the theft.

Hastings—The saloons of Charles Marmer and J. M. Langenfeldt on Second street were burglarized at an early hour Sunday morning, $23 being taken from the cash register at the former and $8 from the latter place. An unsuccessful attempt was made to enter the bazar of L. F. Henning and the grocery store of Fasbander & Son.

Crookston—Sheriff Oscar Supy of Albert Lea, Freeborn county, arrived Saturday in response to a message from the local police there that a man named Oscar Wanden, wanted in Freeborn county for obtaining several hundred dollars' worth of goods under false pretenses, had been located here. He took the prisoner away.

Stomach Tortures Cured

MRS. CATHARINE DOEBLER.

Years of suffering from stomach trouble finally terminated by the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

The great tonic-stimulant gave Mrs. Catharine Doebler permanent relief after everything else had failed.

She writes: "I suffered with stomach trouble for years, during which time I consulted several of the best physicians in the country, but no medicine or drug did me any permanent good, and I thought I never would get well. Then I began to use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It helped me from the start, and I feel it my duty to recommend it to all persons similarly afflicted. I believe it cannot be equalled. I know it has done me a great dead of good, and I never will be without it. I am still taking it in small doses; it keeps me well and strong. It is certainly a fine medicine for old people. I feel better now than I have for years."—Mrs. Catharine Doebler, West Willow, Lancaster County, Pa.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is an absolutely pure distillation of clean, selected grain, thoroughly malted. When taken at meal-time it stimulates the mucous surfaces and little glands of the stomach to a healthy action, thereby improving the digestion and assimilation of the food and giving to the system its full proportion of nourishment. This action upon the digestive process is of great importance, as it brings to all the tissues and organs of the body the nutriment necessary to their sustenance and to the whole system strength and vigor. It makes the old feel young and keeps the young strong and vigorous.

A BOMB THAT FIZZLED.

Representative Klemer as a bomb-thrower is a distinct success. He sent one whirling into the chamber of the house the other day that made every member of that body jump. He was so calm about it, so strange in that role, that his act made all the more impression. If he had swung his arms around his head a few times and curled one leg about the other in the manner of a professional spit-ball twirler, he could not have added anything to the sensation.

But Representative Klemer as a bomb-maker is a distinct failure. He had the outside of it all right, and the fuse was placed scientifically. But when the members of the house looked for the explosion that was to shatter the house organization and maim the political legs and arms of some of the leading members, the fuse quietly sputtered out, and there was nothing left on the floor but an empty shell, and even that failed to keep its shape under the mildest kind of pressure.

Looking at the matter in its present status it does not seem possible that Mr. Klemer realized the import of his charges. To accuse the speaker of the house or others of packing committees in the interests of organizations which the state is seeking to keep within reasonable control is to hold the accused up to contempt and contumely. Of course, if anything of that kind were being practiced it ought to be revealed to the people, and it would be the duty of whoever learned of such actions to make his information public. But to bring such serious charges without foundation is to commit a great wrong against both public and officials.

It may be that when Mr. Klemer made his charge he believed he had evidence to support it. His failure to produce any such evidence, or even to name a specific instance in which he believed a committee had been "packed," would then indicate that he had found, on closer inspection, that the evidence on which he had relied was not true or reliable. But if that were the case, it was the plain duty of Mr. Klemer to make a statement to that effect, instead of seeking refuge in a silence. And if the evidence was so flimsy, it is apparent that the Rice county man did not look into it as closely as he should have done before making his charge. In that case, also, he is seriously at fault.

Representative Klemer tackled a big job and failed in it, and the manner of his failure is enough to convince the people of the state that he was mistaken from the beginning. He accomplished only two things: He showed himself in a bad light, which after all is nobody's business but his own; and he delayed the work of the legislature, which under the circumstances was a serious offense against the public. That Representative Stone got mixed up in it was too bad, and Dr. Stone evidently recognizes that he made a big mistake. It is to be hoped that Mr. Klemer has a similar sense of recognition. Also, it is to be hoped that no other members will feel called upon to obstruct the state's business by foolish bids for the honors of the limelight.

PASS AT LEAST ONE.

There are four bills before the legislature which have been given hearty support by the charitable organizations of the state, particularly by the Duluth Associated Charities. These are bills providing for the punishment of habitual drunkards; making wife desertion a felony and prescribing the punishment for the offense; providing for the establishment of a state labor colony for the detention of tramps, vagrants and deserters of wives and children; and ordering a state commission to investigate and report on the causes of poverty and sickness.

All of these bills are valuable. Their enactment into law would mean a great advance in the state in the handling of some of the most serious problems of government. But the session is far advanced, there is much to be done, and the prospect is that some measures will have to be dropped and forgotten for the time being. If any of these four bills must suffer such a fate, it would be well to pass at least the last mentioned one, that providing for a state commission to investigate the causes of poverty and suffering, for the work of such a commission would be invaluable, not only as an economic study, but because it would furnish an exact basis on which to construct future laws and regulations. The bill is known as Senate file No. 798 and as House file No. 889.

That this last named bill is of extreme importance can be understood from a glance at its provisions and purposes. These are: To secure positive knowledge as to causes of, and the best remedies for, such conditions as unsanitary housing, overcrowding in tenements, the spread of tuberculosis and other diseases, and many other conditions that vitally affect the poor man and the small wage-earner; to study the adequacy of the present laws of the state on these subjects, the experience of other states and countries, and to frame such laws as will enable the State of Minnesota to enjoy the benefit of the experience of all; to eliminate the causes of poverty, instead of dealing only with the effects.

Problems of unsanitary housing, overcrowding in buildings and the spread of disease are not confined to any one section of the state. There are parts of nearly every city of even moderate size that present one or all these questions to a greater or less degree. The solution of the difficulties is not of local, but of state-wide interest. The way in which these same questions have been answered in other states and countries is full of suggestion for our own state authorities, and to insure the wisest possible action on that line here, the methods tried elsewhere and their success should be investigated. Older communities have in some cases left the questions alone so long that they have become crises rather than mere problems. Minnesota should profit by the knowledge of that fact, and provide measures of prevention instead of waiting for the necessity of drastic curative steps.

It may be that in the rush and confusion of the last days of the session, the legislature will find itself under the necessity of letting some of these four measures go by default to the next session. But whatever may be done with the first three, the last one should be passed. The Duluth Associated Charities has suggested that voters write to call their representatives' attention to this bill and its importance. It is a good suggestion. But whether it is adopted generally or not, the legislators should see the bill's importance to the state and should make sure that it becomes a law before the end of the session.

SWAT 'EM HARD.

When there are patches of snow on the ground and the air has a tang that makes a hot stove look welcome, it seems rather odd to have the question of the fly pest brought to the front. But for all that, the communication in the Open Court last night, signed "A Physician," was timely. He urged the people to prepare to "swat the fly," and the advice was good.

It will not be many weeks before the little buzzer will be with us in all his pestiferous activity. He will travel from barnyard to dairy, from dusty street to dining room or kitchen table, from sickbed to schoolroom, with the same eager joy that the schoolboy shows as he rushes from the swimming pool to the supper table. Meanwhile the users of microscopes will gaze through powerful lenses at the wonderful construction of the fly's head, the marvelous minuteness of the various parts of his legs and feet, the beautiful gossamer tissues of his wings, and will tell us that this tiny creature is one of the wonders of creation, and as such entitled to extraordinary veneration by us big-limbed, coarse-fleshed human brutes.

But the careful housewife will not wait to appreciate these features of the fly's existence. She will arm herself with a newspaper or a patent fly-killer of some sort or other, and begin to swat. She will enlist the small boy and the small girl in the task with her. And she will see to it that the screens are on the doors and windows before ever a solitary fly gets inside the house to bring his deadly outfit of germs and filth and leave it all where it will thrive the most and bring the biggest harvest of sickness and death.

According to commercial reports, we spend something like $10,000,000 a year in this country on fly-screens. Yes, it is a big investment, but it is worth while. The mosquito is a pesky bug, and we all hate him. The June-bug, if he is thoroughly rested and feeling well, can create a good deal of a sensation and make himself unpopular with the ladies by repeatedly rushing around and butting his giddy head against the walls of a crowded parlor or reception hall. These things are loud in their practice of annoying habits, and we go after them promptly. But the fly—well, we welcome the first one, because we say he brings promise of summer. We half welcome the second one, because he backs up the promise. After that we lose count and forget them until they get so thick that their noise is nerve-destroying and their accumulated presence a blot on the ceiling or the wall or the dinner. Then, when it is too late to do real effective work at it, we begin to swat.

But by that time the mischief is well under way. Eggs have been laid, and are hatching at the rate of several million a day. Every pile of refuse of any kind, every puddle of stagnant water, every spoonful of water that is slowly exaporating in a rusty old tin can in the back yard, is sending recruits to swell the flying army that is really conquering. And all this largely because we did not begin to swat soon enough or hard enough. Science has told us enough about the fly to make us hate and fear him more than we ever did the musical mosquito or the festive June-bug. The time to prepare our season's warfare against him is now. The mother who is wise will amend the ancient, honorable song of childhood to something like this:

Baby bye, here's a fly;
We will swat him, you and I.

And she will back up her song by some good, effective swats for the good of herself, her family, and the whole neighborhood.

DURING THE LAST ACT.

Within the last two days The Herald has received eight communications addressed to the Open Court protesting against what the writers charge is "the practice" of Duluth women of beginning to put on their hats and wraps in the theater before the last act is concluded. Since none of these communications was accompanied by the name and address of the writer, all have been left out of the Open Court, in accordance with the rules printed at the head of that column. But the multiplicity of such letters is evidence of the extent of the evil complained of. Women who go to theaters ought to have more common sense, respect for the rights of others and more ordinary politeness than to do this thing. They make themselves public nuisances and gain but very little time by their action. Those who disturb the rest of the audience in this way ought to be heartily ashamed of themselves.

It is almost time to revive the old custom of tying eggs in colored cloths and boiling them for the Easter breakfast.

Coburg, Or., boasts that 2 per cent of its total population were born twins. Evidently the stork has given that village the double cross.

The Mexican insurrectos are clamoring for recognition. If Diaz could recognize some of them he'd be very glad to do so, no doubt.

Champ Clark affects to scorn the automobile. Maybe he would prefer to own and run Postmaster General Hitchcock's steam roller.

A scientist announces that fishes yawn. Which is evidence that they can hear and understand some of the things the fishermen say about them.

OLD KENTUCKY

By SAVOYARD.

The Kentucky mountaineer, of whom we have heard so much, mostly lies, is a quantity in the mighty equation of American citizenship somewhat corresponding to the Highland Scot of the time of Robbie MacGregor, or earlier, when MacCallum Moore was chief of the Campbells. Let a Kentucky mountaineer kill an enemy, and every miserable and malicious Pharisee in the land walls up his eyes and washes his hands "with invisible soap in imperceptible water," and bewails the "barbarism" that maintains in the proudest commonwealth between earth and sky, whereas incidental trivial remark is called forth by foul murder in other communities. I undertake to say that in a given twenty-four hours more crime, violent or stealthy, is committed in the city of New York than in the entire state of Kentucky in a given twenty-four days, and life and property, especially property, are safer in Kentucky than in New York. In Kentucky it takes 100 per cent to give full title. In New York it requires only 51 per cent.

It seems that there is a strike on the Queen & Crescent railroad in Kentucky because of the employment of negro firemen to operate the trains on that line. The trouble in Kentucky is confined to Pulaski and Whitley counties, where a search warrant would meet with difficulty in finding a Democrat in 1911. So there is nothing political in the trouble, which is due to caste that is stronger than governments and laws, stronger than morals and religions, stronger than armies and navies. A handful of negroes have been killed in this quarrel—perhaps a half a dozen—but not a great while ago a hundred negroes were killed in Illinois in the shadow of the monument reared to perpetuate the fame of Abraham Lincoln, and the Illinois lynching was because of that same quarrel that is incited by caste. Springfield, Ohio, and Cairo, Ill., also are prone to indulge in race riots. Scarcely a day passes that you do not read in a Northern newspaper that a culprit is saved from the vengeance of the mob by the vigilance and the valor of an ample police force. The mob spirit is rampant at the North.

As for nightriding, it is cowardly, brutal, and a disgrace to the state. But the provocation is sore. The most onerous and the most long-continued farm labor husbandman ever engaged in is the planting, the cultivating and the curing of a crop of tobacco. A trust was organized under the laws of the virtuous and high-toned stage of New Jersey, the purpose of which was to fix the price of the merchandise which it bought as well as to make the price of the goods which it sold. The largest magnate of this concern is rated at $100,000,000 and men, women and children in Kentucky toiled and sweat at the hardest farm labor in the world to swell that man's gains. There was but one buyer of their product and it as conscienceless as that lean she wolf Dante saw in hell. Hence nightriding.

Nearly a century and a half ago there was nightriding under comparatively trivial provocation in the godly town of Boston. It is called the "tea party." It was just as lawless as any nightriding Kentucky or Tennessee ever indulged in, and those who participated in it would have shed blood as remorselessly had there been resistance requiring it. But that tea party was a thoroughly patriotic shindig, and plenty of high-toned folks would be mighty glad to find that their granddaddies participated in it. So you see it all depends upon the point of view.

"For lack of a monk the abbey will not close." Some weeks ago a negro was found guilty of grand larceny by a jury of Scott county, Ken., and it developed that it was his third conviction of a felony. Under the laws of the commonwealth when one is thrice found guilty of a felony it is imperative that the sentence imposed be a life term in state's prison. It appears that this particular rogue had stolen a turkey of value adequate to lift the crime to the dignity of grand larceny, and as a Kansas rooster sold for $1,000, it is no violence to reason to suppose that Kentucky has a turkey gobbler worth $20. Here is one grief an Eastern Pharisee wastes on that episode:

"It is inconceivable that in an enlightened community, in one of the great states of this Union, justice can be so strained that it deliberately sentences a man to life solitude in the penitentiary for stealing a fowl. The press dispatches from Georgetown, Ky., say this has been done. Such perversion should arouse the righteous wrath of every man, woman and child. The courts of a great state have been brought into disrepute. The victim of this remarkable judicial deliverance was a colored man, and his offense the theft of a turkey on the eve of Christmas. True, the man had served time twice before; but may there not have been extenuating circumstances? The bare facts only have reached the East, but the one fact that life imprisonment may follow such a petty crime is sufficient to direct emphatic attention to what appears from this distance, a miscarriage of justice in the great commonwealth south of the Ohio river."

Nobody in Kentucky was ever sentenced to "solitary" confinement in state's prison. "But may there not have been extenuating circumstances" Hardly. The better opinion would be, and the rational, that there were aggravating circumstances, for it stands to reason that a sneak thief thrice convicted of the crime, committed some scores of other larcenies not discovered. This man is an incorrigible thief, bred in the bone. Where is a better place for such a miscreant than in the penitentiary? The following comment on this affair is gratuitous in view of the fact that white men have been sentenced to state's prison for life under the identical statute invoked in this case:

"The question well may be asked. Would this verdict have been rendered if the prisoner at the bar were a white man? Does prejudice against color in Kentucky prevent the administration of justice, always supposed to be blind, and dealing with all classes equally and fairly, regardless of social caste?"

And then our outraged sentimentalist wants "the intervention of some legislative or executive authority with power to undo this grievous wrong," and he calls on the governor of Kentucky to render inoperative the verdict "sanctioned under the questionable authority of a 'habitual criminal act.'" He even is wrought to the point of suggesting congressional scrutiny, and beseeches somebody to "institute a radical reformation of the administration of the criminal statutes of this great old commonwealth."

Now, what is that but the maudlin ravings that make martyrs of 97 per cent of our murderers whose cells are filled with rare exotics, laden with the perfumes of Eden, and whose acquittal by sentimental juries is hailed with applause as the triumph of virtue over vice, the victory of liberty over tyranny? Here is the plea for the enlargement of this inveterate, hardened, natural-born thief who would commit another larceny the first opportunity that offered after his pardon. There is nothing better established than that crime is progressive. Enlarge this man, and the chances are his next crime—for he is a prone to crime as the sparks to fly upward—will be murder. It behooves the American people to find out that a criminal is not necessarily a saint, or even a hero, especially if he is a sneak thief.

When I was a boy, Alexander Ford, with a hickory limb, whipped the three R's into me. Hard by the schoolhouse was David Philpott's apple orchard, that was as free to every boy in school as to his own son and daughters. I well recall that one particular tree in the center of the orchard had more rocks and sticks under it, that we boys had thrown to knock the fruit down, than all the other trees together, and its fruit was sweetest to the palate and kindest to the stomach.

Old Kentucky is that tree, and I am glad that I am one of her sons. Let 'em knock her. Let 'em throw rocks and sticks.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1891.

•••L. A. Sherwood, who has been connected with the American Express company in Duluth, will become assistant to the superintendent of the company in St. Paul.

•••M. A. Hays will have editorial charge of the News for a few days, as both Messrs. Bowen and Metcalfe are confined to their homes by illness.

•••Newton Cossitt, a young veterinary surgeon from Canada, came to this city about a week ago to visit his brother. He likes the place so well that he has concluded to stay here.

•••Postmaster Smith of Kilborn City, Wis., and daughter, Addie, are visiting Mrs. Ralston of First street.

•••Horace B. Pratt, proprietor of the old book store on First avenue west, left for his home in Ottawa, Ont., yesterday. His health is very poor and he has returned East to recuperate.

•••Silas W. Clark, junior member of the firm of Clark Bros. of this city, and Miss Anna Leutzinger of Council Bluffs, Iowa, were married in the latter city, March 25. They will arrive in Duluth in a few days.

•••Mayer & McCarthy of Grand Forks, N. D., have arrived in the city and have taken an office in the Chamber of Commerce building. They have purchased, through E. L. Emery, a piece of land in section 6, near Fond du Lac, which abounds in excellent brownstone and will start a quarry.

•••The Elks last evening installed the following officers: Exalted ruler, A. R. Ridgely; esteemed leading knight, Charles T. Abbott; esteemed loyal knight, J. B. Cotton; esteemed lecturer, Fred Reynolds; secretary, F. J. Marsh; treasurer, John Panton; tyler, M. V. Bingham.

•••The Duluth Clearing House association at its annual meeting, re-elected the following officers: President, H. A. Ware; general manager, James C. Hunter; secretary, E. W. Matter.

•••The Cranberry River Improvement association at its annual meeting a few days ago, elected the following officers: President, Fred Fischer; vice president, George W. Stevens; secretary and treasurer, George B. Weatherby; directors, Giles Gilbert, George W. Stevens and Fred Fischer.

•••James Warmock, member of the board of fire commissioners, who sold his feed store at the West end recently, has left the city, and it is said he has gone to Seattle. He was accompanied by George W. Hathaway of the hardware firm of Meining & Hatfiaway.

•••Miss Slocum of Minneapolis arrived yesterday and will assist her father in the management of the Central restaurant at West Duluth.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Minnesota's Rulers.

Wahkon Enterprise: Minnesota has a government of senators, by senators and for senators, if one is to judge by the action of a majority of the members of the upper house of our state legislature.

Should Become a Law.

Mankato Free Press: There is now before the state legislature a bill providing for the protection of the forests of the state from fire. This is it measure which is of the utmost importance to the whole state. The entire authority of protecting the forests, both state and private lands, is placed under the jurisdiction of the state forestry board, and the law provides for the creation of a forest patrol, with an efficient corps of men whose sole duty it will be to put out incipient forest fires and see that the laws for protecting the forests, life and property are fully enforced. Such a bill should be enacted into a law for the sake of protecting the lives of settlers and saving the forests from devastation.

Cut Down the Tariff.

Montevideo Leader: The more we think about it the more we would like to see our present high tariff scaled down just about 25 per cent. The new congress could do it some morning before breakfast and it would answer as a makeshift until our wise solons could study the question and arrive at some just opinons as to the various schedules. There is no question but the whole tariff is too high and taking off the top section would not do much harm, anyway. We doubt if there is a single legitimate industry that would suffer by such a horizontal reduction, and certainly it is about time that the interests of the consumers be considered as well as those of the manufacturers and monopolists.

Keefe of Redwood.

Sauk Center Herald: That was a rare compliment paid to Representative J. R. Keefe of Redwood county when the house of representatives passed, without a dissenting vote, his bill providing for the Oregon plan of nominating United States senators. Mr. Keefe is serving his first term as a Democrat from an overwhelmingly Republican county and some of the Republican senators are opposed to letting his bill get through the senate because they're afraid the Democrats will get some credit for it. Out upon such methods; the measure is a good one and any man who will oppose it, no matter what its origin, is not fit to sit in legislative halls. Mr. Keefe's not only a hustler, but an "arriver."

Hardly Consistent.

Sauk Rapids Sentinel: Those progressive statesmen, among them our Senator Clapp and Congressman Lindbergh, who are fighting reciprocity, are having a hard time cultivating an acquaintance with consistency.

Through Green Glasses.

Brainerd Dispatch: The people who live in that section of Minnesota where the population is decreasing are looking through green glasses at Northern Minnesota and the evidences of prosperity through the opening up of mines and the influx of settlers to the agricultural sections.

Not Justice.

Thief River Falls Times: Northern Minnesota has grown in the past ten years, possibly much beyond the realization of those of the south and it is not justice to compel this section to worry along without its rights while the southern section has two and three senators to our one. Governor Eberhart now has the opportunity to make good the promises of the Brainerd development meeting and see that it will not be necessary for us of the north to take up arms against an over-powering injustice, and start a revolution with a battle cry of "No taxation without representation."

Not Specially Proud.

Wilkin County News: With Senator Marden voting against reapportionment—a matter to which his party stood committed (before election)—and with Representative Edwards on record against the initiative, referendum and recall, it doesn't seem to the News that the people of this district have any special reason to be particularly proud of their representatives down at St. Paul. However, these officials probably know better than their constituents, who "pays the freight" along about election time.

The Cost of Strikes.

The Statistical Abstract of the United States for 1909 records that in the twenty-five years, 1881 to 1905, inclusive, there were in this country 36,757 strikes, affecting 181,407 establishments. The number of strikers was 6,728,048, and 8,703,824 employes were thrown out of work. There were also 1,546 lockouts, affecting 18,517 establishments. Employes locked out numbered 716,231, and employes thrown out of work, 325,610.

The money lost in wages, interests, profits, etc., by reason of this enormous labor disturbance is beyond calculation, but must have amounted to many millions of dollars, lost beyond hope of recovery. Besides this direct loss many millions were lost by lessened business in the supply, transportation and collateral trades generally.

Of the 36,757 strikes, 25,353 were ordered by labor organizations, of which 34.65 per cent completely failed and 15.87 per cent only partly succeeded. The strikes ordered by organizations called out 5,355,516 workers, but threw 6,635,273 persons out of work. Of the "sympathy" strikes no less than 83.20 per cent failed, affecting 373,968 workers.

Other large percentages of failure were:

	Percentage of failure.	Workers affected
Cause of strike.
Working conditions and rules	54.39	150,769
Employment of certain persons	73.55	402,339
Reduction of wages	52.31	1,158,485
Method and time of payment	57.19	80,918
Recognition of union	42.88	743,523
Reduction of hours	39.23	514,496

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: The fewer words, the more truth.

When a man is attentive to old ladies it's a sign his wife reminded him to be for some advantage to be had out of it.

A friend can get mighty fond of you when he wants you to do something for him.

The minute a man gets hard up there are a lot of his best friends who doubt his character.

When a man looks the solemnest it's hard to tell whether he is going to the dentists' or to dine with relatives.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Waterbury Republican: A Philadelphia woman who stole some bread from a doorstep to feed her starving child was sent to prison. The dispatch does not say what was done with the baby. Perhaps they drowned it.

Boston Transcript: "Pa, what is a 'leading woman'?"

"Any woman, my son."

Chicago Tribune: "I beg your pardon," exclaimed the chauffeur, stopping his machine.

"You're not to blame," responded the pedestrian, picking himself up. "It was my own darned carelessness. I saw you coming."

Chicago Daily News: Mr. Recentmarrie (throwing down his newspaper with a gesture of disgust)—Here's another spoke in the wheel of the wagon that will take us to the poorhouse; apples have gone up a dollar a barrel!

Mrs. Recentmarrie (soothingly)—A barrel? Why, that won't affect us, John; don't you know we always buy our apples by the half-peck?

Puck: Knicker—Are you cutting down expenses?

Mrs. Knicker—Yes; I am paying only half the bills.

Yonkers Statesman: Patience—Do you remember my sister who was on the stage?

Patrice—Oh, yes.

"Well, she's married."

"Oh, got a speaking part at last, has she?"

Chicago Tribune: "Lots of these 'reforms' you hear so much about," said Uncle Allen Sparks, "consist merely in muffling the alarm clocks so you can sleep undisturbed."

Washington Herald: "I have a chance to buy a lot of masquerade costumes cheap."

"But we can't sell msaquerade costumes for street wear."

"Oh, yes, we can. Many people still have quiet tastes."

Washington Star: "We are seeking a more polite phraseology in our political discussion," said one campaigner.

"Yes," replied the other. "What used to be called a short and ugly word is now known as an 'Ananiasism.'"

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THE DULUTH PAINTER AND HIS WAGE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In the Friday number of The Herald, I saw a masterpiece with this heading written by what seems to be a disgusted and shortsighted out-of-job painter, who is talking about something he doesn't understand, or else does not care to understand. He is talking about the painters' wages being mentioned at 45 to 50 cents per hour. That is not the wage scale for Duluth, the scale is 43¾ cents per hour, and that is recognized by the contractors whom I am working for, and I suppose by the rest of the contractors of Duluth. But there are some men working under this wage scale and we do not call these painters. The Duluth painter knows that we had these men in the union that time we had a closed shop. So I can not see much difference in the open shop and closed shops. The painters know that we can not get rid of these cheap elements and we know these men have just as much right to live as you and I. They are mostly daubing away on the outside jobs and those are jobs which the painters do not care much about. That the painting trade is a poor trade we all know, because of the short season, but that is something that the union can't help. The Duluth painter is telling Duluthians to demand reduction in the cost of work. I think he can spare himself that bother, because they have always known that much and always will work. So if the painter will be fair and square to himself and everybody else and attend to his own business he will be better of. If he isn't satisfied with this answer and thinks I am not right he can come up to John Hogan's store, 22 East First street and I will prove it to him. SAM.

A Journeyman Painter.

Duluth, March 28.

Deaf and Dumb Printers.

Philadelphia Record: Manual training is an important part of the education imparted at the Pennsylvania institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Mount Airy. One notable feature is a well equipped printing office, where boys who show a preference for this trade become proficient in it. This office prints the stationery of the institution and also issues a bi-weekly magazine. An official of the institution says that printing is a desirable occupation for the deaf and dumb. It is an old adage of the craft that "A silent tongue maketh a full stick." Some employing printers show a preference for deaf and dumb compositors, and thus the great majority of the graduates of the Mount Airy printing office obtain lucrative positions. Even some of those who after slaving Mount Airy take a college course subsequently go back to printing.

A Close Shave.

Punch: "One of these men, a Calabrian named Motta, went to his partner's shop and tried to shoot him while he was engaged in shaving a customer. The bullet shaved the face of a boy who was waiting."—Egyptian Gazette.

And very likely the lad had only dropped in for a hair cut.

OMAR BY A NATIVE.

Chicago Post: Mr. Badger, the indomitable publisher, has found a poet who thinks he can translate Omar Khayyam better than Fitz-Gerald did. True, the field of such venturesome fellows is pretty well crowded, but the newcomer has at least one distinction. He is a Persian and believes that on that account he is prepared to write down his great fellow-Persian with a fidelity that the Englishman never realized. In fact, this new translator, Isaac Dooman, has a quarrel with Fitz Gerald:

"He has done to Omar what no other translator, in the whole history of translators, has ever done with the original, namely, of casting the entire contents of the poems into a huge mental cauldron, and after seething and cooking them to atoms, canned the best and most desirable parts and rejected the rest."

In comparison with the original, Fitz Gerald's translation is very weak and womanish, he says. "Omar's Persian is extremely rough and rugged; therefore one misses in the English translation its furore and defiance." He invites comparison between his work and Fitz Gerald's. For example, there is stanza 18 as Isaac Dooman puts it:

"O'er Universe had I power like God,
I'd nih'late it with a stroke of my rod;
Then a new Universe out I would bring—
To meet the wish of ev'ry living sod!"

And this, it will be recalled, is the way Fitz Gerald caught it:

"Ah! Love! could you and I with him conspire
To grasp this sorry scheme of things entire,
Would not we shatter it to bits—and then—
Remold it nearer to the Heart's Desire!"

By this time, we have no doubt, our reader has a mild, legitimate curiosity to know how Mr. Dooman caught those best-known lines, stanza 171. We submit them:

"A book of verse and a jar of wine red,
A little meat, and half a loaf of dry bread;
Then, thou and I roaming in the wilderness—
Better that would be than the life all kings led!"

Mr. Dooman's Persian version is a good thing to offer the bore who says that "you always miss something in translation." In this one we miss everything but Dooman.

RAINY RIVER GOLD MINES

Shaft Work Resumed at Olive and Foley Getting Busy.

Eastern Capitalists May Take Hold of the Gehl Claims.

Mine Center, Ont., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—For over ten years the outlook for gold mining in the Rainy River district has not been so bright as now. The logical time for this district to "come back" has arrived. Canada is highly prosperous and large sums of heavy profits and easy money seek avenues for investment. Cobalt has cured many Canadians of congenital fear of mining. Many with blood of the canny Scot in their veins no longer refuse to expend a dollar in mining unless guaranteed a return of five dollars. English, German and French capital now seeks investment in Canada. A decade ago, efforts to secure capital in those countries, especially in Mother England, usually were met with the remark, "You have no paying mines in Canada." The silver camp of Cobalt made profits that fairly dazed native Canadians. Gowganda cooled them off just enough to put matters on a safe basis. Larder Lake was a failure as a gold camp, but the curse of that failure promises to be wiped out at Porcupine, where Canadian capital vies with that from the United States, England, Germany and France and even South Africa, for the good things.

But Porcupine is not yet easily accessible. Transportation is expensive, living is above the average in Canada and every prospect is not a bonanza. Prices for property have gone too high for safety and prospectors with exorbitant demands are driving investors away just the same as they did in the Rainy River district ten and fifteen years ago. Already there's an overflow of capital and experienced mining men from the Porcupine. It is a millionaire's game today and without enough chips to go around. Sudbury division has been invaded. The vanguard is likely to appear in the rich Port Arthur region at any time. Even now a few seekers for mineral properties have appeared in the Rainy River district and inquiries from the East and abroad are increasing steadily. Any one who doubts these statements can and will be convinced by limited investigation, made in good faith.

The Foley Mine.

A year ago today, gold mining was at a standstill around Mine Center where, a few years ago, one could stand on the "sandhill" at noon and hear fifteen different mine whistles. Last April, work was started at the Foley mine. Early in 1911 shaft work was resumed on the Olive mine. Just the other day, Charles Gehl went through here to Banning for the purpose of taking in men and supplies to a camp on his claims west of Calm Lake and north of Milepost 54.

Last July, the Foley property was threatened by forest fires. Considerable superficial damage was done and work badly interrupted but all the heavy machinery and expensive buildings were saved. The damage was confined to the loss of a boiler, one engine house, a few cabins, some airpipe and steel rails.

In the year that work has been prosecuted, every building has been carefully repaired. The machinery has been carefully protected and some of it overhauled. The Lucky Joe and Sulphide shafts have been re-timbered. Considerable clearing has been done on the location, a heavy second growth having sprung up during the time the property was in litigation. Capt. Hosking has just finished an ice house and putting up a supply of ice for camp use during the summer. A crew is busily engaged in cutting cordwood for fuel. Roads have been built and improved, and the property is accessible from Mine Center station over a good road about six miles long. The dam at Fort Frances gives an even stage of water on Rainy lake and boats of ample tonnage capacity can land at a dock within 200 feet of the stampmill.

The Foley Gold Mines Company, Ltd., owns not only the home mine of 191 acres but gold claims in several other districts that bring the aggregate up to about 1,100 acres. The assets of this corporation represent an original cost of about $250,000. There are a twenty-stamp mill, concentrators, sixteen-drill air compressor, Corliss engine, gyratory rock crusher, hoisting engines, pipe, rails and several thousand dollars' worth of fittings and supplies in the storehouse.

High Values.

There are half a dozen veins carrying commercial ore, ranging from three to eight feet in width. They are free milling with a couple of exceptions. Values range from $10 a ton up into "picture rock" showings. The Lucky Joe vein, for example, milled $20 on the plates and had rich concentrates left. Capt. Wood, who last examined this property, assayed concentrates from the bottom workings and received the startling return of $773 a ton. Much of the ore bears visible gold. The Galena vein carries ore running from 5 to 10 per cent in galena. Capt. Wood sampled the shaft on the Galena vein and the assay returns showed $39.10 in gold and $3.58 in silver. Former mill runs that yielded nearly $40,000 in bullion, showed an average of over $11 by amalgamation with concentrates running from $40 to $75 a ton and some very heavy tailing losses.

Capt. Hosking has received orders from John L. Morrison, president and general manager, to put the power plant at the north shaft in shape for turning on steam. Negotiations are under way for a new and larger boiler at the south shaft. The hoisting engine there will answer for the present but will require some repairs. Mining and milling will be started at the earliest possible moment.

There are nearly 3,500 feet of underground workings at the Foley mine. The north shaft is 420 feet deep; the south shaft 200 feet deep, with a crosscut 325 feet long at the bottom, cutting several fine veins; the Lucky Joe shaft is 75 feet deep with drifts each way; the sulphide shaft is 31 feet deep and shows a vein ranging from 4½ to 6 feet wide.

In addition to company work done last year on the wagon road to the Foley mine, the Ontario government expended $500 in the betterment of the same road. W. A. Preston, M. M. P., sends word that he has induced the minister of public works to expend $500 again this spring on the continuation of the same road, as well as make liberal expenditures on roads tributary to Mine Center station. Mr. Preston is receiving great credit for his success in securing road appropriations.

The Olive Mine.

"Australia" Stone and son have a contract for shaft-sinking at the Olive. They are making good progress and W. A. Preston states that the men are encountering high-grade ore, something equal to any legitimate showing at Porcupine. The shaft is 1,200 feet east of the old working shaft on the property, which shows that the phenomenally rich Olive vein holds values for a much greater distance than previously thought.

The Olive mine was discovered by Mr. Preston, himself, in 1896. He commenced work that fall. In due course he installed a three-stamp mill with which he recovered 4,270 ounces of bullion, with a fineness of $16.70 an ounce, or a total value of $71,309. One run with the little mill on 176 tons of rock gave $7,852.50, or an average of $44.61 per ton.

Later on, twenty-five standard stamps were installed with a complete outfit of machinery. Numerous and complete camp buildings were erected and the main shaft was sunk to a depth of over 300 feet. The formation embraces a slate dike, several hundred feet wide, filled with seams and stringers of quartz, quite a bit like some of the Mother Lode ores in California. The entire dike carries low grade values. Running through the dike longitudinally is a vein of fine grained bluish quartz, several feet wide in places but narrowing up in others, which bears free gold in dazzling quantities.

The Olive mine formerly belonged to a stock company, capitalized for $1,000,000. In 1889 the stock sold as high as 55 cents per share, or on a basis of $850,000 for the entire property. Among those interested were W. A. Preston of Fort Frances, William Blackwood, Dr. Simpson and brother and others of Winnipeg, Hon. George E. Foster and others of Toronto. Since then the property has been acquired by Messrs. Preston and Blackwood who now are the sole owners. Prohibitive transportation costs handicapped the Olive in the early days.

East of the Olive is the Swede Boy mine, promoted by John P. Rossman and associates of Duluth in 1899, under the corporation name of Headlight Gold Mining company. The property was lost to that company by default in meeting payments. West of the Olive the Foley company owns the fee to G. 109 and G. 110, near Farrington station.

Early in the present year Charles McLean and Col. S. W. Ray, both of Port Arthur, did some preliminary work on a group of claims north of the Foley. They stated a crew of about fifteen men would be set to work, but deep snows came on and plans did not materialize. It is expected that work will be resumed this spring.

The Gehl Claims.

A week ago Charles Gehl passed through here for his group of claims near Milepost 54, west of Calm lake. Mr. Gehl and brothers were early day prospectors in this region. They have held these claims for years. During the depression in this district the brothers have been in Nevada, Colorado, Cobalt and Porcupine. But they can not keep away from their first love. Some work was done last July and now Charles Gehl is erecting camps and preparing to start a crew at exploration work. In about sixty days engineers will make a final examination in behalf of Pennsylvania capitalists. If the report is favorable, the property will change hands at a good figure. The Foley company owns property adjoining this group on the west and on the east.

A few months ago a company headed by H. A. C. Machin, M. P. P., of Kenora took over the old Mikado mine and started work. In the very beginning the superintendent, a California gold miner, cleaned up $1,200 in gold around the stamp mill, which bears out criticisms that competent millmen were not obtainable in days of former activity at all the mines in the Rainy River district. Work has proceeded at the Mikado all winter and some very satisfactory bullion shipments have been made. Development work has been steadily prosecuted and recently a rich shoot of ore was encountered. The face of a drift broke into ore that assayed $70 a ton and, a week later, values had increased to $82 a ton with free gold showing plentifully. Porcupine has many showings much poorer than that. The Mikado has an actual bullion production record of $500,000.

There is a fine activity in Van Horne township, six miles from Dryden, northerly from here. Those familiar with the Porcupine region say that the Van Horne belt is similar to Porcupine in many ways. It is stated that several Porcupine men plan to visit the Van Horne belt this spring. A prominent German company, now operating in South Africa and Australia, already has representatives in the field and is credited with having taken an option on one property.

Jim Stevenson recently brought $2,000 worth of bullion to Wabigoon from the Laurentian mine. This property produced $100,000 under the regime of Anthony Blum but, through entanglements in the courts, now is idle. Mr. Stevenson swept up enough wasted gold around the stamp mill to give him the bullion mentioned.

John S. Cramer, representing a Detroit company, recently visited Dryden after a two weeks' visit at the League camp. A small prospecting mill soon will be installed.

Messrs. R. Wachman and J. K. Moore of Detroit, representing the Kenora-Cobalt Mining company, recently arrived at Dryden and will visit the company's property adjoining the Redeemer mine.

Like Beltrami Seed Corn.

Bemidji, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—That Beltrami county seed corn is being recognized by the farmers of the southern part of the state was made evident yesterday, when George Stebbins of Le Sueur purchased five bushels of seed corn of C. O. Godbout, a farmer residing a few miles from Bemidji. Mr. Stebbins stated he was sorry he could not secure more of the corn, as he had much faith in it.

ON THE IRON RANGES

AWAITING WORD FROM CARNEGIE

Eveleth Library to Proceed No Further Until Ironmaster Is Heard From.

Eveleth, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The library board will wait until word has been received from Chairman George A. Whitman concerning his success in inducing Andrew Carnegie to raise his $15,000 offer to $25,000, before holding the next meeting. Mr. Whitman is now in the East and will visit New York soon, where he will call upon the ironmaster. Meanwhile the directors are working on the site for the proposed library and the majority of the members are in favor of the plot of ground opposite the Fayal plot on Pierce street. The lot is in the rear of the Murphy-Door-Flynn fee office, and a committee of the board has already commenced work to include the fee owners to allow them use of the tract of land for library purposes.

Members of the school board are working upon a site for the proposed $60,000 eight-room primary building in the Adams district. The favorite plot of ground lies opposite the Adams kindergarten, and is owned by the fee interests. The representatives of the fee owners will be requested to lease or donate the land.

TAKE LITTLE ONES TO ORPHANS' HOME

Children of Eveleth Woman Sent to Jail Are Cared for By State.

Eveleth, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The three small children of Mrs. Carl Starana, ranging in years from 2 to 9, were taken to Owatonna today by Humane Officer McKircher of Duluth, where they will become state charges. Their mother was recently taken to Duluth to serve a sentence in the county jail on a statutory charge. The father of the unfortunate children deserted the family a year ago, and it is has been impossible to locate him.

Breaks From Virginia Jail.

The local police have been requested to locate the whereabouts of Ernest Carlson, a well-known character here, who after being sentenced by Judge Prince to serve ninety days for vagrancy, escaped from the Virginia jail, where he was lodged prior to being taken to Duluth.

EVELETH AWAITS POTATO SPECIAL

Eveleth, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—All is in readiness here for the potato special, tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 and a large attendance is assured the promoters of the agricultural attraction. Special interest is being attached to the appearance of A. B. Hostetter of Duluth, C. E. Brown of Elk River, Minn., and H. J. Hopkins of Duluth, as they have spoken here at other agricultural gatherings. Two sessions will be held here, one from 1:30 to 6 p. m. and the other from 7:30 to 10 p. m. The Commercial club members are taking an active interest in the arrival of the special and have interested many farmers of this vicinity who will surely be present to hear the speakers. The farmers have also been requested to bring specimens of potatoes grown on their farms and it is expected that many spuds will be added to the already large collection on display.

LODGER CLAIMS HE WAS STRUCK

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pete Sega complained to the police last night that he had been assaulted by four men, about midnight, as he came downstairs from the room he had rented for the night at 101 Pine street, and cut over the eye and bruised. Ben Duros has been arrested, charged with being one of his assailants. The room is over a saloon in which a fight occurred about two weeks ago.

Nina Nelaurki, a married woman charged in municipal court today with having had illicit relations with Martin Gusvich and Mike Schabo, was fined $55.50. The men were fined $9.50.

MILL CITY TO HIBBING.

Range Automobilist Makes First Trip of the Season.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—To Fred M. Smith, a local automobilist, belongs the distinction of having made the first trip this spring in a machine from Minneapolis to Hibbing. Leaving Minneapolis at 4 o'clock Duluth was reached in six hours and forty-five minutes. The distance from Duluth to Hibbing was covered in the remarkably good time, considering the weather, of five hours. No difficulties were encountered, the machine surmounting every obstacle with ease.

Between Minneapolis and Duluth the roads were dry and in very fair condition, but between Duluth and Hibbing the road was wet and muddy.

JUDGE BRADY IS 43.

Hibbing Judge Celebrates His Birthday, Being Congratulated.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.) — Judge Thomas F Brady of the municipal court celebrated his 43rd birthday yesterday and was the recipient of many good wishes for the occasion and many more to follow. The judge is an old-timer in Hibbing and one of the most popular men in town, having been especially enthusiastic in all the athletic events, both baseball and other sports for many years.

TESTING WATER FROM THE LAKES

State Board of Health Is Examining Liquid Used at Marble.

Marble, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. H. A. Whittaker of the state board of health has been here taking samples of the water from the Panasa chain of lakes and Mud lake.

These samples will be tested at the state laboratory for the purpose of ascertaining their purity and to decide the question of whether the sewerage, when village sewer mains are completed, will contaminate the water. The sewer system drains into Mud lake and the theory has been advanced that the water of that and the adjoining lakes, the Panasa chain, will be unfit for use. After the sewer has been in operation samples of the water will again be taken and compared with those taken recently and thus they will be able to tell whether the sewerage affects them. In any event, this will not interfere with the city water, as that is obtained from a drift in the Hill mine.

BREITUNG ELECTION.

Result of Second Ballot Contest in Vermilion Range Township.

Tower, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The second election held in the township of Breitung, because the first election was declared void, resulted as follows: Supervisor, Joseph Speehan, 77; Isaac Elndal, 47. Town clerk, Oscar Hanson, 125. Assessor, W. C. Finnigan, 77; Matt Cundy, 45. Justice of the peace, J. Hewitt, 123. Treasurer, J. Williams, 123. Constable, J. Poger, 78; W. Erajc, 45.

The only result of the second election, in addition to making the title of the new officers legal, was to give all the winning nominees more votes than they received on March 7.

HIBBING GREETS WEST.

Popular Mining Official and Bride Warmly Greeted.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The arrival rather unexpectedly here last night of Supt. J. W. West of the Oliver Iron Mining company for the Hibbing district and his bride, formerly Miss Spicer, was made the occasion for a spontaneous and impromptu greeting from his friends. As the Missabe train from Duluth pulled in whistles and sirens sounded calling every one into the streets to learn what was the matter.

The newly married couple came in a private car after having spent a very extensive honeymoon tour through Canada and the United States. The return of the popular mining man was quite unexpected, the date being supposed to be April 4, but Mr. West stole a march on his friends and turned up before preparations for a formal welcome could be carried out. The moment the train arrived the news spread and every mine and engine whistle took up the sound and literally shrieked a welcome. Hundreds of people rung up central and asked "Where is the fire?"—and heard the much better news, "No fire—but Mr. West has returned with his bride."

TO INSPECT ACCOUNTS.

New Village of Alice Will Have Its Books Audited.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new council of the village of Alice at its first meeting at Rudeis's hall adopted a resolution appointing J. L. Stewart and M. P. Walch to audit the books of the village for the past year. Those present at the meeting were President Barratt, Recorder Wilstrand and Trustees Felt and Wegeran. Trustee Mewhinney is at his home sick with erysipelas. No other business was transacted by the council.

Owing to the fact that the legal proceedings begun nearly a year ago calling in question the incorporation of the village have not yet been settled, little business has been done for several months by the Alice council and it is likely that the new council will not do much until the legality of the organization of the village is finally decided by the courts.

WINNERS TALK ABOUT FUTURE

Two Harbors Socialists Discuss Division of Offices in Mayor's Gift.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Elated over their victory in the late city election when they carried away the banner prizes, the Socialists local, last night, held a regular lovefeast in the courthouse and discussed municipal matters principally bearing on the filling of offices within the gift of the mayor.

The band that serenaded the victors in the election was voted $10. During the discussion of the fitness of some of the present office holders it developed there was quite a sentiment in favor of making changes. The question of removing the present chief of police attracted the most attention. No one questioned his honesty, but it was claimed popular sentiment will demand his removal.

Mayor Elect Commits Himself.

Mayor-elect Halliday said: "I have nothing personally against the man, but it is a foregone conclusion that there will be a new chief of police under the Socialist administration."

In the matter of street commissioner, it was acknowledged that a great deal of economy might be secured by the appointment of a competent man. Martin Peterson in all probability will be the next treet commissioner. Some complaints were offered against the present water and light collector, who is also city clerk, but no action was taken by the meeting.

It is the purpose of the Socialist administration to cut down expenses, yet at the same time pay a fair price for a fair day's wages. It was decided to try to cut the salary of city attorney down to $50 a month and that the present city attorney ought to be removed. L. D. Rose proposed that the city hire a business manager to overlook the affairs of the whole city. A great saving might be secured in this way, he said. No action was taken upon his suggestion.

The next Socialist meeting will be held next Sunday evening at 8 p. m., in the council chambers. The Socialists have changed the date of the meeting from Monday to Sunday because the council meetings occurr on Monday and because they want the instructions of the local to be clear in the minds of their official at the council meetings. What this local decides then will probably be carried into effect.

PREPARING FOR FREE DELIVERY

Two Harbors Council Takes Final Steps By Having All Places Numbered.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The council met last evening in one of its last regular meetings. Six of the aldermen were present. Evans, Elbin, Owens, Watts, Warner, and Christensen. Chief of Police Paulson presented his report for the sale of house numbers. The house numbers were sold at actual cost, and 2,591 numbers were sold. Practically every house in the city is now numbered in preparation for the installation of the free delivery system.

In the matter of the sale of the bond issue of $5,500, but one bid was received. This was from the First State bank of this city through Peter Western, assistant cashier, and called for 6 per cent interest. Since the ordinance called only for 5 per cent interest, this bid could not be accepted and the hearing was extended till next Saturday.

The new pump house addition was also discussed. Plans had been drawn by George W. Watts and these were examined. The plans call for an 18 by 20 foot addition to the east side of the station to provide for the installation of the new pump recently purchased of La Vaque & Webster of Duluth, which must be installed by June 1, 1911. The last meeting of the old council will be held next Saturday evening, April 1.

DEBATE ON THURSDAY.

Winning Two Harbors Team Will Meet Moorhead Talkers.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local high school debating team which defeated the Staples high school on March 17, will debate next Thursday evening with the Moorhead high school at Two Harbors. The Moorhead team is probably the strongest in the state, winning the state championship last year. Both teams are of the Minnesota State Debating league and this debate will be under its auspices. The question for debate is: "Resolved, that the cities of Minnesota should adopt a commission form of government." Moorhead will take the affirmative, while Two Harbors will defend the negative. Great interest is being manifested in these high school debates since Two Harbors has always been victorious. This is the semi-final debate for the state championship. The local team is composed of Edwin Strand, Leroy Pegelow and Carl Olson.

The food sale by the local high school girls brought in over $12, about half of which was clear profit. The girls expect to make an excursion to the Duluth flour mills some Saturday in the near future.

CHISHOLM NOTES.

Chisholm, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Warreo Grosso, who has been running a jewelry store in the building with his brother on Lake street is to open a store of his own on Maple street.

The members of the Chisholm high school band are to render a band concert in the high school auditorium on Friday evening, April 7. The purpose of the concert is to raise money to purchase uniforms for the band members.

Mack's men's clothing store next door to the First National bank building, is to retire from business.

Messrs. Archie McFadden and Ed Lockhart will leave Chisholm to conduct the store in Hibbing as they have in Chisholm.

EVELETH COMMERCIAL CLUB PLANS IMPORTANT MEET.

Eveleth, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The regular meeting of the Commercial club to be held Thursday evening at the city hall is being awaited with much interest as many reports and vital subjects are to be considered. The civic improvement committee has recommended the paving of all alleys between Douglas and Adams avenues and Jones and Monroe streets, the installation of a public park, uniform boulevards, establishment of a park board and installation of a market place for the farmers. The members are also considering other improvements, which will be acted upon Thursday.

New Bank Starts Off Well.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The opening of the Security State Bank of Hibbing yesterday was a success, being largely attended by patrons and friends of the officers of the bank. The bank has been doing business in its temporary quarters in the P. H. Reed Real Estate company offices for some time and is already handling enough business to more than cover expenses and is steadily increasing in volume of transactions.

Marble Baseball Election.

Marble, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the annual meeting of the Marble Baseball association, the following officers were elected to guide the destinies of the organization for the ensuing year: Albert Lieberman, president; A. E. Perrier, Durant Barchley, W. J. Green, Edward Logan, board of managers; Stafford Curran, secretary; William Joy, treasurer; John B. Michela, manager. The president of the association is also a member of the board of directors.

CANADIAN SWINDLER IS CAPTURED

appeared from Montreal last October. His stock operations there are said to have excited the suspicion of the authorities and a Montreal newspaper. Sheldon maintained that he was doing a legitimate business and offered to submit his books to the crown attorney for complete investigation. On Oct. 13 he suddenly disappeared before the officials had had an opportunity to investigate further. It was then learned he had closed his accounts at several banks.

Sheldon came direct to this city. The prisoner is of distinguished appearance. He is 58 years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighs 200 pounds.

After asking about the extradition treaty between the United States and Canada, Sheldon said: "Well, I am the man wanted and I guess the best thing for me to do is to waive all extradition rights."

Following Sheldon's departure from Montreal a newspaper which had questioned his financial transactions offered a reward of $10,000 for his arrest.

About three years ago Sheldon opened an office in Montreal and carried on an investment and brokerage business. He advertised extensively. For a time, it is said, he paid from 25 to 50 per cent on the investments monthly. In a short time money came pouring into his office from all parts of Canada.

The fact that large dividends had been paid to a number of his customers attracted widespread attention and, it is said, investors fell over each other to give Sheldon their money. Agents were employed in many towns and cities to solicit and collect money for him on a 10 per cent commission. About this time the newspaper became suspicious and commenced an investigation. For a time Sheldon fought the newspaper through advertisements in other papers. Then, it is said, when the authorities were about to examine his books, he disappeared.

CYCLONES SWEEP OVER THE SOUTH

high wind which at times blew with cyclonic force, swept over the northern section of this city shortly after 6 o'clock last night, leaving destruction and death in its wake.

Buildings were demolished, houses unroofed and the New York division of the Pennsylvania railroad was put out of commission temporarily by the demolition of its tower at Holmesburg and station at Tacony, cutting off all telegraphic communication. New York trains are being routed via the Trenton cut-off, which branch of the Pennsylvania company was not in the path of the high winds.

Tacony, the section where the greatest damage occurred, was completely cut off from the rest of the city. Telegraph, telephone and trolley wires were blown to the ground and it was hours before the details of the catastrophe reached the central section of the city where the storm did not appear.

Station Loses Roof.

The police station at Tacony was demolished. The evening squad of policemen were preparing to leave for their beats when the roof of the building was blown off and every window broken by the sudden force of wind. At the Tacony station of the Pennsylvania railroad, an unidentified man was killed when a portion of the structure was blown away. Many houses in this section were unroofed or completely demolished.

In the manufacturing section of Kensington, in the northeast toward Tacony, several factories were destroyed, trolley wires blown down and roofs of houses hurled to the center of the streets. A corner section of the three-story brick factory of John Blood & Bro., manufacturers of woolens, at Trenton and Allegheny avenues, more than 100 feet in width, was torn away, wrecking much valuable machinery. Three hundred and fifty men who were employed here, it is said, will be out of work for at least two weeks. The factory of the Enterprise Cooperage company, nearby, was struck by lightning, but the flames were extinguished before much damage had been done.

Germantown Hit.

In the fashionable section of Germantown the storm also caused havoc. The cupola of St. Michael's church at High and Boynton streets was blown off. Jones' hall, at Germantown avenue and Sharpnack street, also lots its roof, as did the factory of the American Metal company at Herman street and Germantown avenue.

One Killed at Girard.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 28.—A wind storm throughout Northeastern Ohio, a portion of West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania late yesterday caused at least one fatality, injured a number of persons and resulted in heavy financial loss. At Girard, Ohio, an unknown man was killed by falling wires. Steubenville, Ohio, was struck by the gale. The roof was blown off the county infirmary and the walls of several other buildings were blown down. In this city the wind reached a velocity of fifty-two miles an hour. Many wires, bill boards and plate glass windows suffered. In the country districts the wind played havoc with barns and fences.

Woman, Don't Let Husband Know All
By MADAME VERON

(From Chicago Inter Ocean)

"Don't disillusion your husband altogether. Don't let him know every secret of your toilette. Conceal from him the processes by which you retain your beauty. Nothing is so disenchanting to a man as to see his wife's face nightly smeared with cold cream. It is disgusting—and unnecessary.

"Any woman ought to keep her husband guessing all the time. He ought to have to say to his friends: 'Well, my wife is the most amazing problem I know about. She always looks about 16, and she neither paints nor powders.'

"You can do this if you will dissolve a small original package of mayatone in a half-pint of witch hazel and massage the face, neck and arms with this solution three or four times a week. You will shortly find you have a lovely, soft complexion, fair and dainty, without spot or blemish—and then the best of it all is that mayatone prevents the growth of hair and is absolutely harmless to the most delicate skin. Make the solution yourself.

"Be beautiful, and don't let him know how you do it."

cisco I. Madero, Sr., and Gustav Madero, respectively father and brother of the Mexican insurrecto leader, Francisco I. Madero, Jr., arrived here today. They went at once to the house of Alfonso Madero, whose home is here and where the local junta meets. The Maderos said that the reunion was purely a personal affair, but the impression prevails that matters of moment are to be considered in connection with peace proposals.

Slaughtered Federals.

El Paso, Tex., March 28.—Mail advices from Alamos, Sonora, confirm the report that revolutionists, led by Loya, slaughtered every Federal official of the town of Guazparas, near the Sonora line in Chihuahua, when they took the town. All were placed in jail and shot. A young telegraph operator alone escaped. He fell with the others beneath the dead and crawled out twelve hours later and made his way barefooted to Chinipas, forty miles away.

De La Barra at St. Louis.

St. Louis, March 28.—Francisco Leon de la Barra, recently appointed minister to foreign relations of Mexico, who arrived here last night on his way to Mexico City, left his hotel early today to tour the business section of the city. He reiterated his intention of departing for the Mexican capital at 8:30 o'clock tonight. He refused to discuss the prospects of peace in Mexico, putting off his questioners with the statement that he is not in touch with the affairs there.

"There is one thing I would like to say," Senor de la Barra added: "It is reported that Senor Inclan has been chosen as my successor at Washington. Of that I have not been officially told, but if it is true, the choice is a fine one. He is a man of intelligence, of judgment, and of learning."

Non-Combatants Flee.

El Paso, Tex., March 28.—Thousands of non-combatants in Northern Mexico are struggling to get out of the country, it was reported today by refugees who have been able to reach the border. Many women and children have no means of transportation. Others are afraid to attempt to make a living in a country foreign to them and still others are restrained by the fear that their property will fall into the hands of the insurrectos.

Seventeen families on the border near El Paso today applied to customs officials to be allowed to bring their horses and household goods into the United States. They pleaded that they were tired of fighting to preserve their property at the risk of their lives.

Although business in Juarez seemingly continues as usual, many families are moving to the American side of the river because of persistent rumors that Juarez eventually will be attacked by the insurrectos.

Rebels Alarmed.

Mexicali, Mex., March 28.—News that Simon Berthold was wounded in a fight with federals near Alamo, together with the information that the government force at Tecate had been doubled, again created alarm in the rebel garrison at Mexicali.

Gen. Leyva dispatched twenty-five mounted men under Capt. Francisco Quijada to hold Picachos pass against the possible advance of the federals from Tecate or the approach of the main army by way of the west side of Laguna Salada.

The fate of Berthold is uncertain. The information that he had been wounded in the leg came as a personal message to Leyva. It is said that one rebel and four federals were killed in a skirmish between scouts.

Many complaints are coming in of depredations on the part of starving rebels. It is said they have raided herds of cattle belonging to Americans and that the latter, owning extensive plantations, are preparing a petition to send to Washington, demanding that the Mexican government speedily put down the insurrection, or that the United States intervene.

Rabago at Chihuahua.

El Paso, Mex., March 28.—Dispatches from Chihuahua City today say that Gen. Rabago, with 1,100 federal troops, has reached the city after having been on the march from Juarez since Feb. 24. Rabago went south to repair the burned bridges of the Mexican National railway. Most of the bridges have been burned behind him and Chihuahua City is now said to be well fortified and commanded by 3,000 federals. It is reported a detachment of federals soon will be started northward to find and engage Madero.

The seeds are to be planted this spring and the results will be judged next fall and prizes awarded. The seeds are furnished by the agricultural department of the Duluth Commercial club.

Two Sentenced at Ashland.

Ashland, Wis., March 28.—Arnold Kleist was sentenced to a year in Waupun by Judge Parish and John Hill will serve a two-years' term at Green Bay for robbery. Hill robbed a man by the name of Kemp in Glidden and Kleist stole a gold watch. Both pleaded guilty.

SURGEON IS EMPLOYED

Police Will Have Physician Within Call for Accident Cases.

Pubiic Hearing to Be Held on Woodland Trunk Sewer Question.

After years of consideration, the city council last night authorized the employment of a police surgeon to take care of injured men who come to the attention of the police force.

The move is considered a big step forward, and the forerunner of the hiring of a police surgeon who will be permanently located at the police station to dress injuries of the men who are brought into the station, and to accompany the patrol wagon or the city ambulance whenever it is sent out on an accident call.

The salary authorized is $50 a month. For this consideration the man who gets the appointment, who will be Dr. Ignatius J. Murphy of the health department, will hold himself in readiness to answer any calls which may be made upon him by the officials of the police department. He will not maintain an office there, but will keep the police informed as to his whereabouts so that they can summon him on short notice. Dr. Murphy has been in charge of the contagious diseases of the city for several months.

The property owners along Fifth street between Fourteenth avenue east and Woodland avenue argued before the council last evening as to the nature of the improvements which shall be made on the avenue. Several of them wanted one block paved with asphalt, contending that it was a waste of money to put in gravel, as it would last but a comparatively short time. The others wanted gravel all the way through and the work done as soon as possible. The council passed a resolution stating that it was the sense of that body that the board of public works proceed with the improvement, grading and gravelling the avenue in the limits specified by the petition.

The committee on drains, sewers and sanitation gave notice of a public hearing on the proposed Woodland trunk sewer to be held at the city hall next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The property owners have declared themselves in favor of the sewer planned by Prof. Frederick Bass. The city engineer has sent a communication to the council in which he recommends a much larger sewer, which he thinks is necessary to meet the future growth of the district through which the sewer will pass. He says that the larger sewer will have nine times the capacity of the other, and believes that despite the difference in the cost, it would be a profitable investment. The indications are that there will be quite a fight over the proposition before the sewer is finally ordered by the council.

The ordering of the paving of Second avenue east was laid over another week. The petition calls for the improvement between Michigan and Fourth streets. Some of the property owners want the block between Third and Fourth streets eliminated, and others state that if this is to be left out, the block between Second and Third streets should be included in the same resolution.

The council granted the transfer of the saloon license of T. Pinsonnault from 1315 West Michigan street to 5516 Raleigh street by a vote of 13 to 3. Petitions for and against the location of another saloon in that vicinity were received. It was stated that some of the business in that locality opposed the saloon on the ground that five saloons are now doing business in that locality and that another is not needed.

Edith Blackwood filed notices of damages for $3,000 against the city because of injuries said to have been received through a defective sidewalk on East Second street.

James Cummings sent in a communication calling attention to the fact that the ordinance which requires underground wires on Lake avenue between Second street and the canal is not being enforced.

The contract for furnishing the city's printed supplies was granted to the Greer Printing company, whose bid was $699. The high bid was $850.

The water and gas extensions, a list of which was submitted by the water and light department, was approved last night with the exception of the so-called boulevard extension, which is intended to supply the upper hillside district. That was laid over for further consideration.

On motion of Alderman Hogan the water and light board was requested to furnish the council with a copy of report said to have recently been submitted by a hydro-electric engineer, who was employed by the board in an advisory capacity.

An ordinance was introduced giving the owners of the Duluth ball club permission to use the end of Fifteenth street, which now runs into the water.

The resolution directing the board of public works to proceed with the improvement of the Hartley road between Victoria and Stornoway streets, about three-quarters of a mile in length, was laid over until next week.

An ordinance was introduced authorizing the issuance of $30,000 of certificates of indebtedness in anticipation of the collection of the storm sewer and street intersection fund. The money is needed to enable the city to proceed with street improvements.

* * *

A rsolution was passed stating that unless the Soo Line lives up to its contract relative to West Duluth improvements, the council will proceed to enforce the provisions of the ordinance.

REWARD MONEY CUT UP.

Litigation Over Prize for Capturing Bandit Frankhauser Settled.

Moorhead, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The long drawn out contest over the reward offered for the capture of Frankhauser, the escaped Montana highwayman, who was arrested at Barnesville, Clay county, has finally been settled after being sent back to Judge Taylor for a revision of his decision. The final decision provides that 55 per cent of the reward be paid to the parties in the state of Washington who made the original arrest. Mrs. Ole K. Shermoen gets $480, and the balance, $1,770, is divided between Sheriff Whaley, Chief of Police Forsythe of Barnesville and Detective Murnane of St. Paul.

TO WORK FOR DOCK BILL

Mayor Will Go Before Senate Committee to Explain Project.

Says Some Opposition Seems to Have Developed to Plan.

Mayor M. B. Cullum last evening notified the city council that there are reports from St. Paul which indicate that there is opposition to the bill now before the legislature which will give Duluth control of the dock property owned by the state in the vicinity of the ore docks.

In view of the fact that the securing of a lease of this dock site, if it cannot be purchased on reasonable terms, is of the utmost importance to the city, the council last evening authorized Mayor Cullum to represent the city's interests before the senate committee which has the bill in its hands for consideration.

The mayor has been devoting a great deal of time to the proposed system of municipal docks for Duluth. He feels that it is almost imperative that the state property should be one of the units of the system. It is admirably located and is large enough to handle a vast amount of business once the necessary improvements are matle.

Mayor Cullum stated in the same letter that there are several other bills before the state legislature which merit close attention, some because of the good they do and others because of the harm they would do if passed. The mayor's communication follows:

"According to reports from St. Paul, in the matter of securing the state dock property, which is under discussion before the committee of the senate, there is a disposition from some sources to handicap this move. I have asked for a hearing before this committee; and it is, I think, of the utmost importance that they should thoroughly understand the purpose of the project.

"There is also a similar bill before the legislature in regard to control of public utilities by the municipalities. There has been an effort made on the part of several concerns to escape the adjusting of taxes, etc.; and I have been asked by the mayors of the two cities to join with them in fighting these measures; and also, to assist in getting through several bills which would be to great advantage to the municipality along these lines.

"I should like to have instructions from the council, or permission to go to St. Paul and assist in adjusting these matters."

PARSONAGE DYNAMITED.

Home of Dickinson, N. D., Minister Attacked Early Sunday.

Dickinson, N. D., March 28.—An attempt was made early Sunday morning to blow up the parsonage of the First Congregational church. A stick of dynamite was set off near the windows of a lower floor sleeping room, causing a terrific explosion, blowing the casings through the room and an open door and through the dining room adjoining, breaking out an entire window on the opposite side of the house and cracking a window in the house in the next yard.

Miss Margaret Tabor, aged 65, was asleep in the room and had a most miraculous escape. The window where the charge was placed was located in line with the open door and the bed was next to the wall. The debris covered the bed and floor, but the sleeping occupant of the room was uninjured.

A mysterious note, said to have been left on the church steps, is alleged to have indicated that the man whose life was sought was Rev. A. L. Watkins of the Methodist church, located two blocks further up the street.

Mr. Watkins has been identified with Enforcement league work in the western part of the state for several years. He is so well known here and so universally liked that it is regarded as impossible that there should be a plot against his life.

MUST DELAY STREET WORK

Pavements Should Not Be Laid Until Trenches Are Filled a Year.

City Engineer Recommends That Contemplated Improvements Be Postponed.

The importance of putting in sewer, water and gas pipes before pavements are laid was strongly emphasized last evening by City Engineer Thomas F. McGilvray, in a communication to the city council.

He said that the pavements are almost certain to settle over trenches if they are dug the same season the pavement is put down. He recommended that pavements contemplated for the present year be postponed another season and that in the meantime the necessary pipes be laid, with all needed connections.

The communication of the city engineer, with a list of pavements which he recommends be laid over until next year, is as follows:

"I wish to call your attention to the fact that pavements are practically certain to settle over trenches, if constructed the same season as the underground work. I would therefore recommend that wherever it is possible all underground work be done at once where paving is contemplated, and that the paving in all such places be postponed for one year.

"The following is a list of localities where paving is contemplated, in which underground work will also have to be done:

"Third alley, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth avenues east.

"Third alley, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth avenues west.

"Fifth street, between Fifteenth avenue east and Woodland avenue.

"Grand avenue, betweeen Fifty-fourth and Fifty-ninth avenues west.

"Sixth avenue west, between Michigan street and Mesaba avenue.

"Tenth avenue east, between Fourth and Sixth streets.

"Fourth street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-seventh avenues east.

"Fourth street, between Fourteenth and Twenty-third avenues east.

"Wyoming, Juniata and Glenwood streets, between Fifty-fourth and Sixtieth avenues east.

"Pittsburg avenue, between Second and Third avenues west."

REVOLUTIONIZE ZINC INDUSTRY

New Furnace Which Obviates the Course of Preparation.

Highland, Wis., March 28.—Within the last four months a new zinc furnace has been erected in Western Wisconsin that, it is said, will revolutionize the zinc mining industry. While the new process was split up into five separate patents at the request of the United States patent officials, it is simple and inexpensive, both for installation and operation.

The new furnace will treat the ore direct from the mine, without any concentration or roasting and without any separation, only crushed and properly mixed. Thus "spelter" or zinc oxide can be made at every mine. "Spelter" is the technical name for zinc cast in block form.

Western Wisconsin ores are nearly all sulphides, requiring treatment which gives off sulphur fumes which injure vegetation for miles around the plant. In the new process the sulphur is bound on lime, and hardly a trace of sulphur odor can be detected around the furnace.

The zinc is blown off or distilled off without sulphur gases, and collected in commercial form. The cost with the new process will be about 1 cent in fuel, chemicals and furnace labor proper, per pound of zinc recovered, not counting power, crusher and mining machinery which every mine must have, and thus all the expense of milling, concentrating, shipping and middleman are saved, and a higher percentage of zinc from "shabbier" ore—down to 5 per cent zinc—can be saved, and that without injury to adjoining property.

The refuse after the zinc is taken out can be used for cement for dams, roads, walls and mine supports, thus giving the miner values for all he mines. These furnaces will be inexpensive, one taking care of twenty tons of mine run in twenty-four hours, and costing only about $2,000 to install.

An unfortunate pump breakdown in the mine where the trial furnace was erected forced a temporary shutdown of the furnace.

Few medicines are of any benefit for rheumatism, but Mr. Sanders tells plainly what Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine did for it. Superior & Pittsburg and Calumet & Arizona Reports Out.

Big Ore Body in Junction Shaft of Former Company.

The report of the Superior & Pittsburg company, just made public, is highly satisfactory to stockholders because of the announcement that high grade bodies of copper ore of large extent have been opened up within the last year. The report of the Calumet & Arizona is not notable in any respect. The directors of the two companies officially confirm the completion of the merger plans.

The sensational developments in the exploration of Superior & Pittsburg ground materialized at the Junction shaft, which at the close of 1910 had been sunk to a depth of 1,774.5 feet. Exploratory work in both the south and north ore bodies was satisfactory.

Big Ore Bodies Found.

Concerning the big deposits of high grade ore that were developed, the report says:

"South of the shaft in the Oregon claim, there has been developed on the 1,300, 1,400 and 1,500-foot levels what is probably the largest and richest body of sulphide ore ever found in Bisbee. This ore extends north and south with a dip towards the east. On the 1,300-foot level it has been proved to be 415 feet long and on the 1,500-foot level 375 feet long. On the 1,400-foot level, where the ore was first found, development has been slower owing to faulting of the ore body, but so far the ore has been opened up for 275 feet in length. On the 1,300-foot level the ore averages about twenty feet in width, on the 1,400, cross-cuts show it from 15 to 40 feet in width, and on the 1,500-foot level the width has been shown to be 55 to 100 feet in various places. We estimate that this ore body averages about 10 per cent in copper.

"In addition to these big ore bodies, several other stretches of ore have been cut on the 1,500-foot level, but have not been developed.

"A gratifying feature about the ore bodies in this part of the camp is that owing to their physical characteristics, it should be possible to mine them without the close timbering that has been necessary in the older mines, allowing a much more favorable mining cost than has heretofore been attained. The development of these large ore bodies around the Junction shaft and of the very favorable-looking ground in their neighborhood, considered in connection with the good showing at the Briggs shaft, makes all the ground between the Junction and Briggs shafts very attractive as a probable ore bearing area. Another pleasing feature of the sulphide ore bodies at the Junction end of the camp is their very satisfactory gold and silver values, which on the 1,500-foot level average about $2.20 per ton."

At the Briggs shaft only low-grade ore had been found at the close of the year, but the directors expect better ore at depth. The oxide ore in the Granville claim continued to open well until the Cole shaft was shut down in the interest of economy. Exploratory work at the older shafts was satisfactory.

The production last year was 13,067 tons of refined copper and $234,997.90 in gold and silver. Receipts from the sale of bullion amounted to $3,444,757.57. The financial statement shows $1,349,642.23 in excess of liabilities, which are $136,673.50. Total receipts amounted to $3,468,372.54 and total expenditures $3,172,908.18, leaving a cash balance on Dec. 31 of $295,464.

The Irish Mag shaft of the Calumet & Arizona was put down to a depth of 1,395 feet. No new ore bodies were opened up. The development on the 950-foot level of the Oliver shaft opened up small areas of rich oxide. The large sulphide body on the 1,350-foot level had not been found on the 1,450-foot level. A new body of sulphide ore was opened up in the Senator claim. Sunday work was discontinued Aug. 7. The property is in good physical condition.

The company is operating the Superior mine near Lordsburg, N. M. The ore shipments averaged 55 tons daily to Douglas. Gross values averaged $6.20 a ton. The work is done under contract. A working bond on the Superior mine was taken in October.

The Courtland exploration has been discouraging, but it is believed that south and west of the Germania shaft there is good mineral ground that will justify developments. The Germania and April Fool shafts were closed down when the report was written. Development work at the April Fool was stopped more than a year ago. The Copper Giant exploration work has not proceeded since last May.

The production of the Calumet & Arizona in 1910 was 14,015 tons of refined copper. The silver and gold values amounted to $265,364.53. The financial statement shows assets of $3,498,211.25 in excess of liabilities, which are $208,562.15. Total receipts were $5,666,120.50 and expenditures were $3,718,551.03, leaving a cash balance on hand Dec. 31 of $1,946,569.47. Sales of bullion netted $4,106,393.88.

John C. Greenway, general manager, is making an exhaustive report of the smelter problems of the Calumet & Arizona. His investigation will determine whether it will be necessary to build a new smelter or whether the present plant can be remodelled for permanent use.

Copper recoveries of the Calumet & Arizona amounted to 4.175 per cent, wet, and 4.614 per cent, dry. From the Courtland district the recoveries were 3.674 per cent, wet, and 4.282 per cent, dry.

A WOMAN IS AS OLD AS SHE LOOKS

Thousands of women owe their youthful appearance to Newbro's Herpicide. No matter what may be her age, a woman with a nice head of hair, hair that is soft, glossy and fluffy, always looks younger than she is.

Herpicide makes the hair beautiful with that sheen and shimmer which is so attractive and always indicates a healthy, natural growth. It keeps the scalp free from dandruff and the hair from falling out.

There are remedies said to be "just as good," but Herpicide is the genuine original dandruff germ destroyer.

Hurricane .....65 and above
H. W. RICHARDSON, Local Forecaster.

The predicted moderation in temperature did not arrive last night and the mercury dropped to 13 deg. again this morning. The wind, which caused the principal complaint against yesterday morning's weather conditions, died down during yesterday, for which all were thankful. More moderate temperatures and snow flurries are promised for tonight.

Warm weather prevailed a year ago today, the high temperature being 70 deg.

The sun rose this morning at 5:55 and it will set at 6:31 this evening, giving twelve hours and thirty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Areas of low pressure central over Kansas, Saskatchewan and off the North Atlantic coast caused snow or rain in North Atlantic states, Eastern Canada, the Lake region, Colorado, North Dakota, Western Manitoba and Eastern Saskatchewan during the last twenty-four hours, besides higher temperature throughout the West and Northwest. The Southwestern high pressure in its advance to Gulf states resulted in decidedly lower temperature over all districts east of the Mississippi river. Conditions indicate rather unsettled weather at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 28.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Upper Michigan—Unsettled with probably snow tonight or Wednesday; slightly warmer tonight.

Wisconsin—Snow this afternoon or tonight; Wednesday unsettled.

Minnesota—Unsettled tonight with probably snow flurries in east portion; Wednesday cloudy.

Iowa—Unsettled weather with snow in east and colder in west portions tonight; Wednesday generally fair.

North and South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; colder tonight.

Montana—Fair tonight and Wednesday; colder in southwest and northeast portions tonight.

Shippers' forecast—Protect thirty-six-hour shipments of perishables against temperatures 20 deg. to 30 deg. in the Eastern Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Michigan Copper country.

GULLS DRIVE FLOCK OF DUCKS FROM THE HARBOR

Flying low, so that the whirr of their wings could be plainly heard as they crossed Park Point in the uncertain light of early morning, a flock of ducks, probably 100 in number, fluttered down to the open places in St. Louis bay this morning, and with quacks and much splashing about announced that spring really had arrived.

Wherever the ice has rotted and small pools of open water showed, there the birds could be seen, ducking about in the water and walking on the ice.

Presently a big white gull wheeled out of the ship canal and came floating down the bay. The gull hovered for a moment over the ducks, then plunged sharply down into one of the "puddles" and struck right and left at the invaders of his territory. Loud cries from the first gull to arrive at the pools were answered from different parts of the bay, and one after another half a dozen gulls arrived from a many directions.

Screaming and striking, the gulls did their best to crowd the ducks to flight, but without success. It was noticed that the ducks were far better walkers on the ice than were the gulls, and pursuit there availed the gulls nothing.

The arrival of many other gulls, all of which splashed into the water with one accord, sent two of the smaller birds into the air, but they wheeled and returned.

At last, however, ever increasing numbers of gulls had the desired effect, and the ducks, heading off across the bay, alighted half a mile off shore in open water. Hardly had they lighted, however, when the gulls collectively arose and started in pursuit, but the battle between the birds was too far away to be followed by the onlookers.

Green Room Gossip.

Thursday evening will be the grand opening of George M. Cohan's song show, "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway." Some one one asked if the Mack-Leones were going to have a real chorus. They say they are. It will be a Cohanesque chorus, moving, wriggling, dancing and using up a lot of energy during the course of the show.

Willard Mack ought to bring down the house when he sings "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway." One of the actors was gently kidding Mack about his voice. "Frank Daniels, Eddie Foy, Jimmy Powers or De Wolf Hopper can't really sing," replied Mack. "Just give me a chance."

He was promptly advised that he would get a chance, all right. Miss Leone will also sing, really sing, and James Rennie will have several songs in his part.

The preparations for the Cohan piece, which will be given through special permission of the author, have been longer and more thorough than the rehearsals for any other piece that the Mack-Leones have put on.

There is a man at the Orpheum this week who wrote an entire musical comedy, words and music, and yet can not read a note of music. What is more, the musical comedy was a decided success and ran for no less than four years.

The man is Tom Waters, who appears in a monologue and a pianologue, and the musical comedy was "The Mayor of Laughland."

Mr. Waters is one of the well-known comedians of the musical comedy field, although he is better known in the East than in the West. He made his principal reputation in "The Mayor of Laughland" and in "Comin' Through the Rye." He was seen in Duluth at the Lyceum in the latter production two years ago.

Mr. Waters also wrote the numbers for his present act.

"I have been in vaudeville since I quit the role of Nott the Tailor in 'Comin' Through the Rye,'" said Mr. Waters, "and I like it so well that I hope to stick for some years to come.

TOM WATERS.

Vaudeville is good enough for me. It is steady work and good pay."

Comedy predominates in the show at the Empress this week and the big laugh getter for the week is Fred Karno's "A Night in an English Music Hall." This is one of the big features that has been promised the Duluth Empress patrons and it is making a big hit with each audience. This act is practically a stage upon a stage. During the action of the piece a whole bill of vaudeville, of the English order, is presented, and the intoxicated person who occupies a box quickly shows his approval or disapproval of each act as it appears, and the manner in which he does this simply convulses the audience. It is difficult to attempt to describe this act, but as a laugh producer it ranks with the best that has ever appeared at the Empress. The other acts on the bill are up to the standard of the Sullivan & Considine road shows.

Large crowds are being attracted to the Odeum theater this week to see the new feature film, "The Wedding Bell." It is a story of the sweatshop and the tenements in a large city. The film tells a story that is in every way true to life. It shows how disease is contracted in the crowded and insanitary tenements. The story finally ends happily when the owner, who did not know of the conditions, does his best to remedy the evil.

Mr. Furniss, the manager of the Odeum theater, had some trouble in obtaining this film. It is in line with his policy to show pictures that will help to better living conditions by pointing out what the evils are.

Other films shown are the "Code of Honor" and "Teaching Dad to Like Her." Mr. Lenz sings "The Best Place of All."

The program at the Lyric is thoroughly up to the standard. The feature film is "Red Eagle." This picture is followed by dramatic and humorous pictures. Mr. Mistachkin sings "Shine On, Mr. Moon."

Warning to Railroad Men.

Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroading. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the T. & O. C. R'y. He says: "Twenty years of railroading left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." Sold by all druggists.

PRESIDENT PENNINGTON TO ATTEND DINNER.

President E. Pennington of the Soo line and other officials of the same road will be guests of the public affairs committee of the Duluth Commercial club at a dinner to be given soon. The date has not been set but the committee is in communication with President Pennington and he is expected to set a time for the affair. The invitation was first extended when Mr. Pennington was preparing for a trip abroad and he asked that the dinner be postponed until his return.

Ship Abandoned.

Washington, March 28.—An abandoned ship riding out on her beam ends was reported today in the lane of the coast liners about 140 miles due east off Jacksonville, Fla. Revenue cutters are searching for the derelict to destroy it.

EXISTS ON PAPER ONLY

New Independent Steel Company Evolved By Cleveland Newspaper.

Duluth Men Deny Any Knowledge of Existence of Plans.

The new independent steel corporation launched by the Duluth News Tribune this morning, exists principally in the mind of a bright reporter on the Cleveland Leader, according to the Duluth men who are supposed to be connected with it.

According to the published report, Thomas F. Cole, Joseph B. Cotton, G. A. Tomlinson, Charles M. Schwab, W. B. Dixon and W. E. Corey were planning to form a new independent steel corporation to fight the United States Steel corporation. All that was holding back the plans was the supreme court decision in the American Tobacco and Standard Oil cases. Mr. Tomlinson was to furnish the vessel line, and the others were to merge their iron holdings and establish a new corporation.

Mr. Tomlinson, when seen this morning, denied that his vessel lines were to have any such connections.

"As far as the vessel end of it is concerned," said Mr. Tomlinson, "there is nothing to the report. I don't know anything about the other end of it and cannot speak for the other men whose names are connected with it, but as far as the vessel part of the report is concerned, there is absolutely nothing to it."

Mr. Cole is out of the city, having been in the South for several weeks.

Mr. Cotton, when seen this morning, was equally emphatic in his denial.

"There is no truth whatever in the report," said Mr. Cotton. "The first I heard of it was a little paragraph in a Wall street financial paper. There was a little article of a few lines, hinting that these people were leaving the steel corporation, and that there must be some reason for it. The Cleveland Leader evidently picked out this little article and elaborated on it. They published quite an elaborate account of the new steel corporation that was to be formed, and that probably formed the basis of the report published here. If there is any truth in the report, I have heard nothing of it, and all I know of it is what I saw in these newspaper accounts."

formento (promotion of commerce), Manuel Marroquin y Rivera; communications and public works, Norbeto Dominguez; finance, Jose Yves Limantour; war and marine, Gen. Manuel Gonzales Cozio; Salado Alvarez, sub-secretary of foreign relations and for the time being the ranking cabinet official, will administer the oath of office to the new ministers tomorrow in the hall of ambassadors in the palace.

Zacamacona F. Inclan is the government's financial agent in London, where he has been stationed for the past two years.

The new ambassador is comparatively young but he has filled several important posts under the Diaz administration. Prior to the appointment which took him to London, he was director of the department of internal revenues, director general of the postal service, member of the board of directors of the Mexican Central railroad and general manager of a governmental banking and loan institution.

Inclan is said to have already received notice of his appointment by cable and to have left London for Washington.

The retirement of the cabinet members has given rise to many rumors of further official posts to be vacated, which have not excepted that of Gen. Diaz himself. That Vice President Corral will ask for and receive a leave of absence for a long term, if he does not in fact present his resignation to congress at its opening on April 1, was regarded as well substantiated. For the report that Gen. Diaz contemplated surrendering the presidency, however, no foundation could be found.

VERIFY IT

The Proof Is In Duluth Almost at Your Door.

The public statement of a Duluth citizen is in itself strong proof for Duluth people, but confirmation strengthens the evidence.

Here is a Duluth citizen who testified years ago that Doan's Kidney Pills relieved sick kidneys and now states the cure was permanent. Can any sufferer from kidney ills ask better proof? You can investigate. The case is right at home.

Mrs. M. McLean, 4324 Gilliat St., Duluth, Minn., says: "All that was said in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills by a member of my family when he publicly recommended them in 1898 still holds good. During the past several years this person has not been obliged to use a kidney medicine, for the cure has been permanent. Doan's Kidney Pills effected a cure of kidney trouble in this case and also brought relief from a dull, heavy ache in the loins. The person of whom I am speaking recommends Doan's Kidney Pills highly when any one asks him about them."

TOURNAMENT IS PLANNED

Central Gun Club May Hold Shooting Events During Carnival.

Assurance Given of Large Entry List of Professionals and Amateurs.

Plans are being made for holding here during the celebration of the big carnival one of the biggest shooting tournaments ever held in the state. The Central Gun club is behind the movement, and according to the statement yesterday by one of the members of the club there is every likelihood of the meet being held.

Plans for the construction of a clubhouse on the ground secured on the lake shore side of Park Point are being drawn at the present time, and if it is decided to hold a big tournament here in July the clubhouse will probably be completed in time for the meet.

With the number of amateurs that belong to the club and with the number of outside shooters that have from time to time signified their willingness to come to the Head of the Lakes for a tournament, there is no doubt at the very first consideration of the project of the number of shooters who would be on hand.

In addition to the amateurs there are a number of professionals employed by the various powder houses, the crack shots of the Northwest, who with the Interstate Association at this point has been gathered by the members of the club who have the plan under consideration.

The holding of a big shooting tournament at the time of the carnival would add materially to the interest and would result in bringing additional visitors here. If it is decided to hold the tournament and the present plans regarding its magnitude are carried out, the entry list will include the crack shots within a radius of 500 miles and will also include some of the best professional shots in the United States.

When the plans have progressed far enough to warrant correspondence with some of the big men in the shooting world, correspondence will be entered into with C. A. K. Elliott, one of the greatest shots in this country, and some of the other big ones.

If held the Duluth tournament will be one of the best and most novel in every way that has been held in the Northwest since the famous old Twin City tournaments.

GEORGE BAILEY WINS HITCH-KICK EVENT.

Last evening at the Y. M. C. A. George Bailey won the hitch-kick with the height of 7 feet 7 inches. R. W. Capin and William Stevens tied for second at 7 feet 4 inches. Capin winning on the kick off.

Following is the order of the finish of the other contestants: George Jacobson, 7 feet 3 inches; J. Nasalund, 7 feet 3 inches; William Otto, 6 feet 8 inches; Goldsmith, 6 feet 4 inches; C. A. Johnson, 6 feet 4 inches; Phil Moore, 6 feet 2 inches; Cameron, 5 feet 6 inches; Berkleman, 5 feet, and Beckwith, 5 feet.

Last night's event was the twelfth that has been held in the all-round contest. All of the events have brought out a big field and the competition has been very close and interesting. To date George Bailey has scored the highest percentage in the standing for all of the events contested so far, having 705 points to his credit. William Otto has 704 and J. Nasalund 641.

Mike Schreck's Last Stand May Put Out Carl Morris' Light—Alex Sloan Goes Back to Work--Big Wrestling Match in Prospect.

(BY BRUCE.)

GENTLEMEN, we have with us Carl Morris, the greatest living wonder in the way of "white hopes."

Step right up and get your front seats, for the show is just about to begin. Michael Cassius Schreck, the oldest living pugilist in captivity, will also be exhibited.

This evening at Sapulpa, a small place in the sands and sage brush of Oklahoma, a state that was famous for shooting manners and a brand new constitution, and is now famed the great length and breadth of our country as the home of Carly Morris, the brave engineer, Minue Schreck will either make a human step out of himself for the mounting of Morris, or will, like the peeved and dyspeptic worm, turn and smite the enemy.

It really takes the West to be picturesque. Three great fights have been held in the virgin confines of the great and growing western section of our country that might furnish the writer with the eye for the romantic and spectacular, with bales of "copy."

There was the meeting between Fitzsimmons and poor, misguided Maher, which took place at Langtry, somewhere down in the section near the Mexico line. Men alighted from the train and walked for miles through the swamp before they reached the place where the ring was pitched.

On that memorable occasion there were a number of Texas ranch men along, and it is said that some of the Eastern tenderfeet hoofing it through the swamp in their patent leathers and spats, every once in a while felt the kindly prod of the muzzle of a six-shooter and were told to get a galt on.

There came mighty near being several shooting affairs at that scrap. A lot of gamblers from Texas were on hand, but for the fact that old Ruby Fitz slipped the pride of Ireland the slumber swat before those in the front seats had even got their minds on the fight, some of those old boys with the long guns might have opened up.

And then came the historic Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight. What an affair that was. It occurred at Carson City, Nev., and was attended by some of the roughest and toughest characters that ever sat at a ringside and talked through the corner of their mouths.

Carson City was crowded on the day of the fight. Men paid a half dollar for a cup of coffee and walked up and down in the streets all night the night before the contest, carrying guns on their hips. The gambling dens were filled with men and excitement, which is all the same, and as the cooling dawn broke gently on the scene, it lifted the mantle of night from such a scene as only the old West could paint.

There were bad heavy in the throes of feverish sleep; men of every description, from professional gamblers and habitue of the saloon, to the professional man who gave up cheerfully endures all sorts of roughing for the sake of seeing two men, better than any other two men at their particular line of business, that of fighting, settle the cold and unflinching question of fistic supremacy.

Indians, cowboys, miners, gamblers, half castes, sports of the ultra degree or last call, mingled with millionaires, actors and men of Wall street. Democracy held undisputed sway; the dream of a republic had, come true.

Ah, and Reno; Reno riotous!

Reno, many of us thought was the last stand of the big fight in this country. Out in the hot sun and sands of Nevada was dumped the offerings of the East. Men alighted from the train to be inspected by the pickpocket of the effete and knowing underworld of the East. Cowboys, Chinks, "niggers," tin horns, politicians, wine agents, actors, sporting men from the consomme of those who call themselves sports after witnessing a fight of any kind, to the pecans of those who had been through the mill and bore red nosed evidence of the best care of himself since he started in the wrestling game.

No one will ever adequately describe the last stand of the finish fight, if the Jeffries-Johnson fiasco will prove to be the last big fight held in this country. Are we going to have another big finish fight in this country? It may all depend upon what Carl Morris, the Casey Jones of the pugilistic game, does today against that ancient trial horse and valuable asset to the brewery interests, Mike Schreck.

One of the men who fought Morris came here and one day dropped into The Herald office. He told the writer that Morris was nothing but a big, powerful fellow, with a push rather than one of those things that cause a man to forget for the time being the troubles of this mundane sphere. He furthermore said that he had to "talk business" with the manager of Morris before he could get the fight.

Be that as it may, this day will bring us forth some little line on the Morris mounter, and will show whether he is like unto gunpower, in that he is easily exploded, or whether it will require a somewhat better man than what is left of Mike to turn the trick.

But, leastwise, there will be some sultry time in Sapulpa this day.

Look Where Alex is Now.

WHEN Barney Oldfield quit the racing game he left two good fellows without jobs. There is old Bill Pickens, one of the greatest press men in the country, and our old college chum, J. Alex Sloan, former sporting editor on the St. Paul Daily News.

Bill Pickens had been with Barney for time and then some time. He was the man Friday to the cruising Crusoe of Barney. Oldfield kept going down the ladder of fame and he finally tumbled to the fierce fact that it would take some noble efforts to climb the hill of fame and dollars.

Right here it was that Sloan attached himself to the tail of the Oldfield kite. He became one of the busy press agents and also was one of the booking agents of Barney.

Last summer in Minneapolis Sloan said that he had secured some of the best engagements that Oldfield had ever gotten. Sloan was coppling the jingle stuff on the percentage plan, so that he must have been getting the kale in wads instead of insults.

Now he is on the Los Angeles Times, back at the old game of writing stuff for the dear fans. After some of the excitement of being lookout for a man of the general excitability of Barney Oldfield, the newspaper game, fast as it is at times, must be kind of slow for Sloan.

J. Alex was known to many of the fans at the Head of the Lakes, through his writing and also through personal acquaintance. He is one prince of a fellow and if Oldfield ever hits the speed game again, here's a bet he sends for Sloan.

It Looks Like the Big Match.

FROM dear Chicago comes the information a creepin' over the wire sayin' as how the big match between Gotch and the Russian Lion is going to materialize after all.

From the dope that is laid on the sheet (you fellows like it before it is two weeks old, dont you?) it seems that Hack, dear old Hackenschmidt, will be the man to meet Frankie. Anyone next to the sporting game would have guessed that the Russian would be the opponent of Gotch, if the Empire Athletic club had the selecting of the man.

It is just this way. There has been a lot of talk about Yusif Mahmout being a better man than the Russian, but you could never convince the American public of that. The way Gotch beat the son of the Cross and Crescent was a crime almost, and there would not be the greatest amount of money in the world to see the men in a return bout. The very best thing the Turk can do, is to go out and wrestle his way back to a position where he can demand another match with Gotch.

Gotch didn't get a fall on Hackenschmidt, and there really is a disposition on the part of some of the American people to doubt the ability of Gotch to pin the shoulders of Hack to the mat.

After seeing both of the men in action, it is the opinion of the writer that the American will again prove the master of the Russian and that Gotch will win a victory over which there cannot be the least dispute.

Great is Frank Gotch. He is a wonderfully strong man and in addition to this he has the brain and the speed and the cleverness that make him perhaps the greatest wrestler who ever stepped on the mat. It is hard to see how the German from Humbolt, Iowa, can lose, for when he was here he looked in great shape and he was also talking about the best care of himself since he started in the wrestling game.

HYLAND AND SAYLOR TO GO TEN ROUNDS.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 28.—Fighting Joe Hyland, the New York lightweight, and Young Saylor of this city are resting today prior to their scheduled 10-round bout here tonight. Both men are said to be in good condition and a fast contest is expected.

Eddie Lang, a Chicago lightweight, will meet Freddie Cole of Indianapolis also in a 10-round bout just before the Hyland-Saylor set-to. Kid Shirley and Jimmy Anderson, local featherweights, are slated to go eight rounds in a preliminary bout.

FIGHTER INJURED AND BOUT IS CALLED OFF.

Memphis, Tenn., March 28.—An eight-round bout between Jack White of Chicago and Joe Mandel of New Orleans, scheduled to be held last night before a local athletic club, was called off because of an injury sustained by the Chicago man an hour before the time of the fight. In walking about his room at a local hotel, White stepped on a piece of broken glass, cutting a deep gash in his right foot. The wound is not considered serious.

TOLEDO FIGHTER BREAKS LEG IN THE RING.

Springfield, Ohio, March 28.—"Battling Schults, the Toledo featherweight, suffered a broken leg in the eighth round of a scheduled 20-round bout with Tommy Bresnahan of Omaha here last night. The men were fighting at close quarters when Schults was seen to fall. After he was counted out it was discovered that his right leg was broken just below the knee. Bresnahan was a slight favorite at the time of the accident.

McCARTY IS CHAMPION TRAP-SHOOTER OF AMERICA

AROUND THE CIRCUIT

Toney Schieffer, the handsome young pitcher for the Wausau Lumberjacks for the past few years, has joined the hold-out colony with which the northerners seem to be troubling to a great extent. Same reason as the others, too, "can't stand for that cut in salary"—that is the way their letters all begin. Schieffer says he is not holding out; he has quit the professional baseball game and says that the good job which he has in Malwaukee pays him much more than what he would receive with the Wausau club if he returned this season. He says that he will play Sunday ball with a team at Sheboygan this year. Besides being a good twirler, Schieffer is one of the fastest men on the bases in the circuit.

Manager Ted Corbett of Rochester, will be the first manager to begin actual training this spring and he has sent word to his players to report at Rochester on April 12 where, on the new Mayo field, they will be given a week's tryout before the arrival of the remainder of the players signed. The entire crowd will be on hand by April 13, giving the team at least three weeks time to get in condition. Corbett, being a new manager in this league, has signed almost an entirely new team for Rochester, many of the players being youngsters with only semi-pro experience. He believes, however, that his team will get way in the first division and remain there during the entire season. To date he has signed about twenty men, four of whom are pitchers and he, himself, is some class as a twirler. He hopes early this week to sign another catcher and a pitcher, when his squad will be complete.

The spring training of the La Crosse Baseball club, which will begin April 20, according to the announcement of President John Elliott, today will take place at the local baseball park.

This far only two exhibition games have been scheduled for the club and these will take place at Dubuque. No date for the games with the Dubuque clubs has as yet been set.

It had been the intention of the officers of the board of directors to arrange several exhibition games with the teams of the Canadian league but as this league has disorganized this will be impossible. Several exhibition games with local teams such as the normal and Nelson Clothing company, will be arranged.

Manager Fred Cook has signed an outfielder named Kline who is said to be a second Tyrus Cobb, both in the field and at wielding the war club. Kline is a youngster about 23 years old and has played semi-pro ball in the northern part of the state.

Speaking about short fielders Red Wing does not have to go out of town for a player to fill that position if an unexperienced leaguer is secured. There are but few who have anything on Shorty Conlin when it comes to scooping 'em up and he should be one of the first men to be given a fair trial. The association hopes however, to secure as many experienced infielders as possible.

BLANCKE SIGNS HIS CONTRACT

Twirler Will Be Back With Sox—George Anderson May Return.

All question about Blancke's being with the Sox the present season was cast from argument by the signing of his contract by the slim twirler. Blancke and Darby got together and came to terms. Then the solemn-visaged one affixed his signature and one of the troubles of the Sox leader has been kicked into the back yard.

Blancke will stay at Sandusky, Ohio, until April 23, joining the team at Rockford, Ill. Darby reports the pitcher in better condition than he was at any time last season, and when this boy is right he is some pitcher.

An offer was received from Uncle Joe Killian in which the scrappy Winona pilot wanted to swing a deal that would involve Byers and Goodman.

Neither of these men played any too good ball last season and for that reason they will not be seen in a Duluth uniform. Killian is getting some new blood on his team and somehow gained the idea that he might send two of the old crowd to the Sox.

More news of a joyous nature is the announcement that Boston has apparently overlooked George Anderson, the center fiel daviator. If the fast boy comes back to the Sox his presence will add strength to the aggregation. They don't make very many better fielders than George.

The recruits will begin to arrive next week, when the first light practice of the season will start. In the matter of spring training, the Sox will get the jump on the other teams and should report here, barring bad weather, in shape for a gruelling fight from the bell.

JOHNNY COULON IS FAVORITE

Champion Looked Upon as Winner in Battle With Forbes.

Harry Forbes, former bantam weight champion, will this evening attempt to "come back" in his fight with Johnny Coulon, world's bantam weight champion and one of the greatest little fighters who ever crawled through the ropes. The boys will meet at Kenosha, Wis., and the champion is a heavy favorite.

It is generally believed that in Coulon this country has produced one of the cleverest, strongest and headiest fighters since the days of Jimmy Barry. While Forbes has been a great fighter in the past, it is generally believed that he has passed his prime and is no longer the terror of the bantams.

In the event of a victory for Coulon this evening some of the ring sharps look for a meeting between Johnny and Abe Attell. The Hebrew is heavier than Coulon and the question of weight may cause a hitch in the negotiations.

Frankie Conley met Attell and battled him to a standstill. Coulon met Conley and outclassed him at every stage of the milling. Fight critics have been comparing Abe and Johnny and have come to the conclusion that their meeting would result in one of the greatest fights ever staged in this country.

Some youngster is going to trim Abe if he stays in the fighting game long enough, and Coulon may be down in the books. A victory tonight over Harry Forbes simply means more talk of the Attell-Coulon meeting.

HOCKEY LEAGUE PLANS.

International League Is Dream of Promoter Hermann of Chicago.

Chicago, March 28.—If present plans mature, Chicago's sport-loving public will have opportunities of supporting games which bid fair to be in winter what baseball is in summer. Because of the rapid growth of hockey, Charles H. Hermann, a director of the ice palace, is formulating plans for a professional league, either International or American, to be composed of the principal cities in this country and Canada.

Communications have been sent to the leading cities where rinks are in operation, and it has been decided to hold a meeting in Chicago next month to complete arrangements.

Several ideas have been suggested, but Hermann is of the opinion that an international league composed of four Canadian and four American cities would result in the greatest interest.

This movement depends upon the attitude of the Canadians and a definite reply is expected within a few days. If the leaders on the other side of the line are not favorable Hermann suggests that a league be organized to be called the United States Professional Hockey league, composed of either six or eight clubs. If the latter idea is adopted it will be with the understanding that at the end of the season a series of games be played to determine the championship of the world, just as in baseball.

OUTLOOK BAD FOR ARTHA'

Heavy Fine or Jail Sentence Probable for Black Fighter.

San Francisco, March 28.—Jack Johnson may escape serving his 25-day jail sentence, but if he does it is more than likely that it will cost him a nice chunk of the purse he won by defeating Jim Jeffries to escape this ignominy.

His release on $500 bail after serving five and one-half hours in the county jail for automobile speeding is a mere technicality and it will take some fine legal maneuvering to convince the courts that the big colored fighter is not entitled to all that Police Judge Treadwell handed him.

Johnson's lawyers, shut off from appeal because of the fighter's plea of guilty to violating the law, will argue that the punishment is excessive. But the law provides for either a jail sentence or fine, or both, and it looks as though, in the face of Johnson's repeated offenses, excessive punishment will be a hard matter to prove.

In the event of defeat, however, Johnson may take the case to a higher court, but all of this means heavy expense and in all probability ultimate defeat.

Whatever happens, the conqueror of Jeffries will have something to reflect on for the next few weeks. When he arrived at the county jail Sheriff Finns took the big fellow in charge and carefully vaccinated him before assigning him to cell 43, a place where the smell of fried chickens was never scented.

Prior to undergoing this ordeal, Johnson had a narrow escape from taking a ride in the black maria with other negroes and several pickpockets. His attorneys insisted that he would make the journey to Ingleside in his high-power automobile, but Sheriff Finns had other ideas. Johnson's diamonds and flashy front had no impression on Finns and he was obdurate.

But while the argument was going on some court attache allowed the deputies to take him in charge and make the trip as planned by his attorneys.

St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—In a telegram to President Lennon of the St. Paul club, Manager Kelly last night announced the purchase of Outfielder Clarence Beaumont and Pitchers Clark and Cook of the Chicago National league team. Last year Clark played with the Waterloo, Iowa, team and Cook played with Peoria.

BOYS HAVE AN ICY BATH

Cling to Overturned Rowboat As It Drifts Across Bay.

Land on Wisconsin Shore Thoroughly Benumbed and Exhausted.

After being chilled to the bones from a long exposure to the cold and after clinging to the side of a frail craft, as it drifted with the wind across the open channel of the St. Louis river Sunday afternoon, four West Duluth boys, ranging in age from 13 to 16, are today recovering from some of the effects of their experience.

The boys are Leonard Halsted, aged 14, living at 503 South Sixty-first avenue west; Arthur and Harry Laitson, aged 14 and 16, of 528 South Fifty-ninth avenue west and Percy Kaufman of 227 South Sixtieth avenue west. Kaufman was the youngest and is only 13 years old.

The boys picked up an abandoned row boat at the end of a sand bar which extends out into the river at Sixty-first avenue west. They found some paddles and believing the craft to be safe and all willing to take the risk, jumped into the boat and pushed it off.

They had made but little progress before a floating piece of ice punctured the side and the boat keeled over, spilling its occupants. All of the youngsters could swim, and they all had the presence of mind to cling to the side of the boat. They had drifted too far out in the channel to hope to swim back to the bar, and could not signal to anybody on shore.

The wind was blowing in the direction of the Wisconsin side of the river, and after a half hour, which the boys say must have been at least two hours, they managed to land on the Wisconsin side, benumbed to the skin and weak, the boys were obliged to walk nearly four miles to get back to West Duluth. They came by the way of the Grassy Point bridge.

The parents of the youngsters became anxious when they did not show up for supper Sunday evening. The boys arrived home about 9 o'clock in the evening.

A Double Wedding.

Rev. H. J. P. Selinger, pastor of the West Duluth Baptist church officiated yesterday at a double wedding in which four Cloquet people were the principals. Miss Fannie E. Nickala and Arthur Henry Jokinaki were united and Miss Olga Margaret Jokinaki and William Maki were made man and wife. The wedding was solemnized in the parsonage, 6005 Grand avenue. All will make their home on a farm near Cloquet.

Funeral of Miss Cashin.

The funeral of Miss Edith Cashin, 24 years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cashin of 405 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, who died Sunday morning, will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from St. James' Catholic church, Fifty-seventh avenue west, to Calvary cemetery.

NEW ROUTE IS SELECTED

Canadian Northern Submits Proposed Right-of-Way Changes to Council.

Provision for Posts at Fifty-Ninth Avenue Will Encounter Opposition.

The Canadian Northern, the local branch of which is known as the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railroad, is going to follow a different route through West Duluth if the amendments to the ordinance submitted to the council last night are passed.

The road will cross the Northern Pacific tracks on a trestle instead of on grade as at first planned, running down below Traverse street and swinging up again to the Northern Pacific right-of-way. One line will cut down between Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth avenue ewst to the Marquette pier. Connections will be made with the Duluth Transfer line, now owned by the Northern Pacific, at Forty-eighth and Forty-ninth avenues west and with the Northern Pacific at Grassy Point near the mill section.

Blue prints showing the proposed changes were filed yesterday with the city clerk. The amendments state that the lines shown in the blue print shall be the actual route as soon as construction begins. This is the third route which has been asked from the city by the road. Neither of the last two are any great distance from the original line.

One paragraph of the proposed amendments may arouse opposition in West Duluth. It allows the road to put in one set of posts to support the trestle which will be built across Fifty-ninth avenue west. The same paragraph states that no posts shall be placed under the trestle between the curb lines of Grand or Central avenues.

WOMAN IS GIVEN $100 DAMAGES

A jury in district court has given Mrs. Martha Bright $100 as damages against Doctors Loughney & Loughney. Mrs. Bright brought suit for $5,000, claiming that as the result of a series of treatments in the bake ovens her condition grew worse.

Mrs. Bright took the treatment for rheumatism. She claims that before taking the treatment she visited the offices of the doctors and told them that she was suffering from a weak heart, and asked them to examine her and state whether or not the heat would affect her heart.

She paid $20 for a series of treatments, she claimed. She states that she was subjected to excessive heat, and that the heat affected her heart.

During the course of the trial, which has been going on for several days, several doctors have testified as to the effect of heat upon the heart. This morning the jury brought in a verdict of $100 in favor of the plaintiff.

ABSURD ODDS ON MORRIS

Blinded Enthusiasts Tell the Schreck Supporters to Write Own Tickets.

Sapulpa, Okla., March 28.—Sapulpa awaits the words of the referee: "Let 'er go!"

Everything is in readiness for this afternoon's fight between Carl Morris of Sapulpa, the Oklahoma "hope of the white race," and Mike Schreck of Cincinnati. It will be a fifteen-round contest. If Morris wins his friends declare he will be the biggest drawing card to meet Jack Johnson for the championship. If he loses he will go back to his overalls and his railroad engine.

If Sapulpa was crowded yesterday it was jammed today. Special trains brought hundreds of fight followers. Yesterday the population was 10,000. Today is has doubled. Everyone talks fight—the women, the ministers and the sports. Sapulpa is all one today, each heart praying for victory for the home man.

There is no Schreck money in sight. Backers of the Cincinnati man are said to "write your own tickets." Ten to one was laid that Morris would win; 4 to 1 he would win in ten rounds and 2 to 1 he would win in five. One bet of even money was made that Morris would win in the first round.

The fight will take place in the arena which is about one mile from the main street of the town. It is scheduled for 4 o'clock.

Estimates of the attendance were around 12,000. Gate receipts will exceed $25,000. Of this the fighters get 40 per cent. Nothing has been made public as to how Morris and Schreck will divide their share.

CASE UP BEFORE THE COMMISSION

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 28.—The national baseball commission went into session at its headquarters in this city today to consider the appeal of President Al Tearney of the Three I league from the decision of the national board of arbitration of the National Association of Minor leagues, which declared that the Waterloo club could not be dropped from the Three I circuit.

Four clubs of the Three I circuit sought to have Waterloo dropped, but the club fought this, and took the matter to the arbitration board. That board decided that the club could not legally be dropped. Thereupon President Tearney appealed to the national commission.

President Tearney appeared in person before the commission and pleaded for a reversal of the arbitration board's decision, claiming that the success of his league demanded this. As a rule, the supreme court of baseball upholds the findings of the national association, but this case may prove an exception.

That the case is considered one of the most important to come before the commission was shown by the fact that President B. B. Johnson of the American league, President T. J. Lynch of the National league and Chairman August Herrman, the full membership of the committee, were present at the hearing.

CHARLEY MURPHY TURNS FIVE PLAYERS BACK.

Chicago, March 28.—Five players were released by President Charles Murphy of the Chicago National league team today. Catcher Angemeier goes to the New Orleans club with a repurchase option; Shortstop Cooney goes back to Spokane, and St. Paul has purchased Beaumont, Clark and Pitcher Cooke.

SELF-DENIAL WEEK IN DULUTH

Local Salvation Army Corps Responds to Call of Superior Officer.

Adjt. R. Martin of the Duluth corps of the Salvation Army has sent The Herald the following letter in explanation of the purposes of "Self-Denial Week":

"To the Editor of The Herald:

"For the information of the friends of the Salvation Army here, concerning "Self-Denial Week," April 2 to 9, I will say that a special effort is being made in behalf of the work.

"The following is the substance of the message of Commissioner Estell of Chicago, in charge of the Western territory of the army, addressed to its soldiers and friends:

"'The objects of the "Self-Denial Week" bring to our minds the great work of our blessed army, and how God has blessed it all over the world, and how much we all owe to the grand world-encircling warriors of the cross. It also reminds us of the great need for more devotion, more effort and more enterprise, if we would accomplish our task. Ours is a great privilege, a great opportunity and a great responsibility. May God help us to realize this more fully. Perhaps one of the things that has turned the attention of the whole world to our movement more than anything else has been the spirit of sacrifice that the rank and file of the army have manifested, their willingness to give their time and talent and material possessions to the cause of God and humanity, and their earnest endeavors to persuade men and women everywhere to do likewise. A man is living far beneath his privileges and highest sense of duty unless he has come to the realization of the great worth of the souls of men, and the blessedness of the work of self-denying devotion to the good of his fellows. Daniel Webster once said: 'What a man does for others, not what they do for him, gives immortality.' I, therefore, urge you as Christ's ambassadors to a more real, devoted and practical service than ever, of self-denial and earnest labor for the cause.'"

CARELESS DEBTOR BEATEN BY CREDITOR.

Lee Maleck stated in police court yesterday afternoon that he whipped Mike Smith because Smith got drunk and spent all his money before he repaid some money which he owed Maleck. Maleck undoubtedly got his money's worth, for Smith had a sad-looking face when he appeared in police court yesterday afternoon. He was decorated with two "black" eyes and sundry other bruises.

Maleck said that Smith came to town a couple of days ago with a check for $85, and that he "blew in" every cent of it for booze, forgetting all about his debts. "That sure made me awful mad," said Maleck, after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of assault. He paid a fine of $7.50.

Fire Damages Cloquet Home.

Cloquet, Minn., March 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire in the Joseph Loisel home on Third street Sunday night badly damaged the second story of one of the most beautiful homes in that part of the city. A live wire started the blaze. Mr. Loisel is the proprietor of the Joseph Loisel hardware store and the senior partner of the firm of Loisel & Son in the East end.

"BUY A BRULE FARM AND BEGIN TO LIVE"

THAT'S no empty "Catch-line," folks, it's a plain statement of the SENSE of this ad.

Because no man really LIVES who owes his existence entirely to the labor of others and who is dependent upon others for his living. The daily rush in crowded street-car to stuffy office or factory, never knowing just when your "boss" is going to say "Guess we won't need you after next Saturday!"—that isn't life—that's just existing.

A horse does more than that because at least he knows that he will have food and shelter so long as he can work for 'em. YOU DON'T.

The world OWES you a living all right, but it makes you hustle to COLLECT it and then sometimes it beats you to it by filing a petition in bankruptcy brought about by "over-production."

This ad shows you how to collect your living from Old Mother Earth herself, without any intermediaries, without any "boss" to tell you to "Git!" it shows you—YOU, get that!—how you can everlastingly rivet yourself to an industrial independence. And there are no "jokers" concealed in it either—It shows YOU just THAT! Listen:

One mile from the Brule river (the classiest little trout stream in these United States, by the way); there's 640 acres of the finest dark, sandy-clay loam you ever clapt your eyes on waiting for YOU to come along and grab off a piece. This land is the Simon-pure GOODS for diversified farming—for the raising of potatoes, small fruits, chickens, dairy-farm products, and all the articles of daily consumption for which these two big cities of ours furnish an exhaustless market. Two railroads run right past it—the N. P. and the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic. PRODUCE CAN BE SHIPPED INTO THE TWIN PORTS IN TWO HOURS BY FREIGHT—that means that the farmer can pull crops during the day, load them on the daily freight, leaving Troy (one-quarter of a mile from this land) at 3:50 every afternoon, and HAVE THEM IN THE COMMISSION HOUSE THAT SAME EVENING! It means that he can deliver truck into the cities for less than the small-tract owner living within the city limits must pay for team hauling. Read that again! That's THE most important thing to consider in buying a farm after the soil itself—the markets and how to get there. This land is one mile from Winnebijou on the D., S. S. & A., a mile and a quarter from BRULE on the N. P., and has THE FINEST ROADS IN THE TOWN OF BRULE CONNECTING IT RIGHT UP WITH ALL DEPOTS.

Now there is another BIG thing about this land—it can be cleared up for next-to-nothing! Quite a bunch of it is practically clear NOW, more than half the balance can be cleared at a total cost of two dollars an acre, NONE of it will cost more than five dollars an acre to clear! You're not used to being reminded of this clearing cost in farm land ads, are you? The REASON is that most lands around here cost up to FIFTY DOLLARS to get ready for cultivation! You've GOT to spend that fifty before you can get one red copper cent out of your purchase. That's why we drive home this two to five dollar argument! And now about HOW MUCH! You have begun to think that land as good as this must be held WAY UP, eh? You know that the Brule river is the camping ground of millionaires, that costly cottages and fabulous land-values are the order around there; you know that there's very little land for sale at all and that what is for sale is held at fifty dollars an acre and NAILED there? But NOT this land! YOU CAN BUY A BRULE FARM FOR FROM TEN TO TWENTY DOLLARS AN ACRE, and, remember our clearing cost statement, YOU CAN HAVE YOUR FARM READY FOR CROPS AT A TOTAL EXPENSE OF FROM TWELVE TO TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS AN ACRE. And you need only PAY DOWN THREE DOLLARS AN ACRE—THE REST IN ONE, TWO AND THREE YEARS. That's why we say this land is for YOU! With one month's salary you can make the first payment on enough land to keep you in the "prosperous" class all the rest of your life—add some of the hustle and "git-there" you have got to have to hold your PRESENT job, and you have your future locked in with YOU holding the key! 'Cause ANY MAN WITH HORSE SENSE AND HUSTLE CAN MAKE A FINANCIAL SUCCESS OF A 40-ACRE TRUCK FARM IF THE SOIL IS RIGHT! And, say, about the soil on this land of ours—but COME OUT AND SEE IT FOR YOURSELF before you do a thing—that's the only way to SATISFY yourself—to be SHOWN. Bring out all the soil experts you want to and have them wander over this land and gouge pieces out of it! They'll find and YOU'LL find that it's all we've said and THEN some. And now, folks, just another word or two before we leave it UP TO YOU—Please remember that 640 acres of land may look an awful pile when it's all spread out in the bright sunlight, but IT WON'T LAST ANY LONGER THAN IT TAKES ABOUT FIFTEEN PEOPLE TO FIND OUT JUST WHAT A DYED-IN-THE-WOOL SNAP IT IS! So, if you want YOURS, Get Busy! Call up our office NOW and we'll fix it to take you out and introduce you to the exact piece of it YOU need. Right now! It's five-nine-seven Melrose on the old phone, five-nine-seven Grand on the new.

LEGAL NOTICES.

CERTIFICATE OF AMENDMENT —TO THE— ARTICLES AND CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION OF VIRGINIA LUMBER COMPANY.

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis —ss.

EDWARD HINES and H. C. HORNBY, being first duly sworn, do hereby certify under oath that they are respectively the President and Secretary of Virginia Lumber Company.

That at the adjourned annual meeting of the stockholders of said company, duly called and held at the company's office in the City of Duluth, Minnesota, on the seventh day of March, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, the stockholders of said company, by majority vote of all of its shares, adopted the following resolution amending the Articles and Certificate of Incorporation of said company:

"RESOLVED, That the Articles and Certificate of Incorporation of this company be and the same are hereby amended as follows:

That the words "City of Duluth," as they appear in Article I and in Article VI of the Certificate and Articles of Incorporation, as heretofore amended, be stricken out, and that there be inserted in lieu thereof the words "City of Virginia," thus making the principal place of transacting the business of said corporation and the place of holding the annual stockholders' meeting in the City of Virginia, instead of the City of Duluth.

RESOLVED, further, That this resolution be embraced in a certificate duly executed by the President and Secretary of this company, under its corporate seal, and that the same be approved, filed, recorded and published in the manner prescribed for the execution, approval, filing, recording and publishing of a like original certificate and articles of incorporation, in order to render said amendment effectual."

EDWARD HINES.
H. C. HORNBY.

(Corporate Seal, Virginia Lumber Company, Virginia, Minnesota.)

Signed, Sealed and Delivered in Presence of:
J. H. HARPER.
S. J. CUSSON.

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis —ss.

On this 8th day of March, 1911, before me, a Notary Public within and for said county, personally appeared Edward Hines and H. C. Hornby, to me personally known, who, being by me duly sworn, did say that they are respectively the President and Secretary of the Virginia Lumber Company, the corporation named in the foregoing instrument. That the foregoing certificate is true of their own knowledge, and that the seal affixed to said instrument is the corporate seal of said corporation, and that said instrument was signed and sealed in behalf of said corporation by authority of the resolution contained in the foregoing certificate, which resolution was adopted by majority vote of all the shares of said corporation, and said Edward Hines and H. C. Hornby acknowledged said instrument to be the free act and deed of said corporation, and their own free act and deed as president and secretary thereof.

SALES ON HARD SPOT

Wheat Advances With Shorts Covering and Is Then Heavily Sold.

Rain and Snow Fall in Southwest and in Manitoba —Barley Up.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 28.—Wheat declined slightly today. May and July each lost ⅛c. Cash was on a parity with May. Late messages from the Southwest were bullish but they came from territory already covered by crop reporters and were without effect. Durum wheat was unchanged. Oats gained ⅛c. Rye was unchanged and barley was stronger, gaining 2c. The barley market is exceedingly strong. Maisters cannot obtain sufficient supplies of first class barley and the indications point to higher prices. Today's quotation is one of the highest ever posted on the local exchange.

Flaxseed was unchanged and featureless. May closed at $2.47a. February-March Plata seed at Antwerp was quoted at $2.108, a decline of about 2c from yesterday.

Cables were higher and the wheat market opened strong and advanced with shorts covering. Bradstreet's report showed a decrease in the world's visible supply of 1,299,000 bu. Light receipts at Liverpool and unfavorable Argentine reports caused the foreign markets to firm. Lighter shipments are reported from Australia.

Toward noon the market became overbought, and bears who had evened up their contracts assailed it again. Selling sent the market downward and there was very little resistance. Crop reports from the Southwest continued favorable. The bearishness of the situation was enhanced by reports of scattered rain and snow in Kansas and Nebraska. Snow was reported at Winnipeg and other places in Manitoba. Fair weather is predicted tonight and tomorrow for the Northwest and Southwest.

Holders of May wheat were inclined to liquidate on the bulge. Country offerings continued light, selling having been checked by the recent fall in prices. The shipping demand is slow, however, and supplies are ample.

FLOUR SITUATION.

Flour men in most instances talk more cheerfully of trade conditions, though admitting there is still much to be desired before the volume of business and the ease with which it is accomplished are entirely satisfactory. About the best that can be said of the situation is that the "supply trade" has expanded slightly during the last week or two. The improvement is not traced to any change in the position of buyers nor their attitude toward the market, but to the fact that supplies of certain kinds of flour have run down to a low point or have entirely disappeared and must be replenished. There is, however, no general improvement, and in some instances the depression which has existed since the first of the year is as acute as ever.

Retailers are operating in a small way only, and are not buying in excess of their actual requirements. This condition extends through all other branches of the business. Reports from milling centers show that trading is on a hand-to-mouth basis, and from this it is judged that buying everywhere is conservative and is not confined to any one district. The production of flour is being curtailed and some mills are idle. There is too much flour being produced for home consumption.

Buyers generally have no faith in the market and are pursuing a waiting policy. The wheat markets are unsettled and have acted lately in a manner to undermine confidence. There is nothing in the wheat situation to encourage buying of flour in advance of current needs, and it is believed that nothing but a sustained upward movement in the price of the cereal would cause trading of that character. The chances for such a development are slim, although some people think the crop outlook at present is too good to last, and that any change in the situation will be for the worse.

In competing for flour business, close prices are made by all classes of sellers. Millers are particularly anxious for orders calling for prompt shipment, and are disinclined to accept contracts for deferred shipments at current prices. The buyer who is prepared to furnish directions at the time of booking the order can buy at his own price if it is not ridiculously low. A bid of $5.25 for spring patent, for instance, will find almost any miller ready to accept, and there has been some trade in standard brands at that quotation. Some mills are asking $5.50 and $5.60. Good patent can be bought at $5.15, while as low as even that kind of flour spring wheat can be purchased. Soft winter wheat flour is steadily in price, and mill quotations change little from day to day. The extreme for patent is $4.80, and $4.50 is acceptable to most Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and other mills. Straights range from $4 to $4.50, good pastry flour being quoted at $4.10 by some New York state mills. Offerings of winter wheat clears are mostly at prices in the range of $3.85 to $4.25 a barrel.

Some Kansas flour is giving satisfaction, and a little business is being transacted in it. Only a very few mills are making such flour. The bulk of the Kansas mills have turned flour this season that has proven unsatisfactory. It is doubtful if sales could be made on the present market at $4.25 a barrel, although higher prices are quoted, the range being from $4.50 to $5 for flour in jute.

Shipping directions, according to some reports, are coming in steadily, but this is not the general experience. There is still considerable overdue flour which buyers are in no hurry to order out. Until the situation shows marked improvement in this direction, many sellers will be handicapped in securing fresh business, finding it impossible to interest buyers in flour at current prices when the latter have flour due them that cost much more and which they will have to get rid of to the best advantage.

There has been very little export business. Minneapolis mills have received bids from abroad that were close to a price that could be accepted. There have been only a few reports of actual sales of patent flour for export.

Kansas City wired: Mr. Smiley of the Kansas Grain Dealers' association says: "Motored Hutchinson to Hodgeville, including Reno, Stafford and Edward counties; wheat fair to good, except corn stalk wheat, 50 per cent abandoned; not to exceed 30 per cent of wheat in Ford county up. Examined forty fields this county; do not believe will make 25 per cent of a crop even with favorable weather. Talked to farmers having 500 to 1,000 acres wheat and they have abandoned 75 per cent. High southwest wind today and moisture needed."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: Wheat market steady at opening, ¼d to ½d higher. The weaker American cables were offset by the strength in Buenos Ayres at the close. There was moderate covering, induced by the light receipts here for three days and the decrease in the European visible together with predictions of lighter shipments from Australia. Following the opening the market was dull, but steady with support in July which advanced an additional ¼d. During the morning there was some disposition for profits on more favorable European crop advices and liberal Indian offers. At 1:30 p. m. the market was steady and ⅛d higher than yesterday.

Corn—The market was steady and ¼d higher on the strength in Buenos Ayres and unfavorable Argentine crop advices. Argentine direct: Corn—Our agent cabled that owing to the unfavorable weather conditions prevailing during the growing of the corn, the total yield will be an extremely small one. The outlook in the province of Buenos Ayres shows some improvement, while in Cordoba and Santa Fe the tendency is to further reduce estimates. The closing strength in the Buenos Ayres market last night was due to shorts covering on bad crop advices. The visible supply of wheat in Europe this week amounts to 113,184,000 bu against 114,272,000 bu last week, thus showing a decrease of 1,088,000 bu. Last week there was an increase of 620,000 bu and last year a decrease of 270,000 bu. The total amounted to 95,630,000 bu.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Decrease in European Visible Supply Gives Wheat Strength.

Chicago, March 28.—A big decrease in the European visible supply gave same strength today to the wheat market here. There were also predictions of lighter shipments from Australia. Furthermore, Liverpool reported that for three days meager receipts had been the rule at the chief market in Great Britain. Opening prices in Chicago were the same as last night to ⅛@¼c up. May started at 88 to 88⅛@88¼c, showing a change identical with that of the list as a whole. An advance to 88¼c followed.

Improved call for cash wheat at Minneapolis added firmness to the market here and so did bullish reports from Southwest Kansas. Subsequently, however, prices gradually sagged. The close was easy with May at 87⅝@87⅜c, a net loss of ¼@⅜c.

Corn at the outset was a trifle easier on account of the improved weather, but rallied in sympathy with wheat. May opened a sixteenth down at 48@48⅛c, touched 47⅞@48c, and recovered to 48¼c.

Cash sales for export caused a sharp advance, but the effect did not last. The close was steady with May at 48⅛c, exactly the same as last night.

In oats the course of prices trailed the action of corn. May started unchanged to a shade off at 30⅝@30⅜c to 30⅜c, and later rose to 30½c.

High quotations for hogs made provisions firm. First sales were at last night's level to 5c higher, with May options at $16.00 to $16.05 for pork, $8.67½ for lard and $9.00 for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 28.—The wheat market was narrow today and uneventful. Early the slight oversold condition caused wheat to be firmer, but liquidation set in prices went to yesterday's low. May closed ⅜@½c lower than yesterday, July ¼@⅜c lower and September ½c lower. Local elevator stocks increased 45,000 bu for the day. Minneapolis received 133 cars, against 180 a year ago; Duluth 6, against 242, and Winnipeg 299, against 284. May wheat opened 94⅛c, high 94⅝c, low 93⅝c, closed 93⅝c; July opened 95⅝c, high 96¼c, low 95½c, closed 95⅛@95½c; September opened 91¾c, high 91⅞c, low 91⅛c, closed 91⅛c.

Cash wheat held about steady today. Elevators were moderate buyers, but mills took most of offerings. Demand strong for choice spring grades, but slow for lower varieties. No. 1 northern sold for the day's top, ½c above. Closing: No. 1 hard, 95⅝c; No. 1 northern, 94⅛@95¼c; to arrive, 94⅛@94⅞c; No. 2 northern, 91⅝@93¼c; to arrive, 91⅝@92⅝c; No. 3 wheat, 89⅞@92¼c. No. 3 yellow corn, 43½@44c. No. 3 white oats, 28¾@29¼c. No. 2 rye, 85@85½c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,711 tons. Demand excellent at yesterday's advance; strong inquiry for immediate shipments; bran in 100-pound sacks, $21.50@22.

Flour—The market is dull and in same old rut. Demand slow and shipping directions light. Prices firm at yesterday's decline. Shipments, 16,172 bbls. First patents, $4.45@4.75; second patents, $4.35@4.65; first clears, $2.95@3.40; second clears, $1.95@2.60.

Flax—Receipts, 4 cars, year ago 25; shipments, 1. Demand continued strong for both spot and to arrive at 1c above the Duluth May contract. Closing price, $2.48.

Barley—Receipts, 22 cars; year ago, 47; shipments, 36. The light offerings and strong demand made the market firmer today. Choice malting grades in best demand. Offerings composed mostly of feed. Prices closed 4c higher than yesterday, at 74c@$1.04.

New York Grain.

New York, March 28.—Close: Wheat—May, 94⅞@95c; July, 94½c. Corn—May, 55¾c.

Cotton Market.

New York, March 28.—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 1 to 6 points owing to better cables than expected, but soon weakened under a renewal of yesterday's selling movement and before the end of the first half hour sold into new low ground with May touching 14.25 and July 14.06 or about 4 points under the closing figures of last night.

Covering and renewal of bull support checked the decline around this level and caused a rally to about last night's closing figures, but the tone of the market showed little improvement, fluctuations being nervous and irregular during the middle of the morning.

Spot closed quiet, 5 points lower; middling uplands, 14.35; middling gulf, 14.60; sales, 1,020 bales. Futures closed very steady; closing bids: March, 14.16; April, 14.18; May, 14.28; June, 14.11; July, 14.09; August, 13.63; September, 12.96; October, 12.54; November, 12.46; December, 12.43; January, 12.41.

South St. Paul Livestock.

South St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—Cattle—Receipts, 1,500; market steady; unchanged. Hogs — Receipts, 3,000; steady; range, $6.45@6.65; bulk, $6.50@6.60. Sheep—Receipts, 300; steady; sheep, $1.00@5.00; lambs, $2.00@6.10.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Speculation Strong and Several Stocks Show Much Buoyancy.

More Confident Buying Reflected Than for Some Time Past.

New York, March 28.—Some impetus was given to the stock market today by the strength of Americans in London, and trading at the opening was more active than for some time. Union Pacific gained a point, opening with sales of 2,500 shares, and Canadian Pacific and International Harvester advancing a like amount. Erie and Reading gained ¾ and Norfolk & Western, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, New York Central, United States Steel and Great Northern ore certificates ½.

Some extensive realizing followed the initial advances, but the market took these sales well and even went a trifle higher before the upward movement ceased. Some large blocks of stocks changed hands, especially of United States Steel, which rose to 79½. Trading quieted materially before the end of the first hour, but prices were firmly held at the opening level. American Woolen lost a point.

After its long period of extreme dullness the stock market became much more active this morning. In the first hour about as much business was done as in the entire five hours of yesterday's session. The initial upward impulse seemed to come from London, where prices rose briskly over night, although there was some doubt as to whether this was due to buying for English account or to operations of New York traders in the London market.

Other considerations that held toward prices were the general promising outlook for crops, the feeling that the Mexican situation would now be speedily adjusted and that bullish gossip affecting individual stocks, particularly Canadian Pacific and Norfolk & Western. Midday prices showed general gains of ½ to a point from yesterday's close. The bond market was firm.

The market closed strong. Speculation became very strong again in the closing hour with several stocks showing considerable buoyancy. Canadian Pacific bounded up to 224, a rise of 2¾. Lehigh Valley jumped over 2 points and there was a gain of 1⅝ in Western Pacific and 2⅝ in the preferred. Erie, Johnson, Reading, Norfolk & Western and other favorite stocks were up in the neighborhood of a point, and the whole market reflected more confident buying than for a long time past.

SUPERIOR

BOYS FIGURED IN ANOTHER AFFAIR

Suspects of Shooting Allouez Officer Must Answer Different Charge.

After a rigid examination by the police, Thomas Hunter, aged 21, and Harry Sergent, 25 years old, arrested at Iron River yesterday as suspects in the shooting affair Wednesday evening at Allouez, in which Patrolman R. W. Jackson was wounded, were released today and rearrested on another charge.

They are now held for attempting to shoot a Northern railway Columbia brakeman near South Range, Saturday. One of them fired so close to Cushway, that his suspender was cut in two, it is said. The two men had been put off the train by Cushway for beating their way.

The police are satisfied that Hunter and Sergent have no connection with the shooting of Patrolman Jackson at Allouez Wednesday. Their claim that they had bought guns at a store in Duluth Friday, two days after the shooting was substantiated after an investigation by the police. They also proved an alibi.

They will be prosecuted for the attempted shooting of the brakeman.

GENERAL OFFICES ARE MOVED TO MINNEAPOLIS.

Officers and employes in the general offices of the Pittsburg Coal company will leave tomorrow for the new headquarters in Minneapolis. The entire force in Superior, however, will not go to the Twin Cities, and the company will still maintain offices in the Berkshire block, although the general offices will be in Minneapolis in the future.

Charles Gallagher, general superintendent of the docks, will remain in charge of the local office. J. T. Elliott, chief engineer; A. G. Brown, purchasing agent, and a number of stenographers and clerks will be retained in Superior.

TO WAGE WAR AGAINST PLAGUE FROM PULPITS.

Sunday, April 30, will be "anti-tuberculosis day" in Superior, and if the plans of Miss Florence Two, social worker, and other members of the Public Welfare association do not fail, the pastors of the Superior churches will preach special sermons on the war against the "great white plague." It is also planned to have an "anti-tuberculosis day" in the schools.

GEN. CHARLES KING WILL INSPECT MILITIA.

Brig. Gen. Charles King, W. N. G., retired, will be in Superior tomorrow evening and will personally conduct the drill of Company I of the Wisconsin militia at the local armory.

The visit of Gen. King is a tour of instruction, the object of which is to give the militiamen additional training, so as to be in readiness for the annual inspection April 18.

CONGRESSMAN LENROOT OFF FOR WASHINGTON.

Congressman Irvine L. Lenroot left today for Madison en route to Washington, D. C., where he will attend the special session of congress which President Taft has called to consider the Canadian reciprocity agreement. He will visit a few days at the state capitol before leaving for Washington.

Bishop Webb Coming.

Bishop W. W. Webb of the Milwaukee Episcopal diocese will be a Superior visitor next week. The object of his visit will be to administer confirmation to two classes at the two local Episcopal churches at the East and West ends.

Composes Song.

Miss Lulu Diekenson, a high school teacher, has written an Indian song cycle, "The Song of the Birch," and with the assistance of Alfred H. Bergen, who composed the music, will publish the volume soon. The book will be published by the Gamble Music company of Chicago.

Eighty-Four Cases.

Eighty-four cases have been noticed for trial at the April term of the superior court, yesterday being the last day for filing. There are only eleven criminal actions in this number, and the others are divided as follows: Forty-one jury cases, twenty-nine fact for jury cases and three cases for the court. The criminal actions are not important.

Former Resident Dies.

S. K. Duff, for twenty years a resident of Superior, died at Regina, Sask., Can., Saturday, after a brief illness. He was 71 years old and left Superior for Northwestern Canada six years ago. Mr. Duff is survived by a wife, four sons and a daughter.

Curlers' Banquet.

Superior curlers will hold their annual banquet this evening at the Hotel Superior. T. R. Mills will be toastmaster, and indications are that the attendance will be about 150. An excellent program of Scotch music will be given in connection with the affair. The banquet will begin at 6:45 o'clock.

CANNOT MARRY AGAIN.

New York, March 28.—An interlocutory decree of divorce in favor of Edna Goodrich Goodwin, the actress, from her husband, Nat C. Goodwin, the comedian, was signed today by Supreme Court Justice Siegfried. Miss Goodrich is given permission to marry again, but Mr. Goodwin is denied that permission during the life time of his former wife.

HINES A WITNESS.

Springfield, Ill., March 28.—Examination of witnesses began this afternoon by the senate bribery investigating committee. Edward J. Hines, the Chicago lumberman, who was subpoenaed to testify before the committee; Judge Eldridge Haney and Attorney Charles Erbstein of Chicago, representing the witness, were present.

HANGED FOR MURDER OF A YOUNG WOMAN.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 28.—George A. Green, said by the police to have negro blood in his veins, was hanged in Moyamensing prison for the murder of Edith Wonderly, a pretty young woman whom he shot on Christmas eve four years ago.

The couple were found lying on an uptown street, the woman dead and Green with a serious bullet wound in the body. After his recovery at a hospital Green said Miss Wonderly and he had agreed to die together and that she shot herself. His story was not believed and he was convicted of first degree murder. The police say the shooting was the result of a quarrel.

SOCIALISTS MAKE GOOD SHOWING AT PRIMARIES.

Witchita, Kan., March 28.—The full count today of votes cast in yesterday's primary election, under the commission form of government, shows the Socialist candidates to have run even stronger than was supposed at first. Eight candidates for commissioners were to be nominated, from whom four will be elected on Tuesday next. Four of the primary winners, or half of the number, are Socialists.

CIRCUIT COURT JUDGES REMOVED FROM CASE.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 28.—Upholding the contentions of Prosecuting Attorney Henry T. Hunt at every point, Judge Thomas A. Jones, chief judge of the Ohio circuit courts, today removed from further consideration of the Cox case Judges Peter Swing and Samuel W. Smith, of the circuit court of Hamilton county. He designated his conferees in the Fourth judicial district, Judges Festus Walters of Circleville, Ohio, and E. D. Sayre of Athens, Ohio
